I. Summary:

SB 634 requires a hospital to notify obstetrical physicians at least 120 days before closing its obstetrical department or ceasing to provide obstetrical services.

The bill also repeals s. 383.336, F.S., which designates certain hospitals as “provider hospitals” and requires physicians in those hospitals to follow additional practice parameters when providing cesarean sections paid for by the state. Provider hospitals must also establish a peer review board to review all cesarean sections performed by the hospital and paid for by the state.

The bill has no fiscal impact on state government.

The effective date of the bill is July 1, 2015.

II. Present Situation:

Obstetrical Departments in Hospitals

Hospitals are required to report the services which will be provided by the hospital as a requirement of licensure, and these services are listed on the hospital’s license. A hospital must notify the Agency for Health Care Administration (AHCA) of any change of service that affects information on the hospital’s license by submitting a revised licensure application between 60 and 120 days in advance of the change.¹ The list of services is also used for the AHCA’s inventory of hospital emergency services. According to the AHCA’s website, there are currently 141 hospitals in Florida that offer emergency obstetrical services.²

Provider Hospitals

Currently, s. 383.336, F.S., defines the term “provider hospital” and creates certain requirements for such hospitals. A provider hospital is a hospital in which 30 or more births occur annually that are paid for partly or fully by state funds or federal funds administered by the state.³ Physicians in such hospitals are required to comply with additional practice parameters⁴ designed to reduce the number of unnecessary cesarean sections performed within the hospital. These parameters must be followed by physicians when performing cesarean sections partially or fully paid for by the state. The section also requires provider hospitals to establish a peer review board consisting of obstetric physicians and other persons with credentials to perform cesarean sections within the hospital. The board is required to review, on a monthly basis, all cesarean sections performed within the hospital that were partially or fully funded by the state.

These provisions are not currently implemented and Department of Health rules regarding provider hospitals were repealed by ch. 2012-31, ss. 9 and 10, L.O.F.

Closure of an Obstetrical Department in Bartow, Florida

In June 2007, Bartow Regional Medical Center in Polk County announced to patients and physicians that it would close its obstetrics department at the end of July of the same year.⁵ Although many obstetrical physicians could continue to see patients in their offices, they would no longer be able to deliver babies at the hospital.⁶ Physicians and the local community protested the short timeframe for ceasing to offer obstetrical services. According to the Florida Medical Association and several physicians who worked at the hospital, the short notice “endangered pregnant women who [were] too close to delivery for obstetricians at other hospitals to want them as patients.”⁷

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

Section 1 repeals s. 383.336, F.S., relating to provider hospitals.

Section 2 amends s. 395.1051, F.S., to require a hospital to give advance notice of at least 120 days to each obstetrical physician with clinical privileges at the hospital if the hospital intends to close its obstetrical department or cease providing obstetrical services.

³ Section 383.336 (1), F.S.

⁴ These parameters are established by the Office of the State Surgeon General in consultation with the Board of Medicine and the Florida Obstetric and Gynecologic Society and are required to address, at a minimum, the feasibility of attempting a vaginal delivery, dystocia, fetal distress, and fetal malposition.

⁷ Id.

Although specific penalties are not listed for violating the notification provisions, the AHCA has authority to fine a health care facility up to $500 for a non-designated violation,⁸ including the violation of any provision of that health care facility's authorizing statute.⁹
