Senate Military Affairs, Space, and Domestic Security Committee Overview

The jurisdiction of the Senate Military Affairs, Space, and Domestic Security Committee includes five general subject areas:

- Military Affairs
- Veterans Affairs
- Homeland Security
- Emergency Preparedness
- Space

Military Affairs

The Military Affairs, Space, and Domestic Security Committee has been the committee of reference for military matters relating to certain policies within the Department of Military Affairs and the Florida National Guard. The Department of Military Affairs is the administrative and oversight entity of the Florida National Guard, the state's military reserve force. The Florida National Guard is under the command of the Governor and consists of two components: the Army National Guard which consists of approximately 10,000 guard members; and the Air National Guard, which has approximately 2,000 members.

The mission of the Department of Military Affairs is to provide highly trained units and personnel to: support national security objectives; respond to emergencies and disasters; and support programs which add value to the state and nation.

Issues such as educational benefits funded by state government, a direct support organization to provide need-based financial assistance to Guard members, and the Guard's readiness to support emergency response to hurricanes are representative of the committee's oversight interests.

In addition, the committee has looked at measures that support federal military base presence in Florida including policies that support active duty military families, Base Realignment and Closure (BRAC) activities, and local community encroachment on military facilities that may adversely impact a base's mission.

Veterans' Affairs

The committee has been the committee of reference for veterans' issues and policy affecting the Florida Department of Veterans' Affairs (FDVA). FDVA extensively assists Florida's veterans in navigating the federal veterans' bureaucracy and administers state veterans' nursing homes.

The federal Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) administers a substantial network of healthcare facilities throughout the state. This system includes everything from local primary care clinics to VA hospitals including a state of the art poly-trauma facility for severely wounded veterans of Iraq and Afghanistan.

Examples of recent policy matters referred to the committee include property tax discounts for disabled veterans and surviving spouses, college credit for military training, and special courts for veterans and servicemembers who suffer from military-related illnesses such as post traumatic stress disorder (PTSD) or traumatic brain injury (TBI).

Homeland Security

The federal government funds virtually all anti-terrorism activities in Florida through a series of annual grants. Domestic security activities in Florida are coordinated through an advisory council as established in ch. 943, F.S., and known as the Domestic Security Oversight Council.

The council includes cabinet level and agency director level officials and is chaired by the Executive Director of the Department of Law Enforcement with the Director of the Division of Emergency Management as vice-chair.

The Military Affairs, Space, and Domestic Security Committee has in the past provided oversight of an annual process that develops a prioritized list of domestic security projects and activities and approves the nominated list for inclusion in the annual appropriations bill. The Division of Emergency Management acts as the administering agent for federal funds that pass through to the various approved projects and activities.

Another important component in which the committee has historically overseen is that of seaport security. However, in 2011, the relevant statutes (namely s. 311.12, F.S.) underwent substantial changes in which the state's role in the security of seaports was lessened. The security operations and standards at Florida's seaports are now largely overseen and regulated by the United States Coast Guard.

Emergency Management

The committee has oversight responsibilities of the Division of Emergency Management (Division), the state entity charged with ensuring the state is prepared to respond to, recover from, and mitigate both manmade and natural disasters. Key responsibilities of the Division include administering individual and public assistance grants following a disaster and providing oversight and assistance to municipalities and local governments in the areas of disaster preparedness and hazard mitigation.

The Division maintains a primary Emergency Operations Center (EOC) in Tallahassee. The EOC serves as the communications and command center for reporting emergencies and coordinating state response activities. Committee staff has traditionally participated with the Intergovernmental Relations Team at the EOC in providing direct liaison for members of the Legislature with the EOC during emergencies. The Florida Legislature now has a work station on the main floor of the EOC in order to conduct such activities.

Space

The committee has been given first committee of reference responsibilities for policy that affects Florida's aerospace industry and Space Florida. Space Florida is a corporation created in s. 331.302, F.S., to promote aerospace business development, workforce development, and innovative education programs.

Space Florida has tailored much of its efforts to respond to the regional and state impact of the retirement of the Space Shuttle program in 2011. Space Florida utilizes its unique financing capabilities to support the efforts of large government providers, emerging commercial space transportation providers, and diversified companies developing new technology and products to foster the growth, development, and recovery of the aerospace industry in Florida.

Recent policy matters representative of the committee's jurisdiction include the designation of certain property within the state as a spaceport territory, the provision of liability protections to spaceflight entities from the inherent risks of spaceflight activities, and policy relating to tax refund programs established in statute for qualified spaceflight businesses.

Florida Department of Veterans' Affairs (FDVA) Overview

History:

The FDVA was first created in 1944 by an act of the state legislature to assist returning World War Two veterans in accessing services and benefits earned by their service under the Servicemen's Readjustment Act of 1944 (the G I Bill). This act began the tradition of Florida becoming known as one of the most veteran-friendly states in the nation. Today, veteran related activities generate over $13.7 B annually into Florida's economy. Florida's veteran population is approx. 1.6 million; 3rd largest in the nation.

Statutorily the agency was co-located with the predecessor of the U S Department of Veterans Affairs (USDVA) in the VA Regional Office located in St. Petersburg.

FDVA became a state department as a Cabinet Agency by Constitutional Amendment in 1988 (Sec 20.37 FS). In prior years the agency had been a division of other departments. FDVA is headed by an Executive Director rather than a Secretary. Main HQ located in Largo with Division HQ in St Pete and the Capitol office in TLH.

From 1944 until 1990 the agency functioned almost exclusively as a facilitator of state and federal veteran's benefits. In 1990, in a joint venture with the USDVA, FDVA opened the first long term care facility, the Florida Veterans' Domiciliary Home located in Lake City, Florida. From 1990 to 2010, FDVA evolved from being a benefits and assistance facilitator to include long-term care (LTC). The department currently operates and maintains seven LTC facilities; six 120 bed skilled nursing homes located in Daytona Beach, Land O' Lakes, Pembroke Pines, Port Charlotte, Panama City and St. Augustine and the 149 bed domiciliary (a military term for assisted living facility).

As a result of the September 11, 2001 attacks, and the subsequent Global War on Terrorism, the agency has once again diversified its services significantly to address the needs of a new generation of veterans (educational and employment, etc.) while continuing to facilitate benefits to older veterans (pharmacy, medical equipment) and concurrently providing world-class long term care for the most frail and elderly of our warriors.

Current Structure and Function (Fiscal Year 2012-2013):

FDVA is classified for budget purposes as a HHS agency and for policy purposes as a military agency.

Staffing: 1088.5 FTE's with 90% of the employees working in the State Veteran's Homes Program.

Budget: $ 83,686,911 ($76,428,988 Trust Fund; 7,257,923 General Revenue)

Three Budget Entities:

- The Florida Veterans Homes Program(LTC): 978 FTE's; $74,736,304) (100% TF)*
- The Division of Veterans Benefits and Assistance: 85 FTE's; $5,150,131
 - Bureau of Veterans Claims: Located in St Petersburg
 - Bureau of Veterans Field Services: Located in 25 state and VA facilities statewide
 - Bureau of State Approving Agency: Ensures educational institution compliance for GI Bill
- The Division of Executive Direction & Support Services: 25.5 FTE's; $3,801,476
- In addition to the statute creating the agency (20.37). The other sections of statute specifically relating to the FDVA are Chapters 292, 295 and 296.

Notes:

*The Homes Program currently operates at nearly 99% occupancy and exclusively on funds earned by LTC services provided. No General Revenue is used. Approx. 15% of the B&A division and more than 25% of the EDSS division are also funded via the Homes Operations and Maintenance Trust Funds.

Based on GR funding for the B&A division, over the past five years FDVA has achieved a $120 to $1 ROI.

 Administrative personnel as a percent of total agency positions 2.5% ; one of the lowest in state government.

Florida Division of Emergency Management 2012 Overview

The Division of Emergency Management plans for and responds to both natural and man-made disasters. These range from floods and hurricanes to incidents involving hazardous materials or nuclear power. The division prepares and implements a statewide Comprehensive Emergency Management Plan, and routinely conducts extensive exercises to test state and county emergency response capabilities.

The division is the state's liaison with federal and local agencies on emergencies of all kinds. Division staff members provide technical assistance to local governments as they prepare emergency plans and procedures. They also conduct emergency operations training for state and local governmental agencies.

After a disaster, the division conducts damage assessment surveys and advises the Governor on whether to declare an emergency and seek federal relief funds. The division maintains a primary Emergency Operations Center (EOC) in Tallahassee. The EOC serves as the communications and command center for reporting emergencies and coordinating state response activities. The division also operates the State Warning Point, a state emergency communications center staffed 24 hours each day. The center maintains statewide communications with county emergency officials.

OUR MISSION - Working together to ensure that Florida is prepared to respond to emergencies, recover from them, and mitigate against their impacts.

OUR VISION - Failure is not an option.
