Excused: Senator Alexander periodically for the purpose of working on the Budget Conference

PRAYER

The following prayer was offered by Rev. Franchot Buhler, Associate Pastor/Director of Ministry, First Baptist Church, Tallahassee:

Mighty God, creator and sustainer, we call upon your holy name, because we believe our work will be better, our cooperation will be stronger when we begin our legislative task with a prayer of our common confession.

None of us pretend to possess a higher knowledge, a deeper wisdom, or a stronger spirituality than anyone else in this Senate Chamber. We confess our human limitations and our limited legislative possibilities if each of us functions as a committee of one. We dare to believe that in your great providence we find the will to work together to do what is right.

May our common purpose be to serve and improve the lives of the people who sent us here. May we do justice, love kindness, and walk humbly with our God. For we pray in your hallowed and holy name, Amen.

PLEDGE

Senate Pages, Nick Schultz of Live Oak; Lindsey Vasti of Treasure Island; and Zareeah King of Daytona, led the Senate in the pledge of allegiance to the flag of the United States of America.

DOCTOR OF THE DAY

The President recognized and sponsored Dr. Dennis Saver of Vero Beach, as doctor of the day. Dr. Saver specializes in Family Medicine.

RECOGNITION OF PRESIDENT HARIDOPOLOS

SPECIAL GUESTS

Senator Gaetz introduced President Haridopolos' wife, Dr. Stephanie Haridopolos, their children, Alexis, Hayden, and Reagan, and his parents, Ernie and Georgia Haridopolos, Governor Rick Scott, Lieutenant Governor Jennifer Carroll, Commissioner of Agriculture Adam Putnam, former Senate President and current Chief Financial Officer Jeff Atwater, and former Senate Presidents Ken Pruitt, John Vogt, and Jim Scott who were present in the chamber.

A video tribute was played honoring President Haridopolos.

On motion by Senator Thrasher, the following remarks were ordered spread upon the journal:

Senator Bennett: You know when you serve somebody, it's one thing, but when you serve the State, it's something else. When you stand by your principles, and a lot of people say they stand by their principles, but they really don't. It's really tough sometimes to stand by your principles and at the same time, bend to help a child, bend to help people who need the help the most.

Senator Haridopolos and I, and I know we're supposed to be using all kinds of legal terms, Mr. Rules Chairman, but I can't help it. Though he will always be my President, he will always be "Mike" to me. You think about sitting side by side in the House and him standing by his principles so much that every once in a while, he would actually reach over and switch my vote. That was fair because those vote switches are probably what got me elected.

I think sometimes you have to understand leadership comes about by those people who stand by their principles. He has always stood by his principles of less government, stronger family values, more personal responsibility—the types of things that we all want in our lives. We all want less taxes and often times, you'll hear the debate: we've got to have more revenue. But we can't have more revenue and tax people who have nothing, and have the high unemployment rate we have in the State of Florida. We've had to make some tough choices. We've disagreed without being disagreeable. Mike and I have always had the opportunity to walk into the back room and forget about the discussion on the floor and maintain our friendship. That is what a true leader can do. A true leader can disagree with you without being disagreeable. He doesn't hold a hammer over your head. He doesn't beat you up. He pushes for his side just as he expects you to push for your side. That is really what leadership is all about. Leadership is truly earned. You can get appointed, but you will never be a leader unless you actually lead people. Mike, you are a leader.

I don't know what the future is going to hold for you. You know they always talk about a bucket list. I know everybody has got one. I certainly know that you're not at the end of yours by a long shot. But when I look at your family, that is certainly one of the things on your bucket list. When I look at the Senate Presidency, what a wonderful thing to have on your bucket list. I know that your bucket is not full yet. Congratulations, my friend. It has been a wonderful opportunity.

Senator Simmons: Thank you, Mr. President. The many times that I have had the opportunity to see you in the halls and see you here in the Senate, I say "Hello, how are you?" Your response is "Just living the dream." Members, this is a man who is living the dream. You know back in the time of 1215, January of 1215, the earls and the barons were having a difficult time with King John. What they did was the normal thing to do back then. They went ahead and tried to find some other king to substitute for King John. But the fact of it was that there wasn't any real substitute. So necessity being the mother of invention, the earls and the barons decided that they would create a document. This document was to be signed by King John when they cornered him at Runnymede in the summer of 1215. They had a constitutional document, the Magna Carta, which is, of course, the foundation in all English-speaking countries in the world for constitutional government. As a history professor and a person who is knowledgeable about that, I can say to you that this President is as solid as a rock. He is a person who believes in our constitutional form of government. You see, his beliefs are solid, and I remember him living that dream that he has lived and is living.

I remember driving up here in the fall of 2000. We had just been elected to the Florida House of Representatives. With me in the car was a young man whom I had never met before. That was Mike Haridopolos. We were talking, and I got to know Mike Haridopolos. I learned that Mike Haridopolos is a person who believed in Ronald Reagan Republicanism; a man who said, "Let us be sure that those who come after us will say of us that in our time, we did everything that could be done, we finished the race, we kept them free, and we kept the faith." That is the tenet that Senator Mike Haridopolos has lived by. He believes, just like Ronald Reagan, that the problem is not that people are taxed too little. The problem is that government spends too much. He believes, just like Ronald Reagan, that government's view of the economy can be summed up in a few short phrases. If it moves, tax it; if it keeps moving, regulate it; and if it stops moving, subsidize it.

From day one, when I met him in November of 2000, he has remained true to his beliefs. So, as part of that Class of 2000, we were there in November and the Speaker of the House said as he looked out among us, "You know, look around you members. Look around you, and you are going to see future United State Senators." We do have a U.S. Senator from our class. He said, "You're going to see cabinet members." We do have a cabinet member from the Class of 2000. He said, "You're going to see Senators and State Senators and Congress persons." And sure enough, we not only have from the Class of 2000 a State Senator, we have a President of the State Senate.

I'm a person who is observant. I know some of you probably wonder if it is true that I'm really observant. You know, I was growing up on a farm and I would have to spend 14 hours a day riding a tractor. You know, you start looking at things around you when you spend 14 hours a day on a tractor. This is true when you pick a jury too. You learn to look at people. I'm an observant person, and I'm going to tell you what I've observed about our Senate President. The first thing is that he is the definition of leadership. The term leadership embodies a lot of characteristics. Those characteristics are different for different people. I'm going to tell you what I've seen. The number one element, characteristic of leadership, is to have a vision and to have a dream. Members, this man has a dream. He has vision. That has been the vision that has led this Senate for the last two years. That vision was tempered with the knowledge and the understanding that the power and the authority of the Presidency of this Senate derives from the members of the Senate. So, number one, he is a leader because he understands a vision. Members, he's principled. Not once can you ever suggest to anyone that this Senate President waived on his principles. He's loyal in every way. I remember when we were in front of Alan Bense, the Speaker of the House of Representatives. One of the issues was loyalty and he said “You know David, in my world, loyalty means so much.” This man is loyal.

You know what else as I have observed? He loves his wife, he loves children, he loves his parents. Have you ever watched him when Stephanie comes into the room? Watch him, sort of like a school boy who’s seeing for the first time the school girl he loves, his first love. That’s the way he acts. For me, to watch him as he interacts with Stephanie, is a blessing. It really is. He’s honest, he has integrity, and he’s a hard worker. He and I had somewhat of the same experience growing up. It’s a tough experience. It’s like our Governor, but he was fortunate to have great parents. Where I come from, hard work used to be admired, and I have not seen someone who works as hard as he does in a long, long time, and I admire it. The fact is that Thomas Jefferson said, “The harder I work, the luckier I seem to get.” Well, I believe, Mr. President, that you’ve got a lot of things to achieve, and you’re going to do it through hard work.

Our President demands fairness. Individuals, such as William Dillon and Eric Brody, saw the fairness of this man. Members, he was accessible, is accessible. When the doors came down to the Office of the Presidency, you walk in and they’re sitting over there on the side. Not once did I walk in that he wasn’t accessible, and I know that’s true for everyone of us. He is the embodiment of leadership. Not only did he take the dream, have the vision, but he turned it into reality.

You think about the landmark legislation that has been adopted by this Senate and this Legislature as a result of his leadership. We have landmark legislation that demands accountability in education by changing the archaic rules of tenure and it provides for measures of performance. In two years, we have tremendously streamlined government. We have pill mill legislation stopping the heinous and dangerous pill mill disaster that we had prior to this Senate President, and his wife. We have education reforms, members, that had their genesis in the Senate, and now are passed. We have individuals such as William Dillon and Eric Brody who received justice. It’s not just those individuals, members, that we are talking about. We’re talking about the statement that has been made for generations to come.

So, Mr. President, you are living the dream and making that dream a reality for all of Florida’s citizens. You are the definition of success because the definition of success is that we leave this world a better place than when we arrived. By that definition or any definition, you are a success. I want to thank you, Mr. President, from the bottom of my heart and from all of us, for living the dream, for leading us, so that we can change the lives for the better of all Floridians. Thank you so much.

Senator Negron: Thank you. After Senator Simmons’ excellent presentation, Senator Gardiner and I are out of material. I’ll just touch on a couple of things. I want to talk briefly about his leadership style. When people are trying to achieve something, and they need the help of a group, they are real quick to talk about how it’s going to be group dynamics. I’m going to be here to make sure you’re successful. Sometimes when they get to the pinnacle, they forget, and all of a sudden they’re running the show. I have to say with President Haridopolos, with Medicaid reform for example, and a number of us worked on that issue, he kept his word. He said here are the broad tenets that we all believe in and he empowered us to go make it happen. The same thing with PIP reform. I guess we’ll find out in the next 24 hours whether this was a good strategy or not. He said, “Here is what I want to do. I want to get rid of fraud. I want to make sure that legitimate medical providers get paid.” I want to thank you for not just talking a good game but really empowering members to get their work done.

The second thing that I admire about the President is his independence and having a little bit of an independent streak. One of the things when you run for office, and this is true in both parties, but in the Republican party, there is a Republican party orthodoxy. God forbid if you deviate. I don’t know who decides what this orthodoxy is, but somebody does. If you happen to have a different view, we have all kinds of nice names. You’re a “RINO” or you’re a fake. You’re not really a conservative. One of the things that I admire about him is you don’t find too many Republicans that are worried about people wrongfully convicted of crimes. That seems to be an issue that you hear Democrats talk about. I admire this President. There’s not a lot of good will you’re going to inherit in a Republican base by standing up for people that are in prison and looking like you can be accused of being soft on crime. I’m proud of the fact that a Republican established an innocence commission to say, “Let’s make sure that we don’t send people to prison who don’t deserve it.” This man got a claims bill for Wilton Dedge and Bill Dillon, both of whom were wrongly convicted. He set up a procedure so that people who are wrongfully convicted have an ability to seek justice. I admire your independence in saying, “It’s not being tough on crime to put the wrong people in prison.” I admire that.

I respect the fact that before you start writing bills, you actually go talk to people. When we were going to do Medicaid reform—there’s something about you and buses, and we’ve been on a lot of buses to get health—but we did the Haridopolos bus tour. We joined with many of your members. I look around and I see many members that we visited when we started in Miami. We started at FQAC, and I still remember a young mother with her three children and I asked, “What do you like about getting your health care here?” She said, “I like the fact that I can get dental care here. I can get everything I need. I don’t have to bounce from pillar to post.” We went to Glades County. The Health Department in Glades County is the only show in town. That’s where you go get your health care. I remember after we were there for several hours, we were in the parking lot, and a gentleman came up to us and said, “I’m for Medicaid. I’m for making sure that we take care of people who can’t afford their health care. I want you to know about my business. I can’t afford to pay full health care anymore for my employees. We’re only able to pay 50 percent of their cost.” That was one of your principles. You know Medicaid should be comparable to what’s in the private sector. No better and no worse.” We talked to people and learned from them instead of just saying “We’re going to come up here and write a bill.”

I know you remember being at Shands. Dr. Bleiweis had worked twenty four hours straight before we talked to him. He does complex pediatric surgeries to save lives. Stephanie Haridopolos was on the trip with us. There is an idea in the Medicaid bill that I’m very proud of. A lot of people on Medicaid don’t even know who their doctor is. They are lost in a bureaucratic system. Dr. Haridopolos said, “Why don’t we make sure that everybody in Medicaid has an appointment scheduled with their doctor? This is about medical care by the way. They go to the doctor within 30 days.” It’s now in our law. Everybody who signs up for Medicaid, they’re going to be treated the way that everybody else would be treated. They are going to know who their doctor is, and they are going to see their doctor within 30 days.

One of your legacies is what Senator Gaetz and I refer to as the Haridopolos primary care clinics. There are over 30 now. This isn’t a concept. This isn’t some idea. This isn’t in bill drafting. These are actual clinics. As David Letterman says, “Actual letters from actual viewers.” These are actual clinics that are up and running today as we sit here—over 30. With what we’ve approved this year, there will be over 50. These are places where our fellow citizens can go to get the care they need rather than having to go to the emergency room. Thank you for a job well done, for empowering us, and for being willing to stand up for what you believe. Well done.

Senator Benacquisto: Thank you, Mr. President. First, let me say a big, giant thank you to Stephanie Haridopolos and the three beautiful Haridopolos children for the time that they have lent their father and her husband to us. Even in my short time being involved here, there are always Saturday afternoons when a phone call comes, a meeting has to be had, or a time that you have to say, “Excuse me for a moment” to the people you love. The fact that you have been so steadfast in your support for our President has meant the world to us because it allowed us to have him for the time that we needed him. You will have our undying support, gratitude, and love for that for evermore. For your children, you all should stand strong and be so proud of your father for what he has accomplished and for what your father has done for the state in your name.

Mr. President, you believed in a little city councilwoman nobody had ever heard of. You said, “I’ll give her a chance.” To many of us in this room, you said, “Follow my lead, work hard, make 10,000 phone calls, knock on 10,000 doors. You will see the connection to your constituents pay off. You set a great example for us, for all of us. With your confidence in me, you helped me get here. I still can’t believe it sometimes. But I am here among a group of incredible people led by someone who really deserves the title of “Mr. President.”

A funny thing happened along the way. We got to be very good friends. The President said to me one day, “You know, you’re like a little sister I never had.” Of course, I had to correct him. I am older than him. I can’t really be that little sister. But to have made that connection, to become such good friends, really means the world to me. To serve in this chamber along side you, under your leadership, you have sown in us the seeds of inspiration, the seeds of courage to take a stand for the things we believe in, the courage to expect more of ourselves on behalf of the people we represent, the courage to do better. Sometimes it takes courage when the fights come on this floor. You've taught me, and many of us, that sometimes the fights you lose are just as important as the fights you win when you stand for the right policy.

Given the glimpse of the inner workings of this body to a freshman, many of us in this room to whom I know you have extended that courtesy to learn, to be mentored by those that have come before us, to have a seat at the table when the decisions are being made is just critically important. I don't know what the future holds for you and your family but I know it is surrounded by love and good fortune. History, as we know, doesn't always reward us with the judgment of perfect. It will reward you with the judgment of principle. It will reward you with the judgment of courageous and dedicated and willing to stand for those who don't necessarily have a voice. Those corporations that we help out from time to time are never as important as the folks that need us most. You have been a great role model, a great friend, and it has been a privilege to serve alongside you. I wish you always the best, Mr. President.

Senator Thrasher: Thank you, Mr. President. Senator Haridopolos, congratulations. Stephanie, congratulations to you and Mr. and Mrs. Haridopolos. Senator Benacquisto talked about being young enough to be Senator Haridopolos' sister. Mr. Haridopolos, I'm probably old enough to be his father I think. But to be a part of his leadership team has been, truly, an honor.

I'm kind of like Senator Negrón. Senator Simmons and others who are so eloquent have kind of taken a lot of the things some of us would have said at the end. You know, in this town and in this business that we are in, people like to judge folks and determine whether or not they were successful or not in their journey in this process. Those folks out there sometimes do that. You know, by wins and losses. Sometimes, it's whether or not you are popular in the newspaper. That's really not what it's about. One of the things that is so important, at least to me, and I think it is to many of you, it's so important in this business we are in, is when somebody comes to you and says they are going to do something based upon their core of beliefs, you take it at face value. You believe they are going to do it. But then the real test comes when they get the position of leadership, and they actually execute that philosophy based upon what they believe in. And more than anything I could ever say, what I think about you, Senator Haridopolos, is that you ran on a philosophy that you believed in, that you believed in all your life: conservative principles of less government, less taxes, more personal freedom for everybody.

When you got this job, you executed those principles. Now, we didn't always win. We didn't always win and, again, I'm not sure that's what it's about. Just yesterday, after you left the floor, a few of the straggler good friends in the press corps came up to me and said, "Why are you all taking up these real controversial issues the last few days of the session?" I simply said to them, "You obviously don't know Mike Haridopolos." It ain't about that kind of stuff with Mike Haridopolos. It's about ideas. It's about challenging the status quo. It's about shaking things up and giving this body the opportunity to look at those issues, those very, very tough issues and make a decision. For that, Senator Haridopolos, my good friend Mike, you have been a champion, and don't ever leave this process thinking that wins and losses is what this is about. It's not about that. You are a winner in the highest sense of the word. I appreciate the opportunity to be a part of your team. I appreciate the opportunity to have taken on some of these difficult challenges that we've had, and I appreciate all that you have done for every single member of this Senate. When you leave here, you know it's not about legacy. It's about going back to doing what you said you were going to do, and you did it. That should be your legacy, in my opinion. God bless you, my friend.

Senator Gardiner: Thank you, Mr. President. I've learned a lot today. One thing I've learned: if you're going to talk, go first. The other thing that I've learned, and I'm having a hard time getting it out of my head, is David Simmons on a tractor for 14 hours a day. I'm not sure if Senator Evers needs any help or not in that.

I'm going to go through a couple of things. The one thing that's been talked about a lot, is what our President is finishing in his career, we all will finish. Some will have a portrait. Some will just have a hug from family. This is a celebration. This is such a celebration. I look around this chamber, and each one of you have made personal sacrifices to be here. To be away from your family. I think about Senator Flores who has her baby up here and the sacrifice that that is or Senator Simmons being away from his daughters. Senator Storms, if you go see Senator Storms, the books are laid out for her daughter for school. This is what it's all about: to have your family here and to celebrate that our President is going home. All the sacrifices that he has made as President as has been mentioned. The phone calls, the meetings, maybe he missed a recital or something at school. He's had to say goodnight to the children on the phone. For some of us Face Time, that's the new thing for us. That's what this is about. It's that celebration that we all will have at the end of our tenure in this process.

It's also about something that Senator Simmons talked about: the class of 2000. I see Speaker Feeney up there in the gallery. I look around and the impact of that class, Republican and Democrat, there were 63 of us. Senator Simmons is right. Future Senate Presidents, U.S. Senators, Lieutenant Governors, all the way across the board. What an impact that class has had! What an impact our President has had on the last two years.

I want to go through a few of them. Think about what has been accomplished under his leadership: education reform, growth management reform, medicaid reform, pro-life bills, the pill mill bill which is now a national model, redistricting, the budget, Smart Cap, Health Care Freedom Act, PIP, the school prayer bill (which I believe is on its way to the Governor), medical malpractice reform, pension reform, and—as it has been mentioned—Mr. Brody's and Mr. Dillon's compensation bills. I'm going to fill everybody in on a little secret. Occasionally between the House and the Senate, there is wheeling and dealing on issues. For Mr. Dillon and for Mr. Brody, I can still remember the President saying, "The House should do it because it's the right thing to do. There's no trade. They should do it because it's the right thing to do." He has consistently been that way on every one of these issues. Every issue that I have mentioned was done under his tenure as President, but he empowered the members in this chamber to get them done. That is an incredible legacy that you will leave, Mr. President.

There is a little piece of a speech, if you will bear with me, I want to read this. I know that we are creating a record, and I want the President's children to always hear it. When people look back and try to judge our President, I think this is important. The President has actually used much of this, but please bear with me. This is a speech that was given in 1910 in Paris, France by President Roosevelt. It's referred to as "Citizenship in a Republic."

It is not the critic who counts; not the man who points out how the strong man stumbles, or where the doer of deeds could have done them better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena, whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs; who comes short again and again, because there is no effort without error and short-coming; but who does actually strive to do the deeds; who knows great enthusiasms, the great devotions; who spends himself in a worthy cause; who at the best knows in the end the triumph of high achievement, and who at the worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who neither know victory nor defeat.

Two years ago, right here, when we recognized Senate President Jeff Atwater, he made comments that had a lasting impact on me. He said, "Don't fear the debate. We may not be on the same side, but don't fear the opportunity to debate." This President has never feared that debate. If you've had the opportunity to be up there where Senator Gaetz is and soon will be for another two years, it says "BNA." President Atwater put that up there and it says, "Be not afraid." Every step of the way, we have done more over the last two years that I think history will show probably since, Speaker correct me if I'm wrong, back when Governor Bush came in. All of the changes, all of the issues that we've faced, and to still do redistricting earlier than it's ever been done. The most open process, the budget, and all the accomplishments. He always did it as a happy warrior. Allowed the debate to happen, win, lose or draw. For that, this chamber, and especially the Republican Caucus, Mr. President, will be forever grateful for your leadership. Congratulations, and welcome home.

Senator Alexander: Thank you, Mr. President. President Haridopolos, Mike, it's been an interesting journey the last decade as I've gotten to know you. When I first got to know you, you were a young guy who had some great ideas and formed a group called "The Freedom Caucus" that focused the discussion and the debate. Pretty quickly, I figured out that this guy understands politics. He understands the debate. He understands communication a lot better than I do. It was kind of amazing to see how adeptly you handled those discussions and that principled leadership that so many of us have spoken to today, clearly was one of the first things that drew me to your leadership.

For me, having a leader who is a lighthouse that stands on a point, you know it's there. You know it never wavers. It keeps shining the light. It brings you home. It's something that is very valued by me and, I know, lots of others. But there is another side to Mike Haridopolos that probably is every bit as important because anybody can be an ideologue. It's the other side of Mike Haridopolos that is a very caring human individual that spends his years working for others that really sealed the deal for me to say, "Mike Haridopolos is a leader that I can follow." You know, those things became very apparent early on. I used to get around that you were the Eveready Energizer bunny. I've never seen anybody keep working tirelessly, not for himself, but for everyone of these members, for everyone of us. I don't think there is a district he hasn't been in, working to get folks elected, to help them understand how to connect with their districts, how to talk to people. I mean fund raising. Frankly, I got absolutely sick of fund raising some years ago and it's a part of this business that I wish, in a lot of ways, that we didn't have, but it's part of the political discussion. You got out and did what was necessary to make sure that the team had the resources to communicate with the people and get past liberal media that doesn't want to tell a story fully and completely. The amount of work that you put in for others is amazing.

Then, as we started working together over the years and more recently, I probably, more than almost anyone else, have seen firsthand, how concerned you are that you not serve yourself, but that you serve others. I have sat there when we got into some challenging discussions with our colleagues down the hall. Mike Haridopolos always kept not his priorities, but the priorities of the Senate, in mind. I can remember many times, Mike Haridopolos would start or we would start talking about how our allocations would work and he would pull out, not some staff-driven something, but a handwritten list, pages long, of things that members had told him that were important that he wanted to make sure that we could have a shot of getting taken care of. Now we didn't always get them all done. That's probably not Mike Haridopolos' fault. That's my fault. But it wasn't because Mike Haridopolos wasn't listening, wasn't trying to position the Senate to win all the issues that help you to serve your district and help you make sure that the views of the people that you represent are heard, and their needs are met.

As we got into the session, I probably have been around closing out budgets now quite a few times. I've seen leaders who say, "This is what I need." You know, when we got down to the end, Mike Haridopolos, after he had gone through and tried to make sure he had covered the needs of every member, he started thinking about the most vulnerable folks in our state. How can I help them, how can I help homeless veterans that have served our nation, and how can we make sure we've done everything we can do? We'd like to do more, but how can we make sure we can do that? How can we serve folks who are victims of violence and abuse? How can we serve all these folks? You know quite frankly, we've been in so many battles and so many things in the last days, I'm pretty much mush. I can't remember all of them. I just know every single time, I can tell you this without a doubt, that President Haridopolos had every member in this chamber's needs in mind as he made the decisions, and helped shape the debate to lead the Senate. For that, Mr. President, I am very proud and honored to call you my friend, 10-year legislative roommate, and my leader. Thank you. Mr. President.

Senator Rich: Thank you, Mr. President. First, I would like to recognize your parents because I think it's very special when your child achieves something as important as what your son has achieved, that you are here to share it with him. Some people don't have that good fortune, but Mike has that good fortune to have his parents here. I just want to recognize you two. Then I want to recognize your wife, Stephanie. I feel like she's been on my team with regard to certain things. Stephanie has a great deal of compassion for children. She's a professional in her own right and when we needed some help on a few children's issues to be sure they were funded in the budget, things like Healthy Families and Early Steps, she was right there talking to you and helping to educate you about some of those issues. She's a very good lobbyist. So I just want to thank you for enabling us to have some important things in the budget because of your concerns as well.

When I first began two years ago as the leader, I had a little trepidation. I'm a pretty realistic person. I looked at the numbers and I said, "Those aren't too good." As we moved along in this two year period, my concerns were quickly allayed. I like what Jeb Bush said about your core beliefs, and that we have different core beliefs. What you did was to respect the fact that the members of the Democratic Caucus, in many cases, did have different core beliefs. You worked with us. You had good mentors, at least the two with whom I served, Senator Atwater and Senator Pruitt, in terms of understanding the importance of the culture, the civility, and the collegiality of the Senate.

At the very beginning, you were concerned about the members of the Caucus making sure that they had the committees they wanted. Just the other day you said, "Have we gotten all the bills out that the members need?" Those are the little ways of showing that you have a respect for the minority. I think that is very important in a democratic form of government. As Ken Pruitt always said to me, "You're the loyal opposition," and I've tried to be that loyal opposition by recognizing the importance of the civility of this body and the mutual respect that we show each other. I can say that when I come to you about issues, I look to Stephanie, and I come to you about issues that we need to have in the budget, particularly relating to children and seniors. You were very supportive and went to bat for them. For me, I feel that it's been a good relationship, one where we've had a great deal of mutual respect for each other. I congratulate you, and I only wish you success in whatever endeavors you pursue in the future.

Senator Joyner: Thank you, Mr. President. Our paths converged in the year 2000. The young whipper-snapper Haridopolos and the liberal, progressive, older Joyner met. Those were tumultuous times. There he was like a peacock with all the boys around him. Out of it came the Freedom Caucus. Representative Haridopolos would not vote for a bill that was a 25 cent increase or 5 cent increase. He said, "That's more taxes and I want less taxes." I said, "Who is this guy? I mean a quarter, please." We met and we talked and the next thing I knew he was in the Florida Senate. Our paths didn't converge that much until I came over here in 2006. My God, there was a different person in the Senate than I had known in the House of Representatives. Speaker Feeney was in charge then. That was a different day and a different time and we conversed differently. When we came here, he embraced me. I'm not one of the boys and I'm not in the inner circle, but a relationship came about that's impenetrable now. As I always say, "Life is about relationships." When I had this bill to compensate the wrongfully incarcerated as a freshman senator, there he was supporting me. Totally unexpected, but greatly appreciated. Last session, my aide said, "Here is your resolution honoring these women in Tampa who came forth when a police officer was shot and sought aid for him and comforted him." Senator Haridopolos listed it as the first resolution that he wanted heard in the Florida Senate. She said, "You know that's a testament to you. He believes in what you believe in."

This year, one of the first bills on the first day was the shackling of pregnant women. I said, "Boy, this relationship I got with the President is really good." He looks at my stuff and says, "I like what Joyner's doing and I want to showcase it." All that has been said about you and in the black church we say "with protocol having been established." Parents and children have all been acknowledged. Your good deeds that you've done have been acknowledged by my colleagues. My thoughts are on more of a personal note. I want to thank you for the way you have treated the Majority—well, I wanted to be the Majority Leader—but the Minority Leader this year. Your word has been your bond because folks have said, "Oh no, they're going to do this and that." Our leader said to me, "This will not occur." Today, you have not wavered from that. That means a lot to me because I was taught by my father that your word is your bond. You exemplified that during this session, and I want to thank you for the respect that you have shown us. Thank you for making sure that we had some money in the pie. Thank you for just realizing that even though the ideology and philosophies that we have differ on some issues, the majority of the ones that come before us—95 percent of the things we do in here—we agree on. I'm especially happy and grateful about the innocence commission, and the fact that you stood up for persons who should have been compensated in the state says a lot. It augmented my respect for you. I want you to know that because I've never communicated this to you or anybody else. I just said the Haridopolos that I met in 2000 is not the Haridopolos that I know in 2012. Thank you, Mr. President, for your friendship, your leadership, and the respect that you have shown my leader and other members of the Democratic Caucus.

Senator Siplin: Thank you, Mr. President. I rise to thank God for my very good friend, Senator Mike Haridopolos. As I look across the aisle and see his parents, it's clear that they've taught him about Luke 6:38: "Give and it should be given unto you; a good measure, pressed down, and shaken together, and running over, should be given into your bosom." I recall when we met when Speaker Feeney was the Speaker of the House, we got together and formed the Freshman Republican Democratic Caucus along with Mike Bennett. We became good friends then. Two years ago, you asked me to step into the bubble and you said, "Gary, I've watched you, and you care about people. I want you to be a part of my leadership team. Think about what you want to do." You kept your word. You're a giver. You also came to me and said, "Senator Siplin, you are the Chair of the Black Caucus. I'm going to be the President of the Florida Senate. I want to make sure that everybody is treated fairly. As Chair of the Black Caucus, make sure you consult with each of your members and see if they have been disrespected by anyone in this Florida Senate, and let me know." You gave and you did that. You also asked me, "What can I do in your district?"

As the first black Chair of the Agriculture Committee, I was being recognized in my district, in Pine Hills, and in the hood. The beneficiaries of that recognition were minority, African American not-for-profits. You came down there, and because the President of the Florida Senate was coming to the inner city to help recognize a black Democrat, the lobbyists came, and they contributed to this not-for-profit. Because of your action, a lot of black boys and girls are the recipients of some very good services. Again, he is a giver. Of course, President Atwater started helping us out with Evans High School. This is a dilapidated school that is about 95 percent Haitian. Their parents don't speak English. We built a new public school, and because of your relationship with me, you made sure it got done. You came down to Evans High School. Again, he is a giver. I appreciate what you've done for me. It is clear that the Senate is the upper Chamber. You step outside of the lines of demarcation, and no matter what is said about Gary Siplin, you've treated me fairly. Even though you've put me as part of the leadership team, you only asked me for one issue, and that issue was not for Senator Haridopolos. So I appreciate that. As a part of my speech today, the presences from the hood said, "If you're going to be speaking about our good friend Mikey Haridopolos—that's how they refer to you in the hood, brother—please give him this token of appreciation of all the good, hard work you've done for a new 90 million dollar edifice in the heart of the hood, Evans High School." God Bless you.

Senator Richter: Thank you, Mr. President. President Haridopolos, I wasn't sure if I was going to make comments or not. I was thinking about your leadership. I was thinking about when we first met and you recruited me into your Senate.

A number of weeks ago, members, on that screen flashed a picture of me when I was in the Army in Viet Nam. A lot of you said, "My gosh, you looked mighty young then!" I was young. I celebrated my 21st birthday in Viet Nam, and I remember what my father sent me in Viet Nam—what do you send to a kid in the Army for a birthday present? He sent me something that I received in the mail, and I carried it all through Viet Nam. Last night when I was thinking about you and your leadership here, I thought that I would share my 21st birthday gift with you because it was a poem that was sent to me and I think it exemplifies your leadership. It was written by Rudyard Kipling and many of you may have heard it before. It's the poem "If."

If you can keep your head when all about you
Are losing theirs and blaming it on you;
If you can trust yourself when all men doubt you,
But make allowance for their doubting too;
If you can wait and not be tired by waiting,
Or being lied about, don't deal in lies,
Or being hated, don't give way to hating,
And yet don't look too good, nor talk too wise.

If you can dream—and not make dreams your master;
If you can think—and not make thoughts your aim;
If you can meet with Triumph and Disaster
And treat those two imposters just the same;
If you can bear to hear the truth you've spoken
Twisted by knaves to make a trap for fools,
Or watch the things you gave your life to, broken,
And stoop and build 'em up with wornout tools;

If you can make one heap of all your winnings
And risk it on one turn of pitch-and-toss,
And lose, and start again at your beginnings
And never breathe a word about your loss;
If you can force your heart and nerve and sinew
To serve your turn long after they are gone,
And so hold on when there is nothing in you Except the Will which says to them: "Hold on!"

If you can talk with crowds and keep your virtue,
Or walk with kings—nor lose the common touch,
If neither foes nor loving friends can hurt you,
If all men count with you, but none too much;
If you can fill the unforgiving minute
With sixty seconds' worth of distance run—
Yours is the Earth and everything that's in it,
And—which is more—you'll be a Man, my son!

To your father, Mr. Haridopolos, and to your family, Mike Haridopolos, you are a man and to your father and mother, a wonderful son. Thank you for the leadership that Rudyard Kipling so well described in that poem.

Senator Ring: Mr. President, thank you. I cannot top any of these speeches. When I was campaigning for office, the question that came up more times than not is, "You're a Democrat. How are you going to be able to get anything done in a Republican legislature? You're just going to go up there and sit in the back," which I do. I certainly believe I have the best seat in the house. I would never trade this seat for anything. "You're never going to get anything done up there." Well, I got elected, and maybe within two weeks of being elected—I didn't know anyone—I had just moved to Florida. Mike Haridopolos called and said, "Hey I'm working on property tax. What ideas do you have?" That was pretty interesting to me, not understanding what Tallahassee politics were like, that one of the Republican leaders would call me up after just getting elected to ask me about, at the time, the biggest issue of the day and what my thoughts were. A couple years later, when Jeff Atwater was the Senate President, Mike Haridopolos was the Chair of Government Operations. After his first year as Chair, he went to President Atwater and said, "I'm going to be Senate President, and I probably don't have time to do this Government Operations Committee right now. Why don't you make Jeremy Ring the Chair of the committee?" I was blown away by that. Then last year, our committee was tasked with one of the biggest issues of the year which was pension reform. President Haridopolos called me up just before he was sworn in as Senate President. He said, "This is going to be your big issue to do this year. I need you to work on this." Our committee worked on this for weeks and months to get it right. I've heard a lot about the strong arm tactics, and I can tell you that while working on one of the most contentious significant issues that certainly has happened here within the past two years, not once did I feel strong armed. It was, "You're doing a good job, whatever the committee thinks is the right way to go, I want to do X, Y, and Z, but you guys figure it out."

By the time we finished with pension reform, it actually had the committee's fingerprints on it. It wasn't necessarily the fingerprints of the Senate President. It was the fingerprints of the committee, because he absolutely allowed our committee and empowered our committee to lead what, at the time, was one of the most significant, yet contentious issues of the year, and certainly one of the most contentious issues since I've been elected. This year during the prison privatization debate, which I voted against, President Haridopolos didn't push me. He came in and he asked me, "Where are you?" I told him where I was, and that was it—end of discussion. He wasn't trying to push me or take my arm and twist and say, "You're going to lose this, this, or this." It was just a question, and I gave an answer, and we moved on from it. So I haven't seen any arm twisting coming from the Senate President's office. If anything, I've seen an office where a Democrat can feel empowered to truly make accomplishments in the state. I'm glad I get to pile on with other Democrats who have spoken previously. We all see what is going on in Washington. None of us can like it. The Democrats are in the minority in the House. In the Senate, the Republicans are in the minority. At the end of the day in Washington, nothing gets done. It's complete and utter gridlock. I don't care if you're Republican or Democrat up there. It's gridlock in the most partisan gridlock sort of way. I truly believe that the Florida Senate is the model body for any government entity in the nation. You come here, and whether you're a Democrat or a Republican, there is no excuse and no reason for you to fail in this body. That starts at the top. It started with President Pruitt my first two years here. It went forward with President Atwater. President Haridopolos kept that environment together. There is not a single person in this room, no matter where you're from or what political party you are, has any excuse to fail. That is all about leadership, and I will tell you, at the end of the day, leadership does have the ability, should they want to use it, where any one of us in this room can fail. This leader decided not to use that, and the previous two Presidents prior to that decided not to use that. Everyone in this room should succeed, and there are no excuses for failure. That's the leadership of Mike Haridopolos. Thank you.

UNVEILING OF PORTRAIT

Senator Gaetz invited President Haridopolos, his wife, Dr. Stephanie Haridopolos, parents Ernie and Georgia Haridopolos, and children, Alexis, Hayden, and Reagan, to the front of the chamber where the portrait was unveiled by Sergeant at Arms, Donald Severance. Senator Gardiner presented the gift of a signed portrait of the members of the Senate to President Haridopolos.

Senator Gaetz: A few years ago, I had a very earnest and a very private conversation with Senator Haridopolos. It was one of those defining moments. The deck had been cleared and, more than cleared back home, for him to run for what had become suddenly an open seat in the U.S. House of Representatives. The pressure was on for him to go to Washington. I saw the numbers. He would have been elected by his constituents in the Space Coast overwhelmingly. He would be in the Congress of the United States today. But I asked him not to run. I asked him to stay here in the Florida Senate. I suppose today, Mr. President, I should ask for your forgiveness. Because, if he had gone to Congress then as a young man, he would have taken a safe seat in what became, in 2010, a Republican majority, and he would, today, be on an escalator to leadership in the U.S. House of Representatives. That is what he gave up. This is what he gave it up for. He traveled the state. He looked for good leaders, lifted up by their communities, who could be good senators. He worked to find the resources. He walked door-to-door with them. Today, they sit, you sit, I sit, as Senators, in this chamber.

Then in 2010, Mike Haridopolos led his caucus to the greatest majority in 140 years. You've heard today from others what he did with that mandate—taxes are lower, spending is cut, and growth of government is capped, litigation is reduced. Teaching—a profession that he has given his life to—has been strengthened for children. Medicaid is reformed in law, and, soon, in fact. Our state debts are reduced on his watch. Life was protected, and our sovereignty was affirmed, and our freedoms have been upheld.

No matter how you voted, no matter whether you agreed or disagreed on any of these issues, all of us must agree on one incontestable fact. Remarkably, refreshingly for a politician, Mike Haridopolos governed as he campaigned. He did exactly what he said he would do. He faced the odds, and he kept the faith. That is what he did, but that is not all he is. In the shank of the night, when the offices in this Capitol are for the most part dark, I have watched him as he sat at his desk in the President's office. I've been a witness as he has cast off the balance sheet of his values, and what matters to him, and every one of his Appropriations Sub-Chairs will affirm this. You heard Senator Alexander, our Appropriations Chair, affirm it on this floor a few minutes ago. His question when no one was looking was, "What can we do? What else can we do for the most vulnerable people—for veterans who are wounded and have no jobs, for children who are exploited and abused, for women who are homeless, for the disabled, for the wrongly imprisoned?" That's why when—in two days—when this chamber is empty and only the echoes linger—Floridians who examine our state's budget will find, thanks to Mike Haridopolos, more funding than ever before for the community groups that serve the disabled. More resources for the homeless coalitions, the volunteers who man the homeless shelters in our churches and in our communities and in our synagogues. Millions and millions more to continue and expand primary care clinics to serve the uninsured, the poor.

Senator Negron was right; they are the Haridopolos primary care clinics. Every time either Joe or I say that in his presence, he does this (motions with hands) because his name isn't attached to any building, or bridge, to any college. His name is attached, instead, to the good that he has done. Millions more, millions more, so that our elderly won't have to be in nursing homes if they don't want to be, but can be cared for at home where they want to be. And justice, justice is done for William Dillon.

I used to be in the newspaper business, so I can tell you that the press won't write about this side of Mike Haridopolos because I know that good deeds quietly done don't sell papers. But I cannot help but believe that this side of our President is warmed, as our Minority Leader said, by the woman at the President's side, Stephanie Haridopolos, who every day as a primary care physician, brings care and cure to moms and babies, to the elderly, to the infirm—the First Lady of the Senate, Stephanie Haridopolos.

And the Majority Leader was right. When you enter the President's office, the first thing you see isn't one of those plaques that we get from interest groups whose bills we carry. There is not an award with his name on it. There isn't a picture of him. That's not the first thing you see when you enter the President's office. When you enter the President's office, you see the words of Theodore Roosevelt read by our leader, Senator Gardiner. A credo for leadership and living through the face of criticism in a pursuit of principle. Mr. President, thanks for being that man in the arena that Teddy Roosevelt spoke of. I apologize for asking you to stay but thank you for staying. Thank you for staying and being our President, for being my friend. Thank you for your service to the people of Florida. With that, ladies and gentlemen, I recognize the President of the Florida Senate, the Senator from the 26th, Mike Haridopolos.

ADDRESS BY PRESIDENT

Thank you, Don. That means a lot to me. I'll miss being in the arena. I'll miss some of you. But I will love being home. I think you can understand why. Our kids, of course, and a lovely lady I met in 2003 who has changed me so much for the better. I want to recognize her again for her very generous heart and for always being there for our children. God bless you, honey. I think you can see why I want to go home. I am ready to go home. In many ways, it's her turn because, as so many of us who have spouses in the room know, the incredible sacrifices that they make when we are up here. It's not 60 days, it's not 90 days, it's a full time job if you are going to do a good job for the people that you represent. It's somewhat famous, at least in my neck of the woods, but when I think about this bumper sticker that we had some fun with, "What's a Haridopolos?" I've said before on this floor, I think of my parents. As you all know, my dad was born in Greece, served in the FBI, and is still by my side today. They gave everything so my brother and I could find success. I carry that name with pride, with honor, and it says a lot that your parents would not only be there for you but always care for you. Even when I didn't behave my best, they always loved us. We try to do the same with our own children because of their example. So Mom and Dad, I salute you.

There are a lot of people that I need to thank before I get into my comments. I feel like we should have an intermission. We have been here for a while. I apologize, I did not realize that so many folks would be so generous with their comments. I want to thank my kids. I know my wife was thinking about speaking today, but we are in here a little long. My youngest, Reagan, you all see her up here. If you go to my office, there are actually pictures when it was Daddy-Daughter day in the Senate. I created that. Whenever I talk to her on the phone, she says, "How many sleeps until you get home Daddy?" That's how we think. She is five.

I get to come back home and be a teacher again. Next year will mark my 20th year of teaching at the college level. That's what I love doing. As you all know, if you come to my office at 7:15 in the morning, you'll see our students, now at UF, it used to be at BCC. They are in my office, we are taking classes, and they see first-hand what politics is as opposed to what they read about. One of the most remarkable, eye-opening experiences that my students go through is when they go to a committee meeting or watch something happen on the floor and they read about it the next day in the newspaper. They say, "What meeting were they at?"

It's said in a fun way just to have a little fun with our friends up there. I love the arena. It is a great place to be, and I would sacrifice everything to come back into that arena that you will be in next year. It's the place where the battle of ideas is most important. So many of you all are generous with me and, really, we are just talking about you. You all made equal sacrifices that I did to be here.

I am excited about what is going to happen in the future. Let me talk about a person who has changed greatly. I don't think people have recognized the change that has taken place with our new Governor. In the last year, we have seen more open dialogue with the Senate. Many people have talked about this with me, but I think it applies to many of you. I hope it really applies to the Senate in the future. If you are going to run as a conservative, govern as a conservative. Don't tell people at election time that you are a conservative and then come here and do something different. Govern as you campaign. Liberal and Democratic, and Republican and conservative, alike. People deserve that. Why would you sacrifice all, put your name on the ballot, just to get along with some folks in Tallahassee, just to acquire some power for a short period of time? Stand by your principles, and vote how you told the constituents that you met face-to-face why you wanted to go to Tallahassee. That's what is important. And I hope that is the reason why we sacrifice our family and our friends at a time that is so important. What I love about Governor Scott—and I've gotten to spend a lot more time with him in the last year than I did in the first year—is that he is governing as he campaigned. Some people don't like that. I do. I wish him all the success with my best friend here in the Senate, Don Gaetz, and Will Weatherford, the next two years because the people of Florida deserve a person who governs as they campaign because those are the promises that were made. I hope that the people of Florida get to know him better because I have seen a genuine person. I imagine as each one of you spend time one-on-one with this new Governor, you will see a genuine person who does care for this state and has a set of principles that he is willing to put on the line. You might not always agree but it is very refreshing to see this kind of leader. I am excited that he will do more positive things for our state. He reminds me of Jeb Bush who inspired me to run back in 2000. He reminds me a lot of my first speaker, Tom Feeney, who, like Senator Alexander, we still have that picture on the wall in our office of those five principles, and we stuck by those. That was incredibly important. So it's hard to believe that it was twelve years ago, with the Class of 2000, that so many people have talked about. No one mistakes me for a page anymore!

I ran for office because I really believed in a place called America. As I said, my father has lived the dream. I got very emotional in our caucus meeting last night because it was really starting to hit me how important this was. My dad and I got emotional just now when we unveiled this portrait. I know the sacrifices that he made. He's now 80 years old. I am a lot more sensitive to his age today and how much time we have left. What I wanted to do as Senate President was a couple of things. I hope I've accomplished them. I wanted to lay out to people what we would actually do in the Florida Senate. Here are five promises that we are going to make, and we are going to keep those promises. You might not agree with those if you are to the left in the political spectrum. We made five sets of promises, that I thought would take ten years, Senator Gaetz. We are happy to have accomplished them in the first year. I was very excited. More importantly, I was excited that we made a set of promises and we kept them. Sadly, we have to say that today in politics, because the rhetoric and the campaigns don't always match the actions. I am grateful to this Senate for giving me that chance to be in the arena, to conduct the base like we had. The thing we should all be proud of—and many of us have been here for more than a few years—this is the most open, and transparent budgeting deal we have ever seen. Every bill that we talked about last year went through the three committees—Democrat and Republican alike led. You should be proud that this is what the founding fathers talked about. The Senate is supposed to be about thoughtful debate and handle it in a way after listening to the people who elected us, as Senator Negrón said.

The second thing I wanted to accomplish is that I didn't like the arrogance of the Senate. I think there was some arrogance in the past. Those of us in the House experienced some of that in the past. I didn't think it was right. One of the things I tried to do—and I'm not sure if we have fully accomplished it yet—we treat the House as equals. So many of us were former House members. We should treat them as equals. That is the reason why on the opening day last year, I went over there and tried my best to accommodate their needs because we are equal partners in this measure. I think this year's budget is a reflection of it. I think we negotiated a lot more soundly in that principle.

The last thing I'll get into is the Dillon and Brody bills. When I think again about why we serve and the power that we have, we can literally transform lives with a single vote as we did yesterday with the Brody bill, and a few days ago with the Dillon bill. We can restore some sense of justice, so that people can believe in something bigger than themselves. They can believe again in this country even when, in the case of William Dillon, he was in jail for 27 years. The Governor recognized this very quickly in that press conference and said, "I am amazed at your spirit given all that has been taken from you." That is the spirit of this state and of this nation and how a kid who thought about being an athlete or just having fun, somehow became President of the Senate. It's a cliché but it is so true. Only in America can this ever take place. We need to spread this throughout the world—the idea of freedom. Anything is possible. There are critics. The great thing is being in the arena. Our job is, at least in the majority, to be a carpenter. A reckless elephant can knock down a barn but it takes a carpenter to build a barn. That's what I tried to instill in the idea of being a Republican. I feel like we Republicans need to get a little better name for ourselves after watching what was going on in Washington and lost the majority a few years ago. We need to prove that conservative Republicans cannot just get elected and talk about ideals that are important to them. They can accomplish and pass ideals and principles that are important to them. That is the legacy that I would like to leave. Not just for two years but for four years, six years, eight years, whenever it might be, that we can walk through elections, hopefully win those elections, but don't just win the vote on the floor. I want to win the debate. Of the 30 odd issues, I think I lost one or two. I'll take that. I want to win the debate because in time, if we win the debate, we'll win the votes as well. That's how Dan Webster took back the majority in the House. That's how Jim Scott took the majority in the Senate. That's why Jeb Bush was elected Governor of the State. You have to win the debate. If the Democrats want to take the majority back, they have to win the debate. That's what makes the Constitution, and that's what makes this place hallowed ground. That is what it is all about—winning the debate, not just winning a particular vote.

In closing, let me just say a couple of things to some friends. I know Senator Pruitt is here. I know Senator Atwater actually has a job right now, working hard. I want to say thank you, Mr. President. You have been remarkable. One of my favorite pictures, you saw it up there, was one of our good friend, Jim King, who sat in those very chairs right there. He taught me a lot. He taught me that even though I am a knuckle-dragging conservative (as he called me), we can still have a thoughtful debate. Speaker Feeney did a great job with us. I have enjoyed working with Speaker Cannon. I want to say thanks to a couple of people in my life. In my offices, Chris Finkbeiner and Steve MacNamara did a great job for us last year in tumultuous times. Since then, Craig and Liz Moya have done remarkable work. As you might know, Katherine Halley is actually a person from my class at Brevard Community College and now is a Deputy Chief of Staff in the Florida Senate. That is what I truly believe in, empowering individuals. I know I will forget some people. I recognized a lot of my close friends in the Senate last night—Senator Negrón, Senator Alexander, Senator Gardiner, Senator Bennett. So many of you all last night were so generous. I'll close with this. It has been an incredible twelve years. I can't wait to see, from afar, just how well you are doing next year. Don—you are an incredible man—and as I mentioned to this caucus last night, how grateful I am to you. Every time I was in a crunch or a difficult spot, your wisdom and your experience and—in many ways—a fatherly type compassion for me when I got a little too aggressive, always steered the right path. So as I say goodbye to the Florida Senate and the Florida Legislature, I say hello to the next Senate President, my dear friend, Don Gaetz. God bless you my friend.

The court must impose the condition of the batterers' intervention program for a defendant placed on probation unless the court determines that the person does not qualify for the batterers' intervention program pursuant to s. 741.325. ~~Effective July 1, 2002, the batterers' intervention program must be a certified program under s. 741.32.~~ The imposition of probation under this section ~~does shall~~ not preclude the court from imposing any sentence of imprisonment authorized by s. 775.082.

(6)(a) Upon notice and hearing, when it appears to the court that the petitioner is either the victim of domestic violence as defined by s. 741.28 or has reasonable cause to believe he or she is in imminent danger of becoming a victim of domestic violence, the court may grant such relief as the court deems proper, including an injunction:

1. Restraining the respondent from committing any acts of domestic violence.

2. Awarding to the petitioner the exclusive use and possession of the dwelling that the parties share or excluding the respondent from the residence of the petitioner.

3. On the same basis as provided in chapter 61, providing the petitioner with 100 percent of the time-sharing in a temporary parenting plan that ~~remains shall remain~~ in effect until the order expires or an order is entered by a court of competent jurisdiction in a pending or subsequent civil action or proceeding affecting the placement of, access to, parental time with, adoption of, or parental rights and responsibilities for the minor child.

Section 12. Section 741.32, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

741.32 ~~Certification of~~ Batterers' intervention programs.—

(4) The Legislature finds that the incidence of domestic violence in this state Florida is disturbingly high, and that, despite the efforts of many to curb this violence, ~~that~~ one person dies at the hands of a spouse, ex-spouse, or cohabitant approximately every 3 days. Further, a child who witnesses the perpetration of this violence becomes a victim as he or she hears or sees it occurring. This child is at high risk of also being the victim of physical abuse by the parent who is perpetrating the violence and, to a lesser extent, by the parent who is the victim. These children are also at a high risk of perpetrating violent crimes as juveniles and, later, becoming perpetrators of the same violence that they witnessed as children. The Legislature finds that there should be standardized programming available to the justice system to protect victims and their children and to hold the perpetrators of domestic violence accountable for their acts. Finally, the Legislature recognizes that in order for batterers' intervention programs to be successful in protecting victims and their children, all participants in the justice system as well as social service agencies and local and state governments must coordinate their efforts at the community level.

~~(2) There is hereby established in the Department of Children and Family Services an Office for Certification and Monitoring of Batterers' Intervention Programs. The department may certify and monitor both programs and personnel providing direct services to those persons who are adjudged to have committed an act of domestic violence as defined in s. 741.28, those against whom an injunction for protection against domestic violence is entered, those referred by the department, and those who volunteer to attend such programs. The purpose of certification of programs is to uniformly and systematically standardize programs to hold those who perpetrate acts of domestic violence responsible for those acts and to ensure safety for victims of domestic violence. The certification and monitoring shall be funded by user fees as provided in s. 741.327.~~

Section 13. Section 741.325, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

~~741.325 Requirements for batterers' intervention programs~~ Guideline authority.—

~~(1) A batterers' intervention program must meet the following requirements. The Department of Children and Family Services shall promulgate guidelines to govern purpose, policies, standards of care, appropriate intervention approaches, inappropriate intervention approaches during the batterers' program intervention phase (to include couples counseling and mediation), conflicts of interest, assessment, program content and specifics, qualifications of providers, and credentials for facilitators, supervisors, and trainees. The department shall, in addition, establish specific procedures governing all aspects of program operation, including administration, personnel, fiscal matters, victim and batterer records, education, evaluation, referral to treatment and other matters as needed. In addition, the rules shall establish:~~

~~(a)(1) That~~ The primary purpose of the ~~program programs~~ shall be victim safety and the safety of the children, if present.

~~(b)(2) That~~ The batterer shall be held accountable for acts of domestic violence.

~~(c)(3) That~~ The ~~program programs~~ shall be at least 29 weeks in length and shall include 24 weekly sessions, plus appropriate intake, assessment, and orientation programming.

~~(d)(4) That~~ The ~~program content shall be based on~~ be a psychoeducational model that ~~addresses~~ employs a ~~program content based on~~ tactics of power and control by one person over another.

~~(5) That the programs and those who are facilitators, supervisors, and trainees be certified to provide these programs through initial certification and that the programs and personnel be annually monitored to ensure that they are meeting specified standards.~~

~~(e)(6) The intent that~~ The ~~program shall~~ programs be user-fee funded by user with fees paid by from the batterers who attend the program, which allows them to take as payment for programs is important to the batterer taking responsibility for their acts the act of violence, and from those seeking certification. An exception shall be made for those local, state, or federal programs that fund batterers' intervention programs in whole or in part.

~~(7) Standards for rejection and suspension for failure to meet certification standards.~~

~~(2)(8) The requirements of this section~~ That these standards shall apply only to programs that address the perpetration of violence between intimate partners, spouses, ex-spouses, or those who share a child in common or who are cohabitants in intimate relationships for the purpose of exercising power and control by one over the other. It will endanger victims if courts and other referral agencies refer family and household members who are not perpetrators of the type of domestic violence encompassed by these ~~requirements~~ standards. Accordingly, the court and others who make referrals should refer perpetrators only to programming that appropriately addresses the violence committed.

Section 15. Section 948.038, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

948.038 Batterers' intervention program as a condition of probation, community control, or other court-ordered community supervision.—As a condition of probation, community control, or any other court-ordered community supervision, the court shall order a person convicted of an offense of domestic violence, as defined in s. 741.28, to attend and successfully complete a batterers' intervention program unless the court determines that the person does not qualify for the batterers' intervention program pursuant to s. 741.325. ~~The batterers' intervention program must be a program certified under s. 741.32, and the offender must pay the cost of attending the program.~~

Amendment 1 (543740) (with title amendment)—Between lines 329 and 330 insert:

Section 4. (1) Notwithstanding ss. 163.3162 and 163.3164, Florida Statutes, the owner of a parcel of land located in an unincorporated area of a county that qualifies as an agricultural enclave under subsection (2) may apply for an amendment to the local government comprehensive plan pursuant to s. 163.3184, Florida Statutes. The subject of the amendment is presumed not to be urban sprawl, as defined in s. 163.3164, Florida Statutes, if it proposes land uses and intensities of use that are consistent with the existing uses and intensities of use of, or consistent with the uses and intensities of use authorized for, the industrial, commercial, or residential areas that surround the parcel. If the parcel of land that is the subject of an amendment under this section is abutted on all sides by land having only one land use designation, the same land use designation must be presumed by the county to be appropriate for the parcel. The county shall, after considering the proposed density and intensity, grant the parcel the same land use designation as the surrounding parcels that abut the parcel unless the county finds by clear and convincing evidence that the grant would be detrimental to the health, safety, and welfare of its residents.

(2) In order to qualify as an agricultural enclave under this section, the parcel of land must be a parcel that:

- (a) Is owned by a single person or entity;
 - (b) Has been in continuous use for bona fide agricultural purposes, as defined by s. 193.461, Florida Statutes, for at least 5 years before the date of any comprehensive plan amendment application;
 - (c) Is surrounded on at least 95 percent of its perimeter by property that the local government has designated as land that may be developed for industrial, commercial, or residential purposes; and
 - (d) Does not exceed 640 acres but is not smaller than 500 acres.
- (3) This section does not preempt or replace the protection currently existing for property located within the boundaries of:

1. The Wekiva Study Area, as described in s. 369.316, Florida Statutes; or
2. The Everglades Protection Area, as defined in s. 373.4592(2), Florida Statutes.

In order to qualify under this section as an enclave, the owner of a parcel of land meeting the requirements of subsection (2) must submit a written application to the county by January 1, 2013.

And the title is amended as follows:

Delete line 24 and insert: regional-impact development order; providing a presumption that certain agricultural enclaves do not constitute urban sprawl; establishing qualifications for designation as an agricultural enclave for such purpose and establishing exceptions from the definition for designated protected areas; providing an

Section 6. Paragraphs (c), (d), and (f) of subsection (1) and subsection (3) of section 443.091, Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

443.091 Benefit eligibility conditions.—

(1) An unemployed individual is eligible to receive benefits for any week only if the Department of Economic Opportunity finds that:

(c) To make continued claims for benefits, she or he is reporting to the department in accordance with this paragraph and department agency rules, and participating in an initial skills review, as directed by the department agency. Department Agency rules may not conflict with s. 443.111(1)(b), which requires that each claimant continue to report regardless of any pending appeal relating to her or his eligibility or disqualification for benefits.

1. For each week of unemployment claimed, each report must, at a minimum, include the name, address, and telephone number of each prospective employer contacted, or the date the claimant reported to a one-stop career center, pursuant to paragraph (d).

2. The administrator or operator of the initial skills review shall notify the department agency when the individual completes the initial skills review and report the results of the review to the regional workforce board or the one-stop career center as directed by the workforce board. The department shall prescribe a numeric score on the initial skills review that demonstrates a minimal proficiency in workforce skills. The department, workforce board, or one-stop career center shall use the initial skills review to develop a plan for referring individuals to training and employment opportunities. The failure of the individual to comply with this requirement will result in the individual being determined ineligible for benefits for the week in which the noncompliance occurred and for any subsequent week of unemployment until the requirement is satisfied. However, this requirement does not apply if the individual is able to affirmatively attest to being unable to complete such review due to illiteracy or a language impediment or is exempt from the work registration requirement as set forth in paragraph (b).

3. Any individual that falls below the minimal proficiency score prescribed by the department in subparagraph 2. on the initial skills review shall be offered training opportunities and encouraged to participate in such training at no cost to the individual in order to improve his or her workforce skills to the minimal proficiency level.

4. The department shall coordinate with Workforce Florida, Inc., the workforce boards, and the one-stop career centers to identify, develop, and utilize best practices for improving the skills of individuals who choose to participate in training opportunities and who have a minimal proficiency score below the score prescribed in subparagraph 2.

5. The department, in coordination with Workforce Florida, Inc., the workforce boards, and the one-stop career centers, shall evaluate the use, effectiveness, and costs associated with the training prescribed in subparagraph 3. and report its findings and recommendations for training and the use of best practices to the Governor, the President of the Senate, and the Speaker of the House of Representatives by January 1, 2013.

(d) She or he is able to work and is available for work. In order to assess eligibility for a claimed week of unemployment, the department shall develop criteria to determine a claimant's ability to work and availability for work. A claimant must be actively seeking work in order to be considered available for work. This means engaging in systematic and sustained efforts to find work, including contacting at least five prospective employers for each week of unemployment claimed. The department agency may require the claimant to provide proof of such efforts to the one-stop career center as part of reemployment services. The department agency shall conduct random reviews of work search information provided by claimants. As an alternative to contacting at least five prospective employers for any week of unemployment claimed, a claimant may, for that same week, report in person to a one-stop career center to meet with a representative of the center and access reemployment services of the center. The center shall keep a record of the services or information provided to the claimant and shall provide the records to the department agency upon request by the department agency. However:

1. Notwithstanding any other provision of this paragraph or paragraphs (b) and (e), an otherwise eligible individual may not be denied benefits for any week because she or he is in training with the approval of the department, or by reason of s. 443.101(2) relating to failure to apply for, or refusal to accept, suitable work. Training may be approved by the department in accordance with criteria prescribed by rule. A claimant's eligibility during approved training is contingent upon satisfying eligibility conditions prescribed by rule.

2. Notwithstanding any other provision of this chapter, an otherwise eligible individual who is in training approved under s. 236(a)(1) of the Trade Act of 1974, as amended, may not be determined ineligible or disqualified for benefits due to enrollment in such training or because of leaving work that is not suitable employment to enter such training. As used in this subparagraph, the term "suitable employment" means work of a substantially equal or higher skill level than the worker's past adversely affected employment, as defined for purposes of the Trade Act of 1974, as amended, the wages for which are at least 80 percent of the worker's average weekly wage as determined for purposes of the Trade Act of 1974, as amended.

3. Notwithstanding any other provision of this section, an otherwise eligible individual may not be denied benefits for any week because she or he is before any state or federal court pursuant to a lawfully issued summons to appear for jury duty.

4. Union members who customarily obtain employment through a union hiring hall may satisfy the work search requirements of this paragraph by reporting daily to their union hall.

5. The work search requirements of this paragraph do not apply to persons who are unemployed as a result of a temporary layoff or who are claiming benefits under an approved short-time compensation plan as provided in s. 443.1116.

6. In small counties as defined in s. 120.52(19), a claimant engaging in systematic and sustained efforts to find work must contact at least three prospective employers for each week of unemployment claimed.

(f) She or he has been unemployed for a waiting period of 1 week. A week may ~~not~~ be counted as a waiting week of unemployment under this subsection only if ~~unless~~:

1. It occurs within the benefit year that includes the week for which she or he claims payment of benefits;—

2. Benefits have not been paid for that week; and—

3. The individual was eligible for benefits for that week as provided in this section and s. 443.101, except for the requirements of this subsection and s. 443.101(5).

(3) Benefits based on service in employment described in s. 443.1216(2) and (3) are payable in the same amount, on the same terms, and subject to the same conditions as benefits payable based on other service subject to this chapter, except that:

(a) Benefits are not payable for services in an instructional, research, or principal administrative capacity for an educational institution or an institution of higher education for any week of unemployment commencing during the period between 2 successive academic years; during a similar period between two regular terms, whether or not successive; or during a period of paid sabbatical leave provided for in the individual's contract, to any individual, if the individual performs those services in the first of those academic years or terms and there is a contract or a reasonable assurance that the individual will perform services in any such capacity for any educational institution or institution of higher education in the second of those academic years or terms.

(b) Benefits may not be based on services in any other capacity for an educational institution or an institution of higher education to any individual for any week that commences during a period between 2 successive academic years or terms if the individual performs those services in the first of the academic years or terms and there is a reasonable assurance that the individual will perform those services in the second of the academic years or terms. However, if compensation is denied to any individual under this paragraph and the individual was not offered an opportunity to perform those services for the educational institution for the second of those academic years or terms, that individual is entitled to a retroactive payment of compensation for each week for which the individual filed a timely claim for compensation and for which compensation was denied solely by reason of this paragraph.

(c) Benefits are not payable based on services provided to an educational institution or institution of higher learning to any individual for any week that commences during an established and customary vacation period or holiday recess if the individual performs any services described in paragraph (a) or paragraph (b) in the period immediately before the vacation period or holiday recess and there is a reasonable assurance that the individual will perform any service in the period immediately after the vacation period or holiday recess.

(d) Benefits are not payable for services in any capacity specified in paragraphs (a), (b), and (c) to any individual who performed those services in an educational institution while in the employ of a governmental agency or governmental entity that is established and operated exclusively for the purpose of providing those services to one or more educational institutions.

(e) Benefits are not payable for services in any capacity specified in paragraphs (a), (b), (c), and (d) to any individual who provided those services to or on behalf of an educational institution, or an institution of higher education.

(f) Effective July 1, 2013, paragraphs (a), (b), and (c) shall apply to services provided by an individual for an educational institution while in the employ of a private employer holding a contractual relationship with such educational institution, but only if the base period wages attributable to such services are identified as such in the quarterly reports filed pursuant to s. 443.131(1).

(g) As used in this subsection, the term:

1. "Fixed contract" means a written agreement of employment for a specified period of time.
2. "Continuing contract" means a written agreement that is automatically renewed until terminated by one of the parties to the contract.

Section 7. Subsections (5), (6), (9), and (11) and paragraph (b) of subsection (10) of section 443.101, Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

443.101 Disqualification for benefits.—An individual shall be disqualified for benefits:

(5) For any week with respect to which or a part of which he or she has received or is seeking reemployment assistance or unemployment benefits under a reemployment assistance or an unemployment compensation law of another state or of the United States. For the purposes of this subsection, a reemployment assistance or an unemployment compensation law of the United States is any law of the United States which provides for payment of any type and in any amounts for periods of unemployment due to lack of work. However, if the appropriate agency of the other state or of the United States finally determines that he or she is not entitled to reemployment assistance or unemployment benefits, this disqualification does not apply.

(6) For a period not to exceed 1 year from the date of the discovery by the Department of Economic Opportunity of the making of any false or fraudulent representation for the purpose of obtaining benefits contrary to this chapter, constituting a violation under s. 443.071. The disqualification imposed under this subsection shall begin with the week in which the false or fraudulent representation is made and shall continue for a period not to exceed 1 year after the date the Department of Economic Opportunity discovers the false or fraudulent representation and until any overpayment of benefits resulting from such representation has been repaid in full. This disqualification may be appealed in the same manner as any other disqualification imposed under this section. A conviction by any court of competent jurisdiction in this state of the offense prohibited or punished by s. 443.071 is conclusive upon the appeals referee and the commission of the making of the false or fraudulent representation for which disqualification is imposed under this section.

(9) If the individual was terminated from his or her work as follows:

(a) If the Department of Economic Opportunity or the Reemployment Assistance Unemployment Appeals Commission finds that the individual was terminated from work for violation of any criminal law, under any jurisdiction, which was in connection with his or her work, and the individual was convicted, or entered a plea of guilty or nolo contendere, the individual is not entitled to reemployment assistance unemployment benefits for up to 52 weeks, pursuant to rules adopted by the department, and until he or she has earned income of at least 17 times his or her weekly benefit amount. If, before an adjudication of guilt, an admission of guilt, or a plea of nolo contendere, the employer proves by competent substantial evidence to the department that the arrest was due to a crime against the employer or the employer's business, customers, or invitees, the individual is not entitled to reemployment assistance unemployment benefits.

(b) If the department or the Reemployment Assistance Unemployment Appeals Commission finds that the individual was terminated from work for any dishonest act in connection with his or her work, the individual is not entitled to reemployment assistance unemployment benefits for up to 52 weeks, pursuant to rules adopted by the department, and until he or she has earned income of at least 17 times his or her weekly benefit amount. If the employer terminates an individual as a result of a dishonest act in connection with his or her work and the department finds misconduct in connection with his or her work, the individual is not entitled to reemployment assistance unemployment benefits.

If an individual is disqualified for benefits, the account of the terminating employer, if the employer is in the base period, is noncharged at the time the disqualification is imposed.

(10) Subject to the requirements of this subsection, if the claim is made based on the loss of employment as a leased employee for an employee leasing company or as a temporary employee for a temporary help firm.

(b) A temporary or leased employee is deemed to have voluntarily quit employment and is disqualified for benefits under subparagraph (1)(a)1. if, upon conclusion of his or her latest assignment, the temporary or leased employee, without good cause, failed to contact the temporary help or employee-leasing firm for reassignment, if the employer advised the temporary or leased employee at the time of hire and that the leased employee is notified also at the time of separation that he or she must report for reassignment upon conclusion of each assignment, regardless of the duration of the assignment, and that reemployment assistance unemployment benefits may be denied for failure to report. For purposes of this section, the time of hire for a day laborer is upon his or her acceptance of the first assignment following completion of an employment application with the labor pool. The labor pool as defined in s. 448.22(1) must provide notice to the temporary employee upon conclusion of the latest assignment that work is available the next business day and that the temporary employee must report for reassignment the next business day. The notice must be given by means of a notice printed on the paycheck, written notice included in the pay envelope, or other written notification at the conclusion of the current assignment.

(11) If an individual is discharged from employment for drug use as evidenced by a positive, confirmed drug test as provided in paragraph (1)(d), or is rejected for offered employment because of a positive, confirmed drug test as provided in paragraph (2)(c), test results and chain of custody documentation provided to the employer by a licensed and approved drug-testing laboratory is self-authenticating and admissible in reemployment assistance unemployment compensation hearings, and such evidence creates a rebuttable presumption that the individual used, or was using, controlled substances, subject to the following conditions:

(a) To qualify for the presumption described in this subsection, an employer must have implemented a drug-free workplace program under ss. 440.101 and 440.102, and must submit proof that the employer has qualified for the insurance discounts provided under s. 627.0915, as certified by the insurance carrier or self-insurance unit. In lieu of these requirements, an employer who does not fit the definition of “employer” in s. 440.102 may qualify for the presumption if the employer is in compliance with equivalent or more stringent drug-testing standards established by federal law or regulation.

(b) Only laboratories licensed and approved as provided in s. 440.102(9), or as provided by equivalent or more stringent licensing requirements established by federal law or regulation may perform the drug tests.

(c) Disclosure of drug test results and other information pertaining to drug testing of individuals who claim or receive compensation under this chapter shall be governed by s. 443.1715.

443.1215 Employers.—

(3) An employing unit that fails to keep the records of employment required by this chapter and by the rules of the Department of Economic Opportunity and the state agency providing reemployment assistance ~~unemployment~~ tax collection services is presumed to be an employer liable for the payment of contributions under this chapter, regardless of the number of individuals employed by the employing unit. However, the tax collection service provider shall make written demand that the employing unit keep and maintain required payroll records. The demand must be made at least 6 months before assessing contributions against an employing unit determined to be an employer that is subject to this chapter solely by reason of this subsection.

Section 12. Paragraphs (a) and (d) of subsection (1), subsections (8) and (12), and paragraphs (f), (h), and (p) of subsection (13) of section 443.1216, Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

443.1216 Employment.—Employment, as defined in s. 443.036, is subject to this chapter under the following conditions:

(1)(a) The employment subject to this chapter includes a service performed, including a service performed in interstate commerce, by:

1. An officer of a corporation.
2. An individual who, under the usual common-law rules applicable in determining the employer-employee relationship, is an employee. However, whenever a client, as defined in s. 443.036(18), which would otherwise be designated as an employing unit has contracted with an employee leasing company to supply it with workers, those workers are considered employees of the employee leasing company. An employee leasing company may lease corporate officers of the client to the client and other workers to the client, except as prohibited by regulations of the Internal Revenue Service. Employees of an employee leasing company must be reported under the employee leasing company's tax identification number and contribution rate for work performed for the employee leasing company.

a. However, except for the internal employees of an employee leasing company, each employee leasing company may make a separate one-time election to report and pay contributions under the tax identification number and contribution rate for each client of the employee leasing company. Under the client method, an employee leasing company choosing this option must assign leased employees to the client company that is leasing the employees. The client method is solely a method to report and pay unemployment contributions and whichever method is chosen, such election may not impact any other aspect of state law. An employee leasing company that elects the client method must pay contributions at the rates assigned to each client company.

(I) The election applies to all of the employee leasing company's current and future clients.

(II) The employee leasing company must notify the Department of Revenue of its election by July 1, 2012, and such election applies to reports and contributions for the first quarter of the following calendar year. The notification must include:

(A) A list of each client company and the unemployment account number or, if one has not yet been issued, the federal employment identification number, as established by the employee leasing company upon the election to file by client method;

(B) A list of each client company's current and previous employees and their respective social security numbers for the prior 3 state fiscal years or, if the client company has not been a client for the prior 3 state fiscal years, such portion of the prior 3 state fiscal years that the client company has been a client must be supplied;

(C) The wage data and benefit charges associated with each client company for the prior 3 state fiscal years or, if the client company has not been a client for the prior 3 state fiscal years, such portion of the prior 3 state fiscal years that the client company has been a client must be supplied. If the client company's employment record is chargeable with benefits for less than 8 calendar quarters while being a client of the employee leasing company, the client company must pay contributions at the initial rate of 2.7 percent; and

(D) The wage data and benefit charges for the prior 3 state fiscal years that cannot be associated with a client company must be reported and charged to the employee leasing company.

(III) Subsequent to choosing the client method, the employee leasing company may not change its reporting method.

(IV) The employee leasing company shall file a Florida Department of Revenue Employer's Quarterly Report for each client company by approved electronic means, and pay all contributions by approved electronic means.

(V) For the purposes of calculating experience rates when the client method is chosen, each client's own benefit charges and wage data experience while with the employee leasing company determines each client's tax rate where the client has been a client of the employee leasing company for at least 8 calendar quarters before the election. The client company shall continue to report the nonleased employees under its tax rate.

(VI) The election is binding on each client of the employee leasing company, for as long as a written agreement is in effect between the client and the employee leasing company pursuant to s. 468.525(3)(a). If the relationship between the employee leasing company and the client terminates, the client retains the wage and benefit history experienced under the employee leasing company.

(VII) Notwithstanding which election method the employee leasing company chooses, the applicable client company is an employing unit for purposes of s. 443.071. The employee leasing company or any of its officers or agents are liable for any violation of s. 443.071 engaged in by such persons or entities. The applicable client company or any of its officers or agents are liable for any violation of s. 443.071 engaged in by such persons or entities. The employee leasing company or its applicable client company are not liable for any violation of s. 443.071 engaged in by the other party or by the other party's officers or agents.

(VIII) If an employee leasing company fails to select the client method of reporting not later than July 1, 2012, the entity is required to report under the employee leasing company's tax identification number and contribution rate.

(IX) After an employee leasing company is licensed pursuant to part XI of chapter 468, each newly licensed entity has 30 days after the date the license is granted to notify the tax collection service provider in writing of their selection of the client method. A newly licensed employee leasing company that fails to timely select reporting pursuant to the client method of reporting must report under the employee leasing company's tax identification number and contribution rate.

(X) Irrespective of the election, each transfer of trade or business, including workforce, or a portion thereof, between employee leasing companies is subject to the provisions of s. 443.131(3)(g) if, at the time of the transfer, there is common ownership, management, or control between the entities.

b.a. In addition to any other report required to be filed by law, an employee leasing company shall submit a report to the Labor Market Statistics Center within the Department of Economic Opportunity which includes each client establishment and each establishment of the employee leasing company, or as otherwise directed by the department. The report must include the following information for each establishment:

- (I) The trade or establishment name;
- (II) The former reemployment assistance ~~unemployment compensation~~ account number, if available;
- (III) The former federal employer's identification number (~~FEIN~~), if available;
- (IV) The industry code recognized and published by the United States Office of Management and Budget, if available;
- (V) A description of the client's primary business activity in order to verify or assign an industry code;
- (VI) The address of the physical location;
- (VII) The number of full-time and part-time employees who worked during, or received pay that was subject to reemployment assistance ~~unemployment compensation~~ taxes for, the pay period including the 12th of the month for each month of the quarter;
- (VIII) The total wages subject to reemployment assistance ~~unemployment compensation~~ taxes paid during the calendar quarter;
- (IX) An internal identification code to uniquely identify each establishment of each client;
- (X) The month and year that the client entered into the contract for services; and

(XI) The month and year that the client terminated the contract for services.

c.b. The report ~~must~~ shall be submitted electronically or in a manner otherwise prescribed by the Department of Economic Opportunity in the format specified by the Bureau of Labor Statistics of the United States Department of Labor for its Multiple Worksite Report for Professional Employer Organizations. The report must be provided quarterly to the Labor Market Statistics Center within the department, or as otherwise directed by the department, and must be filed by the last day of the month immediately after ~~following~~ the end of the calendar quarter. The information required in sub-sub-subparagraphs b.(X) and (XI) a.(X) and (XI) need be provided only in the quarter in which the contract to which it relates was entered into or terminated. The sum of the employment data and the sum of the wage data in this report must match the employment and wages reported in the reemployment assistance ~~unemployment compensation~~ quarterly tax and wage report. A report is not required for any calendar quarter preceding the third calendar quarter of 2010.

d.e. The department shall adopt rules as necessary to administer this subparagraph, and may administer, collect, enforce, and waive the penalty imposed by s. 443.141(1)(b) for the report required by this subparagraph.

e.d. For the purposes of this subparagraph, the term "establishment" means any location where business is conducted or where services or industrial operations are performed.

3. An individual other than an individual who is an employee under subparagraph 1. or subparagraph 2., who performs services for remuneration for any person:

a. As an agent-driver or commission-driver engaged in distributing meat products, vegetable products, fruit products, bakery products, beverages other than milk, or laundry or drycleaning services for his or her principal.

b. As a traveling or city salesperson engaged on a full-time basis in the solicitation on behalf of, and the transmission to, his or her principal of orders from wholesalers, retailers, contractors, or operators of hotels, restaurants, or other similar establishments for merchandise for resale or supplies for use in ~~the their~~ business operations. This sub-subparagraph does not apply to an agent-driver or a commission-driver and does not apply to sideline sales activities performed on behalf of a person other than the salesperson's principal.

4. The services described in subparagraph 3. are employment subject to this chapter only if:

a. The contract of service contemplates that substantially all of the services are to be performed personally by the individual;

b. The individual does not have a substantial investment in facilities used in connection with the services, other than facilities used for transportation; and

c. The services are not in the nature of a single transaction that is not part of a continuing relationship with the person for whom the services are performed.

(d) If two or more related corporations concurrently employ the same individual and compensate the individual through a common paymaster, each related corporation is considered to have paid wages to the individual only in the amounts actually disbursed by that corporation to the individual and is not considered to have paid the wages actually disbursed to the individual by another of the related corporations. The department and the state agency providing reemployment assistance ~~unemployment~~ tax collection services may adopt rules necessary to administer this paragraph.

1. As used in this paragraph, the term "common paymaster" means a member of a group of related corporations that disburses wages to concurrent employees on behalf of the related corporations and that is responsible for keeping payroll records for those concurrent employees. A common paymaster is not required to disburse wages to all the employees of the related corporations; however, this subparagraph does not apply to wages of concurrent employees which are not disbursed through a common paymaster. A common paymaster must pay concurrently employed individuals under this subparagraph by one combined paycheck.

2. As used in this paragraph, the term “concurrent employment” means the existence of simultaneous employment relationships between an individual and related corporations. Those relationships require the performance of services by the employee for the benefit of the related corporations, including the common paymaster, in exchange for wages that, if deductible for the purposes of federal income tax, are deductible by the related corporations.

3. Corporations are considered related corporations for an entire calendar quarter if they satisfy any one of the following tests at any time during the calendar quarter:

a. The corporations are members of a “controlled group of corporations” as defined in s. 1563 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 or would be members if s. 1563(a)(4) and (b) did not apply.

b. In the case of a corporation that does not issue stock, at least 50 percent of the members of the board of directors or other governing body of one corporation are members of the board of directors or other governing body of the other corporation or the holders of at least 50 percent of the voting power to select those members are concurrently the holders of at least 50 percent of the voting power to select those members of the other corporation.

c. At least 50 percent of the officers of one corporation are concurrently officers of the other corporation.

d. At least 30 percent of the employees of one corporation are concurrently employees of the other corporation.

4. The common paymaster must report to the tax collection service provider, as part of the reemployment assistance ~~unemployment compensation~~ quarterly tax and wage report, the state reemployment assistance ~~unemployment compensation~~ account number and name of each related corporation for which concurrent employees are being reported. Failure to timely report this information shall result in the related corporations being denied common paymaster status for that calendar quarter.

5. The common paymaster ~~shall remit~~ ~~also has the primary responsibility for remitting~~ contributions due under this chapter for the wages it disburses as the common paymaster. The common paymaster must compute these contributions as though it were the sole employer of the concurrently employed individuals. If a common paymaster fails to timely remit these contributions or reports, in whole or in part, the common paymaster ~~is~~ ~~remains~~ liable for the full amount of the unpaid portion of these contributions. In addition, each of the other related corporations using the common paymaster is jointly and severally liable for its appropriate share of these contributions. Each related corporation’s share equals the greater of:

a. The liability of the common paymaster under this chapter, after taking into account any contributions made.

b. The liability under this chapter which, notwithstanding this section, would have existed for the wages from the other related corporations, reduced by an allocable portion of any contributions previously paid by the common paymaster for those wages.

(8) Services not covered under paragraph (7)(b) which are performed entirely outside of this state, and for which contributions are not required or paid under a reemployment assistance or ~~an~~ unemployment compensation law of any other state or of the Federal Government, are deemed to be employment subject to this chapter if the individual performing the services is a resident of this state and the tax collection service provider approves the election of the employing unit for whom the services are performed, electing that the entire service of the individual is deemed to be employment subject to this chapter.

(12) The employment subject to this chapter includes services covered by a reciprocal arrangement under s. 443.221 between the Department of Economic Opportunity or its tax collection service provider and the agency charged with the administration of another state reemployment assistance or unemployment compensation law or a federal reemployment assistance or unemployment compensation law, under which all services performed by an individual for an employing unit are deemed to be performed entirely within this state, if the department or its tax collection service provider approved an election of the employing unit in which all of the services performed by the individual during the period covered by the election are deemed to be insured work.

(13) The following are exempt from coverage under this chapter:

(f) Service performed in the employ of a public employer as defined in s. 443.036, except as provided in subsection (2), and service performed in the employ of an instrumentality of a public employer as described in s. 443.036(36)(b) or (c) ~~443.036(35)(b) or (c)~~, to the extent that the instrumentality is immune under the United States Constitution from the tax imposed by s. 3301 of the Internal Revenue Code for that service.

(h) Service for which reemployment assistance ~~unemployment compensation~~ is payable under a reemployment assistance or ~~an~~ unemployment compensation system established by the United States Congress, of which this chapter is not a part.

(p) Service covered by an arrangement between the Department of Economic Opportunity, or its tax collection service provider, and the agency charged with the administration of another state or federal reemployment assistance or unemployment compensation law under which all services performed by an individual for an employing unit during the period covered by the employing unit’s duly approved election is deemed to be performed entirely within the other agency’s state or under the federal law.

Section 13. Effective upon this act becoming a law and operating retroactively to June 29, 2011, paragraph (a) of subsection (2) of section 443.1217, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

(2) For the purpose of determining an employer’s contributions, the following wages are exempt from this chapter:

~~(a)1.— Beginning January 1, 2010, that part of remuneration paid to an individual by an employer for employment during a calendar year in excess of the first $7,000 of remuneration paid to the individual by an employer or his or her predecessor during that calendar year, unless that part of the remuneration is subject to a tax, under a federal law imposing the tax, against which credit may be taken for contributions required to be paid into a state unemployment fund.~~

~~1.2.—~~ Beginning January 1, 2012, that part of remuneration paid to an individual by an employer for employment during a calendar year in excess of the first $8,000 ~~$8,500~~ of remuneration paid to the individual by the employer or his or her predecessor during that calendar year, unless that part of the remuneration is subject to a tax, under a federal law imposing the tax, against which credit may be taken for contributions required to be paid into a state unemployment fund.

~~2.3.—~~ Beginning January 1, 2015, the part of remuneration paid to an individual by an employer for employment during a calendar year in excess of the first $7,000 of remuneration paid to the individual by an employer or his or her predecessor during that calendar year, unless that part of the remuneration is subject to a tax, under a federal law imposing the tax, against which credit may be taken for contributions required to be paid into a state unemployment fund. The wage base exemption adjustment authorized by this subparagraph shall be suspended in any calendar year in which repayment of the principal amount of an advance received from the Unemployment Compensation Trust Fund under 42 U.S.C. s. 1321 is due to the Federal Government.

Section 14. Effective upon this act becoming a law and operating retroactively to June 29, 2011, paragraph (e) of subsection (3) of section 443.131, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

443.131 Contributions.—

(3) VARIATION OF CONTRIBUTION RATES BASED ON BENEFIT EXPERIENCE.—

(e) Assignment of variations from the standard rate.—

1. As used in this paragraph, the terms “total benefit payments,” “benefits paid to an individual,” and “benefits charged to the employment record of an employer” mean the amount of benefits paid to individuals multiplied by:

- a. For benefits paid prior to July 1, 2007, 1.
 - b. For benefits paid during the period beginning on July 1, 2007, and ending March 31, 2011, 0.90.
 - c. For benefits paid after March 31, 2011, 1.
2. For the calculation of contribution rates effective January 1, 2012 ~~2010~~, and thereafter:

- a. The tax collection service provider shall assign a variation from the standard rate of contributions for each calendar year to each eligible employer. In determining the contribution rate, varying from the standard rate to be assigned each employer, adjustment factors computed under sub-sub-paragraphs (I)-(IV) are added to the benefit ratio. This addition shall be accomplished in two steps by adding a variable adjustment factor and a final adjustment factor. The sum of these adjustment factors computed under sub-sub-paragraphs (I)-(IV) shall first be algebraically summed. The sum of these adjustment factors shall next be divided by a gross benefit ratio determined as follows: Total benefit payments for the 3-year period described in subparagraph (b)3. are charged to employers eligible for a variation from the standard rate, minus excess payments for the same period, divided by taxable payroll entering into the computation of individual benefit ratios for the calendar year for which the contribution rate is being computed. The ratio of the sum of the adjustment factors computed under sub-sub-paragraphs (I)-(IV) to the gross benefit ratio is multiplied by each individual benefit ratio that is less than the maximum contribution rate to obtain variable adjustment factors; except that if the sum of an employer’s individual benefit ratio and variable adjustment factor exceeds the maximum contribution rate, the variable adjustment factor is reduced in order for the sum to equal the maximum contribution rate. The variable adjustment factor for each of these employers is multiplied by his or her taxable payroll entering into the computation of his or her benefit ratio. The sum of these products is divided by the taxable payroll of the employers who entered into the computation of their benefit ratios. The resulting ratio is subtracted from the sum of the adjustment factors computed under sub-sub-paragraphs (I)-(IV) to obtain the final adjustment factor. The variable adjustment factors and the final adjustment factor must be computed to five decimal places and rounded to the fourth decimal place. This final adjustment factor is added to the variable adjustment factor and benefit ratio of each employer to obtain each employer’s contribution rate. An employer’s contribution rate may not, however, be rounded to less than 0.1 percent.

- (I) An adjustment factor for noncharge benefits is computed to the fifth decimal place and rounded to the fourth decimal place by dividing the amount of noncharge benefits during the 3-year period described in subparagraph (b)3. by the taxable payroll of employers eligible for a variation from the standard rate who have a benefit ratio for the current year which is less than the maximum contribution rate. For purposes of computing this adjustment factor, the taxable payroll of these employers is the taxable payrolls for the 3 years ending June 30 of the current calendar year as reported to the tax collection service provider by September 30 of the same calendar year. As used in this sub-sub-paragraph, the term “noncharge benefits” means benefits paid to an individual from the Unemployment Compensation Trust Fund, but which were not charged to the employment record of any employer.

- (II) An adjustment factor for excess payments is computed to the fifth decimal place, and rounded to the fourth decimal place by dividing the total excess payments during the 3-year period described in subparagraph (b)3. by the taxable payroll of employers eligible for a variation from the standard rate who have a benefit ratio for the current year which is less than the maximum contribution rate. For purposes of computing this adjustment factor, the taxable payroll of these employers is the same figure used to compute the adjustment factor for noncharge benefits under sub-sub-paragraph (I). As used in this sub-sub-paragraph, the term “excess payments” means the amount of benefits charged to the employment record of an employer during the 3-year period described in subparagraph (b)3., less the product of the maximum contribution rate and the employer’s taxable payroll for the 3 years ending June 30 of the current calendar year as reported to the tax collection service provider by September 30 of the same calendar year. As used in this sub-sub-paragraph, the term “total excess payments” means the sum of the individual employer excess payments for those employers that were eligible for assignment of a contribution rate different from the standard rate.

(III) With respect to computing a positive adjustment factor:

- (A) Beginning January 1, 2012, if the balance of the Unemployment Compensation Trust Fund on September 30 of the calendar year immediately preceding the calendar year for which the contribution rate is being computed is less than 4 percent of the taxable payrolls for the year ending June 30 as reported to the tax collection service provider by September 30 of that calendar year, a positive adjustment factor shall be computed. The positive adjustment factor is computed annually to the fifth decimal place and rounded to the fourth decimal place by dividing the sum of the total taxable payrolls for the year ending June 30 of the current calendar year as reported to the tax collection service provider by September 30 of that calendar year into a sum equal to ~~one-fifth one-third~~ of the difference between the balance of the fund as of September 30 of that calendar year and the sum of 5 percent of the total taxable payrolls for that year. The positive adjustment factor remains in effect for subsequent years until the balance of the Unemployment Compensation Trust Fund as of September 30 of the year immediately preceding the effective date of the contribution rate equals or exceeds ~~4 5~~ percent of the taxable payrolls for the year ending June 30 of the current calendar year as reported to the tax collection service provider by September 30 of that calendar year.

- (B) Beginning January 1, ~~2015~~ 2018, and for each year thereafter, the positive adjustment shall be computed by dividing the sum of the total taxable payrolls for the year ending June 30 of the current calendar year as reported to the tax collection service provider by September 30 of that calendar year into a sum equal to one-fourth of the difference between the balance of the fund as of September 30 of that calendar year and the sum of 5 percent of the total taxable payrolls for that year. The positive adjustment factor remains in effect for subsequent years until the balance of the Unemployment Compensation Trust Fund as of September 30 of the year immediately preceding the effective date of the contribution rate equals or exceeds 4 percent of the taxable payrolls for the year ending June 30 of the current calendar year as reported to the tax collection service provider by September 30 of that calendar year.

- (IV) If, beginning January 1, 2015, and each year thereafter, the balance of the Unemployment Compensation Trust Fund as of September 30 of the year immediately preceding the calendar year for which the contribution rate is being computed exceeds 5 percent of the taxable payrolls for the year ending June 30 of the current calendar year as reported to the tax collection service provider by September 30 of that calendar year, a negative adjustment factor must be computed. The negative adjustment factor shall be computed annually beginning on January 1, 2015, and each year thereafter, to the fifth decimal place and rounded to the fourth decimal place by dividing the sum of the total taxable payrolls for the year ending June 30 of the current calendar year as reported to the tax collection service provider by September 30 of the calendar year into a sum equal to one-fourth of the difference between the balance of the fund as of September 30 of the current calendar year and 5 percent of the total taxable payrolls of that year. The negative adjustment factor remains in effect for subsequent years until the balance of the Unemployment Compensation Trust Fund as of September 30 of the year immediately preceding the effective date of the contribution rate is less than 5 percent, but more than 4 percent of the taxable payrolls for the year ending June 30 of the current calendar year as reported to the tax collection service provider by September 30 of that calendar year. The negative adjustment authorized by this section is suspended in any calendar year in which repayment of the principal amount of an advance received from the federal Unemployment Compensation Trust Fund under 42 U.S.C. s. 1321 is due to the Federal Government.

- (V) The maximum contribution rate that may be assigned to an employer is 5.4 percent, except employers participating in an approved short-time compensation plan may be assigned a maximum contribution rate that is 1 percent greater than the maximum contribution rate for other employers in any calendar year in which short-time compensation benefits are charged to the employer’s employment record.

- (VI) As used in this subsection, “taxable payroll” shall be determined by excluding any part of the remuneration paid to an individual by an employer for employment during a calendar year in excess of the first

$7,000. Beginning January 1, 2012, “taxable payroll” shall be determined by excluding any part of the remuneration paid to an individual by an employer for employment during a calendar year as described in s. 443.1217(2). For the purposes of the employer rate calculation that will take effect in January 1, 2012, and in January 1, 2013, the tax collection service provider shall use the data available for taxable payroll from 2009 based on excluding any part of the remuneration paid to an individual by an employer for employment during a calendar year in excess of the first $7,000, and from 2010 and 2011, the data available for taxable payroll based on excluding any part of the remuneration paid to an individual by an employer for employment during a calendar year in excess of the first $8,500.

b. If the transfer of an employer’s employment record to an employing unit under paragraph (f) which, before the transfer, was an employer, the tax collection service provider shall recompute a benefit ratio for the successor employer based on the combined employment records and reassign an appropriate contribution rate to the successor employer effective on the first day of the calendar quarter immediately after the effective date of the transfer.

Section 15. Paragraph (a) and (f) of subsection (3) of section 443.131, Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

443.131 Contributions.—

(3) VARIATION OF CONTRIBUTION RATES BASED ON BENEFIT EXPERIENCE.—

(a) Employment records.—The regular and short-time compensation benefits paid to an eligible individual shall be charged to the employment record of each employer who paid the individual wages of at least $100 during the individual’s base period in proportion to the total wages paid by all employers who paid the individual wages during the individual’s base period. Benefits may not be charged to the employment record of an employer who furnishes part-time work to an individual who, because of loss of employment with one or more other employers, is eligible for partial benefits while being furnished part-time work by the employer on substantially the same basis and in substantially the same amount as the individual’s employment during his or her base period, regardless of whether this part-time work is simultaneous or successive to the individual’s lost employment. Further, as provided in s. 443.151(3), benefits may not be charged to the employment record of an employer who furnishes the Department of Economic Opportunity with notice, as prescribed in rules of the department, that any of the following apply:

1. If an individual leaves his or her work without good cause attributable to the employer or is discharged by the employer for misconduct connected with his or her work, benefits subsequently paid to the individual based on wages paid by the employer before the separation may not be charged to the employment record of the employer.

2. If an individual is discharged by the employer for unsatisfactory performance during an initial employment probationary period, benefits subsequently paid to the individual based on wages paid during the probationary period by the employer before the separation may not be charged to the employer’s employment record. As used in this subparagraph, the term “initial employment probationary period” means an established probationary plan that applies to all employees or a specific group of employees and that does not exceed 90 calendar days following the first day a new employee begins work. The employee must be informed of the probationary period within the first 7 days of work. The employer must demonstrate by conclusive evidence that the individual was separated because of unsatisfactory work performance and not because of lack of work due to temporary, seasonal, casual, or other similar employment that is not of a regular, permanent, and year-round nature.

3. Benefits subsequently paid to an individual after his or her refusal without good cause to accept suitable work from an employer may not be charged to the employment record of the employer if any part of those benefits are based on wages paid by the employer before the individual’s refusal to accept suitable work. As used in this subparagraph, the term “good cause” does not include distance to employment caused by a change of residence by the individual. The department shall adopt rules prescribing for the payment of all benefits whether this subparagraph applies regardless of whether a disqualification under s. 443.101 applies to the claim.

4. If an individual is separated from work as a direct result of a natural disaster declared under the Robert T. Stafford Disaster Relief and Emergency Assistance Act, 42 U.S.C. ss. 5121 et seq., benefits subsequently paid to the individual based on wages paid by the employer before the separation may not be charged to the employment record of the employer.

5. If an individual is separated from work as a direct result of an oil spill, terrorist attack, or other similar disaster of national significance not subject to a declaration under the Robert T. Stafford Disaster Relief and Emergency Assistance Act, benefits subsequently paid to the individual based on wages paid by the employer before the separation may not be charged to the employment record of the employer.

(f) Transfer of employment records.—

1. For the purposes of this subsection, two or more employers who are parties to a transfer of business or the subject of a merger, consolidation, or other form of reorganization, effecting a change in legal identity or form, are deemed a single employer and are considered to be one employer with a continuous employment record if the tax collection service provider finds that the successor employer continues to carry on the employing enterprises of all of the predecessor employers and that the successor employer has paid all contributions required of and due from all of the predecessor employers and has assumed liability for all contributions that may become due from all of the predecessor employers. In addition, an employer may not be considered a successor under this subparagraph if the employer purchases a company with a lower rate into which employees with job functions unrelated to the business endeavors of the predecessor are transferred for the purpose of acquiring the low rate and avoiding payment of contributions. As used in this paragraph, notwithstanding s. 443.036(14), the term “contributions” means all indebtedness to the tax collection service provider, including, but not limited to, interest, penalty, collection fee, and service fee. A successor employer must accept the transfer of all of the predecessor employers’ employment records within 30 days after the date of the official notification of liability by succession. If a predecessor employer has unpaid contributions or outstanding quarterly reports, the successor employer must pay the total amount with certified funds within 30 days after the date of the notice listing the total amount due. After the total indebtedness is paid, the tax collection service provider shall transfer the employment records of all of the predecessor employers to the successor employer’s employment record. The tax collection service provider shall determine the contribution rate of the combined successor and predecessor employers upon the transfer of the employment records, as prescribed by rule, in order to calculate any change in the contribution rate resulting from the transfer of the employment records.

2. Regardless of whether a predecessor employer’s employment record is transferred to a successor employer under this paragraph, the tax collection service provider shall treat the predecessor employer, if he or she subsequently employs individuals, as an employer without a previous employment record or, if his or her coverage is terminated under s. 443.121, as a new employing unit.

3. The state agency providing reemployment assistance ~~unemployment~~ tax collection services may adopt rules governing the partial transfer of experience rating when an employer transfers an identifiable and segregable portion of his or her payrolls and business to a successor employing unit. As a condition of each partial transfer, these rules must require the following to be filed with the tax collection service provider: an application by the successor employing unit, an agreement by the predecessor employer, and the evidence required by the tax collection service provider to show the benefit experience and payrolls attributable to the transferred portion through the date of the transfer. These rules must provide that the successor employing unit, if not an employer subject to this chapter, becomes an employer as of the date of the transfer and that the transferred portion of the predecessor employer’s employment record is removed from the employment record of the predecessor employer. For each calendar year after the date of the transfer of the employment record in the records of the tax collection service provider, the service provider shall compute the contribution rate payable by the successor employer or employing unit based on his or her employment record, combined with the transferred portion of the predecessor employer’s employment record. These rules may also prescribe what contribution rates are payable by the predecessor and successor employers for the period between the date of the transfer of the transferred portion of the predecessor employer’s employment record in the records of the tax collection service provider and the first day of the next calendar year.

4. This paragraph does not apply to an employee leasing company and client contractual agreement as defined in s. 443.036, except as provided in s. 443.1216(1)(a)2.a. The tax collection service provider shall, if the contractual agreement is terminated or the employee leasing company fails to submit reports or pay contributions as required by the service provider, treat the client as a new employer without previous employment record unless the client is otherwise eligible for a variation from the standard rate.

Section 16. Paragraph (d) of subsection (2) of section 443.1312, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

443.1312 Reimbursements; nonprofit organizations.—Benefits paid to employees of nonprofit organizations shall be financed in accordance with this section.

(2) LIABILITY FOR CONTRIBUTIONS AND ELECTION OF REIMBURSEMENT.—A nonprofit organization that is, or becomes, subject to this chapter under s. 443.1215(1)(c) or s. 443.121(3)(a) must pay contributions under s. 443.131 unless it elects, in accordance with this subsection, to reimburse the Unemployment Compensation Trust Fund for all of the regular benefits, short-time compensation benefits, and one-half of the extended benefits paid, which are attributable to service in the employ of the nonprofit organization, to individuals for weeks of unemployment which begin during the effective period of the election.

(d) In accordance with rules adopted by the Department of Economic Opportunity or the state agency providing reemployment assistance ~~unemployment~~ tax collection services, the tax collection service provider shall notify each nonprofit organization of any determination of the organization's status as an employer, the effective date of any election the organization makes, and the effective date of any termination of the election. Each determination is subject to reconsideration, appeal, and review under s. 443.141(2)(c).

Section 17. Subsection (3) and paragraph (a) of subsection (4) of section 443.1313, Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

443.1313 Public employers; reimbursements; election to pay contributions.—Benefits paid to employees of a public employer, as defined in s. 443.036, based on service described in s. 443.1216(2) shall be financed in accordance with this section.

(3) CHANGE OF ELECTION.—Upon electing to be a reimbursing or contributing employer under this section, a public employer may not change this election for at least 2 calendar years. This subsection does not prevent a public employer subject to this subsection from changing its election after completing 2 calendar years under another financing method if the new election is timely filed. The state agency providing reemployment assistance ~~unemployment~~ tax collection services may adopt rules prescribing procedures for changing methods of reporting.

(4) PUBLIC EMPLOYERS REEMPLOYMENT ASSISTANCE ~~UNEMPLOYMENT COMPENSATION~~ BENEFIT ACCOUNT.—

(a) There is established within the Unemployment Compensation Trust Fund a Public Employers Reemployment Assistance ~~Unemployment Compensation~~ Benefit Account, which must be maintained as a separate account within the trust fund. All benefits paid to the employees of a public employer that elects to become a contributing employer under paragraph (b) must be charged to the Public Employers Unemployment Compensation Benefit Account.

443.1315 Treatment of Indian tribes.—

(7) The Department of Economic Opportunity and the state agency providing reemployment assistance ~~unemployment~~ tax collection services shall adopt rules necessary to administer this section.

(1) The Department of Economic Opportunity shall contract with the Department of Revenue, through an interagency agreement, to perform the duties of the tax collection service provider and provide other reemployment assistance ~~unemployment~~ tax collection services under this chapter. Under the interagency agreement, the tax collection service provider may only implement:

(a) The provisions of this chapter conferring duties upon the tax collection service provider.

(b) The provisions of law conferring duties upon the department which are specifically delegated to the tax collection service provider in the interagency agreement.

(2)(a) The Department of Revenue is considered to be administering a revenue law of this state when the department implements this chapter, or otherwise provides reemployment assistance ~~unemployment~~ tax collection services, under contract with the department through the interagency agreement.

Section 20. Paragraph (a) of subsection (1) and subsections (2) and (3) of section 443.1317, Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

443.1317 Rulemaking authority; enforcement of rules.—

(1) DEPARTMENT OF ECONOMIC OPPORTUNITY.—

(a) Except as otherwise provided in s. 443.012, the Department of Economic Opportunity has ultimate authority over the administration of the Reemployment Assistance ~~Unemployment Compensation~~ Program.

(2) TAX COLLECTION SERVICE PROVIDER.—The state agency providing reemployment assistance ~~unemployment~~ tax collection services under contract with the Department of Economic Opportunity through an interagency agreement pursuant to s. 443.1316 may adopt rules under ss. 120.536(1) and 120.54, subject to approval by the department, to administer the provisions of law described in s. 443.1316(1)(a) and (b) which are within this chapter. These rules must not conflict with the rules adopted by the department or with the interagency agreement.

(3) ENFORCEMENT OF RULES.—The Department of Economic Opportunity may enforce any rule adopted by the state agency providing reemployment assistance ~~unemployment~~ tax collection services to administer this chapter. The tax collection service provider may enforce any rule adopted by the department to administer the provisions of law described in s. 443.1316(1)(a) and (b).

Section 21. Paragraphs (b) and (g) of subsection (1), paragraph (c) of subsection (2), and paragraphs (c) and (e) of subsection (4) of section 443.141, Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

443.141 Collection of contributions and reimbursements.—

(1) PAST DUE CONTRIBUTIONS AND REIMBURSEMENTS; DELINQUENT, ERRONEOUS, INCOMPLETE, OR INSUFFICIENT REPORTS.—

(b) Penalty for delinquent, erroneous, incomplete, or insufficient reports.—

1. An employing unit that fails to file any report required by the Department of Economic Opportunity or its tax collection service provider, in accordance with rules for administering this chapter, shall pay to the service provider for each delinquent report the sum of $25 for each 30 days or fraction thereof that the employing unit is delinquent, unless the department agency or its service provider, whichever required the report, finds that the employing unit has good reason for failing to file the report. The department or its service provider may assess penalties only through the date of the issuance of the final assessment notice. However, additional penalties accrue if the delinquent report is subsequently filed.

2.a. An employing unit that files an erroneous, incomplete, or insufficient report with the department or its tax collection service provider shall pay a penalty. The amount of the penalty is $50 or 10 percent of any tax due, whichever is greater, but no more than $300 per report. The penalty shall be added to any tax, penalty, or interest otherwise due.

b. The department or its tax collection service provider shall waive the penalty if the employing unit files an accurate, complete, and sufficient report within 30 days after a penalty notice is issued to the employing unit. The penalty may not be waived pursuant to this subparagraph more than one time during a 12-month period.

c. As used in this subsection, the term "erroneous, incomplete, or insufficient report" means a report so lacking in information, completeness, or arrangement that the report cannot be readily understood, verified, or reviewed. Such reports include, but are not limited to, reports having missing wage or employee information, missing or incorrect social security numbers, or illegible entries; reports submitted in a format that is not approved by the department or its tax collection service provider; and reports showing gross wages that do not equal the total of the wages of each employee. However, the term does not include a report that merely contains inaccurate data that was supplied to the employer by the employee, if the employer was unaware of the inaccuracy.

3. Penalties imposed pursuant to this paragraph shall be deposited in the Special Employment Security Administration Trust Fund.

4. The penalty and interest for a delinquent, erroneous, incomplete, or insufficient report may be waived if the penalty or interest is inequitable. The provisions of s. 213.24(1) apply to any penalty or interest that is imposed under this section.

(2) REPORTS, CONTRIBUTIONS, APPEALS.—

(c) Appeals.—The department and the state agency providing reemployment assistance unemployment tax collection services shall adopt rules prescribing the procedures for an employing unit determined to be an employer to file an appeal and be afforded an opportunity for a hearing on the determination. Pending a hearing, the employing unit must file reports and pay contributions in accordance with s. 443.131.

(4) MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS FOR COLLECTION OF CONTRIBUTIONS AND REIMBURSEMENTS.—

(c) Any agent or employee designated by the Department of Economic Opportunity or its tax collection service provider may administer an oath to any person for any return or report required by this chapter or by the rules of the department or the state agency providing reemployment assistance unemployment tax collection services, and an oath made before the department or its service provider or any authorized agent or employee has the same effect as an oath made before any judicial officer or notary public of the state.

(e) The tax collection service provider may commence an action in any other state to collect reemployment assistance unemployment compensation contributions, reimbursements, penalties, and interest legally due this state. The officials of other states that extend a like comity to this state may sue for the collection of contributions, reimbursements, interest, and penalties in the courts of this state. The courts of this state shall recognize and enforce liability for contributions, reimbursements, interest, and penalties imposed by other states that extend a like comity to this state.

Section 22. Paragraph (b) of subsection (1), paragraph (b) of subsection (2), paragraph (c) of subsection (3), and paragraphs (a) and (b) of subsection (6) of section 443.151, Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

443.151 Procedure concerning claims.—

(1) POSTING OF INFORMATION.—

(b)1. The department shall advise each individual filing a new claim for reemployment assistance unemployment compensation, at the time of filing the claim, that:

a. Reemployment assistance unemployment compensation is subject to federal income tax.

b. Requirements exist pertaining to estimated tax payments.

c. The individual may elect to have federal income tax deducted and withheld from the individual's payment of reemployment assistance unemployment compensation at the amount specified in the federal Internal Revenue Code.

d. The individual is not permitted to change a previously elected withholding status more than twice per calendar year.

2. Amounts deducted and withheld from reemployment assistance unemployment compensation must remain in the Unemployment Compensation Trust Fund until transferred to the federal taxing authority as payment of income tax.

3. The department shall follow all procedures specified by the United States Department of Labor and the federal Internal Revenue Service pertaining to the deducting and withholding of income tax.

4. If more than one authorized request for deduction and withholding is made, amounts must be deducted and withheld in accordance with the following priorities:

a. Reemployment assistance Unemployment overpayments have first priority;

b. Child support payments have second priority; and

c. Withholding under this subsection has third priority.

(2) FILING OF CLAIM INVESTIGATIONS; NOTIFICATION OF CLAIMANTS AND EMPLOYERS.—

(b) Process.—When the Reemployment Assistance Unemployment Compensation Claims and Benefits Information System described in s. 443.1113 is fully operational, the process for filing claims must incorporate the process for registering for work with the workforce information systems established pursuant to s. 445.011. A claim for benefits may not be processed until the work registration requirement is satisfied. The department may adopt rules as necessary to administer the work registration requirement set forth in this paragraph.

(3) DETERMINATION OF ELIGIBILITY.—

(c) Nonmonetary determinations.—If the department receives information that may result in a denial of benefits, the department must complete an investigation of the claim required by subsection (2) and provide notice of a nonmonetary determination to the claimant and the employer from whom the claimant's reason for separation affects his or her entitlement to benefits. The determination must state the reason for the determination and whether the reemployment assistance unemployment tax account of the contributing employer is charged for benefits paid on the claim. The nonmonetary determination is final unless within 20 days after the mailing of the notices to the parties' last known addresses, or in lieu of mailing, within 20 days after the delivery of the notices, an appeal or written request for reconsideration is filed by the claimant or other party entitled to notice. The department may adopt rules as necessary to implement the processes described in this paragraph relating to notices of nonmonetary determination and the appeals or reconsideration requests filed in response to such notices, and may adopt rules prescribing the manner and procedure by which employers within the base period of a claimant become entitled to notice of nonmonetary determination.

(6) RECOVERY AND RECOUPMENT.—

(a) Any person who, by reason of her or his fraud, receives benefits under this chapter to which she or he is not entitled is liable for repaying those benefits to the Department of Economic Opportunity on behalf of the trust fund or, in the discretion of the department, to have those benefits deducted from future benefits payable to her or him under this chapter. To enforce this paragraph, the department must find the existence of fraud through a redetermination or decision under this section within 2 years after the fraud was committed. Any recovery or recoupment of benefits must be commenced effected within 7 5 years after the redetermination or decision.

(b) Any person who, by reason other than her or his fraud, receives benefits under this chapter to which, under a redetermination or decision pursuant to this section, she or he is not entitled, is liable for repaying those benefits to the department on behalf of the trust fund or, in the discretion of the department, to have those benefits deducted from any future benefits payable to her or him under this chapter. Any recovery or recoupment of benefits must be ~~commenced effected~~ within 7 3 years after the redetermination or decision.

Section 23. Subsection (1) and paragraph (c) of subsection (3) of section 443.163, Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

443.163 Electronic reporting and remitting of contributions and reimbursements.—

(1) An employer may file any report and remit any contributions or reimbursements required under this chapter by electronic means. The Department of Economic Opportunity or the state agency providing ~~re-employment assistance unemployment~~ tax collection services shall adopt rules prescribing the format and instructions necessary for electronically filing reports and remitting contributions and reimbursements to ensure a full collection of contributions and reimbursements due. The acceptable method of transfer, the method, form, and content of the electronic means, and the method, if any, by which the employer will be provided with an acknowledgment shall be prescribed by the department or its tax collection service provider. However, any employer who employed 10 or more employees in any quarter during the preceding state fiscal year must file the Employers Quarterly Reports (UCT-6) for the current calendar year and remit the contributions and reimbursements due by electronic means approved by the tax collection service provider. A person who prepared and reported for 100 or more employers in any quarter during the preceding state fiscal year must file the Employers Quarterly Reports (UCT-6) for each calendar quarter in the current calendar year, beginning with reports due for the second calendar quarter of 2003, by electronic means approved by the tax collection service provider.

(3) The tax collection service provider may waive the requirement to file an Employers Quarterly Report (UCT-6) by electronic means for employers that are unable to comply despite good faith efforts or due to circumstances beyond the employer's reasonable control.

(c) The department or the state agency providing ~~reemployment assistance unemployment~~ tax collection services may establish by rule the length of time a waiver is valid and may determine whether subsequent waivers will be authorized, based on this subsection.

Section 24. Subsections (2) and (5) and paragraphs (a) and (c) of subsection (9) of section 443.171, Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

443.171 Department of Economic Opportunity and commission; powers and duties; records and reports; proceedings; state-federal cooperation.—

(2) PUBLICATION OF ACTS AND RULES.—The Department of Economic Opportunity shall cause to be printed and distributed to the public, or otherwise distributed to the public through the Internet or similar electronic means, the text of this chapter and of the rules for administering this chapter adopted by the department or the state agency providing ~~reemployment assistance unemployment~~ tax collection services and any other matter relevant and suitable. The department shall furnish this information to any person upon request. However, any pamphlet, rules, circulars, or reports required by this chapter may not contain any matter except the actual data necessary to complete them or the actual language of the rule, together with the proper notices.

(5) RECORDS AND REPORTS.—Each employing unit shall keep true and accurate work records, containing the information required by the Department of Economic Opportunity or its tax collection service provider. These records must be open to inspection and are subject to being copied by the department or its tax collection service provider at any reasonable time and as often as necessary. The department or its tax collection service provider may require from any employing unit any sworn or unsworn reports, for persons employed by the employing unit, necessary for the effective administration of this chapter. However, a state or local governmental agency performing intelligence or counter-intelligence functions need not report an employee if the head of that agency determines that reporting the employee could endanger the safety of the employee or compromise an ongoing investigation or intelligence mission. ~~Information revealing the employing unit's or individual's identity obtained from the employing unit or from any individual through the administration of this chapter, is, except to the extent necessary for the proper presentation of a claim or upon written authorization of the claimant who has a workers' compensation claim pending, confidential and exempt from s. 119.07(1). This confidential information is available only to public employees in the performance of their public duties. Any claimant, or the claimant's legal representative, at a hearing before an appeals referee or the commission must be supplied with information from these records to the extent necessary for the proper presentation of her or his claim. Any employee or member of the commission, any employee of the department or its tax collection service provider, or any other person receiving confidential information who violates this subsection commits a misdemeanor of the second degree, punishable as provided in s. 775.082 or s. 775.083. However, the department or its tax collection service provider may furnish to any employer copies of any report previously submitted by that employer, upon the request of the employer. The department or its tax collection service provider may charge a reasonable fee for copies of reports, which may not exceed the actual reasonable cost of the preparation of the copies as prescribed by rules adopted by the department or the state agency providing tax collection services. Fees received by the department or its tax collection service provider for copies furnished under this subsection must be deposited in the Employment Security Administration Trust Fund.~~

(9) STATE-FEDERAL COOPERATION.—

(a)1. In the administration of this chapter, the Department of Economic Opportunity and its tax collection service provider shall cooperate with the United States Department of Labor to the fullest extent consistent with this chapter and shall take those actions, through the adoption of appropriate rules, administrative methods, and standards, necessary to secure for this state all advantages available under the provisions of federal law relating to ~~reemployment assistance unemployment compensation~~.

2. In the administration of the provisions in s. 443.1115, which are enacted to conform with the Federal-State Extended Unemployment Compensation Act of 1970, the department shall take those actions necessary to ensure that those provisions are interpreted and applied to meet the requirements of the federal act as interpreted by the United States Department of Labor and to secure for this state the full reimbursement of the federal share of extended benefits paid under this chapter which is reimbursable under the federal act.

3. The department and its tax collection service provider shall comply with the regulations of the United States Department of Labor relating to the receipt or expenditure by this state of funds granted under federal law; shall submit the reports in the form and containing the information the United States Department of Labor requires; and shall comply with directions of the United States Department of Labor necessary to assure the correctness and verification of these reports.

(c) The department and its tax collection service provider shall cooperate with the agencies of other states, and shall make every proper effort within their means, to oppose and prevent any further action leading to the complete or substantial federalization of state ~~reemployment assistance unemployment compensation~~ funds or state employment security programs. The department and its tax collection service provider may make, and may cooperate with other appropriate agencies in making, studies as to the practicability and probable cost of possible new state-administered social security programs and the relative desirability of state, rather than federal, action in that field of study.

Section 25. Subsections (1) and (2) of section 443.1715, Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

House Amendment 1 (603303) (with title amendment)—Remove everything after the enacting clause and insert:

Section 1. Shackling of incarcerated pregnant women.—

(1) SHORT TITLE.—This section may be cited as the "Healthy Pregnancies for Incarcerated Women Act."

(2) DEFINITIONS.—As used in this section, the term:

(a) "Correctional institution" means any facility under the authority of the department or the Department of Juvenile Justice, a county or municipal detention facility, or a detention facility operated by a private entity.

(b) "Corrections official" means the official who is responsible for oversight of a correctional institution, or his or her designee.

(c) "Department" means the Department of Corrections.

(d) "Extraordinary circumstance" means a substantial flight risk or some other extraordinary medical or security circumstance that dictates restraints be used to ensure the safety and security of the prisoner, the staff of the correctional institution or medical facility, other prisoners, or the public.

(e) "Labor" means the period of time before a birth during which contractions are of sufficient frequency, intensity, and duration to bring about effacement and progressive dilation of the cervix.

(f) "Postpartum recovery" means, as determined by her physician, the period immediately following delivery, including the recovery period when a woman is in the hospital or infirmary following birth, up to 24 hours after delivery unless the physician after consultation with the department or correctional institution recommends a longer period of time.

(g) "Prisoner" means any person incarcerated or detained in any correctional institution who is accused of, convicted of, sentenced for, or adjudicated delinquent for a violation of criminal law or the terms and conditions of parole, probation, community control, pretrial release, or a diversionary program. For purposes of this section, the term includes any woman detained under the immigration laws of the United States at any correctional institution.

(h) "Restraints" means any physical restraint or mechanical device used to control the movement of a prisoner's body or limbs, including, but not limited to, flex cuffs, soft restraints, hard metal handcuffs, a black box, chubb cuffs, leg irons, belly chains, a security or tether chain, or a convex shield.

(3) RESTRAINT OF PRISONERS.—

(a) Restraints may not be used on a prisoner who is known to be pregnant during labor, delivery, and postpartum recovery, unless the corrections official makes an individualized determination that the prisoner presents an extraordinary circumstance, except that:

1. The physician may request that restraints not be used for documentable medical purposes. The correctional officer, correctional institution employee, or other officer accompanying the pregnant prisoner may consult with the medical staff; however, if the officer determines there is an extraordinary public safety risk, the officer is authorized to apply restraints as limited by subparagraph 2.

2. Under no circumstances shall leg, ankle, or waist restraints be used on any pregnant prisoner who is in labor or delivery.

(b) If restraints are used on a pregnant prisoner pursuant to paragraph (a):

1. The type of restraint applied and the application of the restraint must be done in the least restrictive manner necessary; and

2. The corrections official shall make written findings within 10 days after the use of restraints as to the extraordinary circumstance that dictated the use of the restraints. These findings shall be kept on file by the department or correctional institution for at least 5 years.

(c) During the third trimester of pregnancy or when requested by the physician treating a pregnant prisoner, unless there are significant documentable security reasons noted by the department or correctional institution to the contrary that would threaten the safety of the prisoner, the unborn child, or the public in general:

1. Leg, ankle, and waist restraints may not be used; and

2. If wrist restraints are used, they must be applied in the front so the pregnant prisoner is able to protect herself in the event of a forward fall.

(d) In addition to the specific requirements of paragraphs (a)-(c), any restraint of a prisoner who is known to be pregnant must be done in the least restrictive manner necessary in order to mitigate the possibility of adverse clinical consequences.

(4) ENFORCEMENT.—

(a) Notwithstanding any relief or claims afforded by federal or state law, any prisoner who is restrained in violation of this section may file a grievance with the correctional institution, and be granted a 45-day extension if requested in writing pursuant to rules promulgated by the correctional institution.

(b) This section does not prevent a woman harmed through the use of restraints under this section from filing a complaint under any other relevant provision of federal or state law.

(5) NOTICE TO PRISONERS.—

(a) By September 1, 2012, the department and the Department of Juvenile Justice shall adopt rules pursuant to ss. 120.536(1) and 120.54, Florida Statutes, to administer this section.

(b) Each correctional institution shall inform female prisoners of the rules developed pursuant to paragraph (a) upon admission to the correctional institution, including the policies and practices in the prisoner handbook, and post the policies and practices in locations in the correctional institution where such notices are commonly posted and will be seen by female prisoners, including common housing areas and medical care facilities.

Section 2. This act shall take effect July 1, 2012.

And the title is amended as follows:

Remove the entire title and insert: A bill to be entitled An act relating to the restraint of incarcerated pregnant women; providing a short title; defining terms; prohibiting use of restraints on a prisoner known to be pregnant during labor, delivery, and postpartum recovery unless a corrections official makes an individualized determination that the prisoner presents an extraordinary circumstance requiring restraints; authorizing an officer to apply restraints after consulting with medical staff; requiring that any restraint applied must be done in the least restrictive manner necessary; requiring the corrections official to make written findings as to the extraordinary circumstance requiring restraints; restricting the use of certain restraints during the third trimester of pregnancy unless there are significant security concerns documented by the department or correctional institution; requiring that the findings be kept on file by the department or correctional institution for at least 5 years; authorizing any woman who is restrained in violation of the act to file a grievance within a specified period; providing that these remedies do not prevent a woman harmed through the use of restraints from filing a complaint under federal or state law; directing the Department of Corrections and the Department of Juvenile Justice to adopt rules; requiring correctional institutions to inform female prisoners of the rules upon admission, include the policies and practices in the prisoner handbook, and post the policies and practices in the correctional institution; providing an effective date.

WHEREAS, restraining a pregnant prisoner can pose undue health risks and increase the potential for physical harm to the woman and her pregnancy, and

WHEREAS, the vast majority of female prisoners in this state are nonviolent offenders, and

WHEREAS, the impact of such harm to a pregnant woman can negatively affect her pregnancy, and

WHEREAS, freedom from physical restraints is especially critical during labor, delivery, and postpartum recovery after delivery as women often need to move around during labor and recovery, including moving their legs as part of the birthing process, and

WHEREAS, restraints on a pregnant woman can interfere with the medical staff's ability to appropriately assist in childbirth or to conduct sudden emergency procedures, and

WHEREAS, the Federal Bureau of Prisons, the United States Marshals Service, the American Correctional Association, the American College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists, and the American Public Health Association all oppose restraining women during labor, delivery, and postpartum recovery because it is unnecessary and dangerous to a woman's health and well-being, NOW, THEREFORE

On motion by Senator Joyner, the Senate concurred in the House amendment.

SB 524 passed as amended and was ordered engrossed and then enrolled. The action of the Senate was certified to the House. The vote on passage was:

 - (c) The witness has applied the principles and methods reliably to the facts of the case; ~~however, the opinion is admissible only if it can be applied to evidence at trial.~~

WHEREAS, the Legislature finds that the admissibility of expert testimony in the state of Florida is in need of revision and clarification, and

Senator Smith moved the following amendments to Amendment 2 which were adopted:

Amendment 2A (141424)—Delete line 6 and insert:

Section 1. Effective January 1, 2013, subsection (9) of Amendment 2B (149120) (with title amendment)—Between lines 165 and 166 insert:

Section 6. Section 627.215, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

627.215 Excessive profits for ~~workers' compensation, employer's liability, commercial property, and commercial casualty insurance~~ prohibited.—

(1)(a) Each insurer group writing ~~workers' compensation and employer's liability insurance as defined in s. 624.605(1)(c), commercial property insurance as defined in s. 627.0625, commercial umbrella liability insurance as defined in s. 627.0625, or commercial casualty insurance as defined in s. 627.0625~~ shall file with the office ~~before~~ prior to July 1 of each year, on a form prescribed by the commission, the following data for the component types of such insurance as provided in the form:

1. Calendar-year earned premium.
2. Accident-year incurred losses and loss adjustment expenses.
3. The administrative and selling expenses incurred in this state or allocated to this state for the calendar year.
4. Policyholder dividends applicable to the calendar year.

~~This does not~~ Nothing herein is intended to prohibit an insurer from filing on a calendar-year basis.

(b) The data filed for the group shall be a consolidation of the data of the individual insurers of the group. However, an insurer may elect to either consolidate commercial umbrella liability insurance data with commercial casualty insurance data or to separately file data for commercial umbrella liability insurance. Each insurer shall elect its method of filing commercial umbrella liability insurance at the time of filing data for accident year 1987 and shall thereafter continue filing under the same method. In the case of commercial umbrella liability insurance data reported separately, a separate excessive profits test shall be applied and the test period shall be 10 years. ~~In the case of workers' compensation and employer's liability insurance, the final report for the test period including accident years 1984, 1985, and 1986 must be filed prior to July 1, 1988. In the case of commercial property and commercial casualty insurance, the final report for the test period including accident years 1987, 1988, and 1989 must be filed prior to July 1, 1991.~~

~~(2) Each insurer group writing workers' compensation and employer's liability insurance shall also file a schedule of Florida loss and loss adjustment experience for each of the 3 years previous to the most recent accident year. The incurred losses and loss adjustment expenses shall be valued as of December 31 of the first year following the latest accident year to be reported, developed to an ultimate basis, and at two 12-month intervals thereafter, each developed to an ultimate basis, so that a total of three evaluations will be provided for each accident year. The first year to be so reported shall be accident year 1984, so that the reporting of 3 accident years under this revised evaluation will not take place until accident years 1985 and 1986 have become available. For reporting purposes unrelated to determining excessive profits, the loss and loss adjustment experience of each accident year shall continue to be reported until each accident year has been reported at eight stages of development.~~

(2)(a) Each insurer group writing commercial property insurance or commercial casualty insurance shall also file a schedule of Florida loss and loss adjustment experience for each of the 3 years previous to the most recent accident year. The incurred losses and loss adjustment expenses shall be valued as of December 31 of the first year following the latest accident year, developed to an ultimate basis, and at two 12-month intervals thereafter, each developed to an ultimate basis, so that a total of 3 evaluations will be provided for each accident year. ~~The first year to be so reported shall be accident year 1987, which shall first be reported on or before July 1, 1989, and the reporting of 3 accident years will not take place until accident years 1988 and 1989 have become available. For medical malpractice insurance, the first year to be so reported shall be accident year 1990, which shall first be reported on or before July 1, 1992, and the reporting of 3 accident years for full inclusion of medical malpractice experience in commercial casualty insurance will not take place until accident years 1991 and 1992 become available. Accordingly, no medical malpractice insured shall be eligible for refunds or credits until the reporting period ending with calendar accident year 1992. For reporting purposes unrelated to determining excess profits, the loss and loss adjustment experience of each accident year shall continue to be reported until each accident year has been reported at eight stages of development.~~

(b) Each insurer group writing commercial umbrella liability insurance which elects to file separate data for such insurance shall also file a schedule of Florida loss and loss adjustment experience for each of the 10 years previous to the most recent accident year. The incurred losses and loss adjustment expenses shall be valued as of December 31 of the first year following the latest accident year, developed to an ultimate basis, and at nine 12-month intervals thereafter, each developed to an ultimate basis, so that a total of 10 evaluations will be provided for each accident year. ~~The first year to be so reported shall be accident year 1987, which shall first be reported on or before October 1, 1989, and the reporting of 10 accident years will not take place until accident year 1996 data is reported.~~

(3)(4) Each insurer group's underwriting gain or loss for each calendar-accident year shall be computed as follows: The sum of the accident-year incurred losses and loss adjustment expenses as of December 31 of the year, developed to an ultimate basis, plus the administrative and selling expenses incurred in the calendar year, plus policyholder dividends applicable to the calendar year, shall be subtracted from the calendar-year earned premium to determine the underwriting gain or loss.

(4)(5) For the 3 most recent calendar-accident years for which data is to be filed under this section, the underwriting gain or loss shall be compared to the anticipated underwriting profit, except in the case of separately reported commercial umbrella liability insurance for which such comparison shall be made for the 10 most recent calendar-accident years.

~~(6) For those insurer groups writing workers' compensation and employer's liability insurance during the years 1984, 1985, 1986, 1987, and 1988, an excessive profit has been realized if underwriting gain is greater than the anticipated underwriting profit plus 5 percent of earned premiums for the 3 most recent calendar years for which data is to be filed under this section. Any excess profit of an insurance company offering workers' compensation or employer's liability insurance during this period of time, shall be returned to policyholders in the form of a cash refund or a credit toward future purchase of insurance. The excessive amount shall be refunded on a pro rata basis in relation to the final compilation year earned premiums to the workers' compensation policyholders of record of the insurer group on December 31 of the final compilation year.~~

(5)(7)(a) Beginning with the July 1, 1991, report for ~~workers' compensation insurance, employer's liability insurance,~~ commercial property insurance, and commercial casualty insurance, an excessive profit has been realized if the net aggregate underwriting gain for all these lines combined is greater than the net aggregate anticipated underwriting profit for these lines plus 5 percent of earned premiums for the 3 most recent calendar years for which data is to be filed under this section. For calculation purposes commercial property insurance and commercial casualty insurance shall be broken down into sublines in order to ascertain the anticipated underwriting profit factor versus the actual underwriting gain for the given subline.

(b) Beginning with the July 1, 1998, report for commercial umbrella liability insurance, if an insurer has elected to file data separately for such insurance, an excessive profit has been realized if the underwriting gain for such insurance is greater than the anticipated underwriting profit for such insurance plus 5 percent of earned premiums for the 10 most recent calendar years for which data is to be filed under this section.

(6)(8) As used in this section with respect to any 3-year period, or with respect to any 10-year period in the case of commercial umbrella liability insurance, "anticipated underwriting profit" means the sum of the dollar amounts obtained by multiplying, for each rate filing of the insurer group in effect during such period, the earned premiums applicable to such rate filing during such period by the percentage factor included in such rate filing for profit and contingencies, such percentage factor having been determined with due recognition to investment income from funds generated by Florida business, except that the anticipated underwriting profit for the purposes of this section shall be calculated using a profit and contingencies factor that is not less than zero. Separate calculations need not be made for consecutive rate filings containing the same percentage factor for profits and contingencies.

quirements of chapter 120. Such excessive amounts shall be refunded in all instances unless the insurer group affirmatively demonstrates to the office that the refund of the excessive amounts will render a member of the insurer group financially impaired or will render it insolvent under the provisions of the Florida Insurance Code.

~~(8)(10) Any excess profit of an insurance company as determined on July 1, 1991, and thereafter shall be returned to policyholders in the form of a cash refund or a credit toward the future purchase of insurance. The excessive amount shall be refunded on a pro rata basis in relation to the final compilation year earned premiums to the policyholders of record of the insurer group on December 31 of the final compilation year.~~

(9)(11)(a) Cash refunds to policyholders may be rounded to the nearest dollar.

(b) Data in required reports to the office may be rounded to the nearest dollar.

(c) Rounding, if elected by the insurer, shall be applied consistently.

(10)(12)(a) Refunds shall be completed in one of the following ways:

1. If the insurer group elects to make a cash refund, the refund shall be completed within 60 days ~~of~~ entry of a final order indicating that excessive profits have been realized.

2. If the insurer group elects to make refunds in the form of a credit to renewal policies, such credits shall be applied to policy renewal premium notices which are forwarded to insureds more than 60 calendar days after entry of a final order indicating that excessive profits have been realized. If an insurer group has made this election but an insured thereafter cancels her or his policy or otherwise allows the policy to terminate, the insurer group shall make a cash refund ~~within not later than~~ 60 days after termination of such coverage.

(b) Upon completion of the renewal credits or refund payments, the insurer group shall immediately certify to the office that the refunds have been made.

(11)(13) Any refund or renewal credit made pursuant to this section shall be treated as a policyholder dividend applicable to the year immediately succeeding the compilation period giving rise to the refund or credit, for purposes of reporting under this section for subsequent years.

(12)(14) The application of this law to commercial property and commercial casualty insurance, which includes commercial umbrella liability insurance, ceases on January 1, 1997.

Section 7. Subsection (4) of section 628.6017, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

628.6017 Converting assessable mutual insurer.—

(4) An assessable mutual insurer becoming a stock insurer or a nonassessable mutual insurer ~~is shall~~ not be subject to s. 627.215 or s. 627.351(5) for 5 years following authorization of the conversion by the office. However, the converted stock insurer or nonassessable mutual insurer ~~must shall~~ file all necessary data required by s. 627.215. Such amounts otherwise subject to s. 627.215(8) ~~must 627.215(10) shall~~ be maintained as surplus as to policyholders and ~~are not be~~ available for dividends for ~~a period of~~ 5 years.

And the title is amended as follows:

In its preliminary study of each 10-year site plan, the commission shall consider such plan as a planning document and shall review:

(a) The need, including the need as determined by the commission, for electrical power in the area to be served.

(b) The effect on fuel diversity within the state.

(c) The anticipated environmental impact of each proposed electrical power plant site.

Any use of the proceeds or interest for purposes of landfill closure before July 1, 1993, is ratified. The proceeds and any interest may not be used for the operational expenses of infrastructure, except that a county that has a population of fewer than 75,000 and that is required to close a landfill may use the proceeds or interest for long-term maintenance costs associated with landfill closure. Counties, as defined in s. 125.011, and charter counties may, in addition, use the proceeds or interest to retire or service indebtedness incurred for bonds issued before July 1, 1987, for infrastructure purposes, and for bonds subsequently issued to refund such bonds. Such improvements are limited to those necessary to comply with current standards for public emergency evacuation shelters. The owner must enter into a written contract with the local government providing the improvement funding to make the private facility available to the public for purposes of emergency shelter at no cost to the local government for a minimum of 10 years after completion of the improvement, with the provision that the obligation will transfer to any subsequent owner until the end of the minimum period.

e. Any land acquisition expenditure for a residential housing project in which at least 30 percent of the units are affordable to individuals or families whose total annual household income does not exceed 120 percent of the area median income adjusted for household size, if the land is owned by a local government or by a special district that enters into a written agreement with the local government to provide such housing. The local government or special district may enter into a ground lease with a public or private person or entity for nominal or other consideration for the construction of the residential housing project on land acquired pursuant to this sub-subparagraph.

2. For the purposes of this paragraph, the term “energy efficiency improvement” means any energy conservation and efficiency improvement that reduces consumption through conservation or a more efficient use of electricity, natural gas, propane, or other forms of energy on the property, including, but not limited to, air sealing; installation of insulation; installation of energy-efficient heating, cooling, or ventilation systems; installation of solar panels; building modifications to increase the use of daylight or shade; replacement of windows; installation of energy controls or energy recovery systems; installation of electric vehicle charging equipment; and installation of efficient lighting equipment.

3. Notwithstanding any other provision of this subsection, a local government infrastructure surtax imposed or extended after July 1, 1998, may allocate up to 15 percent of the surtax proceeds for deposit in a trust fund within the county’s accounts created for the purpose of funding economic development projects having a general public purpose of improving local economies, including the funding of operational costs and incentives related to economic development. The ballot statement must indicate the intention to make an allocation under the authority of this subparagraph.

1. An applicant who places a new facility in operation after May 1, 2012, shall be allocated credits first, up to a maximum of $250,000 each, with any remaining credits to be granted pursuant to subparagraph 3, but if the claims for credits under this subparagraph exceed the state fiscal year cap in paragraph (g), credits shall be allocated pursuant to this subparagraph on a prorated basis based upon each applicant's qualified production and sales as a percentage of total production and sales for all applicants in this category for the fiscal year.

2. An applicant who does not qualify under subparagraph 1. but who claims a credit of $50,000 or less shall be allocated credits next, but if the claims for credits under this subparagraph, combined with credits allocated in subparagraph 1. exceed the state fiscal year cap in paragraph (g), credits shall be allocated pursuant to this subparagraph on a prorated basis based upon each applicant's qualified production and sales as a percentage of total qualified production and sales for all applicants in this category for the fiscal year.

3. An applicant who does not qualify under subparagraph 1. or subparagraph 2. and an applicant whose credits have not been fully allocated under subparagraph 1., shall be allocated credits next. If there is insufficient capacity within the amount authorized for the state fiscal year in paragraph (g), and after allocations pursuant to subparagraphs 1. and 2., the credits allocated under this subparagraph shall be prorated based upon each applicant's unallocated claims for qualified production and sales as a percentage of total unallocated claims for qualified production and sales of all applicants in this category, up to a maximum of $1 million per taxpayer per state fiscal year. If, after application of this $1 million cap, there is excess capacity under the state fiscal year cap in paragraph (g) in any state fiscal year, that remaining capacity shall be used to allocate additional credits with priority given in the order set forth in this subparagraph and without regard to the $1 million per taxpayer cap.

(d) If the credit granted pursuant to this section is not fully used in one year because of insufficient tax liability on the part of the taxpayer, the unused amount may be carried forward for a period not to exceed 5 years. The carryover credit may be used in a subsequent year when the tax imposed by this chapter for such year exceeds the credit for such year, after applying the other credits and unused credit carryovers in the order provided in s. 220.02(8).

(e) A taxpayer that files a consolidated return in this state as a member of an affiliated group under s. 220.131(1) may be allowed the credit on a consolidated return basis up to the amount of tax imposed upon the consolidated group.

(f)1. Tax credits that may be available under this section to an entity eligible under this section may be transferred after a merger or acquisition to the surviving or acquiring entity and used in the same manner with the same limitations.

2. The entity or its surviving or acquiring entity as described in subparagraph 1. may transfer any unused credit in whole or in units of no less than 25 percent of the remaining credit. The entity acquiring such credit may use it in the same manner and with the same limitations under this section. Such transferred credits may not be transferred again although they may succeed to a surviving or acquiring entity subject to the same conditions and limitations as described in this section.

3. In the event the credit provided for under this section is reduced as a result of an examination or audit by the department, such tax deficiency shall be recovered from the first entity or the surviving or acquiring entity to have claimed such credit up to the amount of credit taken. Any subsequent deficiencies shall be assessed against any entity acquiring and claiming such credit, or in the case of multiple succeeding entities in the order of credit succession.

(g) Notwithstanding any other provision of this section, credits for the production and sale of electricity from a new or expanded Florida renewable energy facility may be earned between January 1, 2013 ~~2007~~, and June 30, 2016 ~~2010~~. The combined total amount of tax credits which may be granted for all taxpayers under this section is limited to $5 million in state fiscal year 2012-2013 and $10 million per state fiscal year in state fiscal years 2013-2014 through 2016-2017. If the annual tax credit authorization amount is not exhausted by allocations of credits within that particular state fiscal year, any authorized but unallocated credit amounts may be used to grant credits that were earned pursuant to s. 220.192 but unallocated due to a lack of authorized funds.

(h) A taxpayer claiming a credit under this section shall be required to add back to net income that portion of its business deductions claimed on its federal return paid or incurred for the taxable year which is equal to the amount of the credit allowable for the taxable year under this section.

(i) A taxpayer claiming credit under this section may not claim a credit under s. 220.192. A taxpayer claiming credit under s. 220.192 may not claim a credit under this section.

(j) When an entity treated as a partnership or a disregarded entity under this chapter produces and sells electricity from a new or expanded renewable energy facility, the credit earned by such entity shall pass through in the same manner as items of income and expense pass through for federal income tax purposes. When an entity applies for the credit and the entity has received the credit by a pass-through, the application must identify the taxpayer that passed the credit through, all taxpayers that received the credit, and the percentage of the credit that passes through to each recipient and must provide other information that the Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services ~~department~~ requires.

(k) A taxpayer's use of the credit granted pursuant to this section does not reduce the amount of any credit available to such taxpayer under s. 220.186.

(4) The Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services shall make a determination on the eligibility of the applicant for the credits sought and certify the determination to the applicant and the Department of Revenue. The corporation must attach the Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services' certification to the tax return on which the credit is claimed. The Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services is responsible for ensuring that the corporate income tax credits granted in each fiscal year do not exceed the limits provided for in this section.

(5)(a) In addition to its existing audit and investigation authority, the Department of Revenue may perform any additional financial and technical audits and investigations, including examining the accounts, books, and records of the tax credit applicant, which are necessary to verify the information included in the tax credit return and to ensure compliance with this section. The Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services shall provide technical assistance when requested by the Department of Revenue on any technical audits or examinations performed pursuant to this section.

(b) It is grounds for forfeiture of previously claimed and received tax credits if the Department of Revenue determines, as a result of an audit or examination or from information received from the Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services, that a taxpayer received tax credits pursuant to this section to which the taxpayer was not entitled. The taxpayer is responsible for returning forfeited tax credits to the Department of Revenue, and such funds shall be paid into the General Revenue Fund of the state.

(c) The Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services may revoke or modify any written decision granting eligibility for tax credits under this section if it is discovered that the tax credit applicant submitted any false statement, representation, or certification in any application, record, report, plan, or other document filed in an attempt to receive tax credits under this section. The Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services shall immediately notify the Department of Revenue of any revoked or modified orders affecting previously granted tax credits. Additionally, the taxpayer must notify the Department of Revenue of any change in its tax credit claimed.

(d) The taxpayer shall file with the Department of Revenue an amended return or such other report as the Department of Revenue prescribes by rule and shall pay any required tax and interest within 60 days after the taxpayer receives notification from the Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services that previously approved tax credits have been revoked or modified. If the revocation or modification order is contested, the taxpayer shall file an amended return or other report as provided in this paragraph within 60 days after a final order is issued after proceedings.

(e) A notice of deficiency may be issued by the Department of Revenue at any time within 3 years after the taxpayer receives formal notification from the Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services that previously approved tax credits have been revoked or modified. If a taxpayer fails to notify the Department of Revenue of any changes to its tax credit claimed, a notice of deficiency may be issued at any time.

(6)(4) The Department of Revenue and the Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services ~~department~~ may adopt rules to implement and administer this section, including rules prescribing forms, the documentation needed to substantiate a claim for the tax credit, and the specific procedures and guidelines for claiming the credit.

(7) The Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services shall determine and publish on its website on a regular basis the amount of available tax credits remaining in each fiscal year.

(8)(5) This section shall take effect upon becoming law and shall apply to tax years beginning on and after January 1, 2013 ~~2007~~.

Section 8. Subsection (3) of section 255.257, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

255.257 Energy management; buildings occupied by state agencies.—

(3) CONTENTS OF THE STATE ENERGY MANAGEMENT PLAN.—The Department of Management Services, in coordination with the Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services, shall further develop the a state energy management plan consisting of, but not limited to, the following elements:

- (a) Data-gathering requirements;
- (b) Building energy audit procedures;
- (c) Uniform data analysis and reporting procedures;
- (d) Employee energy education program measures;
- (e) Energy consumption reduction techniques;
- (f) Training program for state agency energy management coordinators; and
- (g) Guidelines for building managers.

The plan shall include a description of actions that state agencies shall take to reduce consumption of electricity and nonrenewable energy sources used for space heating and cooling, ventilation, lighting, water heating, and transportation.

Section 9. Paragraph (q) of subsection (2) of section 288.106, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

288.106 Tax refund program for qualified target industry businesses.—

(2) DEFINITIONS.—As used in this section:

(q) “Target industry business” means a corporate headquarters business or any business that is engaged in one of the target industries identified pursuant to the following criteria developed by the department in consultation with Enterprise Florida, Inc.:

1. Future growth.—Industry forecasts should indicate strong expectation for future growth in both employment and output, according to the most recent available data. Special consideration should be given to businesses that export goods to, or provide services in, international markets and businesses that replace domestic and international imports of goods or services.

2. Stability.—The industry should not be subject to periodic layoffs, whether due to seasonality or sensitivity to volatile economic variables such as weather. The industry should also be relatively resistant to recession, so that the demand for products of this industry is not typically subject to decline during an economic downturn.

3. High wage.—The industry should pay relatively high wages compared to statewide or area averages.

4. Market and resource independent.—The location of industry businesses should not be dependent on Florida markets or resources as indicated by industry analysis, except for businesses in the renewable energy industry.

5. Industrial base diversification and strengthening.—The industry should contribute toward expanding or diversifying the state’s or area’s economic base, as indicated by analysis of employment and output shares compared to national and regional trends. Special consideration should be given to industries that strengthen regional economies by adding value to basic products or building regional industrial clusters as indicated by industry analysis. Special consideration should also be given to the development of strong industrial clusters that include defense and homeland security businesses.

6. Positive economic impact.—The industry is expected to have strong positive economic impacts on or benefits to the state or regional economies. Special consideration should be given to industries that facilitate the development of the state as a hub for domestic and global trade and logistics.

The term does not include any business engaged in retail industry activities; any electrical utility company as defined in s. 366.02(2); any phosphate or other solid minerals severance, mining, or processing operation; any oil or gas exploration or production operation; or any business subject to regulation by the Division of Hotels and Restaurants of the Department of Business and Professional Regulation. Any business within NAICS code 5611 or 5614, office administrative services and business support services, respectively, may be considered a target industry business only after the local governing body and Enterprise Florida, Inc., make a determination that the community where the business may locate has conditions affecting the fiscal and economic viability of the local community or area, including but not limited to, factors such as low per capita income, high unemployment, high underemployment, and a lack of year-round stable employment opportunities, and such conditions may be improved by the location of such a business to the community. By January 1 of every 3rd year, beginning January 1, 2011, the department, in consultation with Enterprise Florida, Inc., economic development organizations, the State University System, local governments, employee and employer organizations, market analysts, and economists, shall review and, as appropriate, revise the list of such target industries and submit the list to the Governor, the President of the Senate, and the Speaker of the House of Representatives.

Section 10. Section 366.92, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

366.92 Florida renewable energy policy.—

(1) It is the intent of the Legislature to promote the development of renewable energy; protect the economic viability of Florida’s existing renewable energy facilities; diversify the types of fuel used to generate electricity in Florida; lessen Florida’s dependence on natural gas and fuel oil for the production of electricity; minimize the volatility of fuel costs; encourage investment within the state; improve environmental conditions; and, at the same time, minimize the costs of power supply to electric utilities and their customers.

(2) As used in this section, the term:

~~(a) “Florida renewable energy resources” means renewable energy, as defined in s. 377.803, that is produced in Florida.~~

~~(a)(b) “Provider” means a “utility” as defined in s. 366.8255(1)(a).~~

~~(b)(c) “Renewable energy” means renewable energy as defined in s. 366.91(2)(d).~~

~~(d) “Renewable energy credit” or “REC” means a product that represents the unbundled, separable, renewable attribute of renewable energy produced in Florida and is equivalent to 1 megawatt hour of electricity generated by a source of renewable energy located in Florida.~~

~~(e) “Renewable portfolio standard” or “RPS” means the minimum percentage of total annual retail electricity sales by a provider to consumers in Florida that shall be supplied by renewable energy produced in Florida.~~

~~(3) The commission shall adopt rules for a renewable portfolio standard requiring each provider to supply renewable energy to its customers directly, by procuring, or through renewable energy credits.~~

In developing the RPS rule, the commission shall consult the Department of Environmental Protection and the Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services. The rule shall not be implemented until ratified by the Legislature. The commission shall present a draft rule for legislative consideration by February 1, 2009.

(a) In developing the rule, the commission shall evaluate the current and forecasted levelized cost in cents per kilowatt hour through 2020 and current and forecasted installed capacity in kilowatts for each renewable energy generation method through 2020.

(b) The commission's rule:

1. Shall include methods of managing the cost of compliance with the renewable portfolio standard, whether through direct supply or procurement of renewable power or through the purchase of renewable energy credits. The commission shall have rulemaking authority for providing annual cost recovery and incentive-based adjustments to authorized rates of return on common equity to providers to incentivize renewable energy. Notwithstanding s. 366.91(3) and (4), upon the ratification of the rules developed pursuant to this subsection, the commission may approve projects and power sales agreements with renewable power producers and the sale of renewable energy credits needed to comply with the renewable portfolio standard. In the event of any conflict, this subparagraph shall supersede s. 366.91(3) and (4). However, nothing in this section shall alter the obligation of each public utility to continuously offer a purchase contract to producers of renewable energy.

2. Shall provide for appropriate compliance measures and the conditions under which noncompliance shall be excused due to a determination by the commission that the supply of renewable energy or renewable energy credits was not adequate to satisfy the demand for such energy or that the cost of securing renewable energy or renewable energy credits was cost prohibitive.

3. May provide added weight to energy provided by wind and solar photovoltaic over other forms of renewable energy, whether directly supplied or procured or indirectly obtained through the purchase of renewable energy credits.

4. Shall determine an appropriate period of time for which renewable energy credits may be used for purposes of compliance with the renewable portfolio standard.

5. Shall provide for monitoring of compliance with and enforcement of the requirements of this section.

6. Shall ensure that energy credited toward compliance with the requirements of this section is not credited toward any other purpose.

7. Shall include procedures to track and account for renewable energy credits, including ownership of renewable energy credits that are derived from a customer owned renewable energy facility as a result of any action by a customer of an electric power supplier that is independent of a program sponsored by the electric power supplier.

8. Shall provide for the conditions and options for the repeal or alteration of the rule in the event that new provisions of federal law supplant or conflict with the rule.

(c) Beginning on April 1 of the year following final adoption of the commission's renewable portfolio standard rule, each provider shall submit a report to the commission describing the steps that have been taken in the previous year and the steps that will be taken in the future to add renewable energy to the provider's energy supply portfolio. The report shall state whether the provider was in compliance with the renewable portfolio standard during the previous year and how it will comply with the renewable portfolio standard in the upcoming year.

(4) In order to demonstrate the feasibility and viability of clean energy systems, the commission shall provide for full cost recovery under the environmental cost recovery clause of all reasonable and prudent costs incurred by a provider for renewable energy projects that are zero greenhouse gas emitting at the point of generation, up to a total of 110 megawatts statewide, and for which the provider has secured necessary land, zoning permits, and transmission rights within the state. Such costs shall be deemed reasonable and prudent for purposes of cost recovery so long as the provider has used reasonable and customary industry practices in the design, procurement, and construction of the project in a cost-effective manner appropriate to the location of the facility. The provider shall report to the commission as part of the cost-recovery proceedings the construction costs, in-service costs, operating and maintenance costs, hourly energy production of the renewable energy project, and any other information deemed relevant by the commission. Any provider constructing a clean energy facility pursuant to this section shall file for cost recovery no later than July 1, 2009.

(3)(5) Each municipal electric utility and rural electric cooperative shall develop standards for the promotion, encouragement, and expansion of the use of renewable energy resources and energy conservation and efficiency measures. On or before April 1, 2009, and annually thereafter, each municipal electric utility and electric cooperative shall submit to the commission a report that identifies such standards.

(4)(6) Nothing in this section shall be construed to impede or impair terms and conditions of existing contracts.

(5)(7) The commission may adopt rules to administer and implement the provisions of this section.

Section 11. Section 366.94, Florida Statutes, is created to read:

366.94 Electric vehicle charging stations.—

(1) The provision of electric vehicle charging to the public by a non-utility is not the retail sale of electricity for the purposes of this chapter. The rates, terms, and conditions of electric vehicle charging services by a nonutility are not subject to regulation under this chapter. This section does not affect the ability of individuals, businesses, or governmental entities to acquire, install, or use an electric vehicle charger for their own vehicles.

(2) The Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services shall adopt rules to provide definitions, methods of sale, labeling requirements, and price-posting requirements for electric vehicle charging stations to allow for consistency for consumers and the industry.

(3)(a) It is unlawful for a person to stop, stand, or park a vehicle that is not capable of using an electrical recharging station within any parking space specifically designated for charging an electric vehicle.

(b) If a law enforcement officer finds a motor vehicle in violation of this subsection, the officer or specialist shall charge the operator or other person in charge of the vehicle in violation with a noncriminal traffic infraction, punishable as provided in s. 316.008(4) or s. 318.18.

(4) The Public Service Commission is directed to conduct a study of the potential effects of public charging stations and privately owned electric vehicle charging on both energy consumption and the impact on the electric grid in the state. The Public Service Commission shall also investigate the feasibility of using off-grid solar photovoltaic power as a source of electricity for the electric vehicle charging stations. The commission shall submit the results of the study to the President of the Senate, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, and the Executive Office of the Governor by December 31, 2012.

Section 12. Paragraph (n) is added to subsection (2) of section 377.703, Florida Statutes, to read:

377.703 Additional functions of the Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services.—

(2) DUTIES.—The department shall perform the following functions, unless as otherwise provided, consistent with the development of a state energy policy:

(n) On an annual basis, the department shall prepare an assessment of the utilization of the tax exemption authorized in s. 212.08(7)(hhh), the renewable energy technologies investment tax credit authorized in s. 220.192, and the renewable energy production credit authorized in s. 220.193, which the department shall submit to the President of the Senate, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, and the Executive Office of the Governor by February 1 of each year. The assessment shall include, at a minimum, the following information:

1. For the tax exemption authorized in s. 212.08(7)(hhh):

- a. The name of each taxpayer receiving an exemption under this section;
- b. The amount of the exemption received by each taxpayer; and
- c. The type and description of each eligible item for which each taxpayer is applying.

2. For the renewable energy technologies investment tax credit authorized in s. 220.192:

- a. The name of each taxpayer receiving an allocation under this section;
- b. The amount of the credits allocated for that fiscal year for each taxpayer; and
- c. The type of technology and a description of each investment for which each taxpayer receives an allocation.

3. For the renewable energy production credit authorized in s. 220.193:

- a. The name of each taxpayer receiving an allocation under this section;
- b. The amount of credits allocated for that fiscal year for each taxpayer;
- c. The type and amount of renewable energy produced and sold, whether the facility producing that energy is a new or expanded facility, and the approximate date on which production began; and
- d. The aggregate amount of credits allocated for all taxpayers claiming credits under this section for the fiscal year.

Section 13. Subsection (1) of section 526.203, Florida Statutes, is amended, and subsection (5) is added to that section, to read:

526.203 Renewable fuel standard.—

(1) DEFINITIONS.—As used in this act, the term:

(a) “Alternative fuel” means a fuel produced from biomass, as defined in s. 366.91, which is used to replace or reduce the quantity of fossil fuel present in a petroleum fuel that meets the specifications as adopted by the department.

(b)(c) “Blender,” “importer,” “terminal supplier,” and “wholesaler” are defined as provided in s. 206.01.

(c)(b) “Blended gasoline” means a mixture of 90 to 91 percent gasoline and 9 to 10 percent fuel ethanol or other alternative fuel, by volume, which ~~that~~ meets the specifications as adopted by the department. The fuel ethanol or other alternative fuel portion may be derived from any agricultural source.

(d)(e) “Fuel ethanol” means an anhydrous denatured alcohol produced by the conversion of carbohydrates which ~~that~~ meets the specifications as adopted by the department.

(e)(d) “Unblended gasoline” means gasoline that has not been blended with fuel ethanol or other alternative fuel and that meets the specifications as adopted by the department.

(5) The Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services shall compile a list of retail fuel stations that sell or offer to sell unblended gasoline. This information shall be compiled by the department as part of its routine retail fuel station inspections, authorized under s. 525.07, and from information provided voluntarily by retail dealers. The Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services shall provide this information on its website to inform consumers of the options available for unblended gasoline.

Section 14. Subsection (4) of section 581.083, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

581.083 Introduction or release of plant pests, noxious weeds, or organisms affecting plant life; cultivation of nonnative plants; special permit and security required.—

(4) A person may not cultivate a nonnative plant, algae, or blue-green algae, including a genetically engineered plant, algae, or blue-green algae or a plant that has been introduced, for purposes of fuel production or purposes other than agriculture in plantings greater in size than 2 contiguous acres, except under a special permit issued by the department through the division, which is the sole agency responsible for issuing such special permits. A permit is not required to cultivate any plant or group of plants that, based on experience or research data, does not pose a threat of becoming an invasive species and is commonly grown in this state for the purpose of human food consumption, commercial feed, feedstuff, forage for livestock, nursery stock, or silviculture. The department is authorized to adopt additional exemptions to the permitting requirements of this section if the department determines, after consulting with the Institute of Food and Agricultural Sciences at the University of Florida, that based on experience or research data, the nonnative plant, algae, or blue-green algae does not pose a threat of becoming an invasive species or a pest of plants or native fauna under conditions in this state and subsequently exempts the plant or group of plants by rule. ~~Such a permit shall not be required if the department determines, in conjunction with the Institute of Food and Agricultural Sciences at the University of Florida, that the plant is not invasive and subsequently exempts the plant by rule.~~

(a)1. Each application for a special permit must be accompanied by a fee as described in subsection (2) and proof that the applicant has obtained, on a form approved by the department, a bond ~~in the form approved by the department and~~ issued by a surety company admitted to do business in this state or a certificate of deposit, or other type of security adopted by rule of the department, which provides a financial assurance of cost recovery for the removal of a planting. The application must include, on a form provided by the department, the name of the applicant and the applicant’s address or the address of the applicant’s principal place of business; a statement completely identifying the nonnative plant to be cultivated; and a statement of the estimated cost of removing and destroying the plant that is the subject of the special permit and the basis for calculating or determining that estimate. If the applicant is a corporation, partnership, or other business entity, the applicant must also provide in the application the name and address of each officer, partner, or managing agent. The applicant shall notify the department within 10 business days of any change of address or change in the principal place of business. The department shall mail all notices to the applicant’s last known address.

2. As used in this subsection, the term “certificate of deposit” means a certificate of deposit at any recognized financial institution doing business in the United States. The department may not accept a certificate of deposit in connection with the issuance of a special permit unless the issuing institution is properly insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation or the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation.

(b) Upon obtaining a permit, the permitholder may annually cultivate and maintain the nonnative plants as authorized by the special permit. If the permitholder ceases to maintain or cultivate the plants authorized by the special permit, if the permit expires, or if the permitholder ceases to abide by the conditions of the special permit, the permitholder shall immediately remove and destroy the plants that are subject to the permit, if any remain. The permitholder shall notify the department of the removal and destruction of the plants within 10 days after such event.

(c) If the department:

1. Determines that the permitholder is no longer maintaining or cultivating the plants subject to the special permit and has not removed and destroyed the plants authorized by the special permit;

2. Determines that the continued maintenance or cultivation of the plants presents an imminent danger to public health, safety, or welfare;

3. Determines that the permitholder has exceeded the conditions of the authorized special permit; or

4. Receives a notice of cancellation of the surety bond, the department may issue an immediate final order, which shall be immediately appealable or enjoined as provided by chapter 120, directing the permitholder to immediately remove and destroy the plants authorized to be cultivated under the special permit. A copy of the immediate final order ~~must shall~~ be mailed to the permitholder and to the surety company or financial institution that has provided security for the special permit, if applicable.

(d) If, upon issuance by the department of an immediate final order to the permitholder, the permitholder fails to remove and destroy the plants subject to the special permit within 60 days after issuance of the order, or such shorter period as is designated in the order as public health, safety, or welfare requires, the department may enter the cultivated acreage and remove and destroy the plants that are the subject of the special permit. If the permitholder makes a written request to the department for an extension of time to remove and destroy the plants that demonstrates specific facts showing why the plants could not reasonably be removed and destroyed in the applicable timeframe, the department may extend the time for removing and destroying plants subject to a special permit. The reasonable costs and expenses incurred by the department for removing and destroying plants subject to a special permit shall be reimbursed to the department by the permitholder within 21 days after the date the permitholder and the surety company or financial institution are served a copy of the department's invoice for the costs and expenses incurred by the department to remove and destroy the cultivated plants, along with a notice of administrative rights, unless the permitholder or the surety company or financial institution object to the reasonableness of the invoice. In the event of an objection, the permitholder or surety company or financial institution is entitled to an administrative proceeding as provided by chapter 120. Upon entry of a final order determining the reasonableness of the incurred costs and expenses, the permitholder ~~has shall have~~ 15 days after ~~following~~ service of the final order to reimburse the department. Failure of the permitholder to timely reimburse the department for the incurred costs and expenses entitles the department to reimbursement from the applicable bond or certificate of deposit.

(e) Each permitholder shall maintain for each separate growing location a bond or certificate of deposit in an amount determined by the department, but not more less than 150 percent of the estimated cost of removing and destroying the cultivated plants. The bond or certificate of deposit may not exceed $5,000 per acre, unless a higher amount is determined by the department to be necessary to protect the public health, safety, and welfare or unless an exemption is granted by the department based on conditions specified in the application which would preclude the department from incurring the cost of removing and destroying the cultivated plants and would prevent injury to the public health, safety, and welfare. The aggregate liability of the surety company or financial institution to all persons for all breaches of the conditions of the bond or certificate of deposit may not exceed the amount of the bond or certificate of deposit. The original bond or certificate of deposit required by this subsection shall be filed with the department. A surety company shall give the department 30 days' written notice of cancellation, by certified mail, in order to cancel a bond. Cancellation of a bond does not relieve a surety company of liability for paying to the department all costs and expenses incurred or to be incurred for removing and destroying the permitted plants covered by an immediate final order authorized under paragraph (c). A bond or certificate of deposit must be provided or assigned in the exact name in which an applicant applies for a special permit. The penal sum of the bond or certificate of deposit to be furnished to the department by a permitholder in the amount specified in this paragraph must guarantee payment of the costs and expenses incurred or to be incurred by the department for removing and destroying the plants cultivated under the issued special permit. The bond or certificate of deposit assignment or agreement must be upon a form prescribed or approved by the department and must be conditioned to secure the faithful accounting for and payment of all costs and expenses incurred by the department for removing and destroying all plants cultivated under the special permit. The bond or certificate of deposit assignment or agreement must include terms binding the instrument to the Commissioner of Agriculture. Such certificate of deposit shall be presented with an assignment of the permitholder's rights in the certificate in favor of the Commissioner of Agriculture on a form prescribed by the department and with a letter from the issuing institution acknowledging that the assignment has been properly recorded on the books of the issuing institution and will be honored by the issuing institution. Such assignment is irrevocable while a special permit is in effect and for an additional period of 6 months after termination of the special permit if operations to remove and destroy the permitted plants are not continuing and if the department's invoice remains unpaid by the permitholder under the issued immediate final order. If operations to remove and destroy the plants are pending, the assignment remains in effect until all plants are removed and destroyed and the department's invoice has been paid. The bond or certificate of deposit may be released by the assignee of the surety company or financial institution to the permitholder, or to the permitholder's successors, assignee, or heirs, if operations to remove and destroy the permitted plants are not pending and no invoice remains unpaid at the conclusion of 6 months after the last effective date of the special permit. The department may not accept a certificate of deposit that contains any provision that would give to any person any prior rights or claim on the proceeds or principal of such certificate of deposit. The department shall determine by rule whether an annual bond or certificate of deposit will be required. The amount of such bond or certificate of deposit shall be increased, upon order of the department, at any time if the department finds such increase to be warranted by the cultivating operations of the permitholder. In the same manner, the amount of such bond or certificate of deposit may be adjusted downward or removed decreased when a decrease in the cultivating operations of the permitholder occurs or when research or practical field knowledge and observations indicate a low risk of invasiveness by the nonnative species ~~warrants such decrease~~. Factors that may be considered for change include multiple years or cycles of successful large-scale contained cultivation; no observation of plant, algae, or blue-green algae escape from managed areas; or science-based evidence that established or approved adjusted cultivation practices provide a similar level of containment of the nonnative plant, algae, or blue-green algae. This paragraph applies to any bond or certificate of deposit, regardless of the anniversary date of its issuance, expiration, or renewal.

(f) In order to carry out the purposes of this subsection, the department or its agents may require from any permitholder verified statements of the cultivated acreage subject to the special permit and may review the permitholder's business or cultivation records at her or his place of business during normal business hours in order to determine the acreage cultivated. The failure of a permitholder to furnish such statement, to make such records available, or to make and deliver a new or additional bond or certificate of deposit is cause for suspension of the special permit. If the department finds such failure to be willful, the special permit may be revoked.

Section 15. *The Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services shall conduct a comprehensive statewide forest inventory analysis and study, using a geographic information system, to identify where available biomass is located, determine the available biomass resources, and ensure forest sustainability within the state. dually eligible Medicaid recipients are enrolled in order to receive long-term care; providing an effective date.

House Amendment 1 (504515) (with title amendment)—Remove everything after the enacting clause and insert:

Section 1. Paragraph (b) of subsection (4) and subsection (21) of section 409.912, Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

409.912 Cost-effective purchasing of health care.—The agency shall purchase goods and services for Medicaid recipients in the most cost-effective manner consistent with the delivery of quality medical care. To ensure that medical services are effectively utilized, the agency may, in any case, require a confirmation or second physician's opinion of the correct diagnosis for purposes of authorizing future services under the Medicaid program. This section does not restrict access to emergency services or poststabilization care services as defined in 42 C.F.R. part 438.114. Such confirmation or second opinion shall be rendered in a manner approved by the agency. The agency shall maximize the use of prepaid per capita and prepaid aggregate fixed-sum basis services when appropriate and other alternative service delivery and reimbursement methodologies, including competitive bidding pursuant to s. 287.057, designed to facilitate the cost-effective purchase of a case-managed continuum of care. The agency shall also require providers to minimize the exposure of recipients to the need for acute inpatient, custodial, and other institutional care and the inappropriate or unnecessary use of high-cost services. The agency shall contract with a vendor to monitor and evaluate the clinical practice patterns of providers in order to identify trends that are outside the normal practice patterns of a provider's professional peers or the national guidelines of a provider's professional association. The vendor must be able to provide information and counseling to a provider whose practice patterns are outside the norms, in consultation with the agency, to improve patient care and reduce inappropriate utilization. The agency may mandate prior authorization, drug therapy management, or disease management participation for certain populations of Medicaid beneficiaries, certain drug classes, or particular drugs to prevent fraud, abuse, overuse, and possible dangerous drug interactions. The Pharmaceutical and Therapeutics Committee shall make recommendations to the agency on drugs for which prior authorization is required. The agency shall inform the Pharmaceutical and Therapeutics Committee of its decisions regarding drugs subject to prior authorization. The agency is authorized to limit the entities it contracts with or enrolls as Medicaid providers by developing a provider network through provider credentialing. The agency may competitively bid single-source-provider contracts if procurement of goods or services results in demonstrated cost savings to the state without limiting access to care. The agency may limit its network based on the assessment of beneficiary access to care, provider availability, provider quality standards, time and distance standards for access to care, the cultural competence of the provider network, demographic characteristics of Medicaid beneficiaries, practice and provider-to-beneficiary standards, appointment wait times, beneficiary use of services, provider turnover, provider profiling, provider licensure history, previous program integrity investigations and findings, peer review, provider Medicaid policy and billing compliance records, clinical and medical record audits, and other factors. Providers are not entitled to enrollment in the Medicaid provider network. The agency shall determine instances in which allowing Medicaid beneficiaries to purchase durable medical equipment and other goods is less expensive to the Medicaid program than long-term rental of the equipment or goods. The agency may establish rules to facilitate purchases in lieu of long-term rentals in order to protect against fraud and abuse in the Medicaid program as defined in s. 409.913. The agency may seek federal waivers necessary to administer these policies.

(4) The agency may contract with:

(b) An entity that is providing comprehensive behavioral health care services to certain Medicaid recipients through a capitated, prepaid arrangement pursuant to the federal waiver provided for by s. 409.905(5). Such entity must be licensed under chapter 624, chapter 636, or chapter 641, or authorized under paragraph (c) or paragraph (d), and must possess the clinical systems and operational competence to manage risk and provide comprehensive behavioral health care to Medicaid recipients. As used in this paragraph, the term "comprehensive behavioral health care services" means covered mental health and substance abuse treatment services that are available to Medicaid recipients. The secretary of the Department of Children and Family Services shall approve provisions of procurements related to children in the department's care or custody before enrolling such children in a prepaid behavioral health plan. Any contract awarded under this paragraph must be competitively procured. In developing the behavioral health care prepaid plan procurement document, the agency shall ensure that the procurement document requires the contractor to develop and implement a plan to ensure compliance with s. 394.4574 related to services provided to residents of licensed assisted living facilities that hold a limited mental health license. Except as provided in subparagraph 5., and except in counties where the Medicaid managed care pilot program is authorized pursuant to s. 409.91211, the agency shall seek federal approval to contract with a single entity meeting these requirements to provide comprehensive behavioral health care services to all Medicaid recipients not enrolled in a Medicaid managed care plan authorized under s. 409.91211, a provider service network authorized under paragraph (d), or a Medicaid health maintenance organization in an AHCA area. In an AHCA area where the Medicaid managed care pilot program is authorized pursuant to s. 409.91211 in one or more counties, the agency may procure a contract with a single entity to serve the remaining counties as an AHCA area or the remaining counties may be included with an adjacent AHCA area and are subject to this paragraph. Each entity must offer a sufficient choice of providers in its network to ensure recipient access to care and the opportunity to select a provider with whom they are satisfied. The network shall include all public mental health hospitals. To ensure unimpaired access to behavioral health care services by Medicaid recipients, all contracts issued pursuant to this paragraph must require 80 percent of the capitation paid to the managed care plan, including health maintenance organizations and capitated provider service networks, to be expended for the provision of behavioral health care services. If the managed care plan expends less than 80 percent of the capitation paid for the provision of behavioral health care services, the difference shall be returned to the agency. The agency shall provide the plan with a certification letter indicating the amount of capitation paid during each calendar year for behavioral health care services pursuant to this section. The agency may reimburse for substance abuse treatment services on a fee-for-service basis until the agency finds that adequate funds are available for capitated, prepaid arrangements.

1. The agency shall modify the contracts with the entities providing comprehensive inpatient and outpatient mental health care services to Medicaid recipients in Hillsborough, Highlands, Hardee, Manatee, and Polk Counties, to include substance abuse treatment services.

2. Except as provided in subparagraph 5., the agency and the Department of Children and Family Services shall contract with managed care entities in each AHCA area except area 6 or arrange to provide comprehensive inpatient and outpatient mental health and substance abuse services through capitated prepaid arrangements to all Medicaid recipients who are eligible to participate in such plans under federal law and regulation. In AHCA areas where eligible individuals number less than 150,000, the agency shall contract with a single managed care plan to provide comprehensive behavioral health services to all recipients who are not enrolled in a Medicaid health maintenance organization, a provider service network authorized under paragraph (d), or a Medicaid capitated managed care plan authorized under s. 409.91211. The agency may contract with more than one comprehensive behavioral health provider to provide care to recipients who are not enrolled in a Medicaid capitated managed care plan authorized under s. 409.91211, a provider service network authorized under paragraph (d), or a Medicaid health maintenance organization in AHCA areas where the eligible population exceeds 150,000. In an AHCA area where the Medicaid managed care pilot program is authorized pursuant to s. 409.91211 in one or more counties, the agency may procure a contract with a single entity to serve the remaining counties as an AHCA area or the remaining counties may be included with an adjacent AHCA area and shall be subject to this paragraph. Contracts for comprehensive behavioral health providers awarded pursuant to this section shall be competitively procured. Both for-profit and not-for-profit corporations are eligible to compete. Managed care plans contracting with the agency under subsection (3) or paragraph (d) shall provide and receive payment for the same comprehensive behavioral health benefits as provided in AHCA rules, including handbooks incorporated by reference. In AHCA area 11, the agency shall contract with at least two comprehensive behavioral health care providers to provide behavioral health care to recipients in that area who are enrolled in, or assigned to, the MediPass program. One of the behavioral health care contracts must be with the existing provider service network pilot project, as described in paragraph (d), for the purpose of demonstrating the cost-effectiveness of the provision of quality mental health services through a public hospital-operated managed care model. Payment shall be at an agreed-upon capitated rate to ensure cost savings. Of the recipients in area 11 who are assigned to MediPass under s. 409.9122(2)(k), a minimum of 50,000 of those MediPass-enrolled recipients shall be assigned to the existing provider service network in area 11 for their behavioral care.

3. Children residing in a statewide inpatient psychiatric program, or in a Department of Juvenile Justice or a Department of Children and Family Services residential program approved as a Medicaid behavioral health overlay services provider may not be included in a behavioral health care prepaid health plan or any other Medicaid managed care plan pursuant to this paragraph.

Traditional community mental health providers under contract with the Department of Children and Family Services pursuant to part IV of chapter 394, child welfare providers under contract with the Department of Children and Family Services in areas 1 and 6, and inpatient mental health providers licensed pursuant to chapter 395 must be offered an opportunity to accept or decline a contract to participate in any provider network for prepaid behavioral health services.

5. All Medicaid-eligible children, except children in area 1 and children in Highlands County, Hardee County, Polk County, or Manatee County of area 6, that are open for child welfare services in the statewide automated child welfare information system, shall receive their behavioral health care services through a specialty prepaid plan operated by community-based lead agencies through a single agency or formal agreements among several agencies. The agency shall work with the specialty plan to develop clinically effective, evidence-based alternatives as a downward substitution for the statewide inpatient psychiatric program and similar residential care and institutional services. The specialty prepaid plan must result in savings to the state comparable to savings achieved in other Medicaid managed care and prepaid programs. Such plan must provide mechanisms to maximize state and local revenues. The specialty prepaid plan shall be developed by the agency and the Department of Children and Family Services. The agency may seek federal waivers to implement this initiative. Medicaid-eligible children whose cases are open for child welfare services in the statewide automated child welfare information system and who reside in AHCA area 10 shall be enrolled in a capitated provider service network or other capitated managed care plan, which, in coordination with available community-based care providers specified in s. 409.1671, shall provide sufficient medical, developmental, and behavioral health services to meet the needs of these children.

Effective July 1, 2012, in order to ensure continuity of care, the agency is authorized to extend or modify current contracts based on current service areas or on a regional basis, as determined appropriate by the agency, with comprehensive behavioral health care providers as described in this paragraph during the period prior to its expiration. This paragraph expires October 1, 2014.

(21) The agency may impose a fine for a violation of this section or the contract with the agency by a person or entity that is under contract with the agency. With respect to any nonwillful violation, such fine shall not exceed $2,500 per violation. In no event shall such fine exceed an aggregate amount of $10,000 for all nonwillful violations arising out of the same action. In no event shall such fine exceed an aggregate amount of $100,000 for all knowing and willful violations arising out of the same action. ~~This subsection expires October 1, 2014.~~

Senate Amendment 2 (875574) (with title amendment) to House Amendment 1—Between lines 470 and 471 insert:

Section 9. Subsection (1) of section 409.975, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

409.975 Managed care plan accountability.—In addition to the requirements of s. 409.967, plans and providers participating in the managed medical assistance program shall comply with the requirements of this section.

(1) PROVIDER NETWORKS.—Managed care plans must develop and maintain provider networks that meet the medical needs of their enrollees in accordance with standards established pursuant to s. 409.967(2)(b). Except as provided in this section, managed care plans may limit the providers in their networks based on credentials, quality indicators, and price.

(a) Plans must include all providers in the region that are classified by the agency as essential Medicaid providers for the essential services they provide, unless the agency approves, in writing, an alternative arrangement for securing the types of services offered by the essential providers. Providers are essential for serving Medicaid enrollees if they offer services that are not available from any other provider within a reasonable access standard, or if they provided a substantial share of the total units of a particular service used by Medicaid patients within the region during the last 3 years and the combined capacity of other service providers in the region is insufficient to meet the total needs of the Medicaid patients. The agency may not classify physicians and other practitioners as essential providers.

1. The agency, at a minimum, shall determine which providers in the following categories are essential Medicaid providers:

- a. ~~1.~~ Federally qualified health centers.
- b. ~~2.~~ Statutory teaching hospitals as defined in s. 408.07(45).
- c. ~~3.~~ Hospitals that are trauma centers as defined in s. 395.4001(44).
- d. ~~4.~~ Hospitals located at least 25 miles from any other hospital with similar services.

2. Before the selection of managed care plans as specified in s. 409.966, each essential Medicaid provider and each hospital that is necessary in order for a managed care plan to demonstrate an adequate network, as determined by the agency, are deemed a part of that managed care plan's network for purposes of the plan's enrollment or expansion in the Medicaid program. A hospital that is necessary for a managed care plan to demonstrate an adequate network is an essential hospital. An essential Medicaid provider is deemed a part of a managed care plan's network for the essential services it provides for purposes of the plan's enrollment or expansion in the Medicaid program. The managed care plan, each essential Medicaid provider, and each essential hospital shall negotiate in good faith to enter into a provider network contract. During the plan selection process, the managed care plan is not required to have written agreements or contracts with essential Medicaid providers or essential hospitals.

3. Managed care plans that have not contracted with all essential Medicaid providers or essential hospitals in the region as of the first date of recipient enrollment, or with whom an essential Medicaid provider or essential hospital has terminated its contract, must continue to negotiate in good faith with such essential Medicaid providers or essential hospitals for 1 year, ~~or~~ until an agreement is reached, or a complaint is resolved as provided in paragraph (e), whichever is first. Each essential Medicaid provider must continue to negotiate in good faith during that year to enter into a provider network contract for at least the essential services it provides. Each essential hospital must continue to negotiate in good faith during that year to enter into a provider network contract. Payments for services rendered by a nonparticipating essential Medicaid provider or essential hospital shall be made at the applicable Medicaid rate as of the first day of the contract between the agency and the plan. A rate schedule for all essential Medicaid providers and essential hospitals must ~~shall~~ be attached to the contract between the agency and the plan.

4. After 1 year, managed care plans that are unable to contract with essential Medicaid providers and essential hospitals shall notify the agency and propose an alternative arrangement for securing the essential services for Medicaid enrollees. The arrangement must rely on contracts with other participating providers; regardless of whether those providers are located within the same region as the nonparticipating essential service provider. If the alternative arrangement is approved by the agency, payments to nonparticipating essential Medicaid providers and essential hospitals after the date of the agency's approval must ~~shall~~ equal 90 percent of the applicable Medicaid rate. If the alternative arrangement is not approved by the agency, payment to nonparticipating essential Medicaid providers and essential hospitals must ~~shall~~ equal 110 percent of the applicable Medicaid rate.

(b) Certain providers are statewide resources and essential providers for all managed care plans in all regions. All managed care plans must include these essential providers in their networks for the essential services they provide.

1. Statewide essential providers include:

- a. ~~1.~~ Faculty plans of Florida medical schools.
- b. ~~2.~~ Regional perinatal intensive care centers as defined in s. 383.16(2).
- c. ~~3.~~ Hospitals licensed as a specialty hospital for children ~~children's hospitals~~ as defined in s. 395.002(2).

d. ~~4.~~ Accredited and integrated systems serving medically complex children that are comprised of separately licensed, but commonly owned, health care providers delivering at least the following services: medical group home, in-home and outpatient nursing care and therapies, pharmacy services, durable medical equipment, and Prescribed Pediatric Extended Care.

2. Before the selection of managed care plans as specified in s. 409.966, each statewide essential provider is deemed a part of that managed care plan's network for the essential services they provide and for purposes of the plan's enrollment or expansion in the Medicaid program. The managed care plan and each statewide essential provider shall negotiate in good faith to enter into a provider network contract. During the plan selection process, the managed care plan is not required to have written agreements or contracts with statewide essential providers or essential hospitals.

3. Managed care plans that have not contracted with all statewide essential providers in all regions as of the first date of recipient enrollment and all statewide essential providers that have not entered into a contract with each managed care plan must continue to negotiate in good faith: to enter into a provider network contract for at least the essential services. As of the first day of the contract between the agency and the plan, and until a provider network contract is signed, payments:

- a. To physicians on the faculty of nonparticipating Florida medical schools shall be made at the applicable Medicaid rate. ~~Payments~~
- b. For services rendered by regional perinatal intensive care centers shall be made at the applicable Medicaid rate ~~as of the first day of the contract between the agency and the plan. Payments~~
- c. To nonparticipating specialty children's hospitals shall equal the highest rate established by contract between that provider and any other Medicaid managed care plan.

(c) After 12 months of active participation in a plan's network, the plan may exclude any essential provider from the network for failure to meet quality or performance criteria. If the plan excludes an essential provider from the plan, the plan must provide written notice to all recipients who have chosen that provider for care. The notice shall be provided at least 30 days before the effective date of the exclusion.

(d) Each managed care plan must offer a network contract to each home medical equipment and supplies provider in the region which meets quality and fraud prevention and detection standards established by the plan and which agrees to accept the lowest price previously negotiated between the plan and another such provider.

(e) At any time during negotiations a managed care plan, an essential Medicaid provider, an essential hospital, or a statewide essential provider may file a complaint with the agency alleging that, in provider network negotiations, the other party is not negotiating in good faith. The agency shall review each complaint and make a determination whether or not one or both parties have failed to negotiate in good faith.

1. If the agency determines that:

- a. The managed care plan was not negotiating in good faith, payment to the nonparticipating essential Medicaid provider, essential hospital, or statewide essential provider shall equal 110 percent of the applicable Medicaid rate or the highest contracted rate the provider has with a plan, whichever is higher.
- b. The essential Medicaid provider, essential hospital, or statewide essential provider was not negotiating in good faith, payment to the nonparticipating provider shall equal 90 percent of the applicable Medicaid rate or the lowest contracted rate the provider has with a plan, whichever is lower.

c. Both parties were not negotiating in good faith, payment to the nonparticipating provider shall be made at the applicable Medicaid rate.

2. In making a determination under this paragraph regarding a managed care plan's good faith efforts to negotiate, the agency, at a minimum, shall consider whether the managed care plan has:

- a. Offered payment rates that are comparable to other managed care plan rates to the provider or that are comparable to fee-for-service rates for the provider.
- b. Proposed its prepayment edits and audits and prior authorizations in a manner comparable to other managed care plans or comparable to current fee for service utilization management and prior authorization procedures for non-emergent services.
- c. Offered to pay the provider's undisputed claims faster or equal to existing Medicaid managed care plan contract standards and, if the managed care plan's claims payment system has been used in other markets, has it failed to meet these standards.
- d. Offered a provider dispute resolution system that meets or exceeds existing Medicaid managed care plan contract requirements.

e. If the provider is a hospital essential provider, offered a reasonable payment amount for use of the hospital emergency room for non-emergent care, developed referral arrangements with the hospital for non-emergent care, and offered reasonable prior or post authorization requirements for non-emergent care in the emergency room.

f. Attempted to work with the provider to assist the provider with any patient volume arrangements and whether patient volume arrangements benefit the provider.

g. Demonstrated its financial viability and commitment to meeting its financial obligations.

h. Demonstrated its ability to support HIPAA-compliant electronic data interchange transactions.

3. In making a determination under this paragraph regarding a provider's good faith efforts to negotiate, the agency shall, at a minimum, consider whether the provider has:

- a. Met with the managed care plan at a reasonable frequency and involved empowered decision makers in the meetings.

b. Offered reasonable rates that are comparable to other managed care plan rates to the provider or comparable to fee-for-service rates to the provider.

c. Negotiated managed care plan prepayment edits and audits and prior authorizations in a manner comparable to other managed care plans or comparable to fee for service utilization management and prior authorization procedures for non-emergent services.

d. Negotiated reasonable payment timeframes for payment of undisputed claims that are comparable to existing Medicaid managed care plan standards or comparable to fee-for-service experience.

e. Researched other providers' experience with the managed care plan's claims payment system for timeliness of payment.

f. Negotiated with the managed care plan regarding a provider dispute resolution system that meets or exceeds the managed care plan's Medicaid contract requirements.

g. If the provider is an essential hospital, negotiated with the managed care plan regarding primary care alternatives to non-emergent use of the emergency room.

h. Negotiated patient volume arrangements with the managed care plan.

i. Developed, or is developing, a hospital-based provider service network.

j. Already contracted with other Medicaid managed care plans.

4. Either party may appeal a determination by the agency under this paragraph pursuant to chapter 120. The party appealing the agency's determination shall pay the appellee's attorney's fees and costs, in an amount up to $1 million, from the beginning of the agency's review of the complaint if the appealing party loses the appeal.

And the title is amended as follows:

Delete line 529 and insert: standards; setting enrollment requirements; amending s. 409.975, F.S.; providing that an essential provider and a hospital that is necessary for a managed care plan to demonstrate an adequate network as determined by the Agency for Health Care Administration are deemed part of that managed care plan's network for purposes of the provider's or hospital's application for enrollment or expansion in Medicaid; requiring good faith negotiations between Medicaid managed care plans and essential Medicaid providers; providing that a statewide essential provider is part of a Medicaid managed care plan's network for purposes of the managed care plan's application for enrollment or expansion in the Medicaid program; requiring good faith negotiations between Medicaid managed care plans and statewide essential providers; authorizing Medicaid managed care plans and certain Medicaid providers to file a complaint alleging that, in provider network negotiations, the other party is not negotiating in good faith; requiring the agency to review such complaints and make a determination whether or not one or both parties have failed to negotiate in good faith; providing criteria for the agency to consider in making a determination about good faith negotiations; providing financial penalties for parties that do not negotiate in good faith; providing for appeal of the agency's determination pursuant to ch. 120, F.S.; providing for payment of attorney fees and costs; amending

(5)(4) Information submitted in reports required by this section is confidential, exempt from the provisions of s. 119.07(1), and is to be made public only when necessary to public health. A report so submitted is not a violation of the confidential relationship between practitioner and patient.

(6)(5) The department may obtain and inspect copies of medical records, records of laboratory tests, and other medical-related information for reported cases of diseases of public health significance described in subsection (2). The department shall examine the records of a person who has a disease of public health significance only for purposes of preventing and eliminating outbreaks of disease and making epidemiological investigations of reported cases of diseases of public health significance, notwithstanding any other law to the contrary. Health care practitioners, licensed health care facilities, and laboratories shall allow the department to inspect and obtain copies of such medical records and medical-related information, notwithstanding any other law to the contrary. Release of medical records and medical-related information to the department by a health care practitioner, licensed health care facility, or laboratory, or by an authorized employee or agent thereof, does not constitute a violation of the confidentiality of patient records. A health care practitioner, health care facility, or laboratory, or any employee or agent thereof, may not be held liable in any manner for damages and is not subject to criminal penalties for providing patient records to the department as authorized by this section.

(7)(6) The department may adopt rules related to reporting diseases of significance to public health, which must specify the information to be included in the report, who is required to report, the method and time period for reporting, requirements for enforcement, and required followup activities by the department which are necessary to protect public health.

(8) This section does not affect s. 384.25.

381.004 HIV testing.—

~~(1) LEGISLATIVE INTENT.—The Legislature finds that the use of tests designed to reveal a condition indicative of human immunodeficiency virus infection can be a valuable tool in protecting the public health. The Legislature finds that despite existing laws, regulations, and professional standards which require or promote the informed, voluntary, and confidential use of tests designed to reveal human immunodeficiency virus infection, many members of the public are deterred from seeking such testing because they misunderstand the nature of the test or fear that test results will be disclosed without their consent. The Legislature finds that the public health will be served by facilitating informed, voluntary, and confidential use of tests designed to detect human immunodeficiency virus infection.~~

(3) HUMAN IMMUNODEFICIENCY VIRUS TESTING; INFORMED CONSENT; RESULTS; COUNSELING; CONFIDENTIALITY.—

(a) No person in this state shall order a test designed to identify the human immunodeficiency virus, or its antigen or antibody, without first obtaining the informed consent of the person upon whom the test is being performed, except as specified in paragraph (h). Informed consent shall be preceded by an explanation of the right to confidential treatment of information identifying the subject of the test and the results of the test to the extent provided by law. Information shall also be provided on the fact that a positive HIV test result will be reported to the county health department with sufficient information to identify the test subject and on the availability and location of sites at which anonymous testing is performed. As required in paragraph (3)(c) ~~(4)(e)~~, each county health department shall maintain a list of sites at which anonymous testing is performed, including the locations, phone numbers, and hours of operation of the sites. Consent need not be in writing provided there is documentation in the medical record that the test has been explained and the consent has been obtained.

~~(4)(5)~~ HUMAN IMMUNODEFICIENCY VIRUS TESTING REQUIREMENTS; REGISTRATION WITH THE DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH; EXEMPTIONS FROM REGISTRATION.—No county health department and no other person in this state shall conduct or hold themselves out to the public as conducting a testing program for acquired immune deficiency syndrome or human immunodeficiency virus status without first registering with the Department of Health, re-registering each year, complying with all other applicable provisions of state law, and meeting the following requirements:

(d) The program must meet all the informed consent criteria contained in subsection (2) ~~(3)~~.

School health services supplement, rather than replace, parental responsibility and are designed to encourage parents to devote attention to child health, to discover health problems, and to encourage use of the services of their physicians, dentists, and community health agencies.~~

~~(2)(3) As when used in or for purposes of this section:~~

(a) “Emergency health needs” means onsite management and aid for illness or injury pending the student’s return to the classroom or release to a parent, guardian, designated friend, or designated health care provider.

Section 29. Subsections (2) through (7) of section 381.0057, Florida Statutes, are renumbered as subsections (1) through (6), respectively, and present subsections (1), (4), and (6) of that section are amended to read:

381.0057 Funding for school health services.—

~~(1) It is the intent of the Legislature that funds in addition to those provided under the School Health Services Act be provided to those school districts and schools where there is a high incidence of medically underserved high risk children, low birthweight babies, infant mortality, or teenage pregnancy. The purpose of this funding is to phase in those programs which offer the greatest potential for promoting the health of students and reducing teenage pregnancy.~~

~~(3)(4) Any school district, school, or laboratory school which desires to receive state funding under the provisions of this section shall submit a proposal to the joint committee established in subsection (2) (3). The~~ proposal shall state the goals of the program, provide specific plans for reducing teenage pregnancy, and describe all of the health services to be available to students with funds provided pursuant to this section, including a combination of initiatives such as health education, counseling, extracurricular, and self-esteem components. School health services shall not promote elective termination of pregnancy as a part of counseling services. Only those program proposals which have been developed jointly by county health departments and local school districts or schools, and which have community and parental support, shall be eligible for funding. Funding shall be available specifically for implementation of one of the following programs:

(a) School health improvement pilot project.—The program shall include basic health care to an elementary school, middle school, and high school feeder system. Program services shall include, but not be limited to:

1. Planning, implementing, and evaluating school health services. Staffing shall include a full-time, trained school health aide in each elementary, middle, and high school; one full-time nurse to supervise the aides in the elementary and middle schools; and one full-time nurse in each high school.

2. Providing student health appraisals and identification of actual or potential health problems by screenings, nursing assessments, and record reviews.

3. Expanding screening activities.

4. Improving the student utilization of school health services.

5. Coordinating health services for students with parents or guardians and other agencies in the community.

Support services shall include, but not be limited to: evaluation and treatment for minor illnesses and injuries, referral and followup for serious illnesses and emergencies, onsite care and consultation, referral to a physician, and followup care for pregnancy or chronic diseases and disorders as well as emotional or mental problems. Services also shall include referral care for drug and alcohol abuse and sexually transmitted diseases, sports and employment physicals, immunizations, and in addition, effective preventive services aimed at delaying early sexual involvement and aimed at pregnancy, acquired immune deficiency syndrome, sexually transmitted diseases, and destructive lifestyle conditions, such as alcohol and drug abuse. Moneys for this program shall be used to fund three teams, each consisting of one half-time psychologist, one full-time nurse, and one full-time social worker. Each team shall provide student support services to an elementary school, middle school, and high school that are a part of one feeder school system and shall coordinate all activities with the school administrator and guidance counselor at each school. 381.0062 Supervision; private and certain public water systems.—

~~(1) LEGISLATIVE INTENT.—It is the intent of the Legislature to protect the public's health by establishing standards for the construction, modification, and operation of public and private water systems to assure consumers that the water provided by those systems is potable.~~

~~(3)(4) RIGHT OF ENTRY.—For purposes of this section, department personnel may enter, at any reasonable time and if they have reasonable cause to believe a violation of this section is occurring or about to occur, upon any and all parts of the premises of such limited use public and multifamily drinking water systems, to make an examination and investigation to determine the sanitary and safety conditions of such systems. Any person who interferes with, hinders, or opposes any employee of the department in the discharge of his or her duties pursuant to the provisions of this section is subject to the penalties provided in s. 381.0025.~~

Section 33. Subsection (1), (3), and (4) of section 381.0065, Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

(1) LEGISLATIVE INTENT.—

~~(a) It is the intent of the Legislature that proper management of onsite sewage treatment and disposal systems is paramount to the health, safety, and welfare of the public. It is further the intent of the Legislature that the department shall administer an evaluation program to ensure the operational condition of the system and identify any failure with the system.~~

~~(b) It is the intent of the Legislature that where a publicly owned or investor-owned sewerage system is not available, the department shall issue permits for the construction, installation, modification, abandonment, or repair of onsite sewage treatment and disposal systems under conditions as described in this section and rules adopted under this section. It is further the intent of the Legislature that the installation and use of onsite sewage treatment and disposal systems not adversely affect the public health or significantly degrade the groundwater or surface water.~~

(3) DUTIES AND POWERS OF THE DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH.—The department shall:

(a) Adopt rules to administer ss. 381.0065-381.0067, including definitions that are consistent with the definitions in this section, decreases to setback requirements where no health hazard exists, increases for the lot-flow allowance for performance-based systems, requirements for separation from water table elevation during the wettest season, requirements for the design and construction of any component part of an onsite sewage treatment and disposal system, application and permit requirements for persons who maintain an onsite sewage treatment and disposal system, requirements for maintenance and service agreements for aerobic treatment units and performance-based treatment systems, and recommended standards, including disclosure requirements, for voluntary system inspections to be performed by individuals who are authorized by law to perform such inspections and who shall inform a person having ownership, control, or use of an onsite sewage treatment and disposal system of the inspection standards and of that person's authority to request an inspection based on all or part of the standards.

(b) Perform application reviews and site evaluations, issue permits, and conduct inspections and complaint investigations associated with the construction, installation, maintenance, modification, abandonment, operation, use, or repair of an onsite sewage treatment and disposal system for a residence or establishment with an estimated domestic sewage flow of 10,000 gallons or less per day, or an estimated commercial sewage flow of 5,000 gallons or less per day, which is not currently regulated under chapter 403.

(c) Develop a comprehensive program to ensure that onsite sewage treatment and disposal systems regulated by the department are sized, designed, constructed, installed, repaired, modified, abandoned, used, operated, and maintained in compliance with this section and rules adopted under this section to prevent groundwater contamination and surface water contamination and to preserve the public health. The department is the final administrative interpretive authority regarding rule interpretation. In the event of a conflict regarding rule interpretation, the ~~State Surgeon General Division Director for Environmental Health of the department~~, or his or her designee, shall timely assign a staff person to resolve the dispute.

(d) Grant variances in hardship cases under the conditions prescribed in this section and rules adopted under this section.

(e) Permit the use of a limited number of innovative systems for a specific period of time, when there is compelling evidence that the system will function properly and reliably to meet the requirements of this section and rules adopted under this section.

(f) Issue annual operating permits under this section.

(g) Establish and collect fees as established under s. 381.0066 for services provided with respect to onsite sewage treatment and disposal systems.

(h) Conduct enforcement activities, including imposing fines, issuing citations, suspensions, revocations, injunctions, and emergency orders for violations of this section, part I of chapter 386, or part III of chapter 489 or for a violation of any rule adopted under this section, part I of chapter 386, or part III of chapter 489.

(i) Provide or conduct education and training of department personnel, service providers, and the public regarding onsite sewage treatment and disposal systems.

(j) Supervise research on, demonstration of, and training on the performance, environmental impact, and public health impact of onsite sewage treatment and disposal systems within this state. Research fees collected under s. 381.0066(2)(l) must be used to develop and fund hands-on training centers designed to provide practical information about onsite sewage treatment and disposal systems to septic tank contractors, master septic tank contractors, contractors, inspectors, engineers, and the public and must also be used to fund research projects which focus on improvements of onsite sewage treatment and disposal systems, including use of performance-based standards and reduction of environmental impact. Research projects shall be initially approved by the technical review and advisory panel and shall be applicable to and reflect the soil conditions specific to Florida. Such projects shall be awarded through competitive negotiation, using the procedures provided in s. 287.055, to public or private entities that have experience in onsite sewage treatment and disposal systems in Florida and that are principally located in Florida. Research projects shall not be awarded to firms or entities that employ or are associated with persons who serve on either the technical review and advisory panel or the research review and advisory committee.

(k) Approve the installation of individual graywater disposal systems in which blackwater is treated by a central sewerage system.

(l) Regulate and permit the sanitation, handling, treatment, storage, reuse, and disposal of byproducts from any system regulated under this chapter and not regulated by the Department of Environmental Protection.

(m) Permit and inspect portable or temporary toilet services and holding tanks. The department shall review applications, perform site evaluations, and issue permits for the temporary use of holding tanks, privies, portable toilet services, or any other toilet facility that is intended for use on a permanent or nonpermanent basis, including facilities placed on construction sites when workers are present. The department may specify standards for the construction, maintenance, use, and operation of any such facility for temporary use.

(n) Regulate and permit maintenance entities for performance-based treatment systems and aerobic treatment unit systems. To ensure systems are maintained and operated according to manufacturer's specifications and designs, the department shall establish by rule minimum qualifying criteria for maintenance entities. The criteria shall include: training, access to approved spare parts and components, access to manufacturer's maintenance and operation manuals, and service response time. The maintenance entity shall employ a contractor licensed under s. 489.105(3)(m), or part III of chapter 489, or a state-licensed wastewater plant operator, who is responsible for maintenance and repair of all systems under contract.

(4) PERMITS; INSTALLATION; AND CONDITIONS.—A person may not construct, repair, modify, abandon, or operate an onsite sewage treatment and disposal system without first obtaining a permit approved by the department. The department may issue permits to carry out this section, but shall not make the issuance of such permits contingent upon prior approval by the Department of Environmental Protection, except that the issuance of a permit for work seaward of the coastal construction control line established under s. 161.053 shall be contingent upon receipt of any required coastal construction control line permit from the Department of Environmental Protection. A construction permit is valid for 18 months from the issuance date and may be extended by the department for one 90-day period under rules adopted by the department. A repair permit is valid for 90 days from the date of issuance. An operating permit must be obtained prior to the use of any aerobic treatment unit or if the establishment generates commercial waste. Buildings or establishments that use an aerobic treatment unit or generate commercial waste shall be inspected by the department at least annually to assure compliance with the terms of the operating permit. The operating permit for a commercial wastewater system is valid for 1 year from the date of issuance and must be renewed annually. The operating permit for an aerobic treatment unit is valid for 2 years from the date of issuance and must be renewed every 2 years. If all information pertaining to the siting, location, and installation conditions or repair of an onsite sewage treatment and disposal system remains the same, a construction or repair permit for the onsite sewage treatment and disposal system may be transferred to another person, if the transferee files, within 60 days after the transfer of ownership, an amended application providing all corrected information and proof of ownership of the property. There is no fee associated with the processing of this supplemental information. A person may not contract to construct, modify, alter, repair, service, abandon, or maintain any portion of an onsite sewage treatment and disposal system without being registered under part III of chapter 489. A property owner who personally performs construction, maintenance, or repairs to a system serving his or her own owner-occupied single-family residence is exempt from registration requirements for performing such construction, maintenance, or repairs on that residence, but is subject to all permitting requirements. A municipality or political subdivision of the state may not issue a building or plumbing permit for any building that requires the use of an onsite sewage treatment and disposal system unless the owner or builder has received a construction permit for such system from the department. A building or structure may not be occupied and a municipality, political subdivision, or any state or federal agency may not authorize occupancy until the department approves the final installation of the onsite sewage treatment and disposal system. A municipality or political subdivision of the state may not approve any change in occupancy or tenancy of a building that uses an onsite sewage treatment and disposal system until the department has reviewed the use of the system with the proposed change, approved the change, and amended the operating permit.

(a) Subdivisions and lots in which each lot has a minimum area of at least one-half acre and either a minimum dimension of 100 feet or a mean of at least 100 feet of the side bordering the street and the distance formed by a line parallel to the side bordering the street drawn between the two most distant points of the remainder of the lot may be developed with a water system regulated under s. 381.0062 and onsite sewage treatment and disposal systems, provided the projected daily sewage flow does not exceed an average of 1,500 gallons per acre per day, and provided satisfactory drinking water can be obtained and all distance and setback, soil condition, water table elevation, and other related requirements of this section and rules adopted under this section can be met.

(b) Subdivisions and lots using a public water system as defined in s. 403.852 may use onsite sewage treatment and disposal systems, provided there are no more than four lots per acre, provided the projected daily sewage flow does not exceed an average of 2,500 gallons per acre per day, and provided that all distance and setback, soil condition, water table elevation, and other related requirements that are generally applicable to the use of onsite sewage treatment and disposal systems are met.

(c) Notwithstanding paragraphs (a) and (b), for subdivisions platted of record on or before October 1, 1991, when a developer or other appropriate entity has previously made or makes provisions, including financial assurances or other commitments, acceptable to the Department of Health, that a central water system will be installed by a regulated public utility based on a density formula, private potable wells may be used with onsite sewage treatment and disposal systems until the agreed-upon densities are reached. In a subdivision regulated by this paragraph, the average daily sewage flow may not exceed 2,500 gallons per acre per day. This section does not affect the validity of existing prior agreements. After October 1, 1991, the exception provided under this paragraph is not available to a developer or other appropriate entity.

(d) Paragraphs (a) and (b) do not apply to any proposed residential subdivision with more than 50 lots or to any proposed commercial subdivision with more than 5 lots where a publicly owned or investor-owned sewerage system is available. It is the intent of this paragraph not to allow development of additional proposed subdivisions in order to evade the requirements of this paragraph.

(e) Onsite sewage treatment and disposal systems must not be placed closer than:

1. Seventy-five feet from a private potable well.
2. Two hundred feet from a public potable well serving a residential or nonresidential establishment having a total sewage flow of greater than 2,000 gallons per day.
3. One hundred feet from a public potable well serving a residential or nonresidential establishment having a total sewage flow of less than or equal to 2,000 gallons per day.
4. Fifty feet from any nonpotable well.
5. Ten feet from any storm sewer pipe, to the maximum extent possible, but in no instance shall the setback be less than 5 feet.
6. Seventy-five feet from the mean high-water line of a tidally influenced surface water body.
7. Seventy-five feet from the mean annual flood line of a permanent nontidal surface water body.
8. Fifteen feet from the design high-water line of retention areas, detention areas, or swales designed to contain standing or flowing water for less than 72 hours after a rainfall or the design high-water level of normally dry drainage ditches or normally dry individual lot stormwater retention areas.

(f) Except as provided under paragraphs (e) and (t), no limitations shall be imposed by rule, relating to the distance between an onsite disposal system and any area that either permanently or temporarily has visible surface water.

(g) All provisions of this section and rules adopted under this section relating to soil condition, water table elevation, distance, and other setback requirements must be equally applied to all lots, with the following exceptions:

1. Any residential lot that was platted and recorded on or after January 1, 1972, or that is part of a residential subdivision that was approved by the appropriate permitting agency on or after January 1, 1972, and that was eligible for an onsite sewage treatment and disposal system construction permit on the date of such platting and recording or approval shall be eligible for an onsite sewage treatment and disposal system construction permit, regardless of when the application for a permit is made. If rules in effect at the time the permit application is filed cannot be met, residential lots platted and recorded or approved on or after January 1, 1972, shall, to the maximum extent possible, comply with the rules in effect at the time the permit application is filed. At a minimum, however, those residential lots platted and recorded or approved on or after January 1, 1972, but before January 1, 1983, shall comply with those rules in effect on January 1, 1983, and those residential lots platted and recorded or approved on or after January 1, 1983, shall comply with those rules in effect at the time of such platting and recording or approval. In determining the maximum extent of compliance with current rules that is possible, the department shall allow structures and appurtenances thereto which were authorized at the time such lots were platted and recorded or approved.

2. Lots platted before 1972 are subject to a 50-foot minimum surface water setback and are not subject to lot size requirements. The projected daily flow for onsite sewage treatment and disposal systems for lots platted before 1972 may not exceed:

- a. Two thousand five hundred gallons per acre per day for lots served by public water systems as defined in s. 403.852.
- b. One thousand five hundred gallons per acre per day for lots served by water systems regulated under s. 381.0062.

(h) 1. The department may grant variances in hardship cases which may be less restrictive than the provisions specified in this section. If a variance is granted and the onsite sewage treatment and disposal system construction permit has been issued, the variance may be transferred with the system construction permit, if the transferee files, within 60 days after the transfer of ownership, an amended construction permit application providing all corrected information and proof of ownership of the property and if the same variance would have been required for the new owner of the property as was originally granted to the original applicant for the variance. There is no fee associated with the processing of this supplemental information. A variance may not be granted under this section until the department is satisfied that:

- a. The hardship was not caused intentionally by the action of the applicant;
- b. No reasonable alternative, taking into consideration factors such as cost, exists for the treatment of the sewage; and
- c. The discharge from the onsite sewage treatment and disposal system will not adversely affect the health of the applicant or the public or significantly degrade the groundwater or surface waters.

Where soil conditions, water table elevation, and setback provisions are determined by the department to be satisfactory, special consideration must be given to those lots platted before 1972.

2. The department shall appoint and staff a variance review and advisory committee, which shall meet monthly to recommend agency action on variance requests. The committee shall make its recommendations on variance requests at the meeting in which the application is scheduled for consideration, except for an extraordinary change in circumstances, the receipt of new information that raises new issues, or when the applicant requests an extension. The committee shall consider the criteria in subparagraph 1. in its recommended agency action on variance requests and shall also strive to allow property owners the full use of their land where possible. The committee consists of the following:

- a. ~~The State Surgeon General, Division Director for Environmental Health of the department~~ or his or her designee.
- b. A representative from the county health departments.

c. A representative from the home building industry recommended by the Florida Home Builders Association.

d. A representative from the septic tank industry recommended by the Florida Onsite Wastewater Association.

e. A representative from the Department of Environmental Protection.

f. A representative from the real estate industry who is also a developer in this state who develops lots using onsite sewage treatment and disposal systems, recommended by the Florida Association of Realtors.

g. A representative from the engineering profession recommended by the Florida Engineering Society.

Members shall be appointed for a term of 3 years, with such appointments being staggered so that the terms of no more than two members expire in any one year. Members shall serve without remuneration, but if requested, shall be reimbursed for per diem and travel expenses as provided in s. 112.061.

(i) A construction permit may not be issued for an onsite sewage treatment and disposal system in any area zoned or used for industrial or manufacturing purposes, or its equivalent, where a publicly owned or investor-owned sewage treatment system is available, or where a likelihood exists that the system will receive toxic, hazardous, or industrial waste. An existing onsite sewage treatment and disposal system may be repaired if a publicly owned or investor-owned sewerage system is not available within 500 feet of the building sewer stub-out and if system construction and operation standards can be met. This paragraph does not require publicly owned or investor-owned sewerage treatment systems to accept anything other than domestic wastewater.

1. A building located in an area zoned or used for industrial or manufacturing purposes, or its equivalent, when such building is served by an onsite sewage treatment and disposal system, must not be occupied until the owner or tenant has obtained written approval from the department. The department shall not grant approval when the proposed use of the system is to dispose of toxic, hazardous, or industrial wastewater or toxic or hazardous chemicals.

2. Each person who owns or operates a business or facility in an area zoned or used for industrial or manufacturing purposes, or its equivalent, or who owns or operates a business that has the potential to generate toxic, hazardous, or industrial wastewater or toxic or hazardous chemicals, and uses an onsite sewage treatment and disposal system that is installed on or after July 5, 1989, must obtain an annual system operating permit from the department. A person who owns or operates a business that uses an onsite sewage treatment and disposal system that was installed and approved before July 5, 1989, need not obtain a system operating permit. However, upon change of ownership or tenancy, the new owner or operator must notify the department of the change, and the new owner or operator must obtain an annual system operating permit, regardless of the date that the system was installed or approved.

3. The department shall periodically review and evaluate the continued use of onsite sewage treatment and disposal systems in areas zoned or used for industrial or manufacturing purposes, or its equivalent, and may require the collection and analyses of samples from within and around such systems. If the department finds that toxic or hazardous chemicals or toxic, hazardous, or industrial wastewater have been or are being disposed of through an onsite sewage treatment and disposal system, the department shall initiate enforcement actions against the owner or tenant to ensure adequate cleanup, treatment, and disposal.

(j) An onsite sewage treatment and disposal system for a single-family residence that is designed by a professional engineer registered in the state and certified by such engineer as complying with performance criteria adopted by the department must be approved by the department subject to the following:

1. The performance criteria applicable to engineer-designed systems must be limited to those necessary to ensure that such systems do not adversely affect the public health or significantly degrade the groundwater or surface water. Such performance criteria shall include consideration of the quality of system effluent, the proposed total sewage flow per acre, wastewater treatment capabilities of the natural or replaced soil, water quality classification of the potential surface-water-receiving body, and the structural and maintenance viability of the system for the treatment of domestic wastewater. However, performance criteria shall address only the performance of a system and not a system's design.

2. The technical review and advisory panel shall assist the department in the development of performance criteria applicable to engineer-designed systems.

3. A person electing to utilize an engineer-designed system shall, upon completion of the system design, submit such design, certified by a registered professional engineer, to the county health department. The county health department may utilize an outside consultant to review the engineer-designed system, with the actual cost of such review to be borne by the applicant. Within 5 working days after receiving an engineer-designed system permit application, the county health department shall request additional information if the application is not complete. Within 15 working days after receiving a complete application for an engineer-designed system, the county health department either shall issue the permit or, if it determines that the system does not comply with the performance criteria, shall notify the applicant of that determination and refer the application to the department for a determination as to whether the system should be approved, disapproved, or approved with modification. The department engineer's determination shall prevail over the action of the county health department. The applicant shall be notified in writing of the department's determination and of the applicant's rights to pursue a variance or seek review under the provisions of chapter 120.

4. The owner of an engineer-designed performance-based system must maintain a current maintenance service agreement with a maintenance entity permitted by the department. The maintenance entity shall obtain a biennial system operating permit from the department for each system under service contract. The department shall inspect the system at least annually, or on such periodic basis as the fee collected permits, and may collect system-effluent samples if appropriate to determine compliance with the performance criteria. The fee for the biennial operating permit shall be collected beginning with the second year of system operation. The maintenance entity shall inspect each system at least twice each year and shall report quarterly to the department on the number of systems inspected and serviced.

5. If an engineer-designed system fails to properly function or fails to meet performance standards, the system shall be re-engineered, if necessary, to bring the system into compliance with the provisions of this section.

(k) An innovative system may be approved in conjunction with an engineer-designed site-specific system which is certified by the engineer to meet the performance-based criteria adopted by the department.

(l) For the Florida Keys, the department shall adopt a special rule for the construction, installation, modification, operation, repair, maintenance, and performance of onsite sewage treatment and disposal systems which considers the unique soil conditions and water table elevations, densities, and setback requirements. On lots where a setback distance of 75 feet from surface waters, saltmarsh, and buttonwood association habitat areas cannot be met, an injection well, approved and permitted by the department, may be used for disposal of effluent from onsite sewage treatment and disposal systems. The following additional requirements apply to onsite sewage treatment and disposal systems in Monroe County:

1. The county, each municipality, and those special districts established for the purpose of the collection, transmission, treatment, or disposal of sewage shall ensure, in accordance with the specific schedules adopted by the Administration Commission under s. 380.0552, the completion of onsite sewage treatment and disposal system upgrades to meet the requirements of this paragraph.

2. Onsite sewage treatment and disposal systems must cease discharge by December 31, 2015, or must comply with department rules and provide the level of treatment which, on a permitted annual average basis, produces an effluent that contains no more than the following concentrations:

- a. Biochemical Oxygen Demand (CBOD5) of 10 mg/l.
- b. Suspended Solids of 10 mg/l.
- c. Total Nitrogen, expressed as N, of 10 mg/l.
- d. Total Phosphorus, expressed as P, of 1 mg/l.

In addition, onsite sewage treatment and disposal systems discharging to an injection well must provide basic disinfection as defined by department rule.

3. On or after July 1, 2010, all new, modified, and repaired onsite sewage treatment and disposal systems must provide the level of treatment described in subparagraph 2. However, in areas scheduled to be served by central sewer by December 31, 2015, if the property owner has paid a connection fee or assessment for connection to the central sewer system, an onsite sewage treatment and disposal system may be repaired to the following minimum standards:

- a. The existing tanks must be pumped and inspected and certified as being watertight and free of defects in accordance with department rule; and
- b. A sand-lined drainfield or injection well in accordance with department rule must be installed.

4. Onsite sewage treatment and disposal systems must be monitored for total nitrogen and total phosphorus concentrations as required by department rule.

5. The department shall enforce proper installation, operation, and maintenance of onsite sewage treatment and disposal systems pursuant to this chapter, including ensuring that the appropriate level of treatment described in subparagraph 2. is met.

6. The authority of a local government, including a special district, to mandate connection of an onsite sewage treatment and disposal system is governed by s. 4, chapter 99-395, Laws of Florida.

(m) No product sold in the state for use in onsite sewage treatment and disposal systems may contain any substance in concentrations or amounts that would interfere with or prevent the successful operation of such system, or that would cause discharges from such systems to violate applicable water quality standards. The department shall publish criteria for products known or expected to meet the conditions of this paragraph. In the event a product does not meet such criteria, such product may be sold if the manufacturer satisfactorily demonstrates to the department that the conditions of this paragraph are met.

(n) Evaluations for determining the seasonal high-water table elevations or the suitability of soils for the use of a new onsite sewage treatment and disposal system shall be performed by department personnel, professional engineers registered in the state, or such other persons with expertise, as defined by rule, in making such evaluations. Evaluations for determining mean annual flood lines shall be performed by those persons identified in paragraph (2)(j) ~~(2)(i)~~. The department shall accept evaluations submitted by professional engineers and such other persons as meet the expertise established by this section or by rule unless the department has a reasonable scientific basis for questioning the accuracy or completeness of the evaluation.

(o) The department shall appoint a research review and advisory committee, which shall meet at least semiannually. The committee shall advise the department on directions for new research, review and rank proposals for research contracts, and review draft research reports and make comments. The committee is comprised of:

1. A representative of the State Surgeon General, or his or her designee ~~Division of Environmental Health of the Department of Health.~~
2. A representative from the septic tank industry.
3. A representative from the home building industry.
4. A representative from an environmental interest group.

5. A representative from the State University System, from a department knowledgeable about onsite sewage treatment and disposal systems.

6. A professional engineer registered in this state who has work experience in onsite sewage treatment and disposal systems.

7. A representative from local government who is knowledgeable about domestic wastewater treatment.

8. A representative from the real estate profession.

9. A representative from the restaurant industry.

10. A consumer.

Members shall be appointed for a term of 3 years, with the appointments being staggered so that the terms of no more than four members expire in any one year. Members shall serve without remuneration, but are entitled to reimbursement for per diem and travel expenses as provided in s. 112.061.

(p) An application for an onsite sewage treatment and disposal system permit shall be completed in full, signed by the owner or the owner's authorized representative, or by a contractor licensed under chapter 489, and shall be accompanied by all required exhibits and fees. No specific documentation of property ownership shall be required as a prerequisite to the review of an application or the issuance of a permit. The issuance of a permit does not constitute determination by the department of property ownership.

(q) The department may not require any form of subdivision analysis of property by an owner, developer, or subdivider prior to submission of an application for an onsite sewage treatment and disposal system.

(r) Nothing in this section limits the power of a municipality or county to enforce other laws for the protection of the public health and safety.

(s) In the siting of onsite sewage treatment and disposal systems, including drainfields, shoulders, and slopes, guttering shall not be required on single-family residential dwelling units for systems located greater than 5 feet from the roof drip line of the house. If guttering is used on residential dwelling units, the downspouts shall be directed away from the drainfield.

(t) Notwithstanding the provisions of subparagraph (g)1., onsite sewage treatment and disposal systems located in floodways of the Suwannee and Aucilla Rivers must adhere to the following requirements:

1. The absorption surface of the drainfield shall not be subject to flooding based on 10-year flood elevations. Provided, however, for lots or parcels created by the subdivision of land in accordance with applicable local government regulations prior to January 17, 1990, if an applicant cannot construct a drainfield system with the absorption surface of the drainfield at an elevation equal to or above 10-year flood elevation, the department shall issue a permit for an onsite sewage treatment and disposal system within the 10-year floodplain of rivers, streams, and other bodies of flowing water if all of the following criteria are met:

- a. The lot is at least one-half acre in size;
- b. The bottom of the drainfield is at least 36 inches above the 2-year flood elevation; and
- c. The applicant installs either: a waterless, incinerating, or organic waste composting toilet and a graywater system and drainfield in accordance with department rules; an aerobic treatment unit and drainfield in accordance with department rules; a system approved by the State Health Office that is capable of reducing effluent nitrate by at least 50 percent; or a system approved by the county health department pursuant to department rule other than a system using alternative drainfield materials. The United States Department of Agriculture Soil Conservation Service soil maps, State of Florida Water Management District data, and Federal Emergency Management Agency Flood Insurance maps are resources that shall be used to identify flood-prone areas.

2. The use of fill or mounding to elevate a drainfield system out of the 10-year floodplain of rivers, streams, or other bodies of flowing water shall not be permitted if such a system lies within a regulatory floodway of the Suwannee and Aucilla Rivers. In cases where the 10-year flood elevation does not coincide with the boundaries of the regulatory floodway, the regulatory floodway will be considered for the purposes of this subsection to extend at a minimum to the 10-year flood elevation.

(u) The owner of an aerobic treatment unit system shall maintain a current maintenance service agreement with an aerobic treatment unit maintenance entity permitted by the department. The maintenance entity shall obtain a system operating permit from the department for each aerobic treatment unit under service contract. The maintenance entity shall inspect each aerobic treatment unit system at least twice each year and shall report quarterly to the department on the number of aerobic treatment unit systems inspected and serviced. The owner shall allow the department to inspect during reasonable hours each aerobic treatment unit system at least annually, and such inspection may include collection and analysis of system-effluent samples for performance criteria established by rule of the department.

(v) The department may require the submission of detailed system construction plans that are prepared by a professional engineer registered in this state. The department shall establish by rule criteria for determining when such a submission is required.

Section 34. Section 381.0068, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

381.0068 Technical review and advisory panel.—

(1) The Department of Health shall, ~~by July 1, 1996,~~ establish and staff a technical review and advisory panel to assist the department with rule adoption.

(2) The primary purpose of the panel is to assist the department in rulemaking and decisionmaking by drawing on the expertise of representatives from several groups that are affected by onsite sewage treatment and disposal systems. The panel may also review and comment on any legislation or any existing or proposed state policy or issue related to onsite sewage treatment and disposal systems. ~~If requested by the panel, the chair will advise any affected person or member of the Legislature of the panel's position on the legislation or any existing or proposed state policy or issue.~~ The chair may also take such other action as is appropriate to allow the panel to function. At a minimum, the panel shall consist of a soil scientist; a professional engineer registered in this state who is recommended by the Florida Engineering Society and who has work experience in onsite sewage treatment and disposal systems; two representatives from the home-building industry recommended by the Florida Home Builders Association, including one who is a developer in this state who develops lots using onsite sewage treatment and disposal systems; a representative from the county health departments who has experience permitting and inspecting the installation of onsite sewage treatment and disposal systems in this state; a representative from the real estate industry who is recommended by the Florida Association of Realtors; a consumer representative with a science background; two representatives of the septic tank industry recommended by the Florida Onsite Wastewater Association, including one who is a manufacturer of onsite sewage treatment and disposal systems; a representative from local government who is knowledgeable about domestic wastewater treatment and who is recommended by the Florida Association of Counties and the Florida League of Cities; and a representative from the environmental health profession who is recommended by the Florida Environmental Health Association and who is not employed by a county health department. Members are to be appointed for a term of 2 years. The panel may also, as needed, be expanded to include ad hoc, nonvoting representatives who have topic-specific expertise. All rules proposed by the department which relate to onsite sewage treatment and disposal systems must be presented to the panel for review and comment prior to adoption. The panel's position on proposed rules shall be made a part of the rulemaking record that is maintained by the agency. The panel shall select a chair, who shall serve for a period of 1 year and who shall direct, coordinate, and execute the duties of the panel. The panel shall also solicit input from the department's variance review and advisory committee before submitting any comments to the department concerning proposed rules. The panel's comments must include any dissenting points of view concerning proposed rules. The panel shall hold meetings as it determines necessary to conduct its business, except that the chair, a quorum of the voting members of the panel, or the department may call meetings. The department shall keep minutes of all meetings of the panel. Panel members shall serve without remuneration, but, if requested, shall be reimbursed for per diem and travel expenses as provided in s. 112.061.

Section 35. Subsection (1) of section 381.0072, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

381.0072 Food service protection.—It shall be the duty of the Department of Health to adopt and enforce sanitation rules consistent with law to ensure the protection of the public from food-borne illness. 381.0101 Environmental health professionals.—

(1) LEGISLATIVE INTENT.—~~Persons responsible for providing technical and scientific evaluations of environmental health and sanitary conditions in business establishments and communities throughout the state may create a danger to the public health if they are not skilled or competent to perform such evaluations. The public relies on the judgment of environmental health professionals employed by both government agencies and industries to assure them that environmental hazards are identified and removed before they endanger the health or safety of the public. The purpose of this section is to assure the public that persons specifically responsible for performing environmental health and sanitary evaluations have been certified by examination as competent to perform such work.~~

~~(2)(3)~~ CERTIFICATION REQUIRED.—A ~~no~~ person ~~may not~~ ~~shall~~ perform environmental health or sanitary evaluations in any primary program area of environmental health without being certified by the department as competent to perform such evaluations. This section does not apply to:

The rules must also address the process for application, examination, issuance, expiration, and renewal of certification and ethical standards of practice for the profession.

(a) Persons employed as environmental health professionals shall exhibit a knowledge of rules and principles of environmental and public health law in Florida through examination. A person may not conduct environmental health evaluations in a primary program area unless he or she is currently certified in that program area or works under the direct supervision of a certified environmental health professional.

1. All persons who begin employment in a primary environmental health program on or after September 21, 1994, must be certified in that program within 6 months after employment.

system prior to September 21, 1994, shall be considered certified while employed in that position and shall be required to adhere to any professional standards established by the department pursuant to paragraph (b), complete any continuing education requirements imposed under paragraph (d), and pay the certificate renewal fee imposed under subsection (6) ~~(7)~~.

3. Persons employed in the primary environmental health program of a food protection program or an onsite sewage treatment and disposal system prior to September 21, 1994, who change positions or program areas and transfer into another primary environmental health program area on or after September 21, 1994, must be certified in that program within 6 months after such transfer, except that they will not be required to possess the college degree required under paragraph (e).

4. Registered sanitarians shall be considered certified and shall be required to adhere to any professional standards established by the department pursuant to paragraph (b).

~~g. Consent to the release of necessary medical information to the county health department.~~

~~2. Fees charged for the contraceptives under the program must cover the cost of purchasing and providing contraceptives to women participating in the program.~~

~~3. The department may adopt rules to administer this program.~~

Section 41. Subsection (1) of section 381.0261, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

381.0261 Summary of patient's bill of rights; distribution; penalty.—

(1) ~~The Department of Health shall publish on its Internet website Agency for Health Care Administration shall have printed and made continuously available to health care facilities licensed under chapter 395, physicians licensed under chapter 458, osteopathic physicians licensed under chapter 459, and podiatric physicians licensed under chapter 461 a summary of the Florida Patient's Bill of Rights and Responsibilities. 381.4018 Physician workforce assessment and development.—

~~(2) LEGISLATIVE INTENT. The Legislature recognizes that physician workforce planning is an essential component of ensuring that there is an adequate and appropriate supply of well-trained physicians to meet this state's future health care service needs as the general population and elderly population of the state increase. The Legislature finds that items to consider relative to assessing the physician workforce may include physician practice status; specialty mix; geographic distribution; demographic information, including, but not limited to, age, gender, race, and cultural considerations; and needs of current or projected medically underserved areas in the state. Long-term strategic planning is essential as the period from the time a medical student enters medical school to completion of graduate medical education may range from 7 to 10 years or longer. The Legislature recognizes that strategies to provide for a well-trained supply of physicians must include ensuring the availability and capacity of quality medical schools and~~

~~graduate medical education programs in this state, as well as using new or existing state and federal programs providing incentives for physicians to practice in needed specialties and in underserved areas in a manner that addresses projected needs for physician manpower.~~

(3)(4) GENERAL FUNCTIONS.—The department shall maximize the use of existing programs under the jurisdiction of the department and other state agencies and coordinate governmental and nongovernmental stakeholders and resources in order to develop a state strategic plan and assess the implementation of such strategic plan. In developing the state strategic plan, the department shall:

(f) Develop strategies to maximize federal and state programs that provide for the use of incentives to attract physicians to this state or retain physicians within the state. Such strategies should explore and maximize federal-state partnerships that provide incentives for physicians to practice in federally designated shortage areas. Strategies shall also consider the use of state programs, such as the ~~Florida Health Service Corps established pursuant to s. 381.0302 and the Medical Education Reimbursement and Loan Repayment Program pursuant to s. 1009.65, which provide for education loan repayment or loan forgiveness and provide monetary incentives for physicians to relocate to underserved areas of the state.~~

Section 57. Section 381.7352, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

381.7352 Legislative findings and intent.—

~~(1) The Legislature finds that despite state investments in health care programs, certain racial and ethnic populations in Florida continue to have significantly poorer health outcomes when compared to non-Hispanic whites. The Legislature finds that local solutions to health care problems can have a dramatic and positive effect on the health status of these populations. Local governments and communities are best equipped to identify the health education, health promotion, and disease prevention needs of the racial and ethnic populations in their communities, mobilize the community to address health outcome disparities, enlist and organize local public and private resources, and faith-based organizations to address these disparities, and evaluate the effectiveness of interventions.~~

(2) It is therefore the intent of the Legislature to provide funds within Florida counties and Front Porch Florida Communities, in the form of Reducing Racial and Ethnic Health Disparities: Closing the Gap grants, to stimulate the development of community-based and neighborhood-based projects which will improve the health outcomes of racial and ethnic populations. Further, it is the intent of the Legislature that these programs foster the development of coordinated, collaborative, and broad-based participation by public and private entities, and faith-based organizations. Finally, it is the intent of the Legislature that the grant program function as a partnership between state and local governments, faith-based organizations, and private sector health care providers, including managed care, voluntary health care resources, social service providers, and nontraditional partners.

Section 58. Subsection (3) of section 381.7353, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

381.7353 Reducing Racial and Ethnic Health Disparities: Closing the Gap grant program; administration; department duties.—

~~(3) Pursuant to s. 20.43(6), the State Surgeon General may appoint an ad hoc advisory committee to examine areas where public awareness, public education, research, and coordination regarding racial and ethnic health outcome disparities are lacking; consider access and transportation issues which contribute to health status disparities; and make recommendations for closing gaps in health outcomes and increasing the public's awareness and understanding of health disparities that exist between racial and ethnic populations.~~

381.853 Florida Center for Brain Tumor Research.—

~~(1) The Legislature finds that each year an estimated 190,000 citizens of the United States are diagnosed with cancerous and non-cancerous brain tumors and that biomedical research is the key to finding cures for these tumors. The Legislature further finds that, although brain tumor research is being conducted throughout the state, there is a lack of coordinated efforts among researchers and health care providers. Therefore, the Legislature finds that there is a significant need for a coordinated effort to achieve the goal of curing brain tumors. The Legislature further finds that the biomedical technology sector meets the criteria of a high impact sector, pursuant to s. 288.108(6), having a high importance to the state's economy with a significant potential for growth and contribution to our universities and quality of life.~~

(1) LEGISLATIVE INTENT.—

(a) It is the intent of the Legislature that proper management of onsite sewage treatment and disposal systems is paramount to the health, safety, and welfare of the public. ~~It is further the intent of the Legislature that the department shall administer an evaluation program to ensure the operational condition of the system and identify any failure with the system.~~

(b) It is the intent of the Legislature that where a publicly owned or investor-owned sewerage system is not available, the department shall issue permits for the construction, installation, modification, abandonment, or repair of onsite sewage treatment and disposal systems under conditions as described in this section and rules adopted under this section. It is further the intent of the Legislature that the installation and use of onsite sewage treatment and disposal systems not adversely affect the public health or significantly degrade the groundwater or surface water.

(2) DEFINITIONS.—As used in ss. 381.0065-381.0067, the term:

(b)1. “Bedroom” means a room that can be used for sleeping and that:

- a. For site-built dwellings, has a minimum of 70 square feet of conditioned space;
- b. For manufactured homes, is constructed according to standards of the United States Department of Housing and Urban Development and has a minimum of 50 square feet of floor area;
- c. Is located along an exterior wall;
- d. Has a closet and a door or an entrance where a door could be reasonably installed; and
- e. Has an emergency means of escape and rescue opening to the outside.

2. A room may not be considered a bedroom if it is used to access another room except a bathroom or closet.

3. “Bedroom” does not include a hallway, bathroom, kitchen, living room, family room, dining room, den, breakfast nook, pantry, laundry room, sunroom, recreation room, media/video room, or exercise room.

(3) DUTIES AND POWERS OF THE DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH.—The department shall:

(c) Develop a comprehensive program to ensure that onsite sewage treatment and disposal systems regulated by the department are sized, designed, constructed, installed, repaired, modified, abandoned, used, operated, and maintained in compliance with this section and rules adopted under this section to prevent groundwater contamination and surface water contamination and to preserve the public health. The department is the final administrative interpretive authority regarding rule interpretation. In the event of a conflict regarding rule interpretation, the ~~State Surgeon General~~ ~~Division Director for Environmental Health of the department~~, or his or her designee, shall timely assign a staff person to resolve the dispute.

(j) Supervise research on, demonstration of, and training on the performance, environmental impact, and public health impact of onsite sewage treatment and disposal systems within this state. Research fees collected under s. 381.0066(2)(k) ~~381.0066(2)(4)~~ must be used to develop and fund hands-on training centers designed to provide practical information about onsite sewage treatment and disposal systems to septic tank contractors, master septic tank contractors, contractors, inspectors, engineers, and the public and must also be used to fund research projects which focus on improvements of onsite sewage treatment and disposal systems, including use of performance-based standards and reduction of environmental impact. Research projects shall be initially approved by the technical review and advisory panel and shall be applicable to and reflect the soil conditions specific to Florida. Such projects shall be awarded through competitive negotiation, using the procedures provided in s. 287.055, to public or private entities that have experience in onsite sewage treatment and disposal systems in Florida and that are principally located in Florida. Research projects shall not be awarded to firms or entities that employ or are associated with persons who serve on either the technical review and advisory panel or the research review and advisory committee.

(4) PERMITS; INSTALLATION; AND CONDITIONS.—A person may not construct, repair, modify, abandon, or operate an onsite sewage treatment and disposal system without first obtaining a permit approved by the department. The department may issue permits to carry out this section, but shall not make the issuance of such permits contingent upon prior approval by the Department of Environmental Protection, except that the issuance of a permit for work seaward of the coastal construction control line established under s. 161.053 shall be contingent upon receipt of any required coastal construction control line permit from the Department of Environmental Protection. A construction permit is valid for 18 months from the issuance date and may be extended by the department for one 90-day period under rules adopted by the department. A repair permit is valid for 90 days from the date of issuance. An operating permit must be obtained prior to the use of any aerobic treatment unit or if the establishment generates commercial waste. Buildings or establishments that use an aerobic treatment unit or generate commercial waste shall be inspected by the department at least annually to assure compliance with the terms of the operating permit. The operating permit for a commercial wastewater system is valid for 1 year from the date of issuance and must be renewed annually. The operating permit for an aerobic treatment unit is valid for 2 years from the date of issuance and must be renewed every 2 years. If all information pertaining to the siting, location, and installation conditions or repair of an onsite sewage treatment and disposal system remains the same, a construction or repair permit for the onsite sewage treatment and disposal system may be transferred to another person, if the transferee files, within 60 days after the transfer of ownership, an amended application providing all corrected information and proof of ownership of the property. There is no fee associated with the processing of this supplemental information. A person may not contract to construct, modify, alter, repair, service, abandon, or maintain any portion of an onsite sewage treatment and disposal system without being registered under part III of chapter 489. A property owner who personally performs construction, maintenance, or repairs to a system serving his or her own owner-occupied single-family residence is exempt from registration requirements for performing such construction, maintenance, or repairs on that residence, but is subject to all permitting requirements. A municipality or political subdivision of the state may not issue a building or plumbing permit for any building that requires the use of an onsite sewage treatment and disposal system unless the owner or builder has received a construction permit for such system from the department. A building or structure may not be occupied and a municipality, political subdivision, or any state or federal agency may not authorize occupancy until the department approves the final installation of the onsite sewage treatment and disposal system. A municipality or political subdivision of the state may not approve any change in occupancy or tenancy of a building that uses an onsite sewage treatment and disposal system until the department has reviewed the use of the system with the proposed change, approved the change, and amended the operating permit.

(h) 1. The department may grant variances in hardship cases which may be less restrictive than the provisions specified in this section. If a variance is granted and the onsite sewage treatment and disposal system construction permit has been issued, the variance may be transferred with the system construction permit, if the transferee files, within 60 days after the transfer of ownership, an amended construction permit application providing all corrected information and proof of ownership of the property and if the same variance would have been required for the new owner of the property as was originally granted to the original applicant for the variance. There is no fee associated with the processing of this supplemental information. A variance may not be granted under this section until the department is satisfied that:

a. The hardship was not caused intentionally by the action of the applicant;

b. No reasonable alternative, taking into consideration factors such as cost, exists for the treatment of the sewage; and

c. The discharge from the onsite sewage treatment and disposal system will not adversely affect the health of the applicant or the public or significantly degrade the groundwater or surface waters.

Where soil conditions, water table elevation, and setback provisions are determined by the department to be satisfactory, special consideration must be given to those lots platted before 1972.

2. The department shall appoint and staff a variance review and advisory committee, which shall meet monthly to recommend agency action on variance requests. The committee shall make its recommendations on variance requests at the meeting in which the application is scheduled for consideration, except for an extraordinary change in circumstances, the receipt of new information that raises new issues, or when the applicant requests an extension. The committee shall consider the criteria in subparagraph 1. in its recommended agency action on variance requests and shall also strive to allow property owners the full use of their land where possible. The committee consists of the following:

a. ~~The State Surgeon General, Division Director for Environmental Health of the department~~ or his or her designee.

b. A representative from the county health departments.

c. A representative from the home building industry recommended by the Florida Home Builders Association.

d. A representative from the septic tank industry recommended by the Florida Onsite Wastewater Association.

e. A representative from the Department of Environmental Protection.

f. A representative from the real estate industry who is also a developer in this state who develops lots using onsite sewage treatment and disposal systems, recommended by the Florida Association of Realtors.

g. A representative from the engineering profession recommended by the Florida Engineering Society.

Members shall be appointed for a term of 3 years, with such appointments being staggered so that the terms of no more than two members expire in any one year. Members shall serve without remuneration, but if requested, shall be reimbursed for per diem and travel expenses as provided in s. 112.061.

(n) Evaluations for determining the seasonal high-water table elevations or the suitability of soils for the use of a new onsite sewage treatment and disposal system shall be performed by department personnel, professional engineers registered in the state, or such other persons with expertise, as defined by rule, in making such evaluations. Evaluations for determining mean annual flood lines shall be performed by those persons identified in paragraph (2)(j) ~~(2)(4)~~. The department shall accept evaluations submitted by professional engineers and such other persons as meet the expertise established by this section or by rule unless the department has a reasonable scientific basis for questioning the accuracy or completeness of the evaluation.

(o) The department shall appoint a research review and advisory committee, which shall meet at least semiannually. The committee shall advise the department on directions for new research, review and rank proposals for research contracts, and review draft research reports and make comments. The committee is comprised of:

1. A representative of the State Surgeon General, or his or her designee ~~Division of Environmental Health of the Department of Health~~.

2. A representative from the septic tank industry.

3. A representative from the home building industry.

4. A representative from an environmental interest group.

5. A representative from the State University System, from a department knowledgeable about onsite sewage treatment and disposal systems.

6. A professional engineer registered in this state who has work experience in onsite sewage treatment and disposal systems.

7. A representative from local government who is knowledgeable about domestic wastewater treatment.

8. A representative from the real estate profession.

9. A representative from the restaurant industry.

10. A consumer.

Members shall be appointed for a term of 3 years, with the appointments being staggered so that the terms of no more than four members expire in any one year. Members shall serve without remuneration, but are entitled to reimbursement for per diem and travel expenses as provided in s. 112.061.

(w) Any permit issued and approved by the department for the installation, modification, or repair of an onsite sewage treatment and disposal system shall transfer with the title to the property in a real estate transaction. A title may not be encumbered at the time of transfer by new permit requirements by a governmental entity for an onsite sewage treatment and disposal system which differ from the permitting requirements in effect at the time the system was permitted, modified, or repaired. An inspection of a system may not be mandated by a governmental entity at the point of sale in a real estate transaction. This paragraph does not affect a septic tank phase-out deferral program implemented by a consolidated government as defined in s. 9, Art. VIII of the State Constitution.

(x) A governmental entity, including a municipality, county, or statutorily created commission, may not require an engineer-designed performance-based treatment system, excluding a passive engineer-designed performance-based treatment system, before the completion of the Florida Onsite Sewage Nitrogen Reduction Strategies Project. This paragraph does not apply to a governmental entity, including a municipality, county, or statutorily created commission, which adopted a local law, ordinance, or regulation on or before January 31, 2012. Notwithstanding this paragraph, an engineer-designed performance-based treatment system may be used to meet the requirements of the variance review and advisory committee recommendations.

(y)1. An onsite sewage treatment and disposal system is not considered abandoned if the system is disconnected from a structure that was made unusable or destroyed following a disaster and if the system was properly functioning at the time of disconnection and not adversely affected by the disaster. The onsite sewage treatment and disposal system may be reconnected to a rebuilt structure if:

a. The reconnection of the system is to the same type of structure which contains the same number of bedrooms or fewer, if the square footage of the structure is less than or equal to 110 percent of the original square footage of the structure that existed before the disaster;

b. The system is not a sanitary nuisance; and

c. The system has not been altered without prior authorization.

2. An onsite sewage treatment and disposal system that serves a property that is foreclosed upon is not considered abandoned.

(z) If an onsite sewage treatment and disposal system permittee receives, relies upon, and undertakes construction of a system based upon a validly issued construction permit under rules applicable at the time of construction but a change to a rule occurs within 5 years after the approval of the system for construction but before the final approval of the system, the rules applicable and in effect at the time of construction approval apply at the time of final approval if fundamental site conditions have not changed between the time of construction approval and final approval.

(aa) A modification, replacement, or upgrade of an onsite sewage treatment and disposal system is not required for a remodeling addition to a single-family home if a bedroom is not added.

~~(5) EVALUATION AND ASSESSMENT.—~~

~~(a) Beginning July 1, 2011, the department shall administer an onsite sewage treatment and disposal system evaluation program for the purpose of assessing the fundamental operational condition of systems and identifying any failures within the systems. The department shall adopt rules implementing the program standards, procedures, and requirements, including, but not limited to, a schedule for a 5-year evaluation cycle, requirements for the pump out of a system or repair of a failing system, enforcement procedures for failure of a system owner to obtain an evaluation of the system, and failure of a contractor to timely submit evaluation results to the department and the system owner. The department shall ensure statewide implementation of the evaluation and assessment program by January 1, 2016.~~

~~(b) Owners of an onsite sewage treatment and disposal system, excluding a system that is required to obtain an operating permit, shall have the system evaluated at least once every 5 years to assess the fundamental operational condition of the system, and identify any failure within the system.~~

~~(c) All evaluation procedures must be documented and nothing in this subsection limits the amount of detail an evaluator may provide at his or her professional discretion. The evaluation must include a tank and drainfield evaluation, a written assessment of the condition of the system, and, if necessary, a disclosure statement pursuant to the department's procedure.~~

~~(d)1. Systems being evaluated that were installed prior to January 1, 1983, shall meet a minimum 6-inch separation from the bottom of the drainfield to the wettest season water table elevation as defined by department rule. All drainfield repairs, replacements or modifications to systems installed prior to January 1, 1983, shall meet a minimum 12-inch separation from the bottom of the drainfield to the wettest season water table elevation as defined by department rule.~~

~~2. Systems being evaluated that were installed on or after January 1, 1983, shall meet a minimum 12-inch separation from the bottom of the drainfield to the wettest season water table elevation as defined by department rule. All drainfield repairs, replacements or modification to systems developed on or after January 1, 1983, shall meet a minimum 24-inch separation from the bottom of the drainfield to the wettest season water table elevation.~~

~~(e) If documentation of a tank pump out or a permitted new installation, repair, or modification of the system within the previous 5 years is provided, and states the capacity of the tank and indicates that the condition of the tank is not a sanitary or public health nuisance pursuant to department rule, a pump out of the system is not required.~~

~~(f) Owners are responsible for paying the cost of any required pump out, repair, or replacement pursuant to department rule, and may not request partial evaluation or the omission of portions of the evaluation.~~

~~(g) Each evaluation or pump out required under this subsection must be performed by a septic tank contractor or master septic tank contractor registered under part III of chapter 489, a professional engineer with wastewater treatment system experience licensed pursuant to chapter 471, or an environmental health professional certified under chapter 381 in the area of onsite sewage treatment and disposal system evaluation.~~

~~(h) The evaluation report fee collected pursuant to s. 381.0066(2)(b) shall be remitted to the department by the evaluator at the time the report is submitted.~~

~~(i) Prior to any evaluation deadline, the department must provide a minimum of 60 days' notice to owners that their systems must be evaluated by that deadline. The department may include a copy of any homeowner educational materials developed pursuant to this section which provides information on the proper maintenance of onsite sewage treatment and disposal systems.~~

~~(5)(6) ENFORCEMENT; RIGHT OF ENTRY; CITATIONS.—~~

(a) Department personnel who have reason to believe noncompliance exists, may at any reasonable time, enter the premises permitted under ss. 381.0065-381.0066, or the business premises of any septic tank contractor or master septic tank contractor registered under part III of chapter 489, or any premises that the department has reason to believe is being operated or maintained not in compliance, to determine compliance with the provisions of this section, part I of chapter 386, or part III of chapter 489 or rules or standards adopted under ss. 381.0065-381.0067, part I of chapter 386, or part III of chapter 489. As used in this paragraph, the term "premises" does not include a residence or private building. To gain entry to a residence or private building, the department must obtain permission from the owner or occupant or secure an inspection warrant from a court of competent jurisdiction.

The department may issue citations that may contain an order of correction or an order to pay a fine, or both, for violations of ss. 381.0065-381.0067, part I of chapter 386, or part III of chapter 489 or the rules adopted by the department, when a violation of these sections or rules is enforceable by an administrative or civil remedy, or when a violation of these sections or rules is a misdemeanor of the second degree. A citation issued under ss. 381.0065-381.0067, part I of chapter 386, or part III of chapter 489 constitutes a notice of proposed agency action.

2. A citation must be in writing and must describe the particular nature of the violation, including specific reference to the provisions of law or rule allegedly violated.

3. The fines imposed by a citation issued by the department may not exceed $500 for each violation. Each day the violation exists constitutes a separate violation for which a citation may be issued.

4. The department shall inform the recipient, by written notice pursuant to ss. 120.569 and 120.57, of the right to an administrative hearing to contest the citation within 21 days after the date the citation is received. The citation must contain a conspicuous statement that if the recipient fails to pay the fine within the time allowed, or fails to appear to contest the citation after having requested a hearing, the recipient has waived the recipient's right to contest the citation and must pay an amount up to the maximum fine.

5. The department may reduce or waive the fine imposed by the citation. In determining whether to reduce or waive the fine, the department must consider the gravity of the violation, the person's attempts at correcting the violation, and the person's history of previous violations including violations for which enforcement actions were taken under ss. 381.0065-381.0067, part I of chapter 386, part III of chapter 489, or other provisions of law or rule.

6. Any person who willfully refuses to sign and accept a citation issued by the department commits a misdemeanor of the second degree, punishable as provided in s. 775.082 or s. 775.083.

7. The department, pursuant to ss. 381.0065-381.0067, part I of chapter 386, or part III of chapter 489, shall deposit any fines it collects in the county health department trust fund for use in providing services specified in those sections.

8. This section provides an alternative means of enforcing ss. 381.0065-381.0067, part I of chapter 386, and part III of chapter 489. This section does not prohibit the department from enforcing ss. 381.0065-381.0067, part I of chapter 386, or part III of chapter 489, or its rules, by any other means. However, the department must elect to use only a single method of enforcement for each violation.

(6)(7) LAND APPLICATION OF SEPTAGE PROHIBITED.—Effective January 1, 2016, the land application of septage from onsite sewage treatment and disposal systems is prohibited. ~~By February 1, 2011, the department, in consultation with the Department of Environmental Protection, shall provide a report to the Governor, the President of the Senate, and the Speaker of the House of Representatives, recommending alternative methods to establish enhanced treatment levels for the land application of septage from onsite sewage and disposal systems. The report shall include, but is not limited to, a schedule for the reduction in land application, appropriate treatment levels, alternative methods for treatment and disposal, enhanced application site permitting requirements including any requirements for nutrient management plans, and the range of costs to local governments, affected businesses, and individuals for alternative treatment and disposal methods. The report shall also include any recommendations for legislation or rule authority needed to reduce land application of septage.~~

(1) For the purposes of this section, the term "first magnitude spring" means a spring that has a median water discharge of greater than or equal to 100 cubic feet per second for the period of record, as determined by the Department of Environmental Protection.

(2) A county or municipality that contains a first magnitude spring shall, by no later than January 1, 2013, develop and adopt by local ordinance an onsite sewage treatment and disposal system evaluation and assessment program that meets the requirements of this section. The ordinance may apply within all or part of its geographic area. Those counties or municipalities containing a first magnitude spring which have already adopted an onsite sewage treatment and disposal system evaluation and assessment program and which meet the grandfathering requirements contained in this section, or have chosen to opt out of this section in the manner provided herein, are exempt from the requirement to adopt an ordinance implementing an evaluation and assessment program. The governing body of a local government that chooses to opt out of this section, by a 60 percent vote of the voting members of the governing board, shall do so by adopting a resolution that indicates an intent on the part of such local government not to adopt an onsite sewage treatment and disposal system evaluation and assessment program. Such resolution shall be addressed and transmitted to the Secretary of State. Absent an interlocal agreement or county charter provision to the contrary, a municipality may elect to opt out of the requirements of this section, by a 60 percent vote of the voting members of the governing board, notwithstanding a contrary decision of the governing body of a county. Any local government that has properly opted out of this section but subsequently chooses to adopt an evaluation and assessment program may do so only pursuant to the requirements of this section and may not deviate from such requirements.

(3) Any county or municipality that does not contain a first magnitude spring may at any time develop and adopt by local ordinance an onsite sewage treatment and disposal system evaluation and assessment program, provided such program meets and does not deviate from the requirements of this section.

(4) Notwithstanding any other provision in this section, a county or municipality that has adopted a program before July 1, 2011, may continue to enforce its current program without having to meet the requirements of this section, provided such program does not require an evaluation at the point of sale in a real estate transaction.

(5) Any county or municipality may repeal an ordinance adopted pursuant to this section only if the county or municipality notifies the Secretary of State by letter of the repeal. No county or municipality may adopt an onsite sewage treatment and disposal system evaluation and assessment program except pursuant to this section.

(6) The requirements for an onsite sewage treatment and disposal system evaluation and assessment program are as follows:

(a) Evaluations.—An evaluation of each onsite sewage treatment and disposal system within all or part of the county's or municipality's jurisdiction must take place once every 5 years to assess the fundamental operational condition of the system and to identify system failures. The ordinance may not mandate an evaluation at the point of sale in a real estate transaction and may not require a soil examination. The location of the system shall be identified. A tank and drainfield evaluation and a written assessment of the overall condition of the system pursuant to the assessment procedure prescribed in subsection (7) are required.

(b) Qualified contractors.—Each evaluation required under this subsection must be performed by a qualified contractor, who may be a septic tank contractor or master septic tank contractor registered under part III of chapter 489, a professional engineer having wastewater treatment system experience and licensed under chapter 471, or an environmental health professional certified under this chapter in the area of onsite sewage treatment and disposal system evaluation. Evaluations and pump-outs may also be performed by an authorized employee working under the supervision of an individual listed in this paragraph; however, all evaluation forms must be signed by a qualified contractor in writing or by electronic signature.

(c) Repair of systems.—The local ordinance may not require a repair, modification, or replacement of a system as a result of an evaluation unless the evaluation identifies a system failure. For purposes of this subsection, the term “system failure” means a condition existing within an onsite sewage treatment and disposal system which results in the discharge of untreated or partially treated wastewater onto the ground surface or into surface water or that results in the failure of building plumbing to discharge properly and presents a sanitary nuisance. A system is not in failure if the system does not have a minimum separation distance between the drainfield and the wettest season water table or if an obstruction in a sanitary line or an effluent screen or filter prevents effluent from flowing into a drainfield. If a system failure is identified and several allowable remedial measures are available to resolve the failure, the system owner may choose the least costly allowable remedial measure to fix the system. There may be instances in which a pump-out is sufficient to resolve a system failure. Allowable remedial measures to resolve a system failure are limited to what is necessary to resolve the failure and must meet, to the maximum extent practicable, the requirements of the repair code in effect when the repair is made, subject to the exceptions specified in s. 381.0065(4)(g). An engineer-designed performance-based treatment system to reduce nutrients may not be required as an alternative remediation measure to resolve the failure of a conventional system.

(d) Exemptions.—

1. The local ordinance shall exempt from the evaluation requirements any system that is required to obtain an operating permit pursuant to state law or that is inspected by the department pursuant to the annual permit inspection requirements of chapter 513.

2. The local ordinance may provide for an exemption or an extension of time to obtain an evaluation and assessment if connection to a sewer system is available, connection to the sewer system is imminent, and written arrangements for payment of any utility assessments or connection fees have been made by the system owner.

3. An onsite sewage treatment and disposal system serving a residential dwelling unit on a lot with a ratio of one bedroom per acre or greater is exempt from the requirements of this section and may not be included in any onsite sewage treatment and disposal system inspection program.

(7) The following procedures shall be used for conducting evaluations:

(a) Tank evaluation.—The tank evaluation shall assess the apparent structural condition and watertightness of the tank and shall estimate the size of the tank. The evaluation must include a pump-out. However, an ordinance may not require a pump-out if there is documentation indicating that a tank pump-out or a permitted new installation, repair, or modification of the system has occurred within the previous 5 years, identifying the capacity of the tank, and indicating that the condition of the tank is structurally sound and watertight. Visual inspection of the tank must be made when the tank is empty to detect cracks, leaks, or other defects. Baffles or tees must be checked to ensure that they are intact and secure. The evaluation shall note the presence and condition of outlet devices, effluent filters, and compartment walls; any structural defect in the tank; the condition and fit of the tank lid, including manholes; whether surface water can infiltrate the tank; and whether the tank was pumped out. If the tank, in the opinion of the qualified contractor, is in danger of being damaged by leaving the tank empty after inspection, the tank shall be refilled before concluding the inspection. Broken or damaged lids or manholes shall be replaced without obtaining a repair permit.

(b) Drainfield evaluation.—The drainfield evaluation must include a determination of the approximate size and location of the drainfield. The evaluation shall state whether there is any sewage or effluent visible on the ground or discharging to a ditch or other water body and the location of any downspout or other source of water near or in the vicinity of the drainfield.

(c) Special circumstances.—If the system contains pumps, siphons, or alarms, the following information may be provided at the request of the homeowner:

1. An assessment of dosing tank integrity, including the approximate volume and the type of material used in the tank’s construction;

2. Whether the pump is elevated off the bottom of the chamber and its operational status;

3. Whether the system has a check valve and purge hole; and

4. Whether the system has a high-water alarm, and if so whether the alarm is audio or visual or both, the location and operational condition of the alarm, and whether the electrical connections to the alarm appear satisfactory.

If the homeowner does not request this information, the qualified contractor and its employee are not liable for any damages directly relating from a failure of the system’s pumps, siphons, or alarms. This exclusion of liability must be stated on the front cover of the report required under paragraph (d).

(d) Assessment procedure.—All evaluation procedures used by a qualified contractor shall be documented in the environmental health database of the Department of Health. The qualified contractor shall provide a copy of a written, signed evaluation report to the property owner upon completion of the evaluation and to the county health department within 30 days after the evaluation. The report shall contain the name and license number of the company providing the report. A copy of the evaluation report shall be retained by the local county health department for a minimum of 5 years and until a subsequent inspection report is filed. The front cover of the report must identify any system failure and include a clear and conspicuous notice to the owner that the owner has a right to have any remediation of the failure performed by a qualified contractor other than the contractor performing the evaluation. The report must further identify any crack, leak, improper fit, or other defect in the tank, manhole, or lid, and any other damaged or missing component; any sewage or effluent visible on the ground or discharging to a ditch or other surface water body; any downspout, stormwater, or other source of water directed onto or toward the system; and any other maintenance need or condition of the system at the time of the evaluation which, in the opinion of the qualified contractor, would possibly interfere with or restrict any future repair or modification to the existing system. The report shall conclude with an overall assessment of the fundamental operational condition of the system.

(8) The county health department shall administer any evaluation program on behalf of a county, or a municipality within the county, that has adopted an evaluation program pursuant to this section. In order to administer the evaluation program, the county or municipality, in consultation with the county health department, may develop a reasonable fee schedule to be used solely to pay for the costs of administering the evaluation program. Such a fee schedule shall be identified in the ordinance that adopts the evaluation program. When arriving at a reasonable fee schedule, the estimated annual revenues to be derived from fees may not exceed reasonable estimated annual costs of the program. Fees shall be assessed to the system owner during an inspection and separately identified on the invoice of the qualified contractor. Fees shall be remitted by the qualified contractor to the county health department. The county health department’s administrative responsibilities include the following:

(a) Providing a notice to the system owner at least 60 days before the system is due for an evaluation. The notice may include information on the proper maintenance of onsite sewage treatment and disposal systems.

(b) In consultation with the Department of Health, providing uniform disciplinary procedures and penalties for qualified contractors who do not comply with the requirements of the adopted ordinance, including, but not limited to, failure to provide the evaluation report as required in this subsection to the system owner and the county health department. Only the county health department may assess penalties against system owners for failure to comply with the adopted ordinance, consistent with existing requirements of law.

(9)(a) A county or municipality that adopts an onsite sewage treatment and disposal system evaluation and assessment program pursuant to this section shall notify the Secretary of Environmental Protection, the Department of Health, and the applicable county health department upon the adoption of its ordinance establishing the program.

(b) Upon receipt of the notice under paragraph (a), the Department of Environmental Protection shall, within existing resources, notify the county or municipality of the potential use of, and access to, program funds under the Clean Water State Revolving Fund or s. 319 of the Clean Water Act, provide guidance in the application process to receive such moneys, and provide advice and technical assistance to the county or municipality on how to establish a low-interest revolving loan program or how to model a revolving loan program after the low-interest loan program of the Clean Water State Revolving Fund. This paragraph does not obligate the Department of Environmental Protection to provide any county or municipality with money to fund such programs.

(c) The Department of Health may not adopt any rule that alters the provisions of this section.

(d) The Department of Health must allow county health departments and qualified contractors access to the environmental health database to track relevant information and assimilate data from assessment and evaluation reports of the overall condition of onsite sewage treatment and disposal systems. The environmental health database must be used by contractors to report each service and evaluation event and by a county health department to notify owners of onsite sewage treatment and disposal systems when evaluations are due. Data and information must be recorded and updated as service and evaluations are conducted and reported.

(10) This section does not:

(a) Limit county and municipal home rule authority to act outside the scope of the evaluation and assessment program set forth in this section;

(b) Repeal or affect any other law relating to the subject matter of onsite sewage treatment and disposal systems; or

(c) Prohibit a county or municipality from:

1. Enforcing existing ordinances or adopting new ordinances relating to onsite sewage treatment facilities to address public health and safety if such ordinances do not repeal, suspend, or alter the requirements or limitations of this section.

2. Adopting local environmental and pollution abatement ordinances for water quality improvement as provided for by law if such ordinances do not repeal, suspend, or alter the requirements or limitations of this section.

3. Exercising its independent and existing authority to meet the requirements of s. 381.0065.

PRAYER

The following prayer was offered by Pastor Ron McCants, Christian Heritage Church of Tallahassee:

Almighty God, we bow before you today with humility. We thank you for your grace. We thank you, God, that you are with us in all the affairs of our lives. As our forefathers, many centuries before, paused to ask your wisdom and seek your counsel, so we do today. The legislation that is before us today is critical.

We thank you for the servants who serve the public good in the great State of Florida and in our great nation. We ask today that you would give refreshing in mind, body, and spirit. We ask that you would cause your great grace to be poured out upon us, and we accept the responsibility and thank you for the honor that we have to serve the people of the great State of Florida, realizing the things that will be transacted in this building today will affect the lives of countless millions of people for generations to come. So we pause and bow before you and simply seek your wisdom. In your great name, we pray. Amen.

(2) The tax rate shall be $1.61 per ton severed, except for the time period beginning January 1, 2015, until December 31, 2022, when the tax rate shall be $1.80 per ton severed.

(2) Beginning July 1, 2004, the proceeds of all taxes, interest, and penalties imposed under this section shall be paid into the State Treasury as follows:

(a) The first $10 million in revenue collected from the tax during each fiscal year shall be paid to the credit of the Conservation and Recreation Lands Trust Fund.

1. To the credit of the General Revenue Fund of the state, 40.1 percent.

2. For payment to counties in proportion to the number of tons of phosphate rock produced from a phosphate rock matrix located within such political boundary, 16.5 percent. The department shall distribute this portion of the proceeds annually based on production information reported by the producers on the annual returns for the taxable year. Any such proceeds received by a county shall be used only for phosphate-related expenses.

3. For payment to counties that have been designated a rural area of critical economic concern pursuant to s. 288.0656 in proportion to the number of tons of phosphate rock produced from a phosphate rock matrix located within such political boundary, 13 percent. The department shall distribute this portion of the proceeds annually based on production information reported by the producers on the annual returns for the taxable year. Payments under this subparagraph shall be made to the counties unless the Legislature by special act creates a local authority to promote and direct the economic development of the county. If such authority exists, payments shall be made to that authority.

This section does not imply that such operator or permittee is thereby relieved of its obligations or relieved of any liabilities pursuant to any other remedies at law, administrative remedies, statutory remedies, or remedies pursuant to bankruptcy law. The department shall adopt rules to implement this subsection, including the purchase and oversight of the bond or policy.

(8)(a) On or before March 30, 2004, and annually thereafter, the department shall calculate the base rate adjustment, if any, for phosphate rock based on the change in the unadjusted annual producer price index for the prior calendar year in relation to the unadjusted annual producer price index for calendar year 1999.

(b) For the purposes of determining the base rate adjustment for any year, the base rate adjustment shall be a fraction, the numerator of which is the unadjusted annual producer price index for the prior calendar year and the denominator of which is the unadjusted annual producer price index for calendar year 1999.

(c) The department shall provide the base rate, the base rate adjustment, and the resulting tax rate to affected producers by written notice on or before April 15 of the current year.

(d) If the producer price index for phosphate rock is substantially revised, the department shall make appropriate adjustment in the method used to compute the base rate adjustment under this subsection which will produce results reasonably consistent with the result that would have been obtained if the producer price index for phosphate rock had not been revised. However, the tax rate shall not be less than $1.51 per ton severed.

~~(c) If the producer price index for phosphate rock is discontinued, a comparable index shall be selected by the department and adopted by rule.~~

~~(4)(9) The excise tax levied on the severance of phosphate rock is shall be in addition to any ad valorem taxes levied upon the separately assessed mineral interest in the real property upon which the site of severance is located, or any other tax, permit, or license fee imposed by the state or its political subdivisions.~~

Revenues derived from the surcharge shall be deposited into the Nonmandatory Land Reclamation Trust Fund and shall be exempt from the general revenue service charge provided in s. 215.20. Revenues derived from the surcharge shall be used to augment funds appropriated for the rehabilitation, management, and closure of the Piney Point and Mulberry sites and for approved reclamation of nonmandatory lands in accordance with chapter 378. A minimum of 75 percent of the revenues from the surcharge shall be dedicated to the Piney Point and Mulberry sites.~~

The surcharge offset for each taxpayer is an amount calculated by the department equal to the cumulative difference between the amount of excise tax that would have been collected under subsections (5) and (6) and the excise tax collected under subparagraphs (c)1. and 2. from such taxpayer.~~

211.02 Oil production tax; basis and rate of tax; tertiary oil and mature field recovery oil.—An excise tax is hereby levied upon every person who severs oil in the state for sale, transport, storage, profit, or commercial use. Except as otherwise provided in this part, the tax is levied on the basis of the entire production of oil in this state, including any royalty interest. Such tax shall accrue at the time the oil is severed and shall be a lien on production regardless of the place of sale, to whom sold, or by whom used, and regardless of the fact that delivery of the oil may be made outside the state.

(1) The amount of tax shall be measured by the value of the oil produced and saved or sold during a month. The value of oil shall be taxed at the following rates:

(b) Tertiary oil and mature field recovery oil:

1. One percent of the gross value of oil on the value of oil $60 dollars and below;
2. Seven percent of the gross value of oil on the value of oil above $60 and below $80; and
3. Nine percent of the gross value of oil on the value of oil $80 and above.

(4) As used in this section, the term "mature field recovery oil" means the barrels of oil recovered from new wells that begin production after July 1, 2012, in fields that were discovered prior to 1981.

4. Sixty-seven and one-half percent of the proceeds of the tax on sulfur imposed under s. 211.026.

(b) To the credit of the general revenue fund of the board of county commissioners of the county where produced, subject to the service charge imposed under chapter 215:

1. Twelve and one-half percent of the proceeds from the tax on oil imposed under s. 211.02(1)(c).
2. Twenty percent of the proceeds from the tax on small well oil, ~~and~~ tertiary oil, and mature field recovery oil imposed under s. 211.02(1)(a) and (b).

Section 8. Effective January 1, 2013, paragraphs (b) and (e) of subsection (5) and paragraphs (ee) and (rr) of subsection (7) of section 212.08, Florida Statutes, are amended, and paragraph (hhh) and (iii) are added to subsection (7) of that section, to read:

212.08 Sales, rental, use, consumption, distribution, and storage tax; specified exemptions.—The sale at retail, the rental, the use, the consumption, the distribution, and the storage to be used or consumed in this state of the following are hereby specifically exempt from the tax imposed by this chapter.

(5) EXEMPTIONS; ACCOUNT OF USE.—

(b) Machinery and equipment used to increase productive output.—

1. Industrial machinery and equipment purchased for exclusive use by a new business in spaceport activities as defined by s. 212.02 or for use in new businesses that manufacture, process, compound, or produce for sale items of tangible personal property at fixed locations are exempt from the tax imposed by this chapter upon an affirmative showing by the taxpayer to the satisfaction of the department that such items are used in a new business in this state. Such purchases must be made before ~~prior to~~ the date the business first begins its productive operations, and delivery of the purchased item must be made within 12 months after that date.

2. Industrial machinery and equipment purchased for exclusive use by an expanding facility which is engaged in spaceport activities as defined by s. 212.02 or for use in expanding manufacturing facilities or plant units which manufacture, process, compound, or produce for sale items of tangible personal property at fixed locations in this state are exempt from any amount of tax imposed by this chapter upon an affirmative showing by the taxpayer to the satisfaction of the department that such items are used to increase the productive output of such expanded facility or business by not less than ~~5~~ ~~10~~ percent.

3.a. To receive an exemption provided by subparagraph 1. or subparagraph 2., a qualifying business entity shall apply to the department for a temporary tax exemption permit. The application shall state that a new business exemption or expanded business exemption is being sought. Upon a tentative affirmative determination by the department pursuant to subparagraph 1. or subparagraph 2., the department shall issue such permit.

b. The applicant shall maintain all necessary books and records to support the exemption. Upon completion of purchases of qualified machinery and equipment pursuant to subparagraph 1. or subparagraph 2., the temporary tax permit shall be delivered to the department or returned to the department by certified or registered mail.

c. If, in a subsequent audit conducted by the department, it is determined that the machinery and equipment purchased as exempt under subparagraph 1. or subparagraph 2. did not meet the criteria mandated by this paragraph or if commencement of production did not occur, the amount of taxes exempted at the time of purchase shall immediately be due and payable to the department by the business entity, together with the appropriate interest and penalty, computed from the date of purchase, in the manner prescribed by this chapter.

d. If a qualifying business entity fails to apply for a temporary exemption permit or if the tentative determination by the department required to obtain a temporary exemption permit is negative, a qualifying business entity shall receive the exemption provided in subparagraph 1. or subparagraph 2. through a refund of previously paid taxes. No refund may be made for such taxes unless the criteria mandated by subparagraph 1. or subparagraph 2. have been met and commencement of production has occurred.

4. The department shall adopt rules governing applications for, issuance of, and the form of temporary tax exemption permits; provisions for recapture of taxes; and the manner and form of refund applications, and may establish guidelines as to the requisites for an affirmative showing of increased productive output, commencement of production, and qualification for exemption.

5. The exemptions provided in subparagraphs 1. and 2. do not apply to machinery or equipment purchased or used by electric utility companies, communications companies, oil or gas exploration or production operations, publishing firms that do not export at least 50 percent of their finished product out of the state, any firm subject to regulation by the Division of Hotels and Restaurants of the Department of Business and Professional Regulation, or any firm that does not manufacture, process, compound, or produce for sale items of tangible personal property or that does not use such machinery and equipment in spaceport activities as required by this paragraph. The exemptions provided in subparagraphs 1. and 2. shall apply to machinery and equipment purchased for use in phosphate or other solid minerals severance, mining, or processing operations.

6. For the purposes of the exemptions provided in subparagraphs 1. and 2., these terms have the following meanings:

a. "Industrial machinery and equipment" means tangible personal property or other property that has a depreciable life of 3 years or more and that is used as an integral part in the manufacturing, processing, compounding, or production of tangible personal property for sale or is exclusively used in spaceport activities. A building and its structural components are not industrial machinery and equipment unless the building or structural component is so closely related to the industrial machinery and equipment that it houses or supports that the building or structural component can be expected to be replaced when the machinery and equipment are replaced. Heating and air-conditioning systems are not industrial machinery and equipment unless the sole justification for their installation is to meet the requirements of the production process, even though the system may provide incidental comfort to employees or serve, to an insubstantial degree, nonproduction activities. The term includes parts and accessories only to the extent that the exemption thereof is consistent with the provisions of this paragraph.

b. "Productive output" means the number of units actually produced by a single plant, operation, or product line in a single continuous 12-month period, irrespective of sales. Increases in productive output shall be measured by the output for 12 continuous months selected by the expanding business ~~after following the~~ completion of the installation of such machinery or equipment over the output for the 12 continuous months immediately preceding such installation. However, in no case may such time period begin later than 2 years ~~after following the~~ completion of the installation of the new machinery and equipment. The units used to measure productive output shall be physically comparable between the two periods, irrespective of sales.

(e) Gas or electricity used for certain agricultural purposes.—

1. Butane gas, propane gas, natural gas, and all other forms of liquefied petroleum gases are exempt from the tax imposed by this chapter if used in any tractor, vehicle, or other farm equipment which is used exclusively on a farm or for processing farm products on the farm and no part of which gas is used in any vehicle or equipment driven or operated on the public highways of this state. This restriction does not apply to the movement of farm vehicles or farm equipment between farms. The transporting of bees by water and the operating of equipment used in the apiary of a beekeeper is also deemed an exempt use.

2. Electricity used directly or indirectly for production, packing, or processing of agricultural products on the farm, or used directly or indirectly in a packinghouse, is exempt from the tax imposed by this chapter. As used in this subsection, the term "packinghouse" means any building or structure where fruits, vegetables, or meat from cattle or hogs are packed or otherwise prepared for market or shipment in fresh form for wholesale distribution. The exemption does not apply to electricity used in buildings or structures where agricultural products are sold at retail. This exemption applies only if the electricity used for the exempt purposes is separately metered. If the electricity is not separately metered, it is conclusively presumed that some portion of the electricity is used for a nonexempt purpose, and all of the electricity used for such purposes is taxable.

Amendment 1B (282024) (with title amendment)—Between lines 732 and 733 insert:

Section 12. Subsections (5) and (6) of section 288.106, Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

288.106 Tax refund program for qualified target industry businesses.—

(5) TAX REFUND AGREEMENT.—

(a) Each qualified target industry business must enter into a written agreement with the department that specifies, at a minimum:

1. The total number of full-time equivalent jobs in this state that will be dedicated to the project, the average wage of those jobs, the definitions that will apply for measuring the achievement of these terms during the pendency of the agreement, and a time schedule or plan for when such jobs will be in place and active in this state.

2. The maximum amount of tax refunds that the qualified target industry business is eligible to receive on the project and the maximum amount of a tax refund that the qualified target industry business is eligible to receive for each fiscal year, based on the job creation and maintenance schedule specified in subparagraph 1.

3. That the department may review and verify the financial and personnel records of the qualified target industry business to ascertain whether that business is in compliance with this section.

4. The date by which, in each fiscal year, the qualified target industry business may file a claim under subsection (6) to be considered to receive a tax refund in the following fiscal year.

5. That local financial support will be annually available and will be paid to the account. The department may not enter into a written agreement with a qualified target industry business if the local financial support resolution is not passed by the local governing body within 90 days after the department has issued the letter of certification under subsection (4).

6. That the department may conduct a review of the business to evaluate whether the business is continuing to contribute to the area's or state's economy.

7. That in the event the business does not complete the agreement, the business will provide the department with the reasons the business was unable to complete the agreement.

(b) Compliance with the terms and conditions of the agreement is a condition precedent for the receipt of a tax refund each year. The failure to comply with the terms and conditions of the tax refund agreement results in the loss of eligibility for receipt of all tax refunds previously authorized under this section and the revocation by the department of the certification of the business entity as a qualified target industry business, unless the business is eligible to receive and elects to accept a prorated refund under paragraph (6)(e), the department grants the business a prorated refund under paragraph (6)(f), or the department grants the business an economic recovery extension.

1. A qualified target industry business may submit a request to the department for a prorated refund under paragraph (6)(f) or for an economic recovery extension. The request must provide quantitative evidence demonstrating how negative economic conditions in the business's industry, the effects of a named hurricane or tropical storm, or specific acts of terrorism affecting the qualified target industry business have prevented the business from complying with the terms and conditions of its tax refund agreement.

2. Upon receipt of a request under subparagraph 1., the department has 45 days to notify the requesting business, in writing, whether its ~~request extension~~ has been granted or denied. In determining whether a ~~request an extension~~ should be granted, the department shall consider the extent to which negative economic conditions in the requesting business's industry have occurred in the state or the effects of a named hurricane or tropical storm or specific acts of terrorism affecting the qualified target industry business have prevented the business from complying with the terms and conditions of its tax refund agreement. The department shall consider current employment statistics for this state by industry, including whether the business's industry had substantial job loss during the prior year, when determining whether a ~~request an extension~~ shall be granted.

3. As a condition for receiving a prorated refund under paragraph (6)(e) or paragraph (6)(f) or an economic recovery extension under this paragraph, a qualified target industry business must agree to renegotiate its tax refund agreement with the department to, at a minimum, ensure that the terms of the agreement comply with current law and the department's procedures governing application for and award of tax refunds. Upon approving the award of a prorated refund or granting an economic recovery extension, the department shall renegotiate the tax refund agreement with the business as required by this subparagraph. When amending the agreement of a business receiving an economic recovery extension, the department may extend the duration of the agreement for a period not to exceed 2 years.

4. A qualified target industry business may submit a request for an economic recovery extension to the department in lieu of any tax refund claim scheduled to be submitted after January 1, 2009, but before July 1, 2012.

5. A qualified target industry business that receives an economic recovery extension may not receive a tax refund for the period covered by the extension.

(c) The agreement must be signed by the executive director and by an authorized officer of the qualified target industry business within 120 days after the issuance of the letter of certification under subsection (4), but not before passage and receipt of the resolution of local financial support. The department may grant an extension of this period at the written request of the qualified target industry business.

(d) The agreement must contain the following legend, clearly printed on its face in bold type of not less than 10 points in size: "This agreement is not a general obligation of the State of Florida, nor is it backed by the full faith and credit of the State of Florida. Payment of tax refunds is conditioned on and subject to specific annual appropriations by the Florida Legislature sufficient to pay amounts authorized in section 288.106, Florida Statutes."

(6) ANNUAL CLAIM FOR REFUND.—

(a) To be eligible to claim any scheduled tax refund, a qualified target industry business that has entered into a tax refund agreement with the department under subsection (5) must apply by January 31 of each fiscal year to the department for the tax refund scheduled to be paid from the appropriation for the fiscal year that begins on July 1 following the January 31 claims-submission date. The department may, upon written request, grant a 30-day extension of the filing date.

(b) The claim for refund by the qualified target industry business must include a copy of all receipts pertaining to the payment of taxes for which the refund is sought and data related to achievement of each performance item specified in the tax refund agreement. The amount requested as a tax refund may not exceed the amount specified for the relevant fiscal year in that agreement.

(c) The department may waive the requirement for proof of taxes paid in future years for a qualified target industry business that provides the Department of Economic Opportunity office with proof that, in a single year, the business has paid an amount of state taxes from the categories in paragraph (3)(d) ~~which that~~ is at least equal to the total amount of tax refunds that the business may receive through successful completion of its tax refund agreement.

(d) A tax refund may not be approved for a qualified target industry business unless the required local financial support has been paid into the account for that refund. If the local financial support provided is less than 20 percent of the approved tax refund, the tax refund must be reduced. In no event may the tax refund exceed an amount that is equal to 5 times the amount of the local financial support received. Further, funding from local sources includes any tax abatement granted to that business under s. 196.1995 or the appraised market value of municipal or county land conveyed or provided at a discount to that business. The amount of any tax refund for such business approved under this section must be reduced by the amount of any such tax abatement granted or the value of the land granted, and the limitations in subsection (3) and paragraph (4)(e) must be reduced by the amount of any such tax abatement or the value of the land granted. A report listing all sources of the local financial support shall be provided to the Department of Economic Opportunity ~~office~~ when such support is paid to the account.

(e) A prorated tax refund, less a 5 percent ~~5 percent~~ penalty, shall be approved for a qualified target industry business if all other applicable requirements have been satisfied and the business proves to the satisfaction of the Department of Economic Opportunity ~~office~~ that:

1. It has achieved at least 80 percent of its projected employment; and
2. The average wage paid by the business is at least 90 percent of the average wage specified in the tax refund agreement, but in no case less than 115 percent of the average private sector wage in the area available at the time of certification, or 150 percent or 200 percent of the average private sector wage if the business requested the additional per-job tax refund authorized in paragraph (3)(b) for wages above those levels. The prorated tax refund shall be calculated by multiplying the tax refund amount for which the qualified target industry business would have been eligible, if all applicable requirements had been satisfied, by the percentage of the average employment specified in the tax refund agreement which was achieved, and by the percentage of the average wages specified in the tax refund agreement which was achieved.

(f) A prorated tax refund, less a 10 percent penalty, may be approved for a qualified target industry business if all other applicable requirements have been satisfied and the business proves to the satisfaction of the department that:

1. The business's project has resulted in the creation of at least 10 jobs; and
2. The average wage paid by the business is at least 90 percent of the average wage specified in the tax refund agreement, but in no case less than 115 percent of the average private sector wage in the area available at the time of certification, or 150 percent or 200 percent of the average private sector wage if the business requested the additional per-job tax refund authorized in paragraph (3)(b) for wages above those levels. The prorated tax refund shall be calculated by multiplying the tax refund amount for which the qualified target industry business would have been eligible, if all applicable requirements had been satisfied, by the percentage of the average employment specified in the tax refund agreement which was achieved, and by the percentage of the average wages specified in the tax refund agreement which was achieved.

(g) ~~(f)~~ The department, with such assistance as may be required from the Department of Revenue, shall, by June 30 following the scheduled date for submission of the tax refund claim, specify by written order the approval or disapproval of the tax refund claim and, if approved, the amount of the tax refund that is authorized to be paid to the qualified target industry business for the annual tax refund. The department may grant an extension of this date on the request of the qualified target industry business for the purpose of filing additional information in support of the claim.

(h) ~~(g)~~ The total amount of tax refund claims approved by the department under this section in any fiscal year must not exceed the amount authorized under s. 288.095(3).

(i) ~~(h)~~ This section does not create a presumption that a tax refund claim will be approved and paid.

(j) ~~(i)~~ Upon approval of the tax refund under paragraphs (d), (e), (f), and (g) ~~(h)~~, the Chief Financial Officer shall issue a warrant for the amount specified in the written order. If the written order is appealed, the Chief Financial Officer may not issue a warrant for a refund to the qualified target industry business until the conclusion of all appeals of that order.

And the title is amended as follows:

Between lines 1253 and 1254 insert: 288.106, F.S.; permitting a business that fails to satisfy the terms of its agreement with the Department of Economic Opportunity to apply for a prorated tax refund; amending s.

CS for SJR 1056—A joint resolution proposing an amendment to Section 6 of Article VII and the creation of Section 32 of Article XII of the State Constitution to allow the Legislature by general law to provide ad valorem homestead property tax relief to the surviving spouse of a military veteran who died from service-connected causes while on active duty or a surviving spouse of a first responder who died in the line of duty, provide definitions with respect thereto, and provide an effective date.

Be It Resolved by the Legislature of the State of Florida:

That the following amendment to Section 6 of Article VII and the creation of Section 32 of Article XII of the State Constitution are agreed to and shall be submitted to the electors of this state for approval or rejection at the next general election or at an earlier special election specifically authorized by law for that purpose:

ARTICLE VII

FINANCE AND TAXATION

SECTION 6. Homestead exemptions.—

(a) Every person who has the legal or equitable title to real estate and maintains thereon the permanent residence of the owner, or another legally or naturally dependent upon the owner, shall be exempt from taxation thereon, except assessments for special benefits, up to the assessed valuation of twenty-five thousand dollars and, for all levies other than school district levies, on the assessed valuation greater than fifty thousand dollars and up to seventy-five thousand dollars, upon establishment of right thereto in the manner prescribed by law. The real estate may be held by legal or equitable title, by the entireties, jointly, in common, as a condominium, or indirectly by stock ownership or membership representing the owner’s or member’s proprietary interest in a corporation owning a fee or a leasehold initially in excess of ninety-eight years. The exemption shall not apply with respect to any assessment roll until such roll is first determined to be in compliance with the provisions of section 4 by a state agency designated by general law. This exemption is repealed on the effective date of any amendment to this Article which provides for the assessment of homestead property at less than just value.

(b) Not more than one exemption shall be allowed any individual or family unit or with respect to any residential unit. No exemption shall exceed the value of the real estate assessable to the owner or, in case of ownership through stock or membership in a corporation, the value of the proportion which the interest in the corporation bears to the assessed value of the property.

(c) By general law and subject to conditions specified therein, the Legislature may provide to renters, who are permanent residents, ad valorem tax relief on all ad valorem tax levies. Such ad valorem tax relief shall be in the form and amount established by general law.

(d) The legislature may, by general law, allow counties or municipalities, for the purpose of their respective tax levies and subject to the provisions of general law, to grant an additional homestead tax exemption not exceeding fifty thousand dollars to any person who has the legal or equitable title to real estate and maintains thereon the permanent residence of the owner and who has attained age sixty-five and whose household income, as defined by general law, does not exceed twenty thousand dollars. The general law must allow counties and municipalities to grant this additional exemption, within the limits prescribed in this subsection, by ordinance adopted in the manner prescribed by general law, and must provide for the periodic adjustment of the income limitation prescribed in this subsection for changes in the cost of living.

(e) Each veteran who is age 65 or older who is partially or totally permanently disabled shall receive a discount from the amount of the ad valorem tax otherwise owed on homestead property the veteran owns and resides in if the disability was combat related, the veteran was a resident of this state at the time of entering the military service of the United States, and the veteran was honorably discharged upon separation from military service. The discount shall be in a percentage equal to the percentage of the veteran's permanent, service-connected disability as determined by the United States Department of Veterans Affairs. To qualify for the discount granted by this subsection, an applicant must submit to the county property appraiser, by March 1, proof of residency at the time of entering military service, an official letter from the United States Department of Veterans Affairs stating the percentage of the veteran's service-connected disability and such evidence that reasonably identifies the disability as combat related, and a copy of the veteran's honorable discharge. If the property appraiser denies the request for a discount, the appraiser must notify the applicant in writing of the reasons for the denial, and the veteran may reapply. The Legislature may, by general law, waive the annual application requirement in subsequent years. This subsection shall take effect December 7, 2006, is self-executing, and does not require implementing legislation.

(f)(1) By general law and subject to conditions and limitations specified therein, the Legislature may provide ad valorem tax relief equal to the total amount or a portion of the ad valorem tax otherwise owed on homestead property to the surviving spouse of:

a. A veteran who died from service-connected causes while on active duty as a member of the United States Armed Forces.

b. A first responder who died in the line of duty.

(2) As used in this subsection and as further defined by general law, the term:

(3) If the totally and permanently disabled veteran predeceases his or her spouse and if, upon the death of the veteran, the spouse holds the legal or beneficial title to the homestead and permanently resides thereon as specified in s. 196.031, the exemption from taxation carries over to the benefit of the veteran’s spouse until such time as he or she remarries or sells or otherwise disposes of the property. ~~(a)(b)~~ The production of the letter by the surviving spouse which of a letter that was issued as required under paragraph (a) and that attests to the veteran’s death while on active duty is prima facie evidence of the fact that the surviving spouse is entitled to the an exemption under paragraph (a).

~~(b)(c)~~ The tax exemption that applies under paragraph (a) to the surviving spouse carries over to the benefit of the veteran’s surviving spouse as long as the spouse holds the legal or beneficial title to the homestead, permanently resides thereon as specified in s. 196.031, and does not remarry. If the surviving spouse sells the property, an exemption not to exceed the amount granted from the most recent ad valorem tax roll may be transferred to his or her new residence as long as it is used as his or her primary residence and he or she does not remarry.

(5) Any real estate that is owned and used as a homestead by the surviving spouse of a first responder who died in the line of duty while employed by the state or any political subdivision of the state, including authorities and special districts, and for whom a letter from the state or appropriate political subdivision of the state, or other authority or special district, has been issued which legally recognizes and certifies that the first responder died in the line of duty while employed as a first responder is exempt from taxation if the first responder and his or her surviving spouse were permanent residents of this state on January 1 of the year in which the first responder died.

(a) The production of the letter by the surviving spouse which attests to the first responder’s death in the line of duty is prima facie evidence that the surviving spouse is entitled to the exemption.

(b) The tax exemption applies as long as the surviving spouse holds the legal or beneficial title to the homestead, permanently resides thereon as specified in s. 196.031, and does not remarry. Section 7. Section 627.215, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

627.215 Excessive profits for ~~workers' compensation, employer's liability, commercial property, and commercial casualty insurance~~ prohibited.—

(1)(a) Each insurer group writing ~~workers' compensation and employer's liability insurance as defined in s. 624.605(1)(e)~~, commercial property insurance as defined in s. 627.0625, commercial umbrella liability insurance as defined in s. 627.0625, or commercial casualty insurance as defined in s. 627.0625 shall file with the office ~~before prior to~~ July 1 of each year, on a form prescribed by the commission, the following data for the component types of such insurance as provided in the form:

1. Calendar-year earned premium.
2. Accident-year incurred losses and loss adjustment expenses.
3. The administrative and selling expenses incurred in this state or allocated to this state for the calendar year.
4. Policyholder dividends applicable to the calendar year.

This paragraph does not ~~Nothing herein is intended to~~ prohibit an insurer from filing on a calendar-year basis.

(b) The data filed for the group shall be a consolidation of the data of the individual insurers of the group. However, an insurer may elect to either consolidate commercial umbrella liability insurance data with commercial casualty insurance data or to separately file data for commercial umbrella liability insurance. Each insurer shall elect its method of filing commercial umbrella liability insurance at the time of filing data for accident year 1987 and shall thereafter continue filing under the same method. In the case of commercial umbrella liability insurance data reported separately, a separate excessive profits test shall be applied and the test period shall be 10 years. ~~In the case of workers' compensation and employer's liability insurance, the final report for the test period including accident years 1984, 1985, and 1986 must be filed prior to July 1, 1988. In the case of commercial property and commercial casualty insurance, the final report for the test period including accident years 1987, 1988, and 1989 must be filed prior to July 1, 1991.~~

(2) ~~Each insurer group writing workers' compensation and employer's liability insurance shall also file a schedule of Florida loss and loss adjustment experience for each of the 3 years previous to the most recent accident year. The incurred losses and loss adjustment expenses shall be valued as of December 31 of the first year following the latest accident year to be reported, developed to an ultimate basis, and at two 12 month intervals thereafter, each developed to an ultimate basis, so that a total of three evaluations will be provided for each accident year. The first year to be so reported shall be accident year 1984, so that the reporting of 3 accident years under this revised evaluation will not take place until accident years 1985 and 1986 have become available. For reporting purposes unrelated to determining excessive profits, the loss and loss adjustment experience of each accident year shall continue to be reported until each accident year has been reported at eight stages of development.~~

(2)(3)(a) Each insurer group writing commercial property insurance or commercial casualty insurance shall also file a schedule of Florida loss and loss adjustment experience for each of the 3 years previous to the most recent accident year. The incurred losses and loss adjustment expenses shall be valued as of December 31 of the first year following the latest accident year, developed to an ultimate basis, and at two 12-month intervals thereafter, each developed to an ultimate basis, so that a total of 3 evaluations will be provided for each accident year. ~~The first year to be so reported shall be accident year 1987, which shall first be reported on or before July 1, 1989, and the reporting of 3 accident years will not take place until accident years 1988 and 1989 have become available. For medical malpractice insurance, the first year to be so reported shall be accident year 1990, which shall first be reported on or before July 1, 1992, and the reporting of 3 accident years for full inclusion of medical malpractice experience in commercial casualty insurance will not take place until accident years 1991 and 1992 become available. Accordingly, no medical malpractice insured shall be eligible for refunds or credits until the reporting period ending with calendar accident year 1992.~~ For reporting purposes unrelated to determining excess profits, the loss and loss adjustment experience of each accident year shall continue to be reported until each accident year has been reported at eight stages of development.

(b) Each insurer group writing commercial umbrella liability insurance which elects to file separate data for such insurance shall also file a schedule of Florida loss and loss adjustment experience for each of the 10 years previous to the most recent accident year. The incurred losses and loss adjustment expenses shall be valued as of December 31 of the first year following the latest accident year, developed to an ultimate basis, and at nine 12-month intervals thereafter, each developed to an ultimate basis, so that a total of 10 evaluations will be provided for each accident year. ~~The first year to be so reported shall be accident year 1987, which shall first be reported on or before October 1, 1989, and the reporting of 10 accident years will not take place until accident year 1996 data is reported.~~

(3)(4) Each insurer group's underwriting gain or loss for each calendar-accident year shall be computed as follows: The sum of the accident-year incurred losses and loss adjustment expenses as of December 31 of the year, developed to an ultimate basis, plus the administrative and selling expenses incurred in the calendar year, plus policyholder dividends applicable to the calendar year, shall be subtracted from the calendar-year earned premium to determine the underwriting gain or loss.

(4)(5) For the 3 most recent calendar-accident years for which data is to be filed under this section, the underwriting gain or loss shall be compared to the anticipated underwriting profit, except in the case of separately reported commercial umbrella liability insurance for which such comparison shall be made for the 10 most recent calendar-accident years.

~~(6) For those insurer groups writing workers' compensation and employer's liability insurance during the years 1984, 1985, 1986, 1987, and 1988, an excessive profit has been realized if underwriting gain is greater than the anticipated underwriting profit plus 5 percent of earned premiums for the 3 most recent calendar years for which data is to be filed under this section. Any excess profit of an insurance company offering workers' compensation or employer's liability insurance during this period of time, shall be returned to policyholders in the form of a cash refund or a credit toward future purchase of insurance. The excessive amount shall be refunded on a pro rata basis in relation to the final compilation year earned premiums to the workers' compensation policyholders of record of the insurer group on December 31 of the final compilation year.~~

(5)(7)(a) Beginning with the July 1, 1991, report for ~~workers' compensation insurance, employer's liability insurance,~~ commercial property insurance, and commercial casualty insurance, an excessive profit has been realized if the net aggregate underwriting gain for all these lines combined is greater than the net aggregate anticipated underwriting profit for these lines plus 5 percent of earned premiums for the 3 most recent calendar years for which data is to be filed under this section. For calculation purposes commercial property insurance and commercial casualty insurance shall be broken down into sublines in order to ascertain the anticipated underwriting profit factor versus the actual underwriting gain for the given subline.

(b) Beginning with the July 1, 1998, report for commercial umbrella liability insurance, if an insurer has elected to file data separately for such insurance, an excessive profit has been realized if the underwriting gain for such insurance is greater than the anticipated underwriting profit for such insurance plus 5 percent of earned premiums for the 10 most recent calendar years for which data is to be filed under this section.

(6)(8) As used in this section with respect to any 3-year period, or with respect to any 10-year period in the case of commercial umbrella liability insurance, "anticipated underwriting profit" means the sum of the dollar amounts obtained by multiplying, for each rate filing of the insurer group in effect during such period, the earned premiums applicable to such rate filing during such period by the percentage factor included in such rate filing for profit and contingencies, such percentage factor having been determined with due recognition to investment income from funds generated by Florida business, except that the anticipated underwriting profit for the purposes of this section shall be calculated using a profit and contingencies factor that is not less than zero. Separate calculations need not be made for consecutive rate filings containing the same percentage factor for profits and contingencies.

(7)(9) If the insurer group has realized an excessive profit, the office shall order a return of the excessive amounts after affording the insurer group an opportunity for hearing and otherwise complying with the requirements of chapter 120. Such excessive amounts shall be refunded in all instances unless the insurer group affirmatively demonstrates to the office that the refund of the excessive amounts will render a member of the insurer group financially impaired or will render it insolvent under the provisions of the Florida Insurance Code.

(8)(10) Any excess profit of an insurance company ~~as determined on July 1, 1991, and thereafter~~ shall be returned to policyholders in the form of a cash refund or a credit toward the future purchase of insurance. The excessive amount shall be refunded on a pro rata basis in relation to the final compilation year earned premiums to the policyholders of record of the insurer group on December 31 of the final compilation year.

(9)(11)(a) Cash refunds to policyholders may be rounded to the nearest dollar.

(b) Data in required reports to the office may be rounded to the nearest dollar.

(c) Rounding, if elected by the insurer, shall be applied consistently.

(10)(12)(a) Refunds shall be completed in one of the following ways:

1. If the insurer group elects to make a cash refund, the refund shall be completed within 60 days ~~of~~ entry of a final order indicating that excessive profits have been realized.

2. If the insurer group elects to make refunds in the form of a credit to renewal policies, such credits shall be applied to policy renewal premium notices which are forwarded to insureds more than 60 calendar days after entry of a final order indicating that excessive profits have been realized. If an insurer group has made this election but an insured thereafter cancels her or his policy or otherwise allows the policy to terminate, the insurer group shall make a cash refund ~~within not later than~~ 60 days after termination of such coverage.

(b) Upon completion of the renewal credits or refund payments, the insurer group shall immediately certify to the office that the refunds have been made.

(11)(13) Any refund or renewal credit made pursuant to this section shall be treated as a policyholder dividend applicable to the year immediately succeeding the compilation period giving rise to the refund or credit, for purposes of reporting under this section for subsequent years.

(12)(14) The application of this law to commercial property and commercial casualty insurance, which includes commercial umbrella liability insurance, ceases on January 1, 1997.

Section 8. Subsection (8) is added to section 627.4133, Florida Statutes, to read:

627.4133 Notice of cancellation, nonrenewal, or renewal premium.—

(8) Upon expiration of the policy term, an insurer may transfer a commercial lines policy to another authorized insurer that is a member of the same group or owned by the same holding company as the transferring insurer. The transfer constitutes a renewal of the policy and may not be treated as a cancellation or a nonrenewal of the policy. The insurer must provide notice of its intent to transfer the policy at least 45 days before the effective date of the transfer along with the financial rating of the authorized insurer to which the policy is being transferred. Such notice may be provided in the notice of renewal premium. This subsection does not apply to a policy providing residential property insurance coverage, except for farmowners insurance and commercial general liability policies providing farm coverage or commercial property policies providing farm coverage.

Section 9. Subsection (2) of section 627.442, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

627.442 Insurance contracts.—

(2) Notwithstanding s. 440.381(3), an insurer having at least $200 million in surplus, or an insurer within an insurer group that has at least $400 million in surplus, as reflected in the combined annual statement filed by the insurer group with the office, is not required to perform physical onsite premium audits ~~are not required~~ for workers' compensation coverage, other than an audit required by the insurance policy or an order of the office, or ~~at least once each policy period~~, if requested by the insured.

Section 10. Subsection (4) of section 628.6017, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

628.6017 Converting assessable mutual insurer.—

(4) An assessable mutual insurer becoming a stock insurer or a nonassessable mutual insurer ~~is shall~~ not be subject to s. 627.215 or s. 627.351(5) for 5 years following authorization of the conversion by the office. Section 4. Section 985.632, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

985.632 Quality assurance and cost-effectiveness.—

(1) It is the intent of the Legislature that the department:

(a) Ensure that information be provided to decisionmakers in a timely manner so that resources are allocated to programs of the department which achieve desired performance levels.

(b) Provide information about the cost of such programs and their differential effectiveness so that the quality of such programs can be compared and improvements made continually.

(c) Provide information to aid in developing related policy issues and concerns.

(d) Provide information to the public about the effectiveness of such programs in meeting established goals and objectives.

(e) Provide a basis for a system of accountability so that each client is afforded the best programs to meet his or her needs.

(f) Improve service delivery to clients.

(g) Modify or eliminate activities that are not effective.

(2) As used in this section, the term:

(a) "Client" means any person who is being provided treatment or services by the department or by a provider under contract with the department.

(b) "Program component" means an aggregation of generally related objectives which, because of their special character, related workload, and interrelated output, can logically be considered an entity for purposes of organization, management, accounting, reporting, and budgeting.

(c) "Program effectiveness" means the ability of the program to achieve desired client outcomes, goals, and objectives.

(3) The department shall annually collect and report cost data for every program operated by the department or its contracted provider ~~or contracted by the department~~. The cost data shall conform to a format approved by the department and the Legislature. Uniform cost data shall be reported and collected for each education program operated by a school district or private provider contracted by a school district ~~state-operated and contracted programs~~ so that comparisons can be made among programs. The Department of Education shall ensure that there is accurate cost accounting for education programs operated by school districts, including those programs operated by private providers under contract with school districts ~~state-operated services including market equivalent rent and other shared cost~~. The cost of the educational program provided to a residential facility shall be reported and included in the cost of a program. The Department of Education shall submit an annual cost data report to the department ~~President of the Senate, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, the Minority Leader of each house of the Legislature, the appropriate substantive and fiscal committees of each house of the Legislature, and the Governor, no later than December 1 of each year~~. The annual cost data shall be included in the annual report required in subsection (7). Cost-benefit analysis for juvenile justice education ~~educational~~ programs shall will be developed and implemented in collaboration with and in cooperation with the Department of Education, local providers, and local school districts. ~~Cost data for the report shall include data collected by the Department of Education for the purposes of preparing the annual report required by s. 1003.52(19).~~

(4)(a) The department, in consultation with the Office of Economic and Demographic Research and contract service providers, shall develop a cost-effectiveness model and apply the model to each commitment program. Program recidivism rates shall be a component of the model. The cost-effectiveness model shall compare program costs to client outcomes and program outputs. It is the intent of the Legislature that continual development efforts take place to improve the validity and reliability of the cost-effectiveness model.

(b) The department shall rank commitment programs based on the cost-effectiveness model and shall submit a report to the appropriate substantive and fiscal committees of each house of the Legislature by December 31 of each year.

(c) Based on reports of the department on client outcomes and program outputs and on the department's most recent cost-effectiveness rankings, the department may terminate a program operated by the department or a provider if the program has failed to achieve a minimum threshold of program effectiveness. This paragraph does not preclude the department from terminating a contract as provided under this section or as otherwise provided by law or contract, and does not limit the department's authority to enter into or terminate a contract.

(d) In collaboration with the Office of Economic and Demographic Research, and contract service providers, the department shall develop a work plan to refine the cost-effectiveness model so that the model is consistent with the performance-based program budgeting measures approved by the Legislature to the extent the department deems appropriate. The department shall notify the Office of Program Policy Analysis and Government Accountability of any meetings to refine the model.

(e) Contingent upon specific appropriation, the department, in consultation with the Office of Economic and Demographic Research, and contract service providers, shall:

1. Construct a profile of each commitment program that uses the results of the quality assurance report required by this section, the cost-effectiveness report required in this subsection, and other reports available to the department.

2. Target, for a more comprehensive evaluation, any commitment program that has achieved consistently high, low, or disparate ratings in the reports required under subparagraph 1.

3. Identify the essential factors that contribute to the high, low, or disparate program ratings.

4. Use the results of these evaluations in developing or refining juvenile justice programs or program models, client outcomes and program outputs, provider contracts, quality assurance standards, and the cost-effectiveness model.

(5)(a) Program effectiveness shall be determined by implementing systematic data collection, data analysis, and education and workforce-related program evaluations pursuant to this section and s. 1003.515.

(b) The evaluation of juvenile justice education and workforce-related programs shall be based on the performance outcomes provided in s. 1003.515(7).

(6)(5) The department shall:

(a) Establish a comprehensive quality assurance system for each program operated by the department or its contracted provider ~~operated by a provider under contract with the department~~. Each contract entered into by the department must provide for quality assurance.

(b) Provide operational definitions of and criteria for quality assurance for each specific program component.

(c) Establish quality assurance goals and objectives for each specific program component.

(d) Establish the information and specific data elements required for the quality assurance program.

(e) Develop a quality assurance manual of specific, standardized terminology and procedures to be followed by each program.

(f) Evaluate each program operated by the department or its contracted ~~a provider under a contract with the department~~ and establish minimum thresholds for each program component. If a provider fails to meet the established minimum thresholds, such failure shall cause the department to cancel the provider's contract unless the provider achieves compliance with minimum thresholds within 6 months or unless there are documented extenuating circumstances. In addition, the department may not contract with the same provider for the canceled service for a period of 12 months. If a department-operated program fails to meet the established minimum thresholds, the department must take necessary and sufficient steps to ensure and document program changes to achieve compliance with the established minimum thresholds. If the department-operated program fails to achieve compliance with the established minimum thresholds within 6 months and if there are no documented extenuating circumstances, the department must notify the Executive Office of the Governor and the Legislature of the corrective action taken. Appropriate corrective action may include, but is not limited to:

1. Contracting out for the services provided in the program;
2. Initiating appropriate disciplinary action against all employees whose conduct or performance is deemed to have materially contributed to the program's failure to meet established minimum thresholds;
3. Redesigning the program; or
4. Realigning the program.

The department shall submit an annual report to the President of the Senate, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, the Minority Leader of each house of the Legislature, the appropriate substantive and fiscal committees of each house of the Legislature, and the Governor, no later than February 1 of each year. The annual report must contain, at a minimum, for each specific program component: a comprehensive description of the population served by the program; a specific description of the services provided by the program; cost; a comparison of expenditures to federal and state funding; immediate and long-range concerns; and recommendations to maintain, expand, improve, modify, or eliminate each program component so that changes in services lead to enhancement in program quality. The department shall ensure the reliability and validity of the information contained in the report.

(7) The department, in collaboration with the Department of Education and in consultation with the school districts and private juvenile justice education program providers, shall prepare an annual report containing the education performance outcomes, based on the criteria in s. 1003.515(7), of youth in juvenile justice education programs. The report shall delineate the performance outcomes of youth in the state, in each school district's juvenile justice education program, and for each private provider's juvenile justice education program, including the performance outcomes of all major student populations and genders, as determined by the Department of Education. The report shall address the use and successful completion of virtual instruction courses and the successful implementation of transition and reintegration plans. The report must include an analysis of the performance of youth over time, including, but not limited to, additional education attainment, employment, earnings, industry certification, and rates of recidivism. The report must also include recommendations for improving performance outcomes and for additional cost savings and efficiencies. The report shall be submitted to the Governor, the President of the Senate, and the Speaker of the House of Representatives by February 15, 2014, and each year thereafter.

(8)(6) The department shall collect and analyze available statistical data for the purpose of ongoing evaluation of all programs. The department shall provide the Legislature with necessary information and reports to enable the Legislature to make informed decisions regarding the effectiveness of, and any needed changes in, services, programs, policies, and laws.

(15)(a) The Department of Education in consultation with the Department of Juvenile Justice, district school boards, and providers shall establish objective and measurable quality assurance standards for the educational component of residential and nonresidential juvenile justice facilities. These standards shall rate the district school board's performance both as a provider and contractor. The quality assurance rating for the educational component shall be disaggregated from the overall quality assurance score and reported separately.

The Department of Juvenile Justice quality assurance site visit and the education quality assurance site visit shall be conducted during the same visit.

If a district school board fails to meet the established minimum standards, it will be given 6 months to achieve compliance with the standards. If after 6 months, the district school board's performance is still below minimum standards, the Department of Education shall exercise sanctions as prescribed by rules adopted by the State Board of Education. If a provider, under contract with the district school board, fails to meet minimum standards, such failure shall cause the district school board to cancel the provider's contract unless the provider achieves compliance within 6 months or unless there are documented extenuating circumstances.

(d) The requirements in paragraphs (a), (b), and (c) shall be implemented to the extent that funds are available.

(16) The district school board shall not be charged any rent, maintenance, utilities, or overhead on such facilities. Maintenance, repairs, and remodeling of existing facilities shall be provided by the Department of Juvenile Justice.

To be included on a registry, an attorney also must enter into a contract for services with the Justice Administrative Commission. Failure to comply with the terms of the contract for services may result in termination of the contract and removal from the registry. Each attorney on the registry shall be responsible for notifying the clerk of the court and the Justice Administrative Commission of any change in his or her status. Failure to comply with this requirement shall be cause for termination of the contract for services and removal from the registry until the requirement is fulfilled. In addition to general registries, the chief judge may establish limited registries that include only those attorneys willing to waive compensation in excess of the flat fee prescribed in s. 27.5304, notwithstanding the provisions of s. 27.5304(12).

An attorney not appointed in the order in which his or her name appears on the list shall remain next in order.

(c) If the number of attorneys on the registry in a county or circuit for a particular category of cases is inadequate, the chief judge of the particular circuit shall provide to the clerk of court the names of at least three private attorneys who have relevant experience. The clerk of court shall send an application to each of these attorneys to register for appointment.

(d) Quarterly, each chief judge shall provide a current copy of each registry to the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, the state attorney and public defender in each judicial circuit, the office of criminal conflict and civil regional counsel, the clerk of court in each county, and the Justice Administrative Commission. ~~From October 1, 2005, through September 30, 2007, Circuits utilizing a limited registry list as allowed by paragraph (a) the report submitted by the Eleventh Judicial Circuit shall include the race, gender, and national origin of all attorneys listed in and appointed under the limited registry.~~

The Supreme Court Judicial Nominating Commission, in addition to the current regional counsel, shall recommend to the Governor not fewer than two or more than five additional ~~three~~ qualified candidates for appointment to each of the five regional counsel positions. The Governor shall appoint the regional counsel for the five regions from among the recommendations, or, if it is in the best interest of the fair administration of justice, the Governor may reject the nominations and request that the Supreme Court Judicial Nominating Commission submit three new nominees. The regional counsel shall be appointed to a term of 4 years, the ~~first~~ term beginning on October 1, 2015 ~~July 1, 2007~~. Vacancies shall be filled in the ~~same manner provided in paragraph (b) as appointments.~~

(b) If for any reason a regional counsel is unable to complete a full term in office, the Governor may immediately appoint an interim regional counsel who meets the qualifications to be a regional counsel to serve as regional counsel for that district until a new regional counsel is appointed in the manner provided in paragraph (a). The Florida Supreme Court Judicial Nominating Commission shall provide the Governor with a list of nominees for appointment within 6 months after the date of the vacancy. A temporary vacancy in office does not affect the validity of any matters or activities of the office of regional counsel.

Section 3. Paragraph (a) of subsection (2) of section 27.52, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

27.52 Determination of indigent status.—

(2) DETERMINATION BY THE CLERK.—The clerk of the court shall determine whether an applicant seeking appointment of a public defender is indigent based upon the information provided in the application and the criteria prescribed in this subsection.

~~(a)~~ An applicant, including an applicant who is a minor or an adult tax-dependent person, is indigent if the applicant's income is equal to or below 200 percent of the then-current federal poverty guidelines prescribed for the size of the household of the applicant by the United States Department of Health and Human Services or if the person is receiving Temporary Assistance for Needy Families-Cash Assistance, poverty-related veterans' benefits, or Supplemental Security Income (SSI).

~~1.2.a.~~ There is a presumption that the applicant is not indigent if the applicant owns, or has equity in, any intangible or tangible personal property or real property or the expectancy of an interest in any such property having a net equity value of $2,500 or more, excluding the value of the person's homestead and one vehicle having a net value not exceeding $5,000.

~~2.b.~~ Notwithstanding the information that the applicant provides, the clerk ~~may shall~~ conduct a review of the property records for the county in which the applicant resides and the motor vehicle title records of the state to identify any property interests of the applicant under this ~~paragraph subparagraph~~. The clerk ~~may shall~~ evaluate and consider the results of the review in making a determination under this subsection. If the review is conducted, the clerk shall maintain the results of the review in a file with the application and provide the file to the court if the applicant seeks review under subsection (4) of the clerk's determination of indigent status.

Section 4. Section 27.5304, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

27.5304 Private court-appointed counsel; compensation; notice.—

(1) Private court-appointed counsel shall be compensated by the Justice Administrative Commission as provided in this section and the General Appropriations Act. The flat fees prescribed in this section are limitations on compensation. The specific flat fee amounts for compensation shall be established annually in the General Appropriations Act. The attorney also shall be reimbursed for reasonable and necessary expenses in accordance with s. 29.007. If the attorney is representing a defendant charged with more than one offense in the same case, the attorney shall be compensated at the rate provided for the most serious offense for which he or she represented the defendant. This section does not allow stacking of the fee limits established by this section.

(2) The Justice Administrative Commission shall review an intended billing by private court-appointed counsel for ~~attorney attorney's~~ fees based on a flat fee per case for completeness and compliance with contractual and statutory requirements. The commission may approve the intended bill for a flat fee per case for payment without approval by the court if the intended billing is correct. An intended billing that seeks compensation for any amount exceeding the flat fee established for a particular type of representation, as prescribed in the General Appropriations Act, shall comply with subsections (11) and (12).

(3) The court retains primary authority and responsibility for determining the reasonableness of all billings for ~~attorney~~ attorney's fees, costs, and related expenses, subject to statutory limitations. Private court-appointed counsel is entitled to compensation upon final disposition of a case.

(4)(a) The attorney shall submit a bill for ~~attorney~~ attorney's fees, costs, and related expenses within 90 days after the disposition of the case at the lower court level, notwithstanding any appeals. The Justice Administrative Commission shall provide by contract with the attorney for imposition of a penalty of:

1. Fifteen percent of the allowable ~~attorney~~ attorney's fees, costs, and related expenses for a bill that is submitted more than 90 days after the disposition of the case at the lower court level, notwithstanding any appeals;

2. For cases for which disposition occurs on or after July 1, 2010, 50 percent of the allowable ~~attorney~~ attorney's fees, costs, and related expenses for a bill that is submitted more than 1 year after the disposition of the case at the lower court level, notwithstanding any appeals; or

3. For cases for which disposition occurs on or after July 1, 2010, 75 percent of the allowable ~~attorney~~ attorney's fees, costs, and related expenses for a bill that is submitted more than 2 years after the disposition of the case at the lower court level, notwithstanding any appeals.

(b) For purposes of this subsection, the term "disposition" means:

1. At the trial court level, that the court has entered a final appealable judgment, unless rendition of judgment is stayed by the filing of a timely motion for rehearing. The filing of a notice of appeal does not stay the time for submission of an intended billing; and

2. At the appellate court level, that the court has issued its mandate.

(5) The compensation for representation in a criminal proceeding shall not exceed the following:

(a)1. For misdemeanors and juveniles represented at the trial level: $1,000.

2. For noncapital, nonlife felonies represented at the trial level: $2,500.

3. For life felonies represented at the trial level: $3,000.

4. For capital cases represented at the trial level: $15,000. For purposes of this subparagraph, a "capital case" is any offense for which the potential sentence is death and the state has not waived seeking the death penalty.

5. For representation on appeal: $2,000.

(b) If a death sentence is imposed and affirmed on appeal to the Supreme Court, the appointed attorney shall be allowed compensation, not to exceed $1,000, for ~~attorney~~ attorney's fees and costs incurred in representing the defendant as to an application for executive clemency, with compensation to be paid out of general revenue from funds budgeted to the Department of Corrections.

(6) For compensation for representation pursuant to a court appointment in a proceeding under chapter 39:

(a) At the trial level, compensation for representation for dependency proceedings shall not exceed $1,000 for the first year following the date of appointment and shall not exceed $200 each year thereafter. Compensation shall be paid based upon representation of a parent irrespective of the number of case numbers that may be assigned or the number of children involved, including any children born during the pendency of the proceeding. Any appeal, except for an appeal from an adjudication of dependency, shall be completed by the trial attorney and is considered compensated by the flat fee for dependency proceedings.

1. Counsel may bill the flat fee not exceeding $1,000 following disposition or upon dismissal of the petition.

2. Counsel may bill the annual flat fee not exceeding $200 following the first judicial review in the second year following the date of appointment and each year thereafter as long as the case remains under protective supervision.

3. If the court grants a motion to reactivate protective supervision, the attorney shall receive the annual flat fee not exceeding $200 following the first judicial review and up to an additional $200 each year thereafter.

4. If, during the course of dependency proceedings, a proceeding to terminate parental rights is initiated, compensation shall be as set forth in paragraph (b). If counsel handling the dependency proceeding is not authorized to handle proceedings to terminate parental rights, the counsel must withdraw and new counsel must be appointed.

(b) At the trial level, compensation for representation in termination of parental rights proceedings shall not exceed $1,000 for the first year following the date of appointment and shall not exceed $200 each year thereafter. Compensation shall be paid based upon representation of a parent irrespective of the number of case numbers that may be assigned or the number of children involved, including any children born during the pendency of the proceeding. Any appeal, except for an appeal from an order granting or denying termination of parental rights, shall be completed by trial counsel and is considered compensated by the flat fee for termination of parental rights proceedings. If the individual has dependency proceedings ongoing as to other children, those proceedings are considered part of the termination of parental rights proceedings as long as that termination of parental rights proceeding is ongoing.

1. Counsel may bill the flat fee not exceeding $1,000 30 days after rendition of the final order. Each request for payment submitted to the Justice Administrative Commission must include the trial counsel's certification that:

a. Counsel discussed grounds for appeal with the parent or that counsel attempted and was unable to contact the parent; and

b. No appeal will be filed or that a notice of appeal and a motion for appointment of appellate counsel, containing the signature of the parent, have been filed.

2. Counsel may bill the annual flat fee not exceeding $200 following the first judicial review in the second year after the date of appointment and each year thereafter as long as the termination of parental rights proceedings are still ongoing.

(c) For appeals from an adjudication of dependency, compensation may not exceed $1,000.

1. Counsel may bill a flat fee not exceeding $750 upon filing the initial brief or the granting of a motion to withdraw.

2. If a brief is filed, counsel may bill an additional flat fee not exceeding $250 upon rendition of the mandate.

(d) For an appeal from an adjudication of termination of parental rights, compensation may not exceed $2,000.

1. Counsel may bill a flat fee not exceeding $1,000 upon filing the initial brief or the granting of a motion to withdraw.

2. If a brief is filed, counsel may bill an additional flat fee not exceeding $1,000 upon rendition of the mandate.

(7) Counsel entitled to receive compensation from the state for representation pursuant to court appointment in a proceeding under chapter 384, chapter 390, chapter 392, chapter 393, chapter 394, chapter 397, chapter 415, chapter 743, chapter 744, or chapter 984 shall receive compensation not to exceed the limits prescribed in the General Appropriations Act.

(8) A private attorney appointed in lieu of the public defender or the criminal conflict and civil regional counsel to represent an indigent defendant may not reassign or subcontract the case to another attorney or allow another attorney to appear at a critical stage of a case who is not on the registry developed under s. 27.40.

(9) Private court-appointed counsel representing an individual in an appeal to a district court of appeal or the Supreme Court may submit a request for payment to the Justice Administrative Commission at the following intervals:

(a) Upon the filing of an appellate brief, including, but not limited to, a reply brief.

(b) When the opinion of the appellate court is finalized.

(10) Private court-appointed counsel may not bill for preparation of invoices.

(11) It is the intent of the Legislature that the flat fees prescribed under this section and the General Appropriations Act comprise the full and complete compensation for private court-appointed counsel. It is further the intent of the Legislature that the fees in this section are prescribed for the purpose of providing counsel with notice of the limit on the amount of compensation for representation in particular proceedings.

(a) If court-appointed counsel moves to withdraw prior to the full performance of his or her duties through the completion of the case, the court shall presume that the attorney is not entitled to the payment of the full flat fee established under this section and the General Appropriations Act.

(b) If court-appointed counsel is allowed to withdraw from representation prior to the full performance of his or her duties through the completion of the case and the court appoints a subsequent attorney, the total compensation for the initial and any and all subsequent attorneys may not exceed the flat fee established under this section and the General Appropriations Act, except as provided in subsection (12).

This subsection constitutes notice to any subsequently appointed attorney that he or she will not be compensated the full flat fee.

(12) The Legislature recognizes that on rare occasions an attorney may receive a case that requires extraordinary and unusual effort.

(a) If counsel seeks compensation that exceeds the limits prescribed by law ~~under this section and the General Appropriations Act~~, he or she must file a motion with the chief judge for an order approving payment of attorney ~~attorney's~~ fees in excess of these limits.

1. ~~Before~~ ~~Prior to~~ filing the motion, the counsel shall deliver a copy of the intended billing, together with supporting affidavits and all other necessary documentation, to the Justice Administrative Commission.

2. The Justice Administrative Commission shall review the billings, affidavit, and documentation for completeness and compliance with contractual and statutory requirements. If the Justice Administrative Commission objects to any portion of the proposed billing, the objection and supporting reasons ~~must therefor shall~~ be communicated in writing to the private court-appointed counsel. The counsel may thereafter file his or her motion, which must specify whether the commission objects to any portion of the billing or the sufficiency of documentation, and shall attach the commission's letter stating its objection.

(b) Following receipt of the motion to exceed the fee limits, the chief judge or a single designee shall hold an evidentiary hearing. The chief judge may select only one judge per circuit to hear and determine motions pursuant to this subsection, except multicounty circuits and the eleventh circuit may have up to two designees.

1. At the hearing, the attorney seeking compensation must prove by competent and substantial evidence that the case required extraordinary and unusual efforts. The chief judge or single designee shall consider criteria such as the number of witnesses, the complexity of the factual and legal issues, and the length of trial. The fact that a trial was conducted in a case does not, by itself, constitute competent substantial evidence of an extraordinary and unusual effort. In a criminal case, relief under this section may not be granted if the number of work hours does not exceed 75 or the number of the state's witnesses deposed does not exceed 20.

2. The chief judge or single designee shall enter a written order detailing his or her findings and identifying the extraordinary nature of the time and efforts of the attorney in the case which warrant exceeding the flat fee established by this section and the General Appropriations Act.

(c) A copy of the motion and attachments shall be served on the Justice Administrative Commission at least 5 business days ~~before~~ ~~prior to~~ the date of a hearing. The Justice Administrative Commission ~~has shall have~~ standing to appear before the court, including at the hearing under paragraph (b), to contest any motion for an order approving payment of attorney ~~attorney's~~ fees, costs, or related expenses and may participate in a hearing on the motion by use of telephonic or other communication equipment ~~unless ordered otherwise~~. The Justice Administrative Commission may contract with other public or private entities or individuals to appear before the court for the purpose of contesting any motion for an order approving payment of attorney ~~attorney's~~ fees, costs, or related expenses. The fact that the Justice Administrative Commission has not objected to any portion of the billing or to the sufficiency of the documentation is not binding on the court.

(d) If the chief judge or a single designee finds that counsel has proved by competent and substantial evidence that the case required extraordinary and unusual efforts, the chief judge or single designee shall order the compensation to be paid to the attorney at a percentage above the flat fee rate, depending on the extent of the unusual and extraordinary effort required. The percentage ~~must shall~~ be only the rate necessary to ensure that the fees paid are not confiscatory under common law. The percentage may not exceed 200 percent of the established flat fee, absent a specific finding that 200 percent of the flat fee in the case would be confiscatory. If the chief judge or single designee determines that 200 percent of the flat fee would be confiscatory, he or she shall order the amount of compensation using an hourly rate not to exceed $75 per hour for a noncapital case and $100 per hour for a capital case. However, the compensation calculated by using the hourly rate shall be only that amount necessary to ensure that the total fees paid are not confiscatory.

(e) Any order granting relief under this subsection must be attached to the final request for a payment submitted to the Justice Administrative Commission.

(f) For criminal cases only, if the court orders payment in excess of the flat fee established by law, fees shall be paid as follows:

1. The flat fee shall be paid from funds appropriated to the Justice Administrative Commission in the General Appropriations Act.

2. The amount ordered by the court in excess of the flat fee shall be paid by the Justice Administrative Commission in a special category designated for that purpose in the General Appropriations Act.

3. If, during the fiscal year, all funds designated for payment of the amount ordered by the court in excess of the flat fee are spent, the amount of payments in excess of the flat fee shall be made from the due process funds, or other funds as necessary, appropriated to the state courts system in the General Appropriations Act. Funds from the state courts system must be used in a manner approved by the Chief Justice and administered by the Trial Court Budget Commission.

(g) The Justice Administrative Commission shall provide to the Office of the State Courts Administrator monthly data by statewide uniform case number, attorney, and defendant name concerning:

1. Private court-appointed cases opened;
2. Cases paid and the amount of payment, including any amount in excess of the flat fee; and
3. Cases for which compensation was waived.

(h)(~~f~~) The Justice Administrative Commission shall provide monthly to the Office of the State Courts Administrator data concerning the number of cases approved for compensation in excess of the flat fee ~~limitation~~ and the amount of these awards by circuit and by judge. The Justice Administrative Commission ~~Office of the State Courts Administrator~~ shall report the data quarterly in an electronic format to the chairs of the legislative appropriations committees and the Office of the State Courts Administrator. ~~President of the Senate, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, and the chief judge of each circuit.~~

Each year ~~thereafter,~~ the office shall provide a status report and provide further recommendations to address the need for guardian ad litem services and related issues.

(a) Funding for the persons who are employed will be provided on at least a fiscal-year basis.

(b) The persons who are employed will be hired, supervised, managed, and terminated by the executive director of the Statewide Guardian Ad Litem Office. The statewide office is responsible for compliance with all requirements of federal and state employment laws, and shall fully indemnify the county from any liability under such laws, as authorized by s. 768.28(19), to the extent such liability is the result of the acts or omissions of the Statewide Guardian Ad Litem Office or its agents or employees.

The Conference Committee Amendment for SB 1964, Court-Related Assessments, provides for the following:

- Provides that a monetary assessment mandated by law shall be imposed and included in the judgment without regard to whether the assessment is announced in open court.
- Requires the clerks of court to develop a uniform form for the identification and imposition of all assessments mandated by statutes.
- Refines the definition of assessment data elements collected by the clerks of court.

Conference Committee Amendment (763580)(with title amendment)—Delete everything after the enacting clause and insert:

Section 1. Section 28.2457, Florida Statutes, is created to read:

28.2457 Mandatory monetary assessments.—

(1)(a) Except as otherwise provided by law, a monetary assessment mandated by statute shall be imposed and included in the judgment without regard to whether the assessment is announced in open court.

(b) When an assessment mandated by statute prescribes a minimum assessment and a maximum assessment, or prescribes solely a minimum assessment, the minimum assessment is presumed and shall be imposed and included in the judgment, unless the court specifies a greater amount.

(2) The clerks of court, through their association and in consultation with the Office of the State Courts Administrator, shall develop by October 1, 2012, a uniform form for the identification and imposition of all assessments mandated by statute. The clerks shall submit the form by that date, and by October 1 every year thereafter if necessary to reflect changes in the law, to the Supreme Court for approval. Upon approval of the form by the Supreme Court, all circuit and county courts shall use the form.

(3) As used in this section, the term "monetary assessment" or "assessment" includes, but is not limited to, a fine or other monetary penalty, fee, service charge, or cost.

Section 2. Section 28.246, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

28.246 Payment of court-related fines or other monetary penalties, fees, charges, and costs; partial payments; distribution of funds.—

(1) The clerk of the circuit court shall report the following information to the Legislature and the Florida Clerks of Court Operations Corporation on a form, and using guidelines developed by the clerks of court, through their association and in consultation with the Office of the State Courts Administrator ~~Department of Financial Services~~:

(a) The total amount of mandatory fees, service charges, and costs; ~~the total amount actually~~ assessed; the total amount underassessed, if any, which is the amount less than the minimum amount required by law to be discharged, waived, or otherwise not assessed; and the total amount collected.

(b) The total amount of discretionary fees, service charges, and costs assessed; ~~the total amount discharged~~; and the total amount collected.

(c) The total amount of mandatory fines and other monetary penalties; ~~the total amount~~ assessed; the total amount underassessed, if any, which is the amount less than the minimum amount required by law to be discharged, waived, or otherwise not assessed; and the total amount collected.

(d) The total amount of discretionary fines and other monetary penalties assessed; ~~the amount discharged~~; and the total amount collected.

~~If provided to the clerk of court by the judge, The clerk, in reporting to the Legislature and corporation amount assessed, shall separately identify the monetary amount assessed and subsequently discharged or converted pursuant to s. 938.20 as community service, assessed by reducing the amount to a judgment or lien, or to, satisfied by time served, or other. The form developed by the clerks Chief Financial Officer shall include separate entries for recording the amount discharged and the amount converted these amounts. If a court waives, suspends, or reduces an assessment as authorized by law, the portion waived, suspended, or reduced may not be deemed assessed or underassessed for purposes of the reporting requirements of this section. The clerk also shall report a collection rate for mandatory and discretionary assessments. In calculating the rate, the clerk shall deduct amounts discharged or converted from the amount assessed. The clerk shall submit the report on an annual basis 90 60 days after the end of the county fiscal year. The clerks and the courts shall develop by October 1, 2012, the form and guidelines to govern the accurate and consistent reporting statewide of assessments as provided in this section. The clerk shall use the new reporting form and guidelines in submitting the report for the county fiscal year ending September 30, 2013, and for each year thereafter.~~

(2) The clerk of the circuit court shall establish and maintain a system of accounts receivable for court-related fees, charges, and costs.

(3) Court costs, fines, and other dispositional assessments shall be enforced by order of the courts, collected by the clerks of the circuit and county courts, and disbursed in accordance with authorizations and procedures as established by general law.

(4) The clerk of the circuit court shall accept partial payments for court-related fees, service charges, costs, and fines in accordance with the terms of an established payment plan. An individual seeking to defer payment of fees, service charges, costs, or fines imposed by operation of law or order of the court under any provision of general law shall apply to the clerk for enrollment in a payment plan. The clerk shall enter into a payment plan with an individual who the court determines is indigent for costs. A monthly payment amount, calculated based upon all fees and all anticipated costs, is presumed to correspond to the person's ability to pay if the amount does not exceed 2 percent of the person's annual net income, as defined in s. 27.52(1), divided by 12. The court may review the reasonableness of the payment plan.

(5) When receiving partial payment of fees, service charges, court costs, and fines, clerks shall distribute funds according to the following order of priority:

(a) That portion of fees, service charges, court costs, and fines to be remitted to the state for deposit into the General Revenue Fund.

(b) That portion of fees, service charges, court costs, and fines ~~which are~~ required to be retained by the clerk of the court or deposited into the Clerks of the Court Trust Fund within the Justice Administrative Commission.

(c) That portion of fees, service charges, court costs, and fines payable to state trust funds, allocated on a pro rata basis among the various authorized funds if the total collection amount is insufficient to fully fund all such funds as provided by law.

(d) That portion of fees, service charges, court costs, and fines payable to counties, municipalities, or other local entities, allocated on a pro rata basis among the various authorized recipients if the total collection amount is insufficient to fully fund all such recipients as provided by law.

To offset processing costs, clerks may impose either a per-month service charge pursuant to s. 28.24(26)(b) or a one-time administrative processing service charge at the inception of the payment plan pursuant to s. 28.24(26)(c).

(6) A clerk of court shall pursue the collection of any fees, service charges, fines, court costs, and liens for the payment of attorney ~~attorney's~~ fees and costs pursuant to s. 938.29 which remain unpaid after 90 days by referring the account to a private attorney who is a member in good standing of The Florida Bar or collection agent who is registered and in good standing pursuant to chapter 559. In pursuing the collection of such unpaid financial obligations through a private attorney or collection agent, the clerk of the court must have attempted to collect the unpaid amount through a collection court, collections docket, or other collections process, if any, established by the court, find this to be cost-effective and follow any applicable procurement practices. The collection fee, including any reasonable attorney's fee, paid to any attorney or collection agent retained by the clerk may be added to the balance owed in an amount not to exceed 40 percent of the amount owed at the time the account is referred to the attorney or agent for collection. The clerk shall give the private attorney or collection agent the application for the appointment of court-appointed counsel regardless of whether the court file is otherwise confidential from disclosure.

Section 3. Section 28.42, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

28.42 Manual of court-related filing fees, charges, costs, and fines.— ~~No later than July 1, 2004, The clerks of court, through their association and in consultation with the Office of the State Courts Administrator, shall prepare and disseminate a manual of court-related filing fees, service charges, costs, and fines imposed pursuant to state law, organized by county for each type of action and offense, and classified as either mandatory or discretionary. The manual also shall classify the fee, charge, cost, or fine as court-related revenue or noncourt-related revenue. The clerks, through their association, Office of the State Courts Administrator shall disseminate this manual to the chief judge, state attorney, public defender, and court administrator in each circuit and to the clerk of the court in each county. The clerks, through their association and in consultation with the Office of the State Courts Administrator, shall at a minimum update and disseminate this manual on July 1 of each year thereafter.~~

Section 4. Notwithstanding the amendments made by this act to s. 28.246, Florida Statutes, the clerks of court shall use the reporting requirements, standards, and form prescribed in that section before July 1, 2012, for the report due for the county fiscal year ending September 30, 2012. The amendments made by this act to s. 28.246, Florida Statutes, apply beginning with the report for the county fiscal year ending September 30, 2013.

And the title is amended as follows:

Delete everything before the enacting clause and insert: A bill to be entitled An act relating to court-related assessments; creating s. 28.2457, F.S.; providing for a monetary assessment mandated by statute to be imposed regardless of whether the assessment is announced in open court; providing guidelines for establishing the amount of a mandatory assessment under certain conditions; requiring the clerks of court to develop a uniform form to be used in identifying and imposing mandatory assessments; providing for the clerks to consult with the Office of the State Courts Administrator; providing for the Supreme Court to approve the form; defining terms; amending s. 28.246, F.S.; revising requirements for the clerks of court to report on the assessment and collection of certain fines or other monetary penalties, fees, costs, and charges; prescribing requirements for reporting certain assessments that are waived, suspended, or reduced; requiring the clerks to report collection rates; providing guidelines for calculating the collection rate; revising the timeframe for submitting the report; requiring the clerks, rather than the Department of Financial Services, to develop a reporting form and guidelines; providing for the clerks to consult with the Office of the State Courts Administrator; amending s. 28.42, F.S.; removing an obsolete date; providing for the clerks of court, rather than the Office of the State Courts Administrator, to prepare and disseminate a manual of filing fees, service charges, costs, and fines; revising requirements relating to the content and presentation of information in the manual; providing for the clerks to consult with the Office of the State Courts Administrator; providing for applicability of amendments made by the act; providing an effective date.
