Hearing Report

Date: July 13, 2011

City: The Villages

Location: The Colony Cottage Recreation Center

Time: 8:00am-12:00pm

Number of Speakers: 55

Total Attendance: 114

The public hearing in The Villages took place at the Colony Cottage Recreation Center (510 Colony Blvd, The Villages, FL 32114). Prior to the meeting, a map with directions to the hearing and parking instructions was posted on the internet. Legislative staff posted signs outside the building and the room to provide directions to the hearing, and was on hand to answer questions and display district building software outside the meeting room.

The hearing was advertised in the Ocala Star-Banner July 10-13. Each chamber's website published the public notice, and social media websites invited the public to the hearing as well. Senate staff sent invitations to more than 90 school board officials, over 180 county commissioners and administrators, more than 60 personnel under local supervisors of elections, and over 490 city elected officials in Northeast Florida. More than 230 public interest group leaders received invitations as well, encouraging the leaders and the groups they represent to attend the hearing.

The hearing was streamed live on The Florida Channel's website, recorded, and subsequently re-aired. The hearing was chaired by Representative Precourt and attended by 7 senators and 23 representatives. Attendance cards were filled out by 59 people. Another 55 indicated they wanted to speak at the hearing, bringing the total recorded attendance to 114.

After hearing testimony and gathering input from the public, legislators at the meeting were given an opportunity to comment.

Florida House of Representatives
House Committee on Redistricting
402 S. Monroe Street
Tallahassee, FL 32399-1300

Dear Chairmen Gaetz and Weatherford,

On behalf of our Marion County community, thank you for the opportunity to address you and the committee members and provide input on this most important redistricting process. We implore you to consider the significance of Marion County, and its five municipalities of Ocala, Belleview, Dunnellon, McIntosh and Reddick, as a designated community of interest in your redistricting process. With explosive growth over the past ten years and a current population of over 330,000 people, Marion County's land mass of over 1660 square miles, makes us the fourth largest county in Florida.

While we acknowledge and appreciate the exceptional public service of all of our legislative delegation, under present conditions, we have only one member out of seven members that is from Marion County. While all have been attentive, their primary seat of interest is in another community and we have not had a senator from Marion County in over 20 years. The County is currently divided into four separate Senate districts with each representing only a portion of our community.

It is imperative that Marion County have contiguous representation wherever possible. These fractured districts preclude our ability to speak with one voice as a community. In addition, the current district configuration has created a logistical hardship in advancing our community issues and needs to the Legislature.

The time to act is now. We, the citizens of Marion County – together – speak as one voice on this redistricting issue. Please assure that our voice is heard by giving us compact, contiguous and equitable legislative representation. Our economic vitality, our prosperity and quality of life – our very future – is at stake.

With our thanks for your consideration, we remain,

Sincerely,

Reginald Landers, Jr.
Vice-Chairman, Marion County

Good morning. My name is Richard Coen and I am Vice President of the League of Women Voters of The Villages/Tri-County Area. On behalf of our local League, I also want to thank the Committee for the opportunity to speak to you.

Your own timetable, which is posted on the Redistricting 2012 Florida Senate website, shows that rather than passing district maps at the beginning of the legislative session in January 2012, district maps are slated to be passed at the end of the session on March 9. Even in the unlikely event that there is no litigation over the newly drawn maps, final rulings on the constitutionality of the new districts will not occur until shortly before the June 2012 qualifying deadline. This delayed time table will only lead to voter confusion. Some potential candidates may not know their district's boundaries in time to decide whether to mount a campaign.

You have told us that you will follow the letter of the law, and the will of the people, on redistricting. But you say that even as you have joined in a lawsuit to fight a Florida constitutional amendment which requires new boundaries be drawn with competition in mind, not your own job security. So, yes, you have created a situation where the state is both the plaintiff and the defendant, and so, yes, at a time when lower revenues have been received and budgets have been reduced, the state is spending taxpayer money on both sides of the same question. The Legislature should stop avoiding the voter's decision and remember its obligation to follow the Florida constitution and support the new Fair Districts standards, and apply the dictate of these amendments when preparing redrawn districts as the voters wanted.

Thank you.

On behalf of the League of Women Voters of The Villages/Tri-County Area, which is a nonpartisan organization, I want to thank the Committee for the opportunity to speak to you. I am a resident of Sumter County.

During the last election cycle, the League actively supported amendments 5 and 6 which were passed by 63 percent of the voters in the November 2010 election. Today, voter registration shows that Florida is a politically balanced state, but the current representation in Tallahassee does not reflect that balance. In the past, during every reapportionment, majority party politicians (in both parties) have taken advantage of the opportunity to pack minority party voters into very few districts thus reducing their influence in government.

Florida's population has grown and our congressional representation will increase. Drawing new political boundaries to offset population growth is a complicated process. You must balance a myriad of demands, from federal laws to prevent minority voting disenfranchisement to individual ambitions of your fellow lawmakers seeking higher office.

As a result, I recognize that your job is not easy, that the reapportionment process is long and arduous, and there will likely be legal challenges no matter the outcome.

The census data has been completed; the information has been delivered to the governor and leaders of the legislature. Many states have already completed, or almost completed, the redistricting process. Yet in Florida no proposed or draft maps have been drawn thereby precluding the public from making any meaningful comments on what our congressional and legislative districts will look like other than our own suggestions. As a result, and as I am doing today, I can only appeal to your better nature and speak in generalities. The maps referenced by Sen. Gaetz in his opening comments should be at the Hearings so that the public will have an opportunity to make meaningful comments and suggestions.

Thank you.

Speakers will probably be limited to three (3) minutes, typical of most public hearings. So pick one or two issues that are of real concern to YOU and make your point!

Florida Redistricting Public Meeting
Wednesday, July 13, 8:00am to Noon
The Villages - Colony Cottage Rec Center
510 Colony Boulevard Wildwood, FL 34785

(From the intersection of US 441/27, continue north approx. 4 mi. to CR 466A...turn LEFT (west) and go approx. 1 mi. to Morse Blvd....turn RIGHT & go to the STOP sign at Colony Blvd.,turn RIGHT...You have arrived!)

For more information, visit these websites:
<http://fairdistrictsnow.org> <http://www.floridaredistricting.org/>

Please be sure to attend this meeting. It is too important to miss. Your attendance could make the difference in making sure Amendments 5 & 6 are enforced and politicians don't draw the lines for you.

Information & Talking Points:

Facts:

- Lake County's 2010 population is 297,000+
- Determined from the 2010 U.S. Census, the ideal District population size for the state House is 156,678; for the state Senate, 470,033; and, for U.S. Congressional, 686,345
- Lake County is represented by four (4) U.S. Reps (Corrine Brown, Daniel Webster, Richard Nugent & Cliff Stearns), four (4) state Reps (Marlene O'Toole, Larry Metz, Steve Precourt & Charles Van Zant). and two (2) state senators (Alan Hays & Paula Dockery).
- Amendments 5 & 6 prohibit political favoritism, require that districts be compact, contiguous, and follow city or county lines where feasible.

TPs/Recommendations (Disclaimer: I have not drawn any maps or checked detailed population numbers for suggested changes; this is simply my "common sense"):

1. We are greatly concerned about the state committees' sincerity about rpublic input, since no maps have been provided to the Public to respond to (unlike 2002 when several renditions were distributed).
2. We demand that both chambers of the state legislature and members of Congress, drop any and all challenges to Amendments 5 & 6; the people have spoken by a 63% vote, that redistricting needs to be revamped with no incumbent or Party preference.
3. We are very disappointed that both chambers of the state legislature have chosen to put taxpayers' money aside - upwards of $30 M - to continue to fight the will of the people.
4. Lake County's representation is greatly diluted in the U.S. House by having four (4) Representatives.
5. Lake County's representation is greatly diluted in the state House by having four (4) Representatives.
6. In the city of Mt. Dora, Pct. 57, a predominately black (i.e., assumed "Democrat") precinct, is in U.S. House D-3 (Corrine Brown), whereas the remainder of the city is in D-8 (Daniel Webster). This is an obvious partisan "political favoritism" drawing from 2002.
7. Reduce Lake County's U.S. representation from 4 Reps. to 2 Reps. by creating new district boundaries with all of Lake County, except that small NW section that is in The Villages and U.S. D-6. The new District boundaries would also require the areas of Orange, Seminole, Volusia and Marion in current D-3, be deleted to balance the District population. This solves the "compact, contiguous, and follow county lines" required by Amendments 5 & 6. By leaving The Villages in another District, this also meets the Amendments' intent by keeping "city boundaries" in one District, since The Villages straddles Lake, Sumter & Marion counties.

8. Lake County's 2010 population would now justify being represented by two (2) state Representatives (down from 4), allowing, again, for The Villages to be kept in another District and within their "city limits". The areas currently in D-21/D-25/D-41/D-42 in Orange, Seminole and Sumter counties would be deleted from this new District boundary.
9. Lake County's 2010 population does not allow for two (2) state Senators; therefore, in keeping with the Amendments' intent to " follow city or county lines ", Paula Dockery's representation (D-15) in Lake County should be eliminated and only D-20 (Alan Hays) would represent Lake County.

I believe that a founding principal of our government is 1 person 1 vote. When legislators get to choose their districts they negate 1 person 1 vote. All of Florida needs to be redistricted so that every voters vote will count. 98% of legislators are reelected every year

Submission from Robert Lewis

Redistricting Public Meeting July 13, 2011
Colony Cottage Recreation Center 8am-12pm

Good morning.

For the record, my name is Robert D. Lewis and my home address is 17044 SE 75th Wickson Ct, The Villages, FL 32162

I thank you for providing me with this opportunity to offer some comments ~~regarding the drawing of new lines for state and congressional voting districts.~~

Almost 63% of Floridians who voted on the constitutional amendments, voted to affirm Amendments 5 and 6.

Fair-minded Floridians, of all political persuasions, want elections in which candidates are honestly chosen and compete on even playing fields. It was time to put a stop to the practice of gerrymandering legislative and congressional districts after every census. In the past, the party in political power brazenly re-drew boundaries, and laid-out new or changed boundaries to reflect population changes, in a manner primarily designed to best assure it of victories in future elections. The irregular, and even illogical, design of some districts attest to this deliberate manipulation which is contrary to the high principles of our democracy.

I hope that your reports of these public meetings will emphasize that Floridians want the amendments respected. We will be most upset and disappointed if you fail to ensure that the districts are compact, equal in population and make use of existing city, county and geographical boundaries. The amendments prohibit drawing districts to favor or disfavor an incumbent or political party. It is your obligation to abide by the amendments, even though there will be efforts by some who try to thwart the amendments by claiming that adherence to the amendments would be unjust for various reasons.

Thank you

ROBERT D. LEWIS

REDISTRICTING · 2012

ABOUT REDISTRICTING

After each decennial Census, the Legislature redraws the districts from which voters elect their public officials. In general, districts are redrawn to accommodate population changes and ensure that district populations are as nearly equal in number as practicable.

There will be opportunities for citizen participation during public hearings, interim committee meetings, and the 2012 Session.

THE NUMBERS

In 2012, the Legislature will redraw the state's congressional districts as well as districts for Florida House and Florida Senate seats. The number of congressional districts in Florida will increase from 25 to 27. The number of Florida House seats must be between 80 and 120, while the number of Florida Senate seats must be between 30 and 40. Currently, the Florida House and Florida Senate contain 120 members and 40 members, respectively. If these numbers are maintained, the average population of a Florida House district will be 156,078, while the average population of a Florida Senate district will be 470,233. Each congressional district will contain approximately 698,345 people.

REDISTRICTING LAW

The United States Constitution, the federal Voting Rights Act of 1965, and the Florida Constitution each regulate redistricting. Under the United States Constitution, district populations must be as nearly equal as practicable. In addition, race may not be the predominant factor in drawing lines, unless the use of race is narrowly tailored to achieve a compelling interest.

The Voting Rights Act requires the creation of a district that performs for racial minorities where (1) a minority population is geographically compact and sufficiently numerous to be a majority in a single district, (2) the minority population is politically cohesive, (3) the majority votes not as a bloc to enable it usually to defeat the minority-preferred candidate, and (4) under all of the circumstances, the minority population has less opportunity than others to participate in the political process and elect representatives of its choice.

The Voting Rights Act applies additional requirements to districts that include any part of Collier, Hardee, Hendry, Hillsborough, or Monroe County. In these districts, the Voting Rights Act prohibits purposeful discrimination and protects against retrogression—or backsliding—in the ability of racial minorities to elect representatives of their choice. To ensure compliance with these requirements, the redistricting plan must be submitted to and precleared by a federal court or the United States Department of Justice before it may be enacted.

The Florida Constitution requires that districts be contiguous. A district is contiguous if all of its territory is in actual contact, uninterrupted by the territory of another district. Contact at a corner or right angle is insufficient, but territory may cross bodies of water. The Constitution allows other legislative districts to overlap, either partially or entirely.

In November 2010, the voters added Amendments 5 and 6 to the Florida Constitution. These Amendments prohibit line-drawing that intentionally favors or disfavors a political party or an incumbent. The Amendments also afford protection to racial and language minorities. Districts may not be drawn (1) with the intent or result of depriving or abridging the equal opportunity of racial or language minorities to participate in the political process, or (2) to diminish their ability to elect representatives of their choice. Finally, unless it would conflict with federal law or the standards described above, the Amendments require that district populations be as nearly equal as practicable, and that districts be compact and, where feasible, follow existing political and geographical boundaries.

PUBLIC COMMENTS

The Legislature will draw lines in accordance with the standards in federal and state law and traditional redistricting principles not inconsistent with those standards. To this end, the Legislature encourages public testimony directed to the following points:

- The full implementation of the protections afforded by the Amendments to racial and language minorities, including continuance of the Legislature's long-standing policy to preserve or enhance the number of performing minority districts.
- The various measures of compactness, from geometric calculations to a broad consideration of how communities relate to one another, for example through commerce, transportation, and communication—in order to promote the creation of effective representational units.

REDISTRICTING 2012

- The feasibility of using political and geographical boundaries in the formation of districts, in light of other standards such as the equality of district populations, the protection of racial and language minorities, and compactness.
- To the extent not inconsistent with the Amendments, the desire to preserve the cores of existing districts or the proper placement of communities of interest in districts, as determined by local circumstances and voter preferences.

This approach, together with public testimony, research, and facts developed throughout the redistricting process, will result in the adoption of redistricting plans that have the intent and result of full compliance with all legal mandates, including Amendments 5 and 6, and of effective and meaningful representation for all voters in the State of Florida.

Citizens from all parts of the state can visit the House website (www.floridaredistricting.org) and the Senate website (www.flsenate.gov/Redistricting), to learn about creating and submitting their own House, Senate, and congressional maps, and to participate actively in the most open, transparent, and interactive redistricting ever.

LEGAL REVIEWS

After enactment, state senatorial and representative districts are reviewed by the Florida Supreme Court.

Congressional districts are set by an act of the Legislature subject to the Governor's approval. All redistricting plans must be submitted to and precleared by a federal court or the United States Department of Justice.

Draw and Submit Your Own Districts

District Builder is a full-featured web application with 2010 Census data for drawing Florida Senate, Florida House, and Congressional districts and submitting them to the Legislature. Submitting your plan is one of the best ways to show what works for your community. Citizens have full and easy access to the same web application and information that Senators and professional staff use.

To start using District Builder you need:

- A personal account. Choose “District Builder” at www.flsenate.gov/Redistricting to register.
- Display resolution of 1024 x 768 or higher.
- A broadband Internet computer and mouse. Firefox (3.6 and 4.0) and Internet Explorer (7 and 8) are supported (Internet Explorer 9 and Opera are not). Your browser must be set to allow JavaScript and pop-ups from “flsenate.gov.”

For full details, see <https://db10.flsenate.gov/db1/help>.

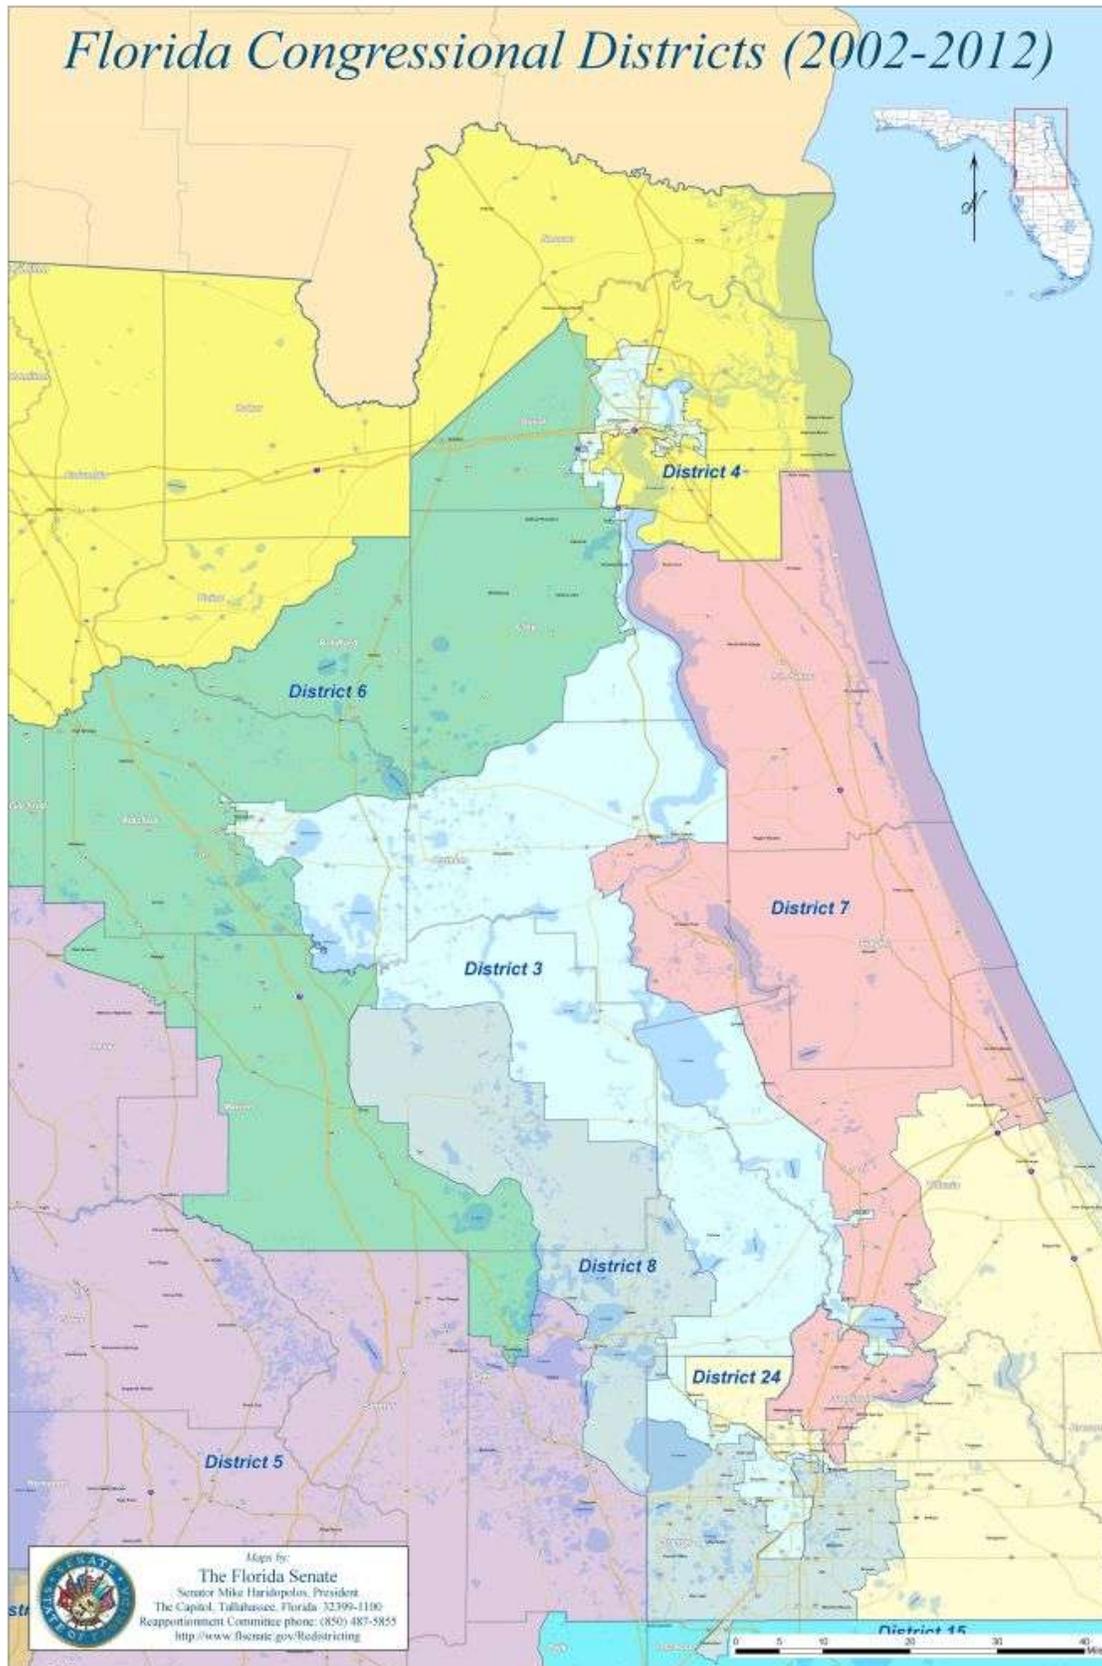

When you decide to submit your plan for public consideration, it will be published at <http://www.flsenate.gov/Session/Redistricting/Plans> with a standard set of interactive map links, reports, downloads, and maps. Otherwise, your personal plans are stored on secure servers and exempt from inspection and copying. See § 11.0431(2)(e), Fla. Stat.

The Florida House of Representatives is building its own web application. To learn about “MyDistrictBuilder,” see www.floridaredistricting.org. The fact that the Senate and House systems are different is a plus. Each has unique features, and citizens can choose which better meets their needs.

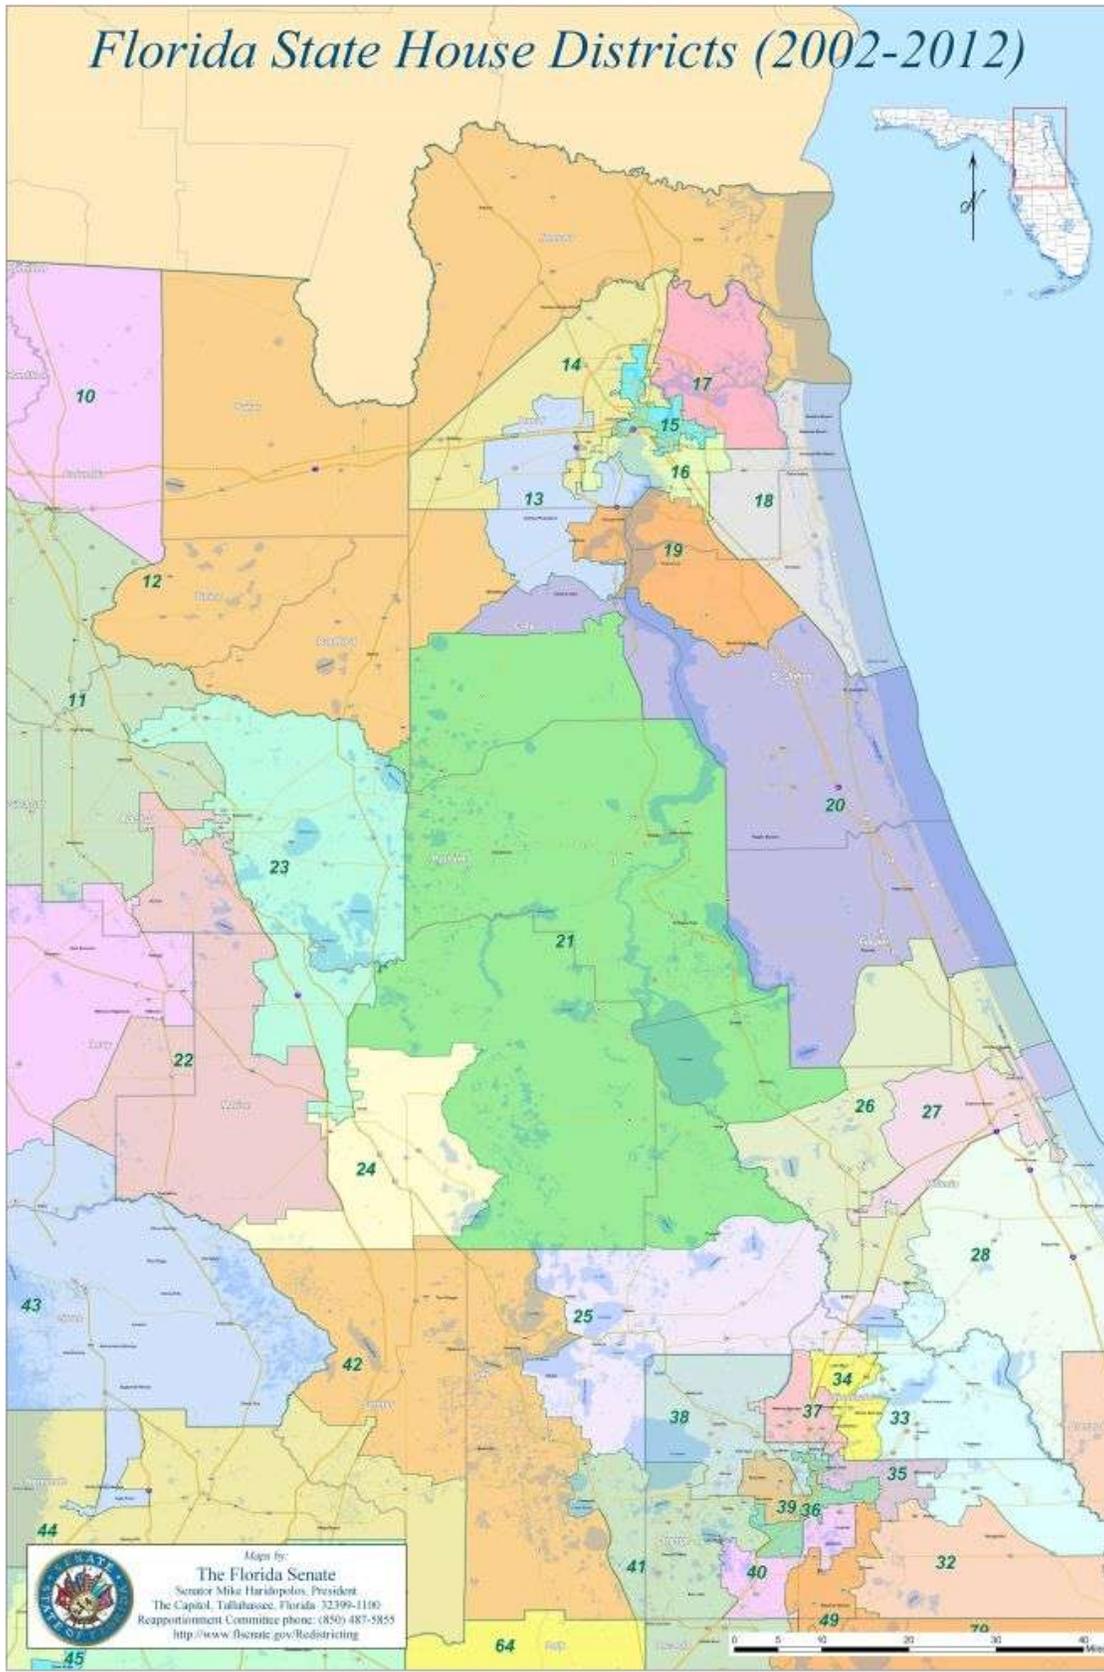

Full-featured redistricting systems typically cost thousands of dollars per user. The overarching goal shared by the Florida Senate and Florida House is giving everyone free and easy access to all the same tools and data the Legislature is using.

With innovative technologies and joint public hearings, the Florida Legislature is promoting the most open, accessible, and interactive redistricting ever.
