   This statewide sports injury advocacy program is for kids participating in sports programs in Florida. Program is run in conjunction with the Florida Orthopedic Society and is a collaborative organization of Florida physicians who work together with public schools and the FHSAA in creating sports safety policies to keep kids safe while playing organized sports. The organization was created in 2012 and has made significant efforts in enhancing safety in our Florida schools for the student-athlete. This program seeks to grow to offer additional statewide educational efforts on relevant topics on sports safety including Heat Stroke, Concussion, Exertional Sickling and Sudden Cardiac Arrest.

   Over 800 schools sponsor organized athletic programs within our great state of Florida. With a steady increase in numbers annually, nearly 800,000 school-aged kids now participate in these sports and activities.
