“Redistricting is a historic event that occurs only once every ten years, and it is our goal to engage every Floridian in this fundamental exercise of political rights,” said Senator Don Gaetz (R-Fort Walton Beach), Chair of the Senate Committee on Reapportionment. “With that objective in mind, we are proud to host a series of 26 community meetings across the state, which will be dedicated to listening to Floridians and getting their input about what they believe are the important facts and unique characteristics of their communities.”

Floridians who are unable to attend one of the 26 public redistricting meetings can watch the meetings live via the Florida Channel by visiting, www.MyFloridaHouse.gov and submit their comments electronically via Facebook and Twitter which are available at www.floridaredistricting.org.

“These public meetings are an opportunity for all Floridians to share their story with lawmakers and help shape the districts that are the basis of representation in Tallahassee and Washington, D.C.,” said Representative Will Weatherford (R-Wesley Chapel), Chair of the House Redistricting Committee. “It is our hope that Floridians who care about how their communities are represented will join us at one or more public redistricting meetings so that their voices can be heard.”

Redistricting 2012: Florida Legislature Thanks Northwest Florida Residents for Telling the Stories of Their Communities

Panama City, Fla. – The Florida House and Senate wrapped up their first round of public redistricting meetings today in Panama City with lawmakers thanking the residents of Northwest Florida for telling the stories of their communities and providing input that is critical to the redistricting process. The first round of more than two dozen public redistricting meetings took place in Florida's Panhandle from Monday, June 20, to Wednesday, June 22, and included stops in Tallahassee, Pensacola, Fort Walton Beach and Panama City.

"Public participation from the onset of the redistricting process ensures that Floridians play a key role in shaping the House, Senate and Congressional districts that will represent their communities in Tallahassee and in Washington for the next decade," said Representative Will Weatherford (R-Wesley Chapel), Chair of the House Redistricting Committee. "We are dedicated to engaging the public in this process, and we hope to foster an unprecedented level of public participation as we travel throughout the state."

Legislators serving on the House and Senate redistricting committees and subcommittees are scheduled to travel to 26 cities across the state to gather public input on redistricting prior to beginning the work of drawing new state House, state Senate and congressional district boundaries. Redistricting must be finalized during the 2012 Legislative Session.

"The residents of Florida's Panhandle are extremely engaged in this once-in-a-decade redistricting process," said Senator Don Gaetz, Chair of the Senate Committee on Reapportionment. "The input that they shared with us over the past three days will play a critical role when we begin the process of drawing new legislative and congressional boundary lines."

The next round of public redistricting meetings will be Monday, July 11, to Wednesday, July 13, and will include stops in Jacksonville, St. Augustine, Daytona Beach, The Villages and Gainesville.

Redistricting 2012: Florida Legislature Thanks Northeast & North Central Florida Residents for Sharing Stories About their Communities

Tallahassee, Fla. – The Florida House and Senate wrapped up their second round of public redistricting meetings last night in Gainesville with lawmakers thanking the residents of Northeast and North Central Florida for sharing the stories of their communities and providing lawmakers with critical input in advance of the 2012 redistricting process.

The second leg of the statewide tour, which kicked-off in Florida's Panhandle last month, traveled to Northeast and North Central Florida this week and included stops in Jacksonville on Monday, July 11, St Augustine and Daytona Beach on Tuesday, July 12, and The Villages and Gainesville on Wednesday, July 13.

"Public participation is the cornerstone of the 2012 redistricting process. We need the input of the public in order to ensure that Florida's districts truly represent the portrait of Florida's many diverse communities," said Representative Will Weatherford (R-Wesley Chapel), Chair of the House Redistricting Committee. "I want to sincerely thank the residents of Northeast and North Central Florida who attended the public redistricting meetings and provided us with valuable insight into their communities."

Legislators serving on the House and Senate redistricting committees and subcommittees are scheduled to travel to 26 cities across the state to gather public input on redistricting prior to beginning the work of drawing new state House, state Senate and congressional district boundaries. The Florida constitution mandates that the Legislature vote on new maps during the 2012 Legislative Session, which has been moved to the months of January and February to better accommodate the redistricting timeline.

"This redistricting process will determine the basis for representation in Washington, D.C. and Tallahassee for the next decade. Therefore, it is vital that we hear how residents want their districts look, so that we can incorporate specific details of their unique communities when we begin to draw the maps this fall," said Senator Don Gaetz (R-Destin), Chair of the Senate Committee on Reapportionment. "We are going to continue to engage the public throughout the redistricting process, and I am looking forward to hearing more public input and testimony at the remaining meetings and through the many communication tools available from the Florida Senate and House."

The next round of public redistricting meetings will take place Monday, July 25, to Thursday, July 28, and will include stops in Lakeland, Wauchula, Wesley Chapel, Orlando and Melbourne.

Redistricting 2012: Florida Legislature Thanks Central Florida Residents for Sharing their Stories

Public participation continues to be the cornerstone of the redistricting tour

Tallahassee, Fla. – The Florida House and Senate wrapped up the Central Florida leg of the public redistricting meetings today in Melbourne with lawmakers thanking the residents of Central Florida for sharing the stories of their communities and providing lawmakers with critical input in advance of the 2012 redistricting process. With 14 public meetings now complete, the Florida House and Senate continue to be dedicated to making this redistricting process the most open and transparent in Florida's history with public participation being the cornerstone of the tour.

The Central Florida leg of the statewide tour, which kicked-off in June, traveled to Central Florida this week and included stops in Lakeland on Monday, July 25, Wauchula and Wesley Chapel on Tuesday, July 26, Orlando on Wednesday, July 27, and Melbourne on Thursday, July 28.

"The public participation in the redistricting process has been tremendous to this point," said Representative Will Weatherford (R-Wesley Chapel), Chair of the House Redistricting Committee. "Not only have we collected critical input from Floridians at the public redistricting meetings being held across the state, but countless people have submitted their comments to us via social media, like Facebook, Twitter and legislative blogs, as well as email. And now, we also have 18 of maps that have been submitted by the public posted to our website and available for others to comment on and offer their feedback about the submitted maps."

Legislators serving on the House and Senate redistricting committees and subcommittees are scheduled to travel to 26 cities across the state to gather public input on redistricting prior to beginning the work of drawing new state House, state Senate and congressional district boundaries. The Florida constitution mandates that the Legislature vote on new maps during the 2012 Legislative Session, which has been moved to the months of January and February to better accommodate the redistricting timeline.

"The public input that we are taking away from these meetings now will be the foundation for any redistricting plans drafted by the Florida House and Senate," said Senator Don Gaetz (R-Destin), Chair of the Senate Committee on Reapportionment. "I encourage residents who have not gotten involved in the process but who are concerned about their representation in Tallahassee and Washington D.C. get engaged by coming to one of the dozen public redistricting meetings that are left or by sending your comments and input directly to our redistricting committees. This is a historic process that only occurs once every ten years and it's essential that we hear from Floridians how they want their communities represented."

The next round of public redistricting meetings will take place Monday, August 15, to Thursday, August 18, and will include stops in Stuart, Boca Raton, Davie, Miami, South Miami and Key West.

Redistricting 2012: The Florida Legislature Thanks Southeast Florida Residents for Sharing Their Stories and Submitting New Maps

Tallahassee, Fla. – The Florida House and Senate wrapped up the Southeast Florida leg of the public redistricting meetings last evening in Key West with lawmakers thanking the residents of Southeast Florida for sharing the stories of their communities and providing lawmakers with critical input in advance of the 2012 redistricting process. Members of the Legislature also noted their appreciation of a very civil and open dialogue regarding how redistricting should affect Florida's diverse communities.

The Key West meeting was the 20th in a statewide tour. Other hearing locations included Stuart on Monday, August 15, Boca Raton and Davie on Tuesday, August 16, Miami and South Miami on Wednesday, August 17, and concluded with the meeting in Key West on Thursday, August 18. Multiple speakers presented proposed news maps, while others utilized House and Senate redistricting software to draw maps at the display tables outside of the meeting rooms. In total, the Legislature has received more than 30 partial and complete maps.

“We want to thank the residents of Southeast Florida who came to one of the public redistricting meetings and helped lawmakers better understand their unique and diverse communities,” said Senator Don Gaetz (R-Destin), Chair of the Senate Committee on Reapportionment. “Public input is paramount to this historic, once-in-a-decade process and we could not redraw district boundary lines without first traveling to each region of our state and hearing from Floridians about their communities.”

Legislators are traveling the state this summer to gather public input on redistricting prior to beginning the work of drawing new state House, state Senate and congressional district boundaries. The Florida constitution mandates that the Legislature vote on new maps during the 2012 Legislative Session, which the Legislature moved to the months of January and February to better accommodate the redistricting timeline.

“With 20 public meetings now complete, the Florida Legislature has collected a tremendous amount of valuable input from Floridians in nearly all regions of our state, and we look forward to visiting Southwest Florida next on the last leg of our 26-city statewide tour,” said Representative Will Weatherford (R-Wesley Chapel), Chair of the House Redistricting Committee. “We encourage residents to stay engaged throughout the 2012 redistricting process. We want to continue to hear from you and collect your feedback and comments on maps that are submitted by our fellow Floridians, as well as maps that are proposed by the Legislature.”

The next round of public redistricting meetings will take place Monday, August 29, to Thursday, September 1, and will include stops in Tampa, Largo, Sarasota, Naples, Lehigh Acres and Clewiston.

MEMORANDUM

To: Senate Reapportionment Committee Members and Staff
From: Don Gaetz, Chairman
Subject: Schedule and Procedures for Committee Meetings, Proposed Committee Bills, and Amendments
Date: September 27, 2011

Based upon the consensus reached at our meeting this past Thursday, what follows is a schedule for committee meetings, the scope of business to be conducted at those meetings, as well as procedures which will govern the committee's work.

- November 1 will be the deadline for the public, interest groups, and senators to submit maps for consideration by the Committee. Any map or proposal which any advocate wishes considered by the Senate should be in the hands of Committee Professional Staff by the close of business, November 1. Chairman Weatherford and I have once again appealed to interest groups, particularly those representing minorities, to be specific and timely with their proposals for district boundaries.
- Senate Reapportionment Committee meeting notices will be published seven calendar days prior to the meeting and will indicate particular plans on the agenda for the meeting. Senators and the public may access maps, statistics, and downloads for plans by going to the Submitted Plans page on the Senate Redistricting website. Time will be provided at each Committee meeting for public comment and testimony regarding scenarios described by professional staff or plans proposed by the public, interest groups, or senators.

- During Committee meetings, senators will consider plans proposed by the public, interest groups, or senators and the merits of drawing district lines one way or another. Based on our collective guidance, professional staff will develop proposed committee bills. Our plan is for professional staff to complete drafting of proposed committee bills (to include complete statewide maps for congressional and state legislative districts) before November 30. The Committee then would be in a posture to vote to introduce the proposed committee bills at our meeting the week of December 5. This schedule could be affected if the Committee takes more time than indicated in the schedule below to discuss and review scenarios submitted by the public, interest groups, or senators.
  - October 5 the Committee will discuss scenarios for drawing congressional and state legislative districts in northwest Florida based on suggestions and maps submitted by the public, interest groups, and senators.
  - The week of October 17 the Committee will discuss scenarios for drawing congressional and state legislative districts in northeast and central Florida based on suggestions and maps submitted by the public, interest groups, and senators.
  - The weeks of October 31 and November 14 the Committee will discuss scenarios for drawing congressional and state legislative districts in southeast and southwest Florida, respectively, based on suggestions and maps submitted by the public, interest groups, and senators.
- Before the Committee votes to introduce a proposed committee bill or report a redistricting plan, senators may propose amendments. However, amendments must be filed at least 48 hours prior to noticed meeting times. Amendments filed after that time will not be accepted by the Chairman, regardless of sponsorship. The Committee will not compromise openness, transparency, or the opportunity to question, consider, and debate the impacts of amendments.
- At the time the proposed committee bills are voted on by the Committee on Reapportionment, the Chairman will ask the Committee to approve a request to the Rules Chair that last-minute material changes not be considered on the Senate floor either.

- All redistricting bills and amendments will be prepared by Senate Bill Drafting using legal descriptions for statewide plans already listed on the Submitted Plans page. Bills and amendments will refer to particular redistricting plans by name so the public and senators can link to its “Plan Details” page and have full access to maps, statistics, and downloads.
- Each amendment must include a complete statewide plan in order that the consequences for any and all district lines are fully and openly presented.
- Committee professional staff is available to assist senators so that their amendments are technically correct. Preparing an amendment is a multi-step process, and processing time must be considered to meet amendment deadlines.
  - After a senator completes work on a redistricting plan and checks it for completeness and contiguity, the senator can use District Builder’s “Submit Plan” feature to deliver it to the Senate Reapportionment Committee. It is highly advisable to inform professional staff in order that staff can give priority attention to getting the plan on the web. Creating and posting the maps, statistics, and downloads can take 30 minutes (or longer if many plans are delivered to the Reapportionment Committee at the same time).
  - Once any plan is on the web, a senator can instruct Senate Bill Drafting to prepare an amendment using that plan’s complete legal description. That takes time as well.
  - After the amendment is barcoded, it may be filed with the committee (for committee amendments) or with the Secretary of the Senate (for floor amendments) in the same fashion as any other Senate amendment.
- Although the Committee has already conducted 71 hours of public hearings at 26 locations during which 1,700 citizens have testified, the Committee intends to continue its open, interactive process of engaging the public. At each committee meeting, time will be set aside for public testimony on scenarios presented at that meeting. Citizens and interest groups are encouraged to access frequently updated materials on the Senate Redistricting home page, attend interim meetings, testify, draw and submit maps, send critiques or suggestions to the Committee via RedistrictFlorida@flsenate.gov, or communicate with their own Senators directly. The committee professional staff is also investigating the feasibility of teleconferences or tele-town hall meetings to get additional public involvement before reporting committee bills to the Senate. Such a teleconference or tele-town hall meeting would be noticed as a committee workshop and scheduled sometime after the week of December 5.

Senators, our ambitious schedule and consensus procedures assume a generous portion of good faith and hard work, beginning with a thorough review of the record collected during our public hearings. Written submissions and audio and video recordings are posted on the Public Hearings page found at www.flsenate.gov/redistricting, and transcripts are posted as soon as they are received. Redistricting plans submitted to the House or Senate committee are available on the Submitted Plans page. In preparation for our October 5 and subsequent meetings I encourage you to explore these valuable resources, representing the input shared with us by citizens throughout Florida.

Our Vice Chair, President Margolis, and I request that each member of the Committee schedule time with the professional staff to convey concerns and suggestions from their constituents, develop a working knowledge of scenarios scheduled to be discussed at forthcoming committee meetings, and be conversant with the requirements which must be applied to all submitted plans and potential amendments in order to be compliant with federal and state law.

Thank you for the extraordinary investment of time and effort which each member of our Committee has already made in the redistricting process. If you have questions, criticisms or suggestions regarding the Committee's functions, please feel free to contact our Professional Staff Director, John Guthrie, our Vice Chair, President Margolis, or me at any time.

Florida Legislature Reaches Milestone of 100 Maps from Floridians to Aid in Redistricting
Efforts Twenty-five times the number of maps submitted by Floridians compared to a decade ago

Tallahassee, Fla. – Following a statewide tour consisting of 27 meetings designed to gather public input into the redistricting process, House Redistricting Chairman Will Weatherford (R-Wesley Chapel) and Senate Reapportionment Committee Chairman Don Gaetz (R-Niceville) today announced the Florida Legislature has received the 100th publicly submitted map.

“Today, the Florida Legislature has reached a tremendous milestone in the redistricting process. This demonstrates that Floridians want to actively participate in the redistricting process and we are grateful for their valuable insight,” said Chairman Gaetz. “Never before have so many citizens taken the time to submit maps before the Legislature to use as a guide while redrawing Florida’s political boundary lines. While we repeatedly heard from special interest groups throughout the summer that they would have rather seen politicians draw redistricting plans in a Tallahassee echo chamber, we were committed to collecting public input and I sincerely believe it has paid off.”

“Thanks to the Floridians that have submitted maps, shared ideas and voiced concerns, we have received more public input on redistricting than ever before,” said Chairman Weatherford. “I commend those who have taken the time to draw a map and encourage others to continue sending us your ideas.”

The number of maps submitted by Floridians during this redistricting cycle far exceeds the four maps submitted by public interest groups a decade ago. The maps submitted included:

- Submissions from 25 different counties.
- More than 2,600 potential districts.
- 81 created with Legislative redistricting applications; 18 created with third-party applications.
- At least 17 submissions from students, including a middle-school student, high school student, and attendees of USF, FGCU, Brevard Community College and Columbia University.
- 30 complete maps for Congress; 20 partial maps for Congress; 8 complete maps for the state House; 15 partial maps for the state House; 17 complete maps for the state Senate; 10 partial maps for the state Senate.

During the recent committee weeks, House and Senate redistricting committees and subcommittees have been discussing a host of options as they move closer to formally introducing maps in preparation of the 2012 Legislative Session, which begins January 10. Floridians who have not submitted their ideas for maps may still do so via the Florida House's MyDistrictBuilder™ application or the Florida Senate's District Builder application available at www.floridaredistricting.org and www.flsenate.gov/Redistricting. Floridians may also submit their comments and suggestions directly to mydistrictbuilder@myfloridahouse.gov or RedistrictFlorida@flsenate.gov.

Deadline to Submit Redistricting Maps is Approaching

Florida House & Senate Will Accept Maps Until 5 p.m. Today for Consideration By the Committee

Tallahassee, Fla. – Tuesday, November 1, 2011, at 5 p.m. EDT, marks the deadline for the public to submit maps for consideration to the Florida Senate and House Redistricting Committees. As Lawmakers previously have announced, the House and Senate Redistricting Committees will take maps submitted by this deadline into consideration as they prepare committee bills in order to meet an expedited timeline.

“To date we have received more than 130 publically submitted redistricting plans, and today marks the deadline for Floridians to submit their proposed redistricting maps to the Florida House and Senate Redistricting Committees,” said Senate Reapportionment Committee Chairman Don Gaetz (R-Niceville). “From the hours of public testimony collected during our statewide redistricting tour this summer, as well as the maps submitted by so many Floridians, we will continue the task of drawing new political boundary lines. I encourage the public to stay engaged in this important process and continue to send us comments and ideas throughout the process.”

“The response from Floridians to be part of the Legislature’s redistricting process has been overwhelming. I look forward to hearing more ideas as we begin considering proposals from members,” said House Redistricting Committee Chairman Will Weatherford (R-Wesley Chapel). “I urge Floridians to send in their questions and comments on maps when they are released and our redistricting process moves forward.”

During the recent committee weeks, House and Senate redistricting committees and subcommittees have been discussing a host of options as they move closer to formally introducing maps in preparation of the 2012 Legislative Session, which begins January 10. Floridians who have not submitted their ideas for maps are encouraged to do so before Tuesday, November 1, 2011, at 5 p.m. EDT, via the Florida House's MyDistrictBuilder™ application or the Florida Senate’s District Builder application available at www.floridaredistricting.org and www.flsenate.gov/Redistricting. The schedule and procedures agreed to by consensus at Tuesday's meeting of the Senate Committee on Reapportionment are outlined below:

Monday, November 28

- Professional staff will publish the proposed committee bills that will be on the agenda when we meet Tuesday, December 6.
- Maps, statistics, downloads, and other background information will be posted prominently on the Senate Redistricting website.
- Invitations for public comment will be sent by email, publicized on www.flsenate.gov, and communicated in press releases.

Monday, November 28 through Friday, December 2

- Senators may submit alternative plans and file amendments to the proposed committee bills. Each amendment must include a complete statewide plan that is posted on the committee’s Submitted Plans page (with a unique name tied to its legal description, maps, statistics, and downloads).
- Professional committee staff can help with technical details, but it is up to Senators themselves to allow sufficient time to meet the 5:00 pm Friday deadline.
- Citizens can comment on plans by any of several convenient ways:
  - Record a video message and post it on the Committee’s YouTube page.
  - Dial 1-855-FLA-MAPS (toll free) and record a voice message.
  - Send an email to RedistrictFlorida@flsenate.gov
  - Send a “tweet” to @Redistrict2012.
  - Post a comment on the Committee’s Facebook page.
- Prerecorded comments will be assembled by professional committee staff, and the Florida Channel will assist with producing video segments that can be viewed at the December 6 meeting.

Friday, December 2, at 5:00 pm

- Because our self-imposed 48-hour deadline for amendments falls on Sunday, I will ask the committee not to approve amendments filed after 5:00 pm on Friday December 2.
- Public comments received after the close of business Friday are less likely to be included in the video segments produced by the Florida Channel.

Tuesday, December 6

- There will be two proposed committee bills on the agenda for the December 6 meeting: one for congressional districts, and one for state legislative districts.
- The proposed committee bills will be taken up as regular agenda items.
- The committee will listen to the video segments produced by the Florida Channel and hear live testimony from citizens attending the meeting.
- If we get more public comment than we have time to hear at the meeting, we will post the entire collection on the Senate Redistricting website.
- Before adjourning, I will entertain motions to introduce the congressional and legislative redistricting plans as committee bills.

During the winter holidays

- We will expect the President of the Senate to refer the redistricting bills to the Reapportionment Committee.
- Professional staff may incorporate suggestions and feedback from the public into a proposed committee substitute, which will be published at least 7 calendar days in advance of when it will be heard by the committee.

January 2012

- Our top priority will be reporting congressional and legislative plans early in Session and making them available for consideration on the Senate Floor.

- We will consult with the Rules Committee chair about formal measures to insure that the same level of openness and transparency that has marked our deliberations thus far continues throughout the legislative process.

I would like to express gratitude to those senators who have taken the time to meet with professional staff and familiarize themselves with the legal and technical aspects of this process. Thanks also for sharing with staff and me your recollections of and insights about the input we have received. Hearing your thoughts and concerns directly will continue to be very helpful to me in the days and weeks ahead.

Let me again extend my thanks to Majority Leader Gardiner and Minority Leader Rich for helping the committee arrive at unanimous agreement about the course we have set for ourselves. Our success thus far is a testament to their leadership.

Senate Panel Proposes 2012 Redistricting Maps

Proposed Committee Bills Based on Public Input

Tallahassee, Fla. – Drawing on 157 redistricting maps submitted by citizens and on testimony by more than 1,600 people across the state, the Florida Senate today published proposed redistricting plans for congressional and senate districts.

The plans, which can be found at www.flsenate.gov/redistricting, will define boundaries for voting districts for the next ten years, beginning with the 2012 elections. All Floridians are encouraged to review the proposed redistricting plans and provide their comments and suggestions.

The proposals were developed by the Senate Reapportionment Committee based on bipartisan guidelines agreed to by all 24 of the Democrats and Republicans on the committee. All directions to staff and committee procedures have been agreed to in a bipartisan manner by the Senate Majority Leader, Andy Gardiner, and the Senate Minority Leader, Nan Rich. Also agreed to unanimously were instructions to staff to preserve minorities' access to the political system and avoid retrogression.

“Months ahead of past redistricting schedules and after the most open, transparent and interactive process in Florida history, the Senate committee has produced a product which is fair, sensible and faithful to the law,” said committee chairman Senator Don Gaetz.

Gaetz credited Majority Leader Andy Gardiner and Minority Leader Nan Rich with keeping the committee's deliberations nonpartisan and developing unanimous agreements governing deadlines and procedures.

The proposed committee bills unveiled today contain districts providing voting opportunities for racial and language minorities in areas of fast-growing population in and around Orlando. They were inspired by testimony and proposals from Hispanic groups and citizens based on exceptional increases in primarily Puerto Rican population in the area in recent years.

Consistent with Amendments 5 and 6 added by voters to the State Constitution, the Senate plans protect minority voters from diminishment in the ability to elect candidates of their choice. Protecting minority opportunities, as required by both the State Constitution and federal law, was unanimously agreed to by the Senate committee as a guiding principle for redistricting.

Plans also cannot be drawn with the intent to favor or disfavor incumbents or political parties. To a far greater extent than ever before, district lines follow city, county, and geographic boundaries.

“Some counties and cities will have more than one senator or congressperson because of dense population,” Gaetz explained. “Others had to be divided to protect minority voting rights and avoid retrogression. We heard and respected the testimony of hundreds of Floridians who said, ‘Keep our community together.’ Wherever we could, we heeded what people living in communities and neighborhoods told us made sense to them.”

Extensive public hearings already have taken House and Senate members to 26 communities across Florida in an unprecedented effort to listen to citizen concerns about how legislative and congressional maps have been drawn in the past and suggestions for better, fairer districts in the future. The hearings attracted just under 5,000 people. After another period for public comment beginning today, the Senate committee will vote December 6, on whether to introduce the proposal to the full Senate.

Members of the public are encouraged to provide suggestions, criticisms and comments by:

- Calling 850-487-5757 or 855-FLA-MAPS toll free.
- Visiting the committee’s Facebook page (search for “Florida Senate Reapportionment Committee”)
- Emailing RedistrictFlorida@flsenate.gov
- Sending a “tweet” to @Redistrict2012
- Posting video feedback on the committee’s YouTube page at www.youtube.com/SenateRedistricting
- Writing the committee at 103 Senate Office Building, 404 South Monroe Street, Tallahassee, Florida, 32399-1100
- Attending the December 6 meeting in person.
- Contacting their own senator or representative.

The Florida Channel will develop a video report based on comments received and present it to the committee prior to any vote on the proposed plans. All comments, whether used by the Florida Channel or not, will be posted on the committee’s website for all senators to review.

Gaetz explained that if the Senate committee votes favorably to introduce the bills on December 6, the Rules Chairman and Senate President will likely send the bills back to the Reapportionment Committee for a final vote as soon as the Legislature convenes in early January. This would allow the proposals to be voted on the Senate floor early in the legislative session.

Senate Committee on Reapportionment Votes to Formally Introduce Senate and Congressional Redistricting Plans

Tallahassee, Fla. – After receiving more than 500 emails, phone calls and social media messages since the proposed Senate and Congressional Redistricting plans were published, as well as hearing public testimony, the Senate Committee on Reapportionment voted to introduce the proposed congressional and senate redistricting plans today.

“After listening to our fellow Floridians and engaging in the most open, transparent and interactive redistricting process in the history of Florida, we voted today to formally introduce the congressional and senate redistricting plans,” said Senator Don Gaetz (R-Niceville). “I am proud to say that these plans are not only faithful to the law, but that they were drawn based on the public input that we gathered, as well as the redistricting maps submitted by citizens.”

The plans, which can be found at www.flsenate.gov/redistricting, propose boundaries for voting districts for the next ten years, beginning with the 2012 elections.

“Because of the expedited timeline we are operating under, the bills will be available for the committee to vote on in early January, allowing the proposals to be voted on the Senate floor early in the 2012 Legislative Session – two months ahead of past redistricting schedules,” added Senator Gaetz.

Gaetz also noted that the public is encouraged to stay engaged in this once-a-decade process and submit their suggestions, criticisms and comments throughout the redistricting process.

“The public has been an essential part of this redistricting process since day one, and that does not stop with the formal introduction of these committee bills. We will continue to take your comments and input into consideration as the plans move through the process.” concluded Senator Gaetz.

The committee voted to introduce the maps by a vote of 23-3, with 17 Republicans and 6 Democrats voting in favor of the proposals.

MEMORANDUM

To: Senate Reapportionment Committee Members and Staff
From: Don Gaetz, Chairman
Subject: Committee Meeting January 11, 2012
Date: December 30, 2011

Today committee staff published two proposed committee substitutes; one to SB 1174, an act relating to congressional districts, and the other to SJR 1176, relating to state legislative districts. These proposed committee substitutes will be on the agenda for Wednesday, January 11. Today's release comes 12 days in advance of the meeting, and exceeds what is required by the seven-day policy the Reapportionment Committee unanimously set for itself and the one-day deadline as required by Senate Rules. The advance publication gives legislators, staff, and the public additional time to review the new maps.

The new congressional and senate maps improve the original maps, incorporating feedback received at our December 6 committee meeting and thereafter from members of the general public and Supervisors of Elections as well as refinements made by professional staff consistent with federal and state law. The new plans and the accompanying maps, statistics, and downloads are available on the Senate Redistricting website. A summary of the substantial changes is included in the respective Bill Analyses.

On Wednesday January 11, 2012, at 1:00 PM, the Reapportionment Committee will meet to consider the proposed committee substitutes and take the final committee action. At the meeting, staff will explain the new plans and answer questions. Time will be reserved for public testimony on the plans and for discussion and debate by the members.

Members of the Reapportionment Committee may propose amendments to the proposed committee substitutes. Per our unanimous agreement, amendments must be filed at least 48 hours prior to noticed meeting times. The Committee will not compromise openness, transparency, or the opportunity to question, consider, and debate the impacts of amendments.

For the meeting on January 11, the Reapportionment Committee's self-imposed amendment deadline will be Monday, January 9, at 1:00 PM. Please remember the process of drafting and filing amendments to reapportionment plans is different than other amendments. It is important to work with professional committee staff, who can assist senators and ensure amendments are technically correct.

If the Committee reports SB 1174 and SJR 1176, we will be in position to be hear them on a Special Order calendar when the Senate returns from the Martin Luther King Jr. holiday on Tuesday, January 17. That is a full two months earlier than floor votes in the Senate 10 years ago. The fact that we are this far along in the process at this point in time is a direct result of the hard work each and every member of our committee has put forth, and I thank you for that.

If you have questions, about the Committee's upcoming schedule or the proposed committee substitutes, please feel free to contact our Professional Staff Director, John Guthrie, our Vice Chair, President Margolis, or me at any time.

Senate Committee on Reapportionment Passes Proposed Committee
Substitutes
for Congressional & State Senate Redistricting Plans with Bipartisan Support
Redistricting Proposals Now Ready to be Heard on Senate Floor

Tallahassee, Fla. – Today the Florida Senate Committee on Reapportionment passed proposed committee substitutes (PCSs) for Senate Bill 1174 and Senate Joint Resolution 1176, the state Senate and Congressional redistricting plans, with bipartisan support. These proposals are now ready to be heard on the Senate floor.

“I applaud Senator Don Gaetz for skillfully guiding this redistricting process,” said Senate President Mike Haridopolos (R-Merritt Island). “Not only have the Congressional and state Senate maps that the Redistricting Committee drawn under his leadership gained bipartisan support, but they have also been drafted in an open and transparent forum with unprecedented public input. I commend Senator Gaetz on a job well done, and I look forward to hearing these proposals on the Senate floor next week.”

“The proposed committee substitutes that we passed today represent a great improvement over the first redistricting plans as they reflect changes the committee incorporated as a direct result of the public feedback that we received since publishing the initial maps,” said Senator Don Gaetz (R-Niceville), Chairman of the Senate Committee on Reapportionment. “These plans not only echo the will of our state’s citizens based on the input and comments they have provided to us throughout the redistricting process, but I am also confident that they adhere to Amendments 5 and 6.”

During the course of the meeting, members of the committee, both Republican and Democratic alike, expressed disapproval of any amendments being heard on the Senate floor that would significantly alter the current plans without first being subject to public input and comment.

“I am also happy to announce that we are now in a position to vote on the Congressional and state Senate redistricting plans on the floor of the Florida Senate during the second week of the 2012 Legislative Session,” said Senator Gaetz. “The expedited timeline that we are following represents a dramatic difference from the last redistricting session – in fact, the vote on the Senate floor will take place a full two months earlier than it did 10 years ago,” concluded Senator Gaetz.

The plans, which can be found at www.flsenate.gov/redistricting, propose boundaries for voting districts for the next ten years, beginning with the 2012 elections.

House Redistricting Committee Approves Redistricting Maps with Unprecedented Level of Input from Floridians

Maps headed to the House Floor

Tallahassee, Fla. – After receiving several thousand suggestions from Floridians at public town hall meetings in 26 Florida cities and through social media, phone, email and U.S. mail, the House Redistricting Committee today approved House, Senate and Congressional maps to serve as Florida’s political boundaries for the next decade.

“With the help of Floridians from every corner of the state, the House Redistricting Committee has produced maps that meet state and federal standards,” said House Redistricting Committee Chairman Will Weatherford (R-Wesley Chapel). “I firmly believe that our open and transparent process has resulted in a better product for Florida. I look forward to discussing these maps with my colleagues on the House Floor next week.”

Throughout the legislative process, the committee and subcommittees considered several options and amended them multiple times to include additional public feedback, in order to ensure the overall legal compliance of the final maps that passed today.

The maps that passed today are available online:

- House Map HJR 6011 (plan 9049)
- Senate Map HJR 6001 (plan 9008)
- Congressional Map HB 6005 (plan 9047)

This past summer, the House and Senate Redistricting Committees hosted 26 public meetings in communities around Florida to gather input, which formed the basis of the maps produced by the House Redistricting Committee. The House Office of Public Information recently released a video highlighting the numerous ways Floridians have offered their thoughts and opinions throughout the redistricting process.

As the maps make their way through the legislative process, Floridians can continue visiting FloridaRedistricting.org for updates.

Florida Legislature Passes Congressional and State Legislative Redistricting Plans

Plans Headed to Attorney General & Governor for Review

Tallahassee, Fla. – Today, the Florida Legislature took the final step to approve the Congressional and state legislative redistricting plans. The Senate, after another pair of bipartisan votes, will be delivering the legislative plans to Attorney General Pam Bondi and the Congressional plan to Governor Rick Scott.

The Attorney General will petition the Florida Supreme Court for declaratory judgment regarding the validity of the new state senatorial and representative districts. The new Congressional plan will be sent to the Governor for approval. The legislature will also ask the United States Department of Justice to preclear all redistricting plans prior to their implementation.

“Today, the Florida Legislature has made history by passing redistricting plans off the floor of both the House and Senate after holding 26 public meetings across the state, and hearing an unprecedented amount of public input and comment,” said Senate President Mike Haridopolos (R-Merritt Island). “We also passed these plans off the floor of the House and Senate earlier than in any past redistricting process. In fact, in 1992 legislative redistricting plans didn’t pass the full legislature until April and Congressional plans had to be drawn by the courts because an agreement couldn’t be reached. Similarly in 2002 redistricting plans didn’t pass off the floor of the full legislature until March.”

“I commend Senator Gaetz for expertly guiding this process, as well as his counterpart in the Florida House, Representative Will Weatherford. These bills were developed on the public input and feedback that their committees collected, and they have conducted the redistricting process in such a way that made it the most open and transparent effort in Florida’s history.”

The plans, which can be found at www.flsenate.gov/redistricting, establish boundaries for voting districts for the next ten years, beginning with the 2012 elections.

“From the onset, it was our goal to draw district boundary lines that reflect the will of our citizens, follow state and federal law, and comply with Amendments 5 and 6,” said Senator Don Gaetz (R-Niceville), Chairman of the Senate Committee on Reapportionment. “Today, I can proudly say that working together with Chairman Weatherford, we have accomplished that goal.”

“I am also proud of the fact that we were able to work across party lines to pass these redistricting plans. Today’s bipartisan vote punctuates the fact that we, as a legislative body, were committed to following the letter of the law and drew these lines without the intent to favor or disfavor any particular political party,” said Senator Gaetz. “I also want to extend a special thank you to former Senate President Gwen Margolis, the Vice Chair of the Senate Committee on Reapportionment, as she was instrumental in ensuring this process ran smoothly and gained bipartisan support,” concluded Senator Gaetz.

MEMORANDUM

TO: All Senators
FROM: Mike Haridopolos, President
SUBJECT: Extraordinary Apportionment Session – March 14 – 28, 2012
DATE: March 12, 2012

The Supreme Court determined that Senate Districts 1, 3, 6, 9, 10, 29, 30, and 34 in the enacted plan are invalid. The court also held that the numbering proposal of the Senate plan is invalid.

Responding to legal challenges to Legislative plans is customary. In 1982, 1992, and 2002, the plans were legally challenged. Three-fourths of the current plan has been deemed valid, however the Legislature must respond to the Court's concerns on the remaining portion of the current plan.

Article III Section 16 (d) of the Florida Constitution provides that in such a situation, the Governor will reconvene the Legislature within 5 days for a 15-day Extraordinary Apportionment Session. As was announced on the floor Friday night, we have received Governor Scott's proclamation reconvening the Legislature on Wednesday, March 14, 2012, at 1:00 p.m.

Immediately following the convening of the extraordinary session, a redistricting committee meeting will be held to hear from our attorneys and professional staff about the Supreme Court's opinion and its guidance in interpreting and applying redistricting standards.

We will return the following week for another committee meeting and to pass a map conforming to the judgment of the Supreme Court. After adoption by the Legislature, the Attorney General will petition the Supreme Court for a declaratory judgment determining the validity of the apportionment.

We appreciate the Court's acknowledgement of the Legislature's open and inclusive process of public input and bi-partisan cooperation. We will continue our work in the same fashion as we redraw the Senate map.

MEMORANDUM

To: All Senators and Staff
From: Senator Don Gaetz, Chair of the Senate Reapportionment Committee
Subject: "Chairman's Amendment" to SJR 2-B

This morning a "Chairman's Amendment" was filed as a proposed committee substitute to Senate Joint Resolution 2-B, which will be heard at the committee meeting beginning at 9:00 a.m. on Tuesday, March 20. The amendment, barcode 977956, contains a senate apportionment plan conforming to the judgment of the Supreme Court. Maps, statistics, and downloads for the plan are available on the Senate Redistricting website.

Plan S000S9016 (<http://flsenate.gov/Session/Redistricting/Plan/s000s9016>) remedies the constitutional defects found by the Supreme Court with respect to Senate Districts 1, 3, 6, 9, 10, 29, 30, and 34 as they were passed by the Legislature in CS/SJR 1176. The districts were redrawn, along with any affected districts, in accordance with constitutional standards as defined by the Supreme Court. The amendment also addresses the Court's concerns regarding the City of Lakeland, and Senate professional staff and attorneys conducted the necessary functional analysis described by the Supreme Court. The attached document prepared by professional staff describes the adjustments made to conform to the judgment of the Court.

Amendment 5 requires that districts be numbered in an incumbent-neutral manner. In the case of Senate districts, the district number—specifically, whether the number is odd or even—determines whether the candidate elected at the 2012 general election will serve a two-year term or a four-year term. The district number thus affects the number of years which, under Florida's term-limits provision, an incumbent can serve in the Florida Senate.

To ensure compliance with this constitutional requirement, an amendment to the Chairman's amendment provides that district numbers will be selected on a random, incumbent-neutral process of assignment conducted in public. A random selection of district numbers will avoid any suggestion that the Legislature assigned district numbers with an intent to favor or disfavor incumbents.

The Chairman's amendment assigns a temporary number to each district. To achieve a random selection, two random drawings will then be conducted simultaneously. First, one temporary number will be selected at random. Second, a random selection will be made between two values: "odd" and "even." The district whose temporary number was selected in the first drawing will receive an odd or even number, as determined by the second drawing. This process will repeat until twenty odd numbers and twenty even numbers have been assigned on a random, incumbent-neutral basis.

The random selection of district numbers will be conducted on the Senate floor by a neutral, independent party agreed to by the Majority and Minority Leaders, and with the consultation of the Florida Lottery. The press and public are invited to attend and will have direct access to the process.

Senators may file alternative plans as amendments to be considered by the Committee on Reapportionment at Tuesday's meeting. As was unanimously agreed to by the members of the Senate, the deadline for filing amendments for the committee meeting is noon on Monday, March 19. Please give due consideration to the time it takes to process and file a redistricting plan as an amendment, and in the spirit of transparency and openness, to those who would wish to study a an alternative proposal.

The Court gave the Legislature the following directions:

- First: “We have held that Senate Districts 1, 3, 6, 9, 10, 29, 30, and 34 are constitutionally invalid. The Legislature should remedy the constitutional problems with respect to these districts, redrawing these districts and any affected districts in accordance with the standards as defined by this Court . . . .”
- Second: “The Legislature . . . should conduct the appropriate functional analysis to ensure compliance with the Florida minority voting protection provision as well as the tier-two standards of equal population, compactness, and utilization of existing political and geographical boundaries.”
- Third: “As to the City of Lakeland, the Legislature should determine whether it is feasible to utilize the municipal boundaries of Lakeland after applying the standards as defined by this Court.”
- Fourth: “Finally, we have held that the numbering scheme of the Senate plan is invalid. Accordingly, the Legislature should renumber the districts in an incumbent-neutral manner.”

The Chairman’s amendment conforms to the judgment of the Court.

First, it revises the eight districts that the Court found unconstitutional:

- Districts 1 and 3 no longer follow the non-compact horizontal orientation, but adopt a vertical configuration that keeps four additional counties whole.
- District 6 no longer includes parts of six counties from Duval to Volusia County. Instead, it is wholly contained in Duval County and continues to be a minority-opportunity district. The black-voting age population of the district is 43.0%. The Senate performed the necessary functional analysis on this district.
- This revision of District 6 results in a more compact shape for District 9, which preserves whole three additional counties that were previously divided.
- District 10 no longer includes the narrow passageway between Districts 12 and 14 and more logically follows county lines. The Senate conducted a functional analysis on Districts 12 and 14 and concluded that the area between District 12 (an African-American district) and District 14 (a Hispanic district) cannot be incorporated into

District 12 or District 14 without depriving minorities in those districts of the ability to elect their candidates of choice.

- The boundary between District 30 and District 23 no longer follows the coast to Cape Coral, but instead includes inland areas immediately north of the boundary between Lee and Collier Counties, resulting in a compact district.
- District 34 no longer follows a narrow, north-south configuration. Instead, it is wholly contained in Broward County and continues to be a majority-minority district. The Senate conducted the necessary functional analysis on this district. As a result of this revision to District 34, the remaining districts in Palm Beach and Broward Counties assume a more natural and logical configuration. Instead of three districts, only one district crosses the boundary between Palm Beach and Broward Counties.
- District 29 no longer extends along the coast of Palm Beach and Broward Counties. This area is substantially revised into compact districts, including a majority-minority district (combined African-American and Hispanic) wholly contained in Palm Beach County.

Second, the Senate conducted the necessary functional analysis on all minority districts:

- The Chairman's amendment preserves the six African-American and three Hispanic districts that existed in the benchmark plan, although some have been reconfigured pursuant to the direction of the Court. Some of these districts—specifically, Districts 6, 12, and 34—have become significantly more compact.
- The Chairman's amendment includes two Hispanic majority-minority districts that were not included in the 2002 benchmark plan—one in Central Florida (District 14) and one in Miami-Dade County (District 35).
- The Chairman's amendment includes one district with a combined African-American and Hispanic population of more than 50% (District 29).

Third, the Chairman's amendment keeps the City of Lakeland whole within one district.

Fourth, the Chairman's amendment provides for a random, incumbent-neutral assignment of district numbers, consistent with the direction of the Court, to be conducted in public.

Florida Senate Passes Revised Redistricting Map to Comply with Supreme Court Ruling

Tallahassee, Fla. – The Florida Senate today passed a revised state Senate redistricting plan to comply with the Supreme Court’s ruling. The revised plan passed by a bipartisan, 31-6 vote.

“Once again, Senator Don Gaetz has guided this redistricting process with a deft hand,” said Senate President Mike Haridopolos (R-Merritt Island). “During this extraordinary session, he has shown that he is committed to complying with the Supreme Court’s ruling and abiding by Amendments 5 and 6, all while ensuring the redistricting process remains open, transparent and inclusive.”

“I look forward to the Supreme Court’s review of our revised map and am hopeful they will find it in compliance with the ruling they outlined,” added Senate President Haridopolos.

“While the Supreme Court validated 32 of the 40 districts in our original redistricting plan, the Court, in their ruling, indicated that eight districts needed to be revised, and we worked diligently during this extraordinary session to address the concerns the Supreme Court delineated. In the end, 24 districts were affected and improved,” said Senator Don Gaetz (R-Niceville), Chairman of the Senate Committee on Reapportionment. “We respected the wishes of the Supreme Court, which used the League of Women Voters redistricting proposal as a example of how we could improve our maps. Our revised plan better utilizes geographical and political boundaries, and contains districts that, when measured using the methods specified by the Court, are more compact.”

“I finally want to thank all of my fellow Senators for the collaborative effort during this redistricting process, especially the Majority and Minority leaders who worked closely together to find common ground throughout this process,” concluded Senator Gaetz.

The revised state Senate redistricting plan can be found at www.flsenate.gov/redistricting.
