PRAYER

The following prayer was offered by Rabbi Schneur Z. Oirechman, Executive Director of Chabad Lubavitch of the Panhandle, Tallahassee:

Almighty G-d, creator of the universe: As we approach the holiday of Passover, let us invoke the ancient lessons of Passover today. We pray that we always remember that the meaning of Passover becomes visible in our lives today. We pray for the strength to experience our personal exodus from our personal Egypt—which in Hebrew is Mitzrayim, meaning “boundary” or “limitation.”

We pray to be delivered from self-made obstacles that limit our potential. We pray to overcome those inhibitions and habits that we have allowed to limit our souls’ potential. We pray to feel grateful for what we have and rejoice in what we can become, and we pray for the release of self-imposed slavery to false gods of ego and money.

Almighty G-d: Grant us the power to take that leap of faith. Give us the strength to look at the good within us and correct our faults. Let us be like the ancient Hebrews who escaped from slavery in mere moments. Let us pass over our personal shortcomings, and let us rise from despair to freedom. Let us remember the teachings of the Sages, who said that darkness is but the absence of light and that a little light drives away much darkness.

Almighty G-d: As we proceed through the desert, when we feel dry and empty, may we never stray far from our wellsprings of inner goodness and light. Let us be inspired by the life of the Lubavitcher Rebbe Rabbi Schneersohn, whose birthday we mark next week. The Rebbe’s message to the world is that every act of goodness and kindness can change our lives and the world, bringing immediate redemption to the entire universe.

Almighty G-d: Bless the Honorable President and distinguished Senators. They add light to our world, both in their lives and the lives of others, by adding acts of goodness and kindness.

We pray that these acts finally tip the scale of good and evil to usher in the age of redemption for all humanity. Amen.

Senate Pages, Greg Unke of Live Oak; Airyel Ogden of Margate; Connor Warmuth of St. Augustine; and Lucie Flowers of Tallahassee, led the Senate in the Pledge of Allegiance to the flag of the United States of America.
