Re: CS/SB 18 – Senator Oscar Braynon II
HB 6509 – Representative James Grant
Relief of C.M.H.

SPECIAL MASTER'S FINAL REPORT

THIS IS AN UNCONTESTED CLAIM FOR $5,000,000 PREDICATED ON THE ENTRY OF A JURY AWARD IN FAVOR OF CHRISTOPHER HANN AND THERESA HANN, INDIVIDUALLY, AND AS NAUTRAL GUARDIANS OF C.M.H., A MINOR CHILD, DUE TO THE NEGLIGENCE OF THE DEPARTMENT OF CHILDREN AND FAMILIES.

FINDINGS OF FACT:

The Department of Children and Families, placed J.W., a 10 year old foster child with a history of violence and sexual assaults against younger children, in the home of Christopher and Theresa Hann. The Hanns had young children of their own, and because the Hanns were not trained to handle a child with J.W.'s propensity for violence, the department should not have placed J.W. in the Hann's home. Making matters worse, the department concealed J.W.'s violent past from the Hanns when it had a duty to disclose it. Ultimately, the department's placement of J.W. in the Hann's home led to the emotional, physical, and sexual abuse of C.M.H., the Hann's 8 year old son, by J.W.

The Department of Children and Families knew of J.W.'s propensity for violence toward other children.

J.W. was born January 23, 1992, in Florida, to a teenage mother who had a history of mental illness and homelessness. She did not receive prenatal care and attempted suicide during the third month of her pregnancy by inhaling butane. J.W.'s mother was living in a shelter for homeless and runaway youth at his birth. J.W.'s biological father had a history of drug abuse and played no major role in his life.

J.W. lived with his mother until the age of 4. During this time, he was subjected to extreme neglect, cruelty, and physical and sexual abuse by his mother, her boyfriends, and her extended family members. J.W., at age 1, was subjected to sexual abuse for approximately 2-3 years by males visiting his mother. He was severely beaten at age 2 while in the care of his mother's boyfriend.

As a result of his repeated abuse and neglect, J.W. began to exhibit symptoms of post-traumatic stress disorder. Due to aggressive behaviors, he was dismissed from two daycare centers. At age 3, he attempted suicide. He was subsequently diagnosed as having attention deficit hyperactivity disorder with psychotic behavior and suicidal tendencies and treated with anti-psychotic medication.

J.W. was returned to his mother's care at age 5. He was severely psychotic and began setting fires. In June 1997, J.W. was admitted to the Columbia Hospital Inpatient Psychiatric Program for a week due to self-mutilation, violent behavior, homicidal ideation, auditory hallucinations, and multiple suicide attempts. J.W. would continue receiving intensive outpatient psychiatric treatment for 7 months following his initial hospitalization.

After receiving a report that J.W. was again sexually molested by another of his mother's male friends, the department placed J.W. back into foster care where he resided on and off for approximately 5 years. He was involuntarily hospitalized at least two more times by age 9. One hospitalization was due to aggressive behavior, an attempt to stab his uncle and his babysitter with a knife. Later he was hospitalized for planning to bring a gun and knife to school to kill a teacher and himself. In 2002, J.W. was living with his mother who had married several years earlier and had given birth to a daughter with her new husband. The department and the family entered into a voluntary case plan to address continuing allegations of abuse, neglect, and domestic violence in the home. During this time, J.W. began to exhibit sexually aggressive behavior towards other children. Multiple reports indicated that J.W. performed anal penetration on a neighborhood girl. He also continued to display severe psychotic behavior. On one occasion he attempted to cut his stepfather's throat while he slept.

On June 14, 2002, DCF family services counselor, Suzy Parchment, referred J.W. to Camelot Community Care, a DCF provider of child welfare and behavioral health services, for intensive therapeutic in-home services. Realizing the severity of J.W.'s behavior, in a communication with Camelot on June 24, Ms. Parchment noted that J.W. needed to be in a residential treatment facility as soon as possible.

As an emergency, temporary solution and noting that J.W. was a danger in the home, Camelot accepted the referral to provide mental health services to J.W. in his natural home while the department sought residential placement. Camelot noted on its admission form that J.W. was a sexual predator and engaged in sexually inappropriate behavior. It was also noted that J.W. suffered from non-specified psychosis, major depression with psychotic features, adjustment disorder and attention deficit hyperactivity disorder. The in-home counselor assigned to J.W.'s case did not have experience with sexual trauma, and Camelot's initial treatment plan did not include any specific goals or specialized treatment for sexual abuse.

J.W.'s mother informed Camelot and the department that J.W. was giving his 3 year old sister hickies, bouncing her on his lap in a sexual manner, and having her fondle his genitals. Camelot performed a child safety determination and found that based on J.W.'s history, a sibling was likely to be in immediate danger of moderate to severe harm if J.W. was not supervised. Camelot recommended that J.W.'s parents separate him from his younger sister at night and closely watch him when he interacts with his sister.

On or about August 2002, the department removed J.W. and his younger sister from their mother's care after she abandoned them at a friend's house. J.W. was sheltered in the home of a family friend, Luz Cruz, a non-relative placement while his younger half-sister was placed with family members.

J.W. underwent a Comprehensive Behavioral Health Assessment on August 30, 2002, at the request of DCF. The assessment concluded that J.W. "should not have unsupervised access to [his younger sister], or to any younger, or smaller children wherever he resides." The Assessment also states: "J.W.'s caregiver must be informed about these issues and must be able to demonstrate that they can provide adequate levels of supervision in order to prevent further victimization. These issues should be strongly considered in terms of making decisions about both temporary and long term care and supervision of J.W."

Based upon the findings and recommendations in the Assessment, J.W. was referred to Father Flanagan's Boys' Home d/b/s Girls and Boys Town, a DCF service provider, for case management services.

The Department of Children and Families knew that J.W., should not have been placed in a home with younger children.

Ms. Parchment removed J.W. from the Cruz home on September 6, 2002, due to allegations of sexual abuse by a member of the Cruz family; however, she did not report the abuse allegation as required by Florida law. It was also on September 6, 2002, that J.W. was placed with the Hanns.

Mr. and Mrs. Hann were former neighbors of J.W. and his natural family. The Hanns lived with their two children, a daughter, age 16, and a son, C.M.H., age 8. They were not licensed or trained foster parents. In the past, J.W. had often sought shelter in the Hann home when left alone by his mother. Theresa Hann had offered to care for J.W., and his mother lobbied Camelot and the department to have J.W. placed with the Hann family instead of Luz Cruz.

Ms. Parchment recalled her first impressions of the Hann family were of nice people who maintained a very organized and clean home. She believed Theresa Hann's main purpose was to care for J.W. and that she had no ulterior motives. However, despite the willingness of the Hanns to care for

J.W., the removal of J.W. from the Cruz home and placement in the Hann home violated DCF rules.

Under the department's rules, it is required to obtain prior court approval for all non-relative placements. This requirement eliminates non-relative placements for use in lieu of emergency shelter care. Ms. Parchment did not obtain the required court approval prior to placing J.W. in the Hann home. She also failed to notify the department's legal team, who is responsible for court filings, of the allegation of sexual abuse of J.W. in the Cruz home or his subsequent placement in the Hann home for two months.

Additionally, the placement directly conflicted with previous recommendations by department providers regarding placement for J.W. due to his sexually aggressive behaviors. J.W. was placed in a home with an 8 year old child even though 2 months earlier Camelot had warned that a sibling would be in danger in a home with J.W. One week prior to the placement, St. Mary's Medical Center had recommended that J.W. not have unsupervised access to younger children. The Hanns were not provided any information about J.W.'s ongoing inappropriate behavior with younger children and the Hanns allowed J.W. to share a bedroom with their son, C.M.H. Department rules expressly prohibit placing a sexually aggressive child in a bedroom with another child. Ms. Parchment knew of the planned sleeping arrangements prior to placing J.W. in the Hann home but did not tell them that the arrangement was prohibited under the department's rules.

The Department of Children and Families failed to inform the Hanns of J.W.'s background.

Christopher Hann specifically requested information about J.W., but the department failed to provide any information regarding J.W.'s troubled history of child-on-child sexual abuse or on his background generally. Florida law requires DCF to share psychological, psychiatric and behavioral histories, comprehensive behavioral assessments and other social assessments found in the child's resource record with caregivers. The department acknowledged during litigation that no evidence of a child resource record for J.W. was found. Additionally, for the purpose of preventing the reoccurrence of child-on-child sexual abuse, the department must provide caregivers of sexual abuse victims and aggressors with written, complete, and detailed information and strategies related to such children, including the date of the sexual abuse incident(s), type of abuse, type of treatment received, and outcome of the treatment in order to "provide a safe living environment for all the children living in the home."

Not only did the department fail to comply with its own requirements, Ms. Parchment told Mr. Hann that she was not allowed to give him such information about J.W. because the placement was temporary. Nevertheless, J.W. remained in the Hann home for approximately 3 years during which his behavioral problems continued and quickly escalated.

The Department of Children and Families knew it should have removed J.W. from the Hann home as his violent behaviors increased.

Within a few weeks after J.W.'s placement in the Hann home, Mrs. Hann reported to Camelot that J.W. was playing with matches in the presence of C.M.H.; exhibited extreme anger and hostility towards C.M.H., including yelling, screaming "shut up" at the smallest aggravation or noise, and kicking C.M.H. Among J.W.'s behavioral problems, he stabbed himself with a straightened paper clip after being grounded for leaving the neighborhood without permission; threatened to jump out of a window after it was discovered he stole a roll of felt from school; and attacked Ms. Hann, biting and scratching her when she grounded him for cursing.

Camelot recommended to Ms. Parchment that the Hanns place a one way monitor in the bedroom shared by J.W. and C.M.H. While Ms. Parchment agreed to pass the recommendation on to the Hanns, there is no evidence that the information was shared or that the Hanns ever obtained the monitor.

J.W.'s behavior further deteriorated and on October 24, 2002, after a physical altercation with C.M.H., he pulled a knife on the younger child but was stopped from further assaulting him by Mr. Hann. Camelot was immediately informed of the incident by Mr. Hann, and J.W. was again involuntarily committed into Columbia Hospital for a mental health assessment. Camelot's notes indicate Ms. Parchment was informed of J.W.'s escalating behavior in the Hann home. Ms. Parchment later acknowledged that at this point she should have considered removing J.W. from the Hann home due to the danger he posed to himself, the Hanns and their son.

A week after the mental health assessment was performed, J.W. sexually assaulted a 4 year old girl who was visiting the Hann home. The children were watching a movie when J.W. exposed his genitals and began "humping" the young girl. Ms. Hann reported the incident to DCF. During the course of the investigation, the department learned the children were not under the direct supervision of any adult at the time of the incident – a failure that DCF providers warned would lead to harm of other children when left alone with J.W. Again, DCF was required to give immediate consideration to the safety of C.M.H. Despite, the inability of the Hanns, who both worked outside the home, to adequately supervise J.W. and his continuing access to young children, DCF did not remove J.W. from the Hann home.

Camelot began pressuring Ms. Parchment to schedule a psychosexual evaluation of J.W. which she was required to do months earlier pursuant to DCF's operating procedures. The evaluation had in fact been requested by Camelot when J.W. was placed with the Hanns and again just 2 days before he sexually assaulted the 4 year old girl visiting the Hann home. Camelot's notes indicate that it told Ms. Parchment that "[J.W.] needed specific sexual counseling by a specialist in this area." Ms. Parchment took no action so Camelot advised Mr. Hann that a new safety plan would be implemented which prohibited J.W. and C.M.H. from sharing a bedroom and requiring J.W. to be under close adult supervision when other children were present. Such recommendations had already been a complete failure at preventing J.W. from perpetuating sexual abuse on other children. Further, still without knowledge of J.W.'s extensive history of sexual abuse as a victim and aggressor, Mr. Hann informed Camelot that the family disagreed with and would not follow the safety plan.

The Department of Children and Families ignored repeated warnings from its service providers.

Beginning in November 2002, Girls and Boys Town began providing services to J.W. in conjunction with Camelot. The assessment of J.W.'s case and his current behaviors, which was performed by Girls and Boys Town, found that despite his escalating violence and suicidal and sexually aggressive actions, no additional interventions or therapies had been put in place.

Camelot again requested a psychosexual evaluation of J.W. on November 6, 2002.

Additionally, in November 2002, C.M.H. began to exhibit behavioral problems which Camelot directly attributed to J.W. being in the home. C.M.H.'s grade dropped. In one school year he went from being an "A", "B", or "C" student to failing grades and was ultimately retained in the fourth grade.

In December 2002, the Hanns, overwhelmed with the number of providers involved in J.W.'s care and the disruption to their family, canceled the services of Camelot. Camelot recommended in its discharge form, signed by Ms. Parchment, that J.W. be placed in a residential treatment facility; however, DCF did not initiate a change in placement.

In June 2003, J.W. began expressing sexually inappropriate behavior towards C.M.H., asking him if he wanted to "see what sperm looks like" before masturbating to completion in front of him and attempting to hand him the semen. Due to this new escalation of J.W.'s behavior now directed at C.M.H., the department finally secured the psychosexual evaluation of J.W. but still did not remove him from the Hann home.

The department received the results of the psychosexual evaluation of J.W. performed by The Chrysalis Center on September 18, 2003. The Center found that J.W. "fit the profile of a sexually aggressive child due to the fact that he continues to engage in extensive sexual behaviors with children younger than himself." Further, it was found that J.W. "[presented] a risk of potentially becoming increasing more aggressive" and "continuing sexually inappropriate behaviors." The Center warned that J.W. "may seek out victims who are children and coerce them to engage in sexual activity." And again the Center recommended specific counseling for J.W. and appropriate training for his caregivers, the Hanns.

Finally, in October 2003, the Hanns requested J.W. be placed in a therapeutic treatment facility as they did not feel equipped to provide him with services and interventions he needed. Therapeutic placement was authorized for J.W. and he was referred to Alternate Family Care in Jupiter, Florida. The Hanns were told that if J.W. was removed from their home they would not be permitted visitation privileges with him at the facility. The Hanns did not want to be the next in a series of parental figures that abandoned J.W. so they ultimately made the decision to maintain him in their home with a request for additional services to treat his ongoing issues. At this time the Hanns begin training to become therapeutic foster parents.

C.M.H.'s problems due to J.W.'s presence in the home continued at school. Beginning in late 2003 to early 2004, C.M.H. began to act out and have more conflicts in school. He received a student discipline referral for ongoing behavioral problems in the classroom. Additionally, in early 2004 he began gaining weight and would subsequently gain about 40 pounds over the next two years.

The Department of Children and Families failed to remove a dangerous child it had placed in the Hann home when requested by the Hanns.

Mrs. Hann was diagnosed with terminal cancer on March 3, 2004. As a result, Mr. Hann contacted DCF within 48 hours of the diagnosis and requested the process of having J.W.'s placement with them as "long-term non-relative care" be stopped and asked that J.W. be placed elsewhere. Ms. Parchment visited the Hann home within 24 hours after the request and advised the family that "we'll get on it."

Nothing was done and contrary to the express request and wishes of the Hanns and without their knowledge, DCF had the Hanns declared as "long term non-relative caregivers" of J.W. The department subsequently closed the dependency case, leaving J.W. in the care of the Hanns.

The Department of Children and Family Services withdrew support for the Hann family when it was needed most.

The Hanns were not part of the foster care system so when DCF closed its dependency case, the Hann family lost approximately 50 percent of their services and counseling. Father Flanagan's suspended services to J.W. and the Hann family in April 2004. The Hanns would later directly attribute the resurgence in J.W.'s inappropriate sexual behavior to the loss of counseling services.

With almost no support from DCF, the Hanns grew more desperate as they tried to deal with Mrs. Hann's illness and J.W.'s escalating behavior.

C.M.H.'s troubles also continued. An April 2005 treatment plan from St. Mary's Child Development Center's Children's Provider Network noted that he began to have nightmares and was easily frustrated. The report also noted that his mother's diagnosis of terminal cancer and intensive chemotherapy treatments were contributing to C.M.H.'s increasing separation anxiety and grief issues. He was diagnosed with post-traumatic stress disorder.

In April 2005, Mr. Hann wrote DCF and the juvenile judge requesting help in placing J.W. in a residential placement. There was no response to his request, and J.W. remained in the Hann home.

A report from Child & Family Connections, the lead agency for community-based care in Palm Beach County, dated June 16, 2005, provided a description of J.W.'s personality and behavior, the high risk of sexual behavior problems and increasing aggression, his excessive masturbation, seeking out younger children, lies, and refusal to take responsibility for his actions. The report stated that the Hanns "[had] been told that it is not a matter of will J.W. perpetrate on their son again, but a matter of when the perpetration would occur. [J.W. was] in need of a more restrictive setting with intensive services specializing in sexual specific treatment." The report also noted that J.W.'s previous therapist, current therapist, and a psychosexual evaluation all recommended a full-time group home facility specializing in sexual specific treatment. The report concluded that J.W.'s condition was "so severe and the situation so urgent that treatment [could not] be safely attempted in the community."

Predictably, the numerous failures of the Department and its Family Services resulted in the sexual assault of another child.

On June 29, 2005, after a physical altercation between J.W. and Mrs. Hann, C.M.H., then 10 years old, told his parents that 2 years prior, J.W. had forced him to engage in oral sex while the boys were at a sleepover at this cousin's house. Mr. Hann called Girls & Boys Town and demanded that J.W. be removed from the home immediately. Later that same day, the department finally removed J.W. from the Hann home, and he was taken to an emergency shelter until a placement could be determined.

The court entered an order on August 11, 2005, authorizing the placement of J.W. into a residential treatment center. The court found that although a previous court order authorized placement in a specialized therapeutic group home, due to another incident that occurred while in emergency shelter, J.W. required a higher level of care.

Theresa Hann passed away the next year shortly after initiating litigation against DCF and its providers.

CLAIMANT'S POSITION:

The lawsuit was filed against the department, Camelot Community Care, Inc., Elaine Beckwith, Chrysalis Center, and Father Flanagan's Boys' Home d/b/a Girls and Boys Town of South Florida. The suit alleged the defendants were negligent and directly liable for the injuries suffered by C.M.H. as a result of the sexual abuse due to:

1. The initial placement of J.W. in the Hann home;
2. The failure of DCF to follow its own rules and operating procedures to provide the necessary treatment and services for J.W.;
3. The failure of DCF to provide the required information to the Hanns regarding J.W.'s history of sexual abuse and sexual aggressiveness, including the failure to formulate a safety plan for J.W. and all the children residing in the Hann home;
4. The failure of DCF to maintain the safety of J.W. and any children residing in the placement;
5. The failure of the DCF employee to report the allegations of sexual abuse of J.W. as mandated by s. 39.201, F.S.; and
6. DCF moving forward with having the court declare the Hanns "long-term non-relative caregivers," closing the case file, and leaving J.W. in the custody of the Hanns without notice to them and despite their request to stop the process.

RESPONDENT'S POSITION:

The Department of Children and Families defended the lawsuit. On November 18, 2013, after a 4-week jury trial, a judgment was entered in the amount of $10,000,000. DCF was found to be 50 percent liable ($5,000,000) and Mr. and Mrs. Hann were found to be 50 percent liable ($5,000,000). The jury attributed no liability to the remaining defendants.

CONCLUSIONS OF LAW:

Every claim bill must be based on facts sufficient to meet the preponderance of evidence standard. With respect to this claim bill, which is based on a negligence claim, the claimant proved that the state had a duty to the claimant, the state breached that duty, and that the breach caused the claimant's damages.

Duty

The Department of Children and Families had a duty pursuant to exercise reasonable care when placing a child involved in child-on-child sexual abuse or sexual assault in substitute care; to provide caregivers of children with sexual aggression and sexual abuse with written, detailed and complete information of the child's history; to establish appropriate safeguards and strategies to protect all children living in the foster or temporary care; to ensure the foster family is properly trained and equipped to meet the serious needs of the foster child; and to exercise reasonable care under the circumstances.

Breach

A preponderance of the evidence establishes that DCF breached its duties by failing to follow its governing statutes, rules, and internal operating procedures by:

- Placing J.W., a known sexually aggressive, severely emotionally disturbed, and dangerous child in the Hann home without legal authority and in direct conflict with recommendations of DCF service providers that J.W. not have access to young children;
- Failing to ensure that Mr. and Mrs. Hann were duly licensed and trained as required by department rule, making them capable of safely caring for a child with J.W.'s extensive needs;
- Failing to fully and completely inform the Hanns of J.W.'s history, and the risk and danger he posed to C.M.H. as required by department rule; and
- Failing to remove J.W. from the Hann home when it became clear that the placement was inappropriate and dangerous to the Hanns and C.M.H. particularly.

Causation

The sexual, physical and emotional abuse suffered by C.M.H. was the direct and proximate result of DCF's failure to fulfill its duties regarding the foster placement of a known sexually aggressive child.

Damages

At the conclusion of a 2-week trial, the jury found DCF and Mr. and Mrs. Hann each 50 percent responsible for the negligence that resulted in the injuries suffered by C.M.H. The jury awarded C.M.H. $6 million for past pain and suffering, $3.5 million for future pain and suffering, $250,000.00 for future treatment and services and $250,000.00 for future loss of earning capacity for a total award of $10 million. The department and Mr. and Mrs. Hann were each responsible for $5 million. The jury did not assess any liability for negligence against the remaining 6 defendants.

C.M.H. was initially diagnosed with post-traumatic stress disorder in 2005. Thomas N. Dikel, Ph.D., reaffirmed the diagnosis in 2010, finding that C.M.H.'s severe PTSD was cause by his "experiences of child-on-child sexual abuse, exacerbated and magnified by his mother's diagnosis of stage 4, metastatic colon cancer."

He was re-evaluated by Dr. Stephen Alexander in October 2014. Dr. Alexander found C.M.H. to continue to suffer from PTSD and major depression, but had become even more dysfunctional since his initial evaluation due to lack of services. Dr. Alexander attributed the majority of C.M.H.'s psychological trauma to this mother's illness and death; however, he did note that due to J.W.'s presence in the home during her illness, the two events have become inextricably intertwined in this psyche.

Comprehensive Rehabilitation Consultants, Inc., created a life plan for C.M.H. to determine the funds necessary to provide the support needed by C.M.H. as a direct consequence of the sexual abuse he experienced. It was determined the cost for medical, psycho-therapies, educational and support services as well as ancillary services of transportation, housing and personal items would be $2.23 million over C.M.H.'s life.

As a result of the judgment entered by the court against DCF, the state paid $100,000 (the maximum allowed under the state's sovereign immunity waiver) with the remaining $4.9 million to be paid if this claim bill is passed by the Legislature and signed into law by the Governor.

COLLATERAL SOURCES OF RECOVERY:

Father Flanagan's Boys' Home d/b/a Girls and Boys Town of South Florida (Father Flanagan) was a named defendant in the lawsuit. Father Flanagan executed a settlement agreement with Claimants on July 30, 2013, in the amount of $340,000. However, in October 2013, the jury found that Father Flanagan was not negligent for any loss, injury or damage to C.M.H.

ATTORNEYS FEES:

Claimant's attorneys have acknowledged in writing that nothing in excess of 25 percent of the gross recovery will be withheld or paid as attorneys' fees.

RECOMMENDATIONS:

The negligence of the department and the Hanns were the legal proximate cause of the damages suffered by C.M.H. However, the jury award of $9.5 million for non-economic damages or pain and suffering is not supported by the weight of the evidence. According to Dr. Alexander's October 2014 report, C.M.H. continues to suffer from PTSD but attributes a majority of C.M.H.'s psychological trauma to the illness and death of his mother. The department should not be held financially liable for C.M.H.'s psychological trauma that occurred due to the illness and death of his mother.

Damages awarded by the jury in the amount of $500,000 for future treatment and services and lost wages due to the sexual abuse are reasonable under the circumstances and are fully supported by the weight of the evidence. C.M.H. requires intensive and long-term psychotherapy, psychiatric evaluation and treatment and possible psychotropic mediations to assist him in dealing with his PTSD.

It should be noted that since receiving the settlement from Father Flanagan's in 2013, C.M.H. has only sought psychiatric treatment one time.

Accordingly, I recommend that SB 18 be reported FAVORABLY, with the amount to be paid amended to $2.5 million. The jury awarded $9.5 million ($4.75 million assessed to DCF) for past and future pain and suffering. Based on a lack of objective evidence in the record, a 50 percent reduction of DCF's obligation or $2.375 million may be a more appropriate amount to be paid for the non-economic damages. A corresponding reduction of 50 percent of DCF's share of the economic damages ($125,000) would be appropriate.

I further recommend that the funds be paid into a trust established for C.M.H. in equal installments over 10 years to pay for expenses related to education, psycho-therapies and living expenses. Any funds remaining in the trust after 10 years should be distributed in full to C.M.H.

COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

CS/SB 80 amends the Florida Insurance Code (code) to provide that a direct primary care agreement is not insurance and is not subject to regulation under the code. Direct primary care (DPC) is a primary care medical practice model that eliminates third party payers from the primary care provider-patient relationship. Through a contractual agreement, a patient pays a monthly fee, usually between $50 and $100 per individual, to the primary care provider for defined primary care services. The bill also defines DPC agreements and requires them to meet statutory requirements, including consumer disclosures. A contract that does not meet these requirements is not a DPC agreement and is not exempt from the code.

As of September 2017, 23 states have adopted DPC laws that define DPC as a medical service outside the scope of state insurance regulation.

The bill does not impact state revenues or expenditures.

The effective date of the bill is July 1, 2018.

II. Present Situation:

Direct Primary Care

Direct primary care is a primary care medical practice model that eliminates third party payers from the provider-patient relationship.[1] Through a contractual agreement, a patient generally pays a monthly retainer fee, on average $77 per individual,[2] to the primary care provider for defined primary care services, such as office visits, preventive care, annual physical examination, and routine laboratory tests.

After paying the monthly fee, a patient can access all services under the agreement at no extra charge based on the terms of the agreement. Typically, DPC practices provide routine preventive services, screenings, or tests, like lab tests, mammograms, Pap screenings, and vaccinations. A primary care provider DPC model can be designed to address most health care issues, including women's health services, pediatric care, urgent care, wellness education, and chronic disease management.

Some of the potential benefits of the DPC model for providers include reducing patient volume, minimizing administrative and staffing expenses; increasing time with patients; and increasing revenues. In the DPC practice model, the primary care provider eliminates administrative costs associated with filing and resolving insurance claims. Direct primary care practices claim to reduce expenses by more than 40 percent by eliminating administrative staff resources associated with third-party costs.[3]

In 2014, the American Academy of Private Physicians (AAPP) estimated that approximately 5,500 physicians operate under some type of direct financial relationship with their patients outside of standard insurance coverage. According to the AAPP, that number has increased around 25 percent per year since 2010.[4] The Direct Primary Care Coalition has adopted model state legislation for DPC agreements.[5] As of September 2017, 23 states have adopted DPC legislation, which defines DPC as a medical service outside the scope of state insurance regulation.[6]

[1] The DPC practice model is often compared to the concierge practice model. However, while both provide access to primary care services for a periodic fee, the concierge model generally continues to bill third party payers, such as insurers on a fee for service basis, in addition to the collection of membership and retainer fees. See Phillip M. [2] Id. A study of 141 DPC practices found the average monthly retainer fee to be $77.38. Of the 141 practices identified, 116 (82 percent) have cost information available online. The average monthly cost to the patient was $93.26 (median monthly cost, $75.00; range, $26.67 to $562.50 per month) for these 116 practices. Of the 116 DPCs noted, 36 charged a one-time enrollment fee and the average enrollment fee was $78. Twenty-eight of 116 DPCs charged a fee for office visits in addition to the retainer fee, and the average visit fee was $16.

Federal Health Care Reform and Direct Primary Care

The federal Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act (PPACA)[7] requires health insurers to make guaranteed issue coverage available to all individuals and employers without exclusions for preexisting conditions. The PPACA also mandates that insurers that offer qualified health plans (QHPs) provide 10 categories of essential health benefits,[8] which includes preventive[9] care and other benefits.

The PPACA addresses the DPC practice model as part of health care reform.[10] Federal regulations provide that a QHP may provide coverage through a DPC medical home plan that meets criteria[11] established by the federal Department of Health and Human Services (HHS), if the plan meets all other applicable requirements.[12] For example, an individual could enroll in a DPC plan and obtain coverage through a high deductible health plan (HDHP),[13] which would provide coverage for severe injuries or chronic conditions. Such an individual may benefit from enrolling in a DPC medical home plan since it may provide greater degree of access to health care for a monthly fee that is substantially less than the annual deductible of the HDHP.

Federal Tax Treatment of Direct Primary Care

Currently, the federal tax treatment of direct primary care medical home plans may discourage the use of such plans. For an individual to be eligible to make tax-deductible contributions to a Health Savings Account (HSA), the individual must be covered by an HDHP and no other plan that is not an HDHP, unless the other plan qualifies as disregarded coverage.[14] A DPC medical home plan is not delineated as one of the disregarded coverages under the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) Code. According to the IRS, an individual would not be eligible to make tax-deductible contributions to an HSA while covered by both a HDHP and a DPC medical home plan, unless the DPC plan provided preventive care only.[15] Further, the IRS Code does not permit the periodic payments made to primary care physicians under a DPC model to qualify as a medical expense.[16] Federal legislation is pending to address these issues.[17]

State Regulation of Insurance

The Office of Insurance Regulation (OIR) licenses and regulates the activities of insurers, health maintenance organizations (HMOs), and other risk-bearing entities. These specified entities must meet certain requirements for licensure. The Agency for Health Care Administration (AHCA) establishes quality of care standards for HMOs and prepaid health clinics under part III of ch. 641, F.S. Before receiving a certificate of authority from the OIR, a HMO and a prepaid health clinic must receive a Health Care Provider Certificate[18] from the AHCA pursuant to part III of ch. 641, F.S.[19]

Currently, Florida law does not address DPC agreements. However, a medical provider offering DPC agreements may be considered to be operating a prepaid health clinic if the medical provider is offering to provide services in exchange for a prepaid fixed fee.[20]

Prepaid Health Clinics

Prepaid health clinics[21] are required to obtain a certificate of authority from the OIR pursuant to part II of ch. 641, F.S. The entity must meet minimum surplus requirements[22] and comply with solvency protections for the benefit of subscribers by securing insurance or filing a surety bond with the OIR.[23] Part II also provides that the procedures for offering basic services and offering and terminating contracts to subscribers may not unfairly discriminate based on age, health, or economic status.[24]

Prepaid Limited Health Services Organizations

Prepaid limited health services organizations provide limited health services to enrollees through an exclusive panel of providers in exchange for a prepayment authorized under ch. 636, F.S. Limited health services includes ambulance, dental, vision, mental health, substance abuse, chiropractic, podiatric, and pharmaceutical. Provider arrangements for prepaid limited health service organizations are authorized in s. 636.035, F.S. These organizations must comply with the requirements of s. 636.035, F.S., obtain a certificate of authority from the OIR,[25] and meet the minimum solvency requirements. The statute allows organizations to meet the solvency [19] Section 641.48, F.S., provides that the purpose of part III of ch. 641, F.S., is to ensure that HMOs and prepaid health clinics deliver high-quality care to their subscribers.

[20] Part II of ch. 641, F.S.
[21] Section 641.402, F.S., defines the term, "prepaid health clinic," to mean any organization authorized under part II that provides, either directly or through arrangements with other persons, basic services to persons enrolled with such organization, on a prepaid per capita or prepaid aggregate fixed-sum basis, including those basic services which subscribers might reasonably require to maintain good health. However, no clinic that provides or contracts for, either directly or indirectly, inpatient hospital services, hospital inpatient physician services, or indemnity against the cost of such services shall be a prepaid health clinic.

component through evidence of a fidelity bond of at least $50,000 or the deposit of an equal amount in cash or securities with the OIR.[26]

State Regulation of Health Care Practitioners

The Department of Health (DOH) is responsible for the licensure and regulation of most health care practitioners in the state. In addition to the regulatory authority in specific practice acts for each profession or occupation, ch. 456. F.S., provides the general regulatory provisions for health care professions within the DOH through the Division of Medical Quality Assurance.

Section 456.001, F.S., defines "health care practitioner" as any person licensed under chs. 457 (acupuncture); 458 (medicine); 459 (osteopathic medicine); 460 (chiropractic medicine); 461 (podiatric medicine); 462 (naturopathic medicine); 463 (optometry); 464 (nursing); 465 (pharmacy); 466 (dentistry and dental hygiene); 467 (midwifery); 478 (electrology or electrolysis); 480 (massage therapy); 484 (opticianry and hearing aid specialists); 486 (physical therapy); 490 (psychology); 491 (psychotherapy); F.S., or parts III or IV of ch. 483 (clinical laboratory personnel or medical physics), F.S.

Additionally, the miscellaneous professions and occupations regulated in parts I, II, III, V, X, XIII, or XIV (speech-language pathology and audiology; nursing home administration; occupational therapy; respiratory therapy; dietetics and nutrition practice; athletic trainers; and orthotics, prosthetics, and pedorthics) of ch. 468, F.S., are considered health care practitioners under s. 456.001, F.S.

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

Section 1 creates s. 624.27, F.S., to expressly exempt DPC agreements from the Florida Insurance Code. The section provides that the act of entering into a DPC agreement does not constitute the business of insurance and is not subject to the Florida Insurance Code. A primary care provider or an agent of a primary care provider is not required to obtain a certification of authority or license under any chapter of the Florida Insurance Code, in order to market, sell, or offer to sell a DPC agreement.

To qualify for the exemption, a direct primary care agreement must meet the following minimum requirements and disclosures:

- Be in writing and signed by the provider or the provider's agent and the patient, the patient's legal representative, or the patient's employer;
- Allow a party to terminate the agreement with 30 days' advance written notice and provide for the immediate termination of the agreement if the physician-patient relationship is violated or a party breaches the terms of the agreement;
- Describe the scope of primary care services covered by the monthly fee;

[26] Section 636.046, F.S., provides the statutory requirements for insolvency protection for prepaid limited health service organizations, including the minimum market value of the deposit with the OIR for insolvency protection of $50,000. The options to provide the $50,000 through a blanket fidelity bond, cash, securities or other investments can be found on the Office of Insurance Regulation Company Admissions, Application for Certificate of Authority, Prepaid Limited Health Service Organization Application, Section III-4 Insurance, which is at, https://www.floir.com/siteDocuments/plhso_all_forms.pdf (last visited Oct. 19, 2017).

- Specify the monthly fee and any fees for primary care services not covered by the monthly fee;
- Specify the duration of the agreement and any automatic renewal provisions;
- Offer a refund of monthly fees paid in advance if the provider ceases to offer primary care services for any reason; and
- Contain the following statements in contrasting color and 12-point or larger type on the same page as the applicant's signature:
  - "This agreement is not health insurance, and the primary care provider will not file any claims against the patient's health insurance policy or plan for reimbursement of any primary care services covered by this agreement."
  - "This agreement does not qualify as minimum essential coverage to satisfy the individual shared responsibility provision of the federal Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act, 26 U.S.C. s. 5000A."
  - "This agreement is not workers' compensation insurance and does not replace an employer's obligations under ch. 440, F.S."

Further, the section defines the following terms:

- "Direct primary care agreement" means a contract between a primary care provider and a patient, the patient's legal representative, or an employer which must satisfy the requirements regarding contract terms and disclosures within subsection (4) of the bill and does not indemnify for services provided by a third party.
- "Primary care provider" means a licensed health care practitioner under ch. 458, F.S., (medical doctor or physician assistant); ch. 459, F.S., (osteopathic doctor or physician assistant); ch. 460, F.S., (chiropractic physician); or ch. 464, F.S., (nurses and advanced registered nurse practitioners); or a primary care group practice, who provides primary care services to patients.
- "Primary care services" means the screening, assessment, diagnosis, and treatment conducted within the competency and training of the primary care provider for the purpose of promoting health or detecting and managing disease or injury.

Section 2 provides that the bill takes effect July 1, 2018.

IV. Constitutional Issues:

A. Municipality/County Mandates Restrictions:

None.

B. Public Records/Open Meetings Issues:

None.

C. Trust Funds Restrictions:

None.

V. Fiscal Impact Statement:

A. Tax/Fee Issues:

None.

B. Private Sector Impact:

This bill removes regulatory uncertainty for health care providers by stating that the direct primary care agreement is not insurance, and as a result, the OIR does not regulate the agreements. This statutory change eliminates a long-standing concern regarding part II of ch. 641, F.S., which requires licensure and regulation of prepaid health clinics. Currently, that section of the code is unclear about the treatment of these types of arrangements with providers. To date, the OIR has not licensed any direct primary care providers under part II to provide such services.

Additional primary care providers may elect to pursue a direct primary care model and establish direct primary care practices that may increase patients' access to affordable primary care services.

Many individuals have high deductible policies and must meet a significant out of pocket cost to access many types of medical care. The DPC agreements may provide a less expensive option for accessing certain services. For many patients, the greater use of direct primary care agreements may decrease reliance on emergency rooms as a source of routine care.

C. Government Sector Impact:

The Department of Management Services (including the Division of State Group Insurance),[27] the Agency for Health Care Administration,[28] the Department of Health,[29] and the Office of Insurance Regulation[30] report no direct impacts to their respective agencies.

VI. Technical Deficiencies:

None.

VII. Related Issues:

The OIR notes that the direct primary care contract is required to offer a refund if the primary care provider ceases to provide primary care services for any reason. However, the legislation does not require any collateral be posted for the refund payments such as a surety bond. Therefore, there is some risk to consumers potentially that they may not receive their refunds if a provider ceases to provide services in the future.[31]

COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

PCS/SB 138 directs the Department of Health (DOH) to establish two toll-free perinatal mental health care hotlines by January 1, 2019 – one accessible to the public and one for health care providers. The public hotline must provide basic information on postpartum depression and perinatal care and may refer the caller to a local qualified provider. The health care provider hotline must provide information to assist a provider in addressing the mental health of pregnant or postpartum patients. The DOH must encourage obstetrical and mental health providers to attend continuing education on perinatal mental health care. The DOH must create public service announcements on perinatal mental health care that include the telephone number of the perinatal mental health care public hotline.

The bill expands the statutory responsibilities of birth centers and hospitals to require additional infant and maternal postpartum evaluations and follow-up, including a maternal mental health assessment, information on postpartum depression, and the telephone number of the DOH public perinatal mental health care hotline.

To implement its responsibilities under the bill, the DOH estimates it will need $1,156,520 from the General Revenue Fund in Fiscal Year 2018-2019, of which $854,700 is nonrecurring. The bill provides a supplemental appropriation of $1,156,520 from the General Revenue Fund, of which $854,700 is nonrecurring, for the DOH to implement the provisions of the bill.

The effective date of the bill is July 1, 2018.

II. Present Situation:

Perinatal Mental Health Care and Child Birth

Perinatal Anxiety Disorders

There are four major mood and anxiety disorders that may affect women in the perinatal period:
- Bipolar Disorder (formerly Manic Depressive Disorder);
- Panic Disorder;
- Obsessive Compulsive Disorder; and
- Depression.[1]

Depression interferes with daily life and may last for weeks or months. Depression is a common and serious illness. A recent survey conducted by the United States Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) showed that about one in ten reproductive age women between the ages of 18 to 44 experienced symptoms of major depression.[2] Most women, even those with the most severe forms of depression, can get better with treatment.[3]

Recent studies suggest that approximately 10 to 16 percent of women experience clinically significant depression during pregnancy.[4] Particularly vulnerable are those women with histories of psychiatric illness who discontinue psychotropic medications during pregnancy. A recent study estimated that women who discontinued medication were five times as likely to relapse as compared to women who maintained treatment.[5]

While depression can occur among women with a healthy pregnancy and birth, the following experiences may put some women at a higher risk for perinatal depression:
- Symptoms of depression during or after a previous pregnancy;
- History of depression or bipolar disorder;
- Family history of depression;

- Stressful event before, during, or shortly after childbirth such as job loss, death of a loved one, domestic violence, or personal illness;
- Medical complications during childbirth such as premature delivery or an infant with medical problems;
- Mixed emotion about pregnancy;
- Lack of emotional support from a spouse, partner, family, or friend; or
- Alcohol or drug abuse problems.[6]

Postpartum Blues vs. Depression

The "postpartum blues," or "baby blues," are common feelings experienced by approximately 75 to 80 percent of women in the first 10 days following childbirth. Symptoms include mood swings, crying spells, and feelings of sadness, fear, anger, irritability, or anxiety and usually go away within a few days to one to two weeks after childbirth.[7]

Postpartum depression is a major depressive episode that affects women after childbirth and commonly occurs within one and four weeks of delivery.[8] Postpartum depression can affect any woman regardless of age, race, ethnicity, or economic status.[9] Postpartum depression causes women to experience more intense feelings of depression and intensified feelings of sadness, fear, anger, anxiety, or despair that prevents them from being able to perform their activities of daily living.[10] Postpartum depression may begin shortly before or any time after childbirth. Postpartum depression commonly begins one to four weeks after childbirth[11] and can persist up to a year or more after giving birth.[12] Postpartum depression usually requires treatment due to the severity of symptoms.[13]

Regulation of Perinatal Mental Health Care and Child Birth Settings

The Department of Children and Families (DCF), the Agency for Healthcare Administration (AHCA), and the DOH have responsibilities related to the regulation and delivery of perinatal mental health care and childbirth. The DCF evaluates, researches, plans, and recommends to the Governor and the Legislature programs designed to reduce the occurrence, severity, duration, and disabling aspects of mental, emotional, and behavioral disorders.[14] The DCF oversees and contracts for the delivery of mental health services funded with certain federal and state funds through the Substance Abuse and Mental Health (SAMH) program office. The AHCA regulates hospitals and birthing centers.[15]

The DOH is responsible for the state's public health system[16] and is the agency designated by the Legislature to administer and provide maternal and child health services.[17]

The DOH does not provide or perform mental health services.[18] The DOH, through its county health departments and other state programs, refer clients in need of mental health services to providers in local areas[19] and though its website provides information on the "baby blues" and postpartum depression.[20]

The DOH contracts for the provision of a toll-free Family Health Line[21] to provide consumers with information on community resources, pregnancy, prenatal care, childbirth, breastfeeding, family planning, infant and toddler care, parenting, smoking cessation, substance abuse and the Medicaid Family Planning Waiver Program. In 2016, the Family Health Line received 10,011 calls.[22,23]

Childbirth Settings

The Legislature has recognized the need for a person to have the freedom to choose the manner, cost, and setting for childbirth.[24] A woman may choose three settings for childbirth: at home, at a licensed birthing center, or at a hospital.[25]

The home delivery setting for childbirth is not regulated like birthing centers and hospitals, but the practices of physicians, physician assistants (PAs),[26] Advanced Registered Nurse Practitioners (ARNPs), Certified Nurse Midwives (CNMs), and Licensed Midwives (LMs) who may attend a woman during a home delivery, are licensed and regulated by the DOH.[27]

A licensed physician may attend any birth in any setting, including home delivery, if he or she can do so with reasonable skill and safety, and within the standard of care.[28] A physician may also delegate any delivery to his or her PA.[29] There are no specific laws or administrative rules that address the required perinatal care required for a patient choosing home delivery by physicians and PAs.[30]

Section 464.012(4)(b), F.S., permits an ARNP-CNM to perform a postpartum examination to the extent authorized by an established protocol with a supervising physician, but does not specify that a perinatal mental health assessment is to be included in that examination or at any time during the perinatal period for a home delivery.

Licensed birth centers are places outside of the home or hospital where women with normal, uncomplicated, low risk pregnancies may choose to deliver their babies.[31] Sections 383.330 through 383.335, F.S., establish minimum standards of care for birth centers.[32] Birth centers are licensed by the AHCA, but the clinical staff of the birth centers must be physicians, ARNP-CNMs, or LMs licensed and regulated by the DOH.

In order for a pregnant woman to be accepted for childbirth by a licensed birth center, she must be initially determined to be at low maternal risk and be regularly evaluated throughout the pregnancy to assure that she remains at low risk for poor pregnancy outcomes.[33] The woman must receive specific prenatal,[34] intrapartum,[35] and postpartum care,[36] but regulatory rules do not include specific mental health screening or education for prenatal or postpartum depression.

The mother and infant must be discharged from the licensed birth center within 24 hours of birth except under unusual circumstances.[37] A postpartum examination of the mother is required to be performed within 72 hours after delivery and must include, at a minimum:

- Interval history;
- Blood pressure measurement; and
- Observation of the breasts, perineum, and abdomen.[38]

A second postpartum examination is required at four to six weeks postpartum that includes all of the above, and:

- Weight measurement;
- Hemoglobin or hematocrit measurement; and,
- A bi-manual pelvic examination.[39]

The mother must also be counseled at some point during the postpartum period regarding:

- Breast feeding;
- Perineal care;
- Family planning;
- Signs of common complications;
- Activities and exercises;
- Sex relations;
- Care and feeding of the newborn; and
- Changing family relationships.[40]

None of the required postpartum examinations or counseling for mothers utilizing licensed birth centers require any type of mental health screening or education on postpartum depression. However, if complications occur during the postpartum period, which could include postpartum depression, a consultation or referral must be made to the appropriate source for secondary or tertiary care.[41]

Hospitals are regulated by the AHCA under ch. 395, F.S. Within the context of the bill, the only statutory requirement for a hospital providing birthing services is that women using the facility for childbirth must receive instruction on newborn care concerning safe sleep practices and possible causes of Sudden Unexpected Infant Death (SUID).[42] There are no other statutory or administrative requirements that a hospital providing birthing services require its medical staff to perform any type of postpartum mental health assessment, follow-up care, or postpartum depression education.

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

Section 1 cites the act as the "Florida Families First Act."

Section 2 creates s. 383.014, F.S., direct the DOH to establish, by January 1, 2019, and maintain two perinatal mental health care toll-free hotlines – one accessible to the public and one for health care providers as defined in s. 408.07, F.S.[43] The hotline for public access:

- Provides basic information on postpartum depression and perinatal care;

[41] See chs. 383 and 467, F.S., Rules 59A-11 and 64B24-7, F.A.C.
[42] Section 395.1053, F.S.
[43] Section 408.07(25), F.S., defines health care providers as those licensed under chs. 458 (allopathic doctor & PA), 459 (osteopathic doctor & PA), 460 (chiropractor), 461(podiatrist), 463 (optometrist), 464 (nurses), 465 (pharmacist), 466 (dentist and hygienist), 483, 484, 486, 490, 491, or 468, parts I (speech & language pathologists & audiologists), III (occupational therapists), IV (radiological technicians), V (respiratory therapists), or X (dietician and nutritionist).

- May recommend that the caller or patient be further evaluated by a qualified health care provider; and
- May refer a caller or patient to an appropriate health care provider in the caller's or patient's local area.

The hotline for health care providers must:
- Provide information to assist health care providers in addressing the mental health of a pregnant or postpartum patient;
- Maintain and offer contact information for health care providers throughout the state who have experience in caring for pregnant or postpartum patients; and
- Compile resources to encourage the efficient and coordinated care of pregnant or postpartum patients.

The bill requires the DOH to create public service announcements (PSAs) to educate the public on perinatal mental health care. The PSAs must include the telephone number of the public perinatal mental health care hotline.

The DOH must also encourage mental health care providers, and health care providers who conduct postpartum evaluations or treat postpartum patients, to attend continuing medical education courses on perinatal mental health care.

Section 3 amends s. 383.318, F.S., to require licensed birth centers to provide the following additional postpartum services and follow-up care:
- A maternal postpartum assessment that includes mental health screening;
- Information on postpartum depression; and
- The telephone number of the public perinatal mental health care hotline.

Section 4 amends s. 395.1053, F.S., to require hospitals providing birthing services to provide similar postpartum education and care services as birthing centers, including:
- Physical examination of the infant;
- Metabolic screening tests required by s. 383.14, F.S.;[44]
- Referral to sources for pediatric care;
- Maternal postpartum assessment that incorporates mental health screening;
- Information on postpartum depression and the telephone number of the perinatal mental health care hotline established in s. 383.014, F.S.;
- Instruction in child care, including immunization and breastfeeding, in addition to information on safe sleep practices and possible causes of Sudden Unexpected Infant Death;
- Family planning services; and
- Referral to secondary or tertiary care, as indicated.

[44] Section 383.14, F.S., requires the DOH to screen newborns for metabolic disorders before becoming one week of age. Currently the DOH screens for 53 total conditions. Department of Health, Newborn Screening, http://www.floridahealth.gov/programs-and-services/childrens-health/newborn-screening/index.html (last visited Jan. 8, 2018). Babies born in a hospital must be tested for metabolic disorders between 24 and 48 hours after birth. Babies discharged before 24 hours after birth must be tested before discharge, and again between 24 hours and five days after birth. Rule 64C-7.002, F.A.C.

COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

CS/SB 138 directs the Department of Health (DOH) to establish two toll-free perinatal mental health care hotlines by January 1, 2019 – one accessible to the public and one for health care providers. The public hotline must provide basic information on postpartum depression and perinatal care and may refer the caller to a local qualified provider. The health care provider hotline must provide information to assist a provider in addressing the mental health of pregnant or postpartum patients. The DOH must encourage obstetrical and mental health providers to attend continuing education on perinatal mental health care. The DOH must create public service announcements on perinatal mental health care that include the telephone number of the perinatal mental health care public hotline.

The bill expands the statutory responsibilities of birth centers and hospitals to require additional infant and maternal postpartum evaluations and follow-up, including a maternal mental health assessment, information on postpartum depression, and the telephone number of the DOH public perinatal mental health care hotline.

To implement its responsibilities under the bill, the DOH estimates it will need $1,156,520 from the General Revenue Fund in Fiscal Year 2018-2019, of which $854,700 is nonrecurring. The bill provides a supplemental appropriation of $1,156,520 from the General Revenue Fund, of which $854,700 is nonrecurring, for the DOH to implement the provisions of the bill.

The effective date of the bill is July 1, 2018.

II. Present Situation:

Perinatal Mental Health Care and Child Birth

Perinatal Anxiety Disorders

There are four major mood and anxiety disorders that may affect women in the perinatal period:
- Bipolar Disorder (formerly Manic Depressive Disorder);
- Panic Disorder;
- Obsessive Compulsive Disorder; and
- Depression.[1]

Depression interferes with daily life and may last for weeks or months. Depression is a common and serious illness. A recent survey conducted by the United States Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) showed that about one in ten reproductive age women between the ages of 18 to 44 experienced symptoms of major depression.[2] Most women, even those with the most severe forms of depression, can get better with treatment.[3]

Recent studies suggest that approximately 10 to 16 percent of women experience clinically significant depression during pregnancy.[4] Particularly vulnerable are those women with histories of psychiatric illness who discontinue psychotropic medications during pregnancy. A recent study estimated that women who discontinued medication were five times as likely to relapse as compared to women who maintained treatment.[5]

While depression can occur among women with a healthy pregnancy and birth, the following experiences may put some women at a higher risk for perinatal depression:
- Symptoms of depression during or after a previous pregnancy;
- History of depression or bipolar disorder;
- Family history of depression;

- Stressful event before, during, or shortly after childbirth such as job loss, death of a loved one, domestic violence, or personal illness;
- Medical complications during childbirth such as premature delivery or an infant with medical problems;
- Mixed emotion about pregnancy;

- Alcohol or drug abuse problems.[6]

Postpartum Blues vs. Depression

The "postpartum blues," or "baby blues," are common feelings experienced by approximately 75 to 80 percent of women in the first 10 days following childbirth. Symptoms include mood swings, crying spells, and feelings of sadness, fear, anger, irritability, or anxiety and usually go away within a few days to one to two weeks after childbirth.[7]

Postpartum depression is a major depressive episode that affects women after childbirth and commonly occurs within one and four weeks of delivery.[8] Postpartum depression can affect any woman regardless of age, race, ethnicity, or economic status.[9] Postpartum depression causes women to experience more intense feelings of depression and intensified feelings of sadness, fear, anger, anxiety, or despair that prevents them from being able to perform their activities of daily living.[10] Postpartum depression may begin shortly before or any time after childbirth. Postpartum depression commonly begins one to four weeks after childbirth[11] and can persist up to a year or more after giving birth.[12] Postpartum depression usually requires treatment due to the severity of symptoms.[13]

The Department of Children and Families (DCF), the Agency for Healthcare Administration (AHCA), and the DOH have responsibilities related to the regulation and delivery of perinatal mental health care and childbirth. The DCF evaluates, researches, plans, and recommends to the Governor and the Legislature programs designed to reduce the occurrence, severity, duration, and disabling aspects of mental, emotional, and behavioral disorders.[14] The DCF oversees and contracts for the delivery of mental health services funded with certain federal and state funds through the Substance Abuse and Mental Health (SAMH) program office. The AHCA regulates hospitals and birthing centers.[15]

The DOH is responsible for the state's public health system[16] and is the agency designated by the Legislature to administer and provide maternal and child health services.[17]

The DOH does not provide or perform mental health services.[18] The DOH, through its county health departments and other state programs, refer clients in need of mental health services to providers in local areas[19] and though its website provides information on the "baby blues" and postpartum depression.[20]

The DOH contracts for the provision of a toll-free Family Health Line[21] to provide consumers with information on community resources, pregnancy, prenatal care, childbirth, breastfeeding, family planning, infant and toddler care, parenting, smoking cessation, substance abuse and the Medicaid Family Planning Waiver Program. In 2016, the Family Health Line received 10,011 calls.[22,23]

Childbirth Settings

The Legislature has recognized the need for a person to have the freedom to choose the manner, cost, and setting for childbirth.[24] A woman may choose three settings for childbirth: at home, at a licensed birthing center, or at a hospital.[25]

The home delivery setting for childbirth is not regulated like birthing centers and hospitals, but the practices of physicians, physician assistants (PAs),[26] Advanced Registered Nurse Practitioners (ARNPs), Certified Nurse Midwives (CNMs), and Licensed Midwives (LMs) who may attend a woman during a home delivery, are licensed and regulated by the DOH.[27]

A licensed physician may attend any birth in any setting, including home delivery, if he or she can do so with reasonable skill and safety, and within the standard of care.[28] A physician may also delegate any delivery to his or her PA.[29] There are no specific laws or administrative rules that address the required perinatal care required for a patient choosing home delivery by physicians and PAs.[30]

Section 464.012(4)(b), F.S., permits an ARNP-CNM to perform a postpartum examination to the extent authorized by an established protocol with a supervising physician, but does not specify that a perinatal mental health assessment is to be included in that examination or at any time during the perinatal period for a home delivery.

Licensed birth centers are places outside of the home or hospital where women with normal, uncomplicated, low risk pregnancies may choose to deliver their babies.[31] Sections 383.330 through 383.335, F.S., establish minimum standards of care for birth centers.[32] Birth centers are licensed by the AHCA, but the clinical staff of the birth centers must be physicians, ARNP-CNMs, or LMs licensed and regulated by the DOH.

In order for a pregnant woman to be accepted for childbirth by a licensed birth center, she must be initially determined to be at low maternal risk and be regularly evaluated throughout the pregnancy to assure that she remains at low risk for poor pregnancy outcomes.[33] The woman must receive specific prenatal,[34] intrapartum,[35] and postpartum care,[36] but regulatory rules do not include specific mental health screening or education for prenatal or postpartum depression.

The mother and infant must be discharged from the licensed birth center within 24 hours of birth except under unusual circumstances.[37] A postpartum examination of the mother is required to be performed within 72 hours after delivery and must include, at a minimum:

- Interval history;
- Blood pressure measurement; and
- Observation of the breasts, perineum, and abdomen.[38]

A second postpartum examination is required at four to six weeks postpartum that includes all of the above, and:

- Weight measurement;
- Hemoglobin or hematocrit measurement; and,
- A bi-manual pelvic examination.[39]

The mother must also be counseled at some point during the postpartum period regarding:

- Breast feeding;
- Perineal care;
- Family planning;
- Signs of common complications;
- Activities and exercises;
- Sex relations;
- Care and feeding of the newborn; and
- Changing family relationships.[40]

None of the required postpartum examinations or counseling for mothers utilizing licensed birth centers require any type of mental health screening or education on postpartum depression. However, if complications occur during the postpartum period, which could include postpartum depression, a consultation or referral must be made to the appropriate source for secondary or tertiary care.[41]

Hospitals are regulated by the AHCA under ch. 395, F.S. Within the context of the bill, the only statutory requirement for a hospital providing birthing services is that women using the facility for childbirth must receive instruction on newborn care concerning safe sleep practices and possible causes of Sudden Unexpected Infant Death (SUID).[42] There are no other statutory or administrative requirements that a hospital providing birthing services require its medical staff to perform any type of postpartum mental health assessment, follow-up care, or postpartum depression education.

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

Section 1 cites the act as the "Florida Families First Act."

Section 2 creates s. 383.014, F.S., direct the DOH to establish, by January 1, 2019, and maintain two perinatal mental health care toll-free hotlines – one accessible to the public and one for health care providers as defined in s. 408.07, F.S.[43] The hotline for public access:

- Provides basic information on postpartum depression and perinatal care;

[42] Section 395.1053, F.S.
[43] Section 408.07(25), F.S., defines health care providers as those licensed under chs. 458 (allopathic doctor & PA), 459 (osteopathic doctor & PA), 460 (chiropractor), 461(podiatrist), 463 (optometrist), 464 (nurses), 465 (pharmacist), 466 (dentist and hygienist), 483, 484, 486, 490, 491, or 468, parts I (speech & language pathologists & audiologists), III (occupational therapists), IV (radiological technicians), V (respiratory therapists), or X (dietician and nutritionist).

- May recommend that the caller or patient be further evaluated by a qualified health care provider; and
- May refer a caller or patient to an appropriate health care provider in the caller's or patient's local area.

The hotline for health care providers must:
- Provide information to assist health care providers in addressing the mental health of a pregnant or postpartum patient;
- Maintain and offer contact information for health care providers throughout the state who have experience in caring for pregnant or postpartum patients; and
- Compile resources to encourage the efficient and coordinated care of pregnant or postpartum patients.

The bill requires the DOH to create public service announcements (PSAs) to educate the public on perinatal mental health care. The PSAs must include the telephone number of the public perinatal mental health care hotline.

The DOH must also encourage mental health care providers, and health care providers who conduct postpartum evaluations or treat postpartum patients, to attend continuing medical education courses on perinatal mental health care.

Section 3 amends s. 383.318, F.S., to require licensed birth centers to provide the following additional postpartum services and follow-up care:
- A maternal postpartum assessment that includes mental health screening;
- Information on postpartum depression; and
- The telephone number of the public perinatal mental health care hotline.

Section 4 amends s. 395.1053, F.S., to require hospitals providing birthing services to provide similar postpartum education and care services as birthing centers, including:
- Physical examination of the infant;
- Metabolic screening tests required by s. 383.14, F.S.;[44]
- Referral to sources for pediatric care;
- Maternal postpartum assessment that incorporates mental health screening;
- Information on postpartum depression and the telephone number of the perinatal mental health care hotline established in s. 383.014, F.S.;
- Instruction in child care, including immunization and breastfeeding, in addition to information on safe sleep practices and possible causes of Sudden Unexpected Infant Death;
- Family planning services; and
- Referral to secondary or tertiary care, as indicated.

[44] Section 383.14, F.S., requires the DOH to screen newborns for metabolic disorders before becoming one week of age. Currently the DOH screens for 53 total conditions. Department of Health, Newborn Screening, http://www.floridahealth.gov/programs-and-services/childrens-health/newborn-screening/index.html (last visited Jan. 8, 2018). Babies born in a hospital must be tested for metabolic disorders between 24 and 48 hours after birth. Babies discharged before 24 hours after birth must be tested before discharge, and again between 24 hours and five days after birth. Rule 64C-7.002, F.A.C.

BILL ANALYSIS AND FISCAL IMPACT STATEMENT

(This document is based on the provisions contained in the legislation as of the latest date listed below.)

Prepared By: The Professional Staff of the Committee on Appropriations

BILL:	SB 144
INTRODUCER:	Senators Grimsley and Stargel
SUBJECT:	Adult Cardiovascular Services
DATE:	February 26, 2017 REVISED:

	ANALYST	STAFF DIRECTOR	REFERENCE	ACTION
1.	Looke	Stovall	HP	Favorable
2.	Kidd	Williams	AHS	Recommend: Favorable
3.	Kidd	Hansen	AP	Favorable
4.			RC

I. Summary:

SB 144 requires the Agency for Health Care Administration (AHCA) to include in its licensure rules for hospitals providing adult cardiovascular services that nursing and technical staff have demonstrated experience in handling acutely ill patients requiring intervention in dedicated cardiovascular interventional laboratories or surgical centers. Current AHCA rules require the experience to be acquired in a hospital providing percutaneous coronary intervention (PCI) with onsite cardiac surgery (licensure Level II). The bill allows the experience also to be acquired in a Level I hospital (providing PCI without onsite cardiac surgery) if, at the time the experience was acquired, the Level I dedicated cardiovascular interventional laboratory met specified minimum standards for volume, performance, and types of procedures performed.

This bill has no fiscal impact on state funds.

The bill takes effect on July 1, 2018.

II. Present Situation:

Percutaneous coronary intervention (PCI), also commonly known as coronary angioplasty or angioplasty, is a nonsurgical technique for treating obstructive coronary artery disease, including unstable angina, acute myocardial infarction, and multi-vessel coronary artery disease.[1]

PCI uses a catheter to insert a small structure called a stent to reopen blood vessels in the heart that have been narrowed by plaque build-up, a condition known as atherosclerosis. Using a special type of X-ray called fluoroscopy, the catheter is threaded through blood vessels into the heart where the coronary artery is narrowed. When the tip is in place, a balloon tip covered with a stent is inflated. The balloon tip compresses the plaque and expands the stent. Once the plaque is compressed and the stent is in place, the balloon is deflated and withdrawn. The stent stays in the artery, holding it open.[2]

Hospital and Adult Cardiovascular Services Licensure and Regulation

Hospitals are regulated by the AHCA under ch. 395, F.S., and the general licensure provisions of part II of ch. 408, F.S. Hospitals are subject to the certificate of need (CON) provisions in part I of ch. 408, F.S. A CON is a written statement issued by the AHCA evidencing community need for a new, converted, expanded, or otherwise significantly modified health care facility or health service.[3]

Adult cardiovascular services (ACS), including PCI, were previously regulated through the CON program.[4] However, in 2004, the Legislature established a licensure process for adult interventional cardiology services (the predecessor terminology for ACS), dependent upon rulemaking, in lieu of the CON procedure.[5] Among other things, that law required the rules to establish two hospital program licensure levels: a Level I program authorizing the performance of adult primary PCI for emergency patients without onsite cardiac surgery, and a Level II program authorizing the performance of PCI with onsite cardiac surgery.[6] Additionally the rules must require compliance with the most recent guidelines of the American College of Cardiology and American Heart Association guidelines for staffing, physician training and experience, operating procedures, equipment, physical plant, and patient-selection criteria to ensure quality and safety.[7]

The AHCA adopted rules for Level I ACS[8] and Level II ACS.[9] Staffing rules for both levels require the nursing and technical catheterization laboratory staff to meet the following:

- Be experienced in handling acutely ill patients requiring intervention or balloon pump;
- Have at least 500 hours of previous experience in dedicated cardiac interventional laboratories at a hospital with a Level II ACS program;[10]
- Be skilled in all aspects of interventional cardiology equipment; and
- Participate in a 24-hour-per-day, 365 day-per-year call schedule;

[5] Ch. 2004-383, s. 7, Laws of Fla.
[6] Level I and Level II ACS programs may also perform adult diagnostic cardiac catheterization in accordance with Rule 59A-3.2085(13), F.A.C. Adult diagnostic cardiac catheterization involves the insertion of a catheter into one or more heart chambers for the purpose of diagnosing cardiovascular diseases.

[10] The standard in the CON exemption in s. 408.036(3)(n), F.S., for providing PCI in a hospital without an approved adult open-heart-surgery program required previous experience in dedicated interventional laboratories or surgical centers.

One of the authoritative sources referenced in the AHCA's rulemaking is The American College of Cardiology/American Heart Association Task Force on Practice Guidelines' report: ACC/AHA/SCAI 2005 Guideline Update for PCI.[11] Table 15 in that report provides criteria for the performance of primary PCI at hospitals without onsite cardiac surgery. It states:

> The nursing and technical catheterization laboratory staff must be experienced in handling acutely ill patients and must be comfortable with interventional equipment. They must have acquired experience in dedicated interventional laboratories at a surgical center.

In 2014, the Society for Cardiovascular Angiography and Interventions, the American College of Cardiology Foundation, and the American Heart Association, Inc., issued the SCAI/ACC/AHA Expert Consensus Document: 2014 Update on PCI Without On-Site Surgical Backup.[12] That report acknowledged advances and best practices in PCI performed in hospitals without onsite surgery. Table IV in that report addresses personnel requirements for PCI programs without onsite surgery. It recommends the program have experienced nursing and technical laboratory staff with training in interventional laboratories. The report does not reference a requirement that the training or experience should occur in a dedicated interventional laboratory at a surgical center.

As of October 31, 2017, there are 56 Florida hospitals providing Level I ACS services and 79 Florida hospitals providing Level II ACS services.[13]

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

The bill requires AHCA licensure rules for hospitals providing ACS to include, at a minimum, a requirement that all nursing and technical staff have demonstrated experience in handling acutely ill patients requiring PCI in dedicated cardiac interventional laboratories or surgical centers. A staff member's previous experience in a dedicated cardiac interventional laboratory at a hospital that did not have an approved adult open-heart-surgery program will qualify if the laboratory met the following criteria during the staff member's tenure. The laboratory must have:

- Had an annual volume of 500 or more PCI procedures;
- Achieved a demonstrated success rate of 95 percent or higher for PCI;
- Experienced a complication rate of less than 5 percent for PCI; and

IV. Constitutional Issues:

A. Municipality/County Mandates Restrictions:

None.

B. Public Records/Open Meetings Issues:

None.

C. Trust Funds Restrictions:

None.

V. Fiscal Impact Statement:

A. Tax/Fee Issues:

None.

B. Private Sector Impact:

SB 144 may have a positive fiscal impact on hospitals providing Level I ACS by expanding the number of programs where their nursing and technical staff may be trained as well as potentially allowing such hospitals to provide the required training at their own facilities.

C. Government Sector Impact:

None.

VI. Technical Deficiencies:

None.

VII. Related Issues:

The bill's mandate to establish rules to require nursing and technical staff in hospitals performing adult cardiovascular services to have specified experience appears to apply to both hospitals providing Level I and Level II services, however, this is placed within a statutory paragraph only relating to a hospital seeking a Level I program license. As such, it is unclear whether the staff training requirement applies to both hospitals providing Level I and Level II services or only to hospitals providing Level I services. The bill may need to be amended to indicate clearly to which hospitals the requirement applies.

VIII. Statutes Affected:

This bill substantially amends section 408.0361 of the Florida Statutes.

An act relating to adult cardiovascular services; amending s. 408.0361, F.S.; establishing criteria that must be included by the Agency for Health Care Administration in rules relating to the licensure of certain hospitals performing percutaneous coronary intervention procedures; providing an effective date.

Be It Enacted by the Legislature of the State of Florida:

Section 1. Paragraphs (a) and (b) of subsection (3) of section 408.0361, Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

408.0361 Cardiovascular services and burn unit licensure.—

(3) In establishing rules for adult cardiovascular services, the agency shall include provisions that allow for:

(a) Establishment of two hospital program licensure levels: a Level I program authorizing the performance of adult percutaneous coronary ~~cardiac~~ intervention without onsite cardiac surgery and a Level II program authorizing the performance of percutaneous coronary ~~cardiac~~ intervention with onsite cardiac surgery.

(b) For a hospital seeking a Level I program, demonstration that, for the most recent 12-month period as reported to the agency, it has provided a minimum of 300 adult inpatient and outpatient diagnostic cardiac catheterizations or, for the most recent 12-month period, has discharged or transferred at least 300 inpatients with the principal diagnosis of ischemic heart disease and that it has a formalized, written transfer agreement with a hospital that has a Level II program, including written transport protocols to ensure safe and efficient transfer of a patient within 60 minutes. However, a hospital located more than 100 road miles from the closest Level II adult cardiovascular services program does not need to meet the 60-minute transfer time protocol if the hospital demonstrates that it has a formalized, written transfer agreement with a hospital that has a Level II program. The agreement must include written transport protocols to ensure the safe and efficient transfer of a patient, taking into consideration the patient's clinical and physical characteristics, road and weather conditions, and viability of ground and air ambulance service to transfer the patient. At a minimum, the rules for adult cardiovascular services must require nursing and technical staff to have demonstrated experience in handling acutely ill patients requiring intervention based on the staff members' previous experience in dedicated cardiovascular interventional laboratories or surgical centers. If a staff member's previous experience is in a dedicated cardiovascular interventional laboratory at a hospital that does not have an approved adult open-heart surgery program, the staff member's previous experience qualifies only if, at the time the staff member acquired his or her experience, the dedicated cardiovascular interventional laboratory:

1. Had an annual volume of 500 or more percutaneous coronary intervention procedures;

BILL ANALYSIS AND FISCAL IMPACT STATEMENT

(This document is based on the provisions contained in the legislation as of the latest date listed below.)

Prepared By: The Professional Staff of the Committee on Appropriations

BILL:	CS/CS/SB 310
INTRODUCER:	Appropriations Committee; Criminal Justice Committee; and Senators Steube and Baxley
SUBJECT:	Threats to Kill or Do Great Bodily Injury
DATE:	March 1, 2018
REVISED:

	ANALYST	STAFF DIRECTOR	REFERENCE	ACTION

2.	Forbes	Hansen	AP	Fav/CS

Please see Section IX. for Additional Information:

COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

CS/CS/SB 310 replaces the current statutory requirement that prohibits any person who writes or composes and sends a letter, inscribed communication, or electronic communication with a threat to kill or do bodily injury to a person or any member of the person's family, with language that prohibits a person from making a threat to kill or do great bodily injury in writing or other record, including an electronic record, and posting or transmitting the threat in a manner that would allow another person to view it.

Additionally, the offense is decreased from a second degree felony to a third degree felony. The bill also changes the offense from a Level 6 to a Level 4 in the Criminal Punishment Code Offense Severity Ranking Chart, which decreases the offense's sentencing points from 36 points to 22 points.

The bill also exempts providers of an interactive computer service, communications service, commercial mobile service, or information service from liability under s. 836.10, F.S.

The bill is expected to result in an unquantifiable increase in prison beds.

The bill takes effect October 1, 2018.

II. Present Situation:

Section 836.10, F.S., currently prohibits a person from:

- Writing or composing and sending to any person:
  - A letter,
  - Inscribed communication, or
  - Electronic communication,
- Containing a threat to kill or do bodily injury to:
  - The person to whom the letter or communication was sent, or
  - Any member of the person's family.[1]

The act of "sending" under the statute requires two events – sending the communication to a particular person and receipt of the communication by the person being threatened.[2]

When the threat is not necessarily made against a particular individual who receives the threat, but the threat is more random in nature, the application of the statute breaks down, particularly as related to social media.[3]

Social Media

Studies indicate that social media sites are widely used to communicate with other people and to find information. For example, reports published by the Pew Research Center show that:

- 86 percent of Americans use the Internet;[4]
- Of the surveyed 1,520 adults in one study, 79 percent use Facebook, 32 percent use Instagram, 31 percent use Pinterest, 29 percent use LinkedIn, and 24 percent use Twitter;[5] and
- In a survey of 1,060 teens ages 13-17 and their parent or guardian, when asked about the use of specific sites, 89 percent of all teens reported the use of at least one of the sites[6] and 71 percent used two or more of the sites.[7]

[3] "[M]any threats made on social media will fall outside the narrow language of section 836.10, which was originally written with pen-and-paper letters in mind. ... The narrow language of section 836.10 will not encompass many threats made via social media because...social media is often used to post communications publicly, for the whole world to see, instead of sending those communications directly to any specific person. (citation omitted) This is problematic because, even though social media posts may not travel directly, they are often shared with the understanding or expectation that they will be widely distributed, even outside the original poster's own network of friends or followers." *J.A.W. v. Examples of Random Threats Using E-Mail and Social Media

In late 2015, there was a rash of e-mailed hoax threats against schools across the country that began in New York City and Los Angeles.[8] The New York and Los Angeles threats were nearly identically worded. The e-mails threatened the use of bombs, nerve gas, and rifles, and were routed through a server in Frankfurt, Germany, apparently by the same person.[9] A few days later, similar threats were directed at schools in Florida.[10]

Social media and other electronic forms of communication were used in at least 35 percent of the violent threats to schools, as reported in one recent study covering half of the 2013-14 school year in 43 states.[11]

Florida Social Media Threats

Threats conveyed over social media to do random acts of violence at schools often disrupt student education regardless of the validity of the threat.

For example, in October 2017, three students made threats at two Panhandle high schools.[12] While no violence occurred on the high school campuses, school officials are concerned about the missed school hours, testing, and assignments resulting from the panic that can ensue from threats of violence communicated through social media.[13]

A police officer in Tarpon Springs was singled out and threated with being killed in apparent retaliation for an officer-involved shooting in May 2017. According to a press release by the police chief, the threats, based on misinformation, were targeting an officer who had nothing to do with the officer-involved shooting.[14]

Case Law Applying Section 836.10, F.S.

In a 2016 court decision, a juvenile's disposition for a violation of s. 836.10, F.S., for posting written threats to kill or do bodily injury on Twitter[15] was reversed.[16] The juvenile made a series of public posts on Twitter over the span of several days threatening to "shoot up" his school.[17] The tweets were discovered by an out-of-state watchdog group who reported the threats to local police. Local police later contacted the juvenile's school officials informing them of the threats.[18]

The Second District Court of Appeals found that because the juvenile publicly posted the tweets, rather than directly sending them to any student or school official, the receipt of the threats by school officials through local police was too far removed to support a conviction under s. 836.10, F.S.[19]

The court specifically discussed the difficulty of applying the current statute to modern forms of communication, recognizing that many threats made on social media fall outside the narrow scope of the law, which requires the threatening communication to be sent directly to a specific person who receives the threat.[20]

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

The bill deletes the current statutory requirement that prohibits any person who writes or composes and sends a letter, inscribed communication, or electronic communication to with a threat kill or do bodily injury to a person or any member of the person's family.

Further, the bill prohibits a person from making a threat in writing or other record, including an electronic record, to kill or do great bodily injury to another person, and posting or transmitting the threat in any manner that would allow another person to view the threat.

Section 836.10, F.S., is made applicable under circumstances where a person transmits a threat to kill or do great bodily injury to another in a more public forum than the current law contemplates.

The current second degree felony[21] is changed by the bill to a third degree felony.[22] The bill also changes the offense from a Level 6 to a Level 4 in the Criminal Punishment Code Offense

BILL ANALYSIS AND FISCAL IMPACT STATEMENT

(This document is based on the provisions contained in the legislation as of the latest date listed below.)

Prepared By: The Professional Staff of the Committee on Appropriations
BILL:	SB 322
INTRODUCER:	Senators Book and Baxley
SUBJECT:	Fees Charged by Tax Collectors
DATE:	February 26, 2018	REVISED:

	ANALYST	STAFF DIRECTOR	REFERENCE	ACTION
1.	Jones	Miller	TR	Favorable
2.	Wells	Hrdlicka	ATD	Recommend: Favorable
3.	Wells	Hansen	AP	Favorable

I. Summary:

SB 322 authorizes tax collectors to retain a portion of fees when they administer subsequent driver license examinations or reinstate driver licenses. Specifically, the bill requires tax collectors to retain:

- $10, less an eight percent general revenue (GR) service charge, for administering a subsequent knowledge test as part of the driver license examination;
- $20, less an eight percent GR service charge, for administering a subsequent skills test as part of the driver license examination;
- $15, less an eight percent GR service charge, of the $45 fee for processing a reinstatement of a suspended driver license; and
- $20, less an eight percent GR service charge, of the $75 fee for processing a reinstatement of a disqualified or revoked driver license.

The bill has no impact on state or local government expenditures. However, the Revenue Estimating Conference estimates the bill will shift approximately $4.7 million in fee revenues from the Highway Safety Operating Trust Fund (HSOTF) to the local tax collectors in FY 2018-2019 and $4.9 million annually thereafter.

The bill takes effect July 1, 2018.

II. Present Situation:

In 2010, the Florida Legislature required all state driver license issuance services to be transferred from many Department of Highway Safety and Motor Vehicles (DHSMV) offices to tax collectors who are constitutional officers under Art. VIII, s. 1(d) of the State Constitution by June 30, 2015.[1] As part of that transfer, tax collectors retain portions of specified fees when processing certain driver license services. Additionally, tax collectors charge a $6.25 service fee for completing such services.[2]

Tax collectors are not currently allowed to retain portions of fees for some services that the tax collectors are performing regularly. For example, an applicant who fails his or her initial driving knowledge or skills test is required to pay a $10 or $20 fee, respectively, to take any subsequent test. These fees are deposited into the HSOTF, regardless of whether the DHSMV or the tax collectors administers the test.[3]

Similarly, service fees required to reinstate a suspended, revoked, or disqualified driver license, collected pursuant to s. 322.21(8), F.S., are deposited into the General Revenue Fund and HSOTF, regardless of whether the reinstatement was conducted by the DHSMV or a tax collector. Of the $45 service fee to reinstate a driver license suspension, $15 is deposited in the General Revenue Fund and $30 in the HSOTF. Of the $75 service fee to reinstate a driver license revocation or commercial driver license disqualification, $35 is deposited in the General Revenue Fund and $40 in the HSOTF.

In the past year, tax collector offices administered 70 percent of subsequent driver license examinations, 79 percent of suspended and revoked driver license reinstatements, and 61 percent of disqualified commercial driver license reinstatements.[4]

Section 215.20, F.S., requires an eight percent service charge to be paid to the General Revenue Fund from all income of a revenue nature deposited in all state trust funds excluding those exempt pursuant to s. 215.22, F.S. The fees addressed by this bill are subject to the service charge when deposited into the HSOTF.

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

Section 1 amends s. 322.12, F.S., to require, for subsequent driver license tests, that the tax collector retain:

- $10, less an eight percent GR service charge, when they administer a subsequent knowledge test as part of the driver license examination.
- $20, less an eight percent GR service charge, when they administer a subsequent skills test as part of the driver license examination.

Section 2 amends s. 322.21, F.S., to require the tax collectors to retain a portion of service fees when processing driver license reinstatements. If the reinstatement is processed by the tax collector:

- Of the $45 fee for suspension reinstatement, $15 shall be retained by the tax collector, less an eight percent GR service charge, $15 shall be deposited into the HSOTF, and $15 shall be deposited into the General Revenue Fund.

- Of the $75 fee for revocation or disqualification reinstatement, $20 shall be retained by the tax collector, less an eight percent GR service charge, $20 shall be deposited into the HSOTF, and $35 shall be deposited into the General Revenue Fund.

The bill takes effect July 1, 2018.

IV. Constitutional Issues:

A. Municipality/County Mandates Restrictions:

None.

B. Public Records/Open Meetings Issues:

None.

C. Trust Funds Restrictions:

None.

V. Fiscal Impact Statement:

A. Tax/Fee Issues:

The Revenue Estimating Conference estimates that allowing tax collectors to retain fees or portions of fees for administering subsequent driver license examinations and reinstating driver licenses will shift approximately $5 million of revenue each year from the HSOTF to the local tax collectors.[5] The bill does not impact the revenues deposited in the General Revenue Fund.

B. Private Sector Impact:

The bill does not appear to impact the private sector.

C. Government Sector Impact:

The bill will have no impact on state and local government expenditures. However, as noted above, revenues deposited into the HSOTF are expected to decrease by $4.7 million in FY 2018-2019 and $4.9 million annually thereafter with similar increases in revenues retained by local tax collectors.

VI. Technical Deficiencies:

None.

[5] Id. at p. 84.

VII. Related Issues:

None.

VIII. Statutes Affected:

This bill substantially amends the following sections of the Florida Statutes: 322.12 and 322.21.

IX. Additional Information:

A. Committee Substitute – Statement of Changes:

Be It Enacted by the Legislature of the State of Florida:

Section 1. Subsection (1) of section 322.12, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

322.12 Examination of applicants.—

(1) It is the intent of the Legislature that every applicant for an original driver license in this state be required to pass an examination pursuant to this section. However, the department may waive the knowledge, endorsement, and skills tests for an applicant who is otherwise qualified and who surrenders a valid driver license from another state or a province of Canada, or a valid driver license issued by the United States Armed Forces, if the driver applies for a Florida license of an equal or lesser classification. An ~~Any~~ applicant who fails to pass the initial knowledge test incurs a $10 fee for each subsequent test, to be deposited into the Highway Safety Operating Trust Fund, except that if a subsequent test is administered by the tax collector, the tax collector shall retain such $10 fee, less the general revenue service charge set forth in s. 215.20(1). initial skills test incurs a $20 fee for each subsequent test, to be deposited into the Highway Safety Operating Trust Fund, except that if a subsequent test is administered by the tax collector, the tax collector shall retain such $20 fee, less the general revenue service charge set forth in s. 215.20(1). A person who seeks to retain a hazardous-materials endorsement, pursuant to s. 322.57(1)(e), must pass the hazardous-materials test, upon surrendering his or her commercial driver license, if the person has not taken and passed the hazardous-materials test within 2 years before applying for a commercial driver license in this state.

Section 2. Subsection (8) of section 322.21, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

322.21 License fees; procedure for handling and collecting fees.—

(8) A ~~Any~~ person who applies for reinstatement following the suspension or revocation of the person's driver license must pay a service fee of $45 following a suspension, and $75 following a revocation, which is in addition to the fee for a license. A ~~Any~~ person who applies for reinstatement of a commercial driver license following the disqualification of the person's privilege to operate a commercial motor vehicle shall pay a service fee of $75, which is in addition to the fee for a license. The department shall collect all of these fees at the time of reinstatement. The department shall issue proper receipts for such fees and shall promptly transmit all funds received by it as follows:

(a) Of the $45 fee received from a licensee for reinstatement following a suspension:

CODING: Words ~~stricken~~ are deletions; words underlined are additions.

1. If the reinstatement is processed by the department, the department shall deposit $15 in the General Revenue Fund and $30 in the Highway Safety Operating Trust Fund.

2. If the reinstatement is processed by the tax collector, $15, less the general revenue service charge set forth in s. 215.20(1), shall be retained by the tax collector, $15 shall be deposited into the Highway Safety Operating Trust Fund, and $15 shall be deposited into the General Revenue Fund.

(b) Of the $75 fee received from a licensee for reinstatement following a revocation or disqualification:

1. If the reinstatement is processed by the department, the department shall deposit $35 in the General Revenue Fund and $40 in the Highway Safety Operating Trust Fund.

If the revocation or suspension of the driver license was for a violation of s. 316.193, or for refusal to submit to a lawful breath, blood, or urine test, an additional fee of $130 must be charged. However, only one $130 fee may be collected from one person convicted of violations arising out of the same incident. The department shall collect the $130 fee and deposit the fee into the Highway Safety Operating Trust Fund at the time of reinstatement of the person’s driver license, but the fee may not be collected if the suspension or revocation is overturned. If the revocation or suspension of the driver license was for a conviction for a violation of s. 817.234(8) or (9) or s. 817.505, an additional fee of $180 is imposed for each offense. The department shall collect and deposit the additional fee into the Highway Safety Operating Trust Fund at the time of reinstatement of the person’s driver license.

COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

PCS/CS/SB 324 requires that the collection of an impact fee be no earlier than the issuance of the building permit for the property that is subject to the fee and provides that the statutory provisions related to impact fees do not apply to water and sewer connection fees.

The bill also codifies the dual rational nexus test. The bill requires impact fees to have a rational nexus with the need for additional capital facilities and the expenditures of the funds collected. The local government must specifically earmark funds collected by the impact fees for use in acquiring capital facilities to benefit the new residents. The bill prohibits the use of impact fee revenues to pay existing debt unless certain conditions are met.

Lastly, the bill prohibits local governments from requiring developers to pay for land acquisition or construction of public facilities as a condition for approving a development order unless the local government has an ordinance imposing similar requirements on all developers.

The Revenue Estimating Conference (REC) has not completed an analysis of the bill; however, the REC has determined that the portions of the bill that prohibit the collection of impact fees prior to the issuance of a building permit will reduce local revenues by an indeterminate amount. Staff estimates that the remaining bill will reduce local revenues by an indeterminate amount.

II. Present Situation:

The Florida Constitution grants local governments broad home rule authority. Specifically, non-charter county governments may exercise those powers of self-government that are provided by general or special law.[1] Those counties operating under a county charter have all powers of self-government not inconsistent with general law or special law approved by the vote of the electors.[2] Likewise, municipalities have those governmental, corporate, and proprietary powers that enable them to conduct municipal government, perform their functions and provide services, and exercise any power for municipal purposes, except as otherwise provided by law.[3]

The Florida Statutes enumerate the powers and duties of all county governments, unless preempted on a particular subject by general or special law.[4] Those powers include the provision of fire protection, ambulance services, parks and recreation, libraries, museums and other cultural facilities, waste and sewage collection and disposal, and water and alternative water supplies.[5] Article VIII, Section 2 of the State Constitution and s. 166.021, F.S., grant municipalities broad home rule powers.

Given these constitutional and statutory powers, local governments may use a variety of revenue sources to fund services and improvements without express statutory authorization.[6] Special assessments, impact fees, franchise fees, and user fees or service charges are examples of these home rule revenue sources.[7]

Impact Fees

Impact fees are enacted by local ordinance. These fees are tailored to pay the cost of additional infrastructure necessitated by new development. As a result, impact fee calculations vary from jurisdiction to jurisdiction and from fee to fee. Impact fees also vary extensively depending on local costs, capacity needs, resources, and the local government's determination to charge the full cost or only part of the cost of the infrastructure improvement through utilization of the impact fee.

[5] Section 125.01(1), F.S.

[6] The exercise of home rule powers by local governments is constrained by whether an inconsistent provision or outright prohibition exists in the constitution or a general law or special law regarding the power at issue. Article VII, s. 1 of the State Constitution prohibits counties and municipalities from levying a tax without express statutory authorization. However, local governments may levy special assessments and a variety of fees absent any general law prohibition, provided such home rule funding source meets the relevant legal sufficiency tests.

[7] For a catalogue of such revenue sources, see the most recent editions of the Florida Legislature's Local Government Financial Information Handbook and the Florida Tax Handbook.

In 2015, 38 counties reported impact fee revenues of approximately $504 million, and 193 cities reported impact fee revenues of approximately $225.3 million.[8] In 2016, 28 school districts reported impact fee revenues of approximately $265.3 million.[9]

Statutory Authority for Impact Fees

In 2006, the Legislature enacted s. 163.31801, F.S., which provides requirements and procedures to be followed by a county, municipality, or special district when it adopts an impact fee. An impact fee ordinance adopted by local government must:

- Require that the calculation of the impact fee be based on the most recent and localized data.
- Provide for accounting and reporting of impact fee collections and expenditures. If a local government imposes an impact fee to address its infrastructure needs, the entity must account for the revenues and expenditures of such impact fee in a separate accounting fund.
- Limit administrative charges for the collection of impact fees to actual costs.
- Require that notice be provided at least 90 days before the effective date of an ordinance or resolution imposing a new or increased impact fee.[10]

The Dual Rational Nexus Test

Impact fees have their roots in the common law. A number of court decisions have addressed challenges to the legality of impact fees.[11] In Hollywood, Inc. v. Broward County,[12] the Fourth District Court of Appeal addressed the validity of a county ordinance that required a developer, as a condition of plat approval, to dedicate land or pay a fee for the expansion of the county level park system to accommodate the new residents of the proposed development. The court found that a reasonable dedication or impact fee requirement is permissible if (1) it offsets reasonable needs that are sufficiently attributable to the new development and (2) the fees collected are adequately earmarked for the acquisition of capital assets that will benefit the residents of the new development.[13] These two requirements are called the dual rational nexus test. In order to show the impact fee meets those requirements, the local government must demonstrate a rational relationship between the need for additional capital facilities and the proposed development. In addition, the local government must show the funds are earmarked for the provision of public facilities to benefit the new residents.[14]

In Volusia County v. Aberdeen at Ormond Beach, the Florida Supreme Court ruled that when a residential development has no potential to increase school enrollment, public school impact fees may not be imposed.[15] The county in that case had imposed a school impact fee on a deed-restricted community for adults 55 years old and older. In City of Zephyrhills v. Wood, the Second District Court of Appeal upheld an impact fee on a recently purchased and renovated building, finding that structural changes had corresponding impacts on the city's water and sewer system.[16]

As developed under case law, an impact fee must have the following characteristics to be legal:

- The fee is levied on new development, the expansion of existing development, or a change in land use that requires additional capacity for public facilities;
- The fee represents a proportionate share of the cost of public facilities needed to serve new development;
- The fee is earmarked and expended for the benefit of those in the new development who have paid the fee;
- The fee is a one-time charge, although collection may be spread over a period of time;
- The fee is earmarked for capital outlay only and is not expended for operating costs; and
- The fee-payers receive credit for the contributions toward the cost of the increased capacity for public facilities.[17]

Time of Collection for Impact Fees

The Florida Statutes do not specify when a local government must collect impact fees. As a result, the applicable local government makes this decision, and the time of collection varies. For example, in Orange County, residential impact fees are due when the building permit is issued, although the county allows the fee to be deferred in certain circumstances.[18] In contrast, in Volusia County, impact fees are due before the issuance of a certificate of occupancy or business tax receipt.[19]

Sector Plans

Local governments are authorized to adopt sector plans into their comprehensive plans.[20] Sector planning is a process whereby local governments engage in long-term planning for a large area of land and address regional issues through adoption of detailed specific area plans within the planning area.[21] Sector plans are approved in two stages: first, the local government approves an amendment to its comprehensive plan, and second, the local government adopts development orders approving one or more detailed specific area plans.[22]

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

The bill provides that an impact fee adopted by ordinance of a county or municipality or by resolution of a special district must, at minimum, specify that the impact fee be collected no earlier than the issuance of the building permit for the property that is subject to the fee.

The bill also codifies the dual rational nexus test. Specifically, the bill requires that an impact fee be reasonably connected to, or have a rational nexus with:

- The need for additional capital facilities and the increased impact generated by the new residential or commercial construction; and
- The expenditures of the funds collected and the benefits accruing to the new residential or commercial construction.

Additionally, the local government must specifically earmark funds collected by the impact fees for use in acquiring capital facilities to benefit the new residents. Finally, the bill prohibits the use of impact fee revenues to pay existing debt or for prior approved projects unless the expenditure is reasonably connected to, or has a rational nexus with, the increased impact generated by the new residential or commercial construction.

The bill provides that water and sewer connection fees are excluded from the statutory provisions related to impact fees contained in s. 163.31801, F.S.

The bill provides that in adopting a detailed specific area plan or related development order a local government may not require a developer to contribute or pay for land acquisition or construction or expansion of public facilities unless the local government has enacted an ordinance that requires developers of other developments not within the sector planning area to contribute a proportionate share of the funds, land or public facilities necessary to accommodate any impacts having a rational nexus to the proposed development. Obligations to fund or construct new facilities or add to the present system of public facilities must have an essential nexus with, and be roughly proportionate to, the proposed development.

The bill provides that, within 30 days of receipt of an application for approval of a detailed specific area plan or related development order, a local government must review the application for completeness and issue a letter either indicating that all required information has been submitted or specifying, with particularity, any areas that are deficient. If the application is found to be deficient, the applicant must address the deficiencies within 30 days after receiving notice of the deficiencies by submitting the required additional information. The local government must approve, approve with conditions, or deny the application for a detailed specific area plan within 90 days after receipt of the initial or supplemental submission, whichever is later, unless the deadline is waived in writing by the applicant. An approval or denial of the application for approval of a detailed specific area plan or related development order must include written findings supporting the local government's decision.

IV. Constitutional Issues:

A. Municipality/County Mandates Restrictions:

Article VII, s. 18(b) of of the Florida Constitution provides that the Legislature, except upon approval by a two-thirds vote, may not enact a general law if the anticipated effect of doing so would be to reduce the authority that counties or municipalities have to raise revenues in the aggregate.

The county/municipality mandates provision of Art. VII, s. 18 of the Florida Constitution may apply because the bill restricts the time at which a county or municipality may collect its impact fees and prohibits counties and municipalities from requiring certain payments as a condition of approving a detailed specific area plan or related development order as part of sector planning.

The mandate requirements do not apply to laws having an insignificant impact, which for Fiscal Year 2017-2018 was $2.05 million or less.[23,24,25] If the bill is determined to reduce the authority that counties and municipalities have to raise revenues in the aggregate and exceeds the threshold for insignificant fiscal impact, the bill may qualify as a mandate and require final passage by a two-thirds vote of the membership of each house of the Legislature.

B. Public Records/Open Meetings Issues:

None.

C. Trust Funds Restrictions:

None.

V. Fiscal Impact Statement:

A. Tax/Fee Issues:

The Revenue Estimating Conference (REC) has not completed an analysis of this bill; however, the REC has determined that the portions of the bill that prohibit collection of impact fees prior to issuance of a building permit will reduce local revenues by an indeterminate amount. Staff estimates that the remaining portions of the bill will reduce local revenues by an indeterminate amount.

B. Private Sector Impact:

Developers will not have to pay impact fees prior to the issuance of the building permit for a property, and developers will not have to contribute or pay for land acquisition or construction of public facilities related to detailed specific area plans or related development orders unless the local government has an ordinance that imposes similar payments on developers of developments not within the sector planning area requiring that they contribute a proportionate share of the funds, land, or facilities necessary to accommodate any impacts having a rational nexus to the proposed development.

C. Government Sector Impact:

Counties, municipalities, and special districts will not be able to collect impact fees prior to the issuance of the building permit for a property, and local governments will not be able to require contributions of or payments for land or construction of public facilities as a condition for approving a detailed specific area plan or related development order unless the local government has an ordinance that imposes similar payments on developers of developments not within the sector planning area requiring that they contribute a proportionate share of the funds, land, or facilities necessary to accommodate any impacts having a rational nexus to the proposed development.

VI. Technical Deficiencies:

None.

VII. Related Issues:

None.

VIII. Statutes Affected:

This bill substantially amends the following sections of the Florida Statutes: 163.31801 and 163.3245.

The committee substitute:

- Provides that impact fee requirements do not apply to water or sewer connection fees.
- Prohibits local governments from requiring developers to contribute or pay for land acquisition or construction of public facilities as a condition for approving a detailed specific area plan or related development order unless the local government has an ordinance that imposes similar payments on developers of developments not within the sector planning area requiring that they contribute a proportionate share of the funds, land, or facilities necessary to accommodate any impacts having a rational nexus to the proposed development.

CS by Community Affairs on December 5, 2017:

- Provides that collection of impact fees may not occur before the issuance of the building permit, rather than the issuance of the certificate of occupancy, for the property that is subject to the fee.
- Requires that the impact fee be reasonably connected to, or have a rational nexus with:
  - The need for additional capital facilities and the increased impact generated by the new residential or commercial construction; and

A bill to be entitled

An act relating to impact fees; amending s. 163.31801, F.S.; revising the minimum requirements for impact fees; prohibiting the application of impact fee provisions to water and sewer connection fees; amending s. 163.3245, F.S.; prohibiting local governments from requiring certain conditions in development orders, except under certain conditions; specifying the process for the local government review and approval of detailed specific area plans or related development orders; providing an effective date.

Section 1. Section 163.31801, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

163.31801 Impact fees; short title; intent; minimum requirements; audits; challenges ~~definitions; ordinances levying impact fees~~.—

(1) This section may be cited as the "Florida Impact Fee Act."

(2) The Legislature finds that impact fees are an important source of revenue for a local government to use in funding the infrastructure necessitated by new growth. The Legislature further finds that impact fees are an outgrowth of the home rule power of a local government to provide certain services within its jurisdiction. Due to the growth of impact fee collections and local governments' reliance on impact fees, it is the intent of the Legislature to ensure that, when a county or municipality adopts an impact fee by ordinance or a special district adopts an impact fee by resolution, the governing authority complies with this section.

(3) At a minimum, impact fees ~~An impact fee~~ adopted by ordinance of a county or municipality or by resolution of a special district must~~, at minimum~~ satisfy the following conditions:

(a) ~~Require that~~ The calculation of the impact fees must ~~fee~~ be based on the most recent and localized data.

(b) The local government must provide for accounting and reporting of impact fee collections and expenditures. If a local governmental entity imposes an impact fee to address its infrastructure needs, the entity shall account for the revenues and expenditures of such impact fee in a separate accounting fund.

(c) ~~Limit~~ Administrative charges for the collection of impact fees must be limited to actual costs.

(d) ~~Require that~~ Notice must be provided no less than 90 days before the effective date of an ordinance or resolution imposing ~~a~~ new or increased impact fees ~~fee~~. A county or municipality is not required to wait 90 days to decrease, suspend, or eliminate ~~an~~ impact fees ~~fee~~.

(e) Collection of the impact fees may not occur earlier than the issuance of the building permit for the property that is subject to the fee.

(f) The impact fee must be reasonably connected to, or have a rational nexus with, the need for additional capital facilities and the increased impact generated by the new residential or commercial construction.

(g) The impact fee must be reasonably connected to, or have a rational nexus with, the expenditures of the funds collected and the benefits accruing to the new residential or commercial construction.

(h) The local government must specifically earmark funds collected by the impact fees for use in acquiring capital facilities to benefit the new residents.

(i) The collection or expenditure of the impact fee revenues may not be used, in whole or part, to pay existing debt or be used for prior approved projects unless the expenditure is reasonably connected to, or has a rational nexus with, the increased impact generated by the new residential or commercial construction.

(4) Audits of financial statements of local governmental entities and district school boards which are performed by a certified public accountant pursuant to s. 218.39 and submitted to the Auditor General must include an affidavit signed by the chief financial officer of the local governmental entity or district school board stating that the local governmental entity or district school board has complied with this section.

(5) In any action challenging an impact fee, the government has the burden of proving by a preponderance of the evidence that the imposition or amount of the fee meets the requirements of state legal precedent or this section. The court may not use a deferential standard.

(6) This section does not apply to water and sewer connection fees.

Section 2. Paragraph (b) of subsection (3) and subsection (4) of section 163.3245, Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

163.3245 Sector plans.—

(3) Sector planning encompasses two levels: adoption pursuant to s. 163.3184 of a long-term master plan for the entire planning area as part of the comprehensive plan, and adoption by local development order of two or more detailed specific area plans that implement the long-term master plan and within which s. 380.06 is waived.

(b)1. In addition to the other requirements of this chapter, except for those that are inconsistent with or superseded by the planning standards of this paragraph, the detailed specific area plans must ~~shall~~ be consistent with the long-term master plan and ~~must~~ include conditions and commitments that provide for:

a.~~1.~~ Development or conservation of an area of at least 1,000 acres consistent with the long-term master plan. The local government may approve detailed specific area plans of less than 1,000 acres based on local circumstances if it is determined that the detailed specific area plan furthers the purposes of this part and part I of chapter 380.

b.~~2.~~ Detailed identification and analysis of the maximum and minimum densities and intensities of use and the distribution, extent, and location of future land uses.

c.~~3.~~ Detailed identification of water resource development and water supply development projects and related infrastructure and water conservation measures to address water needs of development in the detailed specific area plan.

d.~~4.~~ Detailed identification of the transportation facilities to serve the future land uses in the detailed specific area plan.

e.~~5.~~ Detailed identification of other regionally significant public facilities, including public facilities outside the jurisdiction of the host local government, impacts of future land uses on those facilities, and required improvements consistent with the long-term master plan.

f.~~6.~~ Public facilities necessary to serve development in the detailed specific area plan, including developer contributions in a 5-year capital improvement schedule of the affected local government.

g.~~7.~~ Detailed analysis and identification of specific measures to ensure the protection and, as appropriate, restoration and management of lands within the boundary of the detailed specific area plan identified for permanent preservation through recordation of conservation easements consistent with s. 704.06, which easements shall be effective before or concurrent with the effective date of the detailed specific area plan and other important resources both within and outside the host jurisdiction. Any such conservation easement may be based on digital orthophotography prepared by a surveyor and mapper licensed under chapter 472 and may include a right of adjustment authorizing the grantor to modify portions of the area protected by a conservation easement and substitute other lands in their place if the lands to be substituted contain no less gross acreage than the lands to be removed; have equivalent values in the proportion and quality of wetlands, uplands, and wildlife habitat; and are contiguous to other lands protected by the conservation easement. Substitution is accomplished by recording an amendment to the conservation easement as accepted by and with the consent of the grantee, and which consent may not be unreasonably withheld.

h.~~8.~~ Detailed principles and guidelines addressing the urban form and the interrelationships of future land uses; achieving a more clean, healthy environment; limiting urban sprawl; providing a range of housing types; protecting wildlife and natural areas; advancing the efficient use of land and other resources; creating quality communities of a design that promotes travel by multiple transportation modes; and enhancing the prospects for the creation of jobs.

i.~~9.~~ Identification of specific procedures to facilitate intergovernmental coordination to address extrajurisdictional impacts from the detailed specific area plan.

2. A detailed specific area plan adopted by local development order pursuant to this section may be based upon a planning period longer than the generally applicable planning period of the local comprehensive plan and shall specify the projected population within the specific planning area during the chosen planning period. A detailed specific area plan adopted pursuant to this section is not required to demonstrate need based upon projected population growth or on any other basis. All lands identified in the long-term master plan for permanent preservation shall be subject to a recorded conservation easement consistent with s. 704.06 before or concurrent with the effective date of the final detailed specific area plan to be approved within the planning area. Any such conservation easement may be based on digital orthophotography prepared by a surveyor and mapper licensed under chapter 472 and may include a right of adjustment authorizing the grantor to modify portions of the area protected by a conservation easement and substitute other lands in their place if the lands to be substituted contain no less gross acreage than the lands to be removed; have equivalent values in the proportion and quality of wetlands, uplands, and wildlife habitat; and are contiguous to other lands protected by the conservation easement. Substitution is accomplished by recording an amendment to the conservation easement as accepted by and with the consent of the grantee, and which consent may not be unreasonably withheld.

3. In adopting a detailed specific area plan or related development order, a local government may not include or impose as a development order condition a requirement that a developer contribute or pay for land acquisition or construction or expansion of public facilities, or portions thereof, unless the local government has enacted a local ordinance that requires developers of other developments not within a sector planning area to contribute a proportionate share of the funds, land, or public facilities necessary to accommodate any impacts having a rational nexus to the proposed development. When allowed under this section, the obligation to fund or construct new facilities or add to the present system of public facilities must have an essential nexus and be roughly proportionate to the proposed development.

4. Within 30 days of receipt of an application for approval of a detailed specific area plan or related development order, a local government must review the application for completeness and issue a letter either indicating that all required information has been submitted or specifying, with particularity, any areas that are deficient. If the application is found to be deficient, the applicant must address the deficiencies within 30 days after receiving notice of the deficiencies by submitting the required additional information. The local government must approve, approve with conditions, or deny the application for the detailed specific area plan within 90 days after receipt of the initial or supplemental submission, whichever is later, unless the deadline is waived in writing by the applicant. An approval or denial of the application for approval of a detailed specific area plan or related development order must include written findings supporting the local government decision.

(4) Upon the long-term master plan becoming legally effective:

(a) Any long-range transportation plan developed by a metropolitan planning organization pursuant to s. 339.175(7) must be consistent, to the maximum extent feasible, with the long-term master plan, including, but not limited to, the projected population and the approved uses and densities and intensities of use and their distribution within the planning area. The transportation facilities identified in adopted plans pursuant to subparagraph (3)(a)3. and sub-subparagraph (3)(b)1.d. ~~subparagraphs (3)(a)3. and (b)4.~~ must be developed in coordination with the adopted M.P.O. long-range transportation plan.

(b) The water needs, sources and water resource development, and water supply development projects identified in adopted plans pursuant to subparagraph (3)(a)2. and sub-subparagraph (3)(b)1.d. must ~~subparagraphs (3)(a)2. and (b)3. shall~~ be incorporated into the applicable district and regional water supply plans adopted in accordance with ss. 373.036 and 373.709. Accordingly, and notwithstanding the permit durations stated in s. 373.236, an applicant may request and the applicable district may issue consumptive use permits for durations commensurate with the long-term master plan or detailed specific area plan, considering the ability of the master plan area to contribute to regional water supply availability and the need to maximize reasonable-beneficial use of the water resource. The permitting criteria in s. 373.223 shall be applied based upon the projected population and the approved densities and intensities of use and their distribution in the long-term master plan; however, the allocation of the water may be phased over the permit duration to correspond to actual projected needs. This paragraph does not supersede the public interest test set forth in s. 373.223.

COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

CS/CS/SB 324 requires that the collection of an impact fee be no earlier than the issuance of the building permit for the property that is subject to the fee and provides that the statutory provisions related to impact fees do not apply to water and sewer connection fees.

The bill also codifies the dual rational nexus test. The bill requires impact fees to have a rational nexus with the need for additional capital facilities and the expenditures of the funds collected. The local government must specifically earmark funds collected by the impact fees for use in acquiring, constructing, or improving capital facilities to benefit the new users. The bill prohibits the use of impact fee revenues to pay existing debt unless certain conditions are met.

The Revenue Estimating Conference (REC) determined that the bill will reduce local revenues by an indeterminate amount.

II. Present Situation:

The Florida Constitution grants local governments broad home rule authority. Specifically, non-charter county governments may exercise those powers of self-government that are provided by general or special law.[1] Those counties operating under a county charter have all powers of self-government not inconsistent with general law or special law approved by the vote of the electors.[2] Likewise, municipalities have those governmental, corporate, and proprietary powers that enable them to conduct municipal government, perform their functions and provide services, and exercise any power for municipal purposes, except as otherwise provided by law.[3]

The Florida Statutes enumerate the powers and duties of all county governments, unless preempted on a particular subject by general or special law.[4] Those powers include the provision of fire protection, ambulance services, parks and recreation, libraries, museums and other cultural facilities, waste and sewage collection and disposal, and water and alternative water supplies.[5] Article VIII, Section 2 of the State Constitution and s. 166.021, F.S., grant municipalities broad home rule powers.

Given these constitutional and statutory powers, local governments may use a variety of revenue sources to fund services and improvements without express statutory authorization.[6] Special assessments, impact fees, franchise fees, and user fees or service charges are examples of these home rule revenue sources.[7]

Impact Fees

Impact fees are enacted by local ordinance. These fees are tailored to pay the cost of additional infrastructure necessitated by new development. As a result, impact fee calculations vary from jurisdiction to jurisdiction and from fee to fee. Impact fees also vary extensively depending on local costs, capacity needs, resources, and the local government's determination to charge the full cost or only part of the cost of the infrastructure improvement through utilization of the impact fee.

In 2015, 38 counties reported impact fee revenues of approximately $504 million, and 193 cities reported impact fee revenues of approximately $225.3 million.[8] In 2016, 28 school districts reported impact fee revenues of approximately $265.3 million.[9]

[6] The exercise of home rule powers by local governments is constrained by whether an inconsistent provision or outright prohibition exists in the constitution or a general law or special law regarding the power at issue. Article VII, s. 1 of the State Constitution prohibits counties and municipalities from levying a tax without express statutory authorization. However, local governments may levy special assessments and a variety of fees absent any general law prohibition, provided such home rule funding source meets the relevant legal sufficiency tests.

Statutory Authority for Impact Fees

In 2006, the Legislature enacted s. 163.31801, F.S., which provides requirements and procedures to be followed by a county, municipality, or special district when it adopts an impact fee. An impact fee ordinance adopted by local government must:

- Require that the calculation of the impact fee be based on the most recent and localized data.
- Provide for accounting and reporting of impact fee collections and expenditures. If a local government imposes an impact fee to address its infrastructure needs, the entity must account for the revenues and expenditures of such impact fee in a separate accounting fund.
- Limit administrative charges for the collection of impact fees to actual costs.
- Require that notice be provided at least 90 days before the effective date of an ordinance or resolution imposing a new or increased impact fee.[10]

The Dual Rational Nexus Test

Impact fees have their roots in the common law. A number of court decisions have addressed challenges to the legality of impact fees.[11] In Hollywood, Inc. v. Broward County,[12] the Fourth District Court of Appeal addressed the validity of a county ordinance that required a developer, as a condition of plat approval, to dedicate land or pay a fee for the expansion of the county level park system to accommodate the new residents of the proposed development. The court found that a reasonable dedication or impact fee requirement is permissible if (1) it offsets reasonable needs that are sufficiently attributable to the new development and (2) the fees collected are adequately earmarked for the acquisition of capital assets that will benefit the residents of the new development.[13] These two requirements are called the dual rational nexus test. In order to show the impact fee meets those requirements, the local government must demonstrate a rational relationship between the need for additional capital facilities and the proposed development. In addition, the local government must show the funds are earmarked for the provision of public facilities to benefit the new residents.[14]

In Volusia County v. Aberdeen at Ormond Beach, the Florida Supreme Court ruled that when a residential development has no potential to increase school enrollment, public school impact fees may not be imposed.[15] The county in that case had imposed a school impact fee on a deed-restricted community for adults 55 years old and older. In City of Zephyrhills v. Wood, the Second District Court of Appeal upheld an impact fee on a recently purchased and renovated building, finding that structural changes had corresponding impacts on the city's water and sewer system.[16]

As developed under case law, an impact fee must have the following characteristics to be legal:

[10] Section 163.31801, F.S. Other sections of law also address the ability of local governments or special districts to levy impact fees. See ss. 163.3202(3), 191.009(4), and 380.06(15) and (16), F.S.

- The fee is levied on new development, the expansion of existing development, or a change in land use that requires additional capacity for public facilities;
- The fee represents a proportionate share of the cost of public facilities needed to serve new development;
- The fee is earmarked and expended for the benefit of those in the new development who have paid the fee;
- The fee is a one-time charge, although collection may be spread over a period of time;
- The fee is earmarked for capital outlay only and is not expended for operating costs; and
- The fee-payers receive credit for the contributions toward the cost of the increased capacity for public facilities.[17]

Time of Collection for Impact Fees

The Florida Statutes do not specify when a local government must collect impact fees. As a result, the applicable local government makes this decision, and the time of collection varies. For example, in Orange County, residential impact fees are due when the building permit is issued, although the county allows the fee to be deferred in certain circumstances.[18] In contrast, in Volusia County, impact fees are due before the issuance of a certificate of occupancy or business tax receipt.[19]

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

The bill provides that an impact fee adopted by ordinance of a county or municipality or by resolution of a special district must, at minimum, specify that the impact fee be collected no earlier than the issuance of the building permit for the property that is subject to the fee.

The bill also codifies the dual rational nexus test. Specifically, the bill requires that an impact fee be reasonably connected to, or have a rational nexus with:

- The need for additional capital facilities and the increased impact generated by the new residential or commercial construction; and
- The expenditures of the funds collected and the benefits accruing to the new residential or commercial construction.

Additionally, the local government must specifically earmark funds collected pursuant to the impact fees for use in acquiring, constructing, or improving capital facilities to benefit the new users. Finally, the bill prohibits the use of impact fee revenues to pay existing debt or for prior approved projects unless the expenditure is reasonably connected to, or has a rational nexus with, the increased impact generated by the new residential or commercial construction.

The bill provides that water and sewer connection fees are excluded from the statutory provisions related to impact fees contained in s. 163.31801, F.S.

The bill takes effect July 1, 2018.

IV. Constitutional Issues:

A. Municipality/County Mandates Restrictions:

Article VII, s. 18(b) of the Florida Constitution provides that the Legislature, except upon approval by a two-thirds vote, may not enact a general law if the anticipated effect of doing so would be to reduce the authority that counties or municipalities have to raise revenues in the aggregate.

The county/municipality mandates provision of Art. VII, s. 18 of the Florida Constitution may apply because the bill restricts the time at which a county or municipality may collect its impact fees.

The mandate requirements do not apply to laws having an insignificant impact, which for Fiscal Year 2017-2018 was $2.05 million or less.[20,21,22] If the bill is determined to reduce the authority that counties and municipalities have to raise revenues in the aggregate and exceeds the threshold for insignificant fiscal impact, the bill may qualify as a mandate and require final passage by a two-thirds vote of the membership of each house of the Legislature.

B. Public Records/Open Meetings Issues:

None.

C. Trust Funds Restrictions:

None.

V. Fiscal Impact Statement:

A. Tax/Fee Issues:

The Revenue Estimating Conference has determined that the bill will reduce local revenues by an indeterminate amount.

[20] FLA. CONST. art. VII, s. 18(d).

[21] An insignificant fiscal impact is the amount not greater than the average statewide population for the applicable fiscal year times $0.10. See Florida Senate Committee on Community Affairs, Interim Report 2012-115: Insignificant Impact, (Sept. 2011), available at http://www.flsenate.gov/PublishedContent/Session/2012/InterimReports/2012-115ca.pdf (last visited Jan. 17, 2018).

B. Private Sector Impact:

Developers will not have to pay impact fees prior to the issuance of the building permit for a property.

C. Government Sector Impact:

Counties, municipalities, and special districts will not be able to collect impact fees prior to the issuance of the building permit for a property.

VI. Technical Deficiencies:

None.

VII. Related Issues:

None.

VIII. Statutes Affected:

This bill substantially amends s. 163.31801 of the Florida Statutes.

IX. Additional Information:

A. Committee Substitute – Statement of Substantial Changes:
(Summarizing differences between the Committee Substitute and the prior version of the bill.)

CS/CS by Appropriations on February 27, 2018:
The committee substitute:
- Provides that impact fee requirements do not apply to water or sewer connection fees.

I. Summary:

SB 328 directs the Department of Highway Safety and Motor Vehicles (DHSMV) to create a state veteran identification card to be used by veterans as proof of veteran status for obtaining discounts or fee waivers. The DHSMV shall issue the card to a veteran who has been honorably discharged and who provides to the DHSMV:

- A copy of his or her DD Form 214;
- A copy of his or her valid driver license, identification card, or another form of photographic identification acceptable to the DHSMV; and
- Payment of a $10 fee.

The bill provides specifications for information that will appear on the card, and provides that the card may be used as proof of veteran status in numerous sections of the Florida Statutes that waive application fees for registration or licensure or provide for expedited review of concealed weapons applications.

The bill is expected to result in insignificant increases in revenues deposited into the Highway Safety Operating Trust Fund (HSOTF) and for local tax collectors. The DHSMV is expected to incur costs of approximately $173,715 to implement the bill.

The bill takes effect January 1, 2019.

II. Present Situation:

Veteran Identification Cards

In general, most veteran identification cards are used to obtain promotional discounts and other services, and provide a way for a veteran to prove military service without having to present other forms of proof that might also contain personal or confidential information.[1] In 2015, Congress enacted the "Veterans Identification Card Act 2015,"[2] which directs the Secretary of the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) to issue a veteran identification card to each veteran who requests one and presents a copy of his or her Department of Defense (DoD) DD Form 214[3] (Certificate of Release or Discharge from Active Duty) or other official document from the official military personnel file of the veteran that describes his or her service. The card will display the photograph and name of the veteran, and contain an identification number that is not a social security number. The card is not proof of any benefits to which the veteran is entitled but does serve as proof that such veteran:

- Served in the Armed Forces; and
- Has a DD Form 214 or other official document in the official military personnel file of the veteran that describes the service of the veteran.[4]

The VA opened the application process for the cards on November 29, 2017; "[v]eterans who apply for a card should receive it within 60 days and can check delivery status of their cards at vets.gov."[5] The VA plans to provide a digital version of the identification card as well.[6] At this time, the VA has indicated that it will not charge a veteran a fee for issuance of the identification card.[7]

Currently, certain veterans may be eligible for other identification cards that may prove veteran status, including a:

- Veteran Health Identification Card (VHIC): The VHIC is issued to veterans enrolled in the VA health care system, and is used for identification and check-in at VA appointments and access to U.S. military bases.[8]
- DD Form 2 (Retired), Uniformed Services ID: This card is issued by the DoD to retired members of the U.S. Uniformed Services[9] entitled to retired pay, members on the Temporary

State Driver License or Identification Card Veteran Designations

Currently, 48 states as well as Puerto Rico and the District of Columbia provide the option for veterans to add a veteran designation to a state driver license or identification card.[14]

Florida provides the option for a veteran designation to be placed on a veteran's driver license or identification card upon request from the veteran, payment of a fee, and the presentation of a copy of the veteran's DD Form 214 or other acceptable form specified by the Florida Department of Veterans' Affairs (FDVA).[15] The designation is added onto a driver license or identification card for a $1 fee when the license or card is being issued or renewed, or a $2 fee solely to replace a license or card in order to add on the designation.[16] Revenue generated from the $1 and $2 fees is deposited into the Highway Safety Operating Trust Fund. Additionally, tax collectors in most counties charge a $6.25 service fee for issuing or renewing a driver license or identification card.[17]

[16] Id. The current veteran designation is a "V" printed on the license or card; however, the designation will be changed to read "Veteran" upon implementation of new designs for the license and card by the DHSMV. The DHSMV expected the implementation of the new design to be completed by December 2017. See s. 4, ch. 2015-85 L.O.F. See also DHSMV, 2018 Agency Legislative Bill Analysis: SB 100 (Oct. 23, 2017). Also, note that SB 100 (2017), if passed by the Legislature during the 2018 Session, will eliminate all fees that a veteran will pay to have the word "Veteran" displayed on a driver license or identification card.

[17] The DHSMV performs the tax collection services for Volusia, Broward, and Miami-Dade counties, because those counties do not have a tax collector who is a constitutional officer under Art. VIII, s. 1(d) of the State Constitution, and the tax collectors of Glades, Franklin, and Gilchrist counties are exempt from providing services on behalf of the DHSMV due to their statuses as fiscally constrained counties. See s. 322.135(1)(c) and (7), F.S.

As of October 2017, there are 343,118 veterans that have Florida identification cards or driver licenses with a "Veteran" designation.[18]

State-Issued Veteran Identification Cards

Virginia and Delaware both offer veteran identification cards issued by the state's Division of Motor Vehicles.

To be eligible for a Virginia-issued veteran identification card, the veteran must:
- Present documentation indicating that he or she served in the U.S. Armed Forces, received an honorable discharge, and holds an unexpired Virginia driver license or identification card;
- Present documentation that displays the veteran's branch of service, discharge date, and discharge status; and
- Pay a $10 application fee.[19]

Delaware-issued veteran identification cards are available free of charge to any Delaware veteran that served in the U.S. military, was honorably discharged, has a valid Delaware driver license or identification card, and provides accepted proof of military service.[20]

Florida does not issue a veteran identification card for all veterans but does issue cards for veterans with specified 100 percent total and permanent service-connected disabilities. Section 295.17, F.S., authorizes the FDVA to issue an identification card to any veteran who is a permanent resident of Florida and has been determined by the VA to have a 100 percent service-connected permanent and total disability rating for compensation, or has a service-connected total and permanent disability rating of 100 percent and is receiving disability retirement pay from any branch of the U.S. Armed Forces.

Licensing and Registration Fee Waivers

Florida has the third largest veteran population in the nation, with over 1.5 million veterans in the state.[21] Florida offers numerous benefits available to veterans, including fee waivers for veterans, spouses of veterans, and business entities with majority ownership held by a veteran or spouse of a veteran.

Currently, Florida waives initial license and application fees for a veteran who, within 24 months of being discharged from a branch of the U.S. Armed Forces, applies for the following licenses and provides a copy of his or her DD Form 214 or another acceptable form of identification as specified by the FDVA:
- Private investigative or security agency branch office manager or firearms instructor;[22]
- Private investigator, private investigator intern, or private investigative agency manager;[23]

- Security officer, security officer instructor, or security agency manager;[24] and Initial license or registration fees are waived for a veteran, spouses of a veteran, and a business entity with a veteran majority owner who submits an application within 60 months after the date of the veteran's discharge from the U.S. Armed Forces for the following classes of licenses:

- Land surveyor and mapper;[26]
- Health studio;[27]
- Commercial telephone seller or entities providing substance abuse marketing services;[28]
- Telemarketing salesperson;[29]
- Mover and moving broker;[30]
- Liquefied petroleum gas related license;[31]
- Pawnbroker;[32]
- Motor vehicle repair shop;[33] and
- Sellers of travel.[34]

To be eligible for the fee waiver discussed above, the veteran must have been honorably discharged, and the applicant must provide a copy of the veteran's DD Form 214 or another acceptable form of identification as specified by the FDVA, and a valid marriage license or proof of ownership interest, where applicable.

A veteran of the U.S. Armed Forces who retired within 24 months before application for licensure is exempt from the application filing fee to be licensed as an insurance agent, customer representative, adjuster, service representative, managing general agent, or reinsurance intermediary upon proof of qualifying veteran status.[35]

Finally, a veteran is eligible to receive expedited processing of an application for a license to carry concealed weapons or firearms. A veteran must submit a copy of the DD Form 214 or another acceptable form of identification as specified by the FDVA.[36]

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

The bill directs the DHSMV to create a veteran identification card to be used as proof of veteran status for obtaining discounts or waivers offered to veterans (Section 1, creating s. 322.0511, F.S.). The card may not be used for the determination of any federal benefits and is not a 100 percent disabled veteran state identification card issued under s. 295.17, F.S., or state identification card with a veteran designation issued under s. 322.051, F.S.

The card must bear the colors and design approved by the DHSMV, including:
- A full-face photograph of the veteran;
- The words "Proof of veteran status" at the bottom of the card; and
- The veteran's full name, branch of service, and date of discharge.

The DHSMV shall issue the card by mail to a veteran of any branch of the U.S. Armed Forces who has been honorably discharged and who provides the DHSMV with:
- A copy of his or her DD Form 214;
- A copy of his or her valid driver license or identification card or other form of photographic identification acceptable to the DHSMV; and
- Payment of a $10 fee.[37]

The bill requires the card be terminated upon the death of the veteran. Additionally, this law authorizing issuance of the card will be repealed August 31, 2023.

The bill authorizes the veteran identification card to be used as proof of veteran status in numerous sections of the Florida Statutes. Specifically, the bill authorizes the card to be used as proof of veteran status to receive fee waivers when applying for the following licenses or registrations:
- Land surveyor and mapper (Section 2, amending s. 472.015, F.S.);
- Private investigative or security agency branch office manager, firearms instructor, private investigator, private investigator intern, private investigative agency manager, security officer instructor, security agency manager, recovery agent, recovery agent intern, recovery agent manager, or recovery agent instructor (Section 3, amending s. 493.6105, F.S.);
- Private investigative or security agency branch office manager or a firearms instructor (Section 4, amending s. 493.6107, F.S.);
- Private investigator, private investigator intern, or private investigative agency manager (Section 5, amending s. 493.6202, F.S.);
- Security officer, security officer instructor, or a security manager (Section 6, amending s. 493.6302, F.S.);
- Recovery agent, recovery agent intern, recovery agent manager, or recovery agent instructor (Section 7, amending s. 493.6402, F.S.);
- Health studio (Section 8, amending s. 501.015, F.S.);
- Commercial telephone seller or entity providing substance abuse marketing services (Section 9, amending s. 501.605, F.S.);
- Telemarketing salesperson (Section 10, amending s. 501.607, F.S.);

[37] The fee will be deposited into the Highway Safety Operating Trust Fund (HSOTF).

- Mover and moving broker (Section 11, amending s. 507.03, F.S.);
- Liquefied petroleum gas related license (Section 12, amending s. 527.02, F.S.);
- Pawnbroker (Section 13, amending s. 539.001, F.S.);
- Motor vehicle repair shop (Section 14, amending s. 559.904, F.S.);
- Seller of travel (Section 15, amending s. 559.928, F.S.); and
- Insurance agent, customer representative, adjuster, service representative, managing general agent, or reinsurance intermediary (Section 16, amending s. 626.171, F.S.).

Lastly, section 17, amending s. 790.06, F.S., provides that the veteran identification card may be used as proof of veteran status for expedited processing of an application to carry concealed weapons or firearms.

The bill takes effect January 1, 2019.

A. Municipality/County Mandates Restrictions:

None.

B. Public Records/Open Meetings Issues:

None.

C. Trust Funds Restrictions:

None.

V. Fiscal Impact Statement:

A. Tax/Fee Issues:

The total cost of the state veteran identification card will be $16.25. The bill provides for a $10 fee for the card, and local tax collector offices are authorized to charge a service fee of $6.25 when providing services under ch. 322, F.S.[38] The Revenue Estimating Conference estimates that the bill will result in insignificant increases in revenues deposited into the Highway Safety Operating Trust Fund and for local governments (tax collector offices performing driver license services).[39]

B. Private Sector Impact:

A veteran will be required to pay a $10 fee if he or she chooses to apply for a state veteran identification card created by this bill. If the veteran applies for the card at a local tax collector office, they will be charged an additional $6.25 service fee.

27.366 Legislative intent and policy in cases meeting criteria of s. 775.087(2) and (3).—It is the intent of the Legislature that convicted criminal offenders who meet the criteria in s. 775.087(2) and (3) be sentenced to the minimum mandatory prison terms provided therein. It is the intent of the Legislature to establish zero tolerance of criminals who use, threaten to use, or avail themselves of firearms in order to commit crimes and thereby demonstrate their lack of value for human life. It is also the intent of the Legislature that prosecutors should appropriately exercise their discretion in those cases in which the offenders' possession of the firearm is incidental to the commission of a crime and not used in furtherance of the crime, used in order to commit the crime, or used in preparation to commit the crime. For every case in which the offender meets the criteria in this act and does not receive the mandatory minimum prison sentence, the state attorney must explain the sentencing deviation in writing and place such explanation in the case file maintained by the state attorney.

Section 21. For the purpose of incorporating the amendment made by this act to section 775.087, Florida Statutes, in a reference thereto, paragraph (b) of subsection (1) of section 921.0024, Florida Statutes, is reenacted to read:

921.0024 Criminal Punishment Code; worksheet computations; scoresheets.—

(b) WORKSHEET KEY:

Legal status points are assessed when any form of legal status existed at the time the offender committed an offense before the court for sentencing. Four (4) sentence points are assessed for an offender’s legal status.

Community sanction violation points are assessed when a community sanction violation is before the court for sentencing. Six (6) sentence points are assessed for each community sanction violation and each successive community sanction violation, unless any of the following apply:

1. If the community sanction violation includes a new felony conviction before the sentencing court, twelve (12) community sanction violation points are assessed for the violation, and for each successive community sanction violation involving a new felony conviction.

2. If the community sanction violation is committed by a violent felony offender of special concern as defined in s. 948.06:

a. Twelve (12) community sanction violation points are assessed for the violation and for each successive violation of felony probation or community control where:

I. The violation does not include a new felony conviction; and

II. The community sanction violation is not based solely on the probationer or offender's failure to pay costs or fines or make restitution payments.

b. Twenty-four (24) community sanction violation points are assessed for the violation and for each successive violation of felony probation or community control where the violation includes a new felony conviction.

Multiple counts of community sanction violations before the sentencing court shall not be a basis for multiplying the assessment of community sanction violation points.

Prior serious felony points: If the offender has a primary offense or any additional offense ranked in level 8, level 9, or level 10, and one or more prior serious felonies, a single assessment of thirty (30) points shall be added. For purposes of this section, a prior serious felony is an offense in the offender's prior record that is ranked in level 8, level 9, or level 10 under s. 921.0022 or s. 921.0023 and for which the offender is serving a sentence of confinement, supervision, or other sanction or for which the offender's date of release from confinement, supervision, or other sanction, whichever is later, is within 3 years before the date the primary offense or any additional offense was committed.

Prior capital felony points: If the offender has one or more prior capital felonies in the offender's criminal record, points shall be added to the subtotal sentence points of the offender equal to twice the number of points the offender receives for the primary offense and any additional offense. A prior capital felony in the offender's criminal record is a previous capital felony offense for which the offender has entered a plea of nolo contendere or guilty or has been found guilty; or a felony in another jurisdiction which is a capital felony in that jurisdiction, or would be a capital felony if the offense were committed in this state.

Possession of a firearm, semiautomatic firearm, or machine gun: If the offender is convicted of committing or attempting to commit any felony other than those enumerated in s. 775.087(2) while having in his or her possession: a firearm as defined in s. 790.001(6), an additional eighteen (18) sentence points are assessed; or if the offender is convicted of committing or attempting to commit any felony other than those enumerated in s. 775.087(3) while having in his or her possession a semiautomatic firearm as defined in s. 775.087(3) or a machine gun as defined in s. 790.001(9), an additional twenty-five (25) sentence points are assessed.

Sentencing multipliers:

Drug trafficking: If the primary offense is drug trafficking under s. 893.135, the subtotal sentence points are multiplied, at the discretion of the court, for a level 7 or level 8 offense, by 1.5. The state attorney may move the sentencing court to reduce or suspend the sentence of a person convicted of a level 7 or level 8 offense, if the offender provides substantial assistance as described in s. 893.135(4).

Law enforcement protection: If the primary offense is a violation of the Law Enforcement Protection Act under s. 775.0823(2), (3), or (4), the subtotal sentence points are multiplied by 2.5. If the primary offense is a violation of s. 775.0823(5), (6), (7), (8), or (9), the subtotal sentence points are multiplied by 2.0. If the primary offense is a violation of s. 784.07(3) or s. 775.0875(1), or of the Law Enforcement Protection Act under s. 775.0823(10) or (11), the subtotal sentence points are multiplied by 1.5.

Grand theft of a motor vehicle: If the primary offense is grand theft of the third degree involving a motor vehicle and in the offender’s prior record, there are three or more grand thefts of the third degree involving a motor vehicle, the subtotal sentence points are multiplied by 1.5.

Offense related to a criminal gang: If the offender is convicted of the primary offense and committed that offense for the purpose of benefiting, promoting, or furthering the interests of a criminal gang as defined in s. 874.03, the subtotal sentence points are multiplied by 1.5. If applying the multiplier results in the lowest permissible sentence exceeding the statutory maximum sentence for the primary offense under chapter 775, the court may not apply the multiplier and must sentence the defendant to the statutory maximum sentence.

Domestic violence in the presence of a child: If the offender is convicted of the primary offense and the primary offense is a crime of domestic violence, as defined in s. 741.28, which was committed in the presence of a child under 16 years of age who is a family or household member as defined in s. 741.28(3) with the victim or perpetrator, the subtotal sentence points are multiplied by 1.5.

Adult-on-minor sex offense: If the offender was 18 years of age or older and the victim was younger than 18 years of age at the time the offender committed the primary offense, and if the primary offense was an offense committed on or after October 1, 2014, and is a violation of s. 787.01(2) or s. 787.02(2), if the violation involved a victim who was a minor and, in the course of committing that violation, the defendant committed a sexual battery under chapter 794 or a lewd act under s. 800.04 or s. 847.0135(5) against the minor; s. 787.01(3)(a)2. or 3.; s. 787.02(3)(a)2. or 3.; s. 794.011, excluding s. 794.011(10); s. 800.04; or s. 847.0135(5), the subtotal sentence points are multiplied by 2.0. If applying the multiplier results in the lowest permissible sentence exceeding the statutory maximum sentence for the primary offense under chapter 775, the court may not apply the multiplier and must sentence the defendant to the statutory maximum sentence.

Section 22. For the purpose of incorporating the amendment made by this act to section 775.087, Florida Statutes, in a reference thereto, paragraph (b) of subsection (3) of section 947.146, Florida Statutes, is reenacted to read:

947.146 Control Release Authority.—

(3) Within 120 days prior to the date the state correctional system is projected pursuant to s. 216.136 to exceed 99 percent of total capacity, the authority shall determine eligibility for and establish a control release date for an appropriate number of parole ineligible inmates committed to the department and incarcerated within the state who have been determined by the authority to be eligible for discretionary early release pursuant to this section. In establishing control release dates, it is the intent of the Legislature that the authority prioritize consideration of eligible inmates closest to their tentative release date. The authority shall rely upon commitment data on the offender information system maintained by the department to initially identify inmates who are to be reviewed for control release consideration. The authority may use a method of objective risk assessment in determining if an eligible inmate should be released. Such assessment shall be a part of the department's management information system. However, the authority shall have sole responsibility for determining control release eligibility, establishing a control release date, and effectuating the release of a sufficient number of inmates to maintain the inmate population between 99 percent and 100 percent of total capacity. Inmates who are ineligible for control release are inmates who are parole eligible or inmates who:

(b) Are serving the mandatory minimum portion of a sentence enhanced under s. 775.087(2) or (3), or s. 784.07(3);

In making control release eligibility determinations under this subsection, the authority may rely on any document leading to or generated during the course of the criminal proceedings, including, but not limited to, any presentence or postsentence investigation or any information contained in arrest reports relating to circumstances of the offense.

The Committee on Appropriations (Gibson) recommended the following:

Senate Amendment (with title amendment)

insert:

Section 18. (1) Section 790.401, Florida Statutes, is designed to temporarily prevent individuals who are at high risk of harming themselves or others from accessing firearms by allowing family, household members, and law enforcement to obtain a court order when there is demonstrated evidence that the person poses a significant danger, including danger as a result of a dangerous mental health crisis or violent behavior.

(2) The purpose and intent of section 790.401, Florida Statutes, is to reduce gun deaths and injuries, while respecting constitutional rights, by providing a court procedure for family, household members, and law enforcement to obtain an order temporarily restricting a person's access to firearms. Court orders are intended to be limited to situations in which the person poses a significant danger of harming himself or herself or others by possessing a firearm, and include standards and safeguards to protect the rights of respondents and due process of law.

Section 19. Section 790.401, Florida Statutes, may be cited as "The Risk Protection Order Act."

Section 20. Section 790.401, Florida Statutes, is created to read:

790.401 Risk protection orders.—

(1) DEFINITIONS.—As used in this section, the term:

(a) "Family or household member" has the same meaning as provided in s. 741.28. The term includes a person who:

1. Has a biological or legal parent-child relationship with the respondent, including stepparents and stepchildren and grandparents and grandchildren.

2. Is acting or has acted as the respondent's legal guardian.

(b) "Petitioner" means the individual who petitions for an order under this section.

(c) "Respondent" means the individual who is identified as the respondent in a petition filed under this section.

(d) "Risk protection order" means an ex parte temporary order or a final order granted under this section.

(2) PETITION FOR A RISK PROTECTION ORDER.—There is created an action known as a petition for a risk protection order.

(a) A petition for a risk protection order may be filed by a family or household member of the respondent or a law enforcement officer or agency.

(b) An action under this section must be filed in the county where the petitioner resides or the county where the respondent resides.

(c) A petition must:

1. Allege that the respondent poses a significant danger of causing personal injury to self or others by having a firearm in his or her custody or control or by potentially purchasing, possessing, or receiving a firearm, and be accompanied by an affidavit made under oath stating the specific statements, actions, or facts that give rise to a reasonable fear of future dangerous acts by the respondent.

2. Identify the numbers, types, and locations of any firearms the petitioner believes to be in the respondent's current ownership, possession, custody, or control.

3. Identify whether there is a known existing protection order governing the respondent under s. 741.30, s. 784.046, or s. 784.0485 or under any other applicable statute.

4. Identify whether there is a pending lawsuit, complaint, petition, or other action between the parties to the petition under the laws of this state.

(d) The clerk of court shall verify the terms of any existing order governing the parties. The court may not delay granting relief because of the existence of a pending action between the parties or the necessity of verifying the terms of an existing order. A petition for a risk protection order may be granted whether or not there is a pending action between the parties.

(e) If the petitioner is a law enforcement officer or agency, the petitioner shall make a good faith effort to provide notice to a family or household member of the respondent and to any known third party who may be at risk of violence. The notice must state that the petitioner intends to petition the court for a risk protection order or has already done so, and include referrals to appropriate resources, including mental health, domestic violence, and counseling resources. The petitioner must attest in the petition to having provided such notice, or attest to the steps that will be taken to provide such notice.

(f) If the petition states that disclosure of the petitioner's address would risk harm to the petitioner or any member of the petitioner's family or household, the petitioner's address may be omitted from all documents filed with the court. If the petitioner has not disclosed an address under this subsection, the petitioner must designate an alternative address at which the respondent may serve notice of any motions. If the petitioner is a law enforcement officer or agency, the address of record must be that of the law enforcement agency.

(g) Within 90 days of receipt of the master copy from the Office of the State Courts Administrator, all clerks of court shall make available the standardized forms, instructions, and informational brochures required by subsection (14).

(h) Fees for filing or service of process may not be charged by a court or any public agency to petitioners seeking relief under this section. Petitioners shall be provided the necessary number of certified copies, forms, and instructional brochures free of charge.

(i) A person is not required to post a bond to obtain relief in any proceeding under this section.

(j) The circuit courts of this state have jurisdiction over proceedings under this section.

(3) RISK PROTECTION ORDER HEARINGS AND ISSUANCE.—

(a) Upon receipt of the petition, the court shall order a hearing to be held not later than 14 days after the date of the order and issue a notice of hearing to the respondent for the same.

1. The court may schedule a hearing by telephone pursuant to local court rule, to reasonably accommodate a disability, or in exceptional circumstances to protect a petitioner from potential harm. The court shall require assurances of the petitioner's identity before conducting a telephonic hearing.

2. The court clerk shall cause a copy of the notice of hearing and petition to be forwarded on or before the next business day to the appropriate law enforcement agency for service upon the respondent.

3. Personal service of the notice of hearing and petition shall be made upon the respondent by a law enforcement officer not less than 5 business days before the hearing. Service under this section takes precedence over the service of other documents, unless the other documents are of a similar emergency nature. If timely personal service cannot be made, the court shall set a new hearing date and shall either require additional attempts at obtaining personal service or permit service by publication or mail as provided in subsection (6). The court may not require more than two attempts at obtaining personal service and shall permit service by publication or mail after two attempts at obtaining personal service unless the petitioner requests additional time to attempt personal service. If the court issues an order permitting service by publication or mail, the court shall set the hearing date not later than 24 days after the date the order is issued.

4. The court may, as provided in subsection (4), issue an ex parte risk protection order pending the hearing ordered under this subsection. Such ex parte order must be served concurrently with the notice of hearing and petition.

(b) Upon hearing the matter, if the court finds by a preponderance of the evidence that the respondent poses a significant danger of causing personal injury to self or others by having in his or her custody or control, purchasing, possessing, or receiving a firearm, the court shall issue a risk protection order for a period that it deems appropriate, up to and including, but not exceeding, 12 months.

(c) In determining whether grounds for a risk protection order exist, the court may consider any relevant evidence, including, but not limited to, any of the following:

1. A recent act or threat of violence by the respondent against self or others, whether or not such violence or threat of violence involves a firearm.

2. An act or threat of violence by the respondent within the past 12 months, including, but not limited to, acts or threats of violence by the respondent against self or others.

3. A recurring mental health issue of the respondent.

4. A violation by the respondent of a protection order or a no contact order issued under s. 741.30, s. 784.046, or s. 784.0485.

5. A previous or existing risk protection order issued against the respondent.

6. A violation of a previous or existing risk protection order issued against the respondent.

7. A conviction of the respondent for a crime that constitutes domestic violence as defined in s. 741.28.

8. The respondent's ownership, access to, or intent to possess firearms.

9. The unlawful or reckless use, display, or brandishing of a firearm by the respondent.

10. The recurring use of, or threat to use, physical force by the respondent against another person, or the respondent stalking another person.

11. An arrest, a plea of guilty or no contest, or a conviction of the respondent for a violent misdemeanor or felony offense.

12. Corroborated evidence of the abuse of controlled substances or alcohol by the respondent.

13. Evidence of recent acquisition of firearms by the respondent.

(d) The court may:

1. Examine under oath the petitioner, the respondent, and any witnesses they may produce, or, in lieu of examination, consider sworn affidavits of the petitioner, the respondent, and any witnesses they may produce.

2. Ensure that a reasonable search has been conducted for criminal history records related to the respondent.

(e) In a hearing under this section, the rules of evidence apply to the same extent as in a domestic violence injunction proceeding under s. 741.30.

(f) During the hearing, the court shall consider whether a mental health evaluation or chemical dependency evaluation is appropriate, and may order such evaluation if appropriate.

(g) A risk protection order must include all of the following:

1. A statement of the grounds supporting the issuance of the order.

2. The date and time the order was issued.

3. The date and time the order expires.

4. Whether a mental health evaluation or chemical dependency evaluation of the respondent is required.

5. The address of the court in which any responsive pleading should be filed.

6. Instructions for relinquishment of firearms under subsection (8).

7. The following statement:

"To the subject of this protection order: This order will last until the date and time noted above. If you have not done so already, you must surrender immediately to the (insert name of local law enforcement agency) all firearms in your custody, control, or possession and any license to carry a concealed weapon or firearm issued to you under s. 790.06, Florida Statutes. You may not have in your custody or control, or purchase, possess, receive, or attempt to purchase or receive, a firearm while this order is in effect. You have the right to request one hearing to terminate this order, starting after the date of the issuance of this order and another hearing after ever renewal of the order, if any. You may seek the advice of an attorney as to any matter connected with this order."

(h) When the court issues a risk protection order, the court shall inform the respondent that he or she is entitled to request termination of the order in the manner prescribed by subsection (7). The court shall provide the respondent with a form to request a termination hearing.

(i) If the court denies the petitioner's request for a risk protection order, the court shall state the particular reasons for the court's denial.

(4) EX PARTE RISK PROTECTION ORDERS.—

(a) A petitioner may request that an ex parte risk protection order be issued before a hearing for a risk protection order, without notice to the respondent, by including in the petition detailed allegations based on personal knowledge that the respondent poses a significant danger of causing personal injury to self or others in the near future by having in his or her custody or control, purchasing, possessing, or receiving a firearm.

(b) In considering whether to issue an ex parte risk protection order under this section, the court shall consider all relevant evidence, including the evidence described in paragraph (3)(c).

(c) If a court finds there is reasonable cause to believe that the respondent poses a significant danger of causing personal injury to self or others in the near future by having in his or her custody or control, purchasing, possessing, or receiving a firearm, the court shall issue an ex parte risk protection order.

(d) The court shall hold an ex parte risk protection order hearing in person or by telephone on the day the petition is filed or on the business day immediately following the day the petition is filed.

(e) In accordance with paragraph (3)(a), the court shall schedule a hearing within 14 days of the issuance of an ex parte risk protection order to determine if a risk protection order should be issued under this section.

(f) An ex parte risk protection order must include all of the following:

1. A statement of the grounds asserted for the order.

2. The date and time the order was issued.

3. The date and time the order expires.

4. The address of the court in which any responsive pleading should be filed.

5. The date and time of the scheduled hearing.

6. A description of the requirements for surrender of firearms under subsection (8).

7. The following statement:

"To the subject of this protection order: This order is valid until the date and time noted above. You are required to surrender all firearms in your custody, control, or possession. You may not have in your custody or control, purchase, possess, receive, or attempt to purchase or receive, a firearm while this order is in effect. You must surrender immediately to the (insert name of local law enforcement agency) all firearms in your custody, control, or possession and any license to carry a concealed weapon or firearm issued to you under s. 790.06, Florida Statutes. A hearing will be held on the date and at the time noted above to determine if a risk protection order should be issued. Failure to appear at that hearing may result in a court ruling on an order against you that is valid for 1 year. You may seek the advice of an attorney as to any matter connected with this order."

(g) An ex parte risk protection order issued expires upon the hearing on the risk protection order.

(h) An ex parte risk protection order shall be served by a law enforcement officer in the same manner as provided for in subsection (3) for service of the notice of hearing and petition and shall be served concurrently with the notice of hearing and petition.

(i) If the court denies the petitioner's request for an ex parte risk protection order, the court shall state the particular reasons for the court's denial.

(5) SERVICE OF RISK PROTECTION ORDERS.—

(a) A risk protection order issued under subsection (3) must be personally served upon the respondent, except as otherwise provided in this section.

(b) The law enforcement agency with jurisdiction in the area in which the respondent resides shall serve the respondent personally, unless the petitioner elects to have the respondent served by a private party.

(c) If service by a law enforcement agency is to be used, the clerk of the court shall cause a copy of the order issued under this section to be forwarded on or before the next business day to the law enforcement agency specified in the order for service upon the respondent. Service of an order issued under this section takes precedence over the service of other documents, unless the other documents are of a similar emergency nature.

(d) If the law enforcement agency cannot complete service upon the respondent within 10 days, the law enforcement agency shall notify the petitioner. The petitioner shall provide information sufficient to permit such notification.

(e) If an order entered by the court recites that the respondent appeared in person before the court, the necessity for further service is waived and proof of service of that order is not necessary.

(f) If the court previously entered an order allowing service of the notice of hearing and petition, or an ex parte risk protection order, by publication or mail under subsection (6), or if the court finds there are now grounds to allow such alternate service, the court may permit service by publication or mail of the risk protection order issued under this section as provided in subsection (6). The court order must state whether the court permitted service by publication or service by mail.

(g) Returns of service under this section must be made in accordance with the applicable court rules.

(6) SERVICE BY PUBLICATION OR MAIL.—

(a) The court may order service by publication or service by mail under the circumstances permitted for such service in s. 741.30, s. 784.046, or s. 784.0485, except any summons must be essentially in the following form:

(An ex parte risk protection order has been issued against you, restraining you from having in your custody or control, purchasing, possessing, or receiving any firearms. You must surrender to the (insert name of local law enforcement agency) all firearms in your custody, control, or possession and any license to carry a concealed weapon or firearm issued to you under s. 790.06, Florida Statutes, within 48 hours. A copy of the notice of hearing, petition, and ex parte risk protection order has been filed with the clerk of this court.) (A copy of the notice of hearing and petition has been filed with the clerk of this court.)

Petitioner

(b) If the court orders service by publication or mail for notice of a risk protection order hearing, it shall also reissue the ex parte risk protection order, if issued, to expire on the date of the risk protection order hearing.

(c) Following completion of service by publication or by mail for notice of a risk protection order hearing, if the respondent fails to appear at the hearing, the court may issue a risk protection order as provided in subsection (3).

(7) TERMINATION AND RENEWAL OF ORDERS.—

(a) The respondent may submit one written request for a hearing to terminate a risk protection order issued under this section, starting after the date of the issuance of the order and another hearing after ever renewal of the order, if any.

1. Upon receipt of the request for a hearing to terminate a risk protection order, the court shall set a date for a hearing. Notice of the request must be served on the petitioner in accordance with chapter 48. The hearing shall occur no sooner than 14 days and no later than 30 days after the date of service of the request upon the petitioner.

2. The respondent shall have the burden of proving by a preponderance of the evidence that the respondent does not pose a significant danger of causing personal injury to self or others by having in his or her custody or control, purchasing, possessing, or receiving a firearm. The court may consider any relevant evidence, including evidence of the considerations listed in paragraph (3)(c).

3. If the court finds after the hearing that the respondent has met his or her burden, the court shall terminate the order.

(b) The court must notify the petitioner of the impending expiration of a risk protection order. Notice must be received by the petitioner 105 calendar days before the date the order expires.

(c) A family or household member of a respondent or a law enforcement officer or agency may by motion request a renewal of a risk protection order at any time within 105 calendar days before the expiration of the order.

1. Upon receipt of the motion to renew, the court shall order that a hearing be held not later than 14 days after the date the order is issued.

a. The court may schedule a hearing by telephone in the manner prescribed by subparagraph (3)(a)1.

b. The respondent shall be personally served in the same manner prescribed by subparagraphs(3)(a)2. and 3.

2. In determining whether to renew a risk protection order issued under this section, the court shall consider all relevant evidence presented by the petitioner and follow the same procedure as provided in subsection (3).

3. If the court finds by a preponderance of the evidence that the requirements for issuance of a risk protection order as provided in subsection (3) continue to be met, the court shall renew the order. However, if, after notice, the motion for renewal is uncontested and the petitioner seeks no modification of the order, the order may be renewed on the basis of the petitioner’s motion or affidavit stating that there has been no material change in relevant circumstances since entry of the order and stating the reason for the requested renewal.

4. The renewal of a risk protection order has a duration of 1 year, subject to termination as provided in paragraph (a) or further renewal by order of the court.

(8) SURRENDER OF FIREARMS.—

(a) Upon issuance of any risk protection order under this section, including an ex parte risk protection order, the court shall order the respondent to surrender to the local law enforcement agency all firearms in the respondent's custody, control, or possession and any license to carry a concealed weapon or firearm issued under s. 790.06.

(b) The law enforcement officer serving any risk protection order under this section, including an ex parte risk protection order, shall request that the respondent immediately surrender all firearms in his or her custody, control, or possession and any license to carry a concealed weapon or firearm issued under s. 790.06, and conduct any search permitted by law for such firearms. The law enforcement officer shall take possession of all firearms belonging to the respondent that are surrendered, in plain sight, or discovered pursuant to a lawful search. Alternatively, if personal service by a law enforcement officer is not possible, or not required because the respondent was present at the risk protection order hearing, the respondent shall surrender the firearms in a safe manner to the control of the local law enforcement agency within 48 hours of being served with the order by alternate service or within 48 hours of the hearing at which the respondent was present.

(c) At the time of surrender, a law enforcement officer taking possession of a firearm or license to carry a concealed weapon or firearm shall issue a receipt identifying all firearms that have been surrendered and provide a copy of the receipt to the respondent. Within 72 hours after service of the order, the law enforcement officer serving the order shall file the original receipt with the court and shall ensure that his or her law enforcement agency retains a copy of the receipt.

(d) Upon the sworn statement or testimony of the petitioner or of any law enforcement officer alleging that the respondent has failed to comply with the surrender of firearms as required by an order issued under this section, the court shall determine whether probable cause exists to believe that the respondent has failed to surrender all firearms in his or her possession, custody, or control. If probable cause exists, the court shall issue a warrant describing the firearms and authorizing a search of the locations where the firearms are reasonably believed to be and the seizure of any firearms discovered pursuant to such search.

(e) If a person other than the respondent claims title to any firearms surrendered pursuant to this section, and he or she is determined by the law enforcement agency to be the lawful owner of the firearm, the firearm shall be returned to him or her, provided that:

1. The firearm is removed from the respondent’s custody, control, or possession and the lawful owner agrees to store the firearm in a manner such that the respondent does not have access to or control of the firearm.

2. The firearm is not otherwise unlawfully possessed by the owner.

(f) Upon the issuance of a risk protection order, the court shall order a new hearing date and require the respondent to appear not later than 3 business days from the issuance of the order. The court shall require a showing that the person subject to the order has surrendered any firearms in his or her custody, control, or possession. The court may dismiss the hearing upon a satisfactory showing that the respondent is in compliance with the order.

(g) All law enforcement agencies must develop policies and procedures by June 1, 2019, regarding the acceptance, storage, and return of firearms required to be surrendered under this section.

(9) RETURN AND DISPOSAL OF FIREARMS.—

(a) If a risk protection order is terminated or expires without renewal, a law enforcement agency holding any firearm that has been surrendered pursuant to this section shall return any surrendered firearm requested by a respondent only after confirming, through a background check, that the respondent is currently eligible to own or possess firearms under federal and state law and after confirming with the court that the risk protection order has terminated or has expired without renewal.

(b) A law enforcement agency must, if requested, provide prior notice of the return of a firearm to a respondent to family or household members of the respondent.

(c) Any firearm surrendered by a respondent pursuant to subsection (8) that remains unclaimed by the lawful owner shall be disposed of in accordance with the law enforcement agency's policies and procedures for the disposal of firearms in police custody.

(10) REPORTING OF ORDERS.—

(a) The clerk of the court shall enter any risk protection order or ex parte risk protection order issued under this section into the uniform case reporting system on the same day

(b) The clerk of the court shall forward a copy of an order issued under this section the same day such order is issued to the appropriate law enforcement agency specified in the order. Upon receipt of the copy of the order, the law enforcement agency shall enter the order into the National Instant Criminal Background Check System, any other federal or state computer-based systems used by law enforcement or others to identify prohibited purchasers of firearms, and any computer-based criminal intelligence information system available in this state used by law enforcement agencies to list outstanding warrants. The order must remain in each system for the period stated in the order, and the law enforcement agency shall only expunge orders from the systems that have expired or terminated. Entry into the computer-based criminal intelligence information system constitutes notice to all law enforcement agencies of the existence of the order. The order is fully enforceable in any county in the state.

(c) The issuing court shall, within 3 business days after issuance of a risk protection order or ex parte risk protection order, forward a copy of the respondent's driver license or identification card, or comparable information, along with the date of order issuance, to the Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services. Upon receipt of the information, the department shall determine if the respondent has a license to carry a concealed weapon or firearm. If the respondent does have a license to carry a concealed weapon or firearm, the department shall immediately revoke the license.

(d) If a risk protection order is terminated before its expiration date, the clerk of the court shall forward the same day a copy of the termination order to the Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services and the appropriate law enforcement agency specified in the termination order. Upon receipt of the order, the law enforcement agency shall promptly remove the order from any computer-based system in which it was entered pursuant to paragraph (b).

(11) PENALTIES.—

(a) Any person who files a petition under this section knowing the information in such petition to be materially false, or with the intent to harass the respondent commits a misdemeanor of the first degree, punishable as provided in s. 775.082 or s. 775.083.

(b)1.a Except as provided in sub-subparagraph b., a person who has in his or her custody or control a firearm or purchases, possesses, or receives a firearm with knowledge that he or she is prohibited from doing so by an order issued under this section commits a misdemeanor of the first degree, punishable as provided in s. 775.082 or s. 775.083.

b. If a person has two or more previous convictions for violating an order issued under this section, the person commits a felony of the third degree punishable as provided in s. 775.082, s. 775.083, or s. 775.084.

2. A person who is convicted of an offense under this paragraph is prohibited from having a firearm in his or her custody or control or purchasing, possessing, or receiving, or attempting to purchase or receive a firearm for a period of 5 years after the date the existing order under this section expires.

(12) LAW ENFORCEMENT RETAINS OTHER AUTHORITY.—This section does not affect the ability of a law enforcement officer to remove a firearm or license to carry a concealed weapon or firearm from any person or conduct any search and seizure for firearms pursuant to other lawful authority.

(13) LIABILITY.—Except as provided in subsection (11), this section does not impose criminal or civil liability on any person or entity for acts or omissions related to obtaining a risk protection order or ex parte risk protection order, including, but not limited to, reporting, declining to report, investigating, declining to investigate, filing, or declining to file a petition under this section.

(14) INSTRUCTIONAL AND INFORMATIONAL MATERIAL.—

(a) The Office of the State Courts Administrator shall develop and prepare instructions and informational brochures, standard petitions and risk protection order forms, and a court staff handbook on the risk protection order process. The standard petition and order forms must be used after June 1, 2019, for all petitions filed and orders issued under this section. The instructions, brochures, forms, and handbook shall be prepared in consultation with interested persons, including representatives of gun violence prevention groups, judges, and law enforcement personnel. Materials must be based on best practices and available electronically online to the public.

1. The instructions must be designed to assist petitioners in completing the petition, and must include a sample of a standard petition and order for protection forms.

2. The instructions and standard petition must include a means for the petitioner to identify, with only layman's knowledge, the firearms the respondent may own, possesses, receive, or have in his or her custody or control.   - Provide an electronic copy of their respective budgets to the Office of Economic and Demographic Research (EDR), on forms prescribed by the EDR; and

  - Provide a copy of their budgets and a certification of timely filing to the clerk of the court. However, these requirements do not apply to a charter county in which the clerk of the court is not the county auditor.
- Provides that the clerk of court must notify the appropriate fiscal officer to withhold salary payments from the head of the local government entity or the superintendent of the school district until the reports are filed if a local government entity or school district fails to file required reports with the clerk of the court;
- Revises the monthly financial statement requirements for water management districts;
- Provides that the Department of Financial Services may request additional information from local government entities when preparing its annual verified report;
- Requires a local governmental entity, district school board, charter school, or charter technical career center, Florida College System board of trustees, or university board of trustees to respond to audit recommendations under certain circumstances;
- Begins the process of creating the Florida Open Financial Statement System to allow better access to financial reports filed by local governments;
- Requires school districts receiving annual federal, state, and local funds in excess of $500 million to employ an internal auditor. The duties of the internal auditor must include oversight of every functional and program area of the school system;
- Requires the internal auditor to perform a comprehensive risk assessment of all areas of the school system every five years, and conduct other audits and reviews as the district school board directs to make a determination;
- Requires the internal auditor to prepare audit reports of his or her findings and establishes penalties for failure to produce financial records to the internal auditor;
- Establishes the Statewide Travel Management System (system) in law;
- Requires all executive branch state government agencies and the judicial branch to report public officer and employee travel information in the system;
- Additionally requires that all executive branch state government agencies and the judicial branch use the system for purposes of travel authorization and reimbursement;
- Requires reporting entities, to report monthly, all public officer and employee travel information resulting from an overnight stay in the system;
- Establishes a timeline for the Department of Management Services (DMS) to make travel reports for executive branch state government agencies, the judicial branch, and certain reporting entities available for public view;
- Requires reporting entities to redact confidential and exempt information from travel reports prior to posting them to the system and provides a process for reporting entities to follow when a travel report has been posted prior to proper redaction;
- Provides rulemaking authority to the DMS to administer provisions of the section pertaining to the system;
- Makes the requirements to implement the system for reporting entities contingent upon the Legislature appropriating at least $5.4 million to the DMS for Fiscal Year 2018-2019;

- Requires an independent certified public accountant conducting an audit of a local governmental entity to determine, as part of the audit, whether the entity's annual financial report is in agreement with the entity's audited financial statements;
- Revises the composition of auditor selection committees;
- Requires completion of an annual financial audit of the Florida Virtual School; and
- Prohibits a board or commission from requiring a member of the public to provide an advance written copy of his or her testimony or comments as a precondition of being given the opportunity to be heard.

In addition, the bill limits the amount that may be reimbursed per day for state agency and judicial branch employee lodging expenses for travel under certain circumstances to $150, and requires all governmental entities to use the statewide travel management system.

Executive branch state government agencies and the judicial branch may incur indeterminate additional costs associated with using the Statewide Travel Management System for travel authorization and reimbursement. The bill specifies the requirements to implement the system for reporting entities are contingent upon the Legislature appropriating at least $5.4 million to the DMS for Fiscal Year 2018-2019.

Costs for the development of the Florida Open Financial Statement System are estimated to be $500,000. There will be additional costs in future years to create the software tool needed to implement the system. The additional future needs are indeterminate.

II. Present Situation:

Various statutes ensure government accountability of state and local governments. For example, the Auditor General conducts audits of accounts and records of state agencies, state universities, state colleges, district school boards, and others as directed by the Joint Legislative Auditing Committee. The Auditor General conducts operational and performance audits on public records and information technology systems. The Auditor General also reviews all audit reports of local governmental entities, charter schools, and charter technical career centers. Other statutes require publishing of government budgets and other information online and require government entities to follow certain practices to promote efficiency and compliance within the entity.

Due to the disparate issues in the bill, the present situation for each section is discussed below in conjunction with the Effect of Proposed Changes.

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

Auditing

Present Situation

The position of Auditor General is established by Art. III, s. 2 of the State Constitution. The Auditor General is appointed to office to serve at the pleasure of the Legislature, by a majority vote of the members of the Joint Legislative Auditing Committee, subject to confirmation by both houses of the Legislature.[1] The appointment of the Auditor General may be terminated at any time by a majority vote of both houses of the Legislature.[2] At the time of appointment, the Auditor General must have been certified under the Public Accountancy Law in Florida for a period of at least 10 years and may not have less than 10 years' experience in an accounting or auditing related field.[3]

The Auditor General must conduct audits, examinations, or reviews of government programs[4] as well as audit the accounts and records of state agencies, state universities, state colleges, district school boards, and others as directed by the Joint Legislative Auditing Committee.[5] The Auditor General conducts operational and performance audits on public records and information technology systems and reviews all audit reports of local governmental entities, charter schools, and charter technical career centers.[6]

Various provisions require the Auditor General to compile and submit reports. For example, the Auditor General must annually compile and transmit to the President of the Senate, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, and the Joint Legislative Auditing Committee a summary of significant findings and financial trends identified in audit reports.[7] The Auditor General also must compile and transmit to the President of the Senate, Speaker of the House of Representatives, and Joint Legislative Auditing Committee an annual report by December 1. The report must include a two-year work plan identifying the audit and other accountability activities to be undertaken and a list of statutory and fiscal changes recommended by the Auditor General.[8] In addition, the Auditor General must transmit recommendations at other times during the year when the information would be timely and useful to the Legislature.[9]

The annual report for the Auditor General for November 1, 2015, through October 31, 2016, contained the following recommendation:[10]

> The Legislature should consider amending applicable Florida Statutes to establish in law the responsibility of each state and local government for the establishment and maintenance of management systems and internal controls designed to prevent and detect fraud, waste, and abuse; promote and encourage compliance with applicable laws, rules, contracts, grant agreements, and best practices; support economical and efficient operations; ensure reliability of financial records and reports; and safeguard assets.

Section 11.45, F.S., defines the types of audits the Auditor General may conduct, requires certain state and local governmental audits to be conducted, and specifies the frequency with which the audits must occur. The Auditor General also may conduct other audits he or she determines to be appropriate.

Following notification by the Auditor General, the Department of Financial Services (DFS), or the Division of Bond Finance of the State Board of Administration of the failure of a local governmental entity, district school board, charter school, or charter technical career center to comply with applicable auditing, financial reporting, bond issuance notification, or bond verification provisions or the failure to disclose a financial emergency or provide information required during a financial emergency,[11] the Joint Legislative Auditing Committee may schedule a hearing to determine whether the entity should be subject to further state action. For purposes of s. 11.45, F.S., the term "local governmental entity" means a county agency, municipality, or special district as defined in s. 189.012, F.S.,[12] but does not include any housing authority established under ch. 421, F.S.

The Auditor General is also required to annually transmit, by July 15, to the President of the Senate, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, and the DFS a list of all school districts, charter schools, charter technical career centers, Florida College System institutions, state universities, and water management districts (WMDs) that have failed to comply with certain transparency requirements.

Effect of the Bill

Section 1 amends s. 11.40, F.S., to authorize the Governor or his or her designee, and the Commissioner of Education or his or her designee, to notify the Joint Legislative Auditing Committee that a local governmental entity, district school board, charter school, or charter technical career center has failed to comply with applicable auditing, financial reporting, bond issuance notification, or bond verification provisions or failed to disclose a financial emergency or provide information required during a financial emergency.

Section 2 amends s. 11.45, F.S., to define the terms abuse, fraud, and waste. These terms are related to the internal controls various government agencies must establish and maintain to prevent and detect fraud, waste, and abuse.

This section expands the definition of "local governmental entity" to include tourist development council and county tourism promotion agency. With this expanded definition, the Auditor [11] Section 11.45, F.S., governs certain audits to be conducted by the Auditor General. Section 218.32(1), F.S., requires annual financial reports from local governmental entities. Section 218.38, F.S., requires notice of bond issuance and contains verification requirements. Section 218.503(3), F.S., requires certain entities to disclose a financial emergency and provide certain information concerning a financial emergency.

[12] Section 189.012(6), F.S., defines a "special district" to mean a unit of local government created for a special purpose, as opposed to a general purpose, which has jurisdiction to operate within a limited geographic boundary and is created by general law, special act, local ordinance, or by rule of the Governor and Cabinet. The term does not include a school district, a community college district, a special improvement district created pursuant to s. 285.17, F.S., a municipal service taxing or benefit unit as specified in s. 125.01, F.S., or a board which provides electrical service and which is a political subdivision of a municipality or is part of a municipality.

General is authorized to conduct audits or other engagements of tourist development councils and county tourism promotion agencies.

This section exempts WMDs from being subject to audits of local governmental entities conducted pursuant to s. 11.45(2)(j), F.S. With this change, the WMDs will be subject only to the periodic audits authorized by s. 11.45(2)(f), F.S.,[13] rather than audits requested by the Joint Legislative Auditing Committee or when deemed necessary by the Auditor General.

This section expands the list of entities that must be included in the Auditor General report concerning entities that fail to comply with transparency requirements in s. 11.45, F.S., to include all local governmental entities rather than just the WMDs.

Florida Clerks of Court Operations Corporation

Present Situation

Currently, s. 28.35, F.S., requires the Florida Clerks of Court Operations Corporation (corporation) to develop and certify a uniform system of workload measures and applicable workload standards for court-related functions as developed by the corporation and clerk workload performance in meeting the workload performance standards. These workload measures and workload performance standards must be designed to facilitate an objective determination of the performance of each clerk in accordance with minimum standards for fiscal management, operational efficiency, and effective collection of fines, fees, service charges, and court costs. The corporation must develop the workload measures and workload performance standards in consultation with the Legislature. When the corporation finds a clerk has not met the workload performance standards, the corporation must identify the nature of each deficiency and any corrective action recommended and taken by the affected clerk of the court. The corporation must notify the Legislature of any clerk not meeting workload performance standards and provide a copy of any corrective action plans.

Effect of the Bill

Section 3 amends s. 28.35, F.S., to require the corporation to notify the Legislature of any clerk not meeting the workload performance standards and provide a copy of any corrective action plans within 45 days after the end of each quarter. For purposes of s. 28.35, F.S., the quarters end on the last day of March, June, September, and December of each year.

Public Employee Travel Expenses

Present Situation

Section 112.061, F.S., establishes the rates of per diem and subsistence allowance for travel by public officers and employees. When traveling to a convention or conference or to conduct bona fide state business, a traveler is authorized to receive $80 per diem. However, if actual expenses exceed $80, the traveler may receive $6 for breakfast, $11 for lunch, $19 for dinner, and the actual expenses for lodging at a single-occupancy rate.

[13] Section 11.45(2)(f), F.S., states in part that at least every three years, the Auditor General shall conduct operational audits of the accounts and records of water management districts.

The 2017-18 implementing bill created a limit on the amount of actual expenses for lodging that may be reimbursed under certain circumstances. The bill provided that when an employee of a state agency or the judicial branch is attending a meeting, conference, or convention organized or sponsored in whole or in part by a state agency or the judicial branch, the reimbursement for lodging expenses may not exceed $150 per day. However, an employee may expend his or her own funds for any lodging expenses in excess of the limit. This limit is in effect until July 1, 2018.

Section 112.061(2)(a), F.S., defines the term "agency or public agency" to mean any office, department, agency, division, subdivision, political subdivision, board, bureau, commission, authority, district, public body, body politic, county, city, town, village, municipality, or any other separate unit of government created pursuant to law.

The Fiscal Year 2016-2017 General Appropriations Act (GAA) appropriated $1,800,000 in recurring General Revenue funding to the Executive Office of the Governor (EOG) to acquire a Statewide Travel Management System (system). The EOG was required to undertake a competitive procurement for the system pursuant to s. 287.057, F.S. In addition, $2,800,000 in nonrecurring General Revenue funding was provided to executive branch state agencies and the judicial branch for their portion relating to implementation of the system.[14]

The system was required to be able to electronically: interface with the Florida Accounting Information Resource Subsystem (FLAIR) and the Personnel Information System; generate uniform travel authorization request and travel voucher forms pursuant to s. 112.061, F.S.; and receive approvals for travel. The system was also required to include search features that query travel information by specific criteria. Proviso also required the EOG and the Legislature to have access to the system for purposes of generating reports on all travel completed by executive branch state agencies and the judicial branch.

The system was also required to include search features that query travel information by specific criteria. Additionally, proviso in the Fiscal Year 2016-2017 GAA required the EOG and the Legislature to have access to the system for purposes of generating reports on all travel completed by executive branch state agencies and the judicial branch.

The EOG directed the Department of Management Services (DMS) to become the lead agency on procuring and establishing the system. Proviso in Specific Appropriation 2718A of ch. 2017-70, L.O.F., provided $1,800,000 in recurring General Revenue funding to the DMS to operate and maintain a statewide travel management system (system).

Effect of the Bill

Section 5 amends s. 112.061, F.S., to limit the reimbursement of lodging expenses associated with the attendance at a meeting, conference, or convention organized or sponsored by a state agency or judicial branch. Such reimbursement cannot exceed $150 per day for executive and judicial branch employees. The section clarifies that a "meeting" does not include the travel activities associated with an audit, examination, or inspection or the travel activities relating to litigation or an emergency response.

This section also:

- Establishes the "Statewide Travel Management System" (system) as the system used by the DMS to:
  - Collect and store information relating to public officer or employee travel information;
  - Standardize and automate agency travel management;
  - Allow for travel planning and approval, expense reporting, and reimbursement; and
  - Allow travel information queries.
- Requires that each executive branch state government agency and the judicial branch must use the system for:
  - Travel authorization;
  - Travel reimbursement; and
  - Reporting all public officer and employee travel information, including, but not limited to:
    - Name and position title;
    - Purpose of travel;
    - Dates and location of travel;
    - Mode of travel;
    - Confirmation from the head of the agency or designee authorization, if required; and
    - Total travel cost.
- Requires that by November 1, 2018, the DMS shall make available to the public, all travel reports posted on the system for executive branch state agencies and the judicial branch.
- Requires that each "reporting entity" must report into the system, information relating to all travel resulting in an overnight stay by a public officer or employee, including:
  - Name and position title;
  - Purpose of travel;
  - Dates and location of travel;
  - Mode of travel; and
  - Total travel cost.
- Specifies the term "reporting entity" includes each municipality, county, local constitutional officer, county school district, state college, state university, and water management district.
- Specifies that each reporting entity shall post one travel report per entity; however, a "local constitutional officer" may post a separate travel report from the respective county travel report.
- Defines the term "local constitutional officer" to include sheriffs, tax collectors, property appraisers, supervisors of elections, clerks of the circuit court, county commissioners, district school board members, and superintendents of schools.
- Requires that on a monthly basis, each reporting entity shall post on the system, a report for the previous month's travel, which resulted in an overnight stay.
- Requires the DMS to provide a format and method for reporting entities to post travel reports on the system.
- Requires that no later than November 1, 2019, each reporting entity shall post monthly travel reports relating to all travel resulting in an overnight stay for public officers and employees into the statewide travel management system.

- Requires that beginning December 1, 2019, the DMS shall make available to the public all travel reports posted on the system for each reporting entity.
- Makes the requirements to implement the system for reporting entities contingent upon the Legislature appropriating at least $5.4 million to the DMS for Fiscal Year 2018-2019.
- Provides that travel reports made available on the system may not reveal information made confidential or exempt by law. Specifying that each reporting entity must redact confidential or exempt information from a travel report before posting the report on the system. If the posting reporting entity becomes aware that an improperly redacted travel report has been posted to the system, the reporting entity must notify the DMS and immediately request removal of the travel report from the system. The reporting entity must then republish a properly redacted version of the travel report within seven business days on the system.
- Provides that the Secretary of the DMS, and any officer, employee or contractor of the DMS is not responsible for redacting confidential or exempt information from a travel report posted on the system.
- Provides that the posting of travel reports on the system does not supersede the duty of a reporting entity to respond to a public records request or subpoena for the information.
- Amends s. 112.061(9), F.S., providing that the DMS may adopt rules to administer the provisions of this section relating to the Statewide Travel Management System.

Florida Single Audit Act

Present Situation

The Florida Single Audit Act, codified in s. 215.97, F.S., is designed to:
- Establish uniform state audit requirements for state financial assistance provided by state agencies to nonstate entities to carry out state projects;
- Promote sound financial management, including effective internal controls, with respect to state financial assistance administered by nonstate entities;
- Promote audit economy and efficiency by relying to the extent possible on already required audits of federal financial assistance provided to nonstate entities;
- Provide for identification of state financial assistance transactions in the state accounting records and recipient organization records;
- Promote improved coordination and cooperation within and between affected state agencies providing state financial assistance and nonstate entities receiving state assistance; and
- Ensure, to the maximum extent possible, that state agencies monitor, use, and follow-up on audits of state financial assistance provided to nonstate entities.

Pursuant to the Florida Single Audit Act, certain entities that meet the "audit threshold" requirements are subject to a state single audit or a project-specific audit. Currently, the "audit threshold" requires each nonstate entity that expends a total amount of state financial assistance equal to or in excess of $750,000 in any fiscal year of such nonstate entity to have a state single audit, or a project-specific audit, for such fiscal year. Every two years, the Auditor General, after consulting with the Executive Office of the Governor, the DFS, and all state awarding agencies, is required to review the threshold amount for requiring audits and may adjust the threshold amount.[15]

[15] Section 215.97(2)(a), F.S.

Effect of the Bill

Section 11 amends s. 215.97, F.S., to change the requirement that the Auditor General review the threshold amount for requiring audits from every two years to "periodically;" however, the term "periodically" is not defined. This section also authorizes the Auditor General to recommend to the Legislature a statutory change to revise the threshold amount in its annual report.

Annual Financial Audit Reports

Present Situation

Counties, school districts, municipalities with revenues or expenditures of more than $250,000 per year, special districts with revenues or expenditures of more than $100,000 per year, school districts, charter schools, and charter technical career centers are required to conduct an annual audit, unless informed by the first day of the fiscal year that a financial audit by the Auditor General will be performed for that fiscal year.[16] Municipalities with revenues or expenditures between $100,000 and $250,000 and special districts with revenues or expenditures between $50,000 and $100,000 are required to conduct audits on a triennial basis.[17]

The auditor meets with the chair of the entity to discuss comments that will be included in the report and informs the entity's governing body if deteriorating financial conditions exist that may cause a financial emergency in the absence of corrective actions being taken or a deficit exists for which there are insufficient funds to cover.[18] The officer's explanation or rebuttal of the auditor's findings, including corrective actions to be taken, must be filed with the entity's governing body within 30 days after the delivery of the auditor's findings.[19]

The audit report must be filed with the Auditor General within 45 days of delivery to the governing body of the audited entity, but no later than nine months after the end of the audited entity's fiscal year.[20] The audit report must include a written statement describing corrective actions to be taken in response to each of the auditor's recommendations included in the report. If an audited entity fails to take full corrective action in response to a recommendation that was included in the two preceding financial audit reports, the Auditor General must notify the Joint Legislative Auditing Committee.[21]

Effect of the Bill

Section 15 amends s. 218.39, F.S., to require all municipalities and special districts to complete an annual financial audit starting in Fiscal Year 2018-2019. Local government entities required to submit an annual financial audit report to the Auditor General must do so no later than six months after the end of the fiscal year. The Auditor General may extend the deadline for up to 90 days if the Governor declares a state of emergency within 30 days of the submission deadline.

This section also provides that if an audit report contains a recommendation that was included in the preceding financial audit report but remains unaddressed, the governing body of the audited entity, within 60 days after delivery of the audit report to the governing body, must indicate during a regularly scheduled public meeting whether it intends to take a corrective action, the corrective action to be taken, and when the corrective action will occur. If the governing body does not intend to take any corrective action, it must explain its decision at the public meeting.

Section 25 amends s. 1011.60, F.S., to require each school district required to file an annual financial report to submit an electronic copy to the Department of Education certifying the report was timely filed to maintain eligibility for the Florida Education Finance Program.

Auditor Selection Procedures

Present Situation

Section 218.391, F.S., outlines the process that each local governmental entity, district school board, charter school, or charter technical career center must follow in selecting an auditor to conduct the annual financial audit of the entity required by s. 218.39, F.S. Each entity is required to establish an audit committee to assist the governing body in selecting the auditor. Each noncharter county's audit committee must consist of each of its officers elected pursuant to the State Constitution and one member of the board of county commissioners or its designee. The audit committees must publicly announce requests for proposals for the audit services. The law specifies the factors that must be considered in selecting the auditor and the procedures for negotiating for compensation.

Effect of the Bill

Section 16 amends s. 218.391, F.S., to require every county's audit committee to consist of each county officer elected pursuant to the State Constitution or the county charter, or their respective designees, and one member of the board of county commissioners or its designee. The section requires the audit committee for a municipality, special district, district school board, charter school, or charter technical career center to consist of at least three members, one of whom must be a member of the governing body of the entity. That member must serve as the audit committee's chair. An employee, chief executive officer, or chief financial officer of the county, municipality, special district, district school board, charter school, or charter technical career center may not serve as a member of an audit committee but may serve in a nonvoting advisory capacity. At least one member of the audit committee should have experience in finance, business, or government operations.

For each of the annual financial audits, certain information relating to the selection of the auditor and the contract for such services must be included in the management letter. If an entity fails to select an auditor in compliance with the new process, the Joint Legislative Auditing Committee must determine whether the entity should be subject to state action pursuant to 11.40(2), F.S.

The Florida Virtual School

Present Situation

The Florida Virtual School was created to develop and deliver online and distance learning education.[22] The Commissioner of Education is charged with monitoring the Florida Virtual School. In pertinent part, the law requires the board of trustees to submit an annual report to the Governor, the Legislature, the Commissioner of Education, and the State Board of Education (SBE) that must address:

- The operations and accomplishments of the Florida Virtual School within the state and those occurring outside the state as Florida Virtual School Global;
- The marketing and operational plan for the Florida Virtual School and Florida Virtual School Global, including recommendations regarding methods for improving the delivery of education through the Internet and other distance learning technology;
- The assets and liabilities of the Florida Virtual School and Florida Virtual School Global at the end of the fiscal year;
- A copy of an annual financial audit of the accounts and records of the Florida Virtual School and Florida Virtual School Global, conducted by an independent certified public accountant and performed in accordance with rules adopted by the Auditor General;
- Recommendations regarding the unit cost of providing services to students through the Florida Virtual School and Florida Virtual School Global; and
- Recommendations regarding an accountability mechanism to assess the effectiveness of the services provided by the Florida Virtual School and Florida Virtual School Global.[23]

The Auditor General must conduct an operational audit of the Florida Virtual School, including Florida Virtual School Global.[24] The scope of the audit must include, but is not limited to, the administration of responsibilities relating to personnel; procurement and contracting; revenue production; school funds, including internal funds; student enrollment records; franchise agreements; information technology utilization, assets, and security; performance measures and standards; and accountability. The law specifies that the final report on the audit must be submitted to the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives no later than January 31, 2014.[25]

Effect of the Bill

Section 21 amends s. 1002.37, F.S., to require the Florida Virtual School to have an annual financial audit of its accounts and records conducted by an independent auditor who is a licensed certified public accountant. The independent auditor must conduct the audit in accordance with rules adopted by the Auditor General and must prepare an audit report in accordance with such rules. The audit report must include a written statement by the board of trustees describing corrective action to be taken in response to each of the independent auditor's recommendations. The independent auditor must submit the audit report to the board of trustees and the Auditor General no later than nine months after the end of the preceding fiscal year.

Local Governmental Entity Annual Financial Reports

Present Situation

Section 218.32, F.S., requires local governmental entities that are required to provide for an audit under s. 218.39, F.S., to submit an audit report and annual financial report to the DFS within 45 days after completion of the audit report, but no later than nine months after the end of the fiscal year. The annual financial report must be signed by the chair of the governing body and the chief financial officer of the local governmental entity. The law also specifies the information that must be included in the report.

In addition, the DFS is required to file a verified report with the Governor, the Legislature, the Auditor General, and the Special District Accountability Program of the Department of Economic Opportunity showing the revenues, both locally derived and derived from intergovernmental transfers, and the expenditures of each local governmental entity, regional planning council, local government finance commission, and municipal power corporation that is required to submit an annual financial report.[26]

Effect of the Bill

Section 13 amends s. 218.32, F.S., to provide that the Legislature intends to create the Florida Open Financial Statement System. The system will be an interactive repository for governmental financial statements. The Chief Financial Officer (CFO) may consult with stakeholders, including the department, the Auditor General, a representative of a municipality or county, a representative of a special district, a municipal bond investor, and an information technology professional employed in the private sector for input on the design and implementation of the system.

This section permits the CFO to choose contractors to build one or more eXtensible Business Reporting Language (XBRL) taxonomies suitable for state, county, municipal, and special district financial filings and to create a software tool that enables financial statement filers to create XBRL documents consistent with the taxonomy or taxonomies. XBRL is a global standard for exchanging business information. The CFO must recruit and select contractors through an open request for proposals process pursuant to ch. 287, F.S., and all work must be completed by December 31, 2021. If the CFO deems the work products adequate, all local governmental financial statements pertaining to fiscal years ending on or after September 1, 2022, must be filed in XBRL format and must meet the validation requirements of the relevant taxonomy.

Local government entities required to submit an audit report and annual financial report to the DFS must do so no later than six months after the end of the fiscal year. An extension of the deadline is allowed for up to 90 days if the Governor declares a state of emergency within 30 days of the submission deadline.

Each local government entity must submit an electronic copy of the annual financial report and a statement certifying the document was timely filed with the DFS to the clerk of the court.

[26] Section 218.32(2), F.S.

However, these requirements do not apply to a charter county in which the clerk of the court is not the county auditor. Starting in Fiscal Year 2018-2019, the bill provides that if a local government entity fails to submit information to the clerk of the court, the clerk must notify the appropriate fiscal officer of the local government to suspend salary payments to the head of the local government entity until such time as the information is provided to the clerk. The clerk must notify the appropriate local fiscal officer to resume payments when the clerk receives the information.

This section requires an independent certified public accountant conducting an audit of a local governmental entity pursuant to s. 218.39, F.S., to determine, as part of the audit, whether the entity's annual financial report is in agreement with the entity's audited financial statements. If the audited financial statements are not in agreement with the annual financial report, the section requires the accountant to specify in the audit report the significant differences that exist between the audited financial statements and the annual financial report.

This section also authorizes the DFS, in preparing the verified report, to request additional information from the local governmental entity. Any additional information requested must be provided to the DFS within 45 days after the request. If the local governmental entity does not comply with the request, the DFS must notify the Joint Legislative Auditing Committee, which may take action pursuant to s. 11.40(2), F.S.

This section requires the DFS to post a copy of each local government entity's annual financial report to its website within 12 months of the conclusion of the fiscal year for which the report was compiled.

Required Audits of Certain Educational Institutions

Present Situation

School districts, Florida College System institutions, and other institutions and agencies under the supervision of the State Board of Education (SBE) and state universities under the supervision of the Board of Governors (BOG) are subject to the audit provisions of ss. 11.45 and 218.39, F.S. If an audit contains a significant finding, the district school board, the Florida College System institution board of trustees, or the university board of trustees is required to conduct an audit overview during a public meeting.[27]

Effect of the Bill

Section 23 amends s. 1010.30, F.S., to provide that if an audit report includes a recommendation that was included in the preceding financial audit report but remains unaddressed, the district school board, the Florida College System institution board of trustees, or the university board of trustees must indicate during a regularly scheduled public meeting whether it intends to take corrective action, the corrective action to be taken, and when the corrective action will occur within 60 days after the delivery of the audit report. If the district school board, Florida College System institution board of trustees, or university board of trustees does not intend to take corrective action, it must explain its decision at the public meeting.

Internal Controls to Prevent and Detect Fraud, Waste, and Abuse

Present Situation

State Agencies and the Judicial Branch

Section 215.86, F.S., requires each state agency and the judicial branch as defined in s. 216.011, F.S., to establish and maintain management systems and controls that promote and encourage compliance; economic, efficient, and effective operations; reliability of records and reports; and safeguarding of assets. It requires accounting systems and procedures to be designed to fulfill the requirements of generally accepted accounting principles.

Local Governmental Entities

Section 218.33, F.S., requires each local governmental entity to begin its fiscal year on October 1 and end it on September 30. Section 218.33(2), F.S., requires each local governmental entity to follow uniform accounting practices and procedures as provided by rule of DFS to assure the use of proper accounting and fiscal management by such units. Such rules must include a uniform classification of accounts.

Charter Schools

Section 1002.33, F.S., authorizes charter schools as part of Florida's state program of education. In addition to creating charter schools, that section also imposes certain requirements on charter schools. In pertinent part, the law provides that the governing body of a charter school is responsible for:

- Ensuring that the charter school has retained a certified public accountant or auditor to perform its annual audit;
- Reviewing and approving the audit report;
- Establishing a corrective plan, if necessary;
- Monitoring a financial recovery plan to ensure compliance; and
- Participating in governance training approved by the Department of Education, which must include government in the sunshine, conflicts of interest, ethics, and financial responsibility.[28]

School Districts, Florida College System Institutions, and State Universities

Current law requires the financial records and accounts of each school district, Florida College System institution, and other institution or agency under the supervision of the SBE to be prepared and maintained as prescribed by law and rules of the SBE. The financial records and accounts of each state university under the supervision of the BOG must be prepared and maintained as prescribed by law and rules of the BOG. Rules of the SBE and rules of the BOG must incorporate the requirements of law and accounting principles generally accepted in the United States and must include a uniform classification of accounts. Each state university must annually file with the BOG financial statements prepared in conformity with these requirements. The BOG's rules must prescribe the filing deadline for the financial statements. The required financial accounts and reports must include provisions that are unique to K-12 school districts, Florida College System institutions, and state universities.[29]

Justice Administrative Commission

The Justice Administrative Commission (Commission) is created in s. 43.16, F.S. As one of its duties, the Commission is charged with maintaining a central state office for administrative services and assistance on behalf of state attorneys and public defenders, the capital collateral regional counsel, the criminal conflict and civil regional counsel, and the Guardian Ad Litem Program.[30] Additionally, the Commission records and submits certain documents prepared by a state attorney, public defender, or criminal conflict and civil regional counsel or the Guardian Ad Litem Program, including necessary budgets, vouchers that represent valid claims for reimbursement by the state for authorized expenses, and other things incidental to the proper administrative operation of the office, such as revenue transmittals to the Chief Financial Officer and automated systems plans.[31]

Effect of the Bill

Sections 4, 10, 14, 20 and 22 amend ss. 43.16, 215.86, 218.33, 1002.33, and 1010.01, F.S., respectively, to require state agencies, the judicial branch, local governmental entities, charter schools, school districts, Florida College System institutions, state universities, the Commission, each state attorney, each public defender, the criminal conflict and civil regional counsel, the capital collateral regional counsel, and the Guardian Ad Litem Program to establish and maintain internal controls designed to:

- Prevent and detect fraud, waste, and abuse, as defined in s. 11.45(1), F.S.;
- Promote and encourage compliance with applicable laws, rules, contracts, grant agreements, and best practices;
- Support economical and efficient operations;
- Ensure reliability of financial records and reports; and
- Safeguard assets.

Section 19 amends s. 1001.42, F.S., to require school districts receiving annual federal, state, and local funds in excess of $500 million to employ an internal auditor. The duties of the internal auditor must include oversight of every functional and program area of the school system.

Additionally, this section requires the internal auditor to perform a comprehensive risk assessment of all areas of the school system every five years, and conduct other audits and reviews as the district school board directs to determine:

- The adequacy of internal controls designed to prevent and detect fraud, waste, and abuse.
- Compliance with applicable laws, rules, contracts, grant agreements, district school board-approved policies, and best practices.
- The efficiency of operations.
- The reliability of financial records and reports.
- The safeguarding of assets.

[31] Section 43.16(5)(b), F.S.

- Financial solvency.
- Projected revenues and expenditures.
- The rate of change in the general fund balance.

This section requires the internal auditor to prepare audit reports of his or her findings and establishes penalties for failure to produce financial records to the internal auditor.[32]

Online Posting of Governmental Budgets

Present Situation

Counties and Municipalities

Counties[33] and municipalities[34] are required to post their tentative budgets on their websites two days prior to consideration of the budget at a public hearing. The final budget of a county or municipality must be posted on its website within 30 days after adoption. An amendment to a budget must be posted to the website within five days of adoption.[35] Current law does not specify how long these documents must remain available on the website.

Effect of the Bill

Sections 6, 7 and 8 amend ss. 129.03, 129.06, and 166.241, F.S., respectively, to require a tentative budget to remain on a county or municipality's website for at least 45 days. The sections also requires a final budget to remain on the entity's website for at least two years. Finally, the sections requires an adopted amendment to a budget to remain on the website for at least two years.

The bill also requires the county or municipality to submit an electronic copy of the final budget to the Office of Economic and Demographic Research (EDR) within 30 days after the budget is adopted. The bill allows for an extension of the deadline for up to 90 days if the Governor declares a state of emergency within 30 days of the submission deadline.

The county or municipality must also submit to the clerk of the court a copy of the information that was submitted to the EDR, a copy of the final budget that was posted on the county's website, and a statement certifying both of these items were submitted and posted in a timely manner. However, these requirements do not apply to a charter county in which the clerk of the court is not the county auditor.

[32] Section 11.47(3), F.S. Any person who willfully fails or refuses to furnish or produce any book, record, paper, document, data, or sufficient information necessary to a proper audit or examination which the Auditor General or the Office of Program Policy Analysis and Government Accountability is by law authorized to perform is guilty of a misdemeanor of the first degree. Present Situation

Special Districts

A "special district" is defined as a unit of local government created for a special purpose, as opposed to a general purpose, which has jurisdiction to operate within a limited geographic boundary and is created by general law, special act, local ordinance, or by rule of the Governor and Cabinet. The term does not include a school district, a community college district, a special improvement district created pursuant to s. 285.17, F.S., a municipal service taxing or benefit unit as specified in s. 125.01, F.S., or a board which provides electrical service and which is a political subdivision of a municipality or is part of a municipality.[36] Special districts are required to post their tentative budgets on their websites two days prior to consideration of the budget at a public hearing and must remain on the website for at least 45 days. The final budget of a special district must be posted on its website within 30 days after adoption and must remain on the website for at least two years.[37]

Effect of the Bill

Section 9 amends s. 189.016, F.S., to require a special district to submit an electronic copy of the final budget to the EDR within 30 days after the budget is adopted. The bill allows for an extension of the deadline for up to 90 days if the Governor declares a state of emergency within 30 days of the submission deadline.

The special district must also submit to the clerk of the court a copy of the information that was submitted to the EDR, a copy of the final budget that was posted on the county's website, and a statement certifying both of these items were submitted and posted in a timely manner.

Present Situation

Water Management Districts (WMD)

Chapter 373, F.S., governs Florida's water resource management and authorizes the creation of WMDs, which are given taxing authority. A WMD is defined as "any flood control, resource management, or water management district" operating under the authority of ch. 373, F.S.[38] There are five WMDs in Florida: Northwest Florida, Suwanee River, St. Johns River, Southwest Florida, and South Florida.[39] Section 373.536, F.S., governs the budget process for WMDs and requires a WMD's tentative budget to be posted on the WMD's website at least two days before budget hearings are conducted. The law requires a WMD's final adopted budget to be posted on the WMD's official website within 30 days after adoption.

Effect of the Bill

Section 18 amends s. 373.536, F.S., to require a WMD's tentative budget to remain on the WMD's website for at least 45 days and requires the final adopted budget to remain on the website for at least two years.

[36] Section 189.012(6), F.S.
[37] Section 189.016(4), F.S.
[38] Section 373.019(23), F.S.
[39] Section 373.069(1), F.S.

The bill also requires the WMD to submit an electronic copy of the final budget to the EDR within 30 days after the budget is adopted. The bill allows for an extension of the deadline for up to 90 days if the Governor declares a state of emergency within 30 days of the submission deadline.

The WMD must also submit to the clerk of the court a copy of the information that was submitted to the EDR, a copy of the final budget that was posted on the county's website, and a statement certifying both of these items were submitted and posted in a timely manner.

Beginning in Fiscal Year 2018-2019, the bill provides that if a WMD fails to submit information to the clerk of the court, the clerk must notify the appropriate fiscal officer to suspend future salary payments for the executive director of that WMD until such time as the information is provided to the clerk.

Present Situation

School Districts

Section 1011.03, F.S., requires each district school board to post its tentative budget on the district's official website at least two days prior to consideration of the budget at a public hearing. The final budget of a county or municipality must be posted on its website within 30 days after adoption. The district school superintendent is required to transmit two copies of the adopted budget to the Department of Education.

Effect of the Bill

Section 24 amends s. 1011.03, F.S., to require the district school board budget officer to submit an electronic copy of the final budget to the EDR within 30 days after the budget is adopted. The bill allows for an extension of the deadline for up to 90 days if the Governor declares a state of emergency within 30 days of the submission deadline.

The district school board budget officer must also submit to the clerk of the court a copy of the information that was submitted to the EDR, a copy of the final budget that was posted on the district school's website, and a statement certifying both of these items were submitted and posted in a timely manner.

Beginning in Fiscal Year 2018-2019, the bill provides that if a district school board budget officer fails to submit information to the clerk of the court, the clerk must notify the appropriate fiscal officer to suspend future salary payments for the superintendent of that district until such time as the information is provided to the clerk.

Transparency in Government Spending

Present Situation

The Transparency Florida Act (Act), codified in s. 215.985, F.S., requires the Governor, in consultation with the appropriations committees of the House and Senate, to maintain a central website providing access to all other websites required to be linked under the Act. It also requires certain budget information, certain contract information, and minimum functionality standards to be readily available online. In pertinent part, s. 215.985(11), F.S., requires each WMD to provide a monthly financial statement to its governing board and make the statement available for public access on its website.

Effect of the Bill

Section 12 amends s. 215.985, F.S., to require a WMD's monthly financial statement to be in the form and manner prescribed by the DFS and requires each WMD to make the monthly financial statement available to the public on its website.

Office of Economic and Demographic Research (EDR)

Effect of the Bill

Section 26 requires the EDR to develop forms by July 15, 2018, for the purpose of submitting budget data. The forms must provide "broad, but meaningful" categories for organizing expenditures. By December 1, 2018, the EDR is required to submit a report to the President of the Senate and Speaker of the House of Representatives that:

- Identifies a structure to create unique area profiles for the counties, municipalities, special districts, water management districts, and school districts that would assist the public to make simple, direct comparisons between governmental entities of the same type;
- Provides recommendations for metrics for ranking the reporting entities based on the final budget information submitted to the EDR. The metrics must allow the public to make direct comparisons between different local governments; and
- Provides recommendations to provide this information in a cost-effective manner.

Reasonable Opportunity to Be Heard at Public Meetings

Present Situation

Section 286.0114, F.S., requires, with certain exceptions, that members of the public be provided a reasonable opportunity to be heard before a board or commission. The law describes a general public comment process and allows entities to prescribe how public comment is made and create certain reasonable limitations.

Effect of the Bill

Section 17 amends s. 286.0114, F.S., to prohibit a board or commission from requiring a member of the public to provide an advance written copy of his or her testimony or comments as a precondition of being given the opportunity to be heard at a meeting.

Statement of Legislative Findings

Section 32 specifies that a proper and legitimate state purpose is served when internal controls are established to prevent and detect fraud, waste, and abuse and to safeguard and account for government funds and property. In addition, a proper and legitimate state purpose is served when the travel records of state and local employees are transparent to members of the public. The Legislature further finds that a proper and legitimate state purpose is served when local governments ensure the budgets, annual financial report, and associated data for various governmental entities are available to, and usable by, the public.

Sections 27, 28, 29, 30 and 31 amend ss. 165.0615, 189.066, 189.069, 189.074 and 218.503, F.S., to correct cross-references.

Section 33 provides an effective date of July 1, 2018.

IV. Constitutional Issues:

A. Municipality/County Mandates Restrictions:

Article VII, s. 18(a) of the Florida Constitution provides, in pertinent part, that no county or municipality shall be bound by any general law requiring such county or municipality to spend funds or to take an action requiring the expenditure of funds unless the legislature has determined that such law fulfills an important state interest and:

- The law requiring such expenditure is approved by two-thirds of the membership in each house of the legislature; or
- The expenditure is required to comply with a law that applies to all persons similarly situated, including the state and local governments.

Article VII, s. 18(d) of the Florida Constitution provides, in pertinent part, that laws having insignificant fiscal impact are exempt from the mandates requirements.

This bill requires county and municipal governments to establish and maintain specified internal controls, to post government budgets online, and to use the statewide travel management system. Section 32 of the bill specifies that the bill serves an important state interest. An exception may apply because the bill applies to similarly situated persons (municipalities, counties, water management districts, school districts, state agencies and other governmental entities).

In addition, the bill may be exempt from the mandates requirements if the costs incurred by the municipalities and counties to comply are $2.05 million or less (the threshold for "insignificant"[40] fiscal impact for Fiscal Year 2017-2018).[41]

B. Public Records/Open Meetings Issues:

None.

C. Trust Funds Restrictions:

None.

---

[40] An insignificant fiscal impact is the amount not greater than the average statewide population for the applicable fiscal year times $0.10. See Florida Senate Committee on Community Affairs, Interim Report 2012-115: Insignificant Impact, (September 2011), available at http://www.flsenate.gov/PublishedContent/Session/2012/InterimReports/2012-115ca.pdf (last visited Nov. 9, 2017).

D. Other Constitutional Issues:

Section 13 requires the salary of the head of the local entity to be withheld if a local government fails to submit specified information to the clerk of the court. If that head of the local entity is a constitutional officer, such as a county commissioner, school board member or a school superintendent, that officer has legal right to receive salary as long as he or she holds the office and performs the requisite duties.[42, 43]

V. Fiscal Impact Statement:

A. Tax/Fee Issues:

None.

B. Private Sector Impact:

State agency and judicial branch personnel may incur additional costs to the extent lodging costs exceed $150 per day when such personnel are required to travel for official business.

C. Government Sector Impact:

Executive branch state government agencies and the judicial branch may incur indeterminate additional costs associated with using the Statewide Travel Management System (system). The bill makes the requirements to implement the system for reporting entities contingent upon the Legislature appropriating at least $5.4 million to the Department of Management Services (DMS) for Fiscal Year 2018-2019.

State agencies, the court system, court-related entities, local governments, district school boards, charter schools, and state colleges and universities may incur minimal costs associated with establishing and maintaining the specified internal controls.

State agencies and the judicial branch may avoid some travel costs associated with the limitations of lodging expenses.

The Department of Financial Services estimates the costs for the development of the Florida Open Financial Statement System to be $500,000. There will be additional costs in future years to create the software tool needed to implement the system. The additional future needs are indeterminate.

The bill has an indeterminate, but likely insignificant negative fiscal impact to expenditures and staff time of the Office of Economic and Demographic Research (EDR). The bill requires that the EDR, by July 15, 2018, develop forms for the submittal of budget data from certain specified entities. Additionally, the bill requires the EDR to compile and submit a report to the President of the Senate and Speaker of the House of

[43] see Flack v. Graham, 453 So. 2d 819 (Fla. 1984).

Representatives by December 1, 2018. In the report, the EDR is required to identify a structure to allow the public to make simple, direct comparisons between governmental entities of the same type; enable the public to rank entities of the same type based on submitted budget data; and, offer recommendations to provide this information in a cost-effective manner. According to the EDR, current resources are adequate to absorb these costs.

VI. Technical Deficiencies:

None.

VII. Related Issues:

None.

VIII. Statutes Affected:

This bill substantially amends the following sections of the Florida Statutes: 11.40, 11.45, 28.35, 43.16, 112.061, 129.03, 129.06, 165.0615, 166.241, 189.016, 189.066, 189.069, 189.074, 215.86, 215.97, 215.985, 218.32, 218.33, 218.39, 218.391, 218.503, 286.0114, 373.536, 1001.42, 1002.33, 1002.37, 1010.01, 1010.30, 1011.03, and 1011.60.

This bill also creates two undesignated sections of Florida law.

COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

CS/CS/SB 376 revises the standards for determining compensability of employment-related post-traumatic stress disorder (PTSD) under workers' compensation for first responders, which includes volunteers or employees engaged as law enforcement officers, firefighters, emergency medical technicians, and paramedics. The bill allows first responders that meet certain conditions to access indemnity and medical benefits for PTSD without an accompanying physical injury. Current law provides only medical benefits for a mental or nervous injury without an accompanying physical injury and requires the first responder to incur a compensable physical injury to receive indemnity benefits for a mental or nervous injury. Generally, the bill will increase the likelihood of compensability for workers' compensation indemnity benefits for PTSD.

PTSD is a psychiatric disorder that can occur in people who have experienced or witnessed a traumatic event such as a natural disaster, a serious accident, a terrorist act, war, combat, rape, or other violent personal assault. A diagnosis of PTSD requires direct or indirect exposure to an upsetting traumatic event.

The bill creates an exception to current law to authorize the compensation of indemnity benefits for PTSD, if the first responder:

- Has PTSD that resulted from the course and scope of employment; and
- Is examined and diagnosed with PTSD by an authorized treating psychiatrist of the employer or carrier due to the first responder experiencing one of the following qualifying events relating to minors or others:
  - Seeing for oneself a deceased minor;
  - Witnessing directly the death of a minor;
  - Witnessing directly the injury to a minor who subsequently died prior to, or upon arrival at a hospital emergency department, participating in the physical treatment of, or manually transporting an injured minor who subsequently died before or upon arrival at a hospital emergency department;
  - Seeing for oneself a decedent who died due to grievous bodily harm of a nature that shocks the conscience;
  - Witnessing directly a death, including suicide, due to grievous bodily harm; or homicide, including murder, mass killings, manslaughter, self-defense, misadventure, and negligence; or
  - Participating in the physical treatment of an injury, including attempted suicide, or manually transporting an injured person who suffered grievous bodily harm, if the injured person subsequently died prior to or upon arrival at a hospital emergency department.

Medical and indemnity benefits for a first responder's PTSD are due regardless of whether the first responder incurred a physical injury, and the following provisions do not apply:
- "Apportionment" due to a preexisting PTSD;
- The one percent limitation on permanent psychiatric impairment benefits; or
- Any limitation on temporary benefits under s. 440.093, F.S.

The first responder must file the notice of injury with their employer or carrier within 90 days of the qualifying event, described above, or manifestation of the PTSD. However, the claim is barred if it is not filed within 52 weeks of the qualifying event.

The bill requires an employing agency of a first responder, including volunteer first responders, to provide educational training related to mental health awareness, prevention, mitigation, and treatment.

The bill provides that the Legislature determines and declares that this act fulfills an important state interest.

State and local governments may incur additional costs as a result of the implementation of this bill. The National Council on Compensation Insurance estimates the fiscal impact of the bill on Florida's workers' compensation system is approximately 0.2 percent, or approximately $7 million.

The bill is effective October 1, 2018.

II. Present Situation:

Florida Workers' Compensation System

Employers are required to pay compensation or furnish benefits that are required under ch. 440, F.S., if an employee suffers an accidental compensable injury or death arising out of work performed in the course and the scope of the employment.[1] Generally, employers may secure coverage from an authorized carrier, qualify as a self-insurer,[2] or purchase coverage from the Workers' Compensation Joint Underwriting Association, the insurer of last resort.[3]

Workers' compensation is the injured employee's remedy for "compensable" workplace injuries.[4] An accidental compensable injury must be the major contributing cause of any resulting injury, meaning that the cause must be more than 50 percent responsible for the injury as compared to all other causes combined, as demonstrated by medical evidence only.[5] An injury or disease caused by a toxic substance is not an injury by accident arising out of employment unless there is clear and convincing evidence establishing that exposure to the specific substance caused the injury or diseases sustained by the employee.[6]

General Compensability for Mental or Nervous Injuries

Section 440.093, F.S., sets forth the conditions under which a mental or nervous injury is compensable. A mental or nervous injury due to only stress, fright, or excitement is not an injury by accident arising out of the employment. Mental or nervous injuries without an accompanying physical injury requiring medical treatment are not compensable. In addition, a physical injury resulting from a mental or nervous injury unaccompanied by a physical trauma requiring medical treatment is not compensable.

Further, s. 440.093, F.S., provides that mental or nervous injuries occurring as a manifestation of an injury compensable under ch. 440, F.S., must be demonstrated by clear and convincing medical evidence. The compensable physical injury must be the major contributing cause of the mental or nervous injury. The law also limits the duration of temporary benefits for a compensable mental or nervous injury to no more than six months after the employee reaches maximum medical improvement.

Injured workers are entitled to receive all medically necessary remedial treatment, care, and attendance, including medications, medical supplies, durable medical equipment, and prosthetics, for as long as the nature of the injury and process of recovery requires.[7]

Indemnity benefits only become payable to employees who are disabled for at least eight days due to a compensable workplace injury.[8] These benefits are generally payable at 66 2/3 percent of the employee's average weekly wage (AWW),[9] up to the maximum weekly benefit established by law.[10] Indemnity benefits fall into one of four categories: temporary partial disability, temporary total disability, permanent partial disability, and permanent total disability.

- Temporary partial disability and temporary total disability benefits are payable for up to a combined total of 260 weeks.[11]
- Permanent partial disability benefits are payable as impairment income benefits that are provided for a variable number of weeks depending upon the value of the injured worker's permanent impairment rating pursuant to a statutory formula.[12]
- Permanent total disability benefits are payable until the age of 75, unless the work-related accident occurs after the worker's 70th birthday, then the benefit is paid for five years.[13]

Section 440.15(3), F.S., provides that permanent impairment benefits are limited for a permanent psychiatric impairment to one percent permanent impairment.

First Responders' Compensability for Mental or Nervous Injuries

In 2007, the Legislature enacted significant changes in workers' compensation benefits for first responders that provide benefits and standards for determining benefits for employment-related accidents and injuries of first responders. A "first responder" is a law enforcement officer, as defined in s. 943.10, F.S.,[14] a firefighter as defined in s. 633.102, F.S.,[15] or an emergency medical technician or paramedic as defined in s. 401.23, F.S.,[16] employed by state or local government.[17] Further, a volunteer law enforcement officer, firefighter, or emergency medical [11] Section 440.15(2) and (4), F.S. Section 440.15(2)(a), F.S., specify that temporary total disability benefits are payable for 104 weeks; however, the Florida Supreme Court has found this provision unconstitutional and revived the standard of 260 weeks of payable temporary total disability benefits. *Westphal v. In regards to compensability for a mental or nervous injury involving a first responder, s. 112.1815, F.S.:

- Requires that a mental or nervous injury occurring as a manifestation of a compensable injury must be demonstrated by clear and convincing evidence;
- Authorizes the payment of only medical benefits in employment-related cases involving a mental or nervous injury without an accompanying physical injury requiring medical treatment;
- Prohibits the payment of indemnity benefits unless a physical injury arising out of injury as a first responder accompanies the mental or nervous injury; and
- Provides that benefits for first responders are not subject to any limitation on temporary benefits under s. 440.93, F.S., or the one percent limitation on permanent psychiatric impairments benefits under s. 440.15, F.S.

State Survey of Compensability Laws for Workers' Compensation Mental Injuries

Often stress-related injuries do not result from a physical injury. These types of injuries are referred to as "mental-mental" injuries because they are caused by a purely mental stimulus that leads to a mental impairment, such as depression or post-traumatic stress disorder (PTSD). This stimulus could be witnessing, but not being physically injured by, a particularly horrific accident, workplace incident, or crime scene.

In 2017, the National Council on Compensation Insurance (NCCI) issued a report summarizing compensability for injuries[19] in the United States.[20] Highlights of the study include:

- Compensability for Mental-Mental Injuries: 27 jurisdictions, including Florida, have statutory language expressly allowing compensation for nonphysical mental (mental-mental) injuries or stress in limited circumstances.[21]
- Mental-Mental and Mental-Physical Exclusions: Montana is the only state that specially denies compensability for both mental-physical and mental-mental injuries.
- Personnel Actions: 21 states specify that stress arising out of a personnel action is not compensable.

Post-Traumatic Stress Disorder (PTSD)

The American Psychiatric Association provides diagnostic criteria for mental disorders, including PTSD, in its Diagnostic and Statistical Manual of Mental Disorders, Fifth Edition

[18] Section 112.1815, F.S.
[19] Reference to mental injuries also includes mental impairments or disorders that are occupational diseases. The District of Columbia and Kansas laws do not expressly provide for compensation of mental injuries, but they do reference mental conditions and/or mental providers.

(DSM-5).[22] PTSD is a psychiatric disorder that can occur in people who have experienced or witnessed a traumatic event such as a natural disaster, a serious accident, a terrorist act, war, combat, rape, or other violent personal assault.[23] A diagnosis of PTSD requires exposure to an upsetting traumatic event. However, exposure could be indirect rather than first hand.[24] Symptoms generally begin within the first three months after the trauma, although there may be a delay of months or even years before the criteria for the diagnosis are met.[25]

Prevalence Rate

The exact prevalence rate for PTSD is difficult to ascertain. According to the National Center for PTSD, about seven or eight percent of the population will have PTSD at some point in their lives.[26] About eight million adults will have PTSD during a given year. About 10 percent of females develop PTSD during their lives compared with about four percent of males. The number of veterans with PTSD varies by service era. For example, about 15 percent of Vietnam veterans are diagnosed with PTSD at the time of the most recent study conducted in the late 1980s. It is estimated that 30 percent of Vietnam veterans have had PTSD in their lifetime. In contrast, about 12 percent of Gulf War veterans have PTSD in a given year.

The DSM-5 estimates approximately 8.7 percent of the U.S. population will develop PTSD in their lifetime.[27] Twelve-month prevalence among U.S. adults is approximately 3.5 percent. The PTSD rates are higher among veterans and others whose employment increases the risk of traumatic exposure, such as police, firefighters, and emergency medical personnel. The highest rates (ranging from one-third to more than one-half of those exposed) are found among survivors of rape, military combat and captivity, and ethnically or politically motivated internment and genocide.

Although estimates vary across occupations and the general population, some studies indicate that first responders and other professionals who are exposed to potentially traumatic events in their workplace are four to five times more likely to develop PTSD compared to the general population.[28] A 2016 report estimated 20 percent of firefighters and paramedics had PTSD.[29] Preexisting mental health conditions may be exacerbated and new mental health conditions may occur due to extremely emotionally and physically demanding working conditions.[30]

A 2015 survey of 4,000 first responders found that 6.6 percent had attempted suicide, which is more than 10 times the rate in the general population.[31] Concern has been expressed that first responders may underreport mental health conditions as a result of stigma associated with seeking treatment for those conditions.

Prognosis

The onset of PTSD symptoms is usually in the first month after the traumatic event; however, in about 15 percent of the cases, there may be a delay of months or years before symptoms appear.[32] Further, although a high proportion of trauma survivors will initially develop symptoms of PTSD, a substantial number of these individuals recover without treatment in the following years, with a steep decline in PTSD rates occurring in the first year.[33] However, at least a third of the individuals who initially develop PTSD remain symptomatic for three years or longer, and are at risk of secondary problems such as substance abuse.[34]

2016 Pulse Shooting in Orlando, Florida

On June 12, 2016, 49 people were killed and at least 68 others were injured at a shooting at the Pulse nightclub in Orlando, Florida. The shooting has been characterized as one of the deadliest mass shootings in modern U.S. history.[35] One recently profiled police officer was diagnosed with post-traumatic stress disorder and has been out of work since shortly after the shooting.[36] The article noted that, while the City of Orlando Police Department was paying his full salary, Florida law did not require the employer to pay because workers' compensation compensability for PTSD must be accompanied by a physical injury, which the officer did not have.

Florida Retirement System

The Florida Retirement System (FRS)[37] offers members a choice between the Pension Plan (a defined benefit plan) and the Investment Plan (a defined contribution plan). Generally, FRS membership is compulsory for employees filling a regularly established position in a state agency, county agency, state university, state college, or district school board with some limited exceptions. Participation by cities, municipalities, special districts, charter schools, and metropolitan planning organizations, although optional, is generally irrevocable after the election to participate is made. The five classes of membership are Regular Class, Senior Management Service Class, Special Risk Class, Special Risk Administrative Support Class, and Elected Officers' Class.

Special Risk Class of the FRS

The Special Risk Class of the FRS consists of state and local government employees who meet the criteria for special risk membership. The class covers persons employed in law enforcement, firefighting, criminal detention, and emergency medical care who meet statutory criteria for membership set for in s. 121.0515, F.S.[38] A person who is a member in the Special Risk Class may retire at an earlier age and is eligible to receive higher disability and death benefits than Regular Class members. In creating the Special Risk Class of membership within the FRS, the Legislature recognized that certain employees, as an essential function of their positions, must perform work that is physically demanding or that requires extraordinary agility and mental acuity.[39] The Legislature further found that, as persons in such positions age, they may not be able to continue performing their duties without posing a risk to the health and safety of themselves, the public and their coworkers.

Disability Benefits for Members of the FRS

The FRS provides disability benefits for its active members who are permanently, totally disabled from useful employment. The level of disability benefits to which an eligible disabled member is minimally entitled depends upon membership class, and whether the disabling injury or illness was job related. For Special Risk Class members retiring on or after July 1, 2000, the minimum in-line-of-duty disability benefit is 65 percent of average final compensation (AFC) as of the member's disability retirement date.

Section 121.091(4), F.S., provides that any FRS[40] member who is totally and permanently disabled due to a condition or impairment of health caused by an injury or illness (including tuberculosis, heart disease, or hypertension) is entitled to disability benefits. The disabling injury or illness must have occurred before the member terminated employment. If the injury or illness arises out of and in the actual performance of duty required by his or her job, the member is entitled to in-line-of-duty disability benefits.

There are several important differences in the laws applicable to disability benefits, depending on whether the disability is found to be due to an injury or illness "suffered in the line of duty":

- Eligibility — A FRS member is eligible for in-line-of-duty disability benefits from his/her first day on the job. In contrast, the member must have eight years of creditable service[41] before becoming disabled in order to receive disability retirement benefits for any disability occurring other than in the line of duty.
- Burden of Proof — Proof of disability is required, including certification by two Florida-licensed physicians that the member's disability is total and permanent (i.e., that the member is prevented by reason of a medically determinable physical or mental impairment from

[38] Section 121.0515(1), F.S.
[39] Id.
[40] Members of both the FRS Pension Plan and the FRS Investment Plan are eligible for disability coverage.
[41] Until July 1, 2001, any member who joined the FRS on or after July 1, 1980, was required to complete 10 years of creditable service to qualify for disability benefits for a disability that was not job-related. Under current law, the 10-year service requirement has been reduced to eight years.

engaging in gainful employment of any type). It is the responsibility of the applicant to provide such proof. Unless a legal presumption applies such as the one provided under s. 112.18, F.S., to qualify to receive the higher in-line-of-duty disability benefits, the member must also show by competent evidence that the disability occurred in the line of duty.

- Chapter 175, F.S., plans — Pension plans for firefighters established pursuant to ch. 175, F.S., must provide a minimum line of duty benefit equal to the firefighter's accrued retirement benefit, but no less than 42 percent of his or her average monthly salary at the time of disability. Disability occurs when an injured plan member is wholly prevented from rendering useful and efficient service as a firefighter and is likely to remain so in the opinion of the board of trustees, after the member has been examined by a duly qualified doctor selected by the board. Local law plans may have enacted disability benefits that exceed the minimum requirements.

Existing In-Line-of-Duty Disability Presumptions

Section 112.18, F.S., establishes a presumption for state and local firefighters, law enforcement, correctional, and correctional probation officers regarding determinations of job-related disability. This statute provides that certain diseases (tuberculosis, heart disease, and hypertension) acquired by these officers are presumed to have been suffered in the line of duty. This presumption in law has the effect of shifting from the employee to the employer the burden of proving by competent evidence that the disabling disease was not related to the person's employment.

Section 175.231, F.S., provides a similar presumption for firefighters in any municipality, special fire control district, chapter plan, local law municipality, local law special fire control district, or local law plan under ch. 175, F.S., whose death or disability is the result of tuberculosis, heart disease, or hypertension. Section 185.34, F.S., provides a similar presumption for municipal police officers' pension plans.

Section 112.181, F.S., provides a presumption applicable to any emergency rescue or public safety worker, including a firefighter, that such employee qualifies for in the line of duty disability or death benefits if such disability or death is due to hepatitis, meningococcal meningitis, or tuberculosis.

Absent one of the existing presumptions, the FRS member has the burden of proof when claiming in-line-of-duty disability or death benefits. The employee must show by competent evidence that the death or disability occurred in the line of duty in order to receive the higher benefits.[42] If the employee or the employee's survivors cannot meet the burden of proof, the employee or the employee's survivors are entitled only to the lesser benefits available under regular death or disability benefits.

Death Benefits Available for FRS Members

The FRS currently provides death benefits for surviving spouses and/or eligible dependents of active members. Under s. 121.091(7), F.S., death benefits may be paid for an active member of the FRS Pension Plan who dies before retirement due to an injury or illness (including tuberculosis, heart disease, or hypertension). If the injury or illness arises out of and in the actual performance of duty required by the job, the member's surviving spouse and/or eligible dependent(s) are entitled to in-line-of-duty death benefits. There are important differences in the laws applicable to death benefits, depending on whether the death is found to be due to an injury or illness "suffered in the line of duty."

From the first day on the job, an FRS Pension Plan member is eligible for in-line-of-duty death benefits that will pay a minimum monthly benefit to a survivor equal to half the member's last monthly salary. If the deceased member would have been entitled to a higher retirement benefit based on service credit, the higher benefit would be payable to his/her spouse or eligible dependent(s). The survivor benefit for Special Risk Class members killed in the line of duty is 100 percent of the member's base pay at the time of death if the member's death occurs on or after July 1, 2013. Unless a legal presumption applies such as those provided under s. 112.18, F.S., the eligible beneficiary must show by competent evidence that the death occurred in the line of duty to qualify to receive the higher in-line-of-duty death benefits.

Local Government Pension Plans

Chapters 175 and 185, F.S., provide funding mechanisms for pension plans of municipal firefighters and police officers, respectively. Both chapters provide a uniform retirement system for firefighters and police officers and set standards for operating and funding of pension systems through a trust fund supported by a tax on insurance premiums. Most Florida firefighters and local law enforcement officers participate in these plans. To be considered totally and permanently disabled, charter plan employees must only be found disabled from rendering useful and efficient service as a firefighter or police officer.[43] Under local law plans, the standards may vary for determining eligibility for disability retirement, death benefits, and the benefits paid, although all plans must abide by minimum standards established under ss. 175.351 and 185.35, F.S., respectively.

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

Section 1 amends s. 112.1815, F.S., to revise the standards for determining compensability of employment-related post-traumatic stress disorder (PTSD) under workers' compensation for first responders, which includes volunteers or employees engaged as law enforcement officers, firefighters, emergency medical technicians, and paramedics. The section creates an exception to the current prohibition on the payment of indemnity benefits unless a physical injury accompanies the mental or nervous injury by authorizing indemnity benefits for PTSD if certain conditions are met. A first responder is entitled to medical and indemnity benefits for PTSD, as an occupational disease, the PTSD resulted from the first responder acting within the course and scope of employment and is diagnosed by a licensed psychiatrist who is an authorized treating physician under ch. 440, F.S. The PTSD must be due to one of the following qualifying events relating to minors or others:

- Seeing for oneself a deceased minor;
- Witnessing directly the death of a minor;

[43] Sections 175.191 and 185.18, F.S.

- Witnessing directly the injury to a minor who subsequently died prior to, or upon arrival at a hospital emergency department, participating in the physical treatment of, or manually transporting an injured minor who subsequently died before or upon arrival at a hospital emergency department;
- Seeing for oneself a decedent who died due to grievous bodily harm of a nature that shocks the conscience;
- Witnessing directly a death, including suicide, due to grievous bodily harm; or homicide, including murder, mass killings, manslaughter, self-defense, misadventure, and negligence; or
- Participating in the physical treatment of an injury, including attempted suicide, or manually transporting an injured person who suffered grievous bodily harm, if the injured person subsequently died prior to or upon arrival at a hospital emergency department.

Such medical and indemnity benefits for a first responder's PTSD are due:
- If the PTSD is proven by clear and convincing evidence;
- Regardless of whether the first responder incurred a physical injury;
- Without apportionment due to a preexisting PTSD;
- Without any limitation, thus the one percent on permanent psychiatric impairment benefits does not apply; and
- Without any limitation on temporary benefits under s. 440.093, F.S.

The first responder must file a first notice of injury with their employer or carrier within 90 days of the qualifying event, or manifestation of the PTSD. However, the claim is barred if the notice is not filed within 52 weeks after the qualifying event. The section defines the terms, "directly witnessing," "manually transporting," and "minor." The section also directs the Department of Financial Services to adopt rules specifying injuries qualifying as grievous bodily harm of a nature that shocks the conscience.

Lastly, the section requires an employing agency of a first responder, including volunteer first responders, to provide educational training related to mental health awareness, prevention, mitigation, and treatment.

Current law provides that only medical benefits are payable for a mental or nervous injury of a first responder that is unaccompanied by a physical injury. Indemnity benefits are available only if the mental or nervous injury is accompanied by a physical injury.

Section 2 provides that the Legislature declares that this act fulfills an important state interest.

Section 3 provides the bill takes effect October 1, 2018.

IV. Constitutional Issues:

A. Municipality/County Mandates Restrictions:

Article VII, s. 18(a) of the Florida Constitution provides, in pertinent part, that "no county or municipality shall be bound by any general law requiring such county or municipality to spend funds or take an action requiring the expenditure of funds unless the legislature has determined that such law fulfills an important state interest and unless:

- The law requiring such expenditure is approved by two-thirds of the membership in each house of the legislature; or
- The expenditure is required to comply with a law that applies to all persons similarly situated, including state and local governments.

The bill expressly finds that the law fulfills an important state interest. The bill applies to all first responders delineated under s. 112.1815, F.S and similarly situated, including state agencies, school boards, community colleges, counties, municipalities, special districts, and private entities.

National Council on Compensation Insurance (NCCI) Analysis of CS/SB 376

According to the NCCI, the implementation of CS/SB 376 may result in an indeterminate increase in Florida's workers' compensation system costs for law enforcement officer, firefighter, emergency medical technician, and paramedic classifications in Florida.[44] However, the overall impact on workers' compensation costs was expected to be minimal, since the data reported to the NCCI show that first responders represent approximately 2.2 percent of statewide losses in Florida. The 2.2 percent may be an underestimate for the total population of Florida workers, as many entities that employ law enforcement officers, firefighters, and emergency medical technicians are self-insured and do not report data to the NCCI.

The ultimate system cost impact would be realized through future loss experience and reflected in subsequent NCCI rate filings in Florida. A minimal impact in this context is defined as an impact on overall system costs of less than 0.2 percent or approximately $7 million.[45]

[44] NCCI, Analysis of SB 376 (Oct. 19, 2017) (on file with Senate Banking and Insurance Committee).
[45] NCCI correspondence (Dec. 4, 2017) (on file with Senate Committee on Banking and Insurance).

The NCCI is unable to quantify the expected increase in the number of post-traumatic stress disorder (PTSD)-related claims that would be entitled to indemnity benefits under CS/SB 376. According to the NCCI, the 2015 average total claim severity for an indemnity or lost-time claim[46] in Florida was $60,700 ($19,100 average indemnity claim severity plus $41,600 average medical claim severity).[47] However, due to the high prevalence of PTSD among first responders, the NCCI estimates that the increase in compensable PTSD-related claims could be significant for these occupational classifications.[48] If enacted, the bill could potentially result in increased litigation related to the confirmation of a PTSD diagnosis and the determination of whether the PTSD arose out of an activity performed within the course of employment. Any costs associated with increased litigation would be expected to exert upward pressure on overall workers' compensation system costs.

C. Government Sector Impact:

The fiscal impact on state and local governments is indeterminate. State and local governments may incur higher claim costs for workers' compensation benefits of first responders contingent upon the frequency and severity of the claims.[49] In regards to prevalence rate, estimates vary across occupations. One study noted that police officers incurred duty-related post-traumatic stress disorder (PTSD) rates ranging from seven to 19 percent.[50] In contrast, another study noted that about 20 percent of ambulance workers developed post-traumatic stress disorder (PTSD).[51] However, first responders are four to five times more likely to develop PTSD compared to the general population.[52] Other prevalence rates range from seven to 37 percent.[53]

According to the Department of Management Services (DMS), as of December 1, 2017, the total number of State Personnel System (SPS) employees in firefighter positions was 613 and the total number of SPS employees in law-enforcement officer positions was 4,342. This information does not include volunteers. According to the DMS, the SPS does not utilize paramedic or emergency medical technician classes, nor does it have volunteers perform firefighter or law enforcement duties.[54]

[46] Lost-time claims are claims resulting in indemnity benefits and usually medical benefits being paid to or on behalf of the injured worker for time lost from work.
[47] NCCI correspondence (Feb. 26, 2018) (on file with Senate Committee on Banking and Insurance).
[48] According to NCCI, although events leading to PTSD cannot be predicted with certainty, the incidence of PTSD is estimated to be significantly higher for first responders compared to the general population. According to the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs, about 55 percent of the population will experience at least one trauma in their lives and, as a result, about 7-8 percent of the population will have PTSD at some point in their lives. In comparison, the National Center for Biotechnical Information (NCBI) concluded that the prevalence of PTSD among Emergency Medical Technicians (EMTs) is greater than 20 percent, and various sources have reported the prevalence of PTSD among firefighters to be in the 7 percent to 37 percent range.

[54] Department of Management Services correspondence (Dec. 1, 2017) (on file with the Senate Committee on Banking and Insurance).

There are approximately 177,724 first responders statewide. According to the Florida Department of Law Enforcement, there were 46,309 law enforcement officers, as of June 15, 2017.[55] The Florida Department of Health, Division of Medical Quality Assurance, notes there were 32,074 active emergency medical technicians and 29,242 paramedics, in Fiscal Year 2016-2017.[56] According to the Department of Financial Services, Division of State Fire Marshal, there were 46,322 certified firefighters and 23,777 certified volunteer firefighters, as of December 2017.[57]

Local Government Retirement Plans[58]

The DMS analysis of SB 376 indicated that version of the bill would expand workers compensation benefits for first responders to mental and nervous injuries, regardless of a physical injury, and workers' compensation documentation and coverage is considered in determining eligibility for chapters 175 or 185, F.S., in-line-of-duty disability and in-line-of-duty death benefits. For local law plans governed by chapters 175 and 185, F.S., total disability includes inability to provide useful and efficient service as a firefighter or police officer. This is a more liberal definition of total disability than the Florida Retirement System (FRS) standard and will likely result in higher incidence of in-line-of-duty disability and in-line-of-duty death benefit awards for chapters 175 and 185, F.S., than in FRS plans.

The cost impact on individual local law plans will require the completion of actuarial impact statements. However, with the revised criteria, the potential higher incidence of in-line-of-duty deaths will likely result in increased plan costs for chapters 175 and 185, F.S., plans above the de minimis level.

Florida Retirement System[59]

The DMS determined that the actuarial impact of SB 376 on the FRS was indeterminate. The DMS noted both a lack of data regarding how many members would be immediately eligible for enhanced in-line-of-duty disability benefits, as well as an absence of academic study regarding the incidence of mental and nervous injury, without accompanying physical injury, to estimate the potential ongoing cost arising from additional in-line-of-duty disability and in-line-of-duty death applications.

Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services (DACS)[60]

Since s. 112.1815, F.S., was enacted, the Florida Forest Service (FFS) and the Office of Agricultural Law Enforcement (OALE) have not received any workers' compensation claims for mental or nervous injuries. An increase in annual claims from first responders is highly probable; however, the limited level of exposure by the employees of the DACS to the scenarios and the requirements are likely to lessen the frequency of claims. A negative fiscal impact of unknown severity is likely. There are currently 211 special-risk positions in the OALE and 589 in FFS that are first responder positions. The FFS has a volunteer program; however, only a small portion of the FFS volunteers are classified as firefighters.

Department of Financial Services

Division of Risk Management[61]

Since the enactment of s. 112.1815, F.S., available records indicate that only one state employee has received medical benefits relating to a work-related mental condition without a physical injury. The DFS indicates there is a potential for small increases in claims costs. A state worker that is unable to return to work due to the extent of his mental injuries could result in a much higher cost depending on age and salary. These costs may include medical benefits, which are currently provided, as well as indemnity benefits. According to NCCI, the average indemnity claim severity is $19,100 plus $41,600 average medical claim severity.

Division of Workers' Compensation[62] (DWC)

Using medical bills with dates of service in the last two fiscal years (July 1, 2015 through June 30, 2017), the Division of Workers' Compensation identified 203 first responder claims where one of the diagnoses is PTSD (unspecified) or PTSD (chronic). The vast majority of these claims (about 80 percent) have dates of accident between 2006 and 2017. For those, 80 percent or 162 claims, total medical was $13,430,645 ($82,905.22 average per claim) and total indemnity is $9,064,407 ($55,953.13 average per claim). Of the 162 claims, 110 claims had a payment for psychiatric care, which totaled $275,140.94 ($2,501.28 average per claim). There were 12 claims that had denials and all but one of those claims had medical and/or indemnity dollars paid on it. All of the claims that were denied had an associated physical injury.

[62] Department of Financial Services, correspondences (Feb. 2018) (on file with the Senate Committee on Banking and Insurance).

Department of Highway Safety and Motor Vehicles (DHSMV)[63]

The DHSMV has averaged $73,500 in annual costs for injury-related workers' compensation benefits. There have not been any claims for mental or nervous injuries in recent years. If this bill is enacted, there could be an indeterminate, but possibly significant, increase in expenditures. The DHSMV has 1,974 FHP trooper positions, approximately 228 auxiliary volunteers and 50 reserve officers (volunteers). A reserve officer is a certified law enforcement officer appointed to serve without compensation and vested with the authority to bear arms and make arrests.

A bill to be entitled

An act relating to workers' compensation benefits for first responders; amending s. 112.1815, F.S.; revising the evidentiary standard for demonstrating mental and nervous injuries of first responders; deleting certain limitations relating to workers' compensation benefits for first responders; amending s. 440.093, F.S.; providing that law enforcement officers, firefighters, emergency medical technicians, and paramedics are entitled to benefits under the Workers' Compensation Law for mental or nervous injuries, regardless of whether such injuries are accompanied by physical injuries requiring medical treatment, under specified circumstances; conforming provisions to changes made by the act; providing an effective date.

Be It Enacted by the Legislature of the State of Florida:

Section 1. Paragraph (a) of subsection (2) of section 112.1815, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

112.1815 Firefighters, paramedics, emergency medical technicians, and law enforcement officers; special provisions for employment-related accidents and injuries.—

(2)(a) For the purpose of determining benefits under this section relating to employment-related accidents and injuries of first responders, the following shall apply:

1. An injury or disease caused by the exposure to a toxic substance is not an injury by accident arising out of employment unless there is a preponderance of the evidence establishing that exposure to the specific substance involved, at the levels to which the first responder was exposed, can cause the injury or disease sustained by the employee.

CODING: Words ~~stricken~~ are deletions; words underlined are additions.

597-01803-18 2018376c1

2. Any adverse result or complication caused by a smallpox vaccination of a first responder is deemed to be an injury by accident arising out of work performed in the course and scope of employment.

3. A mental or nervous injury involving a first responder and occurring as a manifestation of a compensable injury must be demonstrated by a preponderance of the ~~clear and convincing~~ evidence. ~~For a mental or nervous injury arising out of the employment unaccompanied by a physical injury involving a first responder, only medical benefits under s. 440.13 shall be payable for the mental or nervous injury. However, payment of indemnity as provided in s. 440.15 may not be made unless a physical injury arising out of injury as a first responder accompanies the mental or nervous injury.~~ Benefits for a first responder are not subject to any limitation on temporary benefits under s. 440.093 or the 1-percent limitation on permanent psychiatric impairment benefits under s. 440.15(3)(c).

Section 2. Section 440.093, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

440.093 Mental and nervous injuries.—

(1) Except as provided in subsection (4):

(a) A mental or nervous injury due to stress, fright, or excitement only is not an injury by accident arising out of the employment.

(b) ~~Nothing in~~ This section may not ~~shall~~ be construed to allow for the payment of benefits under this chapter for mental or nervous injuries without an accompanying physical injury requiring medical treatment.

(c) A physical injury resulting from mental or nervous injuries unaccompanied by physical trauma requiring medical treatment is ~~shall~~ not ~~be~~ compensable under this chapter.

(2) Except as provided in subsection (4), mental or nervous injuries occurring as a manifestation of an injury compensable under this chapter must ~~shall~~ be demonstrated by clear and convincing medical evidence by a licensed psychiatrist meeting criteria established in the most recent edition of the Diagnostic and Statistical Manual of Mental Disorders published by the American Psychiatric Association. Except as provided in subsection (4), the compensable physical injury must be and remain the major contributing cause of the mental or nervous condition and the compensable physical injury as determined by reasonable medical certainty must be at least 50 percent responsible for the mental or nervous condition as compared to all other contributing causes combined. Compensation is not payable for the mental, psychological, or emotional injury arising out of depression from being out of work or losing employment opportunities, resulting from a preexisting mental, psychological, or emotional condition or due to pain or other subjective complaints that cannot be substantiated by objective, relevant medical findings.

(3) Subject to the payment of permanent benefits under s. 440.15, in no event shall temporary benefits for a compensable mental or nervous injury be paid for more than 6 months after the date of maximum medical improvement for the injured employee's physical injury or injuries, which shall be included in the period of 104 weeks as provided in s. 440.15(2) and (4). Mental or nervous injuries are compensable only in accordance with the terms of this section.

(4) A law enforcement officer, a firefighter, an emergency medical technician, or a paramedic is entitled to receive benefits under this chapter for a mental or nervous injury, whether or not such injury is accompanied by a physical injury requiring medical treatment, if:

(a) The mental or nervous injury resulted while the law enforcement officer, firefighter, emergency medical technician, or paramedic was acting within the course of his or her employment as described in s. 440.091 and the law enforcement officer, firefighter, emergency medical technician, or paramedic witnessed, or arrived at the scene of, a murder, suicide, fatal injury, child death, or mass casualty incident; and

(b) The mental or nervous injury is demonstrated by a preponderance of the evidence by a licensed psychiatrist to meet the criteria for posttraumatic stress disorder as described in the Diagnostic and Statistical Manual of Mental Disorders, Fifth Edition, published by the American Psychiatric Association.

BILL ANALYSIS AND FISCAL IMPACT STATEMENT

(This document is based on the provisions contained in the legislation as of the latest date listed below.)

Prepared By: The Professional Staff of the Committee on Appropriations

BILL:	PCS/SB 502 (383058)
INTRODUCER:	Appropriations Committee (Recommended by Appropriations Subcommittee on Finance and Tax); and Senator Stargel
SUBJECT:	Corporate Income Tax
DATE:	February 26, 2018 REVISED:

	ANALYST	STAFF DIRECTOR	REFERENCE	ACTION
1.	Babin	Diez-Arguelles	AFT	Recommend: Fav/CS
2.	Babin	Hansen	AP	Pre-meeting

Please see Section IX. for Additional Information:

COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

PCS/SB 502 updates Florida's corporate income tax by adopting the federal Internal Revenue Code in effect on January 1, 2018. By adopting the updated code, Florida recognizes the changes made to the code. A number of the changes made to the federal code will affect Florida's corporate tax collections.

The bill does not adopt the increased first-year depreciation (bonus depreciation) provisions included in the Tax Cuts and Jobs Act of 2017. Florida corporations must add back those deductions for Florida purposes and then spread the deduction over a seven-year period.

The bill requires the Department of Revenue to establish a workgroup to analyze the effects of the recent federal legislation on the Florida Corporate Income Tax. The workgroup is required to file a report with the Legislature by February 1, 2019.

The bill takes effect upon becoming law and operates retroactively to January 1, 2018.

The Revenue Estimating Conference has determined that the bill has an indeterminate fiscal impact on the General Revenue Fund in Fiscal Years 2017-2018 and 2018-2019, and an indeterminate but positive recurring impact thereafter.

II. Present Situation:

Annual Adoption of the Internal Revenue Code

Florida imposes a 5.5 percent tax on the taxable income of corporations and financial institutions doing business in Florida.[1] A corporation calculates its taxable income for Florida tax purposes by starting with its taxable income determined for federal tax purposes.[2] Additional adjustments are then made to determine the corporation's Florida taxable income. By starting with federal taxable income, Florida eases the administrative burden on Florida taxpayers.

Florida maintains its relationship with the federal Internal Revenue Code each year by adopting the federal Internal Revenue Code as it exists on January 1 of the year. By doing this, Florida adopts any changes that were made in the previous year to the determination of federal taxable income.

Because Florida relies on federal taxable income to determine Florida taxable income, changes to the calculation of federal taxable income will affect the calculation of Florida taxable income and may increase or decrease Florida tax receipts if Florida adopts the most recent federal Internal Revenue Code. In some instances, Florida has adopted the new federal Internal Revenue Code, but excluded some changes.

The Tax Cuts and Jobs Act of 2017

On December 22, 2017, President Trump signed into law the Tax Cuts and Jobs Act of 2017 (TCJA).[3] The TCJA made significant changes to federal income tax provisions related to individuals, corporations, and the treatment of foreign income.

Individual Tax Reforms

The TCJA's changes to the taxation of individual income do not affect Florida tax revenues, as Florida does not have an individual income tax.

Business Tax Reforms

The TCJA's changes to corporate taxes generally:

- Reduce the federal income tax rate on corporate income.[4]
- Significantly increase the first-year deductions related to equipment purchases (bonus depreciation).
- Limit or require amortization of certain business expenses.
- Repeal or curtail certain tax credits and deductions.

[1] Sections 220.11(2) and 220.63(2), F.S.
[2] See generally s. 220.13(2), F.S.
[3] Pub. Law No. 115-97 (December 22, 2017)
[4] Changes to the federal income tax rate do not directly affect Florida corporate income tax receipts.

The TCJA provides 100 percent bonus depreciation through 2023 and then phases down the percentage to 80 percent, 60 percent, 40 percent, and 20 percent, for the next four years, respectively. No bonus depreciation is granted after 2027.[5]

Bonus depreciation merely affects the timing of depreciation deductions. Under a normal depreciation schedule, deductions are spread over a given time period. Bonus depreciation increases the first-year depreciation amount and thereby decreases out-year depreciation amounts. With 100 percent bonus depreciation, all of the years' depreciation deductions are accelerated into the first year.

International Tax Reforms

The U.S. has historically deferred taxation of foreign-source income until the income was repatriated to the U.S.[6] The TCJA aims to largely eliminate this deferral for corporations.

The TCJA's foreign income changes generally:
- Require taxation of foreign-source income.
- Provide deductions for certain dividends from foreign corporations.
- Provide temporary, partial credits for certain foreign income to reduce the near-term taxation of that income.

Bipartisan Budget Act of 2018

On February 9, 2018, President Trump signed into law the Bipartisan Budget Act of 2018 (the BBA).[7] Included within the BBA, Congress reauthorized for a limited time several tax provisions.[8] These provisions have come to be known as "tax extenders" because Congress has been regularly extending them for brief periods of 1 or 2 years.

The major changes affecting corporate taxes will:
- Accelerate the depreciation of certain assets.
- Increase the first-year expensing of certain film and television production expenses.
- Increase deductions for corporations with manufacturing activities in Puerto Rico.
- Increase deductions for energy efficient commercial building expenses.
- Delay recognition of certain income related to dispositions of utility property.

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

This bill updates Florida's corporate income tax by adopting the federal Internal Revenue Code in effect on January 1, 2018. By adopting the updated code, Florida recognizes the changes made to the code. A number of the changes made to the federal code will affect Florida's corporate tax collections.

The Tax Cuts and Jobs Act of 2017

Business Tax Reforms

Many of the TCJA's changes to the taxation of corporate income directly affect Florida corporate income tax receipts to the extent that Florida does not "decouple"[9] from the changes. The effect of each change made by the TCJA varies – some decrease tax receipts, while others increase tax receipts; however, the extent that each change will affect Florida corporate income tax receipts depends upon the specific change and the nature of the corporations involved. For instance, changes that affect manufacturing corporations may not affect Florida as much as states with significant manufacturing activities

The bill decouples from the bonus depreciation provisions included in the TCJA. Florida corporations that claim bonus depreciation on their federal returns must add back that deduction for Florida purposes and then spread the deduction over a seven-year period. This treatment has been used for similar federal provisions over the past several years.[10]

International Tax Reforms

The TCJA's changes related to the taxation of corporations' foreign income will likely affect Florida corporate income tax receipts, but the magnitude of the impact on tax receipts cannot be determined at this time. Like most states, Florida excludes (subtracts) certain types of foreign income from its corporate taxable income. At this time, it is unclear if the "new" taxable foreign income and related deductions will be included within those subtractions. Over the coming months, many of those decisions are expected to be made by the Internal Revenue Service.

Bipartisan Budget Act of 2018

Some of the tax extender provisions affect federal taxable income, and thus, these provisions will likely affect the Florida taxable income of affected Florida corporations.

Workgroup to Review the Effects of the Federal Legislation on Florida Corporate Income Tax

The bill provides that the Legislature recognizes that the TCJA will have significant effects on the Florida's corporate income tax and finds that it is necessary to establish a workgroup to better understand the effects. The bill requires the Department of Revenue to establish a workgroup to examine how the implementation for the TCJA will affect state corporate income tax.

[9] "Decoupling" is the term used to describe a situation when the state adopts the Internal Revenue Code, but does not adopt certain, specific changes to the code. In doing so, the state is said to have "decoupled" from those specific changes. Florida has decoupled from several changes over the past decade, most often with extraordinary first-year depreciation deductions granted at the federal level. The relevant acts were the Economic Stimulus Act of 2008, the American Recovery and Reinvestment Act of 2009, the Small Business Jobs Act of 2010, the Tax Relief, Unemployment Insurance Reauthorization, and Job Creation Act of 2010, the American Taxpayer Relief Act of 2012, the Tax Increase Prevention Act of 2014, and The Consolidated Appropriations Act, 2016.

The workgroup consists of department employees who have expertise in state and federal corporate income tax. The workgroup must consult with the Revenue Estimating Conference and also must seek and consider comments from the private sector.

By February 1, 2019, the workgroup must submit a report to the Governor, President of the Senate, Speaker of the House of Representatives, and the respective chairs of the appropriate legislative committees. The report must include: a comprehensive discussion of issues having an effect on the state corporate tax structure and corporate tax revenues; options for changes to state tax law needed to integrate state law with federal law; the fiscal impact of each option; and whether the workgroup should be extended.

The workgroup is required to submit status reports to the chairs of the appropriate legislative committees on May 15, 2018, July 15, 2018, September 15, 2018, and November 15, 2018. The status reports must include a brief description of the workgroup's activities and any relevant guidance issued by the Internal Revenue Service.

The bill applies retroactively to January 1, 2018.

IV. Constitutional Issues:

A. Municipality/County Mandates Restrictions:

The mandate restrictions do not apply because the bill does not require counties or municipalities to spend funds, reduce counties' or municipalities' ability to raise revenue, or reduce the percentage of state tax shared with counties and municipalities.

B. Public Records/Open Meetings Issues:

None.

C. Trust Funds Restrictions:

None.

V. Fiscal Impact Statement:

A. Tax/Fee Issues:

The Revenue Estimating Conference has determined that the bill has an indeterminate fiscal impact on the General Revenue Fund in Fiscal Years 2017-2018 and 2018-2019, and an indeterminate but positive recurring impact thereafter.

B. Private Sector Impact:

By adopting recent changes to the Internal Revenue Code, Florida provides consistent tax treatment for Florida corporate taxpayers. The effect on an individual corporation will depend on many factors, including the type of activity it conducts. As a group, corporations will likely pay less tax in Fiscal Years 2017-2018 and 2018-2019 and more taxes in Fiscal Year 2020-2021 and thereafter.

C. Government Sector Impact:

None.

VI. Technical Deficiencies:

None.

VII. Related Issues:

VIII. Statutes Affected:

This bill substantially amends section 220.03 of the Florida Statutes.

COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

CS/SB 502 updates Florida's corporate income tax by adopting the federal Internal Revenue Code in effect on January 1, 2018. By adopting the updated code, Florida recognizes the changes made to the code. A number of the changes made to the federal code will affect Florida's corporate tax collections.

The bill does not adopt the increased first-year depreciation (bonus depreciation) provisions included in the Tax Cuts and Jobs Act of 2017. Florida corporations must add back those deductions for Florida purposes and then spread the deduction over a seven-year period.

The bill requires the Department of Revenue to establish a workgroup to analyze the effects of the recent federal legislation on the Florida Corporate Income Tax. The workgroup is required to file a report with the Legislature by February 1, 2019.

The bill takes effect upon becoming law and operates retroactively to January 1, 2018.

The Revenue Estimating Conference has determined that the bill has an indeterminate fiscal impact on the General Revenue Fund in Fiscal Years 2017-2018 and 2018-2019, and an indeterminate but positive recurring impact thereafter.

II. Present Situation:

Annual Adoption of the Internal Revenue Code

Florida imposes a 5.5 percent tax on the taxable income of corporations and financial institutions doing business in Florida.[1] A corporation calculates its taxable income for Florida tax purposes by starting with its taxable income determined for federal tax purposes.[2] Additional adjustments are then made to determine the corporation's Florida taxable income. By starting with federal taxable income, Florida eases the administrative burden on Florida taxpayers.

Florida maintains its relationship with the federal Internal Revenue Code each year by adopting the federal Internal Revenue Code as it exists on January 1 of the year. By doing this, Florida adopts any changes that were made in the previous year to the determination of federal taxable income.

Because Florida relies on federal taxable income to determine Florida taxable income, changes to the calculation of federal taxable income will affect the calculation of Florida taxable income and may increase or decrease Florida tax receipts if Florida adopts the most recent federal Internal Revenue Code. In some instances, Florida has adopted the new federal Internal Revenue Code, but excluded some changes.

The Tax Cuts and Jobs Act of 2017

On December 22, 2017, President Trump signed into law the Tax Cuts and Jobs Act of 2017 (TCJA).[3] The TCJA made significant changes to federal income tax provisions related to individuals, corporations, and the treatment of foreign income.

Individual Tax Reforms

The TCJA's changes to the taxation of individual income do not affect Florida tax revenues, as Florida does not have an individual income tax.

Business Tax Reforms

The TCJA's changes to corporate taxes generally:

- Reduce the federal income tax rate on corporate income.[4]
- Significantly increase the first-year deductions related to equipment purchases (bonus depreciation).
- Limit or require amortization of certain business expenses.
- Repeal or curtail certain tax credits and deductions.

The TCJA provides 100 percent bonus depreciation through 2023 and then phases down the percentage to 80 percent, 60 percent, 40 percent, and 20 percent, for the next four years, respectively. No bonus depreciation is granted after 2027.[5]

BILL ANALYSIS AND FISCAL IMPACT STATEMENT

(This document is based on the provisions contained in the legislation as of the latest date listed below.)

Prepared By: The Professional Staff of the Committee on Appropriations

BILL:	SB 538
INTRODUCER:	Senators Garcia and Rodriguez
SUBJECT:	State and Local Governmental Relations with The Government of Venezuela
DATE:	February 26, 2018 REVISED:

	ANALYST	STAFF DIRECTOR	REFERENCE	ACTION
1.	Peacock	Caldwell	GO	Favorable
2.	Babin	Diez-Arguelles	AFT	Recommend: Favorable
3.	Babin	Hansen	AP	Favorable

I. Summary:

SB 538 requires the State Board of Administration to divest any investment in stocks, securities, or other obligations of any institution or company domiciled in the U.S., or foreign subsidiary of a company domiciled in the U.S., doing business in or with the government of Venezuela, or with agencies or instrumentalities thereof, in violation of federal law.

The bill prohibits a state agency from investing in any financial institution or company domiciled in the U.S., or any foreign subsidiary of a company domiciled in the U.S. which, directly or through a U.S. or foreign subsidiary, makes any loan, extends credit of any kind or character, advances funds in any manner, or purchases or trades any goods or services with the government of Venezuela, or any company doing business in or with the government of Venezuela, in violation of federal law.

The bill authorizes the Governor to waive the bill's prohibitions if the government of Venezuela collapses and there is a need for immediate aid to Venezuela before the convening of the Legislature or for other humanitarian reasons as determined by the Governor.

The bill has no fiscal impact on state or local revenues.

The bill has an effective date of July 1, 2018.

II. Present Situation:

State Board of Administration

The State Board of Administration (SBA) is established by Art. IV, s. 4(e) of the State Constitution and is composed of the Governor as chair, the Chief Financial Officer (CFO), and the Attorney General. The board members are commonly referred to as "Trustees." The SBA derives its powers to oversee state funds from Art. XII, s. 9 of the State Constitution and ch. 215, F.S.

The SBA has responsibility for oversight of the Florida Retirement System (FRS) Pension Plan investments and the FRS Investment Plan,[1] which represent approximately $168.8 billion, or 86.3 percent, of the $195.7 billion in assets managed by the SBA as of October 26, 2017.[2] The SBA also manages more than 30 other investment portfolios with combined assets of $26.9 billion, including the Florida Hurricane Catastrophe Fund, the Florida Lottery Fund, the Florida Pre-Paid College Plan, and various debt-service accounts for state bond issues.[3]

The Trustees, at the August 16, 2017, Cabinet meeting, passed a resolution to add the following language to the SBA's Investment Policy Statement for the FRS:

- Prohibited Investments. Until such as time as the SBA determines it is otherwise prudent to do so, the SBA is prohibited from investing in:
  - Any financial institution or company domiciled in the United States, or foreign subsidiary of a company domiciled in the United States, which directly or through a United States or foreign subsidiary and in violation of federal law, makes any loan, extends credit of any kind or character, advances funds in any manner, or purchases or trades any goods or services in or with the government of Venezuela; and
  - Any securities issued by the government of Venezuela or any company that is majority-owned by the government of Venezuela.
- Proxy Voting. The SBA will not vote in favor of any proxy resolution advocating the support of the Maduro Regime in Venezuela.[4]

The SBA's Investment Advisory Council formally recommended that the language be added to the FRS Investment Policy Statement at its meeting on September 25, 2017. The Trustees accepted the updated Investment Policy Statement at their October 17, 2017, meeting.

State Divestment Laws

Section 215.471, F.S., enacted in 1993, prohibits the SBA from investing in stocks, securities, or other obligations of:

- Any institution or company domiciled in the U.S., or foreign subsidiary of a company domiciled in the U.S., doing business in or with Cuba, or with agencies or instrumentalities thereof in violation of federal law.
- Any institution or company domiciled outside of the U.S. if the President of the U.S. has applied sanctions against the foreign country in which the institution or company is domiciled, pursuant to s. 4 of the Cuban Democracy Act of 1992.

Section 215.471, F.S., also prohibits the SBA from acting as a fiduciary with respect to voting on, or in favor of, any proxy resolution advocating expanded U.S. trade with Cuba or Syria.

[1] Members in the FRS may elect to participate in the pension plan, which is a defined benefit plan, or the investment plan, which is a defined contribution plan.

Section 215.472, F.S., enacted in 1993, prohibits each state agency from investing in:

- Any financial institution or company domiciled in the U.S., or foreign subsidiary of a company domiciled in the U.S., which directly or through a U.S. or foreign subsidiary makes any loan, extends credit of any kind or character, advances funds in any manner, or purchases or trades any goods or services with Cuba, the government of Cuba, or any company doing business in or with Cuba in violation of federal law.
- Any financial institution or company domiciled outside of the U.S. if the President of the U.S. has applied sanctions against the foreign country in which the institution or company is domiciled pursuant to s. 4 of the Cuban Democracy Act of 1992.

Section 215.473, F.S., enacted in 2007, requires the SBA to assemble and publish a list of scrutinized companies that have prohibited business operations in Sudan or Iran. Once placed on the list of scrutinized companies, the SBA is prohibited from acquiring those companies' securities and is required to divest such securities if the companies do not cease the prohibited activities or take certain compensating actions.

Section 215.4725, F.S., enacted in 2016, requires the SBA to identify and assemble a list of companies that boycott Israel. The SBA must provide written notice to the companies that may be placed on the list and give those companies an opportunity to respond prior to the company becoming subject to investment prohibition and placement on the list.

The state has practiced divestment several times in modern history.[5] From 1986 to 1993, the Legislature directed the SBA to divest investments of companies doing business with South Africa. From 1988 to 2015, the Legislature placed restrictions on investments in any institution or company doing business in or with Northern Ireland. From 1997 until 2001, the SBA made a decision to divest of 16 tobacco stocks due to pending litigation involving the state and those companies.

Federal Venezuela Sanctions

In recent years, the federal government has imposed various sanctions on the government of Venezuela. On August 24, 2017, President Trump signed Executive Order 13808 to prohibit U.S. persons and entities from engaging in transactions involving the following:

- New debt with a maturity of greater than 90 days of Petroleos de Venezuela, S.A. (PdVSA), Venezuela's state-owned oil company;
- New debt with a maturity of greater than 30 days, or new equity, of the government of Venezuela, other than debt of PdVSA as defined above;
- Bonds issued by the government of Venezuela prior to August 25, 2017;
- Dividend payments or other distributions of profits to the government of Venezuela from any entity owned or controlled, directly or indirectly, by the government of Venezuela; and
- The purchase, directly or indirectly, of securities from the government of Venezuela, other than security qualifying as new debt with a maturity of less than or equal to 90 days (for PdVSA) or 30 days (for the government of Venezuela).[6]

[6] Exec. Order No. 13808, 3 C.F.R. 41155 (2017).

The executive order defined the term "government of Venezuela" to mean the government of Venezuela, any political subdivision, agency, or instrumentality thereof, including the Central Bank of Venezuela and PdVSA, and any person or entity owned or controlled by, or acting for or on behalf of, the government of Venezuela.[7]

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

Section 1 amends s. 215.471, F.S., to require the SBA to divest any investment in stocks, securities, or other obligations of any institution or company domiciled in the U.S., or foreign subsidiary of a company domiciled in the U.S., doing business in or with the government of Venezuela, or with agencies or instrumentalities thereof, in violation of federal law.

For this section, the bill defines the term "government of Venezuela" to mean the government of Venezuela, its agencies or instrumentalities, or companies majority-owned or controlled by the government of Venezuela.

Also, the bill authorizes the Governor to waive the divestiture requirements if the government of Venezuela collapses and there is a need for immediate aid to Venezuela before the convening of the Legislature or for other humanitarian reasons as determined by the Governor.

Additionally, the bill prohibits the SBA from being a fiduciary with respect to voting on, and may not have the right to vote in favor of, any proxy resolution advocating expanded U.S. trade with the government of Venezuela.

Section 2 amends s. 215.472, F.S., to prohibit a state agency from investing in any financial institution or company domiciled in the U.S., or any foreign subsidiary of a company domiciled in the U.S. which, directly or through a U.S. or foreign subsidiary, makes any loan, extends credit of any kind or character, advances funds in any manner, or purchases or trades any goods or services with the government of Venezuela, or any company doing business in or with the government of Venezuela, in violation of federal law.

For this section, the bill defines the term "government of Venezuela" to mean the government of Venezuela, its agencies or instrumentalities, or companies majority-owned or controlled by the government of Venezuela.

The bill authorizes the Governor to waive the prohibitions on state agency actions if the government of Venezuela collapses and there is a need for immediate aid to Venezuela before the convening of the Legislature or for other humanitarian reasons as determined by the Governor.

Section 3 provides the bill takes effect July 1, 2018.

IV. Constitutional Issues:

A. Municipality/County Mandates Restrictions:

The mandate restrictions do not apply because the bill does not require counties and municipalities to spend funds, reduce counties' or municipalities' ability to raise revenue, or reduce the percentage of state tax shared with counties and municipalities.

B. Public Records/Open Meetings Issues:

None.

C. Trust Funds Restrictions:

None.

D. Other Constitutional Issues:

The U.S. Constitution grants the federal government various powers related to foreign affairs, such as the power to declare war,[8] maintain a military,[9] enter into treaties and other international agreements,[10] regulate foreign commerce,[11] and to hear cases involving foreign states and citizens.[12] These grants of power have been interpreted to grant the federal government the exclusive power to act in the area of foreign affairs.[13] When a state law operates in the field of foreign affairs without federal authorization, a reviewing court might find the state law to be invalid.[14]

V. Fiscal Impact Statement:

A. Tax/Fee Issues:

None.

B. Private Sector Impact:

Indeterminate.

C. Government Sector Impact:

The bill may have an insignificant negative fiscal impact on the SBA related to conducting research. The SBA, however, will absorb these costs.[15]

COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

PCS/CS/SB 590 makes a number of changes to the laws relating to relative and nonrelative caregivers for children in out-of-home foster care. The most significant changes required by the bill are as follows:

- Directing the Department of Children and Families (DCF or department), in collaboration with sheriffs' offices that conduct child protective investigations and community-based care lead agencies, to develop a statewide Family Finding Program.
- Requiring court determination at each judicial hearing throughout the dependency process that the DCF or other appropriate agency engaged in family finding.
- Renaming of the Relative Caregiver Program to the Kinship Care Program and recognition of "fictive kin," as a person unrelated to a child by blood but who has such a close emotional relationship with the child that he or she may be regarded as part of the family or kin.
- Directing that program payments to relatives or qualifying nonrelatives are no longer delayed and begin when the child comes into a relative's or qualifying nonrelative's care at the current relative caregiver rate under s. 39.5085, F.S.
- Establishing Kinship Navigator programs by community-based care lead agencies to provide support and assistance to relative and nonrelative caregivers.
- Extending the maintenance adoption subsidy to age 21 for eligible young adults.

- Extending program services to age 21 for eligible young adults who have not achieved permanency.
- Establishing a Title IV-E Guardianship Assistance Program pilot in two DCF circuits.

The bill also amends the Rilya Wilson Act, s. 39.604, F.S., as follows:
- To provide an alternative to fulltime enrollment in a child care program for foster children under the age of three whose caregiver stays home all day or works less than fulltime.
- To appoint a surrogate parent to make educational decisions if appropriate, and provide for educational stability and transitions.

The DCF is requesting 12 additional full-time equivalent (FTE) positions and is projected to incur additional costs up to $3,207,326 in FY 2018-2019 and $4,230,000 annually thereafter. Local governments, specifically the six sheriff's offices conducting child protective investigations, are collectively expected to incur additional costs of $157,500 in FY 2018-2019 and $315,000 annually thereafter. By locating relatives or nonrelatives to care for children who have entered out-of-home care, the Family Finder and Kinship Navigator programs may generate savings to partially or fully offset the cost of the additional DCF staff and the fiscal impact on the county sheriff's offices.

Sections 1, 5, and 12 of the bill are effective January 1, 2019, and the remainder of the bill is effective July 1, 2018.

II. Present Situation:

Relative and Nonrelative Caregivers

When children cannot remain safely with their parents, placement with relatives is preferred over placement in foster care with nonrelatives. Caseworkers try to identify and locate a relative or relatives who can safely care for the children while parents receive services to help them address the issues that brought the children to the attention of child welfare. Placement with relatives — or kinship care — provides permanency for children and helps them maintain family connections. Kinship care is the raising of children by grandparents, other extended family members, and non-relative adults with whom they have a close, family-like relationship, such as godparents and close family friends.[1]

Kinship care may "be formal and involve a training and licensure process for the caregivers, monthly payments to help defray the costs of caring for the [child], and support services[.]"[2] Kinship care also may "be informal" and "involve only an assessment process to ensure the safety and suitability of the home along with supportive services for the child and caregivers."[3] "Approximately one-fourth of [the] children in out-of-home care are living with relatives."[4]

According to the National Conference of State Legislatures,

> Nearly 3 million American children are cared for by relatives other than their parents. Child welfare agencies in many states rely on extended families, primarily grandparents, to provide homes for children who cannot safely remain with their parents. In fact, relatives care for 27 percent of children in foster care—about 107,000—according to the Adoption and Foster Care Analysis and Reporting System.[5]

In Florida, there were 24,069 children in out-of-home care as of December 31, 2017, More than half of those children, 13,579, were placed with approved relatives and "fictive kin" non-relatives,[6] while 10,490 were placed in licensed foster care, group care, or in another placement.[7]

Relative Caregiver Program

The Relative Caregiver Program was established in 1998[8] for the purpose of recognizing the importance of family relationships and providing additional placement options and incentives to help achieve permanency and stability for many children who are otherwise at risk of foster care placement. The program provides financial assistance to qualified relatives. Within available funding, the Relative Caregiver Program is also required to provide caregivers with family support and preservation services, school readiness assistance, and other available services in order to support the child's safety, growth, and healthy development. Children living with caregivers who are receiving assistance under the program are also eligible for Medicaid coverage.[9]

In 2014,[10] the Legislature expanded the Relative Caregiver Program to include nonrelatives who a child may have a close relationship with who are not a blood relative or a relative by marriage. Those nonrelatives are eligible for financial assistance if they are able and willing to care for the child and provide a safe, stable home environment. The court must find that a proposed placement is in the best interest of the child.[11]

Under the Relative Caregiver Program, the statewide average monthly rate for children placed by the court with relatives or nonrelatives who are not licensed as foster homes may not exceed 82 percent of the statewide average foster care rate. Additionally, the cost of providing the assistance to any caregiver in the program may not exceed the cost of providing out-of-home care in an emergency shelter or in foster care.[12]

Financial Assistance

The Relative Caregiver Program also provides monthly cash assistance to relatives who meet eligibility rules and have custody of a child under age 18 who has been adjudicated dependent by a Florida court and placed in their home by the Department of Children and Families Child Welfare/Community Based Care (CW/CBC) contracted provider.[13] As demonstrated by the charts below, the monthly cash assistance amount is higher than the Temporary Cash Assistance for one child but less than the amount paid for a child in the foster care program.

Monthly cash assistance:

caregivers does not begin until the child has been adjudicated dependent.[19] Adjudication typically takes 2 months to a year. During this time, a nonrelative caregiver receives no benefit, and a relative caregiver may be eligible only for temporary cash assistance if in close enough consanguinity to the child.[20] Once the child has been adjudicated dependent, the relative becomes eligible for the full Relative Caregiver Program benefit amount.[21]

Child Care Assistance

The cost of participating in the school readiness program is subsidized in part or fully by the funding of the local early learning coalition for eligible children.[22] Criteria have been established for the children who are to receive priority for participating in the program at no cost or at a subsidized rate.[23] However, to the extent that subsidized child care is not available, the cost of child care is assumed by the caregiver.[24]

Fostering Connections to Success and Increasing Adoptions Act (Fostering Connections)

The federal Fostering Connections to Success and Increasing Adoptions Act of 2008 (Fostering Connections) was designed to improve the lives of children and youth in foster care and increase the likelihood that they will be able to leave the foster care system to live permanently with relative caregivers or adoptive families.[25] The law accomplishes this, in part, by allowing states to extend foster care services and maintenance adoption subsidy payments for children leaving foster care and adoptive families to the age of 21 and to establish a subsidized guardianship assistance program for relative caregivers.

Extended Foster Care

In 2013, the Legislature exercised the option of providing for extended foster care, which applies to young adults aged 18 to 21 who have not achieved permanency prior to their 18th birthdays.[26] The program builds on independent living assistance services that were previously available to young adults who "aged-out" of the foster care system.[27] Extended foster care services are available to young adults who are living in licensed care on their 18th birthday and who are:

- Completing secondary education or a program leading to an equivalent credential;
- Enrolled in an institution that provides postsecondary or vocational education;
- Participating in a program or activity designed to promote or eliminate barriers to employment;

- Employed for at least 80 hours per month; or
- Unable to participate in programs or activities listed above full time due to a physical intellectual, emotional, or psychiatric condition that limits participation.[28]

Program eligibility is also contingent on the living situation of a young adult. Participants are required to live independently, but in an environment in which they are provided supervision, case management, and support services by either DCF or a relevant CBC. Examples of such an environment include college dormitories, shared housing, and foster family homes.[29]

Adoption Assistance

The department currently provides financial assistance to families who adopt children with special needs or who are otherwise difficult to place in an adoptive home.[30] This assistance is made available in several ways. DCF may grant a maintenance subsidy to families (maintenance adoption subsidy or MAS), which is an annual payment intended to subsidize the costs of caring for an eligible child. The department may also offer a subsidy to family for any medical costs associated with a child's specific needs. In addition, the department is authorized to offer a nonrecurring reimbursement to an eligible family for costs associated with formalizing an adoption, which may include attorney's fees, court costs, travel expenses, and other related costs. Adoption assistance, in these various forms, may be offered to families who adopt an eligible child until the 18th birthday of such a child.[31]

To date, Florida has chosen not to take advantage of the provision of federal Fostering Connections Act that allows the maintenance adoption subsidy to be continued until a young adult reaches age 21.

Title IV-E Guardianship Assistance Program

The third primary provision of Fostering Connections is the creation of a federally supported Guardianship Assistance Program (GAP) for relatives. The GAP gives states the option of using federal Title IV-E funds to support kinship guardianship payments for children living in the homes of relative caregivers who become the children's legal guardians.[32]

The federal Fostering Connections Act and Increasing Adoptions Act promotes permanency for children living with kin by providing states with the option to use federal Title IV-E funding for kinship guardianship subsidies. If a child meets certain Title IV-E eligibility standards, he or she may also be eligible for a GAP subsidy if:

- The child has been removed from his or her family's home pursuant to a voluntary placement agreement or as a result of a judicial determination that allowing the child to remain in the home would be contrary to the child's welfare;
- The child is eligible for federal foster care maintenance payments under Title IV-E of the Social Security Act for at least six consecutive months while residing in the home of the prospective relative guardian who is licensed or approved as meeting the licensure requirements as a foster family home;
- Returning home or adoption is not an appropriate permanency option for the child;
- The child demonstrates a strong attachment to the prospective relative guardian and the relative guardian has a strong commitment to caring permanently for the child; and
- The child has been consulted regarding the guardianship arrangement (applicable to children age 14 and older).[33]

Likewise, a prospective guardian must meet certain conditions to qualify for a GAP subsidy. He or she:

- Must be the eligible child's relative or close fictive kin;
- Must have undergone fingerprint-based criminal record checks and child abuse and neglect registry checks;
- Must be a licensed foster parent and approved for guardianship assistance by the relevant state department;
- Must display a strong commitment to caring permanently for the child; and
- Must have obtained legal guardianship of the child after the guardianship assistance agreement has been negotiated and finalized with the department.[34]

Federal guidance on GAP implementation recognizes that many relative caregivers may find the foster care licensure process burdensome. Accordingly, states are granted the authority to determine what constitutes a "non-safety" licensure standard and, on a case-by-case basis, offer waivers to those standards when appropriate.[35]

To date, Florida has chosen not to implement this provision of Fostering Connections and relies on the established Relative Caregiver Program to provide assistance to caregivers.

Title IV-E Waivers

First authorized by Congress in 1994, the goal of permitting waivers of specific Title IV-E requirements is to allow states to demonstrate alternative and innovative practices that achieve federal child welfare policy goals in a manner that is cost neutral to the federal Treasury. Each project has a specific approval period, which is typically five years, must be determined to cost the federal government no more in Title IV-E support than it would without the waiver project, and must be independently evaluated.[36]

Currently 26 states, including Florida, have approved child welfare demonstration projects commonly referred to as Title IV-E waivers. Under the terms and conditions of their specific waiver agreement, each state is permitted to use federal Title IV-E foster care funds to provide services and assistance to children and their families, even if the children or the services or assistance would not otherwise be considered eligible.

Title IV-E waiver projects vary significantly from state to state in terms of geographic and program scope. Some operate on a statewide basis while others are limited to specific regions or counties in the state. The projects may focus on different age groups of children and different service needs or circumstances, such as children:

- Entering care for the first time;
- At risk of entering care;
- Transitioning from group care to home; and
- With substance-abusing parents.[37]

A smaller number of projects address other issues, such as:

- Preventing or reducing the use of group care for children in foster care;
- Addressing behavioral health needs of children;
- Addressing needs of caregivers with substance use disorders; and
- Reducing placement instability for children in foster care.[38]

Florida's Title IV-E Waivers

Florida's original Title IV-E waiver was effective on October 1, 2006, and was in effect for five years. Key features of the waiver were:

- A capped allocation of funds, similar to a block grant, distributed to community-based care lead agencies for service provision;
- Flexibility to use funds for a broader array of services beyond out-of-home care; and
- Ability to serve children who did not meet Title IV-E criteria.[39]

The federal government extended Florida's original waiver to 2014, and then approved a renewal retroactively, beginning October 1, 2013. The renewal is authorized until September 30, 2018. The renewal waiver's terms and conditions include the following goals:

- Improving child and family outcomes through flexible use of Title IV-E funds;
- Providing a broader array of community-based services and increasing the number of children eligible for services; and

- Reducing administrative costs associated with the provision of child welfare services by removing current restrictions on Title IV-E eligibility and on the types of services that may be paid for using Title IV-E funds.[40]

Like the original waiver, the renewal waiver also involves a capped allocation of funds, flexibility to use the federal IV-E funds for a wider array of services, and expanded eligibility for children.[41]

Under current law, the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services is not authorized to grant any new child welfare waivers, and no state may operate a waiver project after September 30, 2019.[42] Therefore, Florida will revert to more restrictive Title IV-E federal funding requirements after September 30, 2018, or 2019 if the waiver is renewed for an additional year.

Additional Information

Committee staff[43] conducted telephone/video conferences with dependency judges statewide who identified the following issues related to the use of relative caregivers for children placed in out-of-home care:

- Unexpected caregiving responsibility – Foster parents are licensed, trained, and expect to take children into their homes; whereas, relatives are more often than not asked to take in children of family members suddenly and without time or help for any preparation.
- Lack of knowledge about trauma – While foster parents receive training, relative caregivers do not typically know how to deal with the trauma to which the children may have been exposed.
- Dysfunctional family dynamics – Relatives have additional stress and issues due to the fact that they are caring for children of other family members.
- Increased use of family finding in order to identify family members earlier in the process – In circuits where it is used, family finding works well to identify more family members and identify them earlier in the process, either during investigations or at the shelter hearing. In some circuits, the use of family finding is sporadic and not utilized throughout the life of the dependency case. Parents are often embarrassed and do not want family members to know they are involved with the child welfare system. Older children who know their relatives are often overlooked as a source of contact information.
- Delays in process – Delays in getting the results from home studies and fingerprint submissions is problematic. Also, delays in the Interstate Compact for the Placement of Children (ICPC)[44] process, which establishes procedures for ensuring the safety and stability of placements of children across state lines, cause further delays in placing children with out-of-state relatives. Judicial decisions with interstate placement implications must comply with the Compact.

- Lack of services and support for families – In some areas of the state, there is inadequate support for caregivers because there is no formal program to provide information, referral, training, legal services, and other follow-up services. As a result, grandparents and other relatives raising children are not being linked to the benefits and supports that they or the children in their care need.
- Fewer benefits for children in care – Children in out-of-home care are only eligible for some benefits if they are or have been in a licensed placement. For example, children in relative care are eligible for tuition and fee exemptions for postsecondary education,[45] but they are not typically eligible for independent living financial support and services.[46]
- Caseworker "neglect" –When a relative will not or cannot immediately commit to become a fulltime caregiver, the caseworker often forgets about the caregiver. There is little or no effort made to include the relative in other aspects of the child's life or improve the home so that the relative may be able to become a fulltime caregiver.
- Lack of time and skill to effectively engage with relatives – A number of circuits reported that while caseworkers generally do a good job, they frequently do not have the time to effectively deal with relatives who may become caregivers for children due either to large caseloads or to a lack of appropriate skills. Caseworkers often feel that placement with a relative is a "safe placement" and pay less attention to those placements.
- Access to services should be the same regardless of placement – Currently, access to services and supports for a child in out-of-home care vary depending on what type of placement the child is in.

In addition to speaking with judges around the state, committee staff[47] spoke with leadership, program staff, and relative caregivers with community-based care lead agencies across the state. Four major issues affecting the ability of relatives and nonrelatives to care for children placed in their care were identified:

- Sporadic and ineffective use of family finding. Family finding is defined as an intensive relative search and engagement technique to identify family of and other close adults to children in foster care, who will be involved in developing and carrying out a plan for the emotional and legal permanency of a child.
- Inadequate support of caregivers in some areas of the state due to a lack of formal kinship navigator programs designed to provide information, referral, and follow-up services. As a result, grandparents and other relatives raising children are not being linked to the benefits and supports that they or the children in their care need.
- Inadequate financial support or delays in receiving financial support.
- The obligation for relative caregivers to assume what may be a large portion of child care/early education expenses for a child in their care.

Notably, provisions of the bill address three of these four issues.

Judicial Hearings and Review

When the department removes a child from his or her home, a series of dependency court proceedings must occur to adjudicate the child dependent and place him or her in out-of-home care, as indicated by the chart below:

Proceeding		Reference
Shelter Hearing	A shelter hearing occurs within 24 hours after removal. The court determines whether the child is to remain in out-of-home care.	s. 39.402, F.S.
Arraignment Hearing	An arraignment hearing occurs within 28 days of the shelter hearing. This allows the parent to admit, deny, or consent to the allegations within the petition for dependency and allows the court to review any shelter placement.	s. 39.506, F.S.
Adjudicatory Hearing	An adjudicatory trial is held within 30 days of arraignment, to determine whether a child is dependent.	s. 39.507, F.S.
Disposition Hearing	Disposition occurs within 15 days of arraignment or 30 days of adjudication. The judge reviews and orders the case plan for the family and the appropriate placement of the child.	s. 39.521, F.S.
Review Hearing	The court must review the case plan and placement every 6 months, or upon motion of a party.	s. 39.701, F.S.

As noted above, current law provides for specific findings and determinations to be made by the court at each hearing.

The Rilya Wilson Act

Background

The Rilya Wilson Act is named for a four-year-old girl who disappeared from state custody and whose disappearance went unnoticed for 15 months. Rilya's caregiver provided several stories concerning Rilya's whereabouts, one being that someone from the Department of Children and Families removed Rilya from her home sometime in January 2001. However, the department was unaware that Rilya was missing until April 2002. While Rilya's caregiver (who is suspected, but not convicted, of killing Rilya) was sentenced to 55 years in prison in 2013 for offenses connected to Rilya's disappearance (including aggravated child abuse), Rilya remains missing.[48]

With the disappearance of Rilya Wilson, the responsibility of the state to ensure the safety of children in its care received heightened attention. To ensure the safety and well-being of children in its custody or under its supervision, DCF was required to provide for more frequent and continuous face-to-face contact with children, particularly those under the age of five. The Rilya Wilson Act provides such increased visibility of these very young children by requiring that these children participate in an approved early education or child care program. In turn, these early education or child care programs are bound to report certain incidences of the child's nonattendance or absence to the DCF.[49]

Early Education and Child Care Programs

Participation in early child care and learning programs under the Rilya Wilson Act is intended not only to minimize further abuse and neglect, but also to reverse the developmental effects that abuse, neglect, and abandonment can have on children.[50]

Early education and child care programs are provided in Florida through the school readiness program under ss. 1001.213 and 1002.82, F.S. With the establishment of the school readiness program, the different early education and child care programs and their funding sources were merged for the delivery of a comprehensive program of school readiness services to be designed and administered through local early learning coalitions.[51] The school readiness program is housed with the Office of Early Learning at the Department of Education.[52]

Current law requires that each early learning coalition give priority for participation in the school readiness program according to specified criteria, with an at-risk child being second on the priority list.[53] An at-risk child is defined as the following:[54]

- A child from a family under investigation by the Department of Children and Families or a designated sheriff's office for child abuse, neglect, abandonment, or exploitation.
- A child who is in a diversion program provided by the Department of Children and Families or its contracted provider and who is from a family that is actively participating and complying in department-prescribed activities, including education, health services, or work.
- A child from a family that is under supervision by the Department of Children and Families or a contracted service provider for abuse, neglect, abandonment, or exploitation.
- A child placed in court-ordered, long-term custody or under the guardianship of a relative or nonrelative after termination of supervision by the Department of Children and Families or its contracted provider.
- A child in the custody of a parent who is a victim of domestic violence residing in a certified domestic violence center.
- A child in the custody of a parent who is considered homeless as verified by a Department of Children and Families certified homeless shelter.

As mentioned earlier, the cost of participating in the school readiness program is subsidized in part or fully by the funding of the local early learning coalition for eligible children.[55] Criteria have been established for the children who are to receive priority for participating in the program

[50] Section 39.604(2), F.S. ("The Legislature recognizes that children who are in the care of the state due to abuse, neglect, or abandonment are at increased risk of poor school performance and other behavioral and social problems. It is the intent of the Legislature that children who are currently in the care of the state be provided with an age-appropriate education program to help ameliorate the negative consequences of abuse, neglect, or abandonment.").

at no cost or at a subsidized rate.[56] However, to the extent that subsidized child care is not available, the cost of child care is assumed by the caregiver.[57]

Regardless of whether a school readiness program provider is licensed, the program must "comply with the reporting requirements of the Rilya Wilson Act for each at-risk child under the age of school entry who is enrolled in the school readiness program."[58] Under the Rilya Wilson Act, children from birth to the age of school entry who are in the state's care due to abuse, neglect, or abandonment and who are enrolled in early education or child care programs must participate in the program five days a week.[59] This participation must be reflected in any case plan required by ch. 39, F.S. However, the court in approving or revising the case plan, may waive the requirement to participate five days a week.[60]

The Rilya Wilson Act also provides that:

- Withdrawal from the program is prohibited unless prior written approval is provided by the department or the community-based lead agency.[61]
- The person with whom the child is living is required to report any absence to the program on the day of the absence. Failure to report an absence results in the absence being considered unexcused, and the early education or child care program is required to report any unexcused absence or seven consecutive excused absences to the department or community-based lead agency.[62]
- Reports of two consecutive unexcused absences or seven consecutive excused absences are to result in a site visit to the child's residence. Children who are found missing during the site visit are to be reported as missing to law enforcement and the procedures for locating missing children initiated. If the children are not found to be missing, the parent or caregiver is to be informed that it is a violation of the case plan if the child does not attend the early education or child care program.[63]
- After two such site visits, action to notify the court of the parent or caregiver's non-compliance with the care plan is to be initiated.[64]

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

Section 1 creates s. 39.4015, F.S., relating to family finding, to require the Department of Children and Families (DCF), in collaboration with sheriffs' offices that conduct child protective investigations and community-based care lead agencies, to develop a formal family finding program to be implemented statewide by child protective investigators and community-based care lead agencies. Family finding is required as soon as a child comes to the attention of the DCF and throughout the duration of the case. The DCF or community-based care lead agency must specifically document strategies taken to locate and engage relatives and kin. Strategies of engagement are provided in the bill.

The DCF and the community-based care lead agencies must use diligent efforts in family finding, must continue those efforts until multiple relatives and kin are identified, and must go beyond a basic computer search by exploring alternative tools and methodologies. Efforts to be used by the DCF and the community-based care lead agency are provided in the bill.

The court is required to inquire and make a determination regarding family finding at each stage of the case, including the shelter care hearing pursuant to s. 39.402. The court is to place its determinations on the record as to whether the DCF or community-based care lead agency has reasonably engaged in family finding. The level of reasonableness is to be determined by the length of the case and time the DCF or community-based care lead agency has had to begin or continue the process.

Section 1 is effective January 1, 2019.

Section 2 amends s. 39.402, F.S., relating to placement in a shelter, to require educational records of children under the age of school entry to be provided, to require a judge rather than a school superintendent to appoint a surrogate parent for a child under the age of school entry, if necessary, and to require the court to make a determination relating to family finding.

Section 3 amends s. 39.506, F.S., relating to arraignment hearings, to require the court to make a determination relating to family finding.

Section 4 amends s. 39.507, F.S., relating to adjudicatory hearings and orders of adjudication, to require the court to make a determination relating to family finding.

Section 5 amends s. 39.5085, F.S., relating to the Kinship Care Program, to provide that both relative and nonrelative caregivers receive financial assistance in the amount currently required for the Relative Caregiver Program with the payments to begin at the time a child comes into their care.

The bill also requires each community-based care lead agency to establish a kinship navigator program that must:

- Be coordinated with other state or local agencies that promote service coordination or provide information and referral services;
- Be planned and operated in consultation with kinship caregivers and organizations representing them, youth raised by kinship caregivers, relevant governmental agencies, and relevant community-based or faith-based organizations;
- Establish a toll-free telephone hotline to provide information to link kinship caregivers to specified entities;
- Provide outreach to kinship care families; and
- Promote partnerships between public and private agencies and relevant governmental agencies to increase their knowledge of the needs of kinship care families to promote better services for those families.

Section 5 is effective January 1, 2019.

Section 6 amends s. 39.521, F.S., relating to disposition hearings and powers of disposition, to require the court to make a determination relating to family finding and to require educational records of children under the age of school entry to be provided.

Section 7 amends s. 39.6012, F.S., relating to case plan tasks and services, to require documentation of case plan requirements under s. 39.604, F.S.

Section 8 amends s. 39.604, F.S., relating to the Rilya Wilson Act, to clarify attendance and reporting requirements related to children in out-of-home care who are attending a child care or early education program. The bill also provides for the appointment of a surrogate parent[65], if appropriate, and provides for educational stability and transitions.

Section 9 amends s. 39.6251, F.S., relating to continuing care for young adults, to conform to additional federal requirements for extending foster care to the age of 21.

Section 10 amends s. 39.701, F.S., relating to judicial review, to require the court to appoint a surrogate parent if the child is under the age of school entry, and to require the court to determine if the department and community-based care lead agency has reasonably engaged in family finding.

Section 11 amends s. 409.166, F.S., relating to the adoption assistance program, to provide for the extension of maintenance adoption subsidy payments to the age of 21 for eligible young adults and to provide eligibility requirements. The bill also requires that all prospective adoptive homes complete an adoptive home study in order to qualify for a maintenance adoption subsidy (MAS).

The extension of the MAS to age 21 for those children who were adopted at age 16 or 17 will allow the state to earn additional federal revenues under Title IV-E. At present, the MAS payments expire when a child reaches the age of 18. Without these changes, the state would not meet federal requirements for earning Title IV-E funds associated with extended foster care.

Section 12 amends s. 414.045, F.S., relating to the cash assistance program, to conform a provision to changes made by the bill. This section of bill is effective January 1, 2019.

Section 13 amends s. 1009.25, F.S., relating to fee exemptions, to conform a provision to changes made by the bill.

Section 14 creates an unnumbered section of the Florida Statutes, requiring the department to establish a Title IV-E GAP pilot program in two DCF circuits effective August 1, 2018.

[65] Section 39.0016(1)(c), F.S. (A "surrogate parent" is "an individual appointed to act in the place of a parent in educational decision making and in safeguarding a child's rights under the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act [IDEA] and this section.").

The establishment of a GAP program would serve as a means of mitigating the loss of federal revenues to the state that will result from the expiration of Florida's Title IV-E waiver. The program will provide the state with an alternative vehicle for earning federal revenues under Title IV-E, while also offering enhanced cash benefits to certain permanent guardians and the children in their care.

It is currently unknown how many Relative Caregiver Program participants will successfully transition to GAP or how many relatives and fictive kin will enter the program in the future. The federally subsidized GAP will require caregivers to meet many of the licensure standards applicable to family foster homes, set forth in s. 409.175, F.S. The department has the authority to waive non-safety licensure standards on a case-by-case basis, but some relatives or fictive kin will be unable to, or prefer not to, meet its requirements. This means that under the bill, some relatives and fictive kin will enter GAP, but some will not. For those who do not, relatives will be eligible for child only TANF funding, but non-relatives will not be able to obtain payment to support caring for the child.

Establishment of a pilot program may provide information as to whether statewide implementation of GAP benefits children and their families.

Section 15 provides that, except as otherwise expressly provided in the bill, the effective date of the bill is July 1, 2018.

IV. Constitutional Issues:

A. Municipality/County Mandates Restrictions:

None.

B. Public Records/Open Meetings Issues:

None.

C. Trust Funds Restrictions:

None.

V. Fiscal Impact Statement:

A. Tax/Fee Issues:

None.

B. Private Sector Impact:

The department currently has 19 contracts with the community-based care (CBC) lead agencies. To implement the family finder and kinship navigator programs in the bill, CBCs may need to hire additional staff. One CBC (Eckerd Community Alternatives) currently employs a family finder at a salary of $52,500, including taxes and benefits.

The combined projected costs for the remaining 18 CBCs could total $945,000 per year.[66] Since the programs are effective January 1, 2019, the total cost for Fiscal Year 2018-2019 would be $472,500.

C. Government Sector Impact:

Summary:
Overall, to implement this bill, the DCF is requesting 12 additional full-time equivalent (FTE) positions in FY 2018-2019 and is expected to incur additional costs up to $3,207,326 in FY 2018-2019 and $4,230,000 annually thereafter. Local governments, specifically the six sheriff's offices conducting child protective investigations, are collectively expected to incur additional costs of $157,500 in FY 2018-2019 and $315,000 annually thereafter. A brief explanation of the various fiscal impacts is noted below.

Local Government:
The six counties in which the county sheriff's offices provide child protective investigations (Hillsborough, Pasco, Pinellas, Broward, Manatee, and Seminole) are provided grants from the Department of Children and Families (DCF). This bill directs the DCF to work collaboratively with these sheriff's offices to develop family finding processes. These sheriff's offices may need additional staff to implement the family finding program procedures. The estimated cost for six new sheriff's office staff is $157,500 in FY 2018-2019 and $315,000 annually thereafter. [67]

Department of Children and Families:
The DCF estimates it will need two additional staff positions in each one of its six regions to support the family finding and kinship navigator programs. According to the DCF, the annual cost for these 12 additional full-time equivalent (FTE) positions totals $315,000 in Fiscal Year 2018-2019 and $630,000 for each following fiscal year.[68]

The bill will result in additional relative and non-relative caregiver payments by directing payments to begin at the time the child is placed with the caregiver rather than the current payment which begins several months later when the child is adjudicated dependent by the court. The DCF estimates the earlier monthly payments may cost the state an additional $3.6 million each year.[69] The bill makes advanced caregiver payments effective January 1, 2019; therefore, the total cost for Fiscal Year 2018-2019 is expected to be $1.8 million. Additionally, DCF estimates a one-time cost between $384,696 and $464,256[70] for technology updates to the FLORIDA system to provide for the earlier issuance of payments.

The family finding and kinship navigator programs may facilitate the placement of children with kin caregivers who would have otherwise entered a more expensive care setting, resulting in costs savings that may offset program expenditures. The cost of placing a child with a relative or non-relative caregiver is between $2,904 and $3,576 per year per child (depending on the child's age), while placement in a group home facility averages over $40,000 per year per child. An increase in relative and non-relative caregivers could lead to decreased expenditures for foster care and residential group home care.

The bill requires the DCF to operate a pilot Title IV-E Guardianship Assistance Program (GAP) in two DCF circuits effective August 1, 2018. No new Relative Caregiver or Nonrelative Caregiver applicants will be approved in these circuits during the pilot period. Assuming no more than 60 days for licensing GAP caregiver applicants, monthly GAP room and board payments could be made available to program participants as early as October 2018. The DCF will require additional nonrecurring funding of $628,070 for Fiscal Year 2018-2019 to implement the GAP Pilot program and provide for GAP monthly room and board payments and nonrecurring assistance up to $2,000 per care giver to cover legal and other expenses.

GAP Pilot Cost Summary:	FY 2018-19
Licensing Staff	$ 360,283
Program Management Staff	180,242
GAP Room & Board Payments	389,610
One-time Legal Costs for Eligible Caregivers	5,200
Total Costs for GAP Pilot Program	$ 935,335
Less: Relative/Nonrelative Caregiver Room & Board Payments	(307,265)
Net Costs for GAP Pilot Program	$ 628,070

The above funding includes Other Personal Services funding for licensing specialists and two program managers, one for each circuit. The program managers will assist with the design and implementation of the pilot program, as well as the establishment of policies and procedures for future GAP Program statewide expansion.

The bill also modifies two existing DCF programs to align with federal Title IV-E requirements and enable the department to earn additional Title IV-E federal funding for services. First, though the Extended Foster Care program extends services to age 21 for young adults who have not achieved permanency and who have met certain requirements. Secondly, adoption subsidy payments are extended to age 21 for children who experienced late-stage adoptions (were adopted at age 16 or 17). Funding for these initiatives is included in Senate Bill 2500, the Senate Fiscal Year 2018-2019 General Appropriations Bill.

The Committee on Appropriations (Flores) recommended the following:

Senate Amendment (with title amendment)

Delete everything after the enacting clause and insert:

Section 1. Effective January 1, 2019, section 39.4015, Florida Statutes, is created to read:

39.4015 Family finding.—

(1) LEGISLATIVE FINDINGS AND INTENT.—

(a) The Legislature finds that every child who is in out-of-home care has the goal of finding a permanent home, whether achieved by reunifying the child with his or her parents or finding another permanent connection, such as adoption or legal guardianship with a relative or nonrelative who has a significant relationship with the child.

(b) The Legislature finds that while legal permanency is important to a child in out-of-home care, emotional permanency helps increase the likelihood that children will achieve stability and well-being and successfully transition to independent adulthood.

(c) The Legislature also finds that research has consistently shown that placing a child within his or her own family reduces the trauma of being removed from his or her home, is less likely to result in placement disruptions, and enhances prospects for finding a permanent family if the child cannot return home.

(d) The Legislature further finds that the primary purpose of family finding is to facilitate legal and emotional permanency for children who are in out-of-home care by finding and engaging their relatives.

(e) It is the intent of the Legislature that every child in out-of-home care be afforded the advantages that can be gained from the use of family finding to establish caring and long-term or permanent connections and relationships for children and youth in out-of-home care, as well as to establish a long-term emotional support network with family members and other adults who may not be able to take the child into their home but who want to stay connected with the child.

(2) DEFINITIONS.—As used in this section, the term:

(a) "Diligent efforts" means the use of methods and techniques including, but not limited to, interviews with immediate and extended family and kin, genograms, eco-mapping, case mining, cold calls, and specialized computer searches.

(b) "Family finding" means an intensive relative search and engagement technique used in identifying family and other close adults for children in out-of-home care and involving them in developing and carrying out a plan for the emotional and legal permanency of a child.

(c) "Family group decisionmaking" is a generic term that includes a number of approaches in which family members and fictive kin are brought together to make decisions about how to care for their children and develop a plan for services. The term includes family team conferencing, family team meetings, family group conferencing, family team decisionmaking, family unity meetings, and team decisionmaking, which may consist of several phases and employ a trained facilitator or coordinator.

(d) "Fictive kin" means an individual who is unrelated to the child by either birth or marriage, but has such a close emotional relationship with the child that he or she may be considered part of the family.

(3) FAMILY-FINDING PROGRAM.—The department, in collaboration with sheriffs' offices that conduct child protective investigations and community-based care lead agencies, shall develop a formal family-finding program to be implemented statewide by child protective investigators and community-based care lead agencies. Implementation of the program is contingent upon the appropriation of funds by the Legislature specifically for the program.

(a) Family finding is required as soon as a child comes to the attention of the department and throughout the duration of the case, and finding and engaging with as many family members and fictive kin as possible for each child who may help with care or support for the child is considered a best practice. The department or community-based care lead agency must specifically document strategies taken to locate and engage relatives and kin. Strategies of engagement may include, but are not limited to, asking the relatives and kin to:

1. Participate in a family group decisionmaking conference, family team conferencing, or other family meetings aimed at developing or supporting the family service plan;

2. Attend visitations with the child;

3. Assist in transportation of the child;

4. Provide respite or child care services; or

5. Provide actual kinship care.

(b) The department and the community-based care lead agencies must use diligent efforts in family finding, must continue those efforts until multiple relatives and kin are identified, and must go beyond basic searching tools by exploring alternative tools and methodologies. Efforts by the department and the community-based care lead agency may include, but are not limited to:

1. Searching for and locating adult relatives and kin.

2. Identifying and building positive connections between the child and the child’s relatives and fictive kin.

3. Supporting the engagement of relatives and fictive kin in social service planning and delivery of services and creating a network of extended family support to assist in remedying the concerns that led to the child becoming involved with the child welfare system, when appropriate.

4. Maintaining family connections, when possible.

5. Keeping siblings together in care, when in the best interest of each child and when possible.

(c) A basic computer search using the Internet or attempts to contact known relatives at a last known address or telephone number do not constitute effective family finding.

(d) The court's inquiry and determination regarding family finding should be made at each stage of the case, including a shelter hearing conducted pursuant to s. 39.402. The court shall place its determinations on the record as to whether the department or community-based care lead agency has reasonably engaged in family finding. The level of reasonableness is to be determined by the length of the case and the amount of time the department or community-based care lead agency has had to begin or continue the process.

(4) RULEMAKING.—The department shall adopt rules to implement this section.

Section 2. Paragraphs (c) and (d) of subsection (11) of section 39.402, Florida Statutes, and subsection (17) of that section are amended to read:

39.402 Placement in a shelter.—

(c) The court shall request that the parents consent to provide access to the child's child care records, early education program records, or other educational records and provide information to the court, the department or its contract agencies, and any guardian ad litem or attorney for the child. If a parent is unavailable or unable to consent or withholds consent and the court determines access to the records and information is necessary to provide services to the child, the court shall issue an order granting access.

(d) The court may appoint a surrogate parent or may refer the child to the district school superintendent for appointment of a surrogate parent if the child has or is suspected of having a disability and the parent is unavailable pursuant to s. 39.0016(3)(b). If the child is under the age of school entry, the court must make the appointment.

(17) At the shelter hearing, the court shall inquire of the parent whether the parent has relatives who might be considered as a placement for the child. The parent shall provide to the court and all parties identification and location information regarding the relatives. The court shall advise the parent that the parent has a continuing duty to inform the department of any relative who should be considered for placement of the child. Upon implementation of the program authorized under s. 39.4015, the court shall place its determinations on the record as to whether the department or community-based care lead agency has reasonably engaged in family finding. The level of reasonableness is to be determined by the length of the case and amount of time the department or community-based care lead agency has had to begin or continue the process.

Section 3. Present subsection (9) of section 39.506, Florida Statutes, is redesignated as subsection (10), and a new subsection (9) is added to that section, to read:

39.506 Arraignment hearings.—

(9) Upon implementation of the program authorized under s. 39.4015, the court shall review whether the department or community-based care lead agency has reasonably engaged in family finding and make a written determination as to its findings. The level of reasonableness is determined by the length of the case and amount of time the department or community-based care lead agency has had to begin or continue the process.

Section 4. Paragraphs (c) and (d) of subsection (7) of section 39.507, Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

39.507 Adjudicatory hearings; orders of adjudication.—

(c) If a court adjudicates a child dependent and the child is in out-of-home care, the court shall inquire of the parent or parents whether the parents have relatives who might be considered as a placement for the child. ~~The court shall advise the parents that, if the parents fail to substantially comply with the case plan, their parental rights may be terminated and that the child's out-of-home placement may become permanent.~~ The parent or parents shall provide to the court and all parties identification and location information of the relatives. Upon implementation of the program authorized under s. 39.4015, the court shall review whether the department or community-based care lead agency has reasonably engaged in family finding and make a written determination as to its findings. The level of reasonableness is determined by the length of the case and amount of time the department or community-based care lead agency has had to begin or continue the process.

(d) The court shall advise the parents that, if they fail to substantially comply with the case plan, their parental rights may be terminated and that the child's out-of-home placement may become permanent.

Section 5. Effective January 1, 2019, section 39.5085, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

39.5085 Kinship Care ~~Relative Caregiver~~ Program.—

(1) LEGISLATIVE FINDINGS AND INTENT.—

(a) The Legislature finds that an increasing number of relatives and fictive kin are assuming the responsibility of raising children because the parents of these children are unable to care for them.

(b) The Legislature also finds that these kinship caregivers perform a vital function by providing homes for children who would otherwise be at risk of foster care placement and that kinship care is a crucial option in the spectrum of out-of-home care available to children in need.

(c) The Legislature finds that children living with kinship caregivers experience increased placement stability, are less likely to reenter care if they are reunified with their parents, and have better behavioral and mental health outcomes.

(d) The Legislature further finds that these kinship caregivers may face a number of difficulties and need assistance to support the health and well-being of the children they care for. These needs include, but are not limited to, financial assistance, legal assistance, respite care, child care, specialized training, and counseling.

(e) It is the intent of the Legislature to provide for the establishment and implementation of procedures and protocols that are likely to increase and adequately support appropriate and safe kinship care placements.

(2) DEFINITIONS.—As used this section, the term:

(a) "Fictive kin" means an individual who is unrelated to the child by either birth or marriage, but has such a close emotional relationship with the child that he or she may be considered part of the family.

(b) "Kinship care" means the full-time care of a child placed in out-of-home care by the court in the home of a relative or fictive kin.

(c) "Kinship navigator program" means a statewide program designed to ensure that kinship caregivers are provided with necessary resources for the preservation of the family.

(d) "Relative" means an individual who is caring full time for a child placed in out-of-home care by the court and who:

1. Is related to the child within the fifth degree by blood or marriage to the parent or stepparent of the child; or

2. Is related to a half-sibling of that child within the fifth degree by blood or marriage to the parent or stepparent.

(3) ASSISTANCE AND SERVICES.—

(a) The purpose of a kinship navigator program is to help relative caregivers and fictive kin in the child welfare system to navigate the broad range of services available to them and the children from public, private, community, and faith-based organizations.

(b) Effective January 1, 2019, and contingent upon an appropriation of funds by the Legislature, each community-based care lead agency shall establish a kinship navigator program. In order to meet the requirements of a kinship navigator program, the program must:

1. Be coordinated with other state or local agencies that promote service coordination or provide information and referral services, including any entities that participate in the Florida 211 Network, to avoid duplication or fragmentation of services to kinship care families;

2. Be planned and operated in consultation with kinship caregivers and organizations representing them, youth raised by kinship caregivers, relevant governmental agencies, and relevant community-based or faith-based organizations;

3. Establish a toll-free telephone hotline to provide information to link kinship caregivers, kinship support group facilitators, and kinship service providers to:

a. One another;

b. Eligibility and enrollment information for federal, state, and local benefits;

c. Relevant training to assist kinship caregivers in caregiving and in obtaining benefits and services; and

d. Relevant knowledge related to legal options available for child custody, other legal assistance, and help in obtaining legal services.

4. Provide outreach to kinship care families, including by establishing, distributing, and updating a kinship care website, or other relevant guides or outreach materials; and

5. Promote partnerships between public and private agencies, including schools, community-based or faith-based organizations, and relevant governmental agencies, to increase their knowledge of the needs of kinship care families to promote better services for those families.

(4) RULEMAKING.—The department shall adopt rules to implement this section.

~~(1) It is the intent of the Legislature in enacting this~~ ~~section to:~~

~~(a) Provide for the establishment of procedures and protocols that serve to advance the continued safety of children by acknowledging the valued resource uniquely available through grandparents, relatives of children, and specified nonrelatives of children pursuant to subparagraph (2)(a)3.~~

~~(b) Recognize family relationships in which a grandparent or other relative is the head of a household that includes a child otherwise at risk of foster care placement.~~

~~(c) Enhance family preservation and stability by recognizing that most children in such placements with grandparents and other relatives do not need intensive supervision of the placement by the courts or by the department.~~

~~(d) Recognize that permanency in the best interests of the child can be achieved through a variety of permanency options, including permanent guardianship under s. 39.6221 if the guardian is a relative, by permanent placement with a fit and willing relative under s. 39.6231, by a relative, guardianship under chapter 744, or adoption, by providing additional placement options and incentives that will achieve permanency and stability for many children who are otherwise at risk of foster care placement because of abuse, abandonment, or neglect, but who may successfully be able to be placed by the dependency court in the care of such relatives.~~

~~(e) Reserve the limited casework and supervisory resources of the courts and the department for those cases in which children do not have the option for safe, stable care within the family.~~

~~(f) Recognize that a child may have a close relationship~~

~~with a person who is not a blood relative or a relative by marriage and that such person should be eligible for financial assistance under this section if he or she is able and willing to care for the child and provide a safe, stable home environment.~~

~~(2)(a) The Department of Children and Families shall establish, operate, and implement the Relative Caregiver Program by rule of the department. The Relative Caregiver Program shall, within the limits of available funding, provide financial assistance to:~~

~~1. Relatives who are within the fifth degree by blood or marriage to the parent or stepparent of a child and who are caring full-time for that dependent child in the role of substitute parent as a result of a court's determination of child abuse, neglect, or abandonment and subsequent placement with the relative under this chapter.~~

~~2. Relatives who are within the fifth degree by blood or marriage to the parent or stepparent of a child and who are caring full-time for that dependent child, and a dependent half-brother or half-sister of that dependent child, in the role of substitute parent as a result of a court's determination of child abuse, neglect, or abandonment and subsequent placement with the relative under this chapter.~~

~~3. Nonrelatives who are willing to assume custody and care of a dependent child in the role of substitute parent as a result of a court's determination of child abuse, neglect, or abandonment and subsequent placement with the nonrelative caregiver under this chapter. The court must find that a proposed placement under this subparagraph is in the best~~

~~interest of the child.~~

~~4. A relative or nonrelative caregiver, but the relative or nonrelative caregiver may not receive a Relative Caregiver Program payment if the parent or stepparent of the child resides in the home. However, a relative or nonrelative may receive the Relative Caregiver Program payment for a minor parent who is in his or her care, as well as for the minor parent's child, if both children have been adjudicated dependent and meet all other eligibility requirements. If the caregiver is currently receiving the payment, the Relative Caregiver Program payment must be terminated no later than the first of the following month after the parent or stepparent moves into the home, allowing for 10-day notice of adverse action.~~

~~The placement may be court-ordered temporary legal custody to the relative or nonrelative under protective supervision of the department pursuant to s. 39.521(1)(c)3., or court-ordered placement in the home of a relative or nonrelative as a permanency option under s. 39.6221 or s. 39.6231 or under former s. 39.622 if the placement was made before July 1, 2006. The Relative Caregiver Program shall offer financial assistance to caregivers who would be unable to serve in that capacity without the caregiver payment because of financial burden, thus exposing the child to the trauma of placement in a shelter or in foster care.~~

~~(b) Caregivers who receive assistance under this section must be capable, as determined by a home study, of providing a physically safe environment and a stable, supportive home for the children under their care and must assure that the~~

~~children's well-being is met, including, but not limited to, the provision of immunizations, education, and mental health services as needed.~~

~~(c) Relatives or nonrelatives who qualify for and participate in the Relative Caregiver Program are not required to meet foster care licensing requirements under s. 409.175.~~

~~(d) Relatives or nonrelatives who are caring for children placed with them by the court pursuant to this chapter shall receive a special monthly caregiver benefit established by rule of the department. The amount of the special benefit payment shall be based on the child's age within a payment schedule established by rule of the department and subject to availability of funding. The statewide average monthly rate for children judicially placed with relatives or nonrelatives who are not licensed as foster homes may not exceed 82 percent of the statewide average foster care rate, and the cost of providing the assistance described in this section to any caregiver may not exceed the cost of providing out-of-home care in emergency shelter or foster care.~~

~~(e) Children receiving cash benefits under this section are not eligible to simultaneously receive WAGES cash benefits under chapter 414.~~

~~(f) Within available funding, the Relative Caregiver Program shall provide caregivers with family support and preservation services, flexible funds in accordance with s. 409.165, school readiness, and other available services in order to support the child's safety, growth, and healthy development. Children living with caregivers who are receiving assistance under this section shall be eligible for Medicaid coverage.~~

~~(g) The department may use appropriate available state, federal, and private funds to operate the Relative Caregiver Program. The department may develop liaison functions to be available to relatives or nonrelatives who care for children pursuant to this chapter to ensure placement stability in extended family settings.~~

Section 6. Paragraph (e) of subsection (1) of section 39.521, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

39.521 Disposition hearings; powers of disposition.—

(1) A disposition hearing shall be conducted by the court, if the court finds that the facts alleged in the petition for dependency were proven in the adjudicatory hearing, or if the parents or legal custodians have consented to the finding of dependency or admitted the allegations in the petition, have failed to appear for the arraignment hearing after proper notice, or have not been located despite a diligent search having been conducted.

(e) The court shall, in its written order of disposition, include all of the following:

1. The placement or custody of the child.

2. Special conditions of placement and visitation.

3. Evaluation, counseling, treatment activities, and other actions to be taken by the parties, if ordered.

4. The persons or entities responsible for supervising or monitoring services to the child and parent.

5. Continuation or discharge of the guardian ad litem, as appropriate.

6. The date, time, and location of the next scheduled review hearing, which must occur within the earlier of:

a. Ninety days after the disposition hearing;

b. Ninety days after the court accepts the case plan;

c. Six months after the date of the last review hearing; or

d. Six months after the date of the child's removal from his or her home, if no review hearing has been held since the child's removal from the home.

7. If the child is in an out-of-home placement, child support to be paid by the parents, or the guardian of the child's estate if possessed of assets which under law may be disbursed for the care, support, and maintenance of the child. The court may exercise jurisdiction over all child support matters, shall adjudicate the financial obligation, including health insurance, of the child's parents or guardian, and shall enforce the financial obligation as provided in chapter 61. The state's child support enforcement agency shall enforce child support orders under this section in the same manner as child support orders under chapter 61. Placement of the child shall not be contingent upon issuance of a support order.

8.a. If the court does not commit the child to the temporary legal custody of an adult relative, legal custodian, or other adult approved by the court, the disposition order must ~~shall~~ include the reasons for such a decision and, upon implementation of the program authorized under s. 39.4015, ~~shall include~~ a written determination as to whether ~~diligent efforts were made by~~ the department and the community-based care lead agency reasonably engaged in family finding in attempting to locate an adult relative, legal custodian, or other adult willing to care for the child in order to present that placement option to the court instead of placement with the department.

The level of reasonableness is determined by the length of the case and amount of time the department or community-based care lead agency has had to begin or continue the process.

b. If no suitable relative is found and the child is placed with the department or a legal custodian or other adult approved by the court, both the department and the court shall consider transferring temporary legal custody to an adult relative approved by the court at a later date, but neither the department nor the court is obligated to so place the child if it is in the child's best interest to remain in the current placement.

~~For the purposes of this section, "diligent efforts to locate an adult relative" means a search similar to the diligent search for a parent, but without the continuing obligation to search after an initial adequate search is completed.~~

9. Other requirements necessary to protect the health, safety, and well-being of the child, to preserve the stability of the child's child care, early education program, or any other educational placement, and to promote family preservation or reunification whenever possible.

Section 7. Paragraph (b) of subsection (2) and paragraph (a) of subsection (3) of section 39.6012, Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

39.6012 Case plan tasks; services.—

(2) The case plan must include all available information that is relevant to the child's care including, at a minimum:

the child in order to address the child's needs. To the extent available and accessible, the following health, mental health, and education information and records of the child must be attached to the case plan and updated throughout the judicial review process:

1. The names and addresses of the child's health, mental health, and educational providers;

2. The child's grade level performance;

3. The child's school record or, if the child is under the age of school entry, any records from a child care program, early education program, or preschool program;

5.~~4.~~ Assurances that the child's placement takes into account proximity to the school in which the child is enrolled at the time of placement;

6. ~~5. A record of~~ The child's immunizations;

7.~~6.~~ The child's known medical history, including any known health problems;

8.~~7.~~ The child's medications, if any; and

9.~~8.~~ Any other relevant health, mental health, and education information concerning the child.

(3) In addition to any other requirement, if the child is in an out-of-home placement, the case plan must include:

(a) A description of the type of placement in which the child is to be living and, if the child has been placed with the department and the program as authorized under s. 39.4015 has been implemented, whether the department and the community-based care lead agency have reasonably engaged in family finding to locate an adult relative, legal custodian, or other adult willing to care for the child in order to present that placement option to the court instead of placement with the department.

Section 8. Section 39.604, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

39.604 Rilya Wilson Act; short title; legislative intent; requirements; attendance; stability and transitions ~~reporting responsibilities~~.—

(1) SHORT TITLE.—This section may be cited as the "Rilya Wilson Act."

(2) LEGISLATIVE FINDINGS AND INTENT.—

(a) The Legislature finds that children from birth to age 5 years are particularly vulnerable to maltreatment and that they enter out-of-home care in disproportionately high numbers.

(b) The Legislature also finds that children who are abused or neglected are at high risk of experiencing physical and mental health problems and problems with language and communication, cognitive development, and social and emotional development.

(c) The Legislature also finds that providing early intervention and services, as well as quality child care and early education programs to support the healthy development of these young children, can have positive effects that last throughout childhood and into adulthood.

(d) The Legislature also finds that the needs of each of these children are unique, and while some children may be best served by a quality child care or early education program, others may need more attention and nurturing that can best be provided by a stay-at-home caregiver ~~The Legislature recognizes that children who are in the care of the state due to abuse, neglect, or abandonment are at increased risk of poor school performance and other behavioral and social problems~~.

(e) It is the intent of the Legislature that children who are ~~currently~~ in out-of-home ~~the~~ care ~~of the state~~ be provided with an age-appropriate developmental child care or early education arrangement that is in the best interest of the child ~~education program~~ to help ameliorate the negative consequences of abuse, neglect, or abandonment.

(3) REQUIREMENTS.—

1. A child from birth to the age of school entry, who is under court-ordered protective supervision or in out-of-home care and is ~~the custody of the Family Safety Program Office of the Department of Children and Families or a community-based lead agency, and~~ enrolled in an ~~a licensed~~ early education or child care program must attend the program 5 days a week unless the court grants an exception due to the court determining it is in the best interest of a child from birth to age 3 years:

a. With a stay-at-home caregiver to remain at home.

b. With a caregiver who works less than full time to attend an early education or child care program fewer than 5 days a week.

2. Notwithstanding s. 39.202, the department ~~of Children and Families~~ must notify operators of an ~~the licensed~~ early education or child care program, subject to the reporting requirements of this act, of the enrollment of any child from birth to the age of school entry, under court-ordered protective supervision or in out-of-home care. If ~~the custody of the Family Safety Program Office of the Department of Children and Families or a community-based lead agency. When~~ a child is enrolled in an early education or child care program ~~regulated by the department~~, the child's attendance in the program must be a required task ~~action~~ in the safety plan or the case plan developed for the child pursuant to this chapter. ~~An exemption to participating in the licensed early education or child care program 5 days a week may be granted by the court.~~

(4) ATTENDANCE ~~AND REPORTING REQUIREMENTS~~.—

1.~~(a)~~ A child enrolled in an ~~a licensed~~ early education or child care program who meets the requirements of paragraph (b) ~~subsection (3)~~ may not be withdrawn from the program without the prior written approval of the department ~~Family Safety Program Office of the Department of Children and Families~~ or the community-based care lead agency.

2.a.~~(b)1.~~ If a child covered by this section is absent from the program on a day when he or she is supposed to be present, the person with whom the child resides must report the absence to the program by the end of the business day. If the person with whom the child resides, whether the parent or caregiver, fails to timely report the absence, the absence is considered to be unexcused. The program shall report any unexcused absence or seven consecutive excused absences of a child who is enrolled in the program and covered by this act to the ~~local designated staff of the Family Safety Program Office of the~~ department ~~of Children and Families~~ or the community-based care lead agency by the end of the business day following the unexcused absence or seventh consecutive excused absence.

b.~~2.~~ The department or community-based care lead agency shall conduct a site visit to the residence of the child upon receiving a report of two consecutive unexcused absences or seven consecutive excused absences.

c.~~3.~~ If the site visit results in a determination that the child is missing, the department or community-based care lead agency shall follow the procedure set forth in s. 39.0141 ~~report the child as missing to a law enforcement agency and proceed with the necessary actions to locate the child pursuant to procedures for locating missing children~~.

d.~~4.~~ If the site visit results in a determination that the child is not missing, the parent or caregiver shall be notified that failure to ensure that the child attends the ~~licensed~~ early education or child care program is a violation of the safety plan or the case plan. If more than two site visits are conducted pursuant to this subsection, staff shall ~~initiate action to~~ notify the court of the parent or caregiver's noncompliance with the case plan.

(5) EDUCATIONAL STABILITY.—Just as educational stability is important for school-age children, it is also important to minimize disruptions to secure attachments and stable relationships with supportive caregivers of children from birth to school age and to ensure that these attachments are not disrupted due to placement in out-of-home care or subsequent changes in out-of-home placement.

(a) A child must be allowed to remain in the child care or early educational setting that he or she attended before entry into out-of-home care, unless the program is not in the best interest of the child.

(b) If it is not in the best interest of the child for him or her to remain in his or her child care or early education setting upon entry into out-of-home care, the caregiver must work with the case manager, guardian ad litem, child care and educational staff, and educational surrogate, if one has been appointed, to determine the best setting for the child. Such setting may be a child care provider that receives a Gold Seal Quality Care designation pursuant to s. 402.281, a provider participating in a quality rating system, a licensed child care provider, a public school provider, or a license-exempt child care provider, including religious-exempt and registered providers, and non-public schools.

(c) The department and providers of early care and education shall develop protocols to ensure continuity if children are required to leave a program because of a change in out-of-home placement.

(6) TRANSITIONS.—In the absence of an emergency, if a child from birth to school age leaves a child care or early education program, the transition must be pursuant to a plan that involves cooperation and sharing of information among all persons involved, that respects the child's developmental stage and associated psychological needs, and that allows for a gradual transition from one setting to another.

Section 9. Paragraph (b) of subsection (6) and subsection (7) of section 39.6251, Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

39.6251 Continuing care for young adults.—

(6) A young adult who is between the ages of 18 and 21 and who has left care may return to care by applying to the community-based care lead agency for readmission. The community-based care lead agency shall readmit the young adult if he or she continues to meet the eligibility requirements in this section.

(b) Within 30 days after the young adult has been readmitted to care, the community-based care lead agency shall assign a case manager to update the case plan and the transition plan and to arrange for the required services. Updates to the case plan and the transition plan and arrangements for the required services ~~Such activities~~ shall be undertaken in consultation with the young adult. The department shall petition the court to reinstate jurisdiction over the young adult. Notwithstanding s. 39.013(2), the court shall resume jurisdiction over the young adult if the department establishes that he or she continues to meet the eligibility requirements in this section.

(7) During each period of time that a young adult is in care, the community-based lead agency shall provide regular case management reviews that must include at least monthly contact with the case manager. ~~If a young adult lives outside the service area of his or her community-based care lead agency, monthly contact may occur by telephone.~~

Section 10. Paragraph (c) of subsection (2) of section 39.701, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

39.701 Judicial review.—

(2) REVIEW HEARINGS FOR CHILDREN YOUNGER THAN 18 YEARS OF AGE.—

(c) Review determinations.—The court and any citizen review panel shall take into consideration the information contained in the social services study and investigation and all medical, psychological, and educational records that support the terms of the case plan; testimony by the social services agency, the parent, the foster parent or legal custodian, the guardian ad litem or surrogate parent for educational decisionmaking if one has been appointed for the child, and any other person deemed appropriate; and any relevant and material evidence submitted to the court, including written and oral reports to the extent of their probative value. These reports and evidence may be received by the court in its effort to determine the action to be taken with regard to the child and may be relied upon to the extent of their probative value, even though not competent in an adjudicatory hearing. In its deliberations, the court and any citizen review panel shall seek to determine:

1. If the parent was advised of the right to receive assistance from any person or social service agency in the preparation of the case plan.

2. If the parent has been advised of the right to have counsel present at the judicial review or citizen review hearings. If not so advised, the court or citizen review panel shall advise the parent of such right.

3. If a guardian ad litem needs to be appointed for the child in a case in which a guardian ad litem has not previously been appointed or if there is a need to continue a guardian ad litem in a case in which a guardian ad litem has been appointed.

4. Who holds the rights to make educational decisions for the child. If appropriate, the court may refer the child to the district school superintendent for appointment of a surrogate parent or may itself appoint a surrogate parent under the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act and s. 39.0016. If the child is under the age of school entry, the court must make the appointment.

5. The compliance or lack of compliance of all parties with applicable items of the case plan, including the parents' compliance with child support orders.

6. The compliance or lack of compliance with a visitation contract between the parent and the social service agency for contact with the child, including the frequency, duration, and results of the parent-child visitation and the reason for any noncompliance.

7. The frequency, kind, and duration of contacts among siblings who have been separated during placement, as well as any efforts undertaken to reunite separated siblings if doing so is in the best interest of the child.

8. The compliance or lack of compliance of the parent in meeting specified financial obligations pertaining to the care of the child, including the reason for failure to comply, if applicable.

9. Whether the child is receiving safe and proper care according to s. 39.6012, including, but not limited to, the appropriateness of the child's current placement, including whether the child is in a setting that is as family-like and as close to the parent's home as possible, consistent with the child's best interests and special needs, and including maintaining stability in the child's educational placement, as documented by assurances from the community-based care provider that:

a. The placement of the child takes into account the appropriateness of the current educational setting and the proximity to the school in which the child is enrolled at the time of placement.

b. The community-based care agency has coordinated with appropriate local educational agencies to ensure that the child remains in the school in which the child is enrolled at the time of placement.

10. Upon implementation of the program authorized under s. 39.4015, whether the department or community-based care lead agency continues to reasonably engage in family finding. The level of reasonableness is determined by the length of the case and amount of time the department or community-based care lead agency has had to continue the process.

11. ~~10.~~ A projected date likely for the child's return home or other permanent placement.

12. ~~11.~~ When appropriate, the basis for the unwillingness or inability of the parent to become a party to a case plan. The court and the citizen review panel shall determine if the efforts of the social service agency to secure party participation in a case plan were sufficient.

13. ~~12.~~ For a child who has reached 13 years of age but is not yet 18 years of age, the adequacy of the child's preparation for adulthood and independent living. For a child who is 15 years of age or older, the court shall determine if appropriate steps are being taken for the child to obtain a driver license or learner's driver license.

14. ~~13.~~ If amendments to the case plan are required. Amendments to the case plan must be made as provided in ~~under~~ s. 39.6013.

Section 11. Subsections (4) and (5) of section 409.166,

Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

409.166 Children within the child welfare system; adoption assistance program.—

(4) ADOPTION ASSISTANCE.—

(a) For purposes of administering payments under paragraph (d), the term:

1. "Child" means an individual who has not attained 21 years of age.

2. "Young adult" means an individual who has attained 18 years of age but who has not attained 21 years of age.

(b) ~~(a)~~ A maintenance subsidy shall be granted only when all other resources available to a child have been thoroughly explored and it can be clearly established that this is the most acceptable plan for providing permanent placement for the child. The maintenance subsidy may not be used as a substitute for adoptive parent recruitment or as an inducement to adopt a child who might be placed without providing a subsidy. However, it shall be the policy of the department that no child be denied adoption if providing a maintenance subsidy would make adoption possible. The best interest of the child shall be the deciding factor in every case. This section does not prohibit foster parents from applying to adopt a child placed in their care. Foster parents or relative caregivers must be asked if they would adopt without a maintenance subsidy.

(c) ~~(b)~~ The department shall provide adoption assistance to the adoptive parents, subject to specific appropriation, in the amount of $5,000 annually, paid on a monthly basis, for the support and maintenance of a child until the 18th birthday of such child or in an amount other than $5,000 annually as determined by the adoptive parents and the department and memorialized in a written agreement between the adoptive parents and the department. The agreement shall take into consideration the circumstances of the adoptive parents and the needs of the child being adopted. The amount of subsidy may be adjusted based upon changes in the needs of the child or circumstances of the adoptive parents. Changes may ~~shall~~ not be made without the concurrence of the adoptive parents. However, in no case shall the amount of the monthly payment exceed the foster care maintenance payment that would have been paid during the same period if the child had been in a foster family home.

(d) Contingent upon a specific appropriation, adoption assistance payments may be made for a child up to 21 years of age whose adoptive parent entered into an initial adoption assistance agreement after the child reached 16 years of age but before the child reached 18 years of age if the child is:

1. Completing secondary education or a program leading to an equivalent credential;

2. Enrolled in an institution that provides postsecondary or vocational education;

3. Participating in a program or activity designed to promote or eliminate barriers to employment;

4. Employed for at least 80 hours per month; or

5. Unable to participate in programs or activities listed in subparagraphs 1.-4. full time due to a physical, intellectual, emotional, or psychiatric condition that limits participation. Any such barrier to participation must be supported by documentation in the child’s case file or school or medical records.

(e) A child or young adult receiving benefits through the adoption assistance program is not eligible to simultaneously receive relative caregiver benefits under s. 39.5085 or postsecondary education services and support under s. 409.1451.

(f) ~~(e)~~ The department may provide adoption assistance to the adoptive parents, subject to specific appropriation, for medical assistance initiated after the adoption of the child for medical, surgical, hospital, and related services needed as a result of a physical or mental condition of the child which existed before the adoption and is not covered by Medicaid, Children's Medical Services, or Children's Mental Health Services. Such assistance may be initiated at any time but shall terminate on or before the child's 18th birthday.

(5) ELIGIBILITY FOR SERVICES.—

(a) As a condition of providing adoption assistance under this section and before the adoption is finalized, the adoptive parents must have an approved adoption home study and must enter into an adoption-assistance agreement with the department which specifies the financial assistance and other services to be provided.

(b) A child who is handicapped at the time of adoption is ~~shall be~~ eligible for services through the Children's Medical Services network established under part I of chapter 391 if the child was eligible for such services before ~~prior to~~ the adoption.

Section 12. Effective January 1, 2019, paragraph (b) of subsection (1) of section 414.045, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

414.045 Cash assistance program.—Cash assistance families

include any families receiving cash assistance payments from the state program for temporary assistance for needy families as defined in federal law, whether such funds are from federal funds, state funds, or commingled federal and state funds. Cash assistance families may also include families receiving cash assistance through a program defined as a separate state program.

(1) For reporting purposes, families receiving cash assistance shall be grouped into the following categories. The department may develop additional groupings in order to comply with federal reporting requirements, to comply with the data-reporting needs of the board of directors of CareerSource Florida, Inc., or to better inform the public of program progress.

(b) Child-only cases.—Child-only cases include cases that do not have an adult or teen head of household as defined in federal law. Such cases include:

1. Children in the care of caretaker relatives, if the caretaker relatives choose to have their needs excluded in the calculation of the amount of cash assistance.

household members in determining the amount of cash assistance, and such cases shall not be considered families containing an adult. Parents or caretaker relatives who are excluded from the cash assistance group due to receipt of SSI may choose to participate in work activities. An individual whose ability to participate in work activities is limited who volunteers to participate in work activities shall be assigned to work activities consistent with such limitations. An individual who volunteers to participate in a work activity may receive child care or support services consistent with such participation.

4. Families in which the only parent in a single-parent family or both parents in a two-parent family are not eligible for cash assistance due to immigration status or other limitation of federal law. 5. To the extent permitted by federal law and subject to appropriations, special needs children who have been adopted pursuant to s. 409.166 and whose adopting family qualifies as a needy family under the state program for temporary assistance for needy families. Notwithstanding any provision to the contrary in s. 414.075, s. 414.085, or s. 414.095, a family shall be considered a needy family if:

a. The family is determined by the department to have an income below 200 percent of the federal poverty level;

b. The family meets the requirements of s. 414.095(2) and (3) related to residence, citizenship, or eligible noncitizen status; and

c. The family provides any information that may be necessary to meet federal reporting requirements specified under Part A of Title IV of the Social Security Act.

Families described in subparagraph 1., subparagraph 2., or subparagraph 3. may receive child care assistance or other supports or services so that the children may continue to be cared for in their own homes or in the homes of relatives. Such assistance or services may be funded from the temporary assistance for needy families block grant to the extent permitted under federal law and to the extent funds have been provided in the General Appropriations Act.

Section 13. Paragraph (d) of subsection (1) of section 1009.25, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

The program will provide payments at a rate of $333 per month for persons who meet the Title IV-E eligibility requirements as outlined in s. 473(d)(1)(A) of the Social Security Act.

(2) For purposes of administering this program, the term:

(a) "Child" means an individual who has not attained 21 years of age.

(b) "Young adult" means an individual who has attained 18 years of age but who has not attained 21 years of age.

(c) "Fictive kin" means a person unrelated by birth, marriage, or adoption who has an emotionally significant relationship, which possesses the characteristics of a family relationship, to a child.

(3) Caregivers enrolled in the Relative Caregiver or Nonrelative Caregiver Program prior to August 1, 2018, are not eligible to participate in the Title IV-E Guardianship Assistance Program pilot. Effective August 1, 2018, eligible caregivers enrolled in the pilot may not simultaneously have payments made on the child's behalf through the Relative Caregiver Program under s. 39.5085, postsecondary education services and supports under s. 409.1451, or child-only cash assistance under chapter 414.

(4) Notwithstanding s. 39.5085, in the two circuits where the Title IV-E Guardianship Assistance Program pilot is established, the Relative Caregiver Program will discontinue accepting applications effective July 31, 2018.

(5) Notwithstanding s. 409.145(4), in the two circuits where the Title IV-E Guardianship Assistance Program pilot is established, the room and board rate for guardians who are eligible for the program will be $333 per month.

The Committee on Appropriations (Flores) recommended the following:

Senate Amendment (with title amendment)

Delete everything after the enacting clause and insert:

Section 1. Effective January 1, 2019, section 39.4015, Florida Statutes, is created to read:

39.4015 Family finding.—

(1) LEGISLATIVE FINDINGS AND INTENT.—

(a) The Legislature finds that every child who is in out-of-home care has the goal of finding a permanent home, whether achieved by reunifying the child with his or her parents or finding another permanent connection, such as adoption or legal guardianship with a relative or nonrelative who has a significant relationship with the child.

(b) The Legislature finds that while legal permanency is important to a child in out-of-home care, emotional permanency helps increase the likelihood that children will achieve stability and well-being and successfully transition to independent adulthood.

(c) The Legislature also finds that research has consistently shown that placing a child within his or her own family reduces the trauma of being removed from his or her home, is less likely to result in placement disruptions, and enhances prospects for finding a permanent family if the child cannot return home.

(d) The Legislature further finds that the primary purpose of family finding is to facilitate legal and emotional permanency for children who are in out-of-home care by finding and engaging their relatives.

(e) It is the intent of the Legislature that every child in out-of-home care be afforded the advantages that can be gained from the use of family finding to establish caring and long-term or permanent connections and relationships for children and youth in out-of-home care, as well as to establish a long-term emotional support network with family members and other adults who may not be able to take the child into their home but who want to stay connected with the child.

(2) DEFINITIONS.—As used in this section, the term:

(a) "Diligent efforts" means the use of methods and techniques including, but not limited to, interviews with immediate and extended family and kin, genograms, eco-mapping, case mining, cold calls, and specialized computer searches.

(b) "Family finding" means an intensive relative search and engagement technique used in identifying family and other close adults for children in out-of-home care and involving them in developing and carrying out a plan for the emotional and legal permanency of a child.

(c) "Family group decisionmaking" is a generic term that includes a number of approaches in which family members and fictive kin are brought together to make decisions about how to care for their children and develop a plan for services. The term includes family team conferencing, family team meetings, family group conferencing, family team decisionmaking, family unity meetings, and team decisionmaking, which may consist of several phases and employ a trained facilitator or coordinator.

(d) "Fictive kin" means an individual who is unrelated to the child by either birth or marriage, but has such a close emotional relationship with the child that he or she may be considered part of the family.

(3) FAMILY-FINDING PROGRAM.—The department, in collaboration with sheriffs' offices that conduct child protective investigations and community-based care lead agencies, shall develop a formal family-finding program to be implemented statewide by child protective investigators and community-based care lead agencies. Implementation of the program is contingent upon the appropriation of funds by the Legislature specifically for the program.

(a) Family finding is required as soon as a child comes to the attention of the department and throughout the duration of the case, and finding and engaging with as many family members and fictive kin as possible for each child who may help with care or support for the child is considered a best practice. The department or community-based care lead agency must specifically document strategies taken to locate and engage relatives and kin. Strategies of engagement may include, but are not limited to, asking the relatives and kin to:

1. Participate in a family group decisionmaking conference, family team conferencing, or other family meetings aimed at developing or supporting the family service plan;

2. Attend visitations with the child;

3. Assist in transportation of the child;

4. Provide respite or child care services; or

5. Provide actual kinship care.

(b) The department and the community-based care lead agencies must use diligent efforts in family finding, must continue those efforts until multiple relatives and kin are identified, and must go beyond basic searching tools by exploring alternative tools and methodologies. Efforts by the department and the community-based care lead agency may include, but are not limited to:

1. Searching for and locating adult relatives and kin.

2. Identifying and building positive connections between the child and the child's relatives and fictive kin.

3. Supporting the engagement of relatives and fictive kin in social service planning and delivery of services and creating a network of extended family support to assist in remedying the concerns that led to the child becoming involved with the child welfare system, when appropriate.

4. Maintaining family connections, when possible.

5. Keeping siblings together in care, when in the best interest of each child and when possible.

(c) A basic computer search using the Internet or attempts to contact known relatives at a last known address or telephone number do not constitute effective family finding.

(d) The court's inquiry and determination regarding family finding should be made at each stage of the case, including a shelter hearing conducted pursuant to s. 39.402. The court shall place its determinations on the record as to whether the department or community-based care lead agency has reasonably engaged in family finding. The level of reasonableness is to be determined by the length of the case and the amount of time the department or community-based care lead agency has had to begin or continue the process.

(4) RULEMAKING.—The department shall adopt rules to implement this section.

Section 2. Paragraphs (c) and (d) of subsection (11) of section 39.402, Florida Statutes, and subsection (17) of that section are amended to read:

39.402 Placement in a shelter.—

(11)

(c) The court shall request that the parents consent to provide access to the child's child care records, early education program records, or other educational records and provide information to the court, the department or its contract agencies, and any guardian ad litem or attorney for the child. If a parent is unavailable or unable to consent or withholds consent and the court determines access to the records and information is necessary to provide services to the child, the court shall issue an order granting access.

(d) The court may appoint a surrogate parent or may refer the child to the district school superintendent for appointment of a surrogate parent if the child has or is suspected of having a disability and the parent is unavailable pursuant to s. 39.0016(3)(b). If the child is under the age of school entry, the court must make the appointment.

(17) At the shelter hearing, the court shall inquire of the parent whether the parent has relatives who might be considered as a placement for the child. The parent shall provide to the court and all parties identification and location information regarding the relatives. The court shall advise the parent that the parent has a continuing duty to inform the department of any relative who should be considered for placement of the child. Upon implementation of the program authorized under s. 39.4015, the court shall place its determinations on the record as to whether the department or community-based care lead agency has reasonably engaged in family finding. The level of reasonableness is to be determined by the length of the case and amount of time the department or community-based care lead agency has had to begin or continue the process.

Section 3. Present subsection (9) of section 39.506, Florida Statutes, is redesignated as subsection (10), and a new subsection (9) is added to that section, to read:

39.506 Arraignment hearings.—

(9) Upon implementation of the program authorized under s. 39.4015, the court shall review whether the department or community-based care lead agency has reasonably engaged in family finding and make a written determination as to its findings. The level of reasonableness is determined by the length of the case and amount of time the department or community-based care lead agency has had to begin or continue the process.

Section 4. Paragraphs (c) and (d) of subsection (7) of section 39.507, Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

39.507 Adjudicatory hearings; orders of adjudication.—

(c) If a court adjudicates a child dependent and the child is in out-of-home care, the court shall inquire of the parent or parents whether the parents have relatives who might be considered as a placement for the child. ~~The court shall advise the parents that, if the parents fail to substantially comply with the case plan, their parental rights may be terminated and that the child's out-of-home placement may become permanent.~~ The parent or parents shall provide to the court and all parties identification and location information of the relatives. Upon implementation of the program authorized under s. 39.4015, the court shall review whether the department or community-based care lead agency has reasonably engaged in family finding and make a written determination as to its findings. The level of reasonableness is determined by the length of the case and amount of time the department or community-based care lead agency has had to begin or continue the process.

(d) The court shall advise the parents that, if they fail to substantially comply with the case plan, their parental rights may be terminated and that the child's out-of-home placement may become permanent.

Section 5. Section 39.5086, Florida Statutes, is created to read:

39.5086 Kinship navigator programs.—

(1) LEGISLATIVE FINDINGS AND INTENT.—

(a) The Legislature finds that an increasing number of relatives and fictive kin are assuming the responsibility of raising children because the parents of these children are unable to care for them.

(b) The Legislature also finds that these kinship caregivers perform a vital function by providing homes for children who would otherwise be at risk of foster care placement and that kinship care is a crucial option in the spectrum of out-of-home care available to children in need.

(c) The Legislature finds that children living with kinship caregivers experience increased placement stability, are less likely to reenter care if they are reunified with their parents, and have better behavioral and mental health outcomes.

(d) The Legislature further finds that these kinship caregivers may face a number of difficulties and need assistance to support the health and well-being of the children in their care. These needs include, but are not limited to, financial assistance, legal assistance, respite care, child care, specialized training, and counseling.

(e) It is the intent of the Legislature to provide for the establishment and implementation of procedures and protocols that are likely to increase and adequately support appropriate and safe kinship care placements.

(2) DEFINITIONS.—As used this section, the term:

(a) "Fictive kin" means an individual who is unrelated to the child by either birth or marriage, but has such a close emotional relationship with the child that he or she may be considered part of the family.

(b) "Kinship care" means the full-time care of a child placed in out-of-home care by the court in the home of a relative or fictive kin.

(c) "Kinship navigator program" means a statewide program designed to ensure that kinship caregivers are provided with necessary resources for the preservation of the family.

(d) "Relative" means an individual who is caring full time for a child placed in out-of-home care by the court and who:

1. Is related to the child within the fifth degree by blood or marriage to the parent or stepparent of the child; or

2. Is related to a half-sibling of that child within the fifth degree by blood or marriage to the parent or stepparent.

(3) PURPOSE AND SERVICES.—

(a) The purpose of a kinship navigator program is to help relative caregivers and fictive kin in the child welfare system to navigate the broad range of services available to them and the children from public, private, community, and faith-based organizations.

(b) Contingent upon a specific appropriation, effective January 1, 2019, each community-based care lead agency shall establish a kinship navigator program. In order to meet the requirements of a kinship navigator program, the program must:

1. Be coordinated with other state or local agencies that promote service coordination or provide information and referral services, including any entities that participate in the Florida

211 Network, to avoid duplication or fragmentation of services to kinship care families;

2. Be planned and operated in consultation with kinship caregivers and organizations representing them, youth raised by kinship caregivers, relevant governmental agencies, and relevant community-based or faith-based organizations;

3. Establish a toll-free telephone hotline to provide information to link kinship caregivers, kinship support group facilitators, and kinship service providers to:

a. One another;

b. Eligibility and enrollment information for federal, state, and local benefits;

c. Relevant training to assist kinship caregivers in caregiving and in obtaining benefits and services; and

d. Relevant knowledge related to legal options available for child custody, other legal assistance, and help in obtaining legal services.

4. Provide outreach to kinship care families, including by establishing, distributing, and updating a kinship care website, or other relevant guides or outreach materials; and

5. Promote partnerships between public and private agencies, including schools, community-based or faith-based organizations, and relevant governmental agencies, to increase their knowledge of the needs of kinship care families to promote better services for those families.

(4) RULEMAKING.—The department shall adopt rules to implement this section.

Section 6. Paragraph (e) of subsection (1) of section 39.521, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

39.521 Disposition hearings; powers of disposition.—

(1) A disposition hearing shall be conducted by the court, if the court finds that the facts alleged in the petition for dependency were proven in the adjudicatory hearing, or if the parents or legal custodians have consented to the finding of dependency or admitted the allegations in the petition, have failed to appear for the arraignment hearing after proper notice, or have not been located despite a diligent search having been conducted.

(e) The court shall, in its written order of disposition, include all of the following:

1. The placement or custody of the child.

2. Special conditions of placement and visitation.

3. Evaluation, counseling, treatment activities, and other actions to be taken by the parties, if ordered.

4. The persons or entities responsible for supervising or monitoring services to the child and parent.

5. Continuation or discharge of the guardian ad litem, as appropriate.

6. The date, time, and location of the next scheduled review hearing, which must occur within the earlier of:

a. Ninety days after the disposition hearing;

b. Ninety days after the court accepts the case plan;

c. Six months after the date of the last review hearing; or

d. Six months after the date of the child’s removal from his or her home, if no review hearing has been held since the child’s removal from the home.

7. If the child is in an out-of-home placement, child support to be paid by the parents, or the guardian of the child's estate if possessed of assets which under law may be disbursed for the care, support, and maintenance of the child. The court may exercise jurisdiction over all child support matters, shall adjudicate the financial obligation, including health insurance, of the child's parents or guardian, and shall enforce the financial obligation as provided in chapter 61. The state's child support enforcement agency shall enforce child support orders under this section in the same manner as child support orders under chapter 61. Placement of the child shall not be contingent upon issuance of a support order.

8.a. If the court does not commit the child to the temporary legal custody of an adult relative, legal custodian, or other adult approved by the court, the disposition order must ~~shall~~ include the reasons for such a decision and, upon implementation of the program authorized under s. 39.4015, ~~shall include~~ a written determination as to whether ~~diligent efforts were made by~~ the department and the community-based care lead agency reasonably engaged in family finding in attempting to locate an adult relative, legal custodian, or other adult willing to care for the child in order to present that placement option to the court instead of placement with the department. The level of reasonableness is determined by the length of the case and amount of time the department or community-based care lead agency has had to begin or continue the process.

b. If no suitable relative is found and the child is placed with the department or a legal custodian or other adult approved by the court, both the department and the court shall consider transferring temporary legal custody to an adult relative approved by the court at a later date, but neither the department nor the court is obligated to so place the child if it is in the child's best interest to remain in the current placement.

~~For the purposes of this section, "diligent efforts to locate an adult relative" means a search similar to the diligent search for a parent, but without the continuing obligation to search after an initial adequate search is completed.~~

9. Other requirements necessary to protect the health, safety, and well-being of the child, to preserve the stability of the child's child care, early education program, or any other educational placement, and to promote family preservation or reunification whenever possible.

Section 7. Paragraph (b) of subsection (2) and paragraph (a) of subsection (3) of section 39.6012, Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

39.6012 Case plan tasks; services.—

(2) The case plan must include all available information that is relevant to the child's care including, at a minimum:

(b) A description of the plan for ensuring that the child receives safe and proper care and that services are provided to the child in order to address the child's needs. To the extent available and accessible, the following health, mental health, and education information and records of the child must be attached to the case plan and updated throughout the judicial review process:

1. The names and addresses of the child's health, mental health, and educational providers;

2. The child's grade level performance;

3. The child's school record or, if the child is under the age of school entry, any records from a child care program, early education program, or preschool program;

4. Documentation of compliance or noncompliance with the attendance requirements under s. 39.604, if the child is enrolled in a child care program, early education program, or preschool program;

5.~~4.~~ Assurances that the child's placement takes into account proximity to the school in which the child is enrolled at the time of placement;

6. ~~5. A record of~~ The child's immunizations;

7.~~6.~~ The child's known medical history, including any known health problems;

8.~~7.~~ The child's medications, if any; and

9.~~8.~~ Any other relevant health, mental health, and education information concerning the child.

(3) In addition to any other requirement, if the child is in an out-of-home placement, the case plan must include:

(a) A description of the type of placement in which the child is to be living and, if the child has been placed with the department and the program as authorized under s. 39.4015 has been implemented, whether the department and the community-based care lead agency have reasonably engaged in family finding to locate an adult relative, legal custodian, or other adult willing to care for the child in order to present that placement option to the court instead of placement with the department.

Section 8. Section 39.604, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

39.604 Rilya Wilson Act; short title; legislative intent; requirements; attendance; stability and transitions ~~reporting responsibilities~~.—

(1) SHORT TITLE.—This section may be cited as the "Rilya Wilson Act."

(2) LEGISLATIVE FINDINGS AND INTENT.—

(a) The Legislature finds that children from birth to age 5 years are particularly vulnerable to maltreatment and that they enter out-of-home care in disproportionately high numbers.

(b) The Legislature also finds that children who are abused or neglected are at high risk of experiencing physical and mental health problems and problems with language and communication, cognitive development, and social and emotional development.

(c) The Legislature also finds that providing early intervention and services, as well as quality child care and early education programs to support the healthy development of these young children, can have positive effects that last throughout childhood and into adulthood.

(d) The Legislature also finds that the needs of each of these children are unique, and while some children may be best served by a quality child care or early education program, others may need more attention and nurturing that can best be provided by a stay-at-home caregiver ~~The Legislature recognizes that children who are in the care of the state due to abuse, neglect, or abandonment are at increased risk of poor school performance and other behavioral and social problems~~.

(e) It is the intent of the Legislature that children who are ~~currently~~ in out-of-home ~~the~~ care ~~of the state~~ be provided with an age-appropriate developmental child care or early education arrangement that is in the best interest of the child ~~education program~~ to help ameliorate the negative consequences of abuse, neglect, or abandonment.

(3) REQUIREMENTS.—

1. A child from birth to the age of school entry, who is under court-ordered protective supervision or in out-of-home care and is ~~the custody of the Family Safety Program Office of the Department of Children and Families or a community-based lead agency, and~~ enrolled in an ~~a licensed~~ early education or child care program must attend the program 5 days a week unless the court grants an exception due to the court determining it is in the best interest of a child from birth to age 3 years:

a. With a stay-at-home caregiver to remain at home.

b. With a caregiver who works less than full time to attend an early education or child care program fewer than 5 days a week.

2. Notwithstanding s. 39.202, the department ~~of Children and Families~~ must notify operators of an ~~the licensed~~ early education or child care program, subject to the reporting requirements of this act, of the enrollment of any child from birth to the age of school entry, under court-ordered protective supervision or in out-of-home care. If ~~the custody of the Family Safety Program Office of the Department of Children and Families or a community-based lead agency. When~~ a child is enrolled in an early education or child care program ~~regulated by the department~~, the child's attendance in the program must be a required task ~~action~~ in the safety plan or the case plan developed for the child pursuant to this chapter. ~~An exemption to participating in the licensed early education or child care~~

~~program 5 days a week may be granted by the court.~~

(4) ATTENDANCE ~~AND REPORTING REQUIREMENTS~~.—

1.~~(a)~~ A child enrolled in an ~~a licensed~~ early education or child care program who meets the requirements of paragraph (b) ~~subsection (3)~~ may not be withdrawn from the program without the prior written approval of the department ~~Family Safety Program Office of the Department of Children and Families~~ or the community-based care lead agency.

2.a.~~(b)1.~~ If a child covered by this section is absent from the program on a day when he or she is supposed to be present, the person with whom the child resides must report the absence to the program by the end of the business day. If the person with whom the child resides, whether the parent or caregiver, fails to timely report the absence, the absence is considered to be unexcused. The program shall report any unexcused absence or seven consecutive excused absences of a child who is enrolled in the program and covered by this act to the ~~local designated staff of the Family Safety Program Office of the~~ department ~~of Children and Families~~ or the community-based care lead agency by the end of the business day following the unexcused absence or seventh consecutive excused absence.

b.~~2.~~ The department or community-based care lead agency shall conduct a site visit to the residence of the child upon receiving a report of two consecutive unexcused absences or seven consecutive excused absences.

c.~~3.~~ If the site visit results in a determination that the child is missing, the department or community-based care lead agency shall follow the procedure set forth in s. 39.0141 ~~report the child as missing to a law enforcement agency and proceed~~

d.~~4.~~ If the site visit results in a determination that the child is not missing, the parent or caregiver shall be notified that failure to ensure that the child attends the ~~licensed~~ early education or child care program is a violation of the safety plan or the case plan. If more than two site visits are conducted pursuant to this subsection, staff shall ~~initiate action to~~ notify the court of the parent or caregiver's noncompliance with the case plan.

(5) EDUCATIONAL STABILITY.—Just as educational stability is important for school-age children, it is also important to minimize disruptions to secure attachments and stable relationships with supportive caregivers of children from birth to school age and to ensure that these attachments are not disrupted due to placement in out-of-home care or subsequent changes in out-of-home placement.

(a) A child must be allowed to remain in the child care or early educational setting that he or she attended before entry into out-of-home care, unless the program is not in the best interest of the child.

(b) If it is not in the best interest of the child for him or her to remain in his or her child care or early education setting upon entry into out-of-home care, the caregiver must work with the case manager, guardian ad litem, child care and educational staff, and educational surrogate, if one has been appointed, to determine the best setting for the child. Such setting may be a child care provider that receives a Gold Seal Quality Care designation pursuant to s. 402.281, a provider participating in a quality rating system, a licensed child care provider, a public school provider, or a license-exempt child care provider, including religious-exempt and registered providers, and non-public schools.

(c) The department and providers of early care and education shall develop protocols to ensure continuity if children are required to leave a program because of a change in out-of-home placement.

(6) TRANSITIONS.—In the absence of an emergency, if a child from birth to school age leaves a child care or early education program, the transition must be pursuant to a plan that involves cooperation and sharing of information among all persons involved, that respects the child's developmental stage and associated psychological needs, and that allows for a gradual transition from one setting to another.

Section 9. Paragraph (b) of subsection (6) and subsection (7) of section 39.6251, Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

39.6251 Continuing care for young adults.—

(6) A young adult who is between the ages of 18 and 21 and who has left care may return to care by applying to the community-based care lead agency for readmission. The community-based care lead agency shall readmit the young adult if he or she continues to meet the eligibility requirements in this section.

(b) Within 30 days after the young adult has been readmitted to care, the community-based care lead agency shall assign a case manager to update the case plan and the transition plan and to arrange for the required services. Updates to the case plan and the transition plan and arrangements for the required services ~~Such activities~~ shall be undertaken in consultation with the young adult. The department shall petition the court to reinstate jurisdiction over the young adult. Notwithstanding s. 39.013(2), the court shall resume jurisdiction over the young adult if the department establishes that he or she continues to meet the eligibility requirements in this section.

(7) During each period of time that a young adult is in care, the community-based lead agency shall provide regular case management reviews that must include at least monthly contact with the case manager. ~~If a young adult lives outside the service area of his or her community-based care lead agency, monthly contact may occur by telephone.~~

Section 10. Paragraph (c) of subsection (2) of section 39.701, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

39.701 Judicial review.—

(2) REVIEW HEARINGS FOR CHILDREN YOUNGER THAN 18 YEARS OF AGE.—

(c) Review determinations.—The court and any citizen review panel shall take into consideration the information contained in the social services study and investigation and all medical, psychological, and educational records that support the terms of the case plan; testimony by the social services agency, the parent, the foster parent or legal custodian, the guardian ad litem or surrogate parent for educational decisionmaking if one has been appointed for the child, and any other person deemed appropriate; and any relevant and material evidence submitted to the court, including written and oral reports to the extent of their probative value. These reports and evidence may be received by the court in its effort to determine the action to be taken with regard to the child and may be relied upon to the extent of their probative value, even though not competent in an adjudicatory hearing. In its deliberations, the court and any citizen review panel shall seek to determine:

1. If the parent was advised of the right to receive assistance from any person or social service agency in the preparation of the case plan.

2. If the parent has been advised of the right to have counsel present at the judicial review or citizen review hearings. If not so advised, the court or citizen review panel shall advise the parent of such right.

3. If a guardian ad litem needs to be appointed for the child in a case in which a guardian ad litem has not previously been appointed or if there is a need to continue a guardian ad litem in a case in which a guardian ad litem has been appointed.

4. Who holds the rights to make educational decisions for the child. If appropriate, the court may refer the child to the district school superintendent for appointment of a surrogate parent or may itself appoint a surrogate parent under the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act and s. 39.0016. If the child is under the age of school entry, the court must make the appointment.

5. The compliance or lack of compliance of all parties with applicable items of the case plan, including the parents' compliance with child support orders.

6. The compliance or lack of compliance with a visitation contract between the parent and the social service agency for contact with the child, including the frequency, duration, and results of the parent-child visitation and the reason for any noncompliance.

7. The frequency, kind, and duration of contacts among siblings who have been separated during placement, as well as any efforts undertaken to reunite separated siblings if doing so is in the best interest of the child.

8. The compliance or lack of compliance of the parent in meeting specified financial obligations pertaining to the care of the child, including the reason for failure to comply, if applicable.

9. Whether the child is receiving safe and proper care according to s. 39.6012, including, but not limited to, the appropriateness of the child's current placement, including whether the child is in a setting that is as family-like and as close to the parent's home as possible, consistent with the child's best interests and special needs, and including maintaining stability in the child's educational placement, as documented by assurances from the community-based care provider that:

a. The placement of the child takes into account the appropriateness of the current educational setting and the proximity to the school in which the child is enrolled at the time of placement.

b. The community-based care agency has coordinated with appropriate local educational agencies to ensure that the child remains in the school in which the child is enrolled at the time of placement.

10. Upon implementation of the program authorized under s. 39.4015, whether the department or community-based care lead agency continues to reasonably engage in family finding. The level of reasonableness is determined by the length of the case and amount of time the department or community-based care lead agency has had to continue the process.

11. ~~10.~~ A projected date likely for the child's return home or other permanent placement.

12. ~~11.~~ When appropriate, the basis for the unwillingness or inability of the parent to become a party to a case plan. The court and the citizen review panel shall determine if the efforts of the social service agency to secure party participation in a case plan were sufficient.

13. ~~12.~~ For a child who has reached 13 years of age but is not yet 18 years of age, the adequacy of the child's preparation for adulthood and independent living. For a child who is 15 years of age or older, the court shall determine if appropriate steps are being taken for the child to obtain a driver license or learner's driver license.

14. ~~13.~~ If amendments to the case plan are required. Amendments to the case plan must be made as provided in ~~under~~ s. 39.6013.

Section 11. Subsections (4) and (5) of section 409.166, Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

409.166 Children within the child welfare system; adoption assistance program.—

(4) ADOPTION ASSISTANCE.—

(a) For purposes of administering payments under paragraph (d), the term:

1. "Child" means an individual who has not attained 21 years of age.

2. "Young adult" means an individual who has attained 18 years of age but who has not attained 21 years of age.

(b) ~~(a)~~ A maintenance subsidy shall be granted only when all other resources available to a child have been thoroughly explored and it can be clearly established that this is the most acceptable plan for providing permanent placement for the child. The maintenance subsidy may not be used as a substitute for adoptive parent recruitment or as an inducement to adopt a child who might be placed without providing a subsidy. However, it shall be the policy of the department that no child be denied adoption if providing a maintenance subsidy would make adoption possible. The best interest of the child shall be the deciding factor in every case. This section does not prohibit foster parents from applying to adopt a child placed in their care. Foster parents or relative caregivers must be asked if they would adopt without a maintenance subsidy.

(c) ~~(b)~~ The department shall provide adoption assistance to the adoptive parents, subject to specific appropriation, in the amount of $5,000 annually, paid on a monthly basis, for the support and maintenance of a child until the 18th birthday of such child or in an amount other than $5,000 annually as determined by the adoptive parents and the department and memorialized in a written agreement between the adoptive parents and the department. The agreement shall take into consideration the circumstances of the adoptive parents and the needs of the child being adopted. The amount of subsidy may be adjusted based upon changes in the needs of the child or circumstances of the adoptive parents. Changes may ~~shall~~ not be made without the concurrence of the adoptive parents. However, in no case shall the amount of the monthly payment exceed the foster care maintenance payment that would have been paid during the same period if the child had been in a foster family home.

(d) Contingent upon a specific appropriation, adoption assistance payments may be made for a child up to 21 years of age whose adoptive parent entered into an initial adoption assistance agreement after the child reached 16 years of age but before the child reached 18 years of age if the child is:

1. Completing secondary education or a program leading to an equivalent credential;

2. Enrolled in an institution that provides postsecondary or vocational education;

3. Participating in a program or activity designed to promote or eliminate barriers to employment;

4. Employed for at least 80 hours per month; or

5. Unable to participate in programs or activities listed in subparagraphs 1.-4. full time due to a physical, intellectual, emotional, or psychiatric condition that limits participation. Any such barrier to participation must be supported by documentation in the child's case file or school or medical records.

(e) A child or young adult receiving benefits through the adoption assistance program is not eligible to simultaneously receive relative caregiver benefits under s. 39.5085 or postsecondary education services and support under s. 409.1451.

(f) ~~(e)~~ The department may provide adoption assistance to the adoptive parents, subject to specific appropriation, for medical assistance initiated after the adoption of the child for medical, surgical, hospital, and related services needed as a result of a physical or mental condition of the child which existed before the adoption and is not covered by Medicaid, Children's Medical Services, or Children's Mental Health Services. Such assistance may be initiated at any time but shall terminate on or before the child's 18th birthday.

(5) ELIGIBILITY FOR SERVICES.—

(a) As a condition of providing adoption assistance under this section and before the adoption is finalized, the adoptive parents must have an approved adoption home study and must enter into an adoption-assistance agreement with the department which specifies the financial assistance and other services to be provided.

(b) A child who is handicapped at the time of adoption is ~~shall be~~ eligible for services through the Children's Medical Services network established under part I of chapter 391 if the child was eligible for such services before ~~prior to~~ the adoption.

Section 12. (1) Contingent upon a specific appropriation, effective August 1, 2018, the Department of Children and Families shall establish and operate a pilot Title IV-E Guardianship Assistance Program in two circuits in this state. The program will provide payments at a rate of $333 per month for persons who meet the Title IV-E eligibility requirements as outlined in s. 473(d)(1)(A) of the Social Security Act.

(2) For purposes of administering this program, the term:

(a) "Child" means an individual who has not attained 21 years of age.

(b) "Young adult" means an individual who has attained 18 years of age but who has not attained 21 years of age.

(c) "Fictive kin" means a person unrelated by birth, marriage, or adoption who has an emotionally significant relationship, which possesses the characteristics of a family relationship, to a child.

(3) Caregivers enrolled in the Relative Caregiver or Nonrelative Caregiver Program prior to August 1, 2018, are not eligible to participate in the Title IV-E Guardianship Assistance Program pilot. Effective August 1, 2018, eligible caregivers enrolled in the pilot may not simultaneously have payments made on the child's behalf through the Relative Caregiver Program under s. 39.5085, postsecondary education services and supports under s. 409.1451, or child-only cash assistance under chapter 414.

(4) Notwithstanding s. 409.145(4), in the two circuits where the Title IV-E Guardianship Assistance Program pilot is established, the room and board rate for guardians who are eligible for the program will be $333 per month.

(5) Notwithstanding s. 409.175(11)(a), in the two circuits where the Title IV-E Guardianship Assistance Program pilot is established, an exception of licensing standards may be provided for those standards where a waiver has been granted.

Section 13. Except as otherwise expressly provided in this act, this act shall take effect July 1, 2018.

Be It Enacted by the Legislature of the State of Florida:

Section 1. Effective January 1, 2019, section 39.4015, Florida Statutes, is created to read:

39.4015 Family finding.—

(1) LEGISLATIVE FINDINGS AND INTENT.—

(a) The Legislature finds that every child who is in out-of-home care has the goal of finding a permanent home, whether achieved by reunifying the child with his or her parents or finding another permanent connection, such as adoption or legal guardianship with a relative or nonrelative who has a significant relationship with the child.

(b) The Legislature finds that while legal permanency is important to a child in out-of-home care, emotional permanency helps increase the likelihood that children will achieve stability and well-being and successfully transition to independent adulthood.

(c) The Legislature also finds that research has consistently shown that placing a child within his or her own family reduces the trauma of being removed from his or her home, is less likely to result in placement disruptions, and enhances prospects for finding a permanent family if the child cannot return home.

(d) The Legislature further finds that the primary purpose of family finding is to facilitate legal and emotional permanency for children who are in out-of-home care by finding and engaging their relatives.

(e) It is the intent of the Legislature that every child in out-of-home care be afforded the advantages that can be gained from the use of family finding to establish caring and long-term or permanent connections and relationships for children and youth in out-of-home care, as well as to establish a long-term emotional support network with family members and other adults who may not be able to take the child into their home but who want to stay connected with the child.

(2) DEFINITIONS.—As used in this section, the term:

(a) "Diligent efforts" means the use of methods and techniques including, but not limited to, interviews with immediate and extended family and kin, genograms, eco-mapping, case mining, cold calls, and specialized computer searches.

(b) "Family finding" means an intensive relative search and engagement technique used in identifying family and other close adults for children in out-of-home care and involving them in developing and carrying out a plan for the emotional and legal permanency of a child.

(c) "Family group decisionmaking" is a generic term that includes a number of approaches in which family members and fictive kin are brought together to make decisions about how to care for their children and develop a plan for services. The term includes family team conferencing, family team meetings, family group conferencing, family team decisionmaking, family unity meetings, and team decisionmaking, which may consist of several phases and employ a trained facilitator or coordinator.

(d) "Fictive kin" means an individual who is unrelated to the child by either birth or marriage, but has such a close emotional relationship with the child that he or she may be considered part of the family.

(3) FAMILY-FINDING PROGRAM.—The department, in collaboration with sheriffs' offices that conduct child protective investigations and community-based care lead agencies, shall develop a formal family-finding program to be implemented statewide by child protective investigators and community-based care lead agencies.

(a) Family finding is required as soon as a child comes to the attention of the department and throughout the duration of the case, and finding and engaging with as many family members and fictive kin as possible for each child who may help with care or support for the child is considered a best practice. The department or community-based care lead agency must specifically document strategies taken to locate and engage relatives and kin. Strategies of engagement may include, but are not limited to, asking the relatives and kin to:

1. Participate in a family group decisionmaking conference, family team conferencing, or other family meetings aimed at developing or supporting the family service plan;

2. Attend visitations with the child;

3. Assist in transportation of the child;

4. Provide respite or child care services; or

5. Provide actual kinship care.

(b) The department and the community-based care lead agencies must use diligent efforts in family finding, must continue those efforts until multiple relatives and kin are identified, and must go beyond basic searching tools by exploring alternative tools and methodologies. Efforts by the department and the community-based care lead agency may include, but are not limited to:

1. Searching for and locating adult relatives and kin.

2. Identifying and building positive connections between the child and the child's relatives and fictive kin.

3. Supporting the engagement of relatives and fictive kin in social service planning and delivery of services and creating a network of extended family support to assist in remedying the concerns that led to the child becoming involved with the child welfare system, when appropriate.

4. Maintaining family connections, when possible.

5. Keeping siblings together in care, when in the best interest of each child and when possible.

(c) A basic computer search using the Internet or attempts to contact known relatives at a last known address or telephone number do not constitute effective family finding.

(d) The court's inquiry and determination regarding family finding should be made at each stage of the case, including a shelter hearing conducted pursuant to s. 39.402. The court shall place its determinations on the record as to whether the department or community-based care lead agency has reasonably engaged in family finding. The level of reasonableness is to be determined by the length of the case and the amount of time the department or community-based care lead agency has had to begin or continue the process.

(4) RULEMAKING.—The department shall adopt rules to implement this section.

Section 2. Paragraphs (c) and (d) of subsection (11) of section 39.402, Florida Statutes, and subsection (17) of that section are amended to read:

39.402 Placement in a shelter.—

(c) The court shall request that the parents consent to provide access to the child's child care records, early education program records, or other educational records and provide information to the court, the department or its contract agencies, and any guardian ad litem or attorney for the child. If a parent is unavailable or unable to consent or withholds consent and the court determines access to the records and information is necessary to provide services to the child, the court shall issue an order granting access.

(d) The court may appoint a surrogate parent or may refer the child to the district school superintendent for appointment of a surrogate parent if the child has or is suspected of having a disability and the parent is unavailable pursuant to s. 39.0016(3)(b). If the child is under the age of school entry, the court must make the appointment.

(17) At the shelter hearing, the court shall inquire of the parent whether the parent has relatives who might be considered as a placement for the child. The parent shall provide to the court and all parties identification and location information regarding the relatives. The court shall advise the parent that the parent has a continuing duty to inform the department of any relative who should be considered for placement of the child. The court shall place its determinations on the record as to whether the department or community-based care lead agency has reasonably engaged in family finding. The level of reasonableness is to be determined by the length of the case and amount of time the department or community-based care lead agency has had to begin or continue the process.

Section 3. Present subsection (9) of section 39.506, Florida Statutes, is redesignated as subsection (10), and a new subsection (9) is added to that section, to read:

39.506 Arraignment hearings.—

(9) The court shall review whether the department or community-based care lead agency has reasonably engaged in family finding and make a written determination as to its findings. The level of reasonableness is determined by the length of the case and amount of time the department or community-based care lead agency has had to begin or continue the process.

Section 4. Paragraphs (c) and (d) of subsection (7) of section 39.507, Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

39.507 Adjudicatory hearings; orders of adjudication.—

(c) If a court adjudicates a child dependent and the child is in out-of-home care, the court shall inquire of the parent or parents whether the parents have relatives who might be considered as a placement for the child. ~~The court shall advise the parents that, if the parents fail to substantially comply with the case plan, their parental rights may be terminated and that the child's out-of-home placement may become permanent.~~ The parent or parents shall provide to the court and all parties identification and location information of the relatives. The court shall review whether the department or community-based care lead agency has reasonably engaged in family finding and make a written determination as to its findings. The level of reasonableness is determined by the length of the case and amount of time the department or community-based care lead agency has had to begin or continue the process.

(d) The court shall advise the parents that, if they fail to substantially comply with the case plan, their parental rights may be terminated and that the child's out-of-home placement may become permanent.

Section 5. Effective January 1, 2019, section 39.5085, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

39.5085 Kinship Care ~~Relative Caregiver~~ Program.—

(1) LEGISLATIVE FINDINGS AND INTENT.—

(a) The Legislature finds that an increasing number of relatives and fictive kin are assuming the responsibility of raising children because the parents of these children are unable to care for them.

(b) The Legislature also finds that these kinship caregivers perform a vital function by providing homes for children who would otherwise be at risk of foster care placement and that kinship care is a crucial option in the spectrum of out-of-home care available to children in need.

(c) The Legislature finds that children living with kinship caregivers experience increased placement stability, are less likely to reenter care if they are reunified with their parents, and have better behavioral and mental health outcomes.

(d) The Legislature further finds that these kinship caregivers may face a number of difficulties and need assistance to support the health and well-being of the children they care for. These needs include, but are not limited to, financial assistance, legal assistance, respite care, child care, specialized training, and counseling.

(e) It is the intent of the Legislature to provide for the establishment and implementation of procedures and protocols that are likely to increase and adequately support appropriate and safe kinship care placements.

(2) DEFINITIONS.—As used this section, the term:

(a) "Fictive kin" means an individual who is unrelated to the child by either birth or marriage, but has such a close emotional relationship with the child that he or she may be considered part of the family.

(b) "Kinship care" means the full-time care of a child placed in out-of-home care by the court in the home of a relative or fictive kin.

(c) "Kinship navigator program" means a statewide program designed to ensure that kinship caregivers are provided with necessary resources for the preservation of the family.

(d) "Relative" means an individual who is caring full time for a child placed in out-of-home care by the court and who:

1. Is related to the child within the fifth degree by blood or marriage to the parent or stepparent of the child; or

2. Is related to a half-sibling of that child within the fifth degree by blood or marriage to the parent or stepparent.

(3) FINANCIAL ASSISTANCE.—The department shall provide financial assistance to all caregivers who qualify under this subsection.

(a) Relatives or fictive kin caring for a child who has been placed with them by the court shall receive a monthly caregiver benefit, beginning when the child is placed with them. The amount of the benefit payment is based on the child's age within a payment schedule established by rule of the department. The cost of providing the assistance described in this section to any caregiver may not exceed the cost of providing out-of-home care in emergency shelter or foster care.

(b) Caregivers who receive assistance under this section must be capable, as determined by a home study, of providing a physically safe environment and a stable, supportive home for the children under their care and must assure that the children's well-being is met, including, but not limited to, the provision of immunizations, education, and mental health services, as needed.

(c) Caregivers who qualify for and receive assistance under this section are not required to meet foster care licensing requirements under s. 409.175.

(d) Children receiving cash benefits under this section are not eligible to simultaneously receive WAGES cash benefits under chapter 414.

(d) A caregiver may not receive a benefit payment if the parent or stepparent of the child resides in the home. However, a caregiver may receive the benefit payment for a minor parent who is in his or her care, as well as for the minor parent's child, if both children have been adjudicated dependent and meet all other eligibility requirements. If the caregiver is receiving a benefit payment when a parent, other than an eligible minor parent, or stepparent moves into the home, the payment must be terminated no later than the first day of the month following the move, allowing for 10-day notice of adverse action.

(e) Children living with caregivers who are receiving assistance under this section are eligible for Medicaid coverage.

(4) ADDITIONAL ASSISTANCE AND SERVICES.—

(a) The purpose of a kinship navigator program is to help relative caregivers and fictive kin in the child welfare system to navigate the broad range of services available to them and the children from public, private, community, and faith-based organizations.

(b) By January 1, 2019, each community-based care lead agency shall establish a kinship navigator program. In order to meet the requirements of a kinship navigator program, the program must:

1. Be coordinated with other state or local agencies that promote service coordination or provide information and referral services, including any entities that participate in the Florida 211 Network, to avoid duplication or fragmentation of services to kinship care families;

2. Be planned and operated in consultation with kinship caregivers and organizations representing them, youth raised by kinship caregivers, relevant governmental agencies, and relevant community-based or faith-based organizations;

3. Establish a toll-free telephone hotline to provide information to link kinship caregivers, kinship support group facilitators, and kinship service providers to:

a. One another;

b. Eligibility and enrollment information for federal, state, and local benefits;

c. Relevant training to assist kinship caregivers in caregiving and in obtaining benefits and services; and

d. Relevant knowledge related to legal options available for child custody, other legal assistance, and help in obtaining legal services.

4. Provide outreach to kinship care families, including by establishing, distributing, and updating a kinship care website, or other relevant guides or outreach materials; and

5. Promote partnerships between public and private agencies, including schools, community-based or faith-based organizations, and relevant governmental agencies, to increase their knowledge of the needs of kinship care families to promote better services for those families.

(5) RULEMAKING.—The department shall adopt rules to implement this section.

~~(1) It is the intent of the Legislature in enacting this section to:~~

~~(a) Provide for the establishment of procedures and protocols that serve to advance the continued safety of children by acknowledging the valued resource uniquely available through grandparents, relatives of children, and specified nonrelatives of children pursuant to subparagraph (2)(a)3.~~

~~(b) Recognize family relationships in which a grandparent or other relative is the head of a household that includes a child otherwise at risk of foster care placement.~~

~~(c) Enhance family preservation and stability by recognizing that most children in such placements with grandparents and other relatives do not need intensive supervision of the placement by the courts or by the department.~~

~~(d) Recognize that permanency in the best interests of the child can be achieved through a variety of permanency options, including permanent guardianship under s. 39.6221 if the guardian is a relative, by permanent placement with a fit and willing relative under s. 39.6231, by a relative, guardianship under chapter 744, or adoption, by providing additional placement options and incentives that will achieve permanency and stability for many children who are otherwise at risk of foster care placement because of abuse, abandonment, or neglect, but who may successfully be able to be placed by the dependency court in the care of such relatives.~~

~~(e) Reserve the limited casework and supervisory resources of the courts and the department for those cases in which~~

~~children do not have the option for safe, stable care within the family.~~

~~(f) Recognize that a child may have a close relationship with a person who is not a blood relative or a relative by marriage and that such person should be eligible for financial assistance under this section if he or she is able and willing to care for the child and provide a safe, stable home environment.~~

~~(2)(a) The Department of Children and Families shall establish, operate, and implement the Relative Caregiver Program by rule of the department. The Relative Caregiver Program shall, within the limits of available funding, provide financial assistance to:~~

~~1. Relatives who are within the fifth degree by blood or marriage to the parent or stepparent of a child and who are caring full-time for that dependent child in the role of substitute parent as a result of a court's determination of child abuse, neglect, or abandonment and subsequent placement with the relative under this chapter.~~

~~2. Relatives who are within the fifth degree by blood or marriage to the parent or stepparent of a child and who are caring full-time for that dependent child, and a dependent half-brother or half-sister of that dependent child, in the role of substitute parent as a result of a court's determination of child abuse, neglect, or abandonment and subsequent placement with the relative under this chapter.~~

~~3. Nonrelatives who are willing to assume custody and care of a dependent child in the role of substitute parent as a result of a court's determination of child abuse, neglect, or~~

~~abandonment and subsequent placement with the nonrelative caregiver under this chapter. The court must find that a proposed placement under this subparagraph is in the best interest of the child.~~

~~4. A relative or nonrelative caregiver, but the relative or nonrelative caregiver may not receive a Relative Caregiver Program payment if the parent or stepparent of the child resides in the home. However, a relative or nonrelative may receive the Relative Caregiver Program payment for a minor parent who is in his or her care, as well as for the minor parent's child, if both children have been adjudicated dependent and meet all other eligibility requirements. If the caregiver is currently receiving the payment, the Relative Caregiver Program payment must be terminated no later than the first of the following month after the parent or stepparent moves into the home, allowing for 10-day notice of adverse action.~~

~~The placement may be court-ordered temporary legal custody to the relative or nonrelative under protective supervision of the department pursuant to s. 39.521(1)(c)3., or court-ordered placement in the home of a relative or nonrelative as a permanency option under s. 39.6221 or s. 39.6231 or under former s. 39.622 if the placement was made before July 1, 2006. The Relative Caregiver Program shall offer financial assistance to caregivers who would be unable to serve in that capacity without the caregiver payment because of financial burden, thus exposing the child to the trauma of placement in a shelter or in foster care.~~

~~(b) Caregivers who receive assistance under this section~~

~~must be capable, as determined by a home study, of providing a physically safe environment and a stable, supportive home for the children under their care and must assure that the children's well-being is met, including, but not limited to, the provision of immunizations, education, and mental health services as needed.~~

~~(c) Relatives or nonrelatives who qualify for and participate in the Relative Caregiver Program are not required to meet foster care licensing requirements under s. 409.175.~~

~~(d) Relatives or nonrelatives who are caring for children placed with them by the court pursuant to this chapter shall receive a special monthly caregiver benefit established by rule of the department. The amount of the special benefit payment shall be based on the child's age within a payment schedule established by rule of the department and subject to availability of funding. The statewide average monthly rate for children judicially placed with relatives or nonrelatives who are not licensed as foster homes may not exceed 82 percent of the statewide average foster care rate, and the cost of providing the assistance described in this section to any caregiver may not exceed the cost of providing out-of-home care in emergency shelter or foster care.~~

~~(e) Children receiving cash benefits under this section are not eligible to simultaneously receive WAGES cash benefits under chapter 414.~~

~~(f) Within available funding, the Relative Caregiver Program shall provide caregivers with family support and preservation services, flexible funds in accordance with s. 409.165, school readiness, and other available services in order~~

~~to support the child's safety, growth, and healthy development. Children living with caregivers who are receiving assistance under this section shall be eligible for Medicaid coverage.~~

~~(g) The department may use appropriate available state, federal, and private funds to operate the Relative Caregiver Program. The department may develop liaison functions to be available to relatives or nonrelatives who care for children pursuant to this chapter to ensure placement stability in extended family settings.~~

Section 6. Paragraph (e) of subsection (1) of section 39.521, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

39.521 Disposition hearings; powers of disposition.—

(1) A disposition hearing shall be conducted by the court, if the court finds that the facts alleged in the petition for dependency were proven in the adjudicatory hearing, or if the parents or legal custodians have consented to the finding of dependency or admitted the allegations in the petition, have failed to appear for the arraignment hearing after proper notice, or have not been located despite a diligent search having been conducted.

(e) The court shall, in its written order of disposition, include all of the following:

1. The placement or custody of the child.

2. Special conditions of placement and visitation.

3. Evaluation, counseling, treatment activities, and other actions to be taken by the parties, if ordered.

4. The persons or entities responsible for supervising or monitoring services to the child and parent.

5. Continuation or discharge of the guardian ad litem, as appropriate.

6. The date, time, and location of the next scheduled review hearing, which must occur within the earlier of:

a. Ninety days after the disposition hearing;

b. Ninety days after the court accepts the case plan;

c. Six months after the date of the last review hearing; or

d. Six months after the date of the child's removal from his or her home, if no review hearing has been held since the child's removal from the home.

7. If the child is in an out-of-home placement, child support to be paid by the parents, or the guardian of the child's estate if possessed of assets which under law may be disbursed for the care, support, and maintenance of the child. The court may exercise jurisdiction over all child support matters, shall adjudicate the financial obligation, including health insurance, of the child's parents or guardian, and shall enforce the financial obligation as provided in chapter 61. The state's child support enforcement agency shall enforce child support orders under this section in the same manner as child support orders under chapter 61. Placement of the child shall not be contingent upon issuance of a support order.

8.a. If the court does not commit the child to the temporary legal custody of an adult relative, legal custodian, or other adult approved by the court, the disposition order must ~~shall~~ include the reasons for such a decision and ~~shall include~~ a written determination as to whether ~~diligent efforts were made by~~ the department and the community-based care lead agency reasonably engaged in family finding in attempting to locate an adult relative, legal custodian, or other adult willing to care for the child in order to present that placement option to the court instead of placement with the department. The level of reasonableness is determined by the length of the case and amount of time the department or community-based care lead agency has had to begin or continue the process.

b. If no suitable relative is found and the child is placed with the department or a legal custodian or other adult approved by the court, both the department and the court shall consider transferring temporary legal custody to an adult relative approved by the court at a later date, but neither the department nor the court is obligated to so place the child if it is in the child's best interest to remain in the current placement.

~~For the purposes of this section, "diligent efforts to locate an adult relative" means a search similar to the diligent search for a parent, but without the continuing obligation to search after an initial adequate search is completed.~~

9. Other requirements necessary to protect the health, safety, and well-being of the child, to preserve the stability of the child's child care, early education program, or any other educational placement, and to promote family preservation or reunification whenever possible.

Section 7. Paragraph (b) of subsection (2) and paragraph (a) of subsection (3) of section 39.6012, Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

39.6012 Case plan tasks; services.—

(2) The case plan must include all available information that is relevant to the child's care including, at a minimum:

(b) A description of the plan for ensuring that the child receives safe and proper care and that services are provided to the child in order to address the child's needs. To the extent available and accessible, the following health, mental health, and education information and records of the child must be attached to the case plan and updated throughout the judicial review process:

1. The names and addresses of the child's health, mental health, and educational providers;

2. The child's grade level performance;

3. The child's school record or, if the child is under the age of school entry, any records from a child care program, early education program, or preschool program;

4. Documentation of compliance or noncompliance with the attendance requirements under s. 39.604, if the child is enrolled in a child care program, early education program, or preschool program;

5.~~4.~~ Assurances that the child's placement takes into account proximity to the school in which the child is enrolled at the time of placement;

6. ~~5. A record of~~ The child's immunizations;

7.~~6.~~ The child's known medical history, including any known health problems;

8.~~7.~~ The child's medications, if any; and

9.~~8.~~ Any other relevant health, mental health, and education information concerning the child.

(3) In addition to any other requirement, if the child is in an out-of-home placement, the case plan must include:

(a) A description of the type of placement in which the child is to be living and, if the child has been placed with the department, whether the department and the community-based care lead agency have reasonably engaged in family finding to locate an adult relative, legal custodian, or other adult willing to care for the child in order to present that placement option to the court instead of placement with the department.

Section 8. Section 39.604, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

39.604 Rilya Wilson Act; short title; legislative intent; requirements; attendance; stability and transitions ~~reporting responsibilities~~.—

(1) SHORT TITLE.—This section may be cited as the "Rilya Wilson Act."

(2) LEGISLATIVE FINDINGS AND INTENT.—

(a) The Legislature finds that children from birth to age 5 years are particularly vulnerable to maltreatment and that they enter out-of-home care in disproportionately high numbers.

(b) The Legislature also finds that children who are abused or neglected are at high risk of experiencing physical and mental health problems and problems with language and communication, cognitive development, and social and emotional development.

(c) The Legislature also finds that providing early intervention and services, as well as quality child care and early education programs to support the healthy development of these young children, can have positive effects that last throughout childhood and into adulthood.

(d) The Legislature also finds that the needs of each of these children are unique, and while some children may be best served by a quality child care or early education program, others may need more attention and nurturing that can best be provided by a stay-at-home caregiver ~~The Legislature recognizes that children who are in the care of the state due to abuse, neglect, or abandonment are at increased risk of poor school performance and other behavioral and social problems~~.

(e) It is the intent of the Legislature that children who are ~~currently~~ in out-of-home ~~the~~ care ~~of the state~~ be provided with an age-appropriate developmental child care or early education arrangement that is in the best interest of the child ~~education program~~ to help ameliorate the negative consequences of abuse, neglect, or abandonment.

(3) REQUIREMENTS.—

1. A child from birth to the age of school entry, who is under court-ordered protective supervision or in out-of-home care and is ~~the custody of the Family Safety Program Office of the Department of Children and Families or a community-based lead agency, and~~ enrolled in an ~~a licensed~~ early education or child care program must attend the program 5 days a week unless the court grants an exception due to the court determining it is in the best interest of a child from birth to age 3 years:

a. With a stay-at-home caregiver to remain at home.

b. With a caregiver who works less than full time to attend an early education or child care program fewer than 5 days a week.

2. Notwithstanding s. 39.202, the department ~~of Children and Families~~ must notify operators of an ~~the licensed~~ early education or child care program, subject to the reporting requirements of this act, of the enrollment of any child from birth to the age of school entry, under court-ordered protective supervision or in out-of-home care. If ~~the custody of the Family Safety Program Office of the Department of Children and Families or a community-based lead agency. When~~ a child is enrolled in an early education or child care program ~~regulated by the department~~, the child's attendance in the program must be a required task ~~action~~ in the safety plan or the case plan developed for the child pursuant to this chapter. ~~An exemption to participating in the licensed early education or child care program 5 days a week may be granted by the court.~~

(4) ATTENDANCE ~~AND REPORTING REQUIREMENTS~~.—

1.~~(a)~~ A child enrolled in an ~~a licensed~~ early education or child care program who meets the requirements of paragraph (b) ~~subsection (3)~~ may not be withdrawn from the program without the prior written approval of the department ~~Family Safety Program Office of the Department of Children and Families~~ or the community-based care lead agency.

2.a.~~(b)1.~~ If a child covered by this section is absent from the program on a day when he or she is supposed to be present, the person with whom the child resides must report the absence to the program by the end of the business day. If the person with whom the child resides, whether the parent or caregiver, fails to timely report the absence, the absence is considered to be unexcused. The program shall report any unexcused absence or seven consecutive excused absences of a child who is enrolled in the program and covered by this act to the ~~local designated staff of the Family Safety Program Office of the~~ department ~~of Children and Families~~ or the community-based care lead agency by the end of the business day following the unexcused absence or seventh consecutive excused absence.

b.~~2.~~ The department or community-based care lead agency shall conduct a site visit to the residence of the child upon receiving a report of two consecutive unexcused absences or seven consecutive excused absences.

c.~~3.~~ If the site visit results in a determination that the child is missing, the department or community-based care lead agency shall follow the procedure set forth in s. 39.0141 ~~report the child as missing to a law enforcement agency and proceed with the necessary actions to locate the child pursuant to procedures for locating missing children~~.

d.~~4.~~ If the site visit results in a determination that the child is not missing, the parent or caregiver shall be notified that failure to ensure that the child attends the ~~licensed~~ early education or child care program is a violation of the safety plan or the case plan. If more than two site visits are conducted pursuant to this subsection, staff shall ~~initiate action to~~ notify the court of the parent or caregiver's noncompliance with the case plan.

(5) EDUCATIONAL STABILITY.—Just as educational stability is important for school-age children, it is also important to minimize disruptions to secure attachments and stable relationships with supportive caregivers of children from birth to school age and to ensure that these attachments are not disrupted due to placement in out-of-home care or subsequent changes in out-of-home placement.

(a) A child must be allowed to remain in the child care or early educational setting that he or she attended before entry into out-of-home care, unless the program is not in the best interest of the child.

(b) If it is not in the best interest of the child for him or her to remain in his or her child care or early education setting upon entry into out-of-home care, the caregiver must work with the case manager, guardian ad litem, child care and educational staff, and educational surrogate, if one has been appointed, to determine the best setting for the child. Such setting may be a child care provider that receives a Gold Seal Quality Care designation pursuant to s. 402.281, a provider participating in a quality rating system, a licensed child care provider, a public school provider, or a license-exempt child care provider, including religious-exempt and registered providers, and non-public schools.

(c) The department and providers of early care and education shall develop protocols to ensure continuity if children are required to leave a program because of a change in out-of-home placement.

(6) TRANSITIONS.—In the absence of an emergency, if a child from birth to school age leaves a child care or early education program, the transition must be pursuant to a plan that involves cooperation and sharing of information among all persons involved, that respects the child's developmental stage and associated psychological needs, and that allows for a gradual transition from one setting to another.

Section 9. Paragraph (b) of subsection (6) and subsection (7) of section 39.6251, Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

39.6251 Continuing care for young adults.—

(6) A young adult who is between the ages of 18 and 21 and who has left care may return to care by applying to the community-based care lead agency for readmission. The community-based care lead agency shall readmit the young adult if he or she continues to meet the eligibility requirements in this section.

(b) Within 30 days after the young adult has been readmitted to care, the community-based care lead agency shall assign a case manager to update the case plan and the transition plan and to arrange for the required services. Updates to the case plan and the transition plan and arrangements for the required services ~~Such activities~~ shall be undertaken in consultation with the young adult. The department shall petition the court to reinstate jurisdiction over the young adult. Notwithstanding s. 39.013(2), the court shall resume jurisdiction over the young adult if the department establishes that he or she continues to meet the eligibility requirements in this section.

(7) During each period of time that a young adult is in care, the community-based lead agency shall provide regular case management reviews that must include at least monthly contact with the case manager. ~~If a young adult lives outside the service area of his or her community-based care lead agency, monthly contact may occur by telephone.~~

Section 10. Paragraph (c) of subsection (2) of section 39.701, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

39.701 Judicial review.—

(2) REVIEW HEARINGS FOR CHILDREN YOUNGER THAN 18 YEARS OF AGE.—

(c) Review determinations.—The court and any citizen review panel shall take into consideration the information contained in the social services study and investigation and all medical, psychological, and educational records that support the terms of the case plan; testimony by the social services agency, the parent, the foster parent or legal custodian, the guardian ad litem or surrogate parent for educational decisionmaking if one has been appointed for the child, and any other person deemed appropriate; and any relevant and material evidence submitted to the court, including written and oral reports to the extent of their probative value. These reports and evidence may be received by the court in its effort to determine the action to be taken with regard to the child and may be relied upon to the extent of their probative value, even though not competent in an adjudicatory hearing. In its deliberations, the court and any citizen review panel shall seek to determine:

1. If the parent was advised of the right to receive assistance from any person or social service agency in the preparation of the case plan.

2. If the parent has been advised of the right to have counsel present at the judicial review or citizen review hearings. If not so advised, the court or citizen review panel shall advise the parent of such right.

3. If a guardian ad litem needs to be appointed for the child in a case in which a guardian ad litem has not previously been appointed or if there is a need to continue a guardian ad litem in a case in which a guardian ad litem has been appointed.

4. Who holds the rights to make educational decisions for the child. If appropriate, the court may refer the child to the district school superintendent for appointment of a surrogate parent or may itself appoint a surrogate parent under the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act and s. 39.0016. If the child is under the age of school entry, the court must make the appointment.

5. The compliance or lack of compliance of all parties with applicable items of the case plan, including the parents' compliance with child support orders.

6. The compliance or lack of compliance with a visitation contract between the parent and the social service agency for contact with the child, including the frequency, duration, and results of the parent-child visitation and the reason for any noncompliance.

7. The frequency, kind, and duration of contacts among siblings who have been separated during placement, as well as any efforts undertaken to reunite separated siblings if doing so is in the best interest of the child.

8. The compliance or lack of compliance of the parent in meeting specified financial obligations pertaining to the care of the child, including the reason for failure to comply, if applicable.

9. Whether the child is receiving safe and proper care according to s. 39.6012, including, but not limited to, the appropriateness of the child's current placement, including whether the child is in a setting that is as family-like and as close to the parent's home as possible, consistent with the child's best interests and special needs, and including maintaining stability in the child's educational placement, as documented by assurances from the community-based care provider that:

a. The placement of the child takes into account the appropriateness of the current educational setting and the proximity to the school in which the child is enrolled at the time of placement.

b. The community-based care agency has coordinated with appropriate local educational agencies to ensure that the child remains in the school in which the child is enrolled at the time of placement.

10. Whether the department or community-based care lead agency continues to reasonably engage in family finding. The level of reasonableness is determined by the length of the case and amount of time the department or community-based care lead agency has had to continue the process.

11. ~~10.~~ A projected date likely for the child's return home or other permanent placement.

12. ~~11.~~ When appropriate, the basis for the unwillingness or inability of the parent to become a party to a case plan. The court and the citizen review panel shall determine if the efforts of the social service agency to secure party participation in a case plan were sufficient.

13. ~~12.~~ For a child who has reached 13 years of age but is not yet 18 years of age, the adequacy of the child's preparation for adulthood and independent living. For a child who is 15 years of age or older, the court shall determine if appropriate steps are being taken for the child to obtain a driver license or learner's driver license.

14. ~~13.~~ If amendments to the case plan are required. Amendments to the case plan must be made as provided in ~~under~~ s. 39.6013.

Section 11. Subsections (4) and (5) of section 409.166,

Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

409.166 Children within the child welfare system; adoption assistance program.—

(4) ADOPTION ASSISTANCE.—

(a) For purposes of administering payments under paragraph (d), the term:

1. "Child" means an individual who has not attained 21 years of age.

2. "Young adult" means an individual who has attained 18 years of age but who has not attained 21 years of age.

(b) ~~(a)~~ A maintenance subsidy shall be granted only when all other resources available to a child have been thoroughly explored and it can be clearly established that this is the most acceptable plan for providing permanent placement for the child. The maintenance subsidy may not be used as a substitute for adoptive parent recruitment or as an inducement to adopt a child who might be placed without providing a subsidy. However, it shall be the policy of the department that no child be denied adoption if providing a maintenance subsidy would make adoption possible. The best interest of the child shall be the deciding factor in every case. This section does not prohibit foster parents from applying to adopt a child placed in their care. Foster parents or relative caregivers must be asked if they would adopt without a maintenance subsidy.

(c) ~~(b)~~ The department shall provide adoption assistance to the adoptive parents, subject to specific appropriation, in the amount of $5,000 annually, paid on a monthly basis, for the support and maintenance of a child until the 18th birthday of such child or in an amount other than $5,000 annually as determined by the adoptive parents and the department and memorialized in a written agreement between the adoptive parents and the department. The agreement shall take into consideration the circumstances of the adoptive parents and the needs of the child being adopted. The amount of subsidy may be adjusted based upon changes in the needs of the child or circumstances of the adoptive parents. Changes may ~~shall~~ not be made without the concurrence of the adoptive parents. However, in no case shall the amount of the monthly payment exceed the foster care maintenance payment that would have been paid during the same period if the child had been in a foster family home.

(d) Effective January 1, 2019, adoption assistance payments may be made for a child whose adoptive parent entered into an adoption assistance agreement after the child reached 16 years of age but before the child reached 18 years of age if the child is:

1. Completing secondary education or a program leading to an equivalent credential;

2. Enrolled in an institution that provides postsecondary or vocational education;

3. Participating in a program or activity designed to promote or eliminate barriers to employment;

4. Employed for at least 80 hours per month; or

5. Unable to participate in programs or activities listed in subparagraphs 1.-4. full time due to a physical, intellectual, emotional, or psychiatric condition that limits participation. Any such barrier to participation must be supported by documentation in the child's case file or school or medical records.

(e) A child or young adult receiving benefits through the adoption assistance program is not eligible to simultaneously receive relative caregiver benefits under s. 39.5085 or postsecondary education services and support under s. 409.1451.

(f) ~~(c)~~ The department may provide adoption assistance to the adoptive parents, subject to specific appropriation, for medical assistance initiated after the adoption of the child for medical, surgical, hospital, and related services needed as a result of a physical or mental condition of the child which existed before the adoption and is not covered by Medicaid, Children's Medical Services, or Children's Mental Health Services. Such assistance may be initiated at any time but shall terminate on or before the child's 18th birthday.

(5) ELIGIBILITY FOR SERVICES.—

(a) As a condition of providing adoption assistance under this section and before the adoption is finalized, the adoptive parents must have an approved adoption home study and must enter into an adoption-assistance agreement with the department which specifies the financial assistance and other services to be provided.

(b) A child who is handicapped at the time of adoption is ~~shall be~~ eligible for services through the Children's Medical Services network established under part I of chapter 391 if the child was eligible for such services before ~~prior to~~ the adoption.

Section 12. Effective January 1, 2019, paragraph (b) of subsection (1) of section 414.045, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

414.045 Cash assistance program.—Cash assistance families

include any families receiving cash assistance payments from the state program for temporary assistance for needy families as defined in federal law, whether such funds are from federal funds, state funds, or commingled federal and state funds. Cash assistance families may also include families receiving cash assistance through a program defined as a separate state program.

(1) For reporting purposes, families receiving cash assistance shall be grouped into the following categories. The department may develop additional groupings in order to comply with federal reporting requirements, to comply with the data-reporting needs of the board of directors of CareerSource Florida, Inc., or to better inform the public of program progress.

(b) Child-only cases.—Child-only cases include cases that do not have an adult or teen head of household as defined in federal law. Such cases include:

1. Children in the care of caretaker relatives, if the caretaker relatives choose to have their needs excluded in the calculation of the amount of cash assistance.

2. Families in the Kinship Care ~~Relative Caregiver~~ Program as provided in s. 39.5085.

3. Families in which the only parent in a single-parent family or both parents in a two-parent family receive supplemental security income (SSI) benefits under Title XVI of the Social Security Act, as amended. To the extent permitted by federal law, individuals receiving SSI shall be excluded as household members in determining the amount of cash assistance, and such cases shall not be considered families containing an adult. Parents or caretaker relatives who are excluded from the cash assistance group due to receipt of SSI may choose to participate in work activities. An individual whose ability to participate in work activities is limited who volunteers to participate in work activities shall be assigned to work activities consistent with such limitations. An individual who volunteers to participate in a work activity may receive child care or support services consistent with such participation.

4. Families in which the only parent in a single-parent family or both parents in a two-parent family are not eligible for cash assistance due to immigration status or other limitation of federal law. To the extent required by federal law, such cases shall not be considered families containing an adult.

5. To the extent permitted by federal law and subject to appropriations, special needs children who have been adopted pursuant to s. 409.166 and whose adopting family qualifies as a needy family under the state program for temporary assistance for needy families. Notwithstanding any provision to the contrary in s. 414.075, s. 414.085, or s. 414.095, a family shall be considered a needy family if:

a. The family is determined by the department to have an income below 200 percent of the federal poverty level;

b. The family meets the requirements of s. 414.095(2) and (3) related to residence, citizenship, or eligible noncitizen status; and

c. The family provides any information that may be necessary to meet federal reporting requirements specified under Part A of Title IV of the Social Security Act.

Families described in subparagraph 1., subparagraph 2., or subparagraph 3. may receive child care assistance or other supports or services so that the children may continue to be cared for in their own homes or in the homes of relatives. Such assistance or services may be funded from the temporary assistance for needy families block grant to the extent permitted under federal law and to the extent funds have been provided in the General Appropriations Act.

Section 13. Paragraph (d) of subsection (1) of section 1009.25, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

1009.25 Fee exemptions.—

(1) The following students are exempt from the payment of tuition and fees, including lab fees, at a school district that provides workforce education programs, Florida College System institution, or state university:

(d) A student who is or was at the time he or she reached 18 years of age in the custody of a kinship caregiver ~~relative or nonrelative~~ under s. 39.5085 or who was adopted from the Department of Children and Families after May 5, 1997. Such exemption includes fees associated with enrollment in applied academics for adult education instruction. The exemption remains valid until the student reaches 28 years of age.

Section 14. (1) The Department of Children and Families shall establish and operate a pilot Title IV-E Guardianship Assistance Program in two circuits in Florida effective August 1, 2018. The program will provide payments at a rate of $333 per month for persons who meet the Title IV-E eligibility requirements as outlined in s. 473(d)(1)(A) of the Social Security Act.

(2) For purposes of administering this program, the term:

(a) "Child" means an individual who has not attained 21 years of age.

(b) "Young adult" means an individual who has attained 18 years of age but who has not attained 21 years of age.

(c) "Fictive kin" means a person unrelated by birth, marriage, or adoption who has an emotionally significant relationship, which possesses the characteristics of a family relationship, to a child.

(3) Caregivers enrolled in the Relative Caregiver or Nonrelative Caregiver Program prior to August 1, 2018, are not eligible to participate in the Title IV-E Guardianship Assistance Program pilot. Effective August 1, 2018, eligible caregivers enrolled in the pilot may not simultaneously have payments made on the child's behalf through the Relative Caregiver Program under s. 39.5085, postsecondary education services and supports under s. 409.1451, or child-only cash assistance under chapter 414.

(4) Notwithstanding s. 39.5085, in the two circuits where the Title IV-E Guardianship Assistance Program pilot is established, the Relative Caregiver Program will discontinue accepting applications effective July 31, 2018.

(5) Notwithstanding s. 409.145(4), in the two circuits where the Title IV-E Guardianship Assistance Program pilot is established, the room and board rate for guardians who are eligible for the program will be $333 per month.

(6) Notwithstanding s. 409.175(11)(a), in the two circuits where the Title IV-E Guardianship Assistance Program pilot is

1101 established, an exception of licensing standards may be provided 1102 for those standards where a waiver has been granted.
1103 Section 15. Except as otherwise expressly provided in this 1104 act, this act shall take effect July 1, 2018.

COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

CS/CS/SB 590 makes a number of changes to the laws relating to relative and nonrelative caregivers for children in out-of-home foster care. The most significant changes required by the bill are as follows:

- Contingent upon a specific appropriation, directing the Department of Children and Families (DCF or department), in collaboration with sheriffs' offices that conduct child protective investigations and community-based care lead agencies, to develop a statewide family finding program.
- Requiring court determination at each judicial hearing throughout the dependency process that the DCF or other appropriate agency engaged in family finding, if the family finding program is implemented.
- Contingent upon a specific appropriation, establishing kinship navigator programs by community-based care lead agencies to provide support and assistance to relative and nonrelative caregivers.
- Contingent upon a specific appropriation, extending the maintenance adoption subsidy to age 21 for eligible young adults.
- Contingent upon a specific appropriation, extending program services to age 21 for eligible young adults who have not achieved permanency.

- Contingent upon a specific appropriation, establishing a Title IV-E Guardianship Assistance Program pilot in two DCF circuits.

The bill also amends the Rilya Wilson Act, s. 39.604, F.S., as follows:

- To provide an alternative to fulltime enrollment in a child care program for foster children under the age of three whose caregiver stays home all day or works less than fulltime.
- To appoint a surrogate parent to make educational decisions if appropriate, and provide for educational stability and transitions.

The bill is not expected to have a fiscal impact on the state or community-based care lead agencies because implementation of the family finding program, kinship navigator programs, and GAP pilot are permissive as to the availability of resources.

The family finding program and kinship navigator programs are effective January 1, 2019, and the GAP pilot is effective August 1, 2018. The remainder of the bill is effective July 1, 2018.

II. Present Situation:

Relative and Nonrelative Caregivers

When children cannot remain safely with their parents, placement with relatives is preferred over placement in foster care with nonrelatives. Caseworkers try to identify and locate a relative or relatives who can safely care for the children while parents receive services to help them address the issues that brought the children to the attention of child welfare. Placement with relatives — or kinship care — provides permanency for children and helps them maintain family connections. Kinship care is the raising of children by grandparents, other extended family members, and non-relative adults with whom they have a close, family-like relationship, such as godparents and close family friends.[1]

Kinship care may "be formal and involve a training and licensure process for the caregivers, monthly payments to help defray the costs of caring for the [child], and support services[.]"[2] Kinship care also may "be informal" and "involve only an assessment process to ensure the safety and suitability of the home along with supportive services for the child and caregivers."[3] "Approximately one-fourth of [the] children in out-of-home care are living with relatives."[4]

> Nearly 3 million American children are cared for by relatives other than their parents. Child welfare agencies in many states rely on extended families, primarily grandparents, to provide homes for children who cannot safely remain with their parents. In fact, relatives care for 27 percent of children in foster care—about 107,000—according to the Adoption and Foster Care Analysis and Reporting System.[5]

In Florida, there were 24,069 children in out-of-home care as of December 31, 2017, More than half of those children, 13,579, were placed with approved relatives and "fictive kin" non-relatives,[6] while 10,490 were placed in licensed foster care, group care, or in another placement.[7]

Relative Caregiver Program

The Relative Caregiver Program was established in 1998[8] for the purpose of recognizing the importance of family relationships and providing additional placement options and incentives to help achieve permanency and stability for many children who are otherwise at risk of foster care placement. The program provides financial assistance to qualified relatives. Within available funding, the Relative Caregiver Program is also required to provide caregivers with family support and preservation services, school readiness assistance, and other available services in order to support the child's safety, growth, and healthy development. Children living with caregivers who are receiving assistance under the program are also eligible for Medicaid coverage.[9]

In 2014,[10] the Legislature expanded the Relative Caregiver Program to include nonrelatives who a child may have a close relationship with who are not a blood relative or a relative by marriage. Those nonrelatives are eligible for financial assistance if they are able and willing to care for the child and provide a safe, stable home environment. The court must find that a proposed placement is in the best interest of the child.[11]

Under the Relative Caregiver Program, the statewide average monthly rate for children placed by the court with relatives or nonrelatives who are not licensed as foster homes may not exceed 82 percent of the statewide average foster care rate. Additionally, the cost of providing the assistance to any caregiver in the program may not exceed the cost of providing out-of-home care in an emergency shelter or in foster care.[12]

Financial Assistance

The Relative Caregiver Program also provides monthly cash assistance to relatives who meet eligibility rules and have custody of a child under age 18 who has been adjudicated dependent by a Florida court and placed in their home by the Department of Children and Families Child Welfare/Community Based Care (CW/CBC) contracted provider.[13] As demonstrated by the charts below, the monthly cash assistance amount is higher than the Temporary Cash Assistance for one child but less than the amount paid for a child in the foster care program.

Monthly cash assistance:

Age of Child	Relative and Nonrelative Caregivers[14]	Foster Parents[15]	Residential Group Home Placement[16]
Age 0 through 5 years	$242	$439	$3,355 per month average[17]
Age 6 through 12 years	$249	$451
Age 13 through 18 years	$298	$527
These are monthly benefit amounts per child

Temporary cash assistance for relative caregivers:

Number of Children	Monthly Benefit
1	$180
2	$241
3	$303
These are monthly benefit amounts per total number of children[18]

Additionally, while reimbursement for children in foster care or in residential group homes begins at the time the child is placed, the monthly benefit payment for relative and nonrelative caregivers does not begin until the child has been adjudicated dependent.[19] Adjudication typically takes 2 months to a year. During this time, a nonrelative caregiver receives no benefit, and a relative caregiver may be eligible only for temporary cash assistance if in close enough consanguinity to the child.[20] Once the child has been adjudicated dependent, the relative becomes eligible for the full Relative Caregiver Program benefit amount.[21]

Child Care Assistance

The cost of participating in the school readiness program is subsidized in part or fully by the funding of the local early learning coalition for eligible children.[22] Criteria have been established for the children who are to receive priority for participating in the program at no cost or at a subsidized rate.[23] However, to the extent that subsidized child care is not available, the cost of child care is assumed by the caregiver.[24]

Fostering Connections to Success and Increasing Adoptions Act (Fostering Connections)

The federal Fostering Connections to Success and Increasing Adoptions Act of 2008 (Fostering Connections) was designed to improve the lives of children and youth in foster care and increase the likelihood that they will be able to leave the foster care system to live permanently with relative caregivers or adoptive families.[25] The law accomplishes this, in part, by allowing states to extend foster care services and maintenance adoption subsidy payments for children leaving foster care and adoptive families to the age of 21 and to establish a subsidized guardianship assistance program for relative caregivers.

Extended Foster Care

In 2013, the Legislature exercised the option of providing for extended foster care, which applies to young adults aged 18 to 21 who have not achieved permanency prior to their 18th birthdays.[26] The program builds on independent living assistance services that were previously available to young adults who "aged-out" of the foster care system.[27] Extended foster care services are available to young adults who are living in licensed care on their 18th birthday and who are:

- Completing secondary education or a program leading to an equivalent credential;
- Enrolled in an institution that provides postsecondary or vocational education;
- Participating in a program or activity designed to promote or eliminate barriers to employment;
- Employed for at least 80 hours per month; or
- Unable to participate in programs or activities listed above full time due to a physical intellectual, emotional, or psychiatric condition that limits participation.[28]

Program eligibility is also contingent on the living situation of a young adult. Participants are required to live independently, but in an environment in which they are provided supervision, case management, and support services by either DCF or a relevant CBC. Examples of such an environment include college dormitories, shared housing, and foster family homes.[29]

Adoption Assistance

The department currently provides financial assistance to families who adopt children with special needs or who are otherwise difficult to place in an adoptive home.[30] This assistance is made available in several ways. DCF may grant a maintenance subsidy to families (maintenance adoption subsidy or MAS), which is an annual payment intended to subsidize the costs of caring for an eligible child. The department may also offer a subsidy to family for any medical costs associated with a child's specific needs. In addition, the department is authorized to offer a nonrecurring reimbursement to an eligible family for costs associated with formalizing an adoption, which may include attorney's fees, court costs, travel expenses, and other related costs. Adoption assistance, in these various forms, may be offered to families who adopt an eligible child until the 18th birthday of such a child.[31]

To date, Florida has chosen not to take advantage of the provision of federal Fostering Connections Act that allows the maintenance adoption subsidy to be continued until a young adult reaches age 21.

Title IV-E Guardianship Assistance Program

The third primary provision of Fostering Connections is the creation of a federally supported Guardianship Assistance Program (GAP) for relatives. The GAP gives states the option of using federal Title IV-E funds to support kinship guardianship payments for children living in the homes of relative caregivers who become the children's legal guardians.[32]

The federal Fostering Connections Act and Increasing Adoptions Act promotes permanency for children living with kin by providing states with the option to use federal Title IV-E funding for kinship guardianship subsidies. If a child meets certain Title IV-E eligibility standards, he or she may also be eligible for a GAP subsidy if:

- The child has been removed from his or her family's home pursuant to a voluntary placement agreement or as a result of a judicial determination that allowing the child to remain in the home would be contrary to the child's welfare;
- The child is eligible for federal foster care maintenance payments under Title IV-E of the Social Security Act for at least six consecutive months while residing in the home of the prospective relative guardian who is licensed or approved as meeting the licensure requirements as a foster family home;

- Returning home or adoption is not an appropriate permanency option for the child;
- The child demonstrates a strong attachment to the prospective relative guardian and the relative guardian has a strong commitment to caring permanently for the child; and
- The child has been consulted regarding the guardianship arrangement (applicable to children age 14 and older).[33]

Likewise, a prospective guardian must meet certain conditions to qualify for a GAP subsidy. He or she:
- Must be the eligible child's relative or close fictive kin;
- Must have undergone fingerprint-based criminal record checks and child abuse and neglect registry checks;
- Must be a licensed foster parent and approved for guardianship assistance by the relevant state department;
- Must display a strong commitment to caring permanently for the child; and
- Must have obtained legal guardianship of the child after the guardianship assistance agreement has been negotiated and finalized with the department.[34]

Federal guidance on GAP implementation recognizes that many relative caregivers may find the foster care licensure process burdensome. Accordingly, states are granted the authority to determine what constitutes a "non-safety" licensure standard and, on a case-by-case basis, offer waivers to those standards when appropriate.[35]

To date, Florida has chosen not to implement this provision of Fostering Connections and relies on the established Relative Caregiver Program to provide assistance to caregivers.

Title IV-E Waivers

First authorized by Congress in 1994, the goal of permitting waivers of specific Title IV-E requirements is to allow states to demonstrate alternative and innovative practices that achieve federal child welfare policy goals in a manner that is cost neutral to the federal Treasury. Each project has a specific approval period, which is typically five years, must be determined to cost the federal government no more in Title IV-E support than it would without the waiver project, and must be independently evaluated.[36]

Currently 26 states, including Florida, have approved child welfare demonstration projects commonly referred to as Title IV-E waivers. Under the terms and conditions of their specific waiver agreement, each state is permitted to use federal Title IV-E foster care funds to provide services and assistance to children and their families, even if the children or the services or assistance would not otherwise be considered eligible.

Title IV-E waiver projects vary significantly from state to state in terms of geographic and program scope. Some operate on a statewide basis while others are limited to specific regions or counties in the state. The projects may focus on different age groups of children and different service needs or circumstances, such as children:

- Entering care for the first time;
- At risk of entering care;
- Transitioning from group care to home; and
- With substance-abusing parents.[37]

A smaller number of projects address other issues, such as:

- Preventing or reducing the use of group care for children in foster care;
- Addressing behavioral health needs of children;
- Addressing needs of caregivers with substance use disorders; and
- Reducing placement instability for children in foster care.[38]

Florida's Title IV-E Waivers

Florida's original Title IV-E waiver was effective on October 1, 2006, and was in effect for five years. Key features of the waiver were:

- A capped allocation of funds, similar to a block grant, distributed to community-based care lead agencies for service provision;
- Flexibility to use funds for a broader array of services beyond out-of-home care; and
- Ability to serve children who did not meet Title IV-E criteria.[39]

The federal government extended Florida's original waiver to 2014, and then approved a renewal retroactively, beginning October 1, 2013. The renewal is authorized until September 30, 2018. The renewal waiver's terms and conditions include the following goals:

- Improving child and family outcomes through flexible use of Title IV-E funds;
- Providing a broader array of community-based services and increasing the number of children eligible for services; and
- Reducing administrative costs associated with the provision of child welfare services by removing current restrictions on Title IV-E eligibility and on the types of services that may be paid for using Title IV-E funds.[40]

Like the original waiver, the renewal waiver also involves a capped allocation of funds, flexibility to use the federal IV-E funds for a wider array of services, and expanded eligibility for children.[41]

Under current law, the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services is not authorized to grant any new child welfare waivers, and no state may operate a waiver project after September 30, 2019.[42] Therefore, Florida will revert to more restrictive Title IV-E federal funding requirements after September 30, 2018, or 2019 if the waiver is renewed for an additional year.

Additional Information

Committee staff [43] conducted telephone/video conferences with dependency judges statewide who identified the following issues related to the use of relative caregivers for children placed in out-of-home care:

- Unexpected caregiving responsibility – Foster parents are licensed, trained, and expect to take children into their homes; whereas, relatives are more often than not asked to take in children of family members suddenly and without time or help for any preparation.
- Lack of knowledge about trauma – While foster parents receive training, relative caregivers do not typically know how to deal with the trauma to which the children may have been exposed.
- Dysfunctional family dynamics – Relatives have additional stress and issues due to the fact that they are caring for children of other family members.
- Increased use of family finding in order to identify family members earlier in the process – In circuits where it is used, family finding works well to identify more family members and identify them earlier in the process, either during investigations or at the shelter hearing. In some circuits, the use of family finding is sporadic and not utilized throughout the life of the dependency case. Parents are often embarrassed and do not want family members to know they are involved with the child welfare system. Older children who know their relatives are often overlooked as a source of contact information.
- Delays in process – Delays in getting the results from home studies and fingerprint submissions is problematic. Also, delays in the Interstate Compact for the Placement of Children (ICPC)[44] process, which establishes procedures for ensuring the safety and stability of placements of children across state lines, cause further delays in placing children with out-of-state relatives. Judicial decisions with interstate placement implications must comply with the Compact.
- Lack of services and support for families – In some areas of the state, there is inadequate support for caregivers because there is no formal program to provide information, referral, training, legal services, and other follow-up services. As a result, grandparents and other relatives raising children are not being linked to the benefits and supports that they or the children in their care need.

[44] Section 409.408, F.S.

- Fewer benefits for children in care – Children in out-of-home care are only eligible for some benefits if they are or have been in a licensed placement. For example, children in relative care are eligible for tuition and fee exemptions for postsecondary education,[45] but they are not typically eligible for independent living financial support and services.[46]
- Caseworker "neglect" –When a relative will not or cannot immediately commit to become a fulltime caregiver, the caseworker often forgets about the caregiver. There is little or no effort made to include the relative in other aspects of the child's life or improve the home so that the relative may be able to become a fulltime caregiver.
- Lack of time and skill to effectively engage with relatives – A number of circuits reported that while caseworkers generally do a good job, they frequently do not have the time to effectively deal with relatives who may become caregivers for children due either to large caseloads or to a lack of appropriate skills. Caseworkers often feel that placement with a relative is a "safe placement" and pay less attention to those placements.
- Access to services should be the same regardless of placement – Currently, access to services and supports for a child in out-of-home care vary depending on what type of placement the child is in.

In addition to speaking with judges around the state, committee staff[47] spoke with leadership, program staff, and relative caregivers with community-based care lead agencies across the state. Four major issues affecting the ability of relatives and nonrelatives to care for children placed in their care were identified:

- Sporadic and ineffective use of family finding. Family finding is defined as an intensive relative search and engagement technique to identify family of and other close adults to children in foster care, who will be involved in developing and carrying out a plan for the emotional and legal permanency of a child.
- Inadequate support of caregivers in some areas of the state due to a lack of formal kinship navigator programs designed to provide information, referral, and follow-up services. As a result, grandparents and other relatives raising children are not being linked to the benefits and supports that they or the children in their care need.
- Inadequate financial support or delays in receiving financial support.
- The obligation for relative caregivers to assume what may be a large portion of child care/early education expenses for a child in their care.

Notably, provisions of the bill address three of these four issues.

Judicial Hearings and Review

When the department removes a child from his or her home, a series of dependency court proceedings must occur to adjudicate the child dependent and place him or her in out-of-home care, as indicated by the chart below:

Proceeding		Reference
Shelter Hearing	A shelter hearing occurs within 24 hours after removal. The court determines whether the child is to remain in out-of-home care.	s. 39.402, F.S.
Arraignment Hearing	An arraignment hearing occurs within 28 days of the shelter hearing. This allows the parent to admit, deny, or consent to the allegations within the petition for dependency and allows the court to review any shelter placement.	s. 39.506, F.S.
Adjudicatory Hearing	An adjudicatory trial is held within 30 days of arraignment, to determine whether a child is dependent.	s. 39.507, F.S.
Disposition Hearing	Disposition occurs within 15 days of arraignment or 30 days of adjudication. The judge reviews and orders the case plan for the family and the appropriate placement of the child.	s. 39.521, F.S.
Review Hearing	The court must review the case plan and placement every 6 months, or upon motion of a party.	s. 39.701, F.S.

As noted above, current law provides for specific findings and determinations to be made by the court at each hearing.

The Rilya Wilson Act

Background

The Rilya Wilson Act is named for a four-year-old girl who disappeared from state custody and whose disappearance went unnoticed for 15 months. Rilya's caregiver provided several stories concerning Rilya's whereabouts, one being that someone from the Department of Children and Families removed Rilya from her home sometime in January 2001. However, the department was unaware that Rilya was missing until April 2002. While Rilya's caregiver (who is suspected, but not convicted, of killing Rilya) was sentenced to 55 years in prison in 2013 for offenses connected to Rilya's disappearance (including aggravated child abuse), Rilya remains missing.[48]

With the disappearance of Rilya Wilson, the responsibility of the state to ensure the safety of children in its care received heightened attention. To ensure the safety and well-being of children in its custody or under its supervision, DCF was required to provide for more frequent and continuous face-to-face contact with children, particularly those under the age of five. The Rilya Wilson Act provides such increased visibility of these very young children by requiring that these children participate in an approved early education or child care program. In turn, these early education or child care programs are bound to report certain incidences of the child's nonattendance or absence to the DCF.[49]

Early Education and Child Care Programs

Participation in early child care and learning programs under the Rilya Wilson Act is intended not only to minimize further abuse and neglect, but also to reverse the developmental effects that abuse, neglect, and abandonment can have on children.[50]

Early education and child care programs are provided in Florida through the school readiness program under ss. 1001.213 and 1002.82, F.S. With the establishment of the school readiness program, the different early education and child care programs and their funding sources were merged for the delivery of a comprehensive program of school readiness services to be designed and administered through local early learning coalitions.[51] The school readiness program is housed with the Office of Early Learning at the Department of Education.[52]

Current law requires that each early learning coalition give priority for participation in the school readiness program according to specified criteria, with an at-risk child being second on the priority list.[53] An at-risk child is defined as the following:[54]

- A child from a family under investigation by the Department of Children and Families or a designated sheriff's office for child abuse, neglect, abandonment, or exploitation.
- A child who is in a diversion program provided by the Department of Children and Families or its contracted provider and who is from a family that is actively participating and complying in department-prescribed activities, including education, health services, or work.
- A child from a family that is under supervision by the Department of Children and Families or a contracted service provider for abuse, neglect, abandonment, or exploitation.
- A child placed in court-ordered, long-term custody or under the guardianship of a relative or nonrelative after termination of supervision by the Department of Children and Families or its contracted provider.
- A child in the custody of a parent who is a victim of domestic violence residing in a certified domestic violence center.
- A child in the custody of a parent who is considered homeless as verified by a Department of Children and Families certified homeless shelter.

As mentioned earlier, the cost of participating in the school readiness program is subsidized in part or fully by the funding of the local early learning coalition for eligible children.[55] Criteria have been established for the children who are to receive priority for participating in the program

[50] Section 39.604(2), F.S. ("The Legislature recognizes that children who are in the care of the state due to abuse, neglect, or abandonment are at increased risk of poor school performance and other behavioral and social problems. It is the intent of the Legislature that children who are currently in the care of the state be provided with an age-appropriate education program to help ameliorate the negative consequences of abuse, neglect, or abandonment.").

at no cost or at a subsidized rate.[56] However, to the extent that subsidized child care is not available, the cost of child care is assumed by the caregiver.[57]

Regardless of whether a school readiness program provider is licensed, the program must "comply with the reporting requirements of the Rilya Wilson Act for each at-risk child under the age of school entry who is enrolled in the school readiness program."[58] Under the Rilya Wilson Act, children from birth to the age of school entry who are in the state's care due to abuse, neglect, or abandonment and who are enrolled in early education or child care programs must participate in the program five days a week.[59] This participation must be reflected in any case plan required by ch. 39, F.S. However, the court in approving or revising the case plan, may waive the requirement to participate five days a week.[60]

The Rilya Wilson Act also provides that:

- Withdrawal from the program is prohibited unless prior written approval is provided by the department or the community-based lead agency.[61]
- The person with whom the child is living is required to report any absence to the program on the day of the absence. Failure to report an absence results in the absence being considered unexcused, and the early education or child care program is required to report any unexcused absence or seven consecutive excused absences to the department or community-based lead agency.[62]
- Reports of two consecutive unexcused absences or seven consecutive excused absences are to result in a site visit to the child's residence. Children who are found missing during the site visit are to be reported as missing to law enforcement and the procedures for locating missing children initiated. If the children are not found to be missing, the parent or caregiver is to be informed that it is a violation of the case plan if the child does not attend the early education or child care program.[63]
- After two such site visits, action to notify the court of the parent or caregiver's non-compliance with the care plan is to be initiated.[64]

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

Section 1 creates s. 39.4015, F.S., relating to family finding, to require the Department of Children and Families (DCF), in collaboration with sheriffs' offices that conduct child protective investigations and community-based care lead agencies, to develop a formal family finding program to be implemented statewide by child protective investigators and community-based care lead agencies. Family finding is required as soon as a child comes to the attention of the DCF and throughout the duration of the case. The DCF or community-based care lead agency must specifically document strategies taken to locate and engage relatives and kin. Strategies of engagement are provided in the bill.

The DCF and the community-based care lead agencies must use diligent efforts in family finding, must continue those efforts until multiple relatives and kin are identified, and must go beyond a basic computer search by exploring alternative tools and methodologies. Efforts to be used by the DCF and the community-based care lead agency are provided in the bill.

The court is required to inquire and make a determination regarding family finding at each stage of the case, including the shelter care hearing pursuant to s. 39.402. The court is to place its determinations on the record as to whether the DCF or community-based care lead agency has reasonably engaged in family finding. The level of reasonableness is to be determined by the length of the case and time the DCF or community-based care lead agency has had to begin or continue the process.

Section 1 is effective January 1, 2019, contingent upon the Legislature providing funding specifically for the program.

Section 2 amends s. 39.402, F.S., relating to placement in a shelter, to require educational records of children under the age of school entry to be provided, to require a judge rather than a school superintendent to appoint a surrogate parent for a child under the age of school entry, if necessary, and to require the court to make a determination relating to family finding.

Section 3 amends s. 39.506, F.S., relating to arraignment hearings, to require the court to make a determination relating to family finding.

Section 4 amends s. 39.507, F.S., relating to adjudicatory hearings and orders of adjudication, to require the court to make a determination relating to family finding.

Section 5 amends s. 39.5086, F.S., relating to kinship navigator programs, to require each community-based care lead agency to establish a kinship navigator program that must:

- Be coordinated with other state or local agencies that promote service coordination or provide information and referral services;
- Be planned and operated in consultation with kinship caregivers and organizations representing them, youth raised by kinship caregivers, relevant governmental agencies, and relevant community-based or faith-based organizations;
- Establish a toll-free telephone hotline to provide information to link kinship caregivers to specified entities;
- Provide outreach to kinship care families; and
- Promote partnerships between public and private agencies and relevant governmental agencies to increase their knowledge of the needs of kinship care families to promote better services for those families.

Section 5 is effective January 1, 2019, contingent upon an appropriation by the Legislature.

Section 6 amends s. 39.521, F.S., relating to disposition hearings and powers of disposition, to require the court to make a determination relating to family finding (if the program as authorized under s. 39.4015, F.S., is funded and implemented), and to require educational records of children under the age of school entry to be provided.

Section 7 amends s. 39.6012, F.S., relating to case plan tasks and services, to require documentation of case plan requirements under s. 39.604, F.S.

Section 8 amends s. 39.604, F.S., relating to the Rilya Wilson Act, to clarify attendance and reporting requirements related to children in out-of-home care who are attending a child care or early education program. The bill also provides for the appointment of a surrogate parent[65], if appropriate, and provides for educational stability and transitions.

Section 9 amends s. 39.6251, F.S., relating to continuing care for young adults, to conform to additional federal requirements for extending foster care to the age of 21.

Section 10 amends s. 39.701, F.S., relating to judicial review, to require the court to appoint a surrogate parent if the child is under the age of school entry, and to require the court to determine if the department and community-based care lead agency has reasonably engaged in family finding (if the program as authorized under s. 39.4015, F.S., is funded and implemented).

Section 11 amends s. 409.166, F.S., relating to the adoption assistance program, to provide, contingent upon a specific appropriation from the Legislature, for the extension of maintenance adoption subsidy payments to the age of 21 for eligible young adults and to provide eligibility requirements. The bill also requires that all prospective adoptive homes complete an adoptive home study in order to qualify for a maintenance adoption subsidy (MAS).

The extension of the MAS to age 21 for those children who were adopted at age 16 or 17 will allow the state to earn additional federal revenues under Title IV-E. At present, the MAS payments expire when a child reaches the age of 18. Without these changes, the state would not meet federal requirements for earning Title IV-E funds associated with extended foster care.

Section 12 creates an unnumbered section of the Florida Statutes, requiring the department to establish a Title IV-E GAP pilot program in two DCF circuits.

The establishment of a GAP program would serve as a means of mitigating the loss of federal revenues to the state that will result from the expiration of Florida's Title IV-E waiver. The program will provide the state with an alternative vehicle for earning federal revenues under Title IV-E, while also offering enhanced cash benefits to certain permanent guardians and the children in their care.

It is currently unknown how many Relative Caregiver Program participants will successfully transition to GAP or how many relatives and fictive kin will enter the program in the future. The federally subsidized GAP will require caregivers to meet many of the licensure standards applicable to family foster homes, set forth in s. 409.175, F.S. The department has the authority to waive non-safety licensure standards on a case-by-case basis, but some relatives or fictive kin will be unable to, or prefer not to, meet its requirements. This means that under the bill, some relatives and fictive kin will enter GAP, but some will not. For those who do not, relatives will be eligible for child only TANF funding, but non-relatives will not be able to obtain payment to support caring for the child.

Establishment of a pilot program may provide information as to whether statewide implementation of GAP benefits children and their families.

Section 12 is effective August 1, 2018, and is contingent upon a specific appropriation.

Section 13 provides that, except as otherwise expressly provided in the bill, the effective date of the bill is July 1, 2018.

Be It Enacted by the Legislature of the State of Florida:

Section 1. Effective January 1, 2019, section 39.4015, Florida Statutes, is created to read:

39.4015 Family finding.—

(1) LEGISLATIVE FINDINGS AND INTENT.—

(a) The Legislature finds that every child who is in out-of-home care has the goal of finding a permanent home, whether achieved by reunifying the child with his or her parents or finding another permanent connection, such as adoption or legal guardianship with a relative or nonrelative who has a significant relationship with the child.

(b) The Legislature finds that while legal permanency is important to a child in out-of-home care, emotional permanency helps increase the likelihood that children will achieve stability and well-being and successfully transition to independent adulthood.

(c) The Legislature also finds that research has consistently shown that placing a child within his or her own family reduces the trauma of being removed from his or her home, is less likely to result in placement disruptions, and enhances prospects for finding a permanent family if the child cannot return home.

(d) The Legislature further finds that the primary purpose of family finding is to facilitate legal and emotional permanency for children who are in out-of-home care by finding and engaging their relatives.

(e) It is the intent of the Legislature that every child in out-of-home care be afforded the advantages that can be gained from the use of family finding to establish caring and long-term or permanent connections and relationships for children and youth in out-of-home care, as well as to establish a long-term emotional support network with family members and other adults who may not be able to take the child into their home but who want to stay connected with the child.

(2) DEFINITIONS.—As used in this section, the term:

(a) "Diligent efforts" means the use of methods and techniques including, but not limited to, interviews with immediate and extended family and kin, genograms, eco-mapping, case mining, cold calls, and specialized computer searches.

(b) "Family finding" means an intensive relative search and engagement technique used in identifying family and other close adults for children in out-of-home care and involving them in developing and carrying out a plan for the emotional and legal permanency of a child.

(c) "Family group decisionmaking" is a generic term that includes a number of approaches in which family members and fictive kin are brought together to make decisions about how to care for their children and develop a plan for services. The term includes family team conferencing, family team meetings, family group conferencing, family team decisionmaking, family unity meetings, and team decisionmaking, which may consist of several phases and employ a trained facilitator or coordinator.

(d) "Fictive kin" means an individual who is unrelated to the child by either birth or marriage, but has such a close emotional relationship with the child that he or she may be considered part of the family.

(3) FAMILY-FINDING PROGRAM.—The department, in collaboration with sheriffs' offices that conduct child protective investigations and community-based care lead agencies, shall develop a formal family-finding program to be implemented statewide by child protective investigators and community-based care lead agencies.

(a) Family finding is required as soon as a child comes to the attention of the department and throughout the duration of the case, and finding and engaging with as many family members and fictive kin as possible for each child who may help with care or support for the child is considered a best practice. The department or community-based care lead agency must specifically document strategies taken to locate and engage relatives and kin. Strategies of engagement may include, but are not limited to, asking the relatives and kin to:

1. Participate in a family group decisionmaking conference, family team conferencing, or other family meetings aimed at developing or supporting the family service plan;

2. Attend visitations with the child;

3. Assist in transportation of the child;

4. Provide respite or child care services; or

5. Provide actual kinship care.

(b) The department and the community-based care lead agencies must use diligent efforts in family finding, must continue those efforts until multiple relatives and kin are identified, and must go beyond basic searching tools by exploring alternative tools and methodologies. Efforts by the department and the community-based care lead agency may include, but are not limited to:

1. Searching for and locating adult relatives and kin.

2. Identifying and building positive connections between the child and the child's relatives and fictive kin.

3. Supporting the engagement of relatives and fictive kin in social service planning and delivery of services and creating a network of extended family support to assist in remedying the concerns that led to the child becoming involved with the child welfare system, when appropriate.

4. Maintaining family connections, when possible.

5. Keeping siblings together in care, when in the best interest of each child and when possible.

(c) A basic computer search using the Internet or attempts to contact known relatives at a last known address or telephone number do not constitute effective family finding.

(d) The court's inquiry and determination regarding family finding should be made at each stage of the case, including a shelter hearing conducted pursuant to s. 39.402. The court shall place its determinations on the record as to whether the department or community-based care lead agency has reasonably engaged in family finding. The level of reasonableness is to be determined by the length of the case and the amount of time the department or community-based care lead agency has had to begin or continue the process.

(4) RULEMAKING.—The department shall adopt rules to implement this section.

Section 2. Paragraphs (c) and (d) of subsection (11) of section 39.402, Florida Statutes, and subsection (17) of that section are amended to read:

39.402 Placement in a shelter.—

(c) The court shall request that the parents consent to provide access to the child's child care records, early education program records, or other educational records and provide information to the court, the department or its contract agencies, and any guardian ad litem or attorney for the child. If a parent is unavailable or unable to consent or withholds consent and the court determines access to the records and information is necessary to provide services to the child, the court shall issue an order granting access.

(d) The court may appoint a surrogate parent or may refer the child to the district school superintendent for appointment of a surrogate parent if the child has or is suspected of having a disability and the parent is unavailable pursuant to s. 39.0016(3)(b). If the child is under the age of school entry, the court must make the appointment.

(17) At the shelter hearing, the court shall inquire of the parent whether the parent has relatives who might be considered as a placement for the child. The parent shall provide to the court and all parties identification and location information regarding the relatives. The court shall advise the parent that the parent has a continuing duty to inform the department of any relative who should be considered for placement of the child. The court shall place its determinations on the record as to whether the department or community-based care lead agency has reasonably engaged in family finding. The level of reasonableness is to be determined by the length of the case and amount of time the department or community-based care lead agency has had to begin or continue the process.

Section 3. Present subsection (9) of section 39.506, Florida Statutes, is redesignated as subsection (10), and a new subsection (9) is added to that section, to read:

39.506 Arraignment hearings.—

(9) The court shall review whether the department or community-based care lead agency has reasonably engaged in family finding and make a written determination as to its findings. The level of reasonableness is determined by the length of the case and amount of time the department or community-based care lead agency has had to begin or continue the process.

Section 4. Paragraphs (c) and (d) of subsection (7) of section 39.507, Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

39.507 Adjudicatory hearings; orders of adjudication.—

(c) If a court adjudicates a child dependent and the child is in out-of-home care, the court shall inquire of the parent or parents whether the parents have relatives who might be considered as a placement for the child. ~~The court shall advise~~

~~the parents that, if the parents fail to substantially comply with the case plan, their parental rights may be terminated and that the child's out-of-home placement may become permanent.~~ The parent or parents shall provide to the court and all parties identification and location information of the relatives. The court shall review whether the department or community-based care lead agency has reasonably engaged in family finding and make a written determination as to its findings. The level of reasonableness is determined by the length of the case and amount of time the department or community-based care lead agency has had to begin or continue the process.

(d) The court shall advise the parents that, if they fail to substantially comply with the case plan, their parental rights may be terminated and that the child's out-of-home placement may become permanent.

Section 5. Effective January 1, 2019, section 39.5085, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

39.5085 Kinship Care ~~Relative Caregiver~~ Program.—

(1) LEGISLATIVE FINDINGS AND INTENT.—

(a) The Legislature finds that an increasing number of relatives and fictive kin are assuming the responsibility of raising children because the parents of these children are unable to care for them.

(b) The Legislature also finds that these kinship caregivers perform a vital function by providing homes for children who would otherwise be at risk of foster care placement and that kinship care is a crucial option in the spectrum of out-of-home care available to children in need.

(c) The Legislature finds that children living with kinship caregivers experience increased placement stability, are less likely to reenter care if they are reunified with their parents, and have better behavioral and mental health outcomes.

(d) The Legislature further finds that these kinship caregivers may face a number of difficulties and need assistance to support the health and well-being of the children they care for. These needs include, but are not limited to, financial assistance, legal assistance, respite care, child care, specialized training, and counseling.

(e) It is the intent of the Legislature to provide for the establishment and implementation of procedures and protocols that are likely to increase and adequately support appropriate and safe kinship care placements.

(2) DEFINITIONS.—As used this section, the term:

(a) "Fictive kin" means an individual who is unrelated to the child by either birth or marriage, but has such a close emotional relationship with the child that he or she may be considered part of the family.

(b) "Kinship care" means the full-time care of a child placed in out-of-home care by the court in the home of a relative or fictive kin.

(c) "Kinship navigator program" means a statewide program designed to ensure that kinship caregivers are provided with necessary resources for the preservation of the family.

(d) "Relative" means an individual who is caring full time for a child placed in out-of-home care by the court and who:

1. Is related to the child within the fifth degree by blood or marriage to the parent or stepparent of the child; or

2. Is related to a half-sibling of that child within the fifth degree by blood or marriage to the parent or stepparent.

CODING: Words ~~stricken~~ are deletions; words underlined are additions.

(3) FINANCIAL ASSISTANCE.—The department shall provide financial assistance to all caregivers who qualify under this subsection.

(a) Relatives or fictive kin caring for a child who has been placed with them by the court shall receive a monthly caregiver benefit, beginning when the child is placed with them. The amount of the benefit payment is based on the child's age within a payment schedule established by rule of the department. The cost of providing the assistance described in this section to any caregiver may not exceed the cost of providing out-of-home care in emergency shelter or foster care.

(b) Caregivers who receive assistance under this section must be capable, as determined by a home study, of providing a physically safe environment and a stable, supportive home for the children under their care and must assure that the children's well-being is met, including, but not limited to, the provision of immunizations, education, and mental health services, as needed.

(c) Caregivers who qualify for and receive assistance under this section are not required to meet foster care licensing requirements under s. 409.175.

(d) Children receiving cash benefits under this section are not eligible to simultaneously receive WAGES cash benefits under chapter 414.

(d) A caregiver may not receive a benefit payment if the parent or stepparent of the child resides in the home. However, a caregiver may receive the benefit payment for a minor parent who is in his or her care, as well as for the minor parent's child, if both children have been adjudicated dependent and meet all other eligibility requirements. If the caregiver is receiving a benefit payment when a parent, other than an eligible minor parent, or stepparent moves into the home, the payment must be terminated no later than the first day of the month following the move, allowing for 10-day notice of adverse action.

CODING: Words ~~stricken~~ are deletions; words underlined are additions.

(e) Children living with caregivers who are receiving assistance under this section are eligible for Medicaid coverage.

(4) ADDITIONAL ASSISTANCE AND SERVICES.—

(a) The purpose of a kinship navigator program is to help relative caregivers and fictive kin in the child welfare system to navigate the broad range of services available to them and the children from public, private, community, and faith-based organizations.

(b) By January 1, 2019, each community-based care lead agency shall establish a kinship navigator program. In order to meet the requirements of a kinship navigator program, the program must:

1. Be coordinated with other state or local agencies that promote service coordination or provide information and referral services, including any entities that participate in the Florida 211 Network, to avoid duplication or fragmentation of services to kinship care families;

2. Be planned and operated in consultation with kinship caregivers and organizations representing them, youth raised by kinship caregivers, relevant governmental agencies, and relevant community-based or faith-based organizations;

3. Establish a toll-free telephone hotline to provide information to link kinship caregivers, kinship support group facilitators, and kinship service providers to:

a. One another;

b. Eligibility and enrollment information for federal, state, and local benefits;

c. Relevant training to assist kinship caregivers in caregiving and in obtaining benefits and services; and

d. Relevant knowledge related to legal options available for child custody, other legal assistance, and help in obtaining legal services.

4. Provide outreach to kinship care families, including by establishing, distributing, and updating a kinship care website, or other relevant guides or outreach materials; and

5. Promote partnerships between public and private agencies, including schools, community-based or faith-based organizations, and relevant governmental agencies, to increase their knowledge of the needs of kinship care families to promote better services for those families.

(5) RULEMAKING.—The department shall adopt rules to implement this section.

~~(1) It is the intent of the Legislature in enacting this section to:~~

~~(a) Provide for the establishment of procedures and protocols that serve to advance the continued safety of children by acknowledging the valued resource uniquely available through grandparents, relatives of children, and specified nonrelatives of children pursuant to subparagraph (2)(a)3.~~

~~(b) Recognize family relationships in which a grandparent~~

~~or other relative is the head of a household that includes a child otherwise at risk of foster care placement.~~

~~(c) Enhance family preservation and stability by recognizing that most children in such placements with grandparents and other relatives do not need intensive supervision of the placement by the courts or by the department.~~

~~(d) Recognize that permanency in the best interests of the child can be achieved through a variety of permanency options, including permanent guardianship under s. 39.6221 if the guardian is a relative, by permanent placement with a fit and willing relative under s. 39.6231, by a relative, guardianship under chapter 744, or adoption, by providing additional placement options and incentives that will achieve permanency and stability for many children who are otherwise at risk of foster care placement because of abuse, abandonment, or neglect, but who may successfully be able to be placed by the dependency court in the care of such relatives.~~

~~(e) Reserve the limited casework and supervisory resources of the courts and the department for those cases in which children do not have the option for safe, stable care within the family.~~

~~(f) Recognize that a child may have a close relationship with a person who is not a blood relative or a relative by marriage and that such person should be eligible for financial assistance under this section if he or she is able and willing to care for the child and provide a safe, stable home environment.~~

~~(2)(a) The Department of Children and Families shall establish, operate, and implement the Relative Caregiver Program~~

CODING: Words ~~stricken~~ are deletions; words underlined are additions.

~~by rule of the department. The Relative Caregiver Program shall, within the limits of available funding, provide financial assistance to:~~

~~1. Relatives who are within the fifth degree by blood or marriage to the parent or stepparent of a child and who are caring full-time for that dependent child in the role of substitute parent as a result of a court's determination of child abuse, neglect, or abandonment and subsequent placement with the relative under this chapter.~~

~~2. Relatives who are within the fifth degree by blood or marriage to the parent or stepparent of a child and who are caring full-time for that dependent child, and a dependent half-brother or half-sister of that dependent child, in the role of substitute parent as a result of a court's determination of child abuse, neglect, or abandonment and subsequent placement with the relative under this chapter.~~

~~3. Nonrelatives who are willing to assume custody and care of a dependent child in the role of substitute parent as a result of a court's determination of child abuse, neglect, or abandonment and subsequent placement with the nonrelative caregiver under this chapter. The court must find that a proposed placement under this subparagraph is in the best interest of the child.~~

~~4. A relative or nonrelative caregiver, but the relative or nonrelative caregiver may not receive a Relative Caregiver Program payment if the parent or stepparent of the child resides in the home. However, a relative or nonrelative may receive the Relative Caregiver Program payment for a minor parent who is in his or her care, as well as for the minor parent's child, if~~

CODING: Words ~~stricken~~ are deletions; words underlined are additions.

~~both children have been adjudicated dependent and meet all other eligibility requirements. If the caregiver is currently receiving the payment, the Relative Caregiver Program payment must be terminated no later than the first of the following month after the parent or stepparent moves into the home, allowing for 10-day notice of adverse action.~~

~~The placement may be court-ordered temporary legal custody to the relative or nonrelative under protective supervision of the department pursuant to s. 39.521(1)(c)3., or court-ordered placement in the home of a relative or nonrelative as a permanency option under s. 39.6221 or s. 39.6231 or under former s. 39.622 if the placement was made before July 1, 2006. The Relative Caregiver Program shall offer financial assistance to caregivers who would be unable to serve in that capacity without the caregiver payment because of financial burden, thus exposing the child to the trauma of placement in a shelter or in foster care.~~

~~(b) Caregivers who receive assistance under this section must be capable, as determined by a home study, of providing a physically safe environment and a stable, supportive home for the children under their care and must assure that the children's well-being is met, including, but not limited to, the provision of immunizations, education, and mental health services as needed.~~

~~(c) Relatives or nonrelatives who qualify for and participate in the Relative Caregiver Program are not required to meet foster care licensing requirements under s. 409.175.~~

~~(d) Relatives or nonrelatives who are caring for children placed with them by the court pursuant to this chapter shall receive a special monthly caregiver benefit established by rule of the department. The amount of the special benefit payment shall be based on the child's age within a payment schedule established by rule of the department and subject to availability of funding. The statewide average monthly rate for children judicially placed with relatives or nonrelatives who are not licensed as foster homes may not exceed 82 percent of the statewide average foster care rate, and the cost of providing the assistance described in this section to any caregiver may not exceed the cost of providing out-of-home care in emergency shelter or foster care.~~

~~(e) Children receiving cash benefits under this section are not eligible to simultaneously receive WAGES cash benefits under chapter 414.~~

~~(f) Within available funding, the Relative Caregiver Program shall provide caregivers with family support and preservation services, flexible funds in accordance with s. 409.165, school readiness, and other available services in order to support the child's safety, growth, and healthy development. Children living with caregivers who are receiving assistance under this section shall be eligible for Medicaid coverage.~~

~~(g) The department may use appropriate available state, federal, and private funds to operate the Relative Caregiver Program. The department may develop liaison functions to be available to relatives or nonrelatives who care for children pursuant to this chapter to ensure placement stability in extended family settings.~~

Section 6. Paragraph (e) of subsection (1) of section

39.521, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

39.521 Disposition hearings; powers of disposition.—

(1) A disposition hearing shall be conducted by the court, if the court finds that the facts alleged in the petition for dependency were proven in the adjudicatory hearing, or if the parents or legal custodians have consented to the finding of dependency or admitted the allegations in the petition, have failed to appear for the arraignment hearing after proper notice, or have not been located despite a diligent search having been conducted.

(e) The court shall, in its written order of disposition, include all of the following:

1. The placement or custody of the child.

2. Special conditions of placement and visitation.

3. Evaluation, counseling, treatment activities, and other actions to be taken by the parties, if ordered.

4. The persons or entities responsible for supervising or monitoring services to the child and parent.

5. Continuation or discharge of the guardian ad litem, as appropriate.

6. The date, time, and location of the next scheduled review hearing, which must occur within the earlier of:

a. Ninety days after the disposition hearing;

b. Ninety days after the court accepts the case plan;

c. Six months after the date of the last review hearing; or

d. Six months after the date of the child's removal from his or her home, if no review hearing has been held since the child's removal from the home.

7. If the child is in an out-of-home placement, child support to be paid by the parents, or the guardian of the child's estate if possessed of assets which under law may be disbursed for the care, support, and maintenance of the child. The court may exercise jurisdiction over all child support matters, shall adjudicate the financial obligation, including health insurance, of the child's parents or guardian, and shall enforce the financial obligation as provided in chapter 61. The state's child support enforcement agency shall enforce child support orders under this section in the same manner as child support orders under chapter 61. Placement of the child shall not be contingent upon issuance of a support order.

8.a. If the court does not commit the child to the temporary legal custody of an adult relative, legal custodian, or other adult approved by the court, the disposition order must ~~shall~~ include the reasons for such a decision and ~~shall include~~ a written determination as to whether ~~diligent efforts were made by~~ the department and the community-based care lead agency reasonably engaged in family finding in attempting to locate an adult relative, legal custodian, or other adult willing to care for the child in order to present that placement option to the court instead of placement with the department. The level of reasonableness is determined by the length of the case and amount of time the department or community-based care lead agency has had to begin or continue the process.

b. If no suitable relative is found and the child is placed with the department or a legal custodian or other adult approved by the court, both the department and the court shall consider transferring temporary legal custody to an adult relative approved by the court at a later date, but neither the department nor the court is obligated to so place the child if it is in the child's best interest to remain in the current placement.

~~For the purposes of this section, "diligent efforts to locate an adult relative" means a search similar to the diligent search for a parent, but without the continuing obligation to search after an initial adequate search is completed.~~

9. Other requirements necessary to protect the health, safety, and well-being of the child, to preserve the stability of the child's child care, early education program, or any other educational placement, and to promote family preservation or reunification whenever possible.

Section 7. Paragraph (b) of subsection (2) and paragraph (a) of subsection (3) of section 39.6012, Florida Statutes, are amended to read:

39.6012 Case plan tasks; services.—

(2) The case plan must include all available information that is relevant to the child's care including, at a minimum:

(b) A description of the plan for ensuring that the child receives safe and proper care and that services are provided to the child in order to address the child's needs. To the extent available and accessible, the following health, mental health, and education information and records of the child must be attached to the case plan and updated throughout the judicial review process:

1. The names and addresses of the child's health, mental health, and educational providers;

2. The child's grade level performance;

3. The child's school record or, if the child is under the age of school entry, any records from a child care program, early education program, or preschool program;

4. Documentation of compliance or noncompliance with the attendance requirements under s. 39.604, if the child is enrolled in a child care program, early education program, or preschool program;

5.~~4.~~ Assurances that the child's placement takes into account proximity to the school in which the child is enrolled at the time of placement;

6. ~~5. A record of~~ The child's immunizations;

7.~~6.~~ The child's known medical history, including any known health problems;

8.~~7.~~ The child's medications, if any; and

9.~~8.~~ Any other relevant health, mental health, and education information concerning the child.

(3) In addition to any other requirement, if the child is in an out-of-home placement, the case plan must include:

(a) A description of the type of placement in which the child is to be living and, if the child has been placed with the department, whether the department and the community-based care lead agency have reasonably engaged in family finding to locate an adult relative, legal custodian, or other adult willing to care for the child in order to present that placement option to the court instead of placement with the department.

Section 8. Section 39.604, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

39.604 Rilya Wilson Act; short title; legislative intent; early intervention; child care; early education; preschool ~~requirements; attendance and reporting responsibilities~~.—

(1) SHORT TITLE.—This section may be cited as the "Rilya Wilson Act."

(2) LEGISLATIVE FINDINGS AND INTENT.—

(a) The Legislature finds that children from birth to age 5 years are particularly vulnerable to maltreatment and that they enter out-of-home care in disproportionately high numbers.

(b) The Legislature also finds that children who are abused or neglected are at high risk of experiencing physical and mental health problems and problems with language and communication, cognitive development, and social and emotional development.

(c) The Legislature also finds that providing early intervention and services, as well as quality child care and early education programs to support the healthy development of these young children, can have positive effects that last throughout childhood and into adulthood.

(d) The Legislature also finds that the needs of each of these children are unique, and while some children may be best served by a quality child care or early education program, others may need more attention and nurturing that can best be provided by a stay-at-home caregiver ~~The Legislature recognizes that children who are in the care of the state due to abuse, neglect, or abandonment are at increased risk of poor school performance and other behavioral and social problems~~.

(e) It is the intent of the Legislature that children who are ~~currently~~ in out-of-home ~~the~~ care ~~of the state~~ be provided with an age-appropriate developmental child care or early education arrangement that is in the best interest of the child ~~education program~~ to help ameliorate the negative consequences of abuse, neglect, or abandonment.

(3) EARLY INTERVENTION FOR CHILDREN UNDER THE AGE OF THREE.—The Child Abuse Prevention and Treatment Act, 42 U.S.C. ss. 5101, et seq., and federal the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act requires states to have provisions and procedures for referring to early intervention services children who are under the age of 3 years and involved in substantiated cases of child abuse or neglect, or who are affected by substance abuse or withdrawal symptoms from prenatal drug exposure.

(a) Referral process.—A child from birth to age 36 months who is determined to be a victim of any substantiated case of child abuse or neglect or who is affected by substance abuse or withdrawal symptoms from prenatal drug exposure, shall be referred to the Early Steps Program under s. 391.301, according to the following criteria:

1. Children who will remain in the home of their parents or legal guardian without referral to a community-based care lead agency for services shall be referred to the Early Steps Program by the protective investigator handling the case within 48 hours of verification of the abuse or neglect.

2. When there is an indication that they may have an established condition or developmental delay, children who will remain in the home of their parents or legal guardian and who are referred to a community-based care lead agency for services must be referred to the Early Steps Program by the community-based care lead agency case worker during the case plan development process within 7 days after the identification of an established condition or possible developmental delay. The community-based care lead agency shall follow up to determine whether the child has been found eligible for Part C services and shall support the participation of the eligible children's families in the Early Steps Program. Support may include, but need not be limited to:

a. Assistance with transportation, if necessary;

b. Providing written information about the Early Steps Program; and

c. Followup with the family and encouraging the child's participation in the Early Steps Program.

3. Children being placed into shelter care for referral to a community-based care lead agency for out-of-home placement must receive an initial assessment during the case plan development process and may be referred to the Early Steps Program according to the following criteria:

a. Children who are not referred for a comprehensive behavioral health assessment under the Medicaid program must be referred to the Early Steps Program by the case worker during the case plan development process for the child. The referral must be documented in the case plan.

b. Children who are referred for a comprehensive behavioral health assessment under the Medicaid program must be referred to the Early Steps Program by the community-based care lead agency case worker if their comprehensive behavioral health assessment flags them as potentially having a developmental delay or an established condition. The referral must be documented in the case plan. The Early Steps Program referral form must be accompanied by the comprehensive behavioral health assessment that flagged the child as potentially having a developmental delay or an established condition.

(b) Screening and evaluation.—The local Early Steps Program shall screen or evaluate all children referred by the department or its contracted agencies. The information on the outcome of a child's screening or evaluation, and any recommended services on the child's individualized family support plan, shall be forwarded by the Early Steps Program's service coordinator to the department and the community-based care lead agency for consideration in development of the child's case plan.

(c) Appointment of surrogate parent.—Federal law requires parental consent and participation at every stage of the early intervention process after referral. A dependency court shall appoint a surrogate parent under s. 39.0016 for a child from birth to age 36 months whose parents are unavailable or unwilling to provide consent for services when the child has been determined to be a victim of any substantiated case of child abuse or neglect or is affected by substance abuse or withdrawal symptoms from prenatal drug exposure and has been referred to the Early Steps Program under s. 391.301.

(4) EARLY INTERVENTION FOR CHILDREN AGES THREE YEARS TO FIVE YEARS.—The federal Individuals with Disabilities Education Act requires states to develop a comprehensive Child Find program to locate children who are potentially eligible for services, including children who are involved in substantiated cases of child abuse or neglect, and link them to early intervention services. If the department or a community-based care lead agency suspects that a child is a victim of substantiated child abuse or neglect, the child must be referred to the Child Find program of the Florida Diagnostic and Learning

CODING: Words ~~stricken~~ are deletions; words underlined are additions.

Resources System for assessment.

(5) CHILD CARE, EARLY EDUCATION PROGRAMS, PRESCHOOL.—Research has found that the quality of child care, early education programs, and preschool programs is important to the cognitive, language, and social development of young children, with consistent and emotionally supportive care being of great benefit to children and their families. Children who receive high-quality early childhood care and education have better math, language, and social skills as they enter school, and, as they grow older, require less remedial education, progress further in school, and have fewer interactions with the justice system. Significant involvement of parents in early childhood care and education may help reduce the incidence of maltreatment of children and may be beneficial to children and families who are already involved in the child welfare system by virtue of establishing caring relationships in a supportive learning environment that assists parents in establishing social support networks, accessing information about parenting and child development, and receiving referrals to other services.

(a) Early child care and education preference.—Care for children in out-of-home care shall be chosen by the caregiver according to the following order:

1. Providers who receive a Gold Seal Quality Care designation pursuant to s. 402.281, or providers participating in a quality rating system;

2. Licensed child care providers;

3. Public school providers; and

4. License-exempt child care providers, including religious-exempt and registered providers, and non-public schools. These providers must be participating in the school readiness program through the local early learning coalition.

(b) Enrollment

~~(3) REQUIREMENTS.—~~

1. A child from birth to the age of school entry, who is under court-ordered protective supervision or in out-of-home care and is ~~the custody of the Family Safety Program Office of the Department of Children and Families or a community-based lead agency, and~~ enrolled in an ~~a licensed~~ early education or child care program must attend the program 5 days a week unless the court grants an exception due to the court determining it is in the best interest of a child from birth to age 3 years:

a. With a stay-at-home caregiver to remain at home.

b. With a caregiver who works less than full time to attend an early education or child care program fewer than 5 days a week.

2. Notwithstanding s. 39.202, the department ~~of Children and Families~~ must notify operators of an ~~the licensed~~ early education or child care program, subject to the reporting requirements of this act, of the enrollment of any child from birth to the age of school entry, under court-ordered protective supervision or in out-of-home care. ~~program 5 days a week may be granted by the court.~~

(c)~~(4)~~ Attendance ~~ATTENDANCE AND REPORTING REQUIREMENTS~~.—

1.~~(a)~~ A child enrolled in an ~~a licensed~~ early education or child care program who meets the requirements of paragraph (b) ~~subsection (3)~~ may not be withdrawn from the program without the prior written approval of the department ~~Family Safety Program Office of the Department of Children and Families~~ or the community-based care lead agency.

2.a.~~(b)1.~~ If a child covered by this section is absent from the program on a day when he or she is supposed to be present, the person with whom the child resides must report the absence to the program by the end of the business day. If the person with whom the child resides, whether the parent or caregiver, fails to timely report the absence, the absence is considered to be unexcused. The program shall report any unexcused absence or seven consecutive excused absences of a child who is enrolled in the program and covered by this act to the ~~local designated staff of the Family Safety Program Office of the~~ department ~~of Children and Families~~ or the community-based care lead agency by the end of the business day following the unexcused absence or seventh consecutive excused absence.

b.~~2.~~ The department or community-based care lead agency shall conduct a site visit to the residence of the child upon receiving a report of two consecutive unexcused absences or seven consecutive excused absences.

c.~~3.~~ If the site visit results in a determination that the child is missing, the department or community-based care lead agency shall follow the procedure set forth in s. 39.0141 ~~report the child as missing to a law enforcement agency and proceed~~

CODING: Words ~~stricken~~ are deletions; words underlined are additions.

~~with the necessary actions to locate the child pursuant to procedures for locating missing children~~.

d.~~4.~~ If the site visit results in a determination that the child is not missing, the parent or caregiver shall be notified that failure to ensure that the child attends the ~~licensed~~ early education or child care program is a violation of the safety plan or the case plan. If more than two site visits are conducted pursuant to this paragraph ~~subsection~~, staff shall ~~initiate action to~~ notify the court of the parent or caregiver's noncompliance with the case plan.

(6) EDUCATIONAL STABILITY.—Just as educational stability is important for school-age children, it is also important to minimize disruptions to secure attachments and stable relationships with supportive caregivers of children from birth to school age and to ensure that these attachments are not disrupted due to placement in out-of-home care or subsequent changes in out-of-home placement.

(a) A child must be allowed to remain in the child care or early educational setting that he or she attended before entry into out-of-home care, unless the program is not in the best interest of the child.

(b) If it is not in the best interest of the child for him or her to remain in his or her child care or early education setting upon entry into out-of-home care, the caregiver must work with the case manager, guardian ad litem, child care and educational staff, and educational surrogate, if one has been appointed, to determine the best setting for the child. Such setting may be a child care provider that receives a Gold Seal Quality Care designation pursuant to s. 402.281, a provider participating in a quality rating system, a licensed child care provider, a public school provider, or a license-exempt child care provider, including religious-exempt and registered providers, and non-public schools.

(c) The department and providers of early care and education shall develop protocols to ensure continuity if children are required to leave a program because of a change in out-of-home placement.

(7) TRANSITIONS.—In the absence of an emergency, if a child from birth to school age leaves a child care or early education program, the transition must be pursuant to a plan that involves cooperation and sharing of information among all persons involved, that respects the child's developmental stage and associated psychological needs, and that allows for a gradual transition from one setting to another.

Section 9. Paragraph (c) of subsection (2) of section 39.701, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

39.701 Judicial review.—

(2) REVIEW HEARINGS FOR CHILDREN YOUNGER THAN 18 YEARS OF AGE.—

(c) Review determinations.—The court and any citizen review panel shall take into consideration the information contained in the social services study and investigation and all medical, psychological, and educational records that support the terms of the case plan; testimony by the social services agency, the parent, the foster parent or legal custodian, the guardian ad litem or surrogate parent for educational decisionmaking if one has been appointed for the child, and any other person deemed appropriate; and any relevant and material evidence submitted to the court, including written and oral reports to the extent of their probative value. These reports and evidence may be received by the court in its effort to determine the action to be taken with regard to the child and may be relied upon to the extent of their probative value, even though not competent in an adjudicatory hearing. In its deliberations, the court and any citizen review panel shall seek to determine:

1. If the parent was advised of the right to receive assistance from any person or social service agency in the preparation of the case plan.

2. If the parent has been advised of the right to have counsel present at the judicial review or citizen review hearings. If not so advised, the court or citizen review panel shall advise the parent of such right.

3. If a guardian ad litem needs to be appointed for the child in a case in which a guardian ad litem has not previously been appointed or if there is a need to continue a guardian ad litem in a case in which a guardian ad litem has been appointed.

4. Who holds the rights to make educational decisions for the child. If appropriate, the court may refer the child to the district school superintendent for appointment of a surrogate parent or may itself appoint a surrogate parent under the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act and s. 39.0016. If the child is under the age of school entry, the court must make the appointment.

5. The compliance or lack of compliance of all parties with applicable items of the case plan, including the parents' compliance with child support orders.

6. The compliance or lack of compliance with a visitation contract between the parent and the social service agency for contact with the child, including the frequency, duration, and results of the parent-child visitation and the reason for any noncompliance.

7. The frequency, kind, and duration of contacts among siblings who have been separated during placement, as well as any efforts undertaken to reunite separated siblings if doing so is in the best interest of the child.

8. The compliance or lack of compliance of the parent in meeting specified financial obligations pertaining to the care of the child, including the reason for failure to comply, if applicable.

9. Whether the child is receiving safe and proper care according to s. 39.6012, including, but not limited to, the appropriateness of the child's current placement, including whether the child is in a setting that is as family-like and as close to the parent's home as possible, consistent with the child's best interests and special needs, and including maintaining stability in the child's educational placement, as documented by assurances from the community-based care provider that:

a. The placement of the child takes into account the appropriateness of the current educational setting and the proximity to the school in which the child is enrolled at the time of placement.

b. The community-based care agency has coordinated with appropriate local educational agencies to ensure that the child remains in the school in which the child is enrolled at the time of placement.

10. Whether the department or community-based care lead agency continues to reasonably engage in family finding. The level of reasonableness is determined by the length of the case and amount of time the department or community-based care lead agency has had to continue the process.

11. ~~10.~~ A projected date likely for the child's return home or other permanent placement.

12. ~~11.~~ When appropriate, the basis for the unwillingness or inability of the parent to become a party to a case plan. The court and the citizen review panel shall determine if the efforts of the social service agency to secure party participation in a case plan were sufficient.

13. ~~12.~~ For a child who has reached 13 years of age but is not yet 18 years of age, the adequacy of the child's preparation for adulthood and independent living. For a child who is 15 years of age or older, the court shall determine if appropriate steps are being taken for the child to obtain a driver license or learner's driver license.

14. ~~13.~~ If amendments to the case plan are required. Amendments to the case plan must be made as provided in ~~under~~ s. 39.6013.

Section 10. Effective January 1, 2019, paragraph (b) of subsection (1) of section 414.045, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

414.045 Cash assistance program.—Cash assistance families include any families receiving cash assistance payments from the state program for temporary assistance for needy families as defined in federal law, whether such funds are from federal funds, state funds, or commingled federal and state funds. Cash assistance families may also include families receiving cash assistance through a program defined as a separate state program.

(1) For reporting purposes, families receiving cash assistance shall be grouped into the following categories. The department may develop additional groupings in order to comply with federal reporting requirements, to comply with the data-reporting needs of the board of directors of CareerSource Florida, Inc., or to better inform the public of program progress.

(b) Child-only cases.—Child-only cases include cases that do not have an adult or teen head of household as defined in federal law. Such cases include:

1. Children in the care of caretaker relatives, if the caretaker relatives choose to have their needs excluded in the calculation of the amount of cash assistance.

2. Families in the Kinship Care ~~Relative Caregiver~~ Program as provided in s. 39.5085.

3. Families in which the only parent in a single-parent family or both parents in a two-parent family receive supplemental security income (SSI) benefits under Title XVI of the Social Security Act, as amended. To the extent permitted by federal law, individuals receiving SSI shall be excluded as household members in determining the amount of cash assistance, and such cases shall not be considered families containing an adult. Parents or caretaker relatives who are excluded from the cash assistance group due to receipt of SSI may choose to participate in work activities. An individual whose ability to participate in work activities is limited who volunteers to participate in work activities shall be assigned to work activities consistent with such limitations. An individual who volunteers to participate in a work activity may receive child care or support services consistent with such participation.

4. Families in which the only parent in a single-parent family or both parents in a two-parent family are not eligible for cash assistance due to immigration status or other limitation of federal law. To the extent required by federal law, such cases shall not be considered families containing an adult.

5. To the extent permitted by federal law and subject to appropriations, special needs children who have been adopted pursuant to s. 409.166 and whose adopting family qualifies as a needy family under the state program for temporary assistance for needy families. Notwithstanding any provision to the contrary in s. 414.075, s. 414.085, or s. 414.095, a family shall be considered a needy family if:

a. The family is determined by the department to have an income below 200 percent of the federal poverty level;

b. The family meets the requirements of s. 414.095(2) and (3) related to residence, citizenship, or eligible noncitizen status; and

c. The family provides any information that may be necessary to meet federal reporting requirements specified under Part A of Title IV of the Social Security Act.

COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

PCS/CS/SB 710 creates the Prescription Drug Donation Repository Program (Program) within the Department of Health (DOH) to facilitate the donation and distribution of prescription drugs and supplies to eligible patients in the state. The Program:

- Permits Florida residents with valid prescriptions who are either indigent, uninsured, or underinsured to receive donated prescription drugs and supplies under the Program.
- Limits entities that may donate prescription drugs to those that can ensure the drugs have been maintained entirely by licensed or permitted professionals and not by patients.
- Limits dispensing of prescription drugs under the Program to persons who are licensed, registered, or otherwise permitted by state law.
- Establishes eligibility criteria for prescription drugs donated to the Program.
- Provides procedures for inventorying, storing, dispensing, recalling, and destroying prescription drugs under the Program.
- Provides recordkeeping and reporting requirements for participating facilities.
- Requires DOH to maintain and publish on its website registries of all participating facilities and available donated drugs and supplies.
- Creates a direct-support organization (DSO) to provide funding for the Program.
- Requires DOH to adopt rules necessary to implement the Program.

The bill amends s. 252.36(5), F.S., to allow the Governor to waive the patient eligibility requirements of the Program during a declared state of emergency.

The DOH will experience an increase in workload to administer the Program; however, these costs should be absorbed through funding collected by the DSO in support of the Program.

The bill is effective July 1, 2018.

II. Present Situation:

State Prescription Drug Donation and Reuse Programs

State prescription drug donation and reuse programs have been in effect for two decades beginning with a pilot program in Georgia in 1997.[1] Such drug donation and reuse programs permit unused prescription or non-prescription drugs to be donated and re-dispensed to patients within certain federal guidelines. More than 38 states have passed laws authorizing such programs; however, many are not currently operational.[2] Georgia's program started with a prescription drug reuse program only in long-term care facilities and has been expanded to a collection and donation program that accepts prescription and non-prescription drugs.[3]

Pharmaceutical donation programs and reuse programs involve the voluntary collection of donated, unused prescription and non-prescription drugs from patients. States vary in the types of drugs and supplies that are accepted, the number and types of sites that are considered eligible locations where patients or donors may deposit donations, participant eligibility requirements, and the dispensing fees for the donated drugs. Generally, the drugs are not controlled substances. Some programs, such as Florida's, are limited to only cancer treatment drugs. Twelve other states besides Florida - Colorado, Kentucky, Michigan, Minnesota, Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Utah, Washington, and Wisconsin - have prescription drug donation and reuse programs limited to only cancer treatment drugs.

Pharmacies, charitable clinics, and hospitals are locations where such donations are accepted. In Florida's Cancer Drug Donation Program,[4] only Class II hospital pharmacies that elect or volunteer to participate in the program are eligible to accept donations of cancer drugs from designated individuals or entities.[5]

Individuals may be required to meet certain eligibility requirements beyond a cancer diagnosis to participate in the donation program such as proof of state residency (Minnesota), lack of access to other insurance coverage, or Medicaid ineligibility (Florida). Dispensing fees are set based on a maximum relative threshold above the Medicaid dispensing fee or capped at an absolute dollar amount that typically ranges from $10 to $15.

[4] Section 499.029, F.S.
[5] See s. 465.019, F.S. Class II institutional pharmacies are those institutional pharmacies that employ the services of a registered pharmacist or pharmacists who, in practicing institutional pharmacy, provide dispensing and consulting services on the premises to the patients of that institution, for use on the premises of that institution.

The statutory provisions of many pharmaceutical donation programs have several common requirements:

- No controlled substances are accepted as donations;
- No adulterated or misbranded medications are allowed;
- All pharmaceuticals must be checked by a pharmacist prior to being dispensed;
- Pharmaceuticals must not be expired and most pharmaceuticals must have at least six months or longer before expiration;
- All pharmaceuticals must be unopened and in original, sealed, tamper-evident packaging; and
- Liability protection is assured for both donors and recipients.[6]

Most states permit the donation of any non-controlled substance to a designated medical facility, clinic, or pharmacy that has elected to participate in the program. Twenty states have operational repository programs – either cancer drug programs or broader collection programs – including states such as Iowa, which has served over 70,000 patients and re-distributed $15 million in donated supplies since 2007.[7] The Iowa program is limited to residents with incomes at or below 200 percent of the federal poverty level (FPL), or $49,200 for a family of four under the current guidelines, who are uninsured or underinsured, and are eligible to receive the donated medications and supplies.[8] The Iowa program accepts donations from any organization or individual in the country with the medication provided in its sealed or original, tamper-resistant packaging. Any pharmacy or medical facility with authorization to dispense under Iowa administrative rules may then re-dispense the donated medication or supplies.[9]

Wyoming has also had a long-running Medication Donation Program. The state's program filled over 150,000 prescriptions since its inception in 2007 and provided more than $2.4 million worth of donated prescriptions in 2016.[10] Assistance under the program is time-limited and recipients must have incomes under 200 percent of the FPL, and be without prescription insurance or Medicaid coverage. A dispensing site may also charge a recipient up to $10 per prescription to cover dispensing fees. Controlled substances are not covered in the program.[11]

Florida Cancer Drug Donation Program

The Florida Cancer Drug Donation Program (CDDP) was created in 2006[12] and is administratively housed within the DBPR. The CDDP allows eligible donors to donate cancer drugs and related supplies to participating facilities that may dispense the donations to eligible cancer patients. Eligible donors include patients, patient representatives, health care facilities, nursing home facilities, hospices, or hospitals with a closed drug delivery system; or pharmacies, drug manufacturers, medical device manufacturers, or suppliers or wholesalers of drugs or supplies.[13]

Eligible participating facilities that may collect donations are limited to only those Florida hospital pharmacies with a Class II institutional pharmacy permit.[14] These pharmacies participate on a voluntary basis and must agree to accept, inspect, and dispense the donated drugs to the eligible patients in accordance with the statute. The DBPR is required to establish and maintain a participant facility registry for the CDDP. The law provides the content for the registry and a requirement for a website posting. Currently, 14 hospital pharmacies participate in the CDDP.[15]

Florida's recipient eligibility requirements limit participation to Florida residents who:

- Have been diagnosed with cancer; and
- Are ineligible for the Medicaid program, or any other prescription drug program funded in whole or in part by the federal government, or do not have third party insurance unless the benefits have been exhausted or a certain cancer drug is not covered.[16]

Donated drugs may only be prescribed by a licensed practitioner and dispensed by a licensed pharmacist to an eligible patient.[17] Dispensed drugs and supplies under the CDDP are not eligible for reimbursement by third parties, either public or private. However, the facility may charge the recipient of the donated drug a handling fee of no more than 300 percent of the Medicaid dispensing fee or no more than $15, whichever is less, for each cancer drug that is dispensed.[18]

The DBPR, Division of Drugs, Devices, and Cosmetics, maintains a list of available donated medications on its website; however, no cancer medications are currently reported on the list.[19] As of November 2017, the DBPR does not require the participating facilities to report the medications that are available for inclusion on the CDDP website or the number of donated drugs that have been administered.[20] A facility is required to maintain its data for three years.[21]

The CDDP will only accept drugs if:

- The drug expires at least six months after the date of donation and the drug's tamper-resistant packaging is intact;
- The drug is in its original, unopened, sealed, tamper-evident unit dose packaging with lot number and expiration date, if so packaged; and
- The drug is not a substance listed on Schedule II, III, IV, or V of s. 893.03, F.S.[22]

Under the act, a donor or a participant in the program who acts with reasonable care in donating, accepting, distributing, or dispensing prescription drugs or supplies is immune from civil or criminal liability or professional disciplinary action for any kind of injury, death, or loss relating to such activities.[23]

Regulation of Pharmacy

The DBPR is the state agency charged with the regulation and licensure of businesses and professionals.[24] Under the provisions of chapter 499, F.S., the Division of Drugs, Devices, and Cosmetics safeguards the health, safety, and welfare of the state's citizens from injury due to the use of adulterated, contaminated, and misbranded drugs, drug ingredients and cosmetics. The Division oversees: the CDDP; issuance and regulation of licensure and permits for drug manufacturers, wholesalers, and distributers; controlled substance reporting requirements for certain wholesale distributors; issuance and regulation of other permits and licenses; and the Drug Wholesale Distributor Advisory Council.[25]

The Florida Drug and Cosmetic Act (Act) is codified as ss. 499.001 – 499.081, F.S. The Act provides uniform legislation to be administered so far as practicable in conformity with the provisions of, and regulations issued under the authority of, the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act and that portion of the Federal Trade Commission Act which expressly prohibits the false advertisement of drugs, devices, and cosmetics. The Act provides definitions for what is considered a device, drug, and, specifically, a prescription drug.[26]

Chapter 465, F.S., governs the regulation of the practice of pharmacy by the Board of Pharmacy in the Department of Health. Section 465.019(2)(b), F.S., provides requirements for institutional pharmacies. "Class II institutional pharmacies" are those institutional pharmacies that employ the services of a registered pharmacist or pharmacists who, in practicing institutional pharmacy, provide dispensing and consulting services on the premises to patients of that institution for use on the premises of that institution.

Section 465.015(2)(c), F.S., makes it unlawful for a pharmacist to sell or dispense drugs without first being furnished a prescription. Section 465.016(1)(l), F.S., prohibits a pharmacist from placing into stock any part of any prescription compounded or dispensed which is returned by the patient. Additionally, the Board of Pharmacy has adopted an administrative rule that prohibits a pharmacist from placing into the stock of any pharmacy any part of any prescription compounded or dispensed, which is returned by a patient, except as specified in the Board of Pharmacy rules.[27] There is an exception for a closed drug delivery system in which unit dose or [26] A "prescription drug" under s. 499.003(40) is defined as a "prescription, medicinal, or legend drug, including, but not limited to, finished dosage forms or active ingredients subject to, defined by, or described by, s. 503(b) of the federal act or s. 465.003(8), s. 499.007(13), subsection (31), or subsection (47), except that an active pharmaceutical ingredient is a prescription drug only if substantially all finished dosage forms in which it may be lawfully dispensed or administered in this state are also prescription drugs.

customized patient medication packages are dispensed to in-patients. The unused medication may be returned to the pharmacy for re-dispensing only if each unit dose or customized patient medication package is individually sealed and if each unit dose or the unit dose system – or the customized patient medication package container or the customized patient medication package unit of which it is clearly a part – is labeled with the name of the drug, dosage strength, manufacturer's control number, and expiration date, if any. In the case of controlled substances, such drugs may only be returned as permitted under federal law.[28] A "closed drug delivery system" means a system in which control of the unit-dose medication is maintained by the facility rather than by the individual patient. A "unit dose system" means a system in which all the individually sealed unit doses are physically connected as a unit.[29]

For nursing facility residents, s. 400.141(1)(d), F.S., requires a pharmacist licensed in Florida that is under contract with a nursing home to repackage a resident's bulk prescription medication that has been packaged by another pharmacist into a unit-dose system compatible with the system used by the nursing facility, if requested by the facility. In order to be eligible for the repacking service, the resident or the resident's spouse's prescription medication benefits must be covered through a former employer as part of his or her retirement benefits, a qualified pension plan as specified in s. 4972 of the Internal Revenue Code, a federal retirement program as specified under 5 C.F.R. part 831, or a long-term care policy as defined under specified state law. A pharmacist who correctly repackages and relabels the medication, and the nursing home who correctly administers the repackaged medication, cannot be held liable in any civil or administrative action arising from the repackaging. The pharmacist may charge a reasonable fee for costs of the repackaging.

A nursing home typically has a Class I institutional permit. This permit authorizes the nursing home to have patient-specific medications that have already been dispensed to the resident. Prescription drugs may not be dispensed in a Class I pharmacy.[30]

Federal Law and Regulations

The federal Controlled Substances Act (CSA) was enacted by Congress in 1970 and codified as 21 U.S.C. §801, et seq. The CSA regulates the manufacture and distribution of controlled substances in the United States. The federal Drug Enforcement Agency (DEA) is responsible for the enforcement of the CSA.

The CSA categorizes drugs into five "schedules" based on their potential for abuse and safety or dependence liability.[31] The CSA provides for specific dispensing requirements for controlled

Drugs classified as Schedule I are those that are considered to have no medical use in the United States and have a high abuse potential and include drugs such as heroin, LSD, and marijuana. Schedule II substances have a high abuse potential with severe psychological or physical dependency, but have accepted medical use. Examples of Schedule II drugs include opium, morphine, codeine, and oxycodone. Schedule III drugs have an abuse potential and dependency liability less than Schedule II with an accepted medical use. Schedule III drugs may also contain limited quantities of certain narcotic and non-narcotic drugs. Schedule IV drugs have an abuse potential and dependency liability less than those drugs in Schedule III and have an substances, including written prescriptions, retention requirements, and refill restrictions, depending on the drug's schedule.[32] Prescriptions must also meet specific labeling and packaging requirements. For Schedule II, III, and IV drugs, the label must clearly contain a warning that it is a crime to transfer the drug to any person other than the patient.[33]

The CSA permits the delivery of controlled substances by an "ultimate user,"[34] who has lawfully obtained the drug, to a designated covered entity for disposal and destruction such as through a prescription drug take-back program.[35] An authorized covered entity is defined in federal law as:

- A specified law enforcement agency;
- A manufacturer, distributor, or reverse distributor of prescription medications;
- A retail pharmacy;
- A registered narcotic treatment program;
- A hospital or clinic with an onsite pharmacy;
- An eligible long-term care facility; or
- Any other entity authorized by the DEA to dispose of prescription medications.[36]

The last National Prescription Take Back Day sponsored by the DEA resulted in more than 912,305 pounds of expired, unused, and unwanted prescription drugs returned at 5,300 sites on November 7, 2017.[37] The goal of the take-back program is to prevent the diversion of unwanted drugs to misuse and abuse and to avoid the potential safety hazard of drugs flushed down the toilet.[38]

Citizen-Support Organizations and Direct-Support Organizations

Citizen-support organizations (CSOs) and direct-support organization (DSOs) are statutorily created non-profit organizations[39] authorized to carry out specific tasks in support of public entities or public causes.[40] The function and purpose of a CSO or DSO are prescribed by an enacting statute and a written contract with the agency the CSO or DSO supports.[41]

CSO and DSO Transparency and Reporting Requirements

In 2014, the Legislature created s. 20.058, F.S., establishing a comprehensive set of transparency and reporting requirements for CSOs and DSOs.[42] Specifically, the law requires each CSO and DSO to annually submit the following information to the appropriate agency by August 1:[43]

- The name, mailing address, telephone number, and website address of the organization;
- The statutory authority or executive order that created the organization;
- A brief description of the mission of, and results obtained by, the organization;
- A brief description of the organization's plans for the next three fiscal years;
- A copy of the organization's ethics code; and
- A copy of the organization's most recent Internal Revenue Service (IRS) Form 990.[44]

Each agency receiving information from a CSO or DSO pursuant to law must make such information available to the public through the agency's website.[45] If the organization maintains a website, the agency's website must provide a link to the organization's website.[46] Any contract between an agency and a CSO or DSO must be contingent upon the CSO or DSO submitting and posting the required information to the agency as specified in law.[47] If a CSO or DSO fails to submit the required information to the agency for two consecutive years, the agency head must terminate any contract between the agency and the CSO or DSO.[48]

By August 15 of each year, the agency must report to the Governor, President of the Senate, Speaker of the House of Representatives, and the Office of Program Policy Analysis and Government Accountability (OPPAGA) the information submitted by each CSO or DSO along with the agency's recommendation and supporting rationale to continue, terminate, or modify the agency's association with the CSO or DSO.[49]

Any law creating, or authorizing the creation of a CSO or DSO must state that the authorization for the organization repeals on October 1 of the 5th year after enactment, unless reviewed and reenacted by the Legislature. CSOs and DSOs in existence prior to July 1, 2014, must be reviewed by the Legislature by July 1, 2019.[50]

CSO and DSO Audit Requirements

Section 215.981, F.S., requires each CSO and DSO with annual expenditures in excess of $100,000 to provide for an annual financial audit of its accounts and records.[51] An independent certified public accountant in accordance with rules adopted by the Auditor General must conduct the audit. The audit report must be submitted within nine months after the end of the fiscal year to the Auditor General and to the state agency the CSO or DSO supports.[52] Additionally, the Auditor General may, pursuant to his or her own authority, or at the direction of the Legislative Auditing Committee, conduct audits or other engagements of a CSO's or DSO's accounts and records.[53]

CSO and DSO Ethics Code Requirement

Section 112.3251, F.S., requires a CSO or DSO to adopt a code of ethics. The code of ethics must contain the specified standards of conduct and disclosures provided in ss. 112.313 and 112.3143(2), F.S.[54] A CSO or DSO may adopt additional or more stringent standards of conduct and disclosure requirements and must post its code of ethics on its website.[55]

Governor's Executive Powers

During a declared state of emergency, the Governor has extensive authority to act as he or she deems necessary. Section 252.36(1), F.S., provides, in part, that "in the event of an emergency beyond local control, the Governor…may assume" or delegate "direct operational control over all or any part of the emergency management functions within this state…" In addition, the Governor may "issue executive orders, proclamations, and rules" which "shall have the force and effect of law." Subsection (5) specifically authorizes the Governor to use all resources of the state government and of each political subdivision of the state, as reasonably necessary to cope with the emergency.

The Governor is also directed to "take such action and give such direction to state and local law enforcement officers," and state health officials as may be "reasonable and necessary" to secure compliance with the State Emergency Management Act and the Florida Hazardous Materials Emergency Response and Community Right-To-Know Act in ch. 252, F.S.

A declared State of Emergency is limited to 60 days, unless renewed by the Governor or terminated by the Legislature.

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

Section 1 creates s. 465.1902, F.S., to establish the Prescription Drug Donation Repository Program (Program) within the Department of Health (DOH). The purpose of the program is to authorize and facilitate the donation and distribution of prescription drugs and supplies to eligible patients through a system of local and centralized repositories. The DOH may contract with a third party to implement and administer the Program.

The bill authorizes the following individuals or entities to donate prescription drugs and supplies:

- Nursing home facilities with closed drug delivery systems.
- Hospices that have maintained control of a patient's prescription drug.

[52] Section 215.981(1), F.S.
[53] Section 11.45(3), F.S.
[54] Some of the standards of conduct and disclosures in ss. 112.313 and 112.3143(2), F.S., include misuse of public position, solicitation or acceptance of gifts, unauthorized compensation, and voting conflicts.
[55] Section 112.3251, F.S.

- Hospitals with closed drug delivery systems.
- Pharmacies.
- Drug manufacturers or wholesale distributors.
- Medical device manufacturers or suppliers.
- Prescribing individuals who receive prescription drugs or supplies directly from a drug manufacturer, wholesale distributor, or pharmacy.

The bill authorizes prescription drugs to be donated at the discretion of the centralized repository or a local repository if the drug:

- Is approved for medical use in the United States;
- Does not include a substance listed in Schedule II, Schedule III, Schedule IV, or Schedule V of s. 893.03, F.S.;
- Is in its original sealed and tamper-evident packaging, and does not have any physical signs of tampering or adulteration;
- Requires storage at normal room temperature per the manufacturer or the United States Pharmacopeia, and has been stored according to these requirements;
- Packaging contains a lot number and expiration date of the drug, and will not expire within three months after the donation is made;
- Is not eligible for return to the Medicaid program for restocking; and
- Is not subject to a Federal Food and Drug Administration Risk Evaluation and Mitigation Strategy with Elements to Assure Safe Use.

The bill requires prescription drugs or supplies be donated at a repository and prohibits the use of a drop box and donation to a specific patient. Repositories must destroy any donated drug not eligible for dispensing and make a record of the destruction on a form developed by DOH.

The bill requires a licensed pharmacist employed by, or under contract with, a repository to inspect all donated prescription drugs and supplies to determine whether they are eligible for donation under the Program, have been adulterated or misbranded, and are safe and suitable for dispensing. The pharmacist must sign an inspection record affirming the eligibility of the prescription drug or supply, and attach the form to the inventory record. The pharmacist is not required to re-inspect the prescription drug if the inspected drugs are redistributed to another repository under the Program.

The bill requires repositories to store all donated prescription drugs and supplies in a secure storage area, separate from non-donated inventory, and under the environmental conditions required by the manufacturer or the U.S. Pharmacopeia. Repositories must quarantine donated drugs and supplies from dispensing inventory until they have been inspected and approved for dispensing by the pharmacist.

The bill requires local repositories to maintain an inventory of all donated prescription drugs and supplies they receive, and to notify the centralized repository within five days of receipt. The centralized repository maintains an inventory of all prescription drugs and supplies donated to the Program, including donations made at local repositories. The centralized repository may redistribute drugs and supplies to facilitate dispensing as needed throughout the state.

The bill makes participation in the Program voluntary and requires an eligible entity to notify the DOH of its intent to participate before accepting or dispensing any prescription drugs or supplies under the Program. The DOH shall establish in rule a form for such notification, to include, at a minimum:

- The name, street address, website, and telephone number of the local repository, and any state-issued license or registration number issued to the local repository, including the name of the issuing agency;
- The name and telephone number of the pharmacist employed by or under contract with the local repository responsible for the inspection of donated prescription drugs and supplies; and
- A statement signed and dated by the responsible pharmacist affirming that the local repository meets the eligibility requirements.

An eligible patient wishing to receive drugs or supplies under the Program may contact a local repository, and submit an intake collection form. This form, to be created by DOH in rule, shall include, at a minimum:

- The name, street address, and telephone number of the eligible patient;
- The specific basis for eligibility, which must be indigent, uninsured, or underinsured, as defined in the Program;[56] and
- A statement signed and dated by the eligible patient affirming that he or she meets the eligibility requirements of the Program.

The bill requires local repositories to collect an executed intake form from each eligible patient receiving drugs or supplies under the Program. Upon receiving a duly executed intake form, the local repository shall issue the eligible patient an identification card that is valid for up to one year. Local repositories must send a summary of the intake collection form data to the centralized repository within five days of receipt.

The bill permits licensed pharmacists and those health care practitioners already authorized by law to dispense prescription drugs and supplies in Florida to do so under the Program. Prior to dispensing a prescription drug or supply to an eligible patient, the dispenser must:

- Verify that the patient is eligible to receive donations under the Program, either through a Program identification card or a duly executed intake collection form; and
- Inspect the donated prescription drug or supply to confirm it is still eligible for dispensing under the Program.

The bill prohibits repositories from reselling drugs, submitting claims, or otherwise seeking reimbursement from any public or private third-party payor for donated drugs or supplies dispensed under the Program. However, the dispensing facility may charge a nominal handling fee, to be determined by the DOH in rule.

In the event of a prescription drug recall, the bill requires a local or centralized repository to:

[56] The bill defines "indigent" as persons with an income below 200 percent of the federal poverty level, "uninsured" as persons who have no third-party insurance and are not eligible under Medicaid or any other federal program, and "underinsured" as persons who have third-party insurance or are eligible under Medicaid or other federal program, but have exhausted these benefits or do not have prescription drug coverage for the drug prescribed.

- Have an established protocol to notify recipients of the drug;
- Destroy all of the recalled prescription drugs in the repository; and
- Complete a destruction information form for all donated prescription drugs that were destroyed.

The bill requires local repositories to maintain records of all prescription drugs and supplies accepted, donated, dispensed, distributed, or destroyed under the Program. Local repositories must submit these records quarterly to the centralized repository for data collection and the centralized repository submits these records and the collected data in annual reports to the DOH.

The bill requires the DOH to maintain a registry on its website of all available drugs and supplies, including the name, strength, available quantity, and expiration date of each drug and supply, as well as the contact information for the repositories where it is available. The DOH is required to maintain a registry on its website of all participating local repositories, to include each repository's name, address, website, and telephone number.

The bill grants immunity from civil or criminal liability, and professional disciplinary actions, to a donor or participant relating to activities under the Program. Additionally, a pharmaceutical manufacturer who exercises reasonable care is not liable for any claim or injury arising from the transfer of prescription drugs under the Program.

The bill requires the dispenser to provide written notification to the patient, or his or her legal representative, before dispensing a prescription drug that the drug was donated to the Program, the dispenser is not liable for any injury, death, or loss related to the dispensing of the drug, and the requirement of a nominal handling fee.

The bill authorizes the DOH to establish a direct-support organization (DSO) to provide assistance, funding, and promotional support for the activities authorized for the Program. The DSO is repealed on October 1, 2023, unless reviewed and saved from repeal by the Legislature.

The bill provides rulemaking authority to the DOH to administer the Program and establish the DSO.

Section 2 amends s. 252.36(5), F.S., to allow the Governor to waive the patient eligibility requirements of the Program during a declared state of emergency.

Section 3 provides an effective date of July 1, 2018.

IV. Constitutional Issues:

A. Municipality/County Mandates Restrictions:

None.

B. Public Records/Open Meetings Issues:

None.

C. Trust Funds Restrictions:

None.

V. Fiscal Impact Statement:

A. Tax/Fee Issues:

None.

B. Private Sector Impact:

Participation in the program is voluntary. Those hospitals and nursing homes volunteering to participate in the program may incur costs associated with collecting, storing, and re-dispensing of donated prescription drugs. Those same hospitals and nursing homes may enjoy cost savings to the extent their patients may be receiving needed health care services on a more timely basis. Without such donations, some patients could return as sicker, more costly patients at a later date.

Hospitals and facilities participating in the program are permitted to recoup some costs through a small handling fee. Current state regulations permit a handling fee of up to 300 percent of the Medicaid dispensing fee or $15, whichever is less, for each cancer drug or supply dispensed.[57]

C. Government Sector Impact:

The DOH will experience a significant increase in workload to administer the program. The DSO established under the bill is responsible for collecting the necessary funds for the DOH to administer the program effectively. The DOH will need to submit a legislative budget request for the Legislature to appropriate an indeterminate, yet significant, amount of general revenue funds to support the Program if the DSO is unsuccessful in collecting the required resources.

Public facilities that elect to participate in the program will face similar costs associated with collecting, storing, and dispensing the prescription drugs. Likewise, these public facilities may enjoy additional savings through the participation of the uninsured or underinsured from their communities.

VI. Technical Deficiencies:

None.

VII. Related Issues:

None.

[57] Rule 61N-1.026(5), F.A.C.

VIII. Statutes Affected:

This bill substantially amends section 252.36 of the Florida Statutes.

This bill creates section 465.1902 of the Florida Statutes.

COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

CS/CS/SB 710 creates the Prescription Drug Donation Repository Program (Program) within the Department of Health (DOH) to facilitate the donation and distribution of prescription drugs and supplies to eligible patients in the state. The Program:

- Permits Florida residents with valid prescriptions who are either indigent, uninsured, or underinsured to receive donated prescription drugs and supplies under the Program.
- Limits entities that may donate prescription drugs to those that can ensure the drugs have been maintained entirely by licensed or permitted professionals and not by patients.
- Limits dispensing of prescription drugs under the Program to persons who are licensed, registered, or otherwise permitted by state law.
- Establishes eligibility criteria for prescription drugs donated to the Program.
- Provides procedures for inventorying, storing, dispensing, recalling, and destroying prescription drugs under the Program.
- Provides recordkeeping and reporting requirements for participating facilities.
- Requires DOH to maintain and publish on its website registries of all participating facilities and available donated drugs and supplies.
- Creates a direct-support organization (DSO) to provide funding for the Program.
- Requires DOH to adopt rules necessary to implement the Program.

The bill amends s. 252.36(5), F.S., to allow the Governor to waive the patient eligibility requirements of the Program during a declared state of emergency.

The DOH will experience an increase in workload to administer the Program; however, these costs should be absorbed through funding collected by the DSO in support of the Program.

The bill is effective July 1, 2018.

II. Present Situation:

State Prescription Drug Donation and Reuse Programs

State prescription drug donation and reuse programs have been in effect for two decades beginning with a pilot program in Georgia in 1997.[1] Such drug donation and reuse programs permit unused prescription or non-prescription drugs to be donated and re-dispensed to patients within certain federal guidelines. More than 38 states have passed laws authorizing such programs; however, many are not currently operational.[2] Georgia's program started with a prescription drug reuse program only in long-term care facilities and has been expanded to a collection and donation program that accepts prescription and non-prescription drugs.[3]

Pharmaceutical donation programs and reuse programs involve the voluntary collection of donated, unused prescription and non-prescription drugs from patients. States vary in the types of drugs and supplies that are accepted, the number and types of sites that are considered eligible locations where patients or donors may deposit donations, participant eligibility requirements, and the dispensing fees for the donated drugs. Generally, the drugs are not controlled substances. Some programs, such as Florida's, are limited to only cancer treatment drugs. Twelve other states besides Florida - Colorado, Kentucky, Michigan, Minnesota, Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Utah, Washington, and Wisconsin - have prescription drug donation and reuse programs limited to only cancer treatment drugs.

Pharmacies, charitable clinics, and hospitals are locations where such donations are accepted. In Florida's Cancer Drug Donation Program,[4] only Class II hospital pharmacies that elect or volunteer to participate in the program are eligible to accept donations of cancer drugs from designated individuals or entities.[5]

Individuals may be required to meet certain eligibility requirements beyond a cancer diagnosis to participate in the donation program such as proof of state residency (Minnesota), lack of access to other insurance coverage, or Medicaid ineligibility (Florida). Dispensing fees are set based on a maximum relative threshold above the Medicaid dispensing fee or capped at an absolute dollar amount that typically ranges from $10 to $15.

[4] Section 499.029, F.S.
[5] See s. 465.019, F.S. Class II institutional pharmacies are those institutional pharmacies that employ the services of a registered pharmacist or pharmacists who, in practicing institutional pharmacy, provide dispensing and consulting services on the premises to the patients of that institution, for use on the premises of that institution.

The statutory provisions of many pharmaceutical donation programs have several common requirements:

- No controlled substances are accepted as donations;
- No adulterated or misbranded medications are allowed;
- All pharmaceuticals must be checked by a pharmacist prior to being dispensed;
- Pharmaceuticals must not be expired and most pharmaceuticals must have at least six months or longer before expiration;
- All pharmaceuticals must be unopened and in original, sealed, tamper-evident packaging; and
- Liability protection is assured for both donors and recipients.[6]

Most states permit the donation of any non-controlled substance to a designated medical facility, clinic, or pharmacy that has elected to participate in the program. Twenty states have operational repository programs – either cancer drug programs or broader collection programs – including states such as Iowa, which has served over 70,000 patients and re-distributed $15 million in donated supplies since 2007.[7] The Iowa program is limited to residents with incomes at or below 200 percent of the federal poverty level (FPL), or $49,200 for a family of four under the current guidelines, who are uninsured or underinsured, and are eligible to receive the donated medications and supplies.[8] The Iowa program accepts donations from any organization or individual in the country with the medication provided in its sealed or original, tamper-resistant packaging. Any pharmacy or medical facility with authorization to dispense under Iowa administrative rules may then re-dispense the donated medication or supplies.[9]

Wyoming has also had a long-running Medication Donation Program. The state's program filled over 150,000 prescriptions since its inception in 2007 and provided more than $2.4 million worth of donated prescriptions in 2016.[10] Assistance under the program is time-limited and recipients must have incomes under 200 percent of the FPL, and be without prescription insurance or Medicaid coverage. A dispensing site may also charge a recipient up to $10 per prescription to cover dispensing fees. Controlled substances are not covered in the program.[11]

Florida Cancer Drug Donation Program

The Florida Cancer Drug Donation Program (CDDP) was created in 2006[12] and is administratively housed within the DBPR. The CDDP allows eligible donors to donate cancer drugs and related supplies to participating facilities that may dispense the donations to eligible cancer patients. Eligible donors include patients, patient representatives, health care facilities, nursing home facilities, hospices, or hospitals with a closed drug delivery system; or pharmacies, drug manufacturers, medical device manufacturers, or suppliers or wholesalers of drugs or supplies.[13]

Eligible participating facilities that may collect donations are limited to only those Florida hospital pharmacies with a Class II institutional pharmacy permit.[14] These pharmacies participate on a voluntary basis and must agree to accept, inspect, and dispense the donated drugs to the eligible patients in accordance with the statute. The DBPR is required to establish and maintain a participant facility registry for the CDDP. The law provides the content for the registry and a requirement for a website posting. Currently, 14 hospital pharmacies participate in the CDDP.[15]

Florida's recipient eligibility requirements limit participation to Florida residents who:

- Have been diagnosed with cancer; and
- Are ineligible for the Medicaid program, or any other prescription drug program funded in whole or in part by the federal government, or do not have third party insurance unless the benefits have been exhausted or a certain cancer drug is not covered.[16]

Donated drugs may only be prescribed by a licensed practitioner and dispensed by a licensed pharmacist to an eligible patient.[17] Dispensed drugs and supplies under the CDDP are not eligible for reimbursement by third parties, either public or private. However, the facility may charge the recipient of the donated drug a handling fee of no more than 300 percent of the Medicaid dispensing fee or no more than $15, whichever is less, for each cancer drug that is dispensed.[18]

The DBPR, Division of Drugs, Devices, and Cosmetics, maintains a list of available donated medications on its website; however, no cancer medications are currently reported on the list.[19] As of November 2017, the DBPR does not require the participating facilities to report the medications that are available for inclusion on the CDDP website or the number of donated drugs that have been administered.[20] A facility is required to maintain its data for three years.[21]

The CDDP will only accept drugs if:

- The drug expires at least six months after the date of donation and the drug's tamper-resistant packaging is intact;
- The drug is in its original, unopened, sealed, tamper-evident unit dose packaging with lot number and expiration date, if so packaged; and
- The drug is not a substance listed on Schedule II, III, IV, or V of s. 893.03, F.S.[22]

Regulation of Pharmacy

The DBPR is the state agency charged with the regulation and licensure of businesses and professionals.[24] Under the provisions of chapter 499, F.S., the Division of Drugs, Devices, and Cosmetics safeguards the health, safety, and welfare of the state's citizens from injury due to the use of adulterated, contaminated, and misbranded drugs, drug ingredients and cosmetics. The Division oversees: the CDDP; issuance and regulation of licensure and permits for drug manufacturers, wholesalers, and distributers; controlled substance reporting requirements for certain wholesale distributors; issuance and regulation of other permits and licenses; and the Drug Wholesale Distributor Advisory Council.[25]

The Florida Drug and Cosmetic Act (Act) is codified as ss. 499.001 – 499.081, F.S. The Act provides uniform legislation to be administered so far as practicable in conformity with the provisions of, and regulations issued under the authority of, the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act and that portion of the Federal Trade Commission Act which expressly prohibits the false advertisement of drugs, devices, and cosmetics. The Act provides definitions for what is considered a device, drug, and, specifically, a prescription drug.[26]

Chapter 465, F.S., governs the regulation of the practice of pharmacy by the Board of Pharmacy in the Department of Health. Section 465.019(2)(b), F.S., provides requirements for institutional pharmacies. "Class II institutional pharmacies" are those institutional pharmacies that employ the services of a registered pharmacist or pharmacists who, in practicing institutional pharmacy, provide dispensing and consulting services on the premises to patients of that institution for use on the premises of that institution.

Section 465.015(2)(c), F.S., makes it unlawful for a pharmacist to sell or dispense drugs without first being furnished a prescription. Section 465.016(1)(l), F.S., prohibits a pharmacist from placing into stock any part of any prescription compounded or dispensed which is returned by the patient. Additionally, the Board of Pharmacy has adopted an administrative rule that prohibits a pharmacist from placing into the stock of any pharmacy any part of any prescription compounded or dispensed, which is returned by a patient, except as specified in the Board of Pharmacy rules.[27] There is an exception for a closed drug delivery system in which unit dose or customized patient medication packages are dispensed to in-patients. The unused medication may be returned to the pharmacy for re-dispensing only if each unit dose or customized patient medication package is individually sealed and if each unit dose or the unit dose system – or the customized patient medication package container or the customized patient medication package unit of which it is clearly a part – is labeled with the name of the drug, dosage strength, manufacturer's control number, and expiration date, if any. In the case of controlled substances, such drugs may only be returned as permitted under federal law.[28] A "closed drug delivery system" means a system in which control of the unit-dose medication is maintained by the facility rather than by the individual patient. A "unit dose system" means a system in which all the individually sealed unit doses are physically connected as a unit.[29]

For nursing facility residents, s. 400.141(1)(d), F.S., requires a pharmacist licensed in Florida that is under contract with a nursing home to repackage a resident's bulk prescription medication that has been packaged by another pharmacist into a unit-dose system compatible with the system used by the nursing facility, if requested by the facility. In order to be eligible for the repacking service, the resident or the resident's spouse's prescription medication benefits must be covered through a former employer as part of his or her retirement benefits, a qualified pension plan as specified in s. 4972 of the Internal Revenue Code, a federal retirement program as specified under 5 C.F.R. part 831, or a long-term care policy as defined under specified state law. A pharmacist who correctly repackages and relabels the medication, and the nursing home who correctly administers the repackaged medication, cannot be held liable in any civil or administrative action arising from the repackaging. The pharmacist may charge a reasonable fee for costs of the repackaging.

A nursing home typically has a Class I institutional permit. This permit authorizes the nursing home to have patient-specific medications that have already been dispensed to the resident. Prescription drugs may not be dispensed in a Class I pharmacy.[30]

Federal Law and Regulations

The federal Controlled Substances Act (CSA) was enacted by Congress in 1970 and codified as 21 U.S.C. §801, et seq. The CSA regulates the manufacture and distribution of controlled substances in the United States. The federal Drug Enforcement Agency (DEA) is responsible for the enforcement of the CSA.

The CSA categorizes drugs into five "schedules" based on their potential for abuse and safety or dependence liability.[31] The CSA provides for specific dispensing requirements for controlled

Drugs classified as Schedule I are those that are considered to have no medical use in the United States and have a high abuse potential and include drugs such as heroin, LSD, and marijuana. Schedule II substances have a high abuse potential with severe psychological or physical dependency, but have accepted medical use. Examples of Schedule II drugs include opium, morphine, codeine, and oxycodone. Schedule III drugs have an abuse potential and dependency liability less than Schedule II with an accepted medical use. Schedule III drugs may also contain limited quantities of certain narcotic and non-narcotic drugs. Schedule IV drugs have an abuse potential and dependency liability less than those drugs in Schedule III and have an substances, including written prescriptions, retention requirements, and refill restrictions, depending on the drug's schedule.[32] Prescriptions must also meet specific labeling and packaging requirements. For Schedule II, III, and IV drugs, the label must clearly contain a warning that it is a crime to transfer the drug to any person other than the patient.[33]

The CSA permits the delivery of controlled substances by an "ultimate user,"[34] who has lawfully obtained the drug, to a designated covered entity for disposal and destruction such as through a prescription drug take-back program.[35] An authorized covered entity is defined in federal law as:

- A specified law enforcement agency;
- A manufacturer, distributor, or reverse distributor of prescription medications;
- A retail pharmacy;
- A registered narcotic treatment program;
- A hospital or clinic with an onsite pharmacy;
- An eligible long-term care facility; or
- Any other entity authorized by the DEA to dispose of prescription medications.[36]

The last National Prescription Take Back Day sponsored by the DEA resulted in more than 912,305 pounds of expired, unused, and unwanted prescription drugs returned at 5,300 sites on November 7, 2017.[37] The goal of the take-back program is to prevent the diversion of unwanted drugs to misuse and abuse and to avoid the potential safety hazard of drugs flushed down the toilet.[38]

Citizen-Support Organizations and Direct-Support Organizations

Citizen-support organizations (CSOs) and direct-support organization (DSOs) are statutorily created non-profit organizations[39] authorized to carry out specific tasks in support of public entities or public causes.[40] The function and purpose of a CSO or DSO are prescribed by an enacting statute and a written contract with the agency the CSO or DSO supports.[41]

CSO and DSO Transparency and Reporting Requirements

In 2014, the Legislature created s. 20.058, F.S., establishing a comprehensive set of transparency and reporting requirements for CSOs and DSOs.[42] Specifically, the law requires each CSO and DSO to annually submit the following information to the appropriate agency by August 1:[43]

- The name, mailing address, telephone number, and website address of the organization;
- The statutory authority or executive order that created the organization;
- A brief description of the mission of, and results obtained by, the organization;
- A brief description of the organization's plans for the next three fiscal years;
- A copy of the organization's ethics code; and
- A copy of the organization's most recent Internal Revenue Service (IRS) Form 990.[44]

Each agency receiving information from a CSO or DSO pursuant to law must make such information available to the public through the agency's website.[45] If the organization maintains a website, the agency's website must provide a link to the organization's website.[46] Any contract between an agency and a CSO or DSO must be contingent upon the CSO or DSO submitting and posting the required information to the agency as specified in law.[47] If a CSO or DSO fails to submit the required information to the agency for two consecutive years, the agency head must terminate any contract between the agency and the CSO or DSO.[48]

By August 15 of each year, the agency must report to the Governor, President of the Senate, Speaker of the House of Representatives, and the Office of Program Policy Analysis and Government Accountability (OPPAGA) the information submitted by each CSO or DSO along with the agency's recommendation and supporting rationale to continue, terminate, or modify the agency's association with the CSO or DSO.[49]

Any law creating, or authorizing the creation of a CSO or DSO must state that the authorization for the organization repeals on October 1 of the 5th year after enactment, unless reviewed and reenacted by the Legislature. CSOs and DSOs in existence prior to July 1, 2014, must be reviewed by the Legislature by July 1, 2019.[50]

CSO and DSO Audit Requirements

Section 215.981, F.S., requires each CSO and DSO with annual expenditures in excess of $100,000 to provide for an annual financial audit of its accounts and records.[51] An independent certified public accountant in accordance with rules adopted by the Auditor General must conduct the audit. The audit report must be submitted within nine months after the end of the fiscal year to the Auditor General and to the state agency the CSO or DSO supports.[52] Additionally, the Auditor General may, pursuant to his or her own authority, or at the direction of the Legislative Auditing Committee, conduct audits or other engagements of a CSO's or DSO's accounts and records.[53]

CSO and DSO Ethics Code Requirement

Section 112.3251, F.S., requires a CSO or DSO to adopt a code of ethics. The code of ethics must contain the specified standards of conduct and disclosures provided in ss. 112.313 and 112.3143(2), F.S.[54] A CSO or DSO may adopt additional or more stringent standards of conduct and disclosure requirements and must post its code of ethics on its website.[55]

Governor's Executive Powers

During a declared state of emergency, the Governor has extensive authority to act as he or she deems necessary. Section 252.36(1), F.S., provides, in part, that "in the event of an emergency beyond local control, the Governor…may assume" or delegate "direct operational control over all or any part of the emergency management functions within this state…" In addition, the Governor may "issue executive orders, proclamations, and rules" which "shall have the force and effect of law." Subsection (5) specifically authorizes the Governor to use all resources of the state government and of each political subdivision of the state, as reasonably necessary to cope with the emergency.

The Governor is also directed to "take such action and give such direction to state and local law enforcement officers," and state health officials as may be "reasonable and necessary" to secure compliance with the State Emergency Management Act and the Florida Hazardous Materials Emergency Response and Community Right-To-Know Act in ch. 252, F.S.

A declared State of Emergency is limited to 60 days, unless renewed by the Governor or terminated by the Legislature.

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

Section 1 creates s. 465.1902, F.S., to establish the Prescription Drug Donation Repository Program (Program) within the Department of Health (DOH). The purpose of the program is to authorize and facilitate the donation and distribution of prescription drugs and supplies to eligible patients through a system of local and centralized repositories. The DOH may contract with a third party to implement and administer the Program.

The bill authorizes the following individuals or entities to donate prescription drugs and supplies:

- Nursing home facilities with closed drug delivery systems.
- Hospices that have maintained control of a patient's prescription drug.

[52] Section 215.981(1), F.S.
[53] Section 11.45(3), F.S.
[54] Some of the standards of conduct and disclosures in ss. 112.313 and 112.3143(2), F.S., include misuse of public position, solicitation or acceptance of gifts, unauthorized compensation, and voting conflicts.
[55] Section 112.3251, F.S.

- Hospitals with closed drug delivery systems.
- Pharmacies.
- Drug manufacturers or wholesale distributors.
- Medical device manufacturers or suppliers.
- Prescribing individuals who receive prescription drugs or supplies directly from a drug manufacturer, wholesale distributor, or pharmacy.

The bill authorizes prescription drugs to be donated at the discretion of the centralized repository or a local repository if the drug:

- Is approved for medical use in the United States;
- Does not include a substance listed in Schedule II, Schedule III, Schedule IV, or Schedule V of s. 893.03, F.S.;
- Is in its original sealed and tamper-evident packaging, and does not have any physical signs of tampering or adulteration;
- Requires storage at normal room temperature per the manufacturer or the United States Pharmacopeia, and has been stored according to these requirements;
- Packaging contains a lot number and expiration date of the drug, and will not expire within three months after the donation is made;
- Is not eligible for return to the Medicaid program for restocking; and
- Is not subject to a Federal Food and Drug Administration Risk Evaluation and Mitigation Strategy with Elements to Assure Safe Use.

The bill requires prescription drugs or supplies be donated at a repository and prohibits the use of a drop box and donation to a specific patient. Repositories must destroy any donated drug not eligible for dispensing and make a record of the destruction on a form developed by DOH.

The bill requires a licensed pharmacist employed by, or under contract with, a repository to inspect all donated prescription drugs and supplies to determine whether they are eligible for donation under the Program, have been adulterated or misbranded, and are safe and suitable for dispensing. The pharmacist must sign an inspection record affirming the eligibility of the prescription drug or supply, and attach the form to the inventory record. The pharmacist is not required to re-inspect the prescription drug if the inspected drugs are redistributed to another repository under the Program.

The bill requires repositories to store all donated prescription drugs and supplies in a secure storage area, separate from non-donated inventory, and under the environmental conditions required by the manufacturer or the U.S. Pharmacopeia. Repositories must quarantine donated drugs and supplies from dispensing inventory until they have been inspected and approved for dispensing by the pharmacist.

The bill requires local repositories to maintain an inventory of all donated prescription drugs and supplies they receive, and to notify the centralized repository within five days of receipt. The centralized repository maintains an inventory of all prescription drugs and supplies donated to the Program, including donations made at local repositories. The centralized repository may redistribute drugs and supplies to facilitate dispensing as needed throughout the state.

The bill makes participation in the Program voluntary and requires an eligible entity to notify the DOH of its intent to participate before accepting or dispensing any prescription drugs or supplies under the Program. The DOH shall establish in rule a form for such notification, to include, at a minimum:

- The name, street address, website, and telephone number of the local repository, and any state-issued license or registration number issued to the local repository, including the name of the issuing agency;
- The name and telephone number of the pharmacist employed by or under contract with the local repository responsible for the inspection of donated prescription drugs and supplies; and
- A statement signed and dated by the responsible pharmacist affirming that the local repository meets the eligibility requirements.

An eligible patient wishing to receive drugs or supplies under the Program may contact a local repository, and submit an intake collection form. This form, to be created by DOH in rule, shall include, at a minimum:

- The name, street address, and telephone number of the eligible patient;
- The specific basis for eligibility, which must be indigent, uninsured, or underinsured, as defined in the Program;[56] and
- A statement signed and dated by the eligible patient affirming that he or she meets the eligibility requirements of the Program.

The bill requires local repositories to collect an executed intake form from each eligible patient receiving drugs or supplies under the Program. Upon receiving a duly executed intake form, the local repository shall issue the eligible patient an identification card that is valid for up to one year. Local repositories must send a summary of the intake collection form data to the centralized repository within five days of receipt.

The bill permits licensed pharmacists and those health care practitioners already authorized by law to dispense prescription drugs and supplies in Florida to do so under the Program. Prior to dispensing a prescription drug or supply to an eligible patient, the dispenser must:

- Verify that the patient is eligible to receive donations under the Program, either through a Program identification card or a duly executed intake collection form; and
- Inspect the donated prescription drug or supply to confirm it is still eligible for dispensing under the Program.

The bill prohibits repositories from reselling drugs, submitting claims, or otherwise seeking reimbursement from any public or private third-party payor for donated drugs or supplies dispensed under the Program. However, the dispensing facility may charge a nominal handling fee, to be determined by the DOH in rule.

In the event of a prescription drug recall, the bill requires a local or centralized repository to:

[56] The bill defines "indigent" as persons with an income below 200 percent of the federal poverty level, "uninsured" as persons who have no third-party insurance and are not eligible under Medicaid or any other federal program, and "underinsured" as persons who have third-party insurance or are eligible under Medicaid or other federal program, but have exhausted these benefits or do not have prescription drug coverage for the drug prescribed.

- Have an established protocol to notify recipients of the drug;
- Destroy all of the recalled prescription drugs in the repository; and
- Complete a destruction information form for all donated prescription drugs that were destroyed.

The bill requires local repositories to maintain records of all prescription drugs and supplies accepted, donated, dispensed, distributed, or destroyed under the Program. Local repositories must submit these records quarterly to the centralized repository for data collection and the centralized repository submits these records and the collected data in annual reports to the DOH.

The bill requires the DOH to maintain a registry on its website of all available drugs and supplies, including the name, strength, available quantity, and expiration date of each drug and supply, as well as the contact information for the repositories where it is available. The DOH is required to maintain a registry on its website of all participating local repositories, to include each repository's name, address, website, and telephone number.

The bill grants immunity from civil or criminal liability, and professional disciplinary actions, to a donor or participant relating to activities under the Program. Additionally, a pharmaceutical manufacturer who exercises reasonable care is not liable for any claim or injury arising from the transfer of prescription drugs under the Program.

The bill requires the dispenser to provide written notification to the patient, or his or her legal representative, before dispensing a prescription drug that the drug was donated to the Program, the dispenser is not liable for any injury, death, or loss related to the dispensing of the drug, and the requirement of a nominal handling fee.

The bill authorizes the DOH to establish a direct-support organization (DSO) to provide assistance, funding, and promotional support for the activities authorized for the Program. The DSO is repealed on October 1, 2023, unless reviewed and saved from repeal by the Legislature.

The bill provides rulemaking authority to the DOH to administer the Program and establish the DSO.

Section 2 amends s. 252.36(5), F.S., to allow the Governor to waive the patient eligibility requirements of the Program during a declared state of emergency.

Section 3 provides an effective date of July 1, 2018.

Participation in the program is voluntary. Those hospitals and nursing homes volunteering to participate in the program may incur costs associated with collecting, storing, and re-dispensing of donated prescription drugs. Those same hospitals and nursing homes may enjoy cost savings to the extent their patients may be receiving needed health care services on a more timely basis. Without such donations, some patients could return as sicker, more costly patients at a later date.

Hospitals and facilities participating in the program are permitted to recoup some costs through a small handling fee. Current state regulations permit a handling fee of up to 300 percent of the Medicaid dispensing fee or $15, whichever is less, for each cancer drug or supply dispensed.[57]

C. Government Sector Impact:

The DOH will experience a significant increase in workload to administer the program. The DSO established under the bill is responsible for collecting the necessary funds for the DOH to administer the program effectively. The DOH will need to submit a legislative budget request for the Legislature to appropriate an indeterminate, yet significant, amount of general revenue funds to support the Program if the DSO is unsuccessful in collecting the required resources.

Public facilities that elect to participate in the program will face similar costs associated with collecting, storing, and dispensing the prescription drugs. Likewise, these public facilities may enjoy additional savings through the participation of the uninsured or underinsured from their communities.

(7)(a) A donation of prescription ~~cancer~~ drugs or supplies shall be made only at a participant facility. A participant facility may decline to accept a donation. A participant facility that accepts donated prescription ~~cancer~~ drugs or supplies under the program shall comply with all applicable provisions of state and federal law relating to the storage and dispensing of the donated prescription ~~cancer~~ drugs or supplies.

CODING: Words ~~stricken~~ are deletions; words underlined are additions.

(b) A participant facility that voluntarily takes part in the program may charge a handling fee sufficient to cover the cost of preparation and dispensing of prescription ~~cancer~~ drugs or supplies under the program. The fee shall be established in rules adopted by the department.

(8) The department, upon the recommendation of the Board of Pharmacy, shall adopt rules to carry out the provisions of this section. ~~Initial rules under this section shall be adopted no later than 90 days after the effective date of this act.~~ The rules shall include, but not be limited to:

COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

CS/CS/SB 744 revises the framework for the oversight of electrology by eliminating the Electrolysis Council (EC) and its oversight of the practice of electrology. The Board of Medicine (board) is solely responsible for regulating the practice of electrology.

The definition of "electrolysis or electrology" is revised to reflect technological advancements; removing reference to the permanent removal of hair by destroying the hair-producing cells of the skin and vascular system from the definition. The bill defines "electrolysis or electrology" as the permanent removal of hair using equipment and devices that have been cleared by and registered with the United States Food and Drug Administration (FDA) and that are used pursuant to protocols approved by the board.

The bill requires that a licensed electrologist who uses a laser or pulsed-light device in a laser hair removal or reduction procedure must be certified in the use of these devices.

The bill has no fiscal impact on state revenues or expenditures.

The bill takes effect October 1, 2018.

II. Present Situation:

State Regulation of Electrology

The board within the Florida Department of Health (department) licenses, monitors, disciplines, educates, and rehabilitates physicians and other practitioners to assure their fitness and competence in the service of the people of Florida.[1] Electrology is a practice that is regulated by the board, with input by the EC.[2] The EC is a body that is housed within the board. These entities are given authority to investigate complaints, impose discipline on a license, and perform inspections related to electrolysis.[3]

"Electrolysis or electrology" is defined as the permanent removal of hair by destroying the hair-producing cells of the skin and vascular system, using equipment and devices approved by the board which have been cleared by, and registered with, the FDA and that are used pursuant to protocols approved by the board.[4]

The EC consists of five members appointed by the board. The EC meets quarterly and has the following responsibilities:[5]

- Approval and denial of applicants by examination and endorsement;
- Approval and denial of continuing education providers and electrolysis training programs;
- Authority to accept non-disciplinary voluntarily relinquishments;
- Authority to notice rules for development and to propose rules to the board; and
- Initial consideration of rulemaking proposals, petitions to adopt, amend, or repeal rules related to electrology and making recommendations to the board as to the appropriate action to be taken.

A person may not practice electrolysis or hold himself or herself out as an electrologist unless that person has an active valid Florida license.[6] Specifically, an applicant for a license must:

- Be at least 18 years old;
- Be of good moral character;
- Possess a high school diploma or high school equivalency diploma;
- Have not committed in any jurisdiction an act that constitutes grounds for discipline as an electrologist in Florida;
- Have successfully completed the 120-hour electrolysis training program and board approved 200-hour practical application; and
- Have passed a written examination developed by the department or a national examination approved by the board.[7]

The department may issue temporary permits to qualified applicants to practice electrology that are valid until the next board meeting at which licensing decisions occur, or the next exam results are issued.[8]

The board, with the assistance of the EC,[9] establishes minimum standards for the delivery of electrolysis services and adopts rules to implement ch. 478, F.S.[10]

Electrology facilities must be licensed by the department. The board is responsible for rulemaking to govern the licensure, operation, personnel, and safety and sanitary requirements of electrology facilities.[11]

Use of Laser and Light-based Devices for Hair Removal or Reduction

The board has established by rule an allowance for a Florida electrologist to use laser and light-based devices for hair removal or reduction, which are procedures above the initial scope of licensure, if he or she:

- Has completed a 30-hour continuing education course approved by the EC;[12]
- Is certified in the use of laser and light-based devices for the removal or reduction of hair by a national certification organization approved by the EC and the board (i.e. passed the Certified Medical Electrologist Exam (CME) given by the Society for Clinical & Medical Hair Removal, Inc. (SCMHR));
- Is using only the laser and light-based hair removal or reduction devices upon which they have been trained; and
- Is operating under the direct supervision and responsibility of a physician[13] properly trained in laser hair removal and licensed pursuant to chs. 458 or 459, F.S.[14]

The EC and the board have approved the SCMHR,[15] as the national certification organization to certifiy Florida electrologists in the use of laser and pulse-light devices for the removal or reduction of hair.[16] The SCMHR offers certification for use of laser and light-based devices, education programs for hair removal procedures, and membership services.[17] The CME test that is required by the department is $200 for members of the organization and $300 for non-members.[18] Certification that is obtained by passing the test lasts for five years, at which time either taking continuing education units (7.5 units at $25 per[19]) or a reexamination is required to renew.[20] Membership costs $195 annually.[21] Currently, Florida electrologists using laser or light-based devices do not need to renew or maintain such certification to continue to use such devices.[22]

If a licensee violates the Electrology Practice Act, he or she can be disciplined[23] and be given penalties set forth in s. 456.072, F.S., which include suspension, probation, fines, reprimands, refunds, and remedial education.[24]

There are currently 1,329 active electrologist licenses, and 310 licensed electrolysis facilities, in Florida. The department does not distinguish in its reporting between those electrologists certified and those not certified in the use of lasers or pulse-light devices.[25]

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

The bill eliminates the EC and its oversight of the practice of electrology. The board is solely responsible for regulating the practice of electrology.

The definition of "electrolysis or electrology" is revised to reflect technological advancements; removing reference to the permanent removal of hair by destroying the hair-producing cells of the skin and vascular system from the definition. The bill defines "electrolysis or electrology" as the permanent removal of hair using equipment and devices that have been cleared by and registered with the FDA and that are used pursuant to protocols approved by the board.

The bill requires a licensed electrologist who uses a laser or pulsed-light device in a laser hair removal or reduction procedure must be certified by a nationally recognized electrology organization in the use of these devices.

The bill conforms changes in assigned responsibilities or authorizations to reflect that the EC is eliminated and the board is solely responsible for regulating the practice of electrology.

The bill takes effect October 1, 2018.

IV. Constitutional Issues:

A. Municipality/County Mandates Restrictions:

None.

B. Public Records/Open Meetings Issues:

None.

C. Trust Funds Restrictions:

None.

V. Fiscal Impact Statement:

A. Tax/Fee Issues:

None.

B. Private Sector Impact:

The bill will increase costs on individuals to maintain an electrology license for those who use laser and pulsed-light devices because the licensee will have to maintain their SCMHR certification and pay costs associated with doing so every five years. Current policy is that after initial certification, licensees are not required to maintain CME certification to practice or renew licensure.

C. Government Sector Impact:

The department may incur costs related to rulemaking to remove the EC's regulation of the practice of electrology. According to the department, current resources are adequate to absorb these costs.

VI. Technical Deficiencies:

None.

VII. Related Issues:

None.

VIII. Statutes Affected:

This bill substantially amends the following sections of the Florida Statutes: 478.42, 478.43, 478.45, 478.49, 478.50, 478.52, and 478.53.

The bill repeals section 478.44 of the Florida Statutes.

IX. Additional Information:

A. Committee Substitute – Statement of Substantial Changes:
(Summarizing differences between the Committee Substitute and the prior version of the bill.)

CS/CS by Appropriations on March 2, 2018:
The committee substitute:

- Restores the board's oversight of electrology but maintains elimination of the Electrolysis Council;
- Revises the definition of electrolysis/electrology;
- Removes language from the medical practice acts which requires electrologists and other licensees to be directly supervised by a physician during laser and light-based hair removal procedures;
- Restores department's authority to issue a temporary permit prior to issuing an electrologist license; and
- Deletes one year phase out provision for valid permits in good standing that exist on the effective date of the bill.

CS by Health Policy February 13, 2018:
The committee substitute:

- Retains the regulation of electrology in the department through the Division of Medical Quality Assurance, rather than transferring it to the Department of Business and Professional Regulation;
- References the direct physician supervision requirements;
- Provides a one year phase out for valid permits in good standing that exist on the effective date of the bill; and
- Preserves the electrology rules in place unless they are changed by the department or superseded by other laws.

COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

CS/CS/SB 774 provides that, in private adoptions, the adoption entity conducting the preliminary home study is responsible for determining the counseling and educational needs of the adoptive parents.

The bill clarifies that the training mandated by the Department of Children and Families (DCF) for foster families applies only when children are being adopted from the department and does not apply to private adoptions.

The bill also requires that the DCF provide a copy of its record check from the central abuse registry to the adoption entity conducting the preliminary home study of the adoptive parents.

The bill has no fiscal impact on state government.

The bill is effective July 1, 2018.

II. Present Situation:

Section 63.092(3), F.S., requires prospective adoptive parents in private adoption proceedings to undergo a preliminary home study to determine their suitability as adoptive parents.[1] A DCF-licensed child-placing agency or child-caring agency generally conducts the preliminary home study, which includes, among other things, a records check of the prospective parents in DCF's central abuse registry and counseling and education of the intended adoptive parents on adoptive parenting.[2]

Currently, the statute does not require the results of the DCF record check to be given directly to the entity conducting the preliminary home study. This provision also does not specify what the counseling and education requirements are for prospective adoptive parents in private proceedings; however, the DCF imposes the same training requirements it uses for licensing and training prospective foster care parents and emergency shelter parents pursuant to s. 407.175, F.S.[3] This training is designed to prepare prospective foster care parents and emergency shelter parents for the unique difficulties they will have to face when caring for children in dependency proceedings with a history of abuse, neglect, or prior placement disruptions.[4]

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

Section 1 amends s. 63.092(3), F.S., relating to the requirements of preliminary home studies of intended adoptive parents, to:

- Require the DCF to provide records checks of its central abuse registry directly to the adoption entity conducting the home study, to ensure integrity of the results and protect the best interest of the child being placed for adoption, and
- Allow licensed adoption agencies in private adoptions to use their professional judgement to determine the appropriate counseling and education for the intended adoptive parents. The bill exempts adoptive parents in private adoptions from the training requirements in s. 409.175(14), F.S.

Section 2 provides an effective date of October 1, 2018.

IV. Constitutional Issues:

[4] Section 409.175(14), F.S. One of the training requirements for these parents is 21 hours of preservice training to: orient them; explain their role as a treatment team member; prepare them for issues involved in the transition of a child into and out of foster care and emergency shelter care; teach them to manage difficult child behavior intensified by placement, prior abuse or neglect, or prior placement disruptions; prevent placement disruptions; teach them how to care for children at various developmental levels; and educate them on the effects of foster parenting on their families.

IX. Additional Information:

A. Committee Substitute – Statement of Substantial Changes:
(Summarizing differences between the Committee Substitute and the prior version of the bill.)

CS/CS by Judiciary on February 20, 2018:
The committee substitute no longer includes sections 1 through 7 of the underlying bill. These sections imported the more expeditious procedures of the adoption act, ch. 63, F.S., into the dependency law, ch. 39, F.S., for identifying prospective parents or unmarried biological fathers prior to terminating all parental rights.

CS by Children, Families, and Elder Affairs on January 22, 2018:
The amendment does the following:

[5] Dept. of Children & Families, 2018 Agency Legislative Bill Analysis, Senate Bill 774, (Jan. 29, 2018) (on filed with Senate Judiciary Committee).

- Makes a number of technical and conforming changes including replacing the term "individually served" with the term "personally served" and replacing the term "alleged parent" with the term "prospective parent."
- Requires certain records check of the Department of Children and Families' Central Abuse Registry be provided directly to the entity conducting the home study to ensure the integrity of the results and protect the best interest of children being placed for adoption; and
- Allows licensed adoption agencies to use their professional judgement to determine the appropriate counseling and education, dependent upon the type of adoption and the child being adopted.
- Removes the provision that allows the community-based lead care agencies to receive credit for specified adoptions.

A bill to be entitled

An act relating to dependency proceedings; amending s. 63.092, F.S.; requiring the Department of Children and Families to provide specified records to entities conducting preliminary home studies; limiting certain training requirements to persons who adopt children from the department; providing an effective date.

Be It Enacted by the Legislature of the State of Florida:

Section 1. Subsection (3) of section 63.092, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

63.092 Report to the court of intended placement by an adoption entity; at-risk placement; preliminary study.—

(3) PRELIMINARY HOME STUDY.—Before placing the minor in the intended adoptive home, a preliminary home study must be performed by a licensed child-placing agency, a child-caring agency registered under s. 409.176, a licensed professional, or an agency described in s. 61.20(2), unless the adoptee is an adult or the petitioner is a stepparent or a relative. If the adoptee is an adult or the petitioner is a stepparent or a relative, a preliminary home study may be required by the court for good cause shown. The department is required to perform the preliminary home study only if there is no licensed child-placing agency, child-caring agency registered under s. 409.176, licensed professional, or agency described in s. 61.20(2), in the county where the prospective adoptive parents reside. The preliminary home study must be made to determine the suitability of the intended adoptive parents and may be completed prior to identification of a prospective adoptive minor. A favorable preliminary home study is valid for 1 year after the date of its completion. Upon its completion, a signed copy of the home study must be provided to the intended adoptive parents who were the subject of the home study. A minor may not be placed in an intended adoptive home before a favorable preliminary home study is completed unless the adoptive home is also a licensed foster home under s. 409.175. The preliminary home study must include, at a minimum:

(a) An interview with the intended adoptive parents;

(b) Records checks of the department's central abuse registry, which the department shall provide to the entity conducting the preliminary home study, and criminal records correspondence checks under s. 39.0138 through the Department of Law Enforcement on the intended adoptive parents;

(c) An assessment of the physical environment of the home;

(d) A determination of the financial security of the intended adoptive parents;

(e) Documentation of counseling and education of the intended adoptive parents on adoptive parenting as determined by the entity conducting the preliminary home study. The training specified in s. 409.175(14) shall only be required for persons who adopt children from the department;

(f) Documentation that information on adoption and the adoption process has been provided to the intended adoptive parents;

(g) Documentation that information on support services available in the community has been provided to the intended adoptive parents; and

CODING: Words ~~stricken~~ are deletions; words underlined are additions.

(h) A copy of each signed acknowledgment of receipt of disclosure required by s. 63.085.

If the preliminary home study is favorable, a minor may be placed in the home pending entry of the judgment of adoption. A minor may not be placed in the home if the preliminary home study is unfavorable. If the preliminary home study is unfavorable, the adoption entity may, within 20 days after receipt of a copy of the written recommendation, petition the court to determine the suitability of the intended adoptive home. A determination as to suitability under this subsection does not act as a presumption of suitability at the final hearing. In determining the suitability of the intended adoptive home, the court must consider the totality of the circumstances in the home. A minor may not be placed in a home in which there resides any person determined by the court to be a sexual predator as defined in s. 775.21 or to have been convicted of an offense listed in s. 63.089(4)(b)2.

Section 2. This act shall take effect October 1, 2018.

COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

CS/SB 848 creates a new pharmacy permit specific to remote dispensing site pharmacies (RDSP). The bill defines "remote dispensing site pharmacy" and provides exceptions to current law for the operation of an RDSP. In an RDSP, a registered pharmacy technician may dispense medicinal drugs under the supervision of an offsite pharmacist. The bill establishes requirements for RDSP permits including:

- Ownership and video surveillance for remote supervision by a Florida licensed pharmacist;
- A restriction that a remote dispensing site pharmacy must be located in a rural area and may not be located within 10 miles of a community pharmacy, with exceptions; and
- Policies and procedures that an RDSP must maintain.

The bill allows an RDSP to store, hold, and dispense all medicinal drugs,[1] including controlled substances listed in s. 893.03(3)-(5), F.S., but restricts an RDSP from storing, holding, and dispensing schedule II narcotic controlled substances. The bill restricts an RDSP from performing centralized prescription filling[2] and a registered pharmacy technician working in an RDSP from performing sterile or complex nonsterile compounding.

[1] "Medicinal drugs" are defined in s. 465.003(8), F.S., as those substances or preparations commonly known as "prescription" or "legend" drugs, which are required by federal or state law to be dispensed only on a prescription.

[2] "Centralized prescription filling" is defined in s. 465.003(16), F.S., as the filling of a prescription by one pharmacy upon request by another pharmacy to fill or refill the prescription. The term includes the performance by one pharmacy for another pharmacy of other pharmacy duties such as drug utilization review, therapeutic drug utilization review, claims adjudication, and the obtaining of refill authorizations.

The bill will increase costs in the DOH by an indeterminate amount; however, these costs will be absorbed within existing resources of the DOH.

The effective date of the bill is July 1, 2018.

II. Present Situation:

Pharmacy Regulation

The Florida Pharmacy Act (act) regulates the practice of pharmacy in Florida and contains the minimum requirements for safe practice.[3] The Board of Pharmacy (board) is tasked with adopting rules to implement the provisions of the act and setting standards of practice within the state.[4] Any person who operates a pharmacy in Florida must have a permit, and as of July 1, 2017, there were 9,835 permitted pharmacies in the state.[5] The Department of Health (DOH) issues the following permits:

- Community pharmacy – A permit is required for each location where medicinal drugs are compounded, dispensed, stored, or sold or where prescriptions are filled or dispensed on an outpatient basis.[6]
- Institutional pharmacy – A permit is required for every location in a hospital, clinic, nursing home, dispensary, sanitarium, extended care facility, or other facility where medicinal drugs are compounded, dispensed, stored, or sold.[7]
- Nuclear pharmacy – A permit is required for every location where radioactive drugs and chemicals within the classification of medicinal drugs are compounded, dispensed, stored, or sold. The term "nuclear pharmacy" does not include hospitals licensed under ch. 395, F.S., or the nuclear medicine facilities of such hospitals.[8]
- Special pharmacy – A permit is required for every location where medicinal drugs are compounded, dispensed, stored, or sold if the location does not otherwise meet an applicable pharmacy definition in s. 465.003, F.S.[9]
- Internet pharmacy – A permit is required for a location not otherwise licensed or issued a permit under this chapter, within or outside this state, which uses the Internet to communicate with, or obtain information from, consumers in this state to fill or refill prescriptions or to dispense, distribute, or otherwise practice pharmacy in this state.[10]
- Nonresident sterile compounding pharmacy – A permit is required for a registered nonresident pharmacy or an outsourcing facility to ship, mail, deliver, or dispense, in any manner, a compounded sterile product into this state.[11]

- Special sterile compounding – A separate permit is required for a pharmacy holding an active pharmacy permit that engages in sterile compounding.[12]

A pharmacy must pass an on-site inspection for a permit to be issued,[13] and the permit is valid only for the name and address to which it is issued.[14]

Regulation of Pharmacists and Pharmacy Technicians

Pharmacists

Licensure Requirements

A pharmacist is a person who is licensed under the act to practice the profession of pharmacy.[15] To be licensed as a pharmacist in Florida, a person must:[16]

- Be at least 18 years of age;
- Complete an application and remit an examination fee;
- Hold a degree from an accredited and approved school or college of pharmacy;[17]
- Have completed a board-approved internship; and
- Successfully complete the board-approved examination.

During each biennial licensure renewal cycle, a pharmacist must complete at least 30 hours of board-approved continuing education courses.[18] If a pharmacist is certified to administer vaccines or epinephrine, the pharmacist must complete a three-hour continuing education course on the safe and effective administration of vaccines and epinephrine autoinjections as a part of the biennial licensure renewal.[19]

Scope of Practice

The practice of the profession of pharmacy includes:[20]

- Compounding,[21] dispensing, and consulting concerning contents, therapeutic values, and uses of a medicinal drug;

[17] If the applicant has graduated from a four-year undergraduate pharmacy program of a school or college of pharmacy located outside the United States, the applicant must demonstrate proficiency in English, pass the board-approved Foreign Pharmacy Graduate Equivalency Examination, and complete a minimum of 500 hours in a supervised work activity program within Florida under the supervision of a DOH-licensed pharmacist.

[21] Rule 64B16-27.700, F.A.C., defines compounding as a professional act by a pharmacist incorporating ingredients to create a finished product for dispensing to a patient or to a practitioner for administration to a patient. The American Pharmacists Association, citing the U.S. Pharmacopeia Convention (USP), defines compounding as "the preparation, mixing, assembling, altering, packaging, and labeling of a drug, drug-delivery device, or device in accordance with a licensed practitioner's prescription, medication order, or initiative based on the practitioner/patient/ pharmacist/compounder relationship in the

- Consulting concerning therapeutic values and interactions of patent or proprietary preparations;
- Monitoring a patient's drug therapy and assisting the patient in the management of his or her drug therapy, including the review of the patient's drug therapy and communication with the patient's prescribing health care provider or other persons specifically authorized by the patient, regarding the drug therapy;
- Transmitting information from prescribers to their patients;
- Administering vaccines to adults;[22]
- Administering epinephrine injections;[23] and
- Administering antipsychotic medications by injection.[24]

Pharmacists are specifically prohibited from altering a prescriber's directions, diagnosing or treating any disease, initiating any drug therapy, and practicing medicine or osteopathic medicine unless permitted by law.[25]

Only a pharmacist or registered intern may:[26]
- Supervise or be responsible for the controlled substance inventory;
- Receive verbal prescriptions from a prescriber;
- Interpret and identify prescription contents;
- Engage in consultation with a health care practitioner regarding the interpretation of a prescription and date in a patient's profile record;
- Engage in professional communication with health care practitioners;
- Advise or consult with a patient, both as to the prescription and the patient profile record; and
- Perform certain duties related to the preparation of parenteral and bulk solutions.

Pharmacists must perform the final check of a completed prescription, thereby assuming complete responsibility for its preparation and accuracy.[27] A pharmacist must be personally available at the time of dispensing.[28] A prescription department is considered closed if a Florida-licensed pharmacist is not present and on duty unless the pharmacist leaves the prescription department to:[29]
- Consult, respond to inquiries, or provide assistance to customers or patients;
- Attend to personal hygiene needs; or
- Perform functions for which the pharmacist is responsible if such activities are performed in a manner that is consistent with the pharmacist's responsibility to provide pharmacy services.

Prescription Department Managers

Each community pharmacy must designate a licensed pharmacist as a prescription department manager.[30] The prescription department manager is responsible for maintaining all drug records, providing for the security of the prescription department, and ensuring that all regulations of the practice of the profession of pharmacy are followed.[31] A pharmacist may only serve as the prescription department manager of one pharmacy.[32] However, the board may grant an exception based on circumstances, such as the proximity of the pharmacies and the workload of the pharmacist.

Pharmacy Technicians

Registration Requirements

Pharmacy technicians assist pharmacists in dispensing medications and are accountable to a supervising pharmacist who is legally responsible for the care and safety of the patients served.[33] A person must register with DOH to practice as a pharmacy technician. To register, an individual must:[34]

- Be at least 17 years of age;
- Submit an application and pay an application fee; and
- Complete a board-approved pharmacy technician-training program.[35]

The pharmacy technician must renew the registration biennially. For each renewal cycle, a pharmacy technician must complete 20 continuing education hours.[36]

Pharmacy Technician Training Programs

A pharmacy technician may only be registered with DOH if he or she completes a board-approved training program. These include pre-approved training programs that were accredited on or before April 1, 2017, by certain accreditation entities, such as the Accreditation Council on Pharmacy Education, as well as pharmacy technician training programs provided by a branch of the United States Armed Forces whose curriculum was developed on or before April 1, 2017.[37]

The board may review and approve other training programs that do not meet the criteria for pre-approval. Such programs must be licensed by the Commission for Independent Education or equivalent licensing authority or be within the public school system of this state and offer a course of study that includes:[38]

- Introduction to pharmacy and health care systems;

- Patient rights and the Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act (HIPAA);
- Relevant state and federal law;
- Pharmaceutical topics, including medical terminology, abbreviations, and symbols; medication safety and error prevention; and prescriptions and medication orders;
- Records management and inventory control, including pharmaceutical supplies, medication labeling, medication packaging and storage, controlled substances, and adjudication and billing;
- Interpersonal relations and ethics, including diversity of communications, empathetic communications, ethics governing pharmacy practice, patient and caregiver communications; and
- Pharmaceutical calculations.

The training program must provide the board with educational and professional background of its faculty.[39] A licensed pharmacist or registered pharmacy technician with appropriate expertise must be involved with planning and instruction and must supervise learning experiences.[40]

The board may also review and approve employer-based pharmacy technician training programs. An employer-based program must be offered by a Florida-permitted pharmacy or affiliated group of pharmacies under common ownership. [41] The program must include 160 hours of training over a period of no more than six months and may be provided only to the employees of that pharmacy.[42] The employer-based training program must:[43]

- Meet the same qualifications as required for non-employment based pharmacy technician training programs as indicated above;
- Provide an opportunity for students to evaluate learning experiences, instructional methods, facilitates, and resources;
- Ensure that self-directed learning experience, such as home study or web-based courses, evaluate the participant's knowledge at the completion of the learning experience; and
- Designate a person to assume responsibility for the registered pharmacy technician-training program.

Scope of Practice

A registered pharmacy technician may not engage in the practice of the profession of pharmacy; however, a licensed pharmacist may delegate those duties, tasks, and functions that do not fall within the definition of the practice of professional pharmacy.[44] Registered pharmacy technicians' responsibilities include: [45]

- Retrieval of prescription files;
- Data entry;
- Label preparation;

- Counting, weighing, measuring, and pouring of prescription medication;
- Initiation of communication with a prescribing practitioner regarding requests for prescription refill authorization, obtaining clarification on missing or illegible information on prescriptions, and confirmation of information such as names, medication, strength, directions, and refills;
- Acceptance of authorization for prescription renewals; and
- Any other mechanical, technical, or administrative tasks that do not themselves constitute the practice of the profession of pharmacy.

A licensed pharmacist must directly supervise the performance of a registered pharmacy technician[46] and is responsible for acts performed by persons under his or her supervision.[47] A pharmacist may use technological means to communicate with or observe a registered pharmacy technician who is performing delegated tasks.[48]

The board specifies, by rule, certain acts that registered pharmacy technicians are prohibited from performing, which include:[49]

- Receiving new verbal prescriptions or any change in the medication, strength, or directions of an existing prescription;
- Interpreting a prescription or medication order for therapeutic acceptability and appropriateness;
- Conducting a final verification of dosage and directions;
- Engaging in prospective drug review;
- Monitoring prescription drug usage;
- Transferring a prescription;
- Overriding clinical alerts without first notifying the pharmacist;
- Preparing a copy of a prescription or reading a prescription to any person for the purpose of providing reference concerning treatment of the patient for whom the prescription was written;
- Engaging in patient counseling; or
- Engaging in any other act that requires the exercise of a pharmacist's professional judgment.

A registered pharmacy technician must wear an identification badge with a designation as a "registered pharmacy technician" and identify herself or himself as a registered pharmacy technician in telephone or other forms of communication.[50]

[46] Direct supervision means supervision by a pharmacist who is on the premises at all times the delegated tasks are being performed; who is aware of delegated tasks being performed; and who is readily available to provide personal assistance, direction, and approval throughout the time the delegated tasks are being performed (Rule 64B16-27.4001(2)(a), F.A.C.)

Pharmacist-to-Technician Ratios

Florida law prohibits a pharmacist from supervising more than one registered pharmacy technician, unless otherwise permitted by guidelines adopted by the board.[51] The guidelines include the following restrictions:[52]

- A pharmacist engaging in sterile compounding may supervise up to three registered pharmacy technicians.
- A pharmacist who is not engaged in sterile compounding may supervise up to four registered pharmacy technicians.
- In a pharmacy that does not dispense medicinal drugs, a pharmacist may supervise up to six registered pharmacy technicians, as long as the pharmacist or pharmacy is not involved in sterile compounding.
- In a pharmacy that dispenses medicinal drugs in a physically separate area[53] of the pharmacy from which medicinal drugs are not dispensed, a pharmacist may supervise up to six registered pharmacy technicians.

Telehealth

There is no universally accepted definition of telehealth. In broad terms, telehealth is:

The delivery of health care services, where distance is a critical factor, by all health care professionals using information and communication technologies for the exchange of valid information for diagnosis, treatment,[54] and prevention of disease and injuries,[55] research and evaluation, and for the continuing education of health care providers, all in the interests of advancing the health of individuals and their communities.[56]

Definitions that are more specific vary by state and occasionally by profession; however,[57] there are common elements among the varied definitions of telehealth.

[51] Section 465.014(1), F.S.
[52] Rule 64B16-27.410, F.A.C.
[53] A "physically separate area" is a part of the pharmacy that is separated by a permanent wall or other barrier, which restricts access between the two areas.
[54] The University of Florida's Diabetes Institute utilizes telehealth to deliver treatment to children with diabetes and other endocrine problems who live in Volusia County. This allows the children to receive specialized treatment without the necessity of traveling from Volusia County to Gainesville. The Florida Department of Health's Children's Medical Services underwrites the program. See https://ufhealth.org/diabetes-center-excellence/telemedicine (last visited on Feb. 1, 2018).
[55] The University of South Florida has partnered with American Well to provide health care services to the residents of the Villages via telehealth. The goal is to reduce hospital admissions, readmission rates, and pharmacy costs, while maintaining Medicare beneficiaries in their homes rather than long-term care settings. Telehealth generally consists of synchronous and/or asynchronous transmittal of information.[58] Synchronous refers to the live[59] transmission of information between patient and provider during the same time period.[60] Asynchronous telehealth is the transfer of data over a period of time and typically in separate time frames.[61] This is commonly referred to as "store and forward." Definitions of telehealth also commonly contain restrictions related to the location where telehealth may be used. For example, the use of the "hub and spoke" model is a common location restriction. A hub site is the location from which specialty or consultative services originate from the provider.[62] A spoke site is a remote site where the patient is presented during the telehealth encounter.[63] Under this model, health services may be provided through telehealth only if the patient is located at a designated spoke site and the provider is located at a designated hub site.

Telehealth is not a type of health care service but rather is a mechanism for the delivery of health care services. Health care professionals use telehealth as a platform to provide traditional health care services in a non-traditional manner. These services include, among others, preventative medicine and the treatment of chronic conditions.[64]

Telepharmacy

Telepharmacy is the provision of pharmaceutical care by pharmacies and pharmacists using telepharmacy technologies to patients or their agents at a distance.[65] Telepharmacy operations include, but are not limited to, drug review and monitoring, dispensing of medications, medication therapy management, clinical consultation, and patient counseling.[66]

In 2001, North Dakota became the first state to regulate telepharmacy.[67] North Dakota created a pilot project using telepharmacy to save rural pharmacies from closing and to provide [58] The majority of telehealth definitions allow for both synchronous and asynchronous transmittal of information, but some definitions omit asynchronous from the definition of telehealth.

telepharmacy services to underserved rural communities in that state.[68] The pilot project authorized community pharmacies to open and operate telepharmacy sites in rural communities without a pharmacist being physically present to supervise a registered pharmacy technician working at the remote site.[69] A pharmacist supervises the pharmacy technician and speaks with patients using real-time communications technology.[70] Almost 80,000 rural citizens had pharmacy services established, restored, or retained under the pilot project.[71]

At least 23 states have enacted laws or regulations that allow for the use of telepharmacy and/or remote dispensing sites since 2001.[72] The regulation of telepharmacy and remote dispensing varies by state. Some states geographically limit the provision of telepharmacy services to ensure that remote dispensing sites are only established in rural areas or medically underserved areas[73] while others restrict it by facility type such as rural health centers.[74] Many states have included minimum staffing and education requirements, such as requiring a minimum level of experience for the pharmacy technicians or limiting the number of pharmacy technicians that a pharmacist may supervise.[75]

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

Section 1 amends s. 465.003, F.S., to define an RDSP to include every location where medicinal drugs are prepared by a registered pharmacy technician who is electronically supervised by an offsite pharmacist and dispensed pursuant to s. 465.014(1), F.S., to the patient after verification, certification, and counseling by the pharmacist. The bill exempts an RDSP from the requirement to close when a pharmacist is not present and on duty if the pharmacist is remotely supervising a registered pharmacy technician at an RDSP.

Section 2 amends s. 465.014(1), F.S., to allow a registered pharmacy technician to dispense medicinal drugs at an RDSP when operating under electronic supervision of an offsite Florida licensed pharmacist.

Section 3 amends s. 465.015, F.S., to exempt any person who owns, operates, maintain, opens, establishes, conducts, or has charge of an RDSP from the requirement that a licensed pharmacist

For example, Wisconsin limits the operation of a remote dispensing site to a health care facility, office or clinic of a practitioner, county jail, rehabilitation facility, state prison, county house of correction, juvenile correctional facility, juvenile detention center, or residential care center for children and youth. (Wis. Admin. Code s. Phar. 7.095(3)).

or registered intern must fill, compound, or dispense any prescription or medicinal drugs. The bill also exempts a registered pharmacy technician working in an RDSP from the restriction on dispensing medicinal medications without an active pharmacist's license or without being a registered pharmacy intern.

Section 4 creates s. 465.0198, F.S., to allow for the operation of RDSPs. The bill:

- Requires any person desiring to operate an RDSP to apply to the DOH for a permit. To receive a permit, the application must comply with the laws and board rules governing pharmacy and must designate a licensed pharmacist or consultant pharmacist as the prescription department manager responsible for oversight of the RDSP. The bill requires an RDSP to notify the DOH within 10 days if the prescription department manager changes.
- Requires an RDSP to pass an onsite inspection before receiving an initial permit or changing locations. The DOH is required to inspect the RDSP within 90 days before issuing the permit.
- Establishes requirements for an RDSP, including that:
  - An RDSP be jointly owned, or operated under contract with, a supervising pharmacy. A "supervising pharmacy" is defined as a licensed pharmacy in Florida that employs a Florida licensed pharmacist who remotely supervises the registered pharmacy technician at the RDSP.
  - An RDSP must be under 24-hour video surveillance, display a sign indicating that the RDSP is an RDSP and is under video surveillance, and must keep video surveillance recordings for at least 45 days.
  - An RDSP must be located in a rural area[76] and at least 10 miles from an existing community pharmacy unless the RDSP is located in a hospital or a clinic. For the purposes of this requirement, a "clinic" is defined as an entity where health care services are provided to individuals and which tenders charges for reimbursement for such services, excluding a mobile clinic and a portable equipment provider. The bill specifies that an RDSP may not lose its permit if a community pharmacy opens within 10 miles of the RDSP subsequent to the opening of the RDSP.
  - The prescription department manager or other pharmacist employed by the supervising pharmacy visits the RDSP on a schedule determined by the board to inspect the pharmacy, address personnel matters, and provide clinic services for patients.
  - A registered pharmacy technician must have completed at least 2,080 hours of experience at a pharmacy within the two years immediately preceding the date on which the registered pharmacy technician begins employment at the RDSP.
- Allows an RDSP to store, hold, and dispense all medicinal drugs[77] including schedule III-V controlled substances listed in s. 893.03(3)-(5), F.S.
- Restricts an RDSP from storing, holding, or dispensing schedule II narcotic controlled substances and performing centralized prescription filling. [78]
- Restricts a registered pharmacy technician from performing sterile or complex nonsterile compounding.

[76] As defined in s. 381.0406, F.S. A map of rural counties is available at http://www.floridahealth.gov/programs-and-services/community-health/rural-health/_documents/ruralcountiespdf.12.pdf. (Last visited on Feb. 6, 2018).
[77] Supra note 1
[78] Supra note 2

- Requires an RDSP to maintain a policy and procedures manual that must be made available to the board upon request. The manual must include:
  - A description of how the RDSP will comply with state and federal laws, rules, and regulations.
  - The procedure for supervising the RDSP and counseling its patients before the dispensing of any medicinal drug.
  - The procedure for reviewing the prescription drug inventory and drug records maintained by the RDSP.
  - The policy and procedure for providing appropriate security to protect the confidentiality and integrity of patient information.
  - The written plan for recovery from an event that interrupts or prevents the pharmacist from supervising the RDSP's operation.
  - The procedure by which the supervising pharmacist consults the state prescription drug-monitoring program (PDMP) before authorizing any controlled substance for dispensing and reports the dispensing of controlled substances to the PDMP.
  - The specific duties, tasks, and functions that a registered pharmacy technician is authorized to perform at the RDSP.

Section 5 amends s. 460.022, F.S., to allow a Florida licensed pharmacist to serve as a prescription manager for up to two RDSPs that are under common control and to make a technical change.

Section 6 amends s. 465.0265, F.S., to conform its provisions to the restriction on RDSPs performing centralized prescription filling.

Section 7 establishes an effective date of July 1, 2018.

IV. Constitutional Issues:

A. Municipality/County Mandates Restrictions:

None.

B. Public Records/Open Meetings Issues:

None.

C. Trust Funds Restrictions:

None.

V. Fiscal Impact Statement:

A. Tax/Fee Issues:

None.

B. Private Sector Impact:

CS/SB 848 may have an indeterminate fiscal impact on persons who open and run an RDSP pursuant to the provisions of the bill. It may also have an indeterminate fiscal impact on community pharmacies that are nearby but beyond the 10-mile zone.

C. Government Sector Impact:

The DOH will incur indeterminate costs to establish the RDSP permit and regulate permitted RDSPs; however, these costs will be absorbed within existing resources of the DOH.

VI. Technical Deficiencies:

None.

VII. Related Issues:

Lines 158-162 of the bill specify that a RDSP may store, hold, and dispense medicinal drugs listed as a controlled substance in schedules III-V but may not store, hold, and dispense narcotic controlled substances listed in schedule II. The bill does not specify whether an RDSP may store, hold, and dispense nonnarcotic schedule II controlled substances. The bill should be clarified to specify whether an RDSP may or may not store, hold, and dispense nonnarcotic controlled substances listed in schedule II.

Lines 201-203 of the bill restrict a registered pharmacy technician working in an RDSP from performing sterile and complex nonsterile compounding. The use of the term "complex" nonsterile compounding implies that a pharmacy technician may perform noncomplex nonsterile compounding at an RDSP. However, it is unclear what the definitions of "complex" and "noncomplex" nonsterile compounding include. The bill should be amended to clarify what compounding, if any, a registered pharmacy technician is authorized to perform at an RDSP.

VIII. Statutes Affected:

This bill substantially amends the following sections of the Florida Statutes: 465.003, 465.014, 465.015, 465.022, and 465.0265.

This bill creates section 465.0198 of the Florida Statutes.

IX. Additional Information:

A. Committee Substitute – Statement of Substantial Changes:
(Summarizing differences between the Committee Substitute and the prior version of the bill.)

CS by Health Policy on February 6, 2018:
The CS changes the title of the bill to Telepharmacy and:

- Tightens the regulation of RDSPs by:
  - Requiring that RDSPs be supervised by Florida licensed pharmacists;

  - Restricting a pharmacy technician at an RDSP from performing sterile or complex nonsterile compounding;
  - Restricting a pharmacy technician at an RDSP from dispensing narcotic drugs listed as a schedule II controlled substance; and
  - Requiring a registered pharmacy technician who works in a RDSP to have certain experience.
- Requires all RDSPs to be located in rural areas (as defined in s. 381.0406, F.S.) and be located at least 10 miles from an existing community pharmacy unless the RDSP is located in a hospital or a clinic.
- Requires each RDSP to be inspected by the DOH before being issued an initial permit or a permit for a change of location.
- Specifies that the section establishing RDSPs does not alter supervisory requirements for pharmacy technicians.
- Removes the provision that an RDSP may not be counted toward network adequacy in managed care programs.
- Makes a number of technical changes to clean up the bill's provisions.

B. Amendments:

None.

This Senate Bill Analysis does not reflect the intent or official position of the bill's introducer or the Florida Senate.

this definition constitutes the practice of pharmacy as defined in subsection (13).

6. The term "remote dispensing site pharmacy" includes every location where medicinal drugs are prepared by a registered pharmacy technician who is electronically supervised by an offsite pharmacist and dispensed pursuant to s. 465.014(1) to the patient after verification, certification, and counseling by the pharmacist.

(b) The pharmacy department of any permittee shall be considered closed whenever a Florida licensed pharmacist is not present and on duty. The term "not present and on duty" may ~~shall~~ not be construed to prevent:

1. A pharmacist from exiting the prescription department for the purposes of consulting or responding to inquiries or providing assistance to patients or customers~~;~~;

Section 2. Subsection (1) of section 465.014, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

465.014 Pharmacy technician.—

(1) A person other than a licensed pharmacist or pharmacy intern may not engage in the practice of the profession of pharmacy, except that a licensed pharmacist may delegate to pharmacy technicians who are registered pursuant to this section those duties, tasks, and functions that do not fall within the purview of s. 465.003(13). However, a registered pharmacy technician may dispense medicinal drugs when operating under the electronic supervision of an offsite Florida licensed pharmacist pursuant to s. 465.0198. All such delegated acts must be performed under the direct supervision of a licensed pharmacist who is responsible for all such acts performed by persons under his or her supervision. A registered pharmacy technician, under the supervision of a pharmacist, may initiate or receive communications with a practitioner or his or her agent, on behalf of a patient, regarding refill authorization requests. A licensed pharmacist may not supervise more than one registered pharmacy technician unless otherwise permitted by the guidelines adopted by the board. The board shall establish guidelines to be followed by licensees or permittees in determining the circumstances under which a licensed pharmacist may supervise more than one pharmacy technician.

Section 4. Section 465.0198, Florida Statutes, is created to read:

465.0198 Remote dispensing site pharmacy permits.—

(1) Any person desiring a permit to operate a remote dispensing site pharmacy must apply to the department for a remote dispensing site pharmacy permit. If the board certifies that the application complies with the laws and board rules governing the practice of the profession of pharmacy, the department must issue the permit. A permit may not be issued unless a licensed pharmacist or consultant pharmacist is designated as the prescription department manager responsible for the oversight of the remote dispensing site pharmacy. The permittee must notify the department within 10 days after any change of the prescription department manager.

(2) As a prerequisite to issuance of an initial permit or a permit for a change of location, the remote dispensing site pharmacy must pass an onsite inspection. The department must make the inspection within 90 days before issuance of the permit.

(3) The remote dispensing site pharmacy must:

(a) Be jointly owned by a supervising pharmacy or operated under a contract with a supervising pharmacy. For purposes of this subsection, "supervising pharmacy" means a licensed pharmacy in this state which employs a Florida licensed pharmacist who remotely supervises a registered pharmacy technician at a remote dispensing site pharmacy.

(b) Display a sign visible to the public indicating that the location is a remote dispensing site pharmacy and that the facility is under 24-hour video surveillance. The remote dispensing site pharmacy must retain the video surveillance recordings for at least 45 days.

(c) Be located in an area defined as rural pursuant to s. 381.0406 and be at least 10 miles from an existing community pharmacy, unless the remote dispensing site pharmacy is located in a hospital licensed under chapter 395 or in a clinic. For purposes of this paragraph, the term "clinic" means an entity where health care services are provided to individuals and which tenders charges for reimbursement for such services, excluding a mobile clinic and a portable equipment provider.

(4) A remote dispensing site pharmacy may not lose its permit based on the subsequent opening of a community pharmacy within 10 miles of the remote dispensing site pharmacy.

(5) A remote dispensing site pharmacy may store, hold, and dispense all medicinal drugs including those listed in s. 893.03(3)-(5). A remote dispensing pharmacy may not store, hold, or dispense narcotic controlled substances listed in s. 893.03(2).

(g) The specific duties, tasks, and functions that a registered pharmacy technician is authorized to perform at the remote dispensing site pharmacy.

(8) The prescription department manager or other pharmacist employed by the supervising pharmacy must visit the remote dispensing site pharmacy, based on a schedule designated by the board, to inspect the pharmacy, address personnel matters, and provide clinical services for patients.

(9) A registered pharmacy technician must have completed at least 2,080 hours of experience at a pharmacy within the 2 years immediately preceding the date on which the registered pharmacy technician begins employment at the remote dispensing site pharmacy.

(10) A registered pharmacy technician working at a remote dispensing site pharmacy may not perform sterile or complex nonsterile compounding.

(11) This section does not alter the supervision requirements established in s. 465.014.

Section 5. Paragraph (c) of subsection (11) of section 465.022, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

465.022 Pharmacies; general requirements; fees.—

(11) A permittee must notify the department of the identity of the prescription department manager within 10 days after employment. The prescription department manager must comply with the following requirements:

However, a Florida licensed pharmacist may serve as a prescription department manager for no more than two remote dispensing site pharmacies, if such pharmacies are under common control.

Section 6. Subsection (1) of section 465.0265, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

465.0265 Centralized prescription filling.—

(1) Except as otherwise provided in this chapter, a pharmacy licensed under this chapter may perform centralized prescription filling for another pharmacy, provided that the pharmacies have the same owner or have a written contract specifying the services to be provided by each pharmacy, the responsibilities of each pharmacy, and the manner in which the pharmacies will comply with federal and state laws, rules, and regulations.

Section 7. This act shall take effect July 1, 2018.

COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

PCS/CS/SB 852 creates the Florida Smart City Challenge Grant Program to provide opportunities to cities and other regions of the state for developing smart mobility solutions to local transportation challenges. The bill authorizes certain state, county, municipal, regional, or other agencies to submit applications to the Florida Department of Transportation (FDOT) for grants to fund certain innovative transportation projects.

The bill requires the FDOT to issue a request for proposals by September 1, 2018, and sets out information and documentation requirements for inclusion in grant proposals. The FDOT must award at least three grants, and each grant is limited to $6 million. Grant awards may be used to fund up to 50 percent of project implementation costs. A grant recipient must fund at least 10 percent of project costs. The FDOT must distribute awards by January 1, 2019.

The bill provides project selection, matching funds, and reporting requirements. The FDOT is directed to provide administrative support and to conduct expedited proposal reviews to facilitate smart city technology deployment within the state.

Related to electric vehicles, the bill requires the Florida Transportation Commission (FTC) to review all funding sources for transportation infrastructure and maintenance projects when it is determined that electric and hybrid vehicles make up two percent or more of the total number of registered vehicles in this state. The report must assess the effect of projected electric and hybrid vehicle use on future revenues from existing fuel taxes and other fees related to nonelectric vehicles. The report must also make recommendations to: provide continued funding to maintain existing infrastructure; continue to meet projected infrastructure demand; and improve infrastructure to support emergency evacuations by users of electric vehicles.

The report must be submitted to the Governor and the Legislature by September 1 of the year immediately after the year in which the FTC determines that electric and hybrid vehicles make up two percent or more of the total number of vehicles registered in Florida. The FTC may complete the review and report before the two-percent threshold if the FTC determines it appropriate.

The bill also requires the FTC, in consultation with the Florida Division of Emergency Management (FDEM), to assess transportation infrastructure with respect to emergency evacuations and electric vehicles, including the availability of electric vehicle charging stations in this state. Lastly, the bill requires metropolitan planning organization's long-range transportation plans to include an assessment of the increased use of autonomous technology and electric vehicles.

The FTC will incur indeterminate expenses associated with the reporting requirements of this bill. The DHSMV expects the bill to have no impact on expenditures. The FDEM may incur indeterminate expenses associated with its participation in the emergency evacuation assessment.

The bill appropriates $15 million in nonrecurring funds from the State Transportation Trust Fund to the FDOT implement the Florida Smart City Challenge Grant Program.

The bill takes effect on July 1, 2018.

II. Present Situation:

Smart City Challenge Grant Program

According to the National League of Cities, 66 percent of cities are investing in smart city technology, and 25 percent of cities with no smart city technology are investigating how to implement it.[1] A single definition of smart city technology is difficult to identify, but in the context of transportation, it relates to "using sensors to collect data about the movement of people, all forms of vehicles and bikes. A smart city is one that greatly reduces vehicle traffic and allows people and goods to be moved easily through various means."[2] Examples include intelligent vehicle systems and autonomous vehicle transportation. Outcomes of smart city efforts are reduced vehicle related deaths, reduced pollution, reduced traffic times, and healthier populations.[3]

The Federal Smart City Challenge

The United States Department of Transportation (USDOT) launched a Smart City Challenge in December 2015. The challenge asked mid-sized cities "to develop ideas for an integrated, first-of-its-kind smart transportation system that would use data, applications, and technology to help people and goods move more quickly, cheaply, and efficiently."[4] The USDOT committed up to $40 million to one winning city.[5] The USDOT received 78 applications from cities across America, including the following cities in Florida: Jacksonville, Miami, Orlando, St. Petersburg, Tallahassee, and Tampa.[6] However, no Florida city received any funding.

Ultimately, Columbus, Ohio won the challenge by proposing "a comprehensive, integrated plan addressing challenges in residential, commercial, freight, and downtown districts using a number of new technologies, including connected infrastructure, an integrated data platform, autonomous vehicles, and more."[7] The USDOT then worked with selected finalists to further develop the ideas proposed by the cities and, in October 2016, announced an additional $65 million in grants to support advanced technology transportation projects.[8] Again, no city in Florida was selected for project funding.[9]

The State Smart City Challenge Grant Program

The 2017 Legislature enacted legislation[10] requiring the FDOT, in consultation with the Department of Highway Safety & Motor Vehicles and subject to appropriation, to develop the Florida Smart City Challenge Grant Program and establish grant award requirements for municipalities or regions for the purpose of receiving grant awards. The law requires grant applications to demonstrate and document the adoption of emerging technologies and their impact on transportation systems and to address at least the following focus areas: autonomous vehicles, connected vehicles, sensor-based infrastructure, collecting and using data, electric vehicles (including charging stations), and developing strategic models and partnerships. The law also specifies a non-exclusive list of goals of the grant program.

The law requires the FDOT to develop eligibility, application, and selection criteria for the program grants and a plan for promotion of the grant program to municipalities or regions of the state as an opportunity to compete for the grant funding. Criteria must include the award of grants to a single recipient and secondary grants to specific projects of merit within other applications. The law authorizes the FDOT to contract with a third party demonstrating knowledge and expertise in the focuses and goals of the program to provide guidance in the development of the program requirements. By January 1, 2018, the FDOT was to submit the grant program guidelines and plans for promotion of the grant program to the Governor, the Senate President, and the House Speaker.

The 2017 General Appropriations Act contained an appropriation for the Smart City Challenge Grant program, authorizing the FDOT to use up to $325,000 from the State Transportation Trust Fund (STTF) to establish the program. However, that appropriation was vetoed.[11] The program, currently codified in s. 316.0898, F.S., expires on July 1, 2018.

Electric and Hybrid Vehicles

Florida law currently defines two types of vehicles powered, in whole or in part, by electricity: an electric vehicle and a hybrid vehicle. An "electric vehicle," defined for purposes of vehicle registration under ch. 320, F.S., is "a motor vehicle that is powered by an electric motor that draws current from rechargeable storage batteries, fuel cells, or other sources of electrical current."[12] A "hybrid vehicle," defined for purposes of use of high-occupancy-vehicle lanes, is a motor vehicle:

- That draws propulsion energy from onboard sources of stored energy which are both an internal combustion or heat engine using combustible fuel and a rechargeable energy-storage system;
- That, in the case of a passenger automobile or light truck, has received a certificate of conformity under the Clean Air Act…and meets or exceeds the equivalent qualifying California standards for a low-emission vehicle;[13] and
- That, in the case of a tri-vehicle,[14] is an inherently low-emission vehicle.[15]

Florida has enacted a number of EV-related provisions that may incentivize people to purchase EVs. They include:

- Authorizing a local government to enact a program to allow property owners to apply for financing from the local government to install EV charging equipment on his or her property. The local government can collect the loan payments through ad valorem assessments.[16]
- Authorizing a local government to use the proceeds of a levied infrastructure surtax (discretionary sales surtax) to provide loans to property owners to install EV charging equipment.[17]
- Allowing hybrid electric vehicles to use high-occupancy-vehicle lanes regardless of occupancy and to use such lanes without paying a toll if one is otherwise required.[18]

[18] Generally, a high-occupancy-vehicle lane is a lane designed for use by vehicles in which there is more than one occupant. Section 316.0741, F.S.

In addition, local Florida entities offer EV incentives. The National Conference of State Legislatures reports that, through June 30 of this year or until funds were depleted,[19] Duke Energy and Orlando Utilities Commission customers and employees were eligible for a $10,000 rebate for the purchase of a new, all-electric, 2017 Nissan Leaf at participating dealerships; and the Jacksonville Electric Authority offers rebates for plug-in HEVs with a battery less than 15 kilowatt hours in capacity to receive $500, and plug-in HEVs with larger battery capacity are eligible for $1,000.[20] The federal government also allows an income tax credit of up to $7,500 for certain EVs.[21]

Impact of Electric and Hybrid Vehicles on Transportation Funding/Prior Studies

Taxes on gas and diesel fuel are a primary source of revenue for both the federal highway fund and the State Transportation Trust Fund.[22] Transportation funding has generally experienced a continuing shortfall attributed to static federal gas tax rates, more fuel efficient vehicles, and increasing transportation construction and maintenance costs.[23]

Annual fuel tax revenues at both the state and federal levels are directly based on the number of gallons of gasoline and diesel fuel consumed. Because electric vehicles (EV) are not powered by gasoline or diesel, and because hybrid electric vehicles (HEV) use less gasoline or diesel fuel than a conventional vehicle with only an internal combustion engine, an increase in the number of these vehicles operating in Florida results in less revenue being raised from fuel taxes for comparable vehicle miles traveled.

There are a limited number of studies specifically focused on the impact of EVs[24] on fuel tax revenues. A 2015 study conducted by the University of Central Florida acknowledges the increasing national EV sales trend for the 5-year period prior to the study but concludes:

> Of course, despite the increase, electric and plug-in electric vehicles still represent a small portion of the US auto market. With total vehicles sales for 2014 coming in at around 16.5 million, EVs made up less than 1 percent of total sales.[25]

The study further concludes that EVs, for now and in the near future, will have only a small impact on fuel tax revenues but notes a University of Texas study on EV market share suggesting that by 2050, over 50 percent of fuel tax funds may be lost.[26] The authors highlight the importance of understanding that "the rate at which revenue declines depends on many factors. The relationship among these factors is complex and continued investigation is warranted to better understand vehicle fleet mix, fuel economy, and fuel tax revenue."[27]

According to the study, a number of states are exploring or implementing revenue generating alternatives, both to increase transportation funding in general and also to prepare for revenue reduction due to increased EV sales. These alternatives include a fee based on the number of miles a given vehicle travels,[28] as well as increased direct taxes and surcharges on EV purchases.[29]

For example, in 2015, the Georgia Legislature repealed "one of the nation's most generous state tax credits for electric cars." The Legislature also voted to impose a $200 annual registration fee on owners of some plug-in hybrids and all zero-emissions vehicles to make up for the lost fuel taxes. EV sales then experienced a sharp reduction, a result attributed to the repealed credit and imposed fee.[30]

EV Registration in Florida

The license tax for EVs is the same as that for a vehicle that is not electrically powered.[31] The exact number of EVs registered in Florida is somewhat unclear. Under the Department of Highway Safety and Motor Vehicles' (DHSMV) current vehicle registration system programming, a "fuel type" classification is an optional field and therefore the precise number of EVs registered is unknown.[32]

The DHSMV analyzed vehicle identification numbers (VINs) in its motor vehicle registration database using available software and estimated that of the 16.2 million vehicles with VINs that could be analyzed, approximately 247,131 EVs and HEVs, are registered in Florida, or about 1.53 percent.[33]

Emergency Evacuation

The Florida Division of Emergency Management (FDEM) is responsible for maintaining a comprehensive statewide program of emergency management. Among the FDEM's duties is a requirement to prepare a state comprehensive emergency management plan containing provisions that will ensure the state is prepared for emergencies and minor, major, and catastrophic disasters.[34] As part of the plan, the FDEM must include an evacuation component including specific regional and interregional planning provisions and promoting intergovernmental coordination of evacuation activities. Among other items, this part of the plan must establish strategies for ensuring sufficient, reasonably priced fueling locations along evacuation routes.[35] A review of available documents and information on the FDEM's website did not identify an assessment of electric vehicle charging stations for the purpose of emergency evacuations.

Section 377.815, F.S., authorizes the Florida Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services to post information on its website relating to alternative fueling stations or EV charging stations that are available for public use in this state. The department's website provides a list of stations, however, the list is not specific to emergency evacuations.[36]

According to the U.S Department of Energy's Alternative Fuels Data Center, 949 electric vehicle charging stations (2,130 outlets) are currently available in the State of Florida, excluding private stations.[37] The DHSMV notes that no EV charging stations within Florida's transportation infrastructure are specifically designated for use during emergency evacuations.[38]

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

The bill creates a new Florida Smart City Challenge Grant Program to provide opportunities for grants to fund certain innovative transportation projects. The FDOT must issue a request for proposals by September 1, 2018, and distribute awards by January 1, 2019. The bill establishes goals and eligibility requirements for the program; provides project selection criteria and matching funds requirements; sets out reporting requirements; provides for administrative support for the program; and provides an appropriation from the STTF to implement the program.

Section 1 creates s. 316.0899, F.S., effective July 1, 2018, to create a new Florida Smart City Challenge Grant Program within the FDOT. The bill identifies the goals of the program to include:

- Providing opportunities to municipalities and other regions of the state to develop innovative smart mobility solutions to local transportation challenges.

- Deploying smart city technology that has an immediate impact on the safe and efficient movement of people and goods within municipalities and other regions of the state.
- Advancing autonomous, connected, grid-integrated,[39] and electric vehicle readiness and deployment throughout the state.
- Providing enhanced education and workforce development opportunities by deploying emerging technologies that support the state's future workforce.
- Meeting the mobility needs of residents of this state, particularly transportation disadvantaged persons[40] by increasing access to and convenience of transportation within municipalities and other regions of the state.
- Facilitating the efficient movement of freight within the state, especially in and around airports and seaports.
- Supporting the reduction or elimination of fossil fuel consumption by relying on renewable energy sources and electric technologies.
- Creating a smart mobility demonstration community in the state that serves as a model for municipalities and other regions nationwide.

The bill authorizes the various government entities to apply to the FDOT for project funding under the program. These government entities include:

- A state, county, municipal, regional, or other agency that is responsible for the movement of persons, goods, or services within a defined geographical region, including an entity created pursuant to chs. 343,[41] 348,[42] or 349,[43] F.S.
- A metropolitan planning organization (MPO) or transportation planning organization (TPO), with a requirement that each entity responsible for deploying or operating a project on behalf of an MPO or TPO must submit to the FDOT a letter detailing its commitment to the implementation, operation, and maintenance of the project.
- A state university.

The bill requires an applicant to have in place a plan or framework for the implementation of the proposed project in at least one of the following categories:

- Autonomous vehicle deployment or demonstration.
- Connected vehicle technology deployment.
- Shared mobility services innovation and deployment.
- Acceleration of the use of plug-in electric vehicles and electric charging infrastructure, including the deployment of grid-integrated vehicles.

[39] The bill defines this term to mean "a motor vehicle that has the ability for two-way power flow between the vehicle and the electric grid and the communications hardware and software that allow for external control of battery charging and discharging."
[40] Section 427.011(1), F.S., defines a "transportation disadvantaged person" as a person who, because of physical or mental disability, income status, or age is unable to transport himself or herself or to purchase transportation and is, therefore, dependent on others to obtain access to health care, employment, education, shopping, social activities, or other life-sustaining activities, or children who are handicapped or high-risk or at-risk as defined in s. 411.202, F.S.
[41] Chapter 343, F.S., creates the Northeast Florida Regional Transportation Commission, the South Florida Regional Transportation Authority, the Central Florida Regional Transportation Authority, the Northwest Florida Transportation Corridor Authority, and the Tampa Bay Area Regional Transit Authority.
[42] Chapter 348, F.S., creates the Miami-Dade Expressway Authority, the Tampa-Hillsborough County Expressway Authority, the Santa Rosa Bay Bridge Authority, and the Osceola County Expressway Authority.
[43] Chapter 349, F.S., creates the Jacksonville Transportation Authority.

The FDOT is required to issue a request for proposals for the award of program grants by September 1, 2018. Each submitted proposal must include:

- A statement by the applicant certifying that the project will be implement within 2 years after receipt of the grant.
- A plan for fulfilling documentation requirements under the FDOT's Statewide Systems Engineering Management Plan within such 2-year period.[44]
- A description of how operation and maintenance costs for the project will be funded in order to ensure that the FDOT's investment in the project is sustained.
- A plan for evaluation of the project and the methods by which such evaluation will be shared with residents of the area served by the project.
- The procedure for integrating the project's transportation-related data into the FDOT's Data Integration and Video Aggregation System.[45]

The FDOT must award a grant to at least three recipients, with each award limited to no more than $6 million. The FDOT must distribute awards by January 1, 2019. An award may fund up to 50 percent of project costs. A grant recipient must fund at least 10 percent of project costs. Grant funds must be used exclusively for startup costs, including acquisition of hardware, software, and assets associated with implementing a project. Grant funds may not be used for costs associated with operation, maintenance, or evaluation of the project.

When selecting grant recipients, the FDOT must give priority to proposals that:

- Demonstrate the availability of matching funds;[46]
- Include a plan for documenting the acquisition and expenditure of matching funds; and
- Include matching funds from private sector partner organizations.

Matching funds may be used for costs associated with operation, maintenance, and evaluation of the project.

Each grant recipient must submit a quarterly report to the FDOT regarding the development, implementation, and operation of the project. A grant recipient that receives matching funds must document the contribution of such funds in the quarterly report that details the manner in [44] A Systems Engineering Management Plan (SEMP) enables an engineer "to manage a project using systems engineering principles and methods to maximize the quality of the system being implemented, while minimizing the budget and schedule required for its completion." For extensive details, see the FDOT's systems engineering website available at: http://www.fdot.gov/traffic/its/projects_deploy/semp.shtm (Last visited January 12, 2018). Federal regulations require all Intelligent Transportation System projects funded with federal highway funds to be based on a systems engineering analysis on a scale commensurate with the project scope. See 23 C.F.R. s. 940.11. Required documentation in a SEMP can be extensive. See the list of document templates on the identified FDOT website.

[45] This system integrates and manages real-time information. It consists of a data integration subsystem, which collects and integrates transportation and related data from numerous sources and integrates that data for internal and external dissemination and consumption; and a video aggregation subsystem, which aggregates "live streaming video from FDOT and external agency cameras for distribution using ubiquitous, modern video streaming technologies, such that video is made available to users regardless of their specific location or device platform. See the FDOT's TSM&O Disseminator, July-August 2017, at p. 9, available at: http://www.fdot.gov/traffic/Newsletters/2017/2017-AUG.pdf (Last visited January 12, 2018).

[46] Under the bill, "matching funds" includes in-kind services, goods, equipment, or other noncash contributions calculated at fair market value.

which the value of such contribution is calculated. The FDOT must submit a quarterly report to the Senate President and House Speaker regarding the overall status of the grant program.

After a project is implemented, each grant recipient must submit a report to the Governor, the Senate President, and the House Speaker detailing: the project's impact on the transportation system within the area served by the project; the extent to which the goals of the grant program have been met; and recommendations for project revisions or improvements to guide future deployment activities. A final report must be submitted 2 years after submission of the initial report.

The bill requires the FDOT to provide administrative support to the grant program to facilitate the deployment of smart city technology within the state, including expedited review of submitted proposals.

The FDOT may select an independent nongovernmental entity to assist in project construction, management, and evaluation; to oversee the implementation of the project; and to analyze and document lessons learned during, and benefits derived from, implementation of the project. The nongovernmental entity must have experience with the national (federal) Smart Cities Initiative, advanced transportation deployment experience in this state, extensive engineering experience, or expertise in stakeholder engagement of potential partners to create a demonstration community.

Section 2 appropriates $15 million in nonrecurring funds from the State Transportation Trust Fund for the 2018-2019 fiscal year to the FDOT to implement the program.

Electric and Hybrid Vehicles

Section 3 requires the FTC to review all sources of revenue for transportation infrastructure and maintenance projects and prepare a report to the Governor and the Legislature when the FTC determines that electric vehicles, as defined in s. 320.01(36), F.S., and hybrid vehicles, as defined in s. 316.0741, F.S., make up two percent or more of the total number of vehicles registered in this state.

The FTC, in consultation with the DHSMV, is authorized to use commercially available data that the FTC deems reliable to support its determination and report. In consultation with the FDEM, the FTC is also required to assess transportation infrastructure with respect to emergency evacuations and EVs, including, but not limited to, the availability of EV charging stations in this state.

At a minimum, the report must assess the effect of projected electric and hybrid vehicle use in this state on future revenue from existing taxes, fees, and surcharges related to nonelectric, private-use motorcycles, mopeds, automobiles, tri-vehicles, and trucks. The report must include recommendations to the Legislature to:

- Ensure continued funding for necessary maintenance that provides for adequate levels of service on existing transportation infrastructure;
- Accomplish improvements and capacity projects on transportation infrastructure which meet the demand from projected population and economic growth; and

- Accomplish necessary improvements to transportation infrastructure that would support emergency evacuations by users of electric vehicles.

The bill requires the report to be submitted to the Governor and the Legislature by September 1 of the year immediately after the year in which the FTC determines that electric and hybrid vehicles make up two percent or more of the total number of vehicles registered in this state. The FTC is authorized to complete the review and report before the two-percent threshold is reached if the FTC determines that earlier completion is appropriate to maintain a financially stable long-term transportation work program.

Section 4 amends s. 339.175(7)(c)2., F.S., requiring each metropolitan planning organization to consider the increased use of autonomous technology and electric vehicles, and other developments, when making its capital investment assessment as part of development of its long-range transportation plan.

The bill takes effect on July 1, 2018.

IV. Constitutional Issues:

A. Municipality/County Mandates Restrictions:

The bill does not implicate the mandates provisions of the State Constitution. Counties and cities are not required to apply to the program, but those that do apply for funding from the Florida Smart City Challenge Grant Program will be required to provide matching funds.

B. Public Records/Open Meetings Issues:

None.

C. Trust Funds Restrictions:

None.

V. Fiscal Impact Statement:

A. Tax/Fee Issues:

None.

B. Private Sector Impact:

Private-sector partners who invest in innovative transportation projects may benefit to the extent that the project receives state grant funding.

C. Government Sector Impact:

The bill appropriates $15 million in nonrecurring funds from the State Transportation Trust Fund for Fiscal Year 2018-2019 to the FDOT to implement the program. This appropriation may be used to fund the costs incurred by FDOT to implement the Florida Smart City Challenge Grant Program as noted below.

The FDOT will incur administrative expenses associated with:
- Issuing the request for proposals.
- Conducting expedited reviews of proposals and awarding grants.
- Preparing the required quarterly reports.
- Providing administrative support.

Related to the report on EVs in Florida, the FTC will incur indeterminate expenses associated with:
- Determining when EVs make up two percent of vehicle registrations;
- Assessing transportation revenue impacts of EV registrations;
- Assessing infrastructure related to emergency evacuations for EVs; and
- Preparing the report required by the bill.

The DHSMV expects the bill to have no impact on its expenditures.

The FDEM may incur indeterminate expenses associated with its participation in the emergency evacuation assessment.

VI. Technical Deficiencies:

None.

VII. Related Issues:

None.

VIII. Statutes Affected:

This bill creates section 316.0899 of the Florida Statutes.

This bill creates an undesignated section of Florida Law.

This bill amends section 339.175 of the Florida Statutes.

IX. Additional Information:

A. Committee Substitute – Statement of Substantial Changes:
(Summarizing differences between the Committee Substitute and the prior version of the bill.)

Recommended CS/CS by Appropriations Subcommittee on Transportation, Tourism, and Economic Development on February 21, 2018:
The committee substitute changes the bill to "[a]n act relating to transportation infrastructure" and adds the substance of CS/SB 384 (2017) to the bill.

The committee substitute requires the FTC to review all revenue sources for transportation infrastructure and maintenance projects and assess the effect of projected electric and hybrid vehicle use on future revenue from existing taxes, fees, and surcharges; make an assessment with the FDEM of transportation infrastructure with respect to emergency evacuations and electric vehicles; and prepare a report containing certain recommendations at the specified time.

The committee substitute revises planning requirements related to autonomous technology and electric vehicles to be considered as part of each metropolitan planning organization's development of the long-range transportation plan.

CS by Transportation on January 18, 2018:
The Committee Substitute:

- Creates a "Definitions" subsection, defines "grid-integrated vehicle," and relocates the definition of "matching funds" to this subsection.
- Revises one of the categories for which an applicant must have in place a plan or framework for project implementation to include acceleration of deployment of grid-integrated vehicles.
- Requires the FDOT to award at least three grants, rather than a awarding a maximum of three.
- Requires a grant recipient to fund at least ten percent of project costs and correspondingly removes a reference to partner organizations funding "50 percent of" projects costs in the provisions relating to priority selection of proposals.
- Revises the authorized uses of grant funds to specifically include acquisition of hardware, software, and assets associated with project implementation.
- Requires each recipient's initial report to be submitted to the Governor, in addition to the Senate President and the House Speaker.
- Authorizes the FDOT to select an independent nongovernmental entity to assist in project construction, management, and evaluation; and requires such entity to have certain prior experience.

1. Capital funding for the New Starts Transit Program, authorized by Title 49, U.S.C. s. 5309 and specified in s. 341.051, in the amount of 10 percent of the funds;

2. The Small County Outreach Program specified in s. 339.2818, in the amount of 10 percent of the funds;

3. The Strategic Intermodal System specified in ss. 339.61, 339.62, 339.63, and 339.64, in the amount of 75 percent of the funds after deduction of the payments required pursuant to subparagraphs 1. and 2.; and

4.a. The Transportation Regional Incentive Program specified in s. 339.2819, in the amount of 25 percent of the funds after deduction of the payments required pursuant to subparagraphs 1. and 2.

b. In fiscal years 2018-2019, 2019-2020, and 2020-2021, the first $60 million of the funds allocated pursuant to this subparagraph must ~~shall~~ be allocated annually to the Florida Rail Enterprise for the purposes established in s. 341.303(5). This sub-subparagraph expires July 1, 2021.

c. Beginning in the 2021-2022 fiscal year, the first $60 million of the funds allocated pursuant to this subparagraph must be allocated annually as follows:

(I) Twenty-five million dollars on a matching basis to the Tampa Bay Area Regional Transit Authority for the design and construction of an innovative mobility system, as defined in s.

819704

339.84. One dollar in local or private matching funds must be provided for each dollar distributed under this sub-sub-subparagraph. Federal funds may not be substituted for the local or private matching funds. In any fiscal year in which the Tampa Bay Area Regional Transit Authority notifies the Department of Transportation that the authority will not request all of the funds allocated under this sub-sub-subparagraph for an innovative mobility system, the Department of Transportation shall allocate such funds to projects in the 5-year work program under s. 339.135 in the area described in s. 343.91(1)(a) and such funds shall be in addition to currently scheduled work program commitments in that area.

(II) Thirty-five million dollars to the Statewide Mobility Innovation Program for the purposes established in s. 339.84.

(b) The lesser of 0.1456 percent of the remainder or $3.25 million in each fiscal year shall be paid into the State Treasury to the credit of the Grants and Donations Trust Fund in the Department of Economic Opportunity to fund technical assistance to local governments.

Moneys distributed pursuant to paragraphs (a) and (b) may not be pledged for debt service unless such pledge is approved by referendum of the voters.

Section 6. Section 339.84, Florida Statutes, is created to read:

339.84 Statewide Mobility Innovation Program.—

(1) As used in this section the term "innovative mobility system" means a system of infrastructure, appurtenances, and technology designed to move the greatest number of people in the least amount of time. The term includes, but is not limited to, autonomous vehicles as defined in s. 316.003, automated people movers, bus rapid transit networks, transportation network companies as defined in s. 627.748, ridesharing as defined in 341.031(9)(a), and commuter highway vehicles as defined in 49 U.S.C. s. 5323(i)(2)(C)(ii). The term does not include other traditional uses of a roadway system for conveyance.

(2) The Statewide Mobility Innovation Program is created within the department. The goals of the program include, but are not limited to:

(a) Evaluating, financing, and overseeing proposals for innovative mobility systems in this state.

(b) Expending funds to publicize and promote innovative mobility systems and to contract with entities to accomplish these purposes.

(c) Soliciting proposals in accordance with chapter 287 for the design and construction of innovative mobility systems and contracting with entities to expend funds to accomplish this purpose.

(3) Beginning in the 2021-2022 fiscal year, the department shall use funds allocated pursuant to s. 201.15(4)(a)4.c.(II) in a county to fund the design and construction of an innovative mobility system based on a proposal that the county submits to the department which the department approves as being consistent with the requirements of this section.

(4) Of the $35 million allocated under s. 201.15(4)(a)4.c.(II), the department must use:

(a) Twenty-five million dollars for an innovative mobility system in a county as defined in s. 125.011(1) and $5 million for an alternative transportation system within the jurisdiction of the Jacksonville Transportation Authority. In any fiscal year in which a county as defined in s. 125.011(1) notifies the department that the county will not request all of the funds allocated under this paragraph for an innovative mobility system, the department shall allocate such funds to projects in the 5-year work program under s. 339.135 in the county and such funds shall be in addition to currently scheduled work program commitments in that area.

(b) The remainder for such a system in any other county or counties in the state.

(7) Funds distributed under this section may not be used to subsidize projects with existing funding commitments as of July 1, 2018.

(8) Each recipient of funds under this program must submit a quarterly report to the department regarding the development, implementation, and operation of the project. The department must submit an annual report by September 1 to the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives

(e) The procedure for integrating the project's transportation-related data into the department's Data Integration and Video Aggregation System.

(5) AWARD OF GRANTS.—The Department of Transportation shall award a Florida Smart City Challenge Grant to at least three recipients. Each award may not exceed $6 million. The department shall distribute the award to each recipient by January 1, 2019.

(a) The grant may fund up to 50 percent of project costs. At least 10 percent of project costs must be funded by the grant recipient. Grant funds must be used exclusively for startup costs, including, but not limited to, acquisition of hardware, software, and assets associated with implementation of the project, and may not be used for costs associated with operation or maintenance of the project.

(b) In selecting grant recipients, the department shall give priority to those proposals that demonstrate the availability of matching funds from partner organizations to fund project costs and that include a plan for documenting the acquisition and expenditure of such matching funds.

1. The department shall give further priority to those proposals that include matching funds from private-sector partner organizations; however, local public funds may also be used.

Section 3. Florida Transportation Commission review; electric and hybrid vehicles report.—

(1)(a) The Florida Transportation Commission shall review all sources of revenue for transportation infrastructure and maintenance projects and prepare a report to the Governor and the Legislature when the commission determines that electric vehicles, as defined in s. 320.01(36), Florida Statutes, and hybrid vehicles, as defined in s. 316.0741, Florida Statutes, make up 2 percent or more of the total number of vehicles registered in this state.

(b) The commission, in consultation with the Department of Highway Safety and Motor Vehicles, may use commercially available data that the commission deems reliable to support its determination and report. The report must, at a minimum, assess the effect of projected electric and hybrid vehicle use in this state on future revenue from existing taxes, fees, and surcharges related to nonelectric, private-use motorcycles, mopeds, automobiles, tri-vehicles, and trucks.

(c) The commission, in consultation with the Division of Emergency Management, shall also make an assessment of transportation infrastructure with respect to emergency evacuations and electric vehicles, including, but not limited to, the availability of electric vehicle charging stations in this state.

(2) The report must include recommendations to the Legislature:

(a) To ensure continued funding for necessary maintenance that provides for adequate levels of service on existing transportation infrastructure;

(b) To accomplish improvements and capacity projects on transportation infrastructure which meet the demand from projected population and economic growth; and

(c) To accomplish necessary improvements to transportation infrastructure that would support emergency evacuations by users of electric vehicles.

(3) The report shall be submitted to the Governor and the Legislature no later than September 1 of the year immediately after the year in which the commission determines that electric vehicles, as defined in s. 320.01(36), Florida Statutes, and hybrid vehicles, as defined in s. 316.0741, Florida Statutes, make up 2 percent or more of the total number of vehicles registered in this state.

(4) Notwithstanding any other provisions of this section, the commission may undertake and complete the review and report before the 2-percent threshold is reached if the commission finds that earlier completion is appropriate to maintain a financially stable, long-term transportation work program.

Section 4. Paragraph (c) of subsection (7) of section 339.175, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

339.175 Metropolitan planning organization.—

(7) LONG-RANGE TRANSPORTATION PLAN.—Each M.P.O. must develop a long-range transportation plan that addresses at least a 20-year planning horizon. The plan must include both long-range and short-range strategies and must comply with all other state and federal requirements. The prevailing principles to be considered in the long-range transportation plan are: preserving the existing transportation infrastructure; enhancing Florida's economic competitiveness; and improving travel choices to ensure mobility. The long-range transportation plan must be consistent, to the maximum extent feasible, with future land use elements and the goals, objectives, and policies of the approved local government comprehensive plans of the units of local government located within the jurisdiction of the M.P.O. Each M.P.O. is encouraged to consider strategies that integrate transportation and land use planning to provide for sustainable development and reduce greenhouse gas emissions. The approved long-range transportation plan must be considered by local governments in the development of the transportation elements in local government comprehensive plans and any amendments thereto. The long-range transportation plan must, at a minimum:

(c) Assess capital investment and other measures necessary to:

1. Ensure the preservation of the existing metropolitan transportation system including requirements for the operation, resurfacing, restoration, and rehabilitation of major roadways and requirements for the operation, maintenance, modernization, and rehabilitation of public transportation facilities; and

2. Make the most efficient use of existing transportation facilities to relieve vehicular congestion, improve safety, and maximize the mobility of people and goods. Such efforts must include, but are not limited to, consideration of infrastructure and technological improvements necessary to accommodate advances in vehicle technology, such as the increased use of autonomous technology and electric vehicles, and other developments.

In the development of its long-range transportation plan, each M.P.O. must provide the public, affected public agencies, representatives of transportation agency employees, freight shippers, providers of freight transportation services, private providers of transportation, representatives of users of public transit, and other interested parties with a reasonable opportunity to comment on the long-range transportation plan. The long-range transportation plan must be approved by the

I. Summary:

CS/CS/SB 852 creates the Florida Smart City Challenge Grant Program; requires the Florida Transportation Commission to project the effect of electric and hybrid vehicles on fuel tax revenues; and, creates the Statewide Mobility Innovation Program within the Department of Transportation.

The Florida Smart City Challenge Grant Program is created to provide opportunities to cities and other regions of the state for developing smart mobility solutions to local transportation challenges. The bill authorizes certain state, county, municipal, regional, or other agencies to submit applications to the Florida Department of Transportation (FDOT) for grants to fund certain innovative transportation projects. The bill provides project selection, matching funds, and reporting requirements. The FDOT is directed to provide administrative support and to conduct expedited proposal reviews to facilitate smart city technology deployment within the state.

The bill also requires the Florida Transportation Commission (FTC) to review all funding sources for transportation infrastructure and maintenance projects when it is determined that electric and hybrid vehicles make up two percent or more of the total number of registered vehicles in this state. The report must assess the effect of projected electric and hybrid vehicle use on future revenues from existing fuel taxes and other fees related to nonelectric vehicles. The report must also make recommendations to: provide continued funding to maintain existing infrastructure; continue to meet projected infrastructure demand; and improve infrastructure to support emergency evacuations by users of electric vehicles.

The bill also requires the FTC, in consultation with the Florida Division of Emergency Management (FDEM), to assess transportation infrastructure with respect to emergency evacuations and electric vehicles, including the availability of electric vehicle charging stations in this state. The bill requires metropolitan planning organization's long-range transportation plans to include an assessment of the increased use of autonomous technology and electric vehicles.

The bill further creates the Statewide Mobility Innovation Program within the Department of Transportation (FDOT). Through the program, FDOT will solicit, evaluate, and finance proposals for the design and construction of innovative mobility systems.

Currently, the Florida Rail Enterprise receives a $60 million from documentary stamp taxes. Beginning in the 2021-2022 fiscal year, the bill redistributes the $60 million to provide $35 million to the Statewide Mobility Innovation Program and $25 million to the Tampa Bay Area Regional Transit Authority (TBARTA). Of the $35 million distributed to the program, $25 million is allocated to Miami-Dade County, $5 million to the Jacksonville Transportation Authority (JTA), and the remaining $5 million will be available to all other counties competing for funding for innovative mobility system projects.

The bill appropriates $15 million in nonrecurring funds from the State Transportation Trust Fund to the FDOT implement the Florida Smart City Challenge Grant Program.

The FTC will incur indeterminate expenses associated with the reporting requirements of this bill. The DHSMV expects the bill to have no impact on expenditures. The FDEM may incur indeterminate expenses associated with its participation in the emergency evacuation assessment.

Beginning in Fiscal Year 2021-2022, the bill will reduce revenues directed to the FRE and may negatively impact FRE projects planned in the FDOT's work program. The FDOT will also incur indeterminate expenses associated with creation and administration of the Statewide Mobility Innovation Program. Counties that elect to apply for funding for innovative mobility system projects will be required to provide matching funds.

The bill takes effect on July 1, 2018.

II. Present Situation:

Smart City Challenge Grant Program

According to the National League of Cities, 66 percent of cities are investing in smart city technology, and 25 percent of cities with no smart city technology are investigating how to implement it.[1] A single definition of smart city technology is difficult to identify, but in the context of transportation, it relates to "using sensors to collect data about the movement of people, all forms of vehicles and bikes. A smart city is one that greatly reduces vehicle traffic and allows people and goods to be moved easily through various means."[2] Examples include intelligent vehicle systems and autonomous vehicle transportation. Outcomes of smart city efforts are reduced vehicle related deaths, reduced pollution, reduced traffic times, and healthier populations.[3]

The Federal Smart City Challenge

The United States Department of Transportation (USDOT) launched a Smart City Challenge in December 2015. The challenge asked mid-sized cities "to develop ideas for an integrated, first-of-its-kind smart transportation system that would use data, applications, and technology to help people and goods move more quickly, cheaply, and efficiently."[4] The USDOT committed up to $40 million to one winning city.[5] The USDOT received 78 applications from cities across America, including the following cities in Florida: Jacksonville, Miami, Orlando, St. Petersburg, Tallahassee, and Tampa.[6] However, no Florida city received any funding.

Ultimately, Columbus, Ohio won the challenge by proposing "a comprehensive, integrated plan addressing challenges in residential, commercial, freight, and downtown districts using a number of new technologies, including connected infrastructure, an integrated data platform, autonomous vehicles, and more."[7] The USDOT then worked with selected finalists to further develop the ideas proposed by the cities and, in October 2016, announced an additional $65 million in grants to support advanced technology transportation projects.[8] Again, no city in Florida was selected for project funding.[9]

The State Smart City Challenge Grant Program

The 2017 Legislature enacted legislation[10] requiring the FDOT, in consultation with the Department of Highway Safety & Motor Vehicles and subject to appropriation, to develop the Florida Smart City Challenge Grant Program and establish grant award requirements for municipalities or regions for the purpose of receiving grant awards. The law requires grant applications to demonstrate and document the adoption of emerging technologies and their impact on transportation systems and to address at least the following focus areas: autonomous vehicles, connected vehicles, sensor-based infrastructure, collecting and using data, electric vehicles (including charging stations), and developing strategic models and partnerships. The law also specifies a non-exclusive list of goals of the grant program.

The law requires the FDOT to develop eligibility, application, and selection criteria for the program grants and a plan for promotion of the grant program to municipalities or regions of the state as an opportunity to compete for the grant funding. Criteria must include the award of grants to a single recipient and secondary grants to specific projects of merit within other applications. The law authorizes the FDOT to contract with a third party demonstrating knowledge and expertise in the focuses and goals of the program to provide guidance in the development of the program requirements. By January 1, 2018, the FDOT was to submit the grant program guidelines and plans for promotion of the grant program to the Governor, the Senate President, and the House Speaker.

The 2017 General Appropriations Act contained an appropriation for the Smart City Challenge Grant program, authorizing the FDOT to use up to $325,000 from the State Transportation Trust Fund (STTF) to establish the program. However, that appropriation was vetoed.[11] The program, currently codified in s. 316.0898, F.S., expires on July 1, 2018.

Electric and Hybrid Vehicles

Florida law currently defines two types of vehicles powered, in whole or in part, by electricity: an electric vehicle and a hybrid vehicle. An "electric vehicle," defined for purposes of vehicle registration under ch. 320, F.S., is "a motor vehicle that is powered by an electric motor that draws current from rechargeable storage batteries, fuel cells, or other sources of electrical current."[12] A "hybrid vehicle," defined for purposes of use of high-occupancy-vehicle lanes, is a motor vehicle:

- That draws propulsion energy from onboard sources of stored energy which are both an internal combustion or heat engine using combustible fuel and a rechargeable energy-storage system;
- That, in the case of a passenger automobile or light truck, has received a certificate of conformity under the Clean Air Act…and meets or exceeds the equivalent qualifying California standards for a low-emission vehicle;[13] and
- That, in the case of a tri-vehicle,[14] is an inherently low-emission vehicle.[15]

Florida has enacted a number of EV-related provisions that may incentivize people to purchase EVs. They include:

- Authorizing a local government to enact a program to allow property owners to apply for financing from the local government to install EV charging equipment on his or her property. The local government can collect the loan payments through ad valorem assessments.[16]

[15] Section 316.0741, F.S.
[16] Section 163.08, F.S.

- Authorizing a local government to use the proceeds of a levied infrastructure surtax (discretionary sales surtax) to provide loans to property owners to install EV charging equipment.[17]
- Allowing hybrid electric vehicles to use high-occupancy-vehicle lanes regardless of occupancy and to use such lanes without paying a toll if one is otherwise required.[18]

In addition, local Florida entities offer EV incentives. The National Conference of State Legislatures reports that, through June 30 of this year or until funds were depleted,[19] Duke Energy and Orlando Utilities Commission customers and employees were eligible for a $10,000 rebate for the purchase of a new, all-electric, 2017 Nissan Leaf at participating dealerships; and the Jacksonville Electric Authority offers rebates for plug-in HEVs with a battery less than 15 kilowatt hours in capacity to receive $500, and plug-in HEVs with larger battery capacity are eligible for $1,000.[20] The federal government also allows an income tax credit of up to $7,500 for certain EVs.[21]

Impact of Electric and Hybrid Vehicles on Transportation Funding/Prior Studies

Taxes on gas and diesel fuel are a primary source of revenue for both the federal highway fund and the State Transportation Trust Fund.[22] Transportation funding has generally experienced a continuing shortfall attributed to static federal gas tax rates, more fuel efficient vehicles, and increasing transportation construction and maintenance costs.[23]

Annual fuel tax revenues at both the state and federal levels are directly based on the number of gallons of gasoline and diesel fuel consumed. Because electric vehicles (EV) are not powered by gasoline or diesel, and because hybrid electric vehicles (HEV) use less gasoline or diesel fuel than a conventional vehicle with only an internal combustion engine, an increase in the number of these vehicles operating in Florida results in less revenue being raised from fuel taxes for comparable vehicle miles traveled.

There are a limited number of studies specifically focused on the impact of EVs[24] on fuel tax revenues. A 2015 study conducted by the University of Central Florida acknowledges the increasing national EV sales trend for the 5-year period prior to the study but concludes:

> Of course, despite the increase, electric and plug-in electric vehicles still represent a small portion of the US auto market. With total vehicles sales for 2014 coming in at around 16.5 million, EVs made up less than 1 percent of total sales.[25]

The study further concludes that EVs, for now and in the near future, will have only a small impact on fuel tax revenues but notes a University of Texas study on EV market share suggesting that by 2050, over 50 percent of fuel tax funds may be lost.[26] The authors highlight the importance of understanding that "the rate at which revenue declines depends on many factors. The relationship among these factors is complex and continued investigation is warranted to better understand vehicle fleet mix, fuel economy, and fuel tax revenue."[27]

According to the study, a number of states are exploring or implementing revenue generating alternatives, both to increase transportation funding in general and also to prepare for revenue reduction due to increased EV sales. These alternatives include a fee based on the number of miles a given vehicle travels,[28] as well as increased direct taxes and surcharges on EV purchases.[29]

For example, in 2015, the Georgia Legislature repealed "one of the nation's most generous state tax credits for electric cars." The Legislature also voted to impose a $200 annual registration fee on owners of some plug-in hybrids and all zero-emissions vehicles to make up for the lost fuel taxes. EV sales then experienced a sharp reduction, a result attributed to the repealed credit and imposed fee.[30]

EV Registration in Florida

The license tax for EVs is the same as that for a vehicle that is not electrically powered.[31] The exact number of EVs registered in Florida is somewhat unclear. Under the Department of Highway Safety and Motor Vehicles' (DHSMV) current vehicle registration system programming, a "fuel type" classification is an optional field and therefore the precise number of EVs registered is unknown.[32]

The DHSMV analyzed vehicle identification numbers (VINs) in its motor vehicle registration database using available software and estimated that of the 16.2 million vehicles with VINs that could be analyzed, approximately 247,131 EVs and HEVs, are registered in Florida, or about 1.53 percent.[33]

Emergency Evacuation

The Florida Division of Emergency Management (FDEM) is responsible for maintaining a comprehensive statewide program of emergency management. Among the FDEM's duties is a requirement to prepare a state comprehensive emergency management plan containing provisions that will ensure the state is prepared for emergencies and minor, major, and catastrophic disasters.[34] As part of the plan, the FDEM must include an evacuation component including specific regional and interregional planning provisions and promoting intergovernmental coordination of evacuation activities. Among other items, this part of the plan must establish strategies for ensuring sufficient, reasonably priced fueling locations along evacuation routes.[35] A review of available documents and information on the FDEM's website did not identify an assessment of electric vehicle charging stations for the purpose of emergency evacuations.

Section 377.815, F.S., authorizes the Florida Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services to post information on its website relating to alternative fueling stations or EV charging stations that are available for public use in this state. The department's website provides a list of stations, however, the list is not specific to emergency evacuations.[36]

According to the U.S Department of Energy's Alternative Fuels Data Center, 949 electric vehicle charging stations (2,130 outlets) are currently available in the State of Florida, excluding private stations.[37] The DHSMV notes that no EV charging stations within Florida's transportation infrastructure are specifically designated for use during emergency evacuations.[38]

Statewide Mobility Innovation Program

FDOT Organization and the Florida Rail Enterprise

The FDOT is organized into seven geographic districts, each headed by a district secretary, and the Florida Turnpike Enterprise (FTE) and the FRE, each of which are headed by an executive director.[39] The district secretaries and executive directors must be registered professional engineers or hold an advanced degree in an appropriate related discipline.

The FRE operates pursuant to the Florida Rail Enterprise Act[40] and is responsible for:

- Developing and operating the high-speed and passenger rail systems established in ch. 341, F.S.;
- Directing funding for passenger rail systems under s. 341.303, F.S.; and
- Coordinating publicly funded passenger rail operations, including freight rail interoperability issues.

Generally[41] the FRE is exempt from the FDOT's policies, procedures, and standards, subject to the FDOT secretary's authority to apply any such policies, procedures, and standards to the FRE as the secretary deems appropriate.[42]

The FRE is a single budget entity that submits its budget to the Legislature along with the FDOT's budget. All passenger rail funding is included in the FRE's budget.[43] Notwithstanding certain provisions of law relating to undisbursed appropriations balances,[44] on July 1 each year the Governor is required to certify forward (into the next state fiscal year) all unexpended funds appropriated or provided pursuant to s. 341.303, F.S., to the FRE. This includes any expended funds that are unencumbered. The carried-forward funds cannot exceed 5 percent of the original approved FRE operating budget.[45] Funds carried forward may be used for any lawful purpose, including, but not limited to, promotional and market activities, technology, and training. Any certified forward funds that are undisbursed on September 30 of each year are carried forward.[46]

[39] Section 20.23(4)(f), F.S.
[40] Section 20.23(4)(f)1., F.S. The Florida Rail Enterprise Act is located in ss. 341.8201-341.842, F.S.
[41] Except as provided in the Consultants' Competitive Negotiation Act, which relates to agency acquisition of professional architectural, engineering, landscape architectural, or survey and mapping services. s. 287.055, F.S.
[42] Section 20.23(4)(f)2., F.S. Florida's Turnpike Enterprise (FTE) is likewise exempt, subject to the FDOT secretary's same authority, under s. 20.23(4)(e)2., F.S.
[43] Section 341.303(6)(a), F.S.
[44] See s. 216.301, F.S., which generally provides that the balance of any operations appropriation not identified in the state's financial system as an incurred obligation effective June 30th each year ("unencumbered") reverts to the fund from which it was appropriated and is available for re-appropriation by the Legislature. Funds for an identified incurred obligation are "carried forward" in the amount of the identified obligations (unexpended, but encumbered). Generally, fixed capital outlay appropriation balances which are not disbursed but are expended, contracted, or committed to be expended prior to February 1 of the second fiscal year of the appropriation are "certified forward." Similarly, any balance not certified reverts to the fund from which it was appropriated and is available for re-appropriation.
[45] Per s. 216.181, F.S., the General Appropriations Act and any other acts containing appropriations are considered the original approved operating budgets for operational and fixed capital expenditures. The original approved operating budgets may be amended in accordance with provisions contained in that section of law.
[46] Section 341.303(6)(b), F.S. Similar provisions apply to the FTE under s. 338.2216(3), F.S.

Funding for the FRE

The Transportation Regional Incentive Program receives a distribution from documentary stamp taxes, of which the first $60 million of funds are redirected annually to the FRE.[47] Such distribution must be used to fund:

- Up to 50 percent of the nonfederal share of the costs of any eligible[48] passenger rail capital improvement project.
- Up to 100 percent of planning and development costs related to the provision of a passenger rail system.
- The high-speed rail system.
- Projects necessary to identify or address anticipated impact of increased freight rail traffic resulting from the implementation of passenger rail systems.[49]

In addition to documentary stamp tax revenues, the FRE is appropriated additional funds from the State Transportation Trust Fund in the General Appropriations Act. For the 2017-2018 fiscal year, the FRE was authorized one position and a total budget of approximately $237.4 million. Of that amount, $74.4 million was for public transit development grants, $159.6 million for rail development grants, and $2.8 million for intermodal development grants.[50]
Examples of major passenger rail projects that have received funding by the FRE include the Central Florida Commuter Rail System (SunRail)[51] and the South Florida Regional Transportation Authority (TriRail)[52].

Transportation Regional Incentive Program

The Transportation Regional Incentive Program (TRIP) was created in 2005 as part of growth management legislation to "encourage regional planning by providing state matching funds for improvements to regionally significant transportation facilities identified and prioritized by regional partners."[53] It is a "matching program designed to leverage investments in regionally-significant road and public transportation projects."[54] The TRIP funds provide up to 50 percent of the project costs and must be matched by regional, local, or federal dollars or in-kind contributions. Funds are "distributed to the FDOT Districts based on a statutory formula of equal parts population and fuel tax collections."[55] Certain projects receive priority, such as providing connectivity to the strategic intermodal system or supporting economic development and goods movement in rural areas of opportunity.

Tampa Bay Area Regional Transit Authority

Part V of ch. 343, F.S., creates the Tampa Bay Area Regional Transit Authority (TBARTA). TBARTA covers Hernando, Hillsborough, Manatee, Pasco, and Pinellas Counties and any other contiguous county that is party to an agreement of participation.[56] TBARTA's express purposes are to:

- Plan, implement, and operate mobility improvements and expansions of multimodal transportation options for passengers and freight throughout the designated region;
- Produce a regional transit development plan, integrating the transit development plans of participant counties, to include a prioritization of regionally significant transit projects and facilities; and
- Serve, with the consent of the Governor or designee, as the recipient of federal funds supporting an intercountry project or an intracounty capital project that represents a phase of an intercountry project that exists in a single county within the designated region.[57]

The TBARTA was required to provide to the Legislature a plan to produce the regional development plan on or before the 2018 Regular Session. Currently, the TBARTA is developing the plan to identify projects "that have the greatest potential to be funded (compete for federal grants) and implemented[,]… are the most forward thinking and make the best use of today's technology[, and]…best serve our region today while supporting tomorrow's growth."[58] An evaluation process will use "clearly defined criteria [to] identify the top transit corridors in the region, and ultimately one "catalyst project" that could be implemented first, followed by other projects to move forward around the region."[59]

South Florida Regional Transportation Authority

Part I of ch. 343, F.S., creates the South Florida Regional Transportation Authority (SFRTA). SFRTA covers Broward, Miami-Dada, and Palm Beach Counties, and may expand its service area into Monroe County by resolution of the SFRTA's governing board and consent of the board of county commissioners and any other county with FDOT's approval.[60]

SFRTA receives funding from the State Transportation Trust Fund for the operation, maintenance, and dispatch of the South Florida Rail Corridor.[61] The law specifically prohibits the provision of these funds from the funds dedicated to the FRE from documentary stamp tax distributions.

Jacksonville Transportation Authority

Chapter 349, F.S., creates the Jacksonville Transportation Authority (JTA). The JTA covers the Duval County and any jurisdiction outside of Duval County with the consent of that jurisdiction.[62] Some of the JTA's purposes and powers are to:

- Acquire, hold, construct, improve, operate, maintain, and lease in the capacity of lessor a mass transit system employing motor cars or buses; street railway systems; or any other means determined useful to the rapid transfer of large numbers of people among the locations of residence, commerce, industry, and education in Duval County;
- Plan, coordinate, and recommend to methods and facilities for the parking of vehicles, the movement of pedestrians, and vehicular traffic (including bicycles), public and private, in Duval County to accomplish a coordinated transportation system for the greater Jacksonville area.[63]

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

The bill creates a new Florida Smart City Challenge Grant Program to provide opportunities for grants to fund certain innovative transportation projects. The FDOT must issue a request for proposals by September 1, 2018, and distribute awards by January 1, 2019. The bill establishes goals and eligibility requirements for the program; provides project selection criteria and matching funds requirements; sets out reporting requirements; provides for administrative support for the program; and provides an appropriation from the STTF to implement the program.

Section 1 creates s. 316.0899, F.S., effective July 1, 2018, to create a new Florida Smart City Challenge Grant Program within the FDOT. The bill identifies the goals of the program to include:

- Providing opportunities to municipalities and other regions of the state to develop innovative smart mobility solutions to local transportation challenges.
- Deploying smart city technology that has an immediate impact on the safe and efficient movement of people and goods within municipalities and other regions of the state.
- Advancing autonomous, connected, grid-integrated,[64] and electric vehicle readiness and deployment throughout the state.
- Providing enhanced education and workforce development opportunities by deploying emerging technologies that support the state's future workforce.
- Meeting the mobility needs of residents of this state, particularly transportation disadvantaged persons[65] by increasing access to and convenience of transportation within municipalities and other regions of the state.

[62] Section 349.04(2)(q), F.S.
[63] Section 349.04(1), F.S.
[64] The bill defines this term to mean "a motor vehicle that has the ability for two-way power flow between the vehicle and the electric grid and the communications hardware and software that allow for external control of battery charging and discharging."
[65] Section 427.011(1), F.S., defines a "transportation disadvantaged person" as a person who, because of physical or mental disability, income status, or age is unable to transport himself or herself or to purchase transportation and is, therefore, dependent on others to obtain access to health care, employment, education, shopping, social activities, or other life-sustaining activities, or children who are handicapped or high-risk or at-risk as defined in s. 411.202, F.S.

- Facilitating the efficient movement of freight within the state, especially in and around airports and seaports.
- Supporting the reduction or elimination of fossil fuel consumption by relying on renewable energy sources and electric technologies.
- Creating a smart mobility demonstration community in the state that serves as a model for municipalities and other regions nationwide.

The bill authorizes the various government entities to apply to the FDOT for project funding under the program. These government entities include:

- A state, county, municipal, regional, or other agency that is responsible for the movement of persons, goods, or services within a defined geographical region, including an entity created pursuant to chs. 343,[66] 348,[67] or 349,[68] F.S.
- An independent special district with powers that include or are related to infrastructure development or transportation systems or services.
- A metropolitan planning organization (MPO) or transportation planning organization (TPO), with a requirement that each entity responsible for deploying or operating a project on behalf of an MPO or TPO must submit to the FDOT a letter detailing its commitment to the implementation, operation, and maintenance of the project.
- A state university.

The bill requires an applicant to have in place a plan or framework for the implementation of the proposed project in at least one of the following categories:

- Autonomous vehicle deployment or demonstration.
- Connected vehicle technology deployment.
- Shared mobility services innovation and deployment.
- Acceleration of the use of plug-in electric vehicles and electric charging infrastructure, including the deployment of grid-integrated vehicles.

The FDOT is required to issue a request for proposals for the award of program grants by September 1, 2018. Each submitted proposal must include:

- A statement by the applicant certifying that the project will be implement within 5 years after receipt of the grant.
- A plan for fulfilling documentation requirements under the FDOT's Statewide Systems Engineering Management Plan within such 5-year period.[69]

---

[67] Chapter 348, F.S., creates the Miami-Dade Expressway Authority, the Tampa-Hillsborough County Expressway Authority, the Santa Rosa Bay Bridge Authority, and the Osceola County Expressway Authority.

[68] Chapter 349, F.S., creates the Jacksonville Transportation Authority.

[69] A Systems Engineering Management Plan (SEMP) enables an engineer "to manage a project using systems engineering principles and methods to maximize the quality of the system being implemented, while minimizing the budget and schedule required for its completion." For extensive details, see the FDOT's systems engineering website available at: http://www.fdot.gov/traffic/its/projects_deploy/semp.shtm (Last visited January 12, 2018). Federal regulations require all Intelligent Transportation System projects funded with federal highway funds to be based on a systems engineering analysis on a scale commensurate with the project scope. See 23 C.F.R. s. 940.11. Required documentation in a SEMP can be extensive. See the list of document templates on the identified FDOT website.

- A description of how operation and maintenance costs for the project will be funded in order to ensure that the FDOT's investment in the project is sustained.
- A plan for evaluation of the project and the methods by which such evaluation will be shared with residents of the area served by the project.
- The procedure for integrating the project's transportation-related data into the FDOT's Data Integration and Video Aggregation System.[70]

The FDOT must award a grant to at least three recipients, with each award limited to no more than $6 million. The FDOT must distribute awards by January 1, 2019. An award may fund up to 50 percent of project costs. A grant recipient must fund at least 10 percent of project costs, and a minimum of 10 percent of project costs must be funded by the private sector. Grant funds must be used exclusively for startup costs, including acquisition of hardware, software, and assets associated with implementing a project. Grant funds may not be used for costs associated with operation, maintenance, or evaluation of the project.

When selecting grant recipients, the FDOT must give priority to proposals that:
- Demonstrate the availability of matching funds;[71]
- Include a plan for documenting the acquisition and expenditure of matching funds; and
- Include a larger amount of matching funds from private sector partner organizations.

Matching funds may be used for costs associated with operation, maintenance, and evaluation of the project.

Each grant recipient must submit a quarterly report to the FDOT regarding the development, implementation, and operation of the project. A grant recipient that receives matching funds must document the contribution of such funds in the quarterly report that details the manner in which the value of such contribution is calculated. The FDOT must submit a quarterly report to the Senate President and House Speaker regarding the overall status of the grant program.

After a project is implemented, each grant recipient must submit a report to the Governor, the Senate President, and the House Speaker detailing: the project's impact on the transportation system within the area served by the project; the extent to which the goals of the grant program have been met; and recommendations for project revisions or improvements to guide future deployment activities. A final report must be submitted 2 years after submission of the initial report.

[70] This system integrates and manages real-time information. It consists of a data integration subsystem, which collects and integrates transportation and related data from numerous sources and integrates that data for internal and external dissemination and consumption; and a video aggregation subsystem, which aggregates "live streaming video from FDOT and external agency cameras for distribution using ubiquitous, modern video streaming technologies, such that video is made available to users regardless of their specific location or device platform. See the FDOT's TSM&O Disseminator, July-August 2017, at p. 9, available at: http://www.fdot.gov/traffic/Newsletters/2017/2017-AUG.pdf (Last visited January 12, 2018).

[71] Under the bill, "matching funds" includes in-kind services, goods, equipment, or other noncash contributions calculated at fair market value.

The bill requires the FDOT to provide administrative support to the grant program to facilitate the deployment of smart city technology within the state, including expedited review of submitted proposals.

The FDOT may select an independent nongovernmental entity to assist in project construction, management, and evaluation; to oversee the implementation of the project; and to analyze and document lessons learned during, and benefits derived from, implementation of the project. The nongovernmental entity must have experience with the national (federal) Smart Cities Initiative, advanced transportation deployment experience in this state, extensive engineering experience, or expertise in stakeholder engagement of potential partners to create a demonstration community.

Section 2 appropriates $15 million in nonrecurring funds from the State Transportation Trust Fund for the 2018-2019 fiscal year to the FDOT to implement the program.

Electric and Hybrid Vehicles

Section 3 requires the FTC to review all sources of revenue for transportation infrastructure and maintenance projects and prepare a report to the Governor and the Legislature when the FTC determines that electric vehicles, as defined in s. 320.01(36), F.S., and hybrid vehicles, as defined in s. 316.0741, F.S., make up two percent or more of the total number of vehicles registered in this state.

The FTC, in consultation with the DHSMV, is authorized to use commercially available data that the FTC deems reliable to support its determination and report. In consultation with the FDEM, the FTC is also required to assess transportation infrastructure with respect to emergency evacuations and EVs, including, but not limited to, the availability of EV charging stations in this state.

At a minimum, the report must assess the effect of projected electric and hybrid vehicle use in this state on future revenue from existing taxes, fees, and surcharges related to nonelectric, private-use motorcycles, mopeds, automobiles, tri-vehicles, and trucks. The report must include recommendations to the Legislature to:

- Ensure continued funding for necessary maintenance that provides for adequate levels of service on existing transportation infrastructure;
- Accomplish improvements and capacity projects on transportation infrastructure which meet the demand from projected population and economic growth; and
- Accomplish necessary improvements to transportation infrastructure that would support emergency evacuations by users of electric vehicles.

The bill requires the report to be submitted to the Governor and the Legislature by September 1 of the year immediately after the year in which the FTC determines that electric and hybrid vehicles make up two percent or more of the total number of vehicles registered in this state. The FTC is authorized to complete the review and report before the two-percent threshold is reached if the FTC determines that earlier completion is appropriate to maintain a financially stable long-term transportation work program.

Section 4 amends s. 339.175(7)(c)2., F.S., requiring each metropolitan planning organization to consider the increased use of autonomous technology and electric vehicles, and other developments, when making its capital investment assessment as part of development of its long-range transportation plan.

Statewide Mobility Innovation Program Funding

Section 5 amends s. 201.15(4)(a)4., F.S., relating to the distribution of documentary stamp taxes to the TRIP. For the 2018-2019, 2019-2020, and 2021-2021 fiscal years, the FRE will continue to receive $60 million distributed from the documentary stamp taxes pursuant to this subparagraph.

Beginning in the 2021-2022 fiscal year, the first $60 million allocated to the TRIP will be allocated for innovative mobility systems as follows:

- $25 million on a matching basis to TBARTA for the design and construction of an innovative mobility system.
- $35 million to the Statewide Mobility Innovation Program for the purposes established in s. 341.86, F.S. (which directs that $25 million of those funds be distributed to Miami-Dade County, $5 million to the JTA, and the remaining $5 million available for any other counties).

The funds distributed to the TBARTA require one dollar in local or private matching funds for each dollar distributed, and federal funds may not be substituted for the local or private matching funds. If TBARTA notifies the FDOT that it will not request all of the funds allocated for an innovative mobility system, the FDOT must allocate those funds to projects in the 5-year work program in the jurisdiction of TBARTA.

The existing prohibition against pledging the distributed funds for debt service unless such pledge is approved by referendum of the voters is unchanged.

Statewide Mobility Innovation Program

Section 6 creates s. 339.84, F.S., creating the Statewide Mobility Innovation Program within the FDOT. "Innovative mobility system" is defined as a "system of infrastructure, appurtenances, and technology designed to move the greatest number of people in the least amount of time." An innovative mobility system includes automated people movers, bus rapid transit networks, autonomous vehicles,[72] transportation network companies,[73] ridesharing,[74] and commuter highway vehicles,[75] but not other traditional uses of a roadway system for conveyance.

[72] Section 316.003, F.S., currently defines "autonomous vehicle" as any vehicle equipped with autonomous technology, with certain exclusions. "Autonomous technology" is defined to mean technology installed on a motor vehicle that has the capability to drive the vehicle on which the technology is installed without the active control of monitoring by a human operator.
[73] Section 627.748, F.S., defines "transportation network company" or "TNC" as an entity operating in this state using a digital network to connect a rider to a TNC driver, who provides prearranged rides.
[74] The term "ridesharing" is defined in s. 341.031(9)(a), F.S.
[75] 49 U.S.C. s. 5323(i)(2)(C)(ii) defines "commuter highway vehicle as "any vehicle…the seating capacity of which is at least 6 adults (not including the driver); and…at least 80 percent of the mileage use of which can be reasonably expected to be for the purposes of transporting commuters in connection with travel between their residences and their place of employment."

The goals of the program include, but are not limited to:

- Evaluating, financing, and overseeing proposals for innovative mobility systems in this state;
- Expending funds to publicize and promote innovative mobility systems and to contract with entities to accomplish these purposes; and
- Soliciting proposals in accordance with ch. 287, F.S.,[76] for the design and construction of innovative mobility systems and contracting with entities to expend funds to accomplish this purpose.

The FDOT, through the program, is required to use the $35 million distributed from documentary stamp tax revenues in a county to fund the design and construction of an innovative mobility system for passengers, based on a county proposal that the FDOT approves as being consistent with the requirements of the new law. More specifically, the bill requires the program to use:

- $25 million for an innovative mobility systems in a county as defined in s. 125.011(1), F.S. (Miami-Dade County).[77]
- $5 million for an innovative mobility systems in the Jacksonville Transportation Authority.
- $5 million for an innovative mobility systems in any other county or counties in the state.

If Miami-Dade County notifies the FDOT that it will not request all of the funds allocated for an innovative mobility system, the FDOT must allocate those funds to projects in the 5-year work program in the jurisdiction of the county.

A county proposing use of innovative mobility system funds must submit a request to the FDOT. The request must include a detailed project and financial plan, and must specify the project's duration and the total amount of funding sought by state fiscal year.

One dollar in local or private matching funds is required for each dollar distributed, and federal funds may not be substituted for the local or private matching funds. Additionally, funds distributed may not be used to subsidize projects with existing funding commitments as of July 1, 2018.

Conforming Revision

Section 7 amends s. 341.303, F.S., to provide the FDOT may not program any funds from the documentary stamps after Fiscal Year 2017-2018 to ensure funding will be available for the Statewide Mobility Innovation Program beginning in 2021.

Section 8 repeals subsection (5) of s. 341.303, F.S., effective July 1, 2021, which sets forth how the FRE is required to use the distribution from the documentary stamp taxes.

[76] Chapter 287, F.S., sets forth requirements and procedures to be used by state agencies in managing and procuring commodities and contractual services.

[77] Section 125.011(1), F.S., defines a county as: "[A]any county operating under a home rule charter adopted pursuant to Art. VIII, ss. 10, 11, and 24 of the State Constitution of 1885, as preserved by Art. VIII, s. 6(e) of the State Constitution of 1968, which county, by resolution of its board of county commissioners, elects to exercise the powers herein conferred." Of the local governments authorized to operate under a home rule charter by the State Constitutions of 1885 and 1968, only Miami-Dade County operates under a home-rule charter, which was adopted on May 21, 1957, under the constitutional provision.

Section 9 amends s. 343.58(4), F.S., effective July 1, 2021, to conform to changes made in the bill by prohibiting the SFRTA from receiving documentary stamp tax revenues distributed to the Statewide Mobility Innovation Program, instead of the FRE.

The bill takes effect on July 1, 2018.

IV. Constitutional Issues:

A. Municipality/County Mandates Restrictions:

The bill does not implicate the mandates provisions of the State Constitution. Counties and cities are not required to apply to the program, but those that do apply for funding from the Florida Smart City Challenge Grant Program will be required to provide matching funds.

B. Public Records/Open Meetings Issues:

None.

C. Trust Funds Restrictions:

None.

V. Fiscal Impact Statement:

A. Tax/Fee Issues:

None.

B. Private Sector Impact:

Private-sector partners who invest in innovative transportation projects may benefit to the extent that the project receives state grant funding.

The traveling public in Miami-Dade County and in the counties covered by the JTA and TBARTA, as well as in any other county in which an innovative mobility system project is constructed, may benefit from increased mobility options.

C. Government Sector Impact:

Florida Smart City Challenge Grant Program

The bill appropriates $15 million in nonrecurring funds from the State Transportation Trust Fund for Fiscal Year 2018-2019 to the FDOT to implement the program. This appropriation may be used to fund the costs incurred by FDOT to implement the Florida Smart City Challenge Grant Program as noted below.

The FDOT will incur administrative expenses associated with:
- Issuing the request for proposals.
- Conducting expedited reviews of proposals and awarding grants.
- Preparing the required quarterly reports.
- Providing administrative support.

FTC EV Report

Related to the report on EVs in Florida, the FTC will incur indeterminate expenses associated with:
- Determining when EVs make up two percent of vehicle registrations;
- Assessing transportation revenue impacts of EV registrations;
- Assessing infrastructure related to emergency evacuations for EVs; and
- Preparing the report required by the bill.

The DHSMV expects the bill to have no impact on its expenditures.

The FDEM may incur indeterminate expenses associated with its participation in the emergency evacuation assessment.

Statewide Mobility Innovation Program

Beginning in Fiscal Year 2021-2022, a distribution of the first $60 million in documentary stamp tax revenues for TRIP will be distributed to the:
- TBARTA in the amount of $25 million.
- Statewide Mobility Innovation Program in the amount of $35 million.

The FRE portion of the FDOT's work program will have a $60 million reduction in funding starting in Fiscal Year 2021-2022. As a result, FRE projects planned for the future may be either delayed or canceled. The FDOT states that it has $342.6 million of plan commitments related to the FRE in the Adopted 5-Year Work Program (FYs 2017-2018 to 2021-2022). The FDOT estimates that "redirecting revenue resources would significantly disrupt the FRE-related projects as well as other projects in the work program."[78]

The FDOT will incur indeterminate expenses associated with creation of the program.[79]

Under the bill, Miami-Dade County and the TBARTA will each receive $25 million per year, and the JTA will receive $5 million per year for innovative mobility systems projects. The remaining $5 million will be available to all other counties competing for funding for innovative mobility system projects.

To the extent that counties, including Miami-Dade County, wish to engage in innovative mobility system projects, the bill requires local or private matching funds to be provided.

[78] FDOT, 2018 Agency Legislative Bill Analysis: SB 1200, February 7, 2018.
[79] Id.

To the extent that a county provides matching funds, the local resources used as a match would not be available for other purposes in that county. Further, projects with existing funding commitments as of July 1, 2018, will not be eligible for funding.

VI. Technical Deficiencies:

None.

VII. Related Issues:

Under the portion of the bill creating the Statewide Mobility Innovation Program, the bill does not include the same provision for the Jacksonville Transportation Authority as it does for Miami-Dade County, which allows Miami-Dade County to notify the FDOT that it will not request all of the funds allocated for an innovative mobility system and requires the FDOT to allocate those funds to projects in the 5-year work program in the jurisdiction of the county.

VIII. Statutes Affected:

This bill creates section 316.0899 of the Florida Statutes.

This bill creates an undesignated section of Florida Law.

This bill amends section 339.175 of the Florida Statutes.

IX. Additional Information:

A. Committee Substitute – Statement of Substantial Changes:
(Summarizing differences between the Committee Substitute and the prior version of the bill.)

CS/CS by Appropriations on March 2, 2018:
The committee substitute changes the bill to "[a]n act relating to transportation infrastructure" and adds the substance of CS/SB 384 and CS/SB 1200 (2017) to the bill.

The committee substitute requires the FTC to review all revenue sources for transportation infrastructure and maintenance projects and assess the effect of projected electric and hybrid vehicle use on future revenue from existing taxes, fees, and surcharges; make an assessment with the FDEM of transportation infrastructure with respect to emergency evacuations and electric vehicles; and prepare a report containing certain recommendations at the specified time.

The committee substitute revises planning requirements related to autonomous technology and electric vehicles to be considered as part of each metropolitan planning organization's development of the long-range transportation plan.

The committee substitute creates the Statewide Mobility Innovation Program within the Department of Transportation (FDOT). Through the program, FDOT will solicit, evaluate, and finance proposals for the design and construction of innovative mobility systems.

CS by Transportation on January 18, 2018:
The Committee Substitute:

- Creates a "Definitions" subsection, defines "grid-integrated vehicle," and relocates the definition of "matching funds" to this subsection.
- Revises one of the categories for which an applicant must have in place a plan or framework for project implementation to include acceleration of deployment of grid-integrated vehicles.
- Requires the FDOT to award at least three grants, rather than a awarding a maximum of three.
- Requires a grant recipient to fund at least ten percent of project costs and correspondingly removes a reference to partner organizations funding "50 percent of" projects costs in the provisions relating to priority selection of proposals.
- Revises the authorized uses of grant funds to specifically include acquisition of hardware, software, and assets associated with project implementation.
- Requires each recipient's initial report to be submitted to the Governor, in addition to the Senate President and the House Speaker.
- Authorizes the FDOT to select an independent nongovernmental entity to assist in project construction, management, and evaluation; and requires such entity to have certain prior experience.

COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

PCS/SB 992 revises provisions relating to the C-51 reservoir project, which is located in western Palm Beach County. Specifically, the bill:

- Adds the phrase "to the extent practicable" to the requirement that the South Florida Water Management District (SFWMD) operate the reservoir project to maximize the reduction of high-volume Lake Okeechobee regulatory releases to the St. Lucie or Caloosahatchee estuaries;
- Requires the operation of Phase I of the reservoir project to be in accordance with any operation and maintenance agreement adopted by the SFWMD;
- Requires that water made available by Phase I or Phase II of the reservoir project be used for natural systems in addition to any permitted, rather than allocated, amounts for water supply;
- Provides that water received from Lake Okeechobee may only be available to support consumptive use permits if such use is in accordance with the SFWMD rules; and
- Authorizes the SFWMD to enter into a capacity allocation agreement with a water supply entity for a pro rata share of unreserved capacity in the water storage facility and request the Department of Environmental Protection (DEP) to waive repayment of all or a portion of the loan issued through the water storage facility revolving loan fund.
- If any or all of the loan is waived, the DEP will not receive repayment of up to $30 million depending on what reasonable value the DEP deems appropriate.
- Clarifies that the SFWMD is not responsible for repaying any portion of a loan that is waived pursuant to this bill.

II. Present Situation:

Water Storage Reservoirs

It is the policy of the state that waters in the state are among its basic resources and the Legislature promote the conservation, replenishment, capture, enhancement, development, and proper utilization of surface and groundwater; and develop and regulate dams, impoundments, reservoirs, and other works to provide water storage for beneficial purposes.[1] Storing water is a commonly used technique for optimizing the use of water supplies by collecting water during times of plenty for use during dry or peak use times.[2]

Water storage reservoirs are constructed to improve the quality, timing, and distribution of water within a system. Water storage reservoirs can be used to store raw water prior to treatment at municipal water treatment facilities, to store treated water prior to distribution and use, and to store water for power generation facilities and agricultural uses.[3] Reservoirs can also be used to store water for environmental enhancement, including maintaining minimum flows and levels within a waterbody, as well as reducing the rates and volumes of freshwater discharges into estuaries.[4]

C-51 reservoir project

The C-51 reservoir project is located in western Palm Beach County on land owned by Palm Beach Aggregates, LLC (PBA). The project consists of in-ground reservoirs and conveyance structures that will provide water supply and water management benefits to participating water supply utilities. The project will also provide environmental benefits by reducing freshwater discharges to tide[5] and making additional water available for natural systems.

Phase I of the project will provide 14,000 acre-feet of water storage and costs approximately $161 million.[6] The SFWMD has declared Phase I of the C-51 reservoir project as one of its alternative water supply pilot projects, as it is located in the Lower East Coast Regional Planning Area, which is a restricted allocation area.[7] The water will be used to provide direct aquifer recharge to offset withdrawals from the Biscayne Aquifer. The Broward County Water and Wastewater Services, the City of Sunrise, the City of Lauderhill, and the City of Dania Beach have submitted letters of intent to utilize water made available by Phase I of the C-51 reservoir project.

Phase I of the reservoir project is designed to hydraulically connect to the L-8 Flow Equalization Basin and is dependent upon the SFWMD's regional system. Because of the interconnectedness, the SFWMD agreed to operate, maintain, repair, replace, and rehabilitate Phase I of the project provided the PBA pays the SFWMD for such operation, maintenance, repair, replacement, and rehabilitation.[8] On February 20, 2017, the SFWMD and the PBA entered into an Operation and Maintenance Agreement which details the rights and responsibilities of each party and requires the SFWMD to operate and maintain the project upon completion.[9]

Phase II of the C-51 reservoir project is estimated to provide 46,000 acre-feet of water storage and cost approximately $286 million.[10] Phase II of the project is being considered under some of the alternatives that are being modeled for the Loxahatchee River Watershed Restoration project, which is a project component of the Comprehensive Everglades Restoration Program.[11]

The SFWMD is authorized to negotiate with the owners of the C-51 reservoir project site for the acquisition of the project site for Phase II of the project or to enter into a public-private partnership.[12] The SFWMD is authorized to acquire land near the C-51 reservoir through the purchase or exchange of land that is owned by the SFWMD or the state as necessary to implement Phase II of the project.[13] The state and the SFWMD are authorized to consider potential swaps of land that is owned by the state or the SFWMD to achieve the optimal combination of water quality and water storage. The SFWMD is prohibited from exercising eminent domain for the purpose of implementing the C-51 reservoir project.[14]

If state funds are appropriated for Phase I or Phase II of the C-51 reservoir project, state law requires that:

- The SFWMD must operate the reservoir to maximize the reduction of high-volume Lake Okeechobee regulatory releases to the St. Lucie or Caloosahatchee estuaries in addition to providing relief to the Lake Worth Lagoon;
- Water made available by the reservoir must be used for natural systems in addition to any allocated amounts for water supply; and
- Any water received from Lake Okeechobee may not be made available to support consumptive use permits.[15]

Phase I of the C-51 reservoir project is authorized to be funded through specific appropriation or through the water storage facility revolving loan fund, as provided in s. 373.475, F.S.[16] For the 2017-2018 fiscal year, the sum of $30 million was appropriated to the Water Resource Protection and Sustainability Trust Fund for the purpose of providing a loan to implement Phase I of the C-

51 reservoir project.[17] The loan is required to have a 30-year term, may be prepaid at any time, and accrues interest until repayment. The loan is required to be repaid from the proceeds of the sale of unreserved capacity in the water storage facility, or other appropriate payment, at the time of receipt less reasonable expenses. The loan is secured by a first mortgage lien on the water storage facility and a collateral assignment of unreserved capacity as adequate security for the loan. The loan does not reserve for use by the state or the SFWMD any capacity authorized pursuant to the consumptive use permit for Phase I of the C-51 reservoir.[18]

Phase II of the C-51 reservoir project is authorized to be funded using Florida Forever bonds, pursuant to the water storage revolving loan fund, or as a project component of the Comprehensive Everglades Restoration Program pursuant to s. 375.041(3)(b)4., F.S.[19]

Restricted Allocation Areas

The term "restricted allocation area" is defined in s. 373.037, F.S., to mean an area within a water supply planning region of the Southwest Florida Water Management District, the South Florida Water Management District, or the St. Johns River Water Management District where the governing board of the water management district has determined that existing sources of water are not adequate to supply water for all existing and future reasonable-beneficial uses and to sustain the water resources and related natural systems for the planning period pursuant to ss. 373.036 and 373.709, F.S., and where the governing board of the water management district has applied allocation restrictions with regard to the use of specific sources of water.

Due to concerns regarding water availability, the SFWMD has declared the Lake Okeechobee Basin a restricted allocation area. Therefore, additional restrictions apply when allocating surface water derived from the Lake Okeechobee Waterbody for consumptive use within the Lake Okeechobee Basin. This rule is a component of the recovery strategy for minimum flows and levels for Lake Okeechobee, as set forth in Chapter 40E-8 of the Florida Administrative Code, to address lower lake management levels and storage under the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers' Lake Okeechobee Regulation Schedule.[20]

Another restricted allocation area within the SFWMD's planning region is the Lower East Coast Regional Planning Area. As a component of the recovery strategy for the minimum flows and levels for the Everglades and the Northwest Fork of the Loxahatchee River additional restrictions have been adopted for the permitted allocations of water use withdrawals. These restrictions assist in implementing the objective of the SFWMD to ensure that water necessary for Everglades restoration and the restoration of the Loxahatchee River Watershed is not allocated for consumptive use upon permit renewal or modification.[21]

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

The bill adds the phrase "to the extent practicable" to the requirement that the SFWMD operate the reservoir project to maximize the reduction of high-volume Lake Okeechobee regulatory releases to the St. Lucie or Caloosahatchee estuaries. The bill requires the operation of Phase I of the reservoir project to be in accordance with any operation and maintenance agreement adopted by the SFWMD. An agreement between the SFWMD and Palm Beach Aggregates, LLC, was adopted in February of 2017.

The bill requires that the water made available by Phase I or Phase II of the reservoir project must be used for natural systems in addition to any permitted, rather than allocated, amounts for water supply. The bill provides that water received from Lake Okeechobee may only be available to support consumptive use permits if such use is in accordance with the rules of the SFWMD.

The bill authorizes the SFWMD to enter into a capacity allocation agreement with a water supply entity for a pro rata share of unreserved capacity in the water storage facility and request the DEP to waive repayment of all or a portion of the loan issued through the water storage facility revolving loan fund pursuant to s. 373.475, F.S. The DEP may only authorize such waiver if, at its determination, it has received reasonable value for such waiver. The bill provides that the SFWMD is not responsible for repayment of any portion of a loan that is waived pursuant to this bill.

The bill takes effect July 1, 2018.

Recommended CS by Appropriations Subcommittee on the Environment and Natural Resources on February 14, 2018:
The committee substitute:

- Requires that the water made available by Phase I or Phase II of the reservoir project must be used for natural systems in addition to any permitted, rather than allocated, amounts for water supply.
- Provides that water received from Lake Okeechobee may only be available to support consumptive use permits if such use is in accordance with the rules of the SFWMD, rather than in accordance with the rules for the applicable allocation area defined in s. 373.037(1), F.S.

COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

CS/SB 992 revises provisions relating to the C-51 reservoir project, which is located in western Palm Beach County. Specifically, the bill:

- Adds the phrase "to the extent practicable" to the requirement that the South Florida Water Management District (SFWMD) operate the reservoir project to maximize the reduction of high-volume Lake Okeechobee regulatory releases to the St. Lucie or Caloosahatchee estuaries;
- Requires the operation of Phase I of the reservoir project to be in accordance with any operation and maintenance agreement adopted by the SFWMD;
- Requires that water made available by Phase I or Phase II of the reservoir project be used for natural systems in addition to any permitted, rather than allocated, amounts for water supply;
- Provides that water received from Lake Okeechobee may only be available to support consumptive use permits if such use is in accordance with the SFWMD rules; and
- Authorizes the SFWMD to enter into a capacity allocation agreement with a water supply entity for a pro rata share of unreserved capacity in the water storage facility and request the Department of Environmental Protection (DEP) to waive repayment of all or a portion of the loan issued through the water storage facility revolving loan fund.
- If any or all of the loan is waived, the DEP will not receive repayment of up to $30 million depending on what reasonable value the DEP deems appropriate.
- Clarifies that the SFWMD is not responsible for repaying any portion of a loan that is waived pursuant to this bill.

II. Present Situation:

Water Storage Reservoirs

It is the policy of the state that waters in the state are among its basic resources and the Legislature promote the conservation, replenishment, capture, enhancement, development, and proper utilization of surface and groundwater; and develop and regulate dams, impoundments, reservoirs, and other works to provide water storage for beneficial purposes.[1] Storing water is a commonly used technique for optimizing the use of water supplies by collecting water during times of plenty for use during dry or peak use times.[2]

Water storage reservoirs are constructed to improve the quality, timing, and distribution of water within a system. Water storage reservoirs can be used to store raw water prior to treatment at municipal water treatment facilities, to store treated water prior to distribution and use, and to store water for power generation facilities and agricultural uses.[3] Reservoirs can also be used to store water for environmental enhancement, including maintaining minimum flows and levels within a waterbody, as well as reducing the rates and volumes of freshwater discharges into estuaries.[4]

C-51 reservoir project

The C-51 reservoir project is located in western Palm Beach County on land owned by Palm Beach Aggregates, LLC (PBA). The project consists of in-ground reservoirs and conveyance structures that will provide water supply and water management benefits to participating water supply utilities. The project will also provide environmental benefits by reducing freshwater discharges to tide[5] and making additional water available for natural systems.

Phase I of the project will provide 14,000 acre-feet of water storage and costs approximately $161 million.[6] The SFWMD has declared Phase I of the C-51 reservoir project as one of its alternative water supply pilot projects, as it is located in the Lower East Coast Regional Planning Area, which is a restricted allocation area.[7] The water will be used to provide direct aquifer recharge to offset withdrawals from the Biscayne Aquifer. The Broward County Water and Wastewater Services, the City of Sunrise, the City of Lauderhill, and the City of Dania Beach have submitted letters of intent to utilize water made available by Phase I of the C-51 reservoir project.

Phase I of the reservoir project is designed to hydraulically connect to the L-8 Flow Equalization Basin and is dependent upon the SFWMD's regional system. Because of the interconnectedness, the SFWMD agreed to operate, maintain, repair, replace, and rehabilitate Phase I of the project provided the PBA pays the SFWMD for such operation, maintenance, repair, replacement, and rehabilitation.[8] On February 20, 2017, the SFWMD and the PBA entered into an Operation and Maintenance Agreement which details the rights and responsibilities of each party and requires the SFWMD to operate and maintain the project upon completion.[9]

Phase II of the C-51 reservoir project is estimated to provide 46,000 acre-feet of water storage and cost approximately $286 million.[10] Phase II of the project is being considered under some of the alternatives that are being modeled for the Loxahatchee River Watershed Restoration project, which is a project component of the Comprehensive Everglades Restoration Program.[11]

The SFWMD is authorized to negotiate with the owners of the C-51 reservoir project site for the acquisition of the project site for Phase II of the project or to enter into a public-private partnership.[12] The SFWMD is authorized to acquire land near the C-51 reservoir through the purchase or exchange of land that is owned by the SFWMD or the state as necessary to implement Phase II of the project.[13] The state and the SFWMD are authorized to consider potential swaps of land that is owned by the state or the SFWMD to achieve the optimal combination of water quality and water storage. The SFWMD is prohibited from exercising eminent domain for the purpose of implementing the C-51 reservoir project.[14]

If state funds are appropriated for Phase I or Phase II of the C-51 reservoir project, state law requires that:

- The SFWMD must operate the reservoir to maximize the reduction of high-volume Lake Okeechobee regulatory releases to the St. Lucie or Caloosahatchee estuaries in addition to providing relief to the Lake Worth Lagoon;
- Water made available by the reservoir must be used for natural systems in addition to any allocated amounts for water supply; and
- Any water received from Lake Okeechobee may not be made available to support consumptive use permits.[15]

Phase I of the C-51 reservoir project is authorized to be funded through specific appropriation or through the water storage facility revolving loan fund, as provided in s. 373.475, F.S.[16] For the 2017-2018 fiscal year, the sum of $30 million was appropriated to the Water Resource Protection and Sustainability Trust Fund for the purpose of providing a loan to implement Phase I of the C-

51 reservoir project.[17] The loan is required to have a 30-year term, may be prepaid at any time, and accrues interest until repayment. The loan is required to be repaid from the proceeds of the sale of unreserved capacity in the water storage facility, or other appropriate payment, at the time of receipt less reasonable expenses. The loan is secured by a first mortgage lien on the water storage facility and a collateral assignment of unreserved capacity as adequate security for the loan. The loan does not reserve for use by the state or the SFWMD any capacity authorized pursuant to the consumptive use permit for Phase I of the C-51 reservoir.[18]

Phase II of the C-51 reservoir project is authorized to be funded using Florida Forever bonds, pursuant to the water storage revolving loan fund, or as a project component of the Comprehensive Everglades Restoration Program pursuant to s. 375.041(3)(b)4., F.S.[19]

Restricted Allocation Areas

The term "restricted allocation area" is defined in s. 373.037, F.S., to mean an area within a water supply planning region of the Southwest Florida Water Management District, the South Florida Water Management District, or the St. Johns River Water Management District where the governing board of the water management district has determined that existing sources of water are not adequate to supply water for all existing and future reasonable-beneficial uses and to sustain the water resources and related natural systems for the planning period pursuant to ss. 373.036 and 373.709, F.S., and where the governing board of the water management district has applied allocation restrictions with regard to the use of specific sources of water.

Due to concerns regarding water availability, the SFWMD has declared the Lake Okeechobee Basin a restricted allocation area. Therefore, additional restrictions apply when allocating surface water derived from the Lake Okeechobee Waterbody for consumptive use within the Lake Okeechobee Basin. This rule is a component of the recovery strategy for minimum flows and levels for Lake Okeechobee, as set forth in Chapter 40E-8 of the Florida Administrative Code, to address lower lake management levels and storage under the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers' Lake Okeechobee Regulation Schedule.[20]

Another restricted allocation area within the SFWMD's planning region is the Lower East Coast Regional Planning Area. As a component of the recovery strategy for the minimum flows and levels for the Everglades and the Northwest Fork of the Loxahatchee River additional restrictions have been adopted for the permitted allocations of water use withdrawals. These restrictions assist in implementing the objective of the SFWMD to ensure that water necessary for Everglades restoration and the restoration of the Loxahatchee River Watershed is not allocated for consumptive use upon permit renewal or modification.[21]

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

The bill adds the phrase "to the extent practicable" to the requirement that the SFWMD operate the reservoir project to maximize the reduction of high-volume Lake Okeechobee regulatory releases to the St. Lucie or Caloosahatchee estuaries. The bill requires the operation of Phase I of the reservoir project to be in accordance with any operation and maintenance agreement adopted by the SFWMD. An agreement between the SFWMD and Palm Beach Aggregates, LLC, was adopted in February of 2017.

The bill requires that the water made available by Phase I or Phase II of the reservoir project must be used for natural systems in addition to any permitted, rather than allocated, amounts for water supply. The bill provides that water received from Lake Okeechobee may only be available to support consumptive use permits if such use is in accordance with the rules of the SFWMD.

The bill authorizes the SFWMD to enter into a capacity allocation agreement with a water supply entity for a pro rata share of unreserved capacity in the water storage facility and request the DEP to waive repayment of all or a portion of the loan issued through the water storage facility revolving loan fund pursuant to s. 373.475, F.S. The DEP may only authorize such waiver if, at its determination, it has received reasonable value for such waiver. The bill provides that the SFWMD is not responsible for repayment of any portion of a loan that is waived pursuant to this bill.

The bill takes effect July 1, 2018.

BILL ANALYSIS AND FISCAL IMPACT STATEMENT

(This document is based on the provisions contained in the legislation as of the latest date listed below.)

Prepared By: The Professional Staff of the Committee on Appropriations
BILL:	PCS/SB 1012 (291154)
INTRODUCER:	Appropriations Committee (Recommended by Appropriations Subcommittee on Transportation, Tourism, and Economic Development); and Senators Passidomo and Young
SUBJECT:	Alligator Alley Toll Road
DATE:	February 26, 2018 REVISED:

	ANALYST	STAFF DIRECTOR	REFERENCE	ACTION
1.	Price	Miller	TR	Favorable
2.	McAuliffe	Hrdlicka	ATD	Recommend: Fav/CS
3.	McAuliffe	Hansen	AP	Pre-meeting

I. Summary:

PCS/SB 1012 extends the statutory obligation of the Florida Department of Transportation (FDOT) to reimburse a county or another local governmental entity for the direct actual costs of operating the fire station at mile marker 63 on I-75/Alligator Alley (the Alley), currently set to expire on June 30, 2018. The bill requires the FDOT to make such reimbursement by interlocal agreement through June 30, 2021.

The bill also provides that all law enforcement officers on official law enforcement business are exempt from paying tolls on toll facilities. The bill defines "official law enforcement business."

The fiscal impact regarding the reimbursement by the FDOT for the costs of operating the fire station is indeterminate, but any FDOT expenditures will be based on an agreed-upon estimated schedule of such operational expenses incorporated into the required extended interlocal agreement.

The Revenue Estimating Conference reviewed the effect of a similar exemption from tolls for law enforcement vehicles (marked and unmarked vehicles) and estimated that the fiscal impact of the provision would be negative, but indeterminate, to the State Transportation Trust Fund, Turnpike trust funds, and local trust funds. State and local agencies with law enforcement traveling through toll facilities will have less expenditures.

The bill takes effect July 1, 2018.

II. Present Situation:

Fire Station 63 on I-75/Alligator Alley

Collier County provides fire, rescue, and emergency management services along the Alley through its dependent fire district, the Ochopee Fire Control and Rescue District, and the county's emergency medical services. These services are provided at a facility located at the FDOT's rest area on the Alley at mile marker 63 (MM63).[1]

Use of Alley Tolls to Fund Fire Station 63

Section 338.26, F.S., establishes the Alley as a toll road, because the construction of the road "contributed to the alteration of water flows in the Everglades and affected ecological patterns of the historical southern Everglades." The statute sets forth required uses of the fees generated from tolls for use of the Alley, which are deposited into the State Transportation Trust Fund. Fees must be used to reimburse outstanding contractual obligations and to operate and maintain the highway and toll facilities, including reconstruction and restoration.

Currently, related to the fire station on the Alley, the statute requires the fees to be used:

- To design and construct the fire station, which may be used by a county or other local governmental entity to provide the services to the public on the Alley; and
- To reimburse a county or other local governmental entity for the direct actual costs of operating the fire station, through an interlocal agreement effective July 1, 2014, to no later than June 30, 2018.[2]

Fees may also be transferred to the Everglades Trust Fund for certain environmental projects or may be pledged for revenue bonds or notes issued to pay for environmental projects in the area.

Upon termination of the interlocal agreement for the fire station, the FDOT would be authorized to use the fees for the other required or authorized uses described above.

Toll Revenues and Expenses

According to the FDOT's 2016 Annual Report for its Enterprise Toll Operations,[3] for Fiscal Year 2016-17 through 2020-21 the Alligator Alley will average $34.5 million in gross toll revenue each year with annual operating and maintenance expenses averaging $8.9 million and annual debt service payments averaging $3.45 million. The maintenance expenses include funding for rest area improvements, fire station operations, and interchange lighting projects.

The Interlocal Agreement for Fire Station 63

On May 9, 2014, the FDOT and the Board of Commissioners of Collier County entered into an interlocal agreement to provide the terms and conditions under which the FDOT would "provide funding to the County for the County's expenses in purchasing equipment, compensating County employees, and otherwise providing fire, rescue and emergency services utilizing the Fire Station."[4]

The FDOT included the fire station in its construction project when it rebuilt the rest area at MM63 and the fire station opened in early 2015.[5] The fire station was built "for the exclusive use of the County for the duration of this Agreement."[6] The FDOT owns the fire station and leases it to the County.[7] However, under the agreement, "all equipment, personal property, vehicles, apparatus and supplies acquired by County with funding provided by DEPARTMENT…shall remain the property of County, notwithstanding any termination of this Agreement."[8]

Funding in the Interlocal Agreement

For the term of the agreement, the FDOT agreed to provide a maximum of $1,761,235 for direct actual capital costs and a maximum of $1,498,100 for the county's direct actual costs of operating the fire station.[9] The county agreed to bear all expenses in excess of the FDOT's specified participation.[10] The agreed-upon funding includes various annual operating items such as hired paramedics and fire fighters; expenses for administrative and building maintenance; expenses for bulk fuel and various types of search and rescue equipment. Capital costs include items such as vehicles, radios, vehicles, and breathing air compressors.[11]

Information regarding the FDOT's Adopted Five-Year Work Program for 2014-2018 reflects the following funding for the MM63 fire station:[12]

Fiscal Year	Amount
2014	$1,761,235
2015	$1,498,100

Toll Exemptions

Section 338.155, F.S., requires the payment of tolls on toll facilities. However, the DOT may suspend tolls when necessary to assist in an emergency evacuation and the law provides the following exemptions:

- Employees of the agency operating the toll facility on official state business.
- State military personnel while on official military business.
- Certain disabled persons.
- Persons exempt from toll payment by the authorizing resolution for bonds issued to finance the toll facility.
- Persons exempt on a temporary basis when a toll facility is part of a detour route.
- Any law enforcement officer operating a marked official vehicle when on official law enforcement business.
- Any person operating a fire or rescue vehicle when on official business.
- Any person participating in the funeral procession of a law enforcement officer or firefighter killed in the line of duty.
- Any person driving a Department of Military Affairs automobile or other vehicle used for transporting military personnel, stores, and property that is properly identified.

For toll facilities managed by the DOT, the revenues of which are not pledged to repayment of bonds, the DOT is authorized to allow certain vehicles exemptions from the payment of tolls:[13]

- Public transit vehicles.[14]
- Vehicles participating in a funeral procession for an active-duty military service member.[15]
- Registered hybrid vehicles using high-occupancy-vehicle or express lanes.[16]

Toll Exemptions for Law Enforcement Marked Vehicles

According to the DOT, law enforcement agencies with marked vehicles submit a "SunPass Non-Revenue Account Application," in which the agency lists each marked vehicle that will have a non-revenue SunPass transponder along with certain identifying information regarding each vehicle. The agency representative attests that the vehicles listed on the application qualify for the toll exemption for marked law enforcement vehicles.[17]

Turnpike Bonds

Section 338.227, F.S., authorizes the DOT to borrow money as provided in the State Bond Act[18] to pay all or any part of the cost of any one or more legislatively approved turnpike projects. The principal of, and the interest on, these bonds is paid solely from revenues pledged for their payment.

In s. 338.229, F.S., in connection with the issuance of Turnpike bonds, the state agrees not to limit or restrict the rights vested in the DOT to establish and collect tolls for the use of the Turnpike System and to fulfill the terms of any agreements made with bondholders. The agreement includes not impairing the rights or remedies of the bondholders until the bonds, together with interest on the bonds, are fully paid and discharged.[19]

The DOT provided information about the Turnpike's master bond resolution under which the current Turnpike bonds were issued. The resolution contains the DOT's commitments regarding the funding and operation of the Turnpike System. The resolution is a contract with the bondholders and "may not be amended in any way that affects 'the unconditional promises of the Department to fix, maintain and collect tolls for the use of the Turnpike System' without consent of all the holders of outstanding Turnpike bonds."[20]

Additionally, the DOT states that the resolution includes a section in which the DOT agreed that it "shall not allow or permit any free use of the Toll roads of the Florida Turnpike, except to officials or employees of the Department whose official duties in connection with the Florida Turnpike require them to travel over the Florida Turnpike, or except as may be provided by laws in effect on the date of the adoption of this Resolution."[21]

Toll Exemptions under the Turnpike Bonds

The Turnpike bond resolution was adopted and restated on May 17, 2005. At that time, state law authorized the DOT to suspend tolls in the event of emergencies and included the enumerated exemptions discussed above in s. 338.155, F.S.[22]

Such provisions were also in place when bonds were sold for Alligator Alley in 2007.[23]

In 2008 and 2012, when additional toll exemptions were created they were limited to DOT managed toll facilities, whose revenues were not pledged to repayment of bonds. As discussed above, the DOT is authorized to exempt public transit vehicles, vehicles participating in a funeral procession for an active-duty military service member, and hybrid vehicles from paying tolls.

[18] Sections 215.57 – 215.83, F.S. Statutes creating the state's expressway and bridge authorities contain similar provisions. See ss. 348.0010, 348.64, 348.761, and 348.974, F.S.
[19] Statutes creating the state's expressway and bridge authorities contain similar provisions. See ss. 348.0010, 348.64, 348.761, and 348.974, F.S.

[23] Department of Transportation, 2018 Agency Legislative Bill Analysis: SB 356, Oct. 8, 2017.

Because the revenues of the Turnpike System are pledged to repayment of bonds, these provisions do not apply to the Turnpike System or Alligator Alley.[24]

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

Fire Station 63 on I-75/Alligator Alley

The bill amends s. 338.26(3)(a), F.S., to extend the date through which the FDOT is statutorily obligated to reimburse Collier County for the direct actual costs of operating the MM63 fire station to no later than June 30, 2021.

Toll Exemptions

The bill amends s. 338.155(1), F.S., exempting law enforcement officers while on official law enforcement business from paying tolls. "Official law enforcement business" includes, but is not limited to, patrol operations, investigative activities, crime prevention activities, or traffic operations. The bill also changes references to "handicapped persons" to "disabled persons" and makes other technical changes.

The bill takes effect on July 1, 2018.

IV. Constitutional Issues:

A. Municipality/County Mandates Restrictions:

None.

B. Public Records/Open Meetings Issues:

None.

C. Trust Funds Restrictions:

None.

D. Other Constitutional Issues:

Art. I, s. 10 of the State Constitution prohibits any law that would impair a contract. If a court determines that this bill impairs the master bond resolution of the Turnpike or Alligator Alley by exempting for law enforcement officers while on official law enforcement business from the payment of tolls, then such provisions of the bill may be found unconstitutional.

[24] Department of Transportation, 2018 Agency Legislative Bill Analysis: SB 356, Oct. 8, 2017.

V. Fiscal Impact Statement:

A. Tax/Fee Issues:

None.

B. Private Sector Impact:

None.

C. Government Sector Impact:

Fire Station 63 on I-75/Alligator Alley

The bill requires the FDOT to continue funding the County's direct actual costs of operating the MM63 fire station from the fees generated from tolls collected on the Alley through July 1, 2021. Under current law, the FDOT is authorized to use the fees for the other required or authorized uses described in the statute. The impact on toll bonds or other agreements is unknown at this time because the FDOT has not provided an analysis of the bill.

Collier County will receive funding for an additional three years for actual operating and capital costs related to the fire station, and thus will only have to expend county funds for expenses above the costs agreed to in the interlocal agreement. The exact amount of such funding is unknown but will likely be based on an agreed-upon estimated schedule of expenses incorporated into a new interlocal agreement or extension of the current interlocal agreement.

Toll Exemptions

On November 3, 2017, the Revenue Estimating Conference reviewed the effect of a similar exemption from tolls for law enforcement vehicles (marked and unmarked vehicles) and estimated that the fiscal impact of the provision would be negative, but indeterminate, to the State Transportation Trust Fund, Turnpike trust funds, and local trust funds.[25]

The Florida Department of Law Enforcement estimated that a similar bill could save the department about $80,000 annually in toll expenditures.[26] The Department of Highway Safety and Motor Vehicles estimated that a similar bill would have a minimal impact to the department.[27] Local law enforcement and other law enforcement agencies will likely experience similar reduced annual expenditures for tolls.

[25] Office of Economic and Demographic Research, Revenue Estimating Conference, Law Enforcement Exemption, HB 141, November 3, 2017, available at http://edr.state.fl.us/Content/conferences/revenueimpact/archives/2018/_pdf/page82.pdf (last visited Feb. 8, 2018). The conference methodology assumed that "[c]hanging the toll exemption from 'handicapped person' to 'person with a disability' will have no effect on eligibility."

[27] Department of Highway Safety and Motor Vehicles, 2018 Agency Legislative Bill Analysis: HB 141, Nov. 17, 2017.

VI. Technical Deficiencies:

None.

VII. Related Issues:

The DOT has stated that any risk of violating bondholder rights associated with the statutory change to the toll exemptions could be avoided by limiting the exemption to toll facilities managed by the DOT, the revenues of which are not pledged to the repayment of bonds.[28]

VIII. Statutes Affected:

This bill amends sections 338.26 and 338.155 of the Florida Statutes.

IX. Additional Information:

A. Committee Substitute – Statement of Changes:
(Summarizing differences between the Committee Substitute and the prior version of the bill.)

Recommended CS by Appropriations Subcommittee on Transportation, Tourism, and Economic Development on February 8, 2018:
The committee substitute:

- Exempts law enforcement officers on official law enforcement business from paying tolls on toll facilities.
- Defines "official law enforcement business," and changes references to "handicapped persons" in the toll exemption statute to "disabled persons," along with other technical changes.
- Restores current law which limits the I-75/Alligator Alley fire station's services to Alligator Alley.

B. Amendments:

None.

This Senate Bill Analysis does not reflect the intent or official position of the bill's introducer or the Florida Senate.

COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

CS/SB 1012 extends the statutory obligation of the Florida Department of Transportation (FDOT) to reimburse a county or another local governmental entity for the direct actual costs of operating the fire station at mile marker 63 on I-75/Alligator Alley (the Alley), currently set to expire on June 30, 2018. The bill requires the FDOT to make such reimbursement by interlocal agreement through June 30, 2019.

The bill also provides that a law enforcement officer operating an unmarked vehicle while on official law enforcement business is exempt from paying tolls on toll facilities. The bill defines "official law enforcement business."

The Miami-Dade Expressway Authority (MDX) is created pursuant to the Florida Expressway Authority Act. In 2017, the Legislature required MDX, subject to bond covenants, to reduce its tolls for qualifying SunPass users. The bill requires the MDX to submit to the Governor, by October 1, 2018, information regarding the toll reduction required in s. 348.0004, F.S. If the reduction has not taken place, then the existing board is dissolved effective October 31, 2018, and a new board must be appointed by that date

The fiscal impact regarding the reimbursement by the FDOT for the costs of operating the fire station is indeterminate, but any FDOT expenditures will be based on an agreed-upon estimated schedule of such operational expenses incorporated into the required extended interlocal agreement.

The Revenue Estimating Conference reviewed the effect of a similar exemption from tolls for law enforcement vehicles (marked and unmarked vehicles) and estimated that revenues would be reduced by an indeterminate amount for the State Transportation Trust Fund, Turnpike trust funds, and local trust funds. State and local agencies with law enforcement traveling through toll facilities will have less expenditures.

The bill takes effect July 1, 2018.

II. Present Situation:

Fire Station 63 on I-75/Alligator Alley

Collier County provides fire, rescue, and emergency management services along the Alley through its dependent fire district, the Ochopee Fire Control and Rescue District, and the county's emergency medical services. These services are provided at a facility located at the FDOT's rest area on the Alley at mile marker 63 (MM63).[1]

Use of Alley Tolls to Fund Fire Station 63

Section 338.26, F.S., establishes the Alley as a toll road, because the construction of the road "contributed to the alteration of water flows in the Everglades and affected ecological patterns of the historical southern Everglades." The statute sets forth required uses of the fees generated from tolls for use of the Alley, which are deposited into the State Transportation Trust Fund. Fees must be used to reimburse outstanding contractual obligations and to operate and maintain the highway and toll facilities, including reconstruction and restoration.

Currently, related to the fire station on the Alley, the statute requires the fees to be used:

- To design and construct the fire station, which may be used by a county or other local governmental entity to provide the services to the public on the Alley; and
- To reimburse a county or other local governmental entity for the direct actual costs of operating the fire station, through an interlocal agreement effective July 1, 2014, to no later than June 30, 2018.[2]

Fees may also be transferred to the Everglades Trust Fund for certain environmental projects or may be pledged for revenue bonds or notes issued to pay for environmental projects in the area.

Upon termination of the interlocal agreement for the fire station, the FDOT would be authorized to use the fees for the other required or authorized uses described above.

Toll Revenues and Expenses

According to the FDOT's 2016 Annual Report for its Enterprise Toll Operations,[3] for Fiscal Year 2016-17 through 2020-21 the Alligator Alley will average $34.5 million in gross toll revenue each year with annual operating and maintenance expenses averaging $8.9 million and annual debt service payments averaging $3.45 million. The maintenance expenses include funding for rest area improvements, fire station operations, and interchange lighting projects.

The Interlocal Agreement for Fire Station 63

On May 9, 2014, the FDOT and the Board of Commissioners of Collier County entered into an interlocal agreement to provide the terms and conditions under which the FDOT would "provide funding to the County for the County's expenses in purchasing equipment, compensating County employees, and otherwise providing fire, rescue and emergency services utilizing the Fire Station."[4]

The FDOT included the fire station in its construction project when it rebuilt the rest area at MM63 and the fire station opened in early 2015.[5] The fire station was built "for the exclusive use of the County for the duration of this Agreement."[6] The FDOT owns the fire station and leases it to the County.[7] However, under the agreement, "all equipment, personal property, vehicles, apparatus and supplies acquired by County with funding provided by DEPARTMENT…shall remain the property of County, notwithstanding any termination of this Agreement."[8]

Funding in the Interlocal Agreement

For the term of the agreement, the FDOT agreed to provide a maximum of $1,761,235 for direct actual capital costs and a maximum of $1,498,100 for the county's direct actual costs of operating the fire station.[9] The county agreed to bear all expenses in excess of the FDOT's specified participation.[10] The agreed-upon funding includes various annual operating items such as hired paramedics and fire fighters; expenses for administrative and building maintenance; expenses for bulk fuel and various types of search and rescue equipment. Capital costs include items such as vehicles, radios, vehicles, and breathing air compressors.[11]

Fiscal Year	Amount
2014	$1,761,235
2015	$1,498,100
2016	$1,522,070
2017	$1,522,070
2018	$1,498,100

Toll Exemptions

Section 338.155, F.S., requires the payment of tolls on toll facilities. However, the DOT may suspend tolls when necessary to assist in an emergency evacuation and the law provides the following exemptions:

- Employees of the agency operating the toll facility on official state business.
- State military personnel while on official military business.
- Certain disabled persons.
- Persons exempt from toll payment by the authorizing resolution for bonds issued to finance the toll facility.
- Persons exempt on a temporary basis when a toll facility is part of a detour route.
- Any law enforcement officer operating a marked official vehicle when on official law enforcement business.
- Any person operating a fire or rescue vehicle when on official business.
- Any person participating in the funeral procession of a law enforcement officer or firefighter killed in the line of duty.
- Any person driving a Department of Military Affairs automobile or other vehicle used for transporting military personnel, stores, and property that is properly identified.

For toll facilities managed by the DOT, the revenues of which are not pledged to repayment of bonds, the DOT is authorized to allow certain vehicles exemptions from the payment of tolls:[13]

- Public transit vehicles.[14]
- Vehicles participating in a funeral procession for an active-duty military service member.[15]
- Registered hybrid vehicles using high-occupancy-vehicle or express lanes.[16]

Toll Exemptions for Law Enforcement Marked Vehicles

According to the DOT, law enforcement agencies with marked vehicles submit a "SunPass Non-Revenue Account Application," in which the agency lists each marked vehicle that will have a non-revenue SunPass transponder along with certain identifying information regarding each vehicle. The agency representative attests that the vehicles listed on the application qualify for the toll exemption for marked law enforcement vehicles.[17]

Turnpike Bonds

Section 338.227, F.S., authorizes the DOT to borrow money as provided in the State Bond Act[18] to pay all or any part of the cost of any one or more legislatively approved turnpike projects. The principal of, and the interest on, these bonds is paid solely from revenues pledged for their payment.

In s. 338.229, F.S., in connection with the issuance of Turnpike bonds, the state agrees not to limit or restrict the rights vested in the DOT to establish and collect tolls for the use of the Turnpike System and to fulfill the terms of any agreements made with bondholders. The agreement includes not impairing the rights or remedies of the bondholders until the bonds, together with interest on the bonds, are fully paid and discharged.[19]

The DOT provided information about the Turnpike's master bond resolution under which the current Turnpike bonds were issued. The resolution contains the DOT's commitments regarding the funding and operation of the Turnpike System. The resolution is a contract with the bondholders and "may not be amended in any way that affects 'the unconditional promises of the Department to fix, maintain and collect tolls for the use of the Turnpike System' without consent of all the holders of outstanding Turnpike bonds."[20]

Additionally, the DOT states that the resolution includes a section in which the DOT agreed that it "shall not allow or permit any free use of the Toll roads of the Florida Turnpike, except to officials or employees of the Department whose official duties in connection with the Florida Turnpike require them to travel over the Florida Turnpike, or except as may be provided by laws in effect on the date of the adoption of this Resolution."[21]

Toll Exemptions under the Turnpike Bonds

The Turnpike bond resolution was adopted and restated on May 17, 2005. At that time, state law authorized the DOT to suspend tolls in the event of emergencies and included the enumerated exemptions discussed above in s. 338.155, F.S.[22]

[22] Department of Transportation, 2018 Agency Legislative Bill Analysis: SB 356, Oct. 8, 2017.

Such provisions were also in place when bonds were sold for Alligator Alley in 2007.[23]

In 2008 and 2012, when additional toll exemptions were created they were limited to DOT managed toll facilities, whose revenues were not pledged to repayment of bonds. As discussed above, the DOT is authorized to exempt public transit vehicles, vehicles participating in a funeral procession for an active-duty military service member, and hybrid vehicles from paying tolls. Because the revenues of the Turnpike System are pledged to repayment of bonds, these provisions do not apply to the Turnpike System or Alligator Alley.[24]

Miami-Dade County Expressway Authority

The Florida Expressway Authority Act (act), codified in part I of ch. 348, F.S.,[25] authorizes any county or two or more contiguous counties within a single DOT district to, by resolution adopted by the board of county commissioners, form an expressway authority, which must be an agency of the state.[26] The Miami-Dade Expressway Authority (MDX) was created in 1994, when the Miami-Dade County Commission adopted ordinance 94-215.[27] MDX is the only expressway authority created under the act. MDX's system consists of the following roadways in Miami-Dade County:

- Airport Expressway (SR 112);
- Dolphin Expressway (SR 836);
- Don Shula Expressway (SR 874);
- Snapper Creek Expressway (SR 878); and
- Gratigny Parkway (SR 924).

Section 348.0003, F.S., requires the governing body of the MDX to consist of 9 members:

- The district secretary of the affected DOT district as a voting member;
- Five voting members, two of which may be elected officials, appointed by the county commission; and
- Three voting members appointed by the Governor.

Section 348.0004, F.S., provides the purposes and powers of expressway authorities created under the act. Section 348.0004(2)(e), F.S., authorizes expressway authorities to fix, alter, charge, establish, and collect tolls, rates, fees, rentals, and other charges for the services and facilities system. The tolls, rates, fees, rentals, and other charges must always be sufficient to comply with any covenants made with the holders of any bonds issued pursuant to the act. However, such right and power may be assigned or delegated by the authority to the DOT.

2017 Legislation For MDX Toll Reduction

In 2017, the legislature amended s. 348.0004, F.S., to require the MDX, subject to compliance with any of its bond covenants, to reduce the toll charged on any of its toll facilities by at least 5 percent, but not more than 10 percent for each SunPass user having an account in good standing and the license plate of the vehicle incurring the toll registered to the SunPass account at the time the toll is incurred.[28] The MDX may not impose any additional conditions on a SunPass user to receive the reduced toll amount. Under s. 348.0010, F.S., the state agreed not to alter or limit the rights vested in an expressway authority and the rights of bondholders until all bonds are fully paid and discharged.

[24] Department of Transportation, 2018 Agency Legislative Bill Analysis: SB 356, Oct. 8, 2017.
[25] Part I of ch. 348, F.S., is comprised of ss. 348.0001 through 348.0012, F.S.

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

Fire Station 63 on I-75/Alligator Alley

The bill amends s. 338.26(3)(a), F.S., to extend the date through which the FDOT is statutorily obligated to reimburse Collier County for the direct actual costs of operating the MM63 fire station to no later than June 30, 2019.

Toll Exemptions

The bill amends s. 338.155(1), F.S., exempting law enforcement officers while on official law enforcement business from paying tolls. "Official law enforcement business" includes, but is not limited to, patrol operations, investigative activities, crime prevention activities, or traffic operations. The bill also changes references to "handicapped persons" to "disabled persons" and makes other technical changes.

Miami-Dade County Expressway Authority

The bill amends s. 348.0004(6), F.S., to require the MDX to submit to the Governor, by October 1, 2018, information regarding the toll reduction required in s. 348.0004, F.S. If the reduction has not taken place, then the existing board is dissolved effective October 31, 2018, and a new board must be appointed by that date.

The requirements for the appointment of members to the new board are the same as current requirements. However, except for the DOT district secretary, a person who was a member of the board as of October 1, 2018, may not be appointed to the new board.
The bill takes effect on July 1, 2018.

IV. Constitutional Issues:

A. Municipality/County Mandates Restrictions:

None.

B. Public Records/Open Meetings Issues:

None.

[28] Chapter 2017-182, L.O.F. Section 348.0004(6), F.S.

C. Trust Funds Restrictions:

None.

D. Other Constitutional Issues:

Article I, s. 10 of the State Constitution prohibits any law that would impair a contract. If a court determines that this bill impairs the master bond resolution of the Turnpike or Alligator Alley by exempting for law enforcement officers operating unmarked vehicles while on official law enforcement business from the payment of tolls, then such provisions of the bill may be found unconstitutional.

If a court determines that this bill impairs the rights of any bondholders of an expressway authority created under part I of ch. 348, F.S., by requiring the reduction of tolls for certain users of the road, then such provision of the bill may be found unconstitutional.

V. Fiscal Impact Statement:

A. Tax/Fee Issues:

None.

B. Private Sector Impact:

None.

C. Government Sector Impact:

Fire Station 63 on I-75/Alligator Alley

The bill requires the FDOT to continue funding the County's direct actual costs of operating the MM63 fire station from the fees generated from tolls collected on the Alley through July 1, 2019. Under current law, the FDOT is authorized to use the fees for the other required or authorized uses described in the statute. The impact on toll bonds or other agreements is unknown at this time because the FDOT has not provided an analysis of the bill.

Collier County will receive funding for an additional year for actual operating and capital costs related to the fire station, and thus will only have to expend county funds for expenses above the costs agreed to in the interlocal agreement. The exact amount of such funding is unknown but will likely be based on an agreed-upon estimated schedule of expenses incorporated into a new interlocal agreement or extension of the current interlocal agreement.

Toll Exemptions

On November 3, 2017, the Revenue Estimating Conference reviewed the effect of the exemption from tolls for law enforcement vehicles (marked and unmarked vehicles) and estimated that revenues would be reduced by an indeterminate amount for the State Transportation Trust Fund, Turnpike trust funds, and local trust funds.[29]

The Florida Department of Law Enforcement estimated that a similar bill could save the department about $80,000 annually in toll expenditures.[30] The Department of Highway Safety and Motor Vehicles estimated that a similar bill would have a minimal impact to the department.[31] Local law enforcement and other law enforcement agencies will likely experience similar reduced annual expenditures for tolls.

VI. Technical Deficiencies:

None.

VII. Related Issues:

The DOT has stated that any risk of violating bondholder rights associated with the statutory change to the toll exemptions could be avoided by limiting the exemption to toll facilities managed by the DOT, the revenues of which are not pledged to the repayment of bonds.[32]

VIII. Statutes Affected:

This bill amends the following sections of the Florida Statutes: 338.26, 338.155, and 348.0003.

IX. Additional Information:

A. Committee Substitute – Statement of Substantial Changes:
(Summarizing differences between the Committee Substitute and the prior version of the bill.)

CS by Appropriations on March 2, 2018:
The committee substitute exempts law enforcement officers operating unmarked vehciles while on official law enforcement business from paying tolls on toll facilities. The CS defines "official law enforcement business" and changes references to "handicapped persons" in the toll exemption statute to "disabled persons," along with other technical changes.

The CS removes the provision providing that toll reductions for SunPass users are subject to MDX's bond covenants. The CS instead requires the MDX to submit to the Governor, by October 1, 2018, information regarding the toll reduction required in s. 348.0004, F.S. If the reduction has not taken place, then the existing board is dissolved effective October 31, 2018, and a new board must be appointed by that date.

COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

CS/SB 1066 designates the portion of S.R. 464/Maricamp Road between S.E. 25th Avenue and S.E. 24th Street in Marion County as "Nelle W. Needham Memorial Highway," and the portion of S.R. 19 between Lane Park Cutoff Road and U.S. 441 in Lake County as "Sheriff Chris Daniels Memorial Highway." The bill directs the Florida Department of Transportation (FDOT) to erect suitable markers.

The estimated cost to the FDOT to install the designation markers required under this bill is $2,000.

The bill takes effect July 1, 2018.

II. Present Situation:

Transportation Facility Designations

Section 334.071, F.S., provides that legislative designations of transportation facilities are for honorary or memorial purposes, or to distinguish a particular facility. Such designations do not require any action by local governments or private parties regarding the changing of any street signs, mailing addresses, or 911 emergency telephone number system listings, unless the legislation specifically provides for such changes.[1]

[1] Section 334.071(1), F.S.

When the Legislature establishes road or bridge designations, the FDOT is required to place markers only at the termini specified for each highway segment or bridge designated by the law creating the designation, and to erect any other markers it deems appropriate for the transportation facility.[2]

The FDOT may not erect the markers for honorary road or bridge designations unless the affected city or county commission enacts a resolution supporting the designation. When the designated road or bridge segment is located in more than one city or county, each affected local government must pass resolutions supporting the designations before installation of the markers.[3]

Nelle W. Needham

Described as a champion for people with disabilities, Nelle W. Needham began working in 1959 with Advocacy Resource Center (ARC) Marion, then known as New Hope School and Opportunity Workshop. She was the first executive director, serving from 1964 through 1990. During her more than 30 years with ARC Marion, Ms. Needham was presented with numerous awards for her contributions to the community and the state, including the Exchange Club Book of Golden Deeds Award, the Ocala Jaycees Outstanding Citizen Award for Outstanding Contribution, the Humanitarian Award from the Ocala Jaycee-ettes, and the Jefferson Award from the State of Florida.[4]

Sheriff Chris Daniels

Sheriff Chris Daniels began his law enforcement career in 1977 as a dispatcher with the Lake County Sheriff's Office and progressed through the ranks until 2004, when he was elected Lake County Sheriff. Sheriff Daniels was involved in a fatal accident on October 14, 2006, during a charity fund raising event.[5]

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

The bill designates the portion of S.R. 464/Maricamp Road between S.E. 25th Avenue and S.E. 24th Street in Marion County as "Nelle W. Needham Memorial Highway," and the portion of S.R. 19 between Lane Park Cutoff Road and U.S. 441 in Lake County as "Sheriff Chris Daniels Memorial Highway." The bill directs the Florida Department of Transportation (FDOT) to erect suitable markers.

The bill takes effect July 1, 2018.

COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

CS/SB 1114 addresses licensing, registration, and regulatory requirements for various professions and occupations. The bill:

- Permits a person to submit a petition for declaratory statement to any Florida agency to determine the effect of a criminal background on his or her eligibility for occupational or professional licensure;
- Requires petitioners seeking a declaratory statement to pay a fee not to exceed $100 and the costs of state and federal fingerprint processing;
- Prohibits an agency from denying an application for licensure for certain professions if a specific duration has passed since the applicant's conviction;
- Creates a process for reviewing the criminal history of applicants for barber, cosmetology, certain construction contracting, and certified nursing assistant licenses;
- Specifies accommodations that an agency must make for applicants who are under confinement or supervision at the time of their application;
- Requires pertinent boards under the Department of Business and Professional Regulation (DBPR) to adopt rules that specify crimes that do or do not constitute grounds for licensure denial;
- Eliminates the current licensing required for business entities engaged in certain regulated professions (architecture and interior design, landscape architecture, and asbestos abatement consulting or contracting), while retaining the license required for individuals engaged in those professions;

- Provides that licensed individuals must apply for licensure and act as qualifying agents for business organizations to be licensed to engage in architecture and interior design, landscape architecture, or asbestos abatement consulting or contracting;
- Allows certain boxing match services to be practiced without a license (announcers and knockdown timekeepers);
- Revises the current license requirements for restricted barbers to specify:
  - The services that may and may not be provided by restricted barbers; and
  - A minimum of 325 training hours;
- Specifies license requirements for specialists in practices defined as "nail specialty," "facial specialty," and "full specialty;"
- Eliminates license and registration requirements for those who engage solely in:
  - Hair braiding, hair wrapping, or body wrapping; or
  - The polishing of nails or applying makeup;
- Eliminates registration requirements for labor organizations and licensing of labor organization business agents, while maintaining civil causes of action and criminal penalties; and
- Eliminates license requirement for yacht and ship brokers' branch offices.

The elimination of professional licensing requirements contained in the bill will reduce state government revenues deposited in the Professional Regulation Trust Fund by $815,130 in Fiscal Year 2018-2019, $422,505 in Fiscal Year 2019-2020, and $928,205 in Fiscal Year 2020-2021. In addition, state government revenues deposited in the Condominiums, Timeshares, and Mobile Homes Trust Fund will be reduced annually by $4,300 in Fiscal Year 2018-2019 through Fiscal Year 2020-2021. As a result, revenues transferred to the General Revenue Fund as the general revenue service charge will be reduced by $65,554 in Fiscal Year 2018-2019, $34,144 in Fiscal Year 2019-2020, and $74,600 in Fiscal Year 2020-2021.

The Bureau of Education and Testing (Bureau) in the DBPR also indicates that the bill will have a minimal impact on its workload, although some examination content may require updating; such updating is a part of the Bureau's standard procedure to address statutory changes. Government agencies that provide occupational or professional licenses may see an increase in workload related to an increase in submissions of petitions for declaratory statements.

Additionally, the agencies will likely have increased revenues associated with the declaratory statement petition fee of not more than $100. However, the fiscal impact on state government is indeterminate, because it is unknown how many people will request declaratory statements.

The bill takes effect July 1, 2018.

II. Present Situation:

Agency Declaratory Statements

The Administrative Procedure Act provides uniform procedures for agencies to exercise their authority, and is applicable to every Florida administrative agency.[1]

[1] See, ss. 120.50-120.515, F.S.

A declaratory statement is meant to "'enable members of the public to definitively resolve ambiguities of law arising in the conduct of their daily affairs or in the planning of their future affairs' and 'to enable the public to secure definitive binding advice as to the applicability of agency-enforced law to a particular set of facts.'"[2] A petition for declaratory statement must include a petitioner's specific set of circumstances and the applicable law, rule, or order he or she wishes to have interpreted in light of those circumstances.[3]

When a petitioner files a petition for a declaratory statement with an agency, the agency must file a notice of the petition in the next available issue of the Florida Administrative Register and transmit copies of the petition to the Joint Administrative Procedures Committee.[4] Within 90 days from the petition's filing, the agency must either issue a declaratory statement or deny the petition. The agency must give notice of its action in the next available issue of the Florida Administrative Register.[5]

Generally, an agency will only issue a declaratory statement on actions that will take place in the future.[6] However, the fact pattern must not be hypothetical so as to amount to a request for an advisory opinion regarding facts that are only 'contingent, uncertain, [and] rest in the future."[7]

Current law does not require a fee for filing a petition for declaratory statement with an agency.

Department of Business and Professional Regulation

Section 20.165, F.S., establishes the organizational structure of the Department of Business and Professional Regulation (DBPR or department), which has 12 divisions tasked with the regulation of several professions and businesses.[8]

Chapter 455, F.S., provides the general powers of the DBPR and sets forth the procedural and administrative framework for all of the professional boards housed under the DBPR as well as the Divisions of Certified Public Accounting, Professions, Real Estate, and Regulation.[9] The DBPR may engage in the regulation of professions "only for the preservation of the health, [4] Section 120.565(3), F.S. The Joint Administrative Procedures Committee (JAPC) is a joint standing committee of the Legislature created by Rule 4.1 of the Joint Rules of the Florida Legislature. It is composed of five Senators appointed by the President of the Senate and six Representatives appointed by the Speaker of the House. The primary function of JAPC is generally to review agency action pursuant to the operation of the Administrative Procedure Act in ch. 120, F.S., related to the rulemaking process, to ensure that rules adopted by the executive branch agencies do not create new law and stay within the authority specifically delegated to them by the Legislature.

- The potential for harming or endangering public health, safety, and welfare is recognizable and outweighs any anticompetitive impact that may result;
- The public is not effectively protected by other state statutes, local ordinances, federal legislation, or other means; and
- Less restrictive means of regulation are not available.[11]

However, "neither the department nor any board may create a regulation that has an unreasonable effect on job creation or job retention," or a regulation that unreasonably restricts the ability of those who desire to engage in a profession or occupation to find employment.[12]

When a person is authorized to engage in a profession or occupation in Florida, the DBPR issues a "permit, registration, certificate, or license" to the licensee.[13]

In Fiscal Year 2016-2017, there were 412,872 active licensees in the Division of Professions,[14] including:

- Architects and interior designers;
- Asbestos consultants and contractors;
- Athlete agents;
- Auctioneers;
- Barbers (19,098 active and 199 inactive);
- Building code administrators and inspectors;
- Community association managers;
- Construction industry contractors (71,818 active and 15,004 inactive);

DBPR must determine by rule the amount of license fees for each profession, based on estimates of the required revenue to implement the regulatory laws affecting the profession.[16]

Yacht and Ship Broker Branch Office Licenses

A person may not act as a yacht or ship broker or salesperson unless licensed under ch. 326, F.S.[17] The Yacht and Ship Broker's Section, a unit of the Division of Florida Condominiums, Timeshares and Mobile Homes of the DBPR,[18] requires each yacht or shipbroker to maintain a principal place of business in Florida. The yacht or shipbroker may maintain branch offices, but must obtain a separate license for each branch office, which requires a $100 application fee.[19] Applicants for a branch office license pay a $100 fee, and the license must be renewed every two years.[20]

Labor Organizations

The DBPR's Division of Regulation licenses and regulates labor organizations and related business agents pursuant to ch. 447, F.S.[21] A labor organization is an organization of employees that is recognized as a unit of bargaining by one or more employers in the state that deals with employers concerning employee's hours, pay, working conditions, and other grievances.[22]

A labor organization's business agent is a person who acts, for pecuniary or monetary gain, for any labor organization in:

- The issuance of membership or authorization cards, work permits, or any other evidence of rights granted or claimed in, or by, a labor organization; and
- Soliciting or receiving from any employer any right or privilege for employees."[23]

A labor organization's business agents must be licensed by the DBPR.[24] Business agent license applicants must pay a $25 license fee and meet a number of licensure requirements.[25]

Asbestos Abatement Business Organizations

The Asbestos Licensing Unit licenses and regulates asbestos abatement pursuant to ch. 469, F.S.; it also responds to consumer complaints and inquiries by monitoring activities and compliance within the asbestos abatement industry.[26] The Asbestos Licensing Unit operates under the DBPR's Division of Professions.

Only licensed asbestos contractors may perform asbestos abatement,[27] unless exempted.[28] A person must be a licensed asbestos consultant to:

- Conduct an asbestos survey;
- Develop an operation and maintenance plan;
- Monitor and evaluate asbestos abatement; or
- Prepare asbestos abatement specifications.[29]

An asbestos abatement professional applicant must either be currently licensed as an architect, professional engineer, or professional geologist; be a diplomat of the American Board of Industrial Hygiene; or have been awarded designation as a Certified Safety Professional by the Board of Certified Safety Professionals.[30]

If an applicant wishes to consult or contract on asbestos abatement under any name other than his or her legal name, then the applicant must apply for licensure under the fictitious name.[31] Similarly, a business organization must apply for licensure as an asbestos abatement consultant or contractor through a qualifying agent who is licensed under ch. 469, F.S. The qualifying agent must have authority to supervise the enterprise, and be financially responsible for the business.[32] The business organization licensee must consistently maintain a qualifying agent.[33]

Applicants for an asbestos abatement business license pay an application fee of $300, an unlicensed activity fee of $5, an initial licensure fee of $250, and a biennial renewal fee of $250.[34]

Barbering

The term "barbering" in ss. 476.014 through 476.254, F.S., (the Barbers' Act) includes any of the following practices when done for payment: shaving, cutting, trimming, coloring, shampooing, arranging, dressing, curling, or waving the hair or beard or applying oils, creams, lotions, or other preparations to the face, scalp, or neck, either by hand or by mechanical appliances.[35]

An applicant for licensure as a barber must pass an examination. To be eligible to take the examination, the applicant must:

- Pay the application fee; and
- Have held an active valid license in another state for at least one year,[36] or have a minimum of 1,200 hours of specified training.[37]

Alternatively, a person may apply for and receive a "restricted license" to practice barbering, which authorizes the licensee to practice only in areas in which he or she has demonstrated competency pursuant to rules of the Barbers' Board.[38]

Nail and Facial Specialists, Hair Braiders, Hair Wrappers, and Body Wrappers

Chapter 477, F.S., governs the licensing and regulation of cosmetologists, hair braiders, hair wrappers, nail specialists, facial specialists, full specialists, body wrappers, and related salons in the state. The Board of Cosmetology, within the DBPR's Division of Professions, processes license applications, reviews disciplinary cases, and conducts informal administrative hearings relating to licensure and discipline.[39]

Individuals are prohibited from providing manicures, pedicures, or facials without first becoming licensed as a cosmetologist or registered as a nail specialist, facial specialist, or full specialist.[40] The application of polish to fingernails and toenails is considered manicuring, even though the individual is not cutting, cleansing, adding, or extending the nails.[41] Therefore, a registration as a specialist or licensure as a cosmetologist is required to apply polish to fingernails and toenails for compensation.

A "specialist" is "any person holding a specialty registration in one or more of the specialties registered under [ch. 477, F.S.]."[42] The term "specialty" is defined as "the practice of one or more of the following:

- Manicuring, or the cutting, polishing, tinting, coloring, cleansing, adding, or extending of the nails, and massaging of the hands. This term includes any procedure or process for the affixing of artificial nails, except those nails which may be applied solely by use of a simple adhesive.
- Pedicuring, or the shaping, polishing, tinting, or cleansing of the nails of the feet, and massaging or beautifying of the feet.
- Facials, or the massaging or treating of the face or scalp with oils, creams, lotions, or other preparations, and skin care services."[43]

A nail specialist may complete manicures and pedicures, and a full specialist may complete manicures, pedicures, and facials.[44] Manicures and pedicures, as a part of cosmetology services, are required to be provided in a licensed specialty salon or cosmetology salon.[45] All cosmetology and specialty salons are subject to inspection by the DBPR.[46]

An applicant for a specialist license must:
- Be at least 16 years of age;
- Obtain a certificate of completion from an approved specialty education program; and
- Submit an application for registration to the DBPR with the registration fee.[47]

A "cosmetologist" is a person who is licensed to engage in the practice of cosmetology.[48] "Cosmetology" is "the mechanical or chemical treatment of the head, face, and scalp for aesthetic rather than medical purposes, including, but not limited to, hair shampooing, hair cutting, hair arranging, hair coloring, permanent waving, and hair relaxing for compensation. This term also includes performing hair removal, including wax treatments, manicures, pedicures, and skin care services."[49]

Certain persons who apply cosmetic products (makeup) are exempt from ch. 477, F.S., under limited conditions, including application of such products in photography studio salons, in connection with certain retail sales, or during the production of qualified films.[50] In addition, persons who provide makeup in a theme park or entertainment complex to actors and others or the general public are exempt from licensing requirements.[51]

An applicant for a cosmetologist license must pass a licensure examination and:
- Be at least 16 years of age;
- Have a high school diploma;
- Submit an application with the applicable fee and examination fee; and
- Be licensed in another state or country for at least one year, or received 1,200 hours training, including completion of an education at an approved cosmetology school or program.[52]

DBPR's Division of Professions, processes license applications, reviews disciplinary cases, and conducts informal administrative hearings relating to licensure and discipline.[53]

The practice or offering of architectural or interior design services to the public through certain business organizations is authorized for:

- Licensees acting through a corporation, limited liability company, or partnership; or
- A corporation, limited liability company, or partnership acting through licensees as agents, employees, officers, or partners.[54]

A certificate of authorization is required to practice or provide architecture or interior design services to the public.[55]Applicants for an architecture business certificate of authorization or interior design business certificate of authorization must pay an application fee of $100, an unlicensed activity fee of $5, and a biennial renewal fee of $125.[56] A business entity has no regulatory obligations other than to obtain licensure.

According to the DBPR, during the past four fiscal years through Fiscal Year 2016-2017, the Board of Architecture and Interior Design disciplined licensed architecture businesses only six times in cases that did not also involve discipline against the supervising architect. In most cases, the licensed business was cited for operating without a supervising architect or for failure to include license numbers in advertisements.[57]

The Board of Architecture and Interior Design disciplined licensed interior design businesses only five times during the past four fiscal years through Fiscal Year 2016-2017, in cases that did not also involve discipline against the qualifying interior designer.[58]

Landscape Architecture Business Organization

The Board of Landscape Architecture, under the DBPR's Division of Professions, processes license applications, reviews disciplinary cases, and conducts informal administrative hearings relating to licensure and discipline.[59]

A person may not knowingly practice landscape architecture[60] unless the person holds a valid license issued pursuant to ch. 481, Part II, F.S.[61] A corporation or partnership is permitted to offer landscape architectural services to the public, subject to the provisions of ch. 481, Part I, F.S., if:

- One or more of the principals of the corporation, or partners in the partnership, is a licensed landscape architect;
- One or more of the officers, directors, or owners of the corporation, or one of more of the partners of the partnership is a licensed landscape architect; and
- The corporation or partnership has been issued a certificate of authorization by the board.[62]

Applicants for a landscape architecture business certificate of authorization must pay an application fee and initial licensure fee of $450, an unlicensed activity fee of $5, and a biennial renewal fee of $337.50.[63] A business entity has no regulatory obligations other than to obtain licensure and notify the DBPR within one month of any change in the information contained in its license application.[64]

State Boxing Commission

Chapter 548, F.S., provides for the regulation of professional and amateur boxing, kickboxing,[65] and mixed martial arts[66] by the Florida State Boxing Commission (commission), which is assigned to the DBPR for administrative and fiscal purposes.[67]

The commission has exclusive jurisdiction over every boxing, kickboxing, and mixed martial arts match held in Florida,[68] which involves a professional.[69] Professional matches held in Florida must meet ch. 548, F.S.'s requirements, and the rules adopted by the commission.[70] Chapter 548, F.S., does not apply to certain professional or amateur "martial arts," such as karate, aikido, judo, and kung fu; the term "martial arts" is distinct from and does not include "mixed martial arts."[71]

[60] The term "landscape architecture" includes but is not limited to the determination of building siting, drainage, and contouring of land and water forms, and other activities including design in connection with land development for the preservation, conservation, enhancement, or determination of proper land uses, natural features, or naturalistic and aesthetic values. See s. 481.303(6)(a)-(d), F.S., relating to the professional services included in landscape architecture.

[71] See s. 548.007(6), F.S., and see supra note 78 for the definition of "mixed martial arts."

However, as to amateur matches, the commission's jurisdiction is limited to the approval, disapproval, suspension of approval, and revocation of approval of all amateur sanctioning organizations for amateur boxing, kickboxing, and mixed martial arts matches held in Florida.[72] Amateur sanctioning organizations are business entities organized for sanctioning and supervising matches involving amateurs.[73] During Fiscal Year 2016-2017, of the 164 amateur events in Florida, the Division of Regulation in the DBPR conducted 26 checks for compliance with health and safety standards and proper supervision of the events.[74]

Under current law, a participant, manager, trainer, second, timekeeper, referee, judge, announcer, physician, matchmaker, or promoter who provides services for a boxing, kickboxing, or mixed martial arts match must be licensed by the commission.[75]

Construction Contracting Professionals

The Construction Industry Licensing Board (CILB) within the DBPR is responsible for licensing and regulating the construction industry in this state under part I of ch. 489, F.S.[76] The CILB is divided into two divisions with separate jurisdictions:

- Division I comprises the general contractor, building contractor, and residential contractor members of the CILB. Division I has jurisdiction over the regulation of general contractors, building contractors, and residential contractors.
- Division II comprises the roofing contractor, sheet metal contractor, air-conditioning contractor, mechanical contractor, pool contractor, plumbing contractor, and underground utility and excavation contractor members of the CILB. Division II has jurisdiction over the regulation of roofing contractors, sheet metal contractors, class A, B, and C air-conditioning contractors, mechanical contractors, commercial pool/spa contractors, residential pool/spa contractors, swimming pool/spa servicing contractors, plumbing contractors, underground utility and excavation contractors, solar contractors, and pollutant storage systems contractors.

A specialty contractor's scope of work and responsibility is limited to a particular phase of construction as detailed in an administrative rule adopted by the CILB. Jurisdiction is dependent on the scope of work and whether Division I or Division II has jurisdiction over such work in accordance with the applicable administrative rule.[77]

The Electrical Contractors' Licensing Board (ECLB) within the DBPR is responsible for licensing and regulating electrical contractors in this state under part II of ch. 489, F.S.[78]

Construction contractors under part I of ch. 489, F.S., and electrical contractors under part II of ch. 489, F.S., must satisfactorily complete a licensure examination before being licensed.[79]

Master septic tank contractors and septic tank contractors are regulated by the DBPR under part III of ch. 489, F.S. Septic tank contractors must pass an examination and register with the DBPR before engaging in the occupation.[80] A master septic tank contractor must have at least three years' experience as a registered septic tank contractor or a plumbing contractor certified under part I of ch. 489, F.S., who has provided septic tank contracting services for at least three years.

The CILB and the ECLB may deny a license application for any person who it finds guilty of any of the grounds for discipline set forth in s. 455.227(1), F.S., or set forth in the profession's practice act.[81] Specifically, the CILB may deny a license application for any person having been convicted or found guilty of, or entering a plea of guilty or nolo contendere to, regardless of adjudication, a crime in any jurisdiction which directly relates to the practice of, or the ability to practice, a licensee's profession.[82]

The CILB and the ECLB may also deny a registration application under s. 455.227, F.S., which authorizes the denial of a license on the basis of a criminal background related to the practice of, or the ability to practice, a profession.[83]

To be eligible for registration by the DBPR, master septic tank contractors and septic tank contractors must be of good moral character. In considering good moral character, the DBPR may consider any matter that has a substantial connection between the good moral character of the applicant and the professional responsibilities of a registered contractor, including, but not limited to:

> the applicant being convicted or found guilty of, or entering a plea of nolo contendere to, regardless of adjudication, a crime in any jurisdiction which directly relates to the practice of contracting or the ability to practice contracting…[84] (Emphasis added.)

The DBPR may also deny a registration application under s. 455.227, F.S., which authorizes the denial of a license on the basis of a criminal background related to the practice of, or the ability to practice, a profession.[85]

Chapter 489, F.S., does not specifically require the DBPR, the CILB, or the ECLB to consider the passage of time since the disqualifying criminal offense before denying or granting a license or registration.

Licensing and Criminal Background

Section 112.011, F.S., outlines general guidelines for considering criminal convictions during licensure determinations. Generally, a person may be denied a professional license based on his or her prior conviction of a crime if the crime was a felony or first-degree misdemeanor that is directly related to the standards determined by the regulatory authority to be necessary and reasonably related to the protection of the public health, safety, and welfare for the specific profession for which the license is sought.[86] Notwithstanding any law to the contrary, a state agency may not deny an application for a license based solely on the applicant's lack of civil rights.[87]

DBPR

The regulatory boards of the DBPR, or the department if there is no board, may deny a license application for any person who it finds guilty of any of the grounds for discipline set forth in s. 455.227(1), F.S., or set forth in the profession's practice act.[88] Specifically, the regulatory board, or the department if there is no board, may deny a license application for any person having been:

> convicted or found guilty of, or entering a plea of guilty or nolo contendere to, regardless of adjudication, a crime in any jurisdiction which relates to the practice of, or the ability to practice, a licensee's profession.[89] (Emphasis added.)

Section 455.227, F.S., does not specifically require the DBPR or the applicable regulatory board to consider the passage of time since the disqualifying criminal offense before denying or granting a license.

Department of Health

The Department of Health (DOH) or an applicable board may deny the licensure of any applicant who has been "convicted of or pled guilty or nolo contendere to, regardless of adjudication, any felony or misdemeanor related to the practice of a health care profession regulated by this state"[90] or related to certain types of fraud,[91] or for other reasons in the applicable practice act.

[91] Section 456.0635, F.S.

There are no statutory provisions of rules that prohibit individuals from applying for licensure while they are still incarcerated or under some form of supervised release.[92]

Certified Nursing Assistants

The Board of Nursing within the DOH is responsible for licensing and regulating the certified nursing assistants (CNA) under part II of ch. 464, F.S.[93] In Fiscal Year 2015-2016, there were 146,495 active certified nursing assistants.[94]

The "practice of a certified nursing assistant" means:

> providing care and assisting persons with tasks relating to the activities of daily living. Such tasks are those associated with personal care, maintaining mobility, nutrition and hydration, toileting and elimination, assistive devices, safety and cleanliness, data gathering, reporting abnormal signs and symptoms, postmortem care, patient socialization and reality orientation, end-of-life care, cardiopulmonary resuscitation and emergency care, residents' or patients' rights, documentation of nursing-assistant services, and other tasks that a certified nurse assistant may perform after training beyond that required for initial certification and upon validation of competence in that skill by a registered nurse.[95]

The definition of "practice of a certified nursing assistant" does not restrict a person who is otherwise trained and educated from performing the tasks specified in the definition.[96]

To be certified in Florida, a person must have a high school diploma, or its equivalent; or be at least 18 years of age, and pass a nursing assistant competency examination. Alternatively, a person may be certified in Florida if he or she is certified by another state and has not been found to have committed abuse, neglect, or exploitation in that state.[97]

The qualifications for certification as a CNA do not specifically refer to a person's criminal background, but an applicant must pass a background screening pursuant to s. 400.215, F.S., which requires the personnel of nursing homes and related healthcare facilities to pass a level two background screening, or s. 408.809, F.S.[98] The background screening must be completed every 5 years following licensure, employment, or entering into contract in a capacity that requires background screening.[99]

Level two background screening ensures that a subject of the screening has not been arrested for, is not awaiting final disposition of, has not been found guilty of, regardless of adjudication, or not entered a plea of nolo contendere or guilty to, or has been adjudicated delinquent and the record has not been sealed or expunged for, any of the 52 prohibited offenses.[100] The prohibited offenses include violent crimes, property crimes, and sexual offenses.[101]

In addition to the crimes specified under s. 435.04, F.S., a CNA may not have a felony record for certain specified felony financial crimes, including Medicaid fraud and forgery.[102]

A level two background screening includes fingerprinting for statewide criminal history records checks through the Florida Department of Law Enforcement (FDLE) and national criminal history checks through the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI), and may include local criminal records checks through local law enforcement agencies. Once the background screening is complete, and the FDLE receives the information from the FBI, the criminal history information is transmitted to the DOH. The DOH determines if the screening contains any disqualifying information for employment.

If a person is disqualified from employment due to failing the required background screening, the DOH may grant an exemption from disqualification for:

- Felonies for which at least three years have elapsed since the applicant for the exemption has completed or been lawfully released from confinement, supervision, or nonmonetary condition imposed by the court for the disqualifying felony;
- Misdemeanors prohibited under any of the statutes cited in this chapter or under similar statutes of other jurisdictions for which the applicant for the exemption has completed or been lawfully released from confinement, supervision, or nonmonetary condition imposed by the court;
- Offenses that were felonies when committed but that are now misdemeanors and for which the applicant for the exemption has completed or been lawfully released from confinement, supervision, or nonmonetary condition imposed by the court; or
- Findings of delinquency.[103]

However, if the disqualifying crime committed while the applicant was a delinquent would be considered a felony if committed by an adult, and the record has not been sealed or expunged, the DOH may not grant an exemption until at least three years have elapsed since the applicant's completion or lawful release from confinement, supervision, or nonmonetary condition imposed by the court for the offense.[104]

An applicant who seeks an exemption must first pay any court-ordered amount for any fee, fine, fund, lien, civil judgment, application, costs of prosecution, trust, or restitution as part of the judgment and sentence for the disqualifying crime.[105]

However, the DOH may not grant an exemption to an individual who is found guilty of, regardless of adjudication, or who has entered a plea of nolo contendere or guilty to, any felony covered by s. 435.03 or s. 435.04, F.S., solely by reason of any pardon, executive clemency, or restoration of civil rights.[106]

An exemption may also not be granted to anyone who is a sexual predator, career offender, or sexual offender (unless not required to register).[107] The agency may not grant an exemption from disqualification to persons with a criminal history that includes other violent felonies, crimes against children, and sex-related crimes, such as felony domestic violence, luring or enticing a child, sexual battery, child pornography, and child abuse.[108]

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

Declaratory Statements

Section 1 amends s. 120.565, F.S., to create a new declaratory statement process that permits a person who desires to become licensed in a state-regulated profession or occupation to obtain a binding determination of whether his or her criminal conviction or sanction will prevent such licensure, registration, or certification in the profession or occupation.

A person may seek the agency's opinion prior to the person possessing the training or education required for the license, registration, or certificate in the profession or occupation. Additionally, he or she may request the agency's determination while still under criminal confinement or supervision.

The petition may include mitigating factors or other information the petitioner believes relevant to establish the petitioner's eligibility, including, but not limited to:

- The time elapsed since completion of or lawful release from confinement, supervision, or nonmonetary condition imposed by the court for a disqualifying offense; and
- The petitioner's standing in his or her community.

The agency's declaratory statement must further indicate:

- If an agency's determination of disqualification as a result of criminal background may be reversed based on evidence of rehabilitation or mitigation; and
- Whether any federal laws or regulations or any conditions imposed by the court on the petitioner may impede his or her licensure, registration, or certification in the profession or occupation.

The agency's conclusion is binding on the agency as to the petitioner, but any subsequent criminal history may form an independent basis for denial of licensure, registration, or certification.

An agency may require a petitioner to submit the following with his or her petition for declaratory statement:

[106] See s. 435.07(4)(a), F.S
[107] See s. 435.07(4)(b), F.S.
[108] See s. 435.07(4)(c), F.S.

- A fee of not more than $100;
- A certified copy of each criminal judgment rendered against the petitioner;
- A complete set of fingerprints; and
- A fingerprint processing fee.

The agency must submit the fingerprints to the Florida Department of Law Enforcement (FDLE) for a state criminal history record check and the FDLE must forward the fingerprints to the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) for a national criminal history record check.

Licensing Deregulation

Yacht and Ship Broker Branch Office Licenses

Section 2 amends s. 326.004, F.S., to remove the requirement that a yacht or ship broker obtain separate licenses for each branch office. Current provisions related to licensing for yacht brokers and salespeople are retained.

Labor Organizations

Sections 3 - 11 amend Part I of ch. 447, F.S., to eliminate the registration and regulation of labor organizations and their business agents by the Department of Business and Professional Regulation (DBPR) and the requirement that the Public Employees Relations Commission notify the DBPR of registrations and renewals of such organizations. Provisions relating to the right to work and strike, recordkeeping, rights of franchise for labor organizations, civil causes of action, criminal penalties, and recognition of federal regulations are not affected by the bill.

Asbestos Abatement Business Organizations

Sections 15 and 16 amend ch. 469, F.S., to require an applicant seeking to engage in asbestos abatement as a business organization, or in any name other than the applicant's legal name, to apply for licensure under the name of the business organization. However, the issued license must be in the name of the qualifying agent, and the name of the qualified business organization must be noted on the license. In addition, the bill makes conforming changes associated with qualification of business organizations by licensed qualifying agents.

Barbering

Section 17 amends s. 476.034. F.S., to define the terms "restricted barber" and "restricted barbering." Restricted barbers are licensed to perform, for payment by the public, hair cutting and styling, full facial shaves, mustache and beard trimming, and shampooing, conditioning and blow drying hair; restricted barbers may apply only hair tonics and hair spray and may not apply other chemical preparations or solutions to hair.

Section 18 amends s. 476.114, F.S., to reduce the minimum training hours from 1,200 hours to 325 hours for restricted barbers. The bill specifies the content of the training must be in "sanitation, safety, and laws and rules."

The bill provides an applicant for a restricted barber license must also be at least 16 years of age, pay the application fee, and pass an examination. To be eligible to take the examination, an applicant for restricted barbering must have held an active valid license in another state for at least one year,[109] or have a minimum of 325 hours of training.[110]

Section 19 repeals current law (s. 476.144(6)(b), F.S.) limiting the practice of a restricted license to areas in which the licensee has demonstrated competency.

Nail and Facial Specialists, Hair Braiders, Hair Wrappers, and Body Wrappers

Section 20 amends s. 477.013, F.S., to specify the activities that constitute the practice of a "nail specialty," a "facial specialty," and a "full specialty." A nail specialty, includes:

- Manicuring, or the cutting, polishing, tinting, coloring, cleansing, adding, or extending of the nails, and massaging of the hands, including any procedure for the affixing of artificial nails, except those that are affixed solely by a simple adhesive; and
- Pedicuring, or the shaping, polishing, tinting, or cleansing of the nails of the feet, and massaging or beautifying of the feet.

A facial specialty includes facials, or the massaging or treating of the face or scalp with oils, creams, lotions, or other preparations, and skin care services. A full specialty includes all manicuring, pedicuring, and facial services.

The bill expands the definition of "hair braiding" to include the weaving of natural human hair with commercial hair, and the use of hair extensions or wefts.[111] Under current law, the use of hair extensions or wefts is excluded from "hair braiding."

Section 21 repeals s. 477.0132, F.S., eliminating registration requirements for hair braiding, hair wrapping, and body wrapping, and requirements that those registrants take specified courses approved by the Board of Cosmetology.

The bill repeals the requirements that persons whose practice is confined solely to:

- Hair braiding take an approved two-day, 16-hour course consisting of five hours of HIV/AIDS and other communicable diseases, five hours of sanitation and sterilization, four hours of disorders and diseases of the scalp, and two hours of studies regarding laws affecting hair braiding.
- Hair wrapping take an approved one-day, six-hour course consisting of education in HIV/AIDS and other communicable diseases, sanitation and sterilization, disorders and diseases of the scalp, and studies regarding laws affecting hair wrapping.
- Body wrapping (unless otherwise licensed or exempt from licensing) take an approved two-day, 12-hour course consisting of education in HIV/AIDS and other communicable diseases, sanitation and sterilization, disorders and diseases of the skin, and studies regarding laws affecting body wrapping.

[109] Licensure by endorsement may also allow a practitioner holding an active license in another state or country to qualify for licensure in Florida. See s. 476.144(5), F.S.

[110] The training must include, but is not limited to the completion of services directly related to the practice of restricted barbering at a licensed school of barbering, a public school barbering program, or a government-operated barbering program in Florida.

[111] A 'weft" of hair is a long curtain of hair that has a seam at the top and is found on wigs and hair extensions. Vogue Wigs, What is a Weft?, https://www.voguewigs.com/what-is-a-weft.html (last visited Feb. 7, 2018).

Additionally, the bill repeals s. 477.0132(2), F.S., which provides that:

- Hair braiding, hair wrapping, and body wrapping are not required to be practiced in a cosmetology salon or specialty salon; and
- Disposable implements must be used, or all implements must be sanitized in a disinfectant approved for hospital use or approved by the Federal Environmental Protection Agency, when hair braiding, hair wrapping, or body wrapping is practiced outside a cosmetology salon, or specialty salon.

Section 22 amends s. 477.0135, F.S., to eliminate licensure or registration requirements for a person whose occupation or practice is confined solely to hair braiding, hair wrapping, body wrapping, applying polish to fingernails and toenails, or makeup application. The bill also eliminates a current exemption for certain continuing education requirements.

Section 23 deletes s. 477.019(7), F.S., relating to an exemption from continuing education requirements for hair braiders, hair wrappers, and body wrappers.

Section 24 amends s. 477.0201, F.S., on specialist registration, to include registrations for nail, facial, and full specialty practices, and minimum training requirements. As in current law, applicants for any specialist registration must be at least 16 years of age or have received a high school diploma. Training requirements, with a primary focus on sanitation and safety, and completion of services directly related to the particular specialty registration being sought, include a minimum of:

- 150 hours, for a nail specialty practice (current requirement is 240 hours);
- 165 hours, for a facial specialty practice (current requirement is 260 hours); and
- 300 hours for a full specialty practice (current requirement is 500 hours).[112]

Similar to the current law requirement for registration in a specialty within the practice of cosmetology,[113] completion of services directly related to each specialty must be received from specified types of schools or specialty programs.

Sections 25 - 27 make conforming changes to ch. 477, F.S., to reflect the deregulation of hair braiders, hair wrappers, and body wrappers.

Architecture or Interior Design Business Organizations

Sections 28 - 31 amend ch. 481, F.S., to remove the requirement that architects and interior designers obtain a separate business license (certificate of authorization) in addition to an individual license. Architects and interior designers must qualify, or associate, their business organizations with their individual license; they must also disclose any fictitious names under which they operate.

[112] See http://www.myfloridalicense.com/dbpr/pro/cosmo/documents/cosmo_faq.pdf at page 3 (Question 8) (last visited Feb. 7, 2018) and Department of Business and Professional Regulation, SB 526 Bill Analysis, p. 3 (Nov. 3, 2017) (on file with Senate Committee on Regulated Industries).

[113] See s. 477.0201(1)(b), F.S.

Architects and interior designers who act as qualifying agents must inform the DBPR of any change in their relationship with a business, and if the qualifying agent is the business' only qualifying agent, the business must obtain a replacement within 60 days. A business without a qualifying agent may not engage in the practice of architecture or interior design, unless the executive director or chair of the Board of Architecture and Interior Design authorizes another registered architect or interior designer employed by the business organization to temporarily serve as its qualifying agent for no more than 60 days.

The bill amends s. 481.219(2)(b), F.S., to provide that the Board of Architecture and Interior Design may deny an application to qualify a business organization if the applicant (or others identified in the application as partners, officers, directors, or stockholders who are also officers or directors) "has been involved in past disciplinary actions or on any grounds for which an individual registration may be denied."

Landscape Architecture Business Organization

Sections 32 - 37 amend Part II of ch. 481, F.S., to remove the requirement that landscape architects obtain a separate business license (certificate of authorization) in addition to an individual license. A landscape architect must qualify its business organizations by associating it with an individual license, and must disclose operations under a fictitious name.

The bill repeals the Board of Landscape Architecture's ability to grant a temporary certificate of authorization for a business organization that seeks to work on one project in Florida for a period not to exceed one year to an out-of-state corporation, partnership, or firm.

The bill repeals the DBPR's authority to issue a certificate of authorization to an applicant who wishes to practice as a corporation or partnership that offers landscape architectural services. The bill provides that a corporation or partnership is not required to obtain a certificate of authorization to offer its services to the public, but must:

- Have one or more of the principals of the corporation, or partners in the partnership, and all of the personnel of the business organization who act in its behalf as landscape architects as landscape architects; and
- One or more of the officers, directors, or owners of the corporation, or one or more of the partners of the partnership is a registered landscape architect has applied to be the qualifying agent for the business organization.

Landscape architects who operate under a corporation or partnership must file the names and addresses of specific persons responsible for the business with the DBPR. Such business organizations must also inform the DBPR of any change of the information in its license application, and of the termination of an employee within one month after the termination.

The bill eliminates a duplicate requirement in s. 481.319(5), F.S., for disciplinary action against a corporation or partnership to be administered similar to disciplinary action against a registered landscape architect. Under current law, practicing landscape architecture through a corporation or partnership does not relieve a landscape architect from personal liability for professional acts, unless otherwise agreed to by contract.[114] According to the DBPR, the Board of Landscape Architecture has issued no disciplinary orders against landscape architecture businesses during the past four fiscal years through Fiscal Year 2016-2017.[115]

State Boxing Commission

Sections 39 and 40 amend s. 548.017, F.S., to eliminate the licensure requirement for persons serving as timekeepers and announcers for a match. The bill also amends s. 548.003(2)(i), F.S., to make conforming changes by deleting a reference to a "knockdown timekeeper." In Fiscal Year 2016-2017, the Division issued licenses to 13 announcers and six timekeepers.[116]

Conforming Revisions

Section 38 amends s. 287.055, F.S., the Consultants' Competitive Negotiation Act, to conform cross references in the definition of "design-build firm." The bill substitutes the term "qualified" for "certified," in references to entities practicing architecture or landscape architecture. See also Sections 29 and 35.

Licensing and Criminal Background

Sections 12 - 14 create a process for reviewing the criminal history of applicants for specified professions or occupations regulated by the DBPR and the Department of Health (DOH).

The bill amends s. 455.213, F.S., dealing with the general licensing provisions of the DBPR, and s. 464.203, F.S., dealing with the certification requirements for certified nursing assistants under the DOH.

The license application review process in the bill applies to the following professions and occupations:

- Certified Nursing Assistants.
- Barbers.
- Cosmetologists and cosmetology specialists (i.e., hair braiders, hair wrappers, and body wrappers).
- Construction Professionals:
  - Electrical contractors;
  - Alarm system contractors;
  - Septic tank contractors;
  - Swimming pool and spa contractors;
  - Sheet metal contractors;
  - Roofing contractors;
  - Air-conditioning contractors;
  - Mechanical contractors;
  - Plumbing contractors;
  - Underground utility and excavation contractors;

- Solar contractors;
- Pollutant storage systems contractor; and
- Other specialty contractors whose scope of work and responsibility is limited to a particular phase of construction, e.g. drywall, glazing, swimming pool excavation, etc.

The process created in the bill:

- Permits a person to apply for a license while under criminal confinement (incarceration) or supervision.
- Limits the period during which the agency may consider criminal history as an impairment to licensure to five years from the date of the criminal conviction for barbers, cosmetologists, and certain contractors, or seven years for certified nursing assistants.
- Requires each agency to identify by rule the crimes that do not impair a person's qualifications for licensure.
- Requires each agency to identify by rule the crimes that do impair a person's qualifications for licensure.
- Requires an agency to permit applicants who are incarcerated or under supervision to appear by teleconference or video conference at a meeting of a board or the agency for a hearing concerning the person's license application.
- Requires the Department of Corrections to cooperate and coordinate with the board or department, as applicable, to facilitate the appearance of the applicant at the hearing in person, by teleconference, or by video conference, as appropriate.

However, as required under current law, the DOH must deny a certified nursing assistant application, if the applicant has a criminal history of more than seven years from the date of the application and the criminal history includes a violent felony, crime against children, or sexual offense identified in s. 435.07(4), F.S.

Effective Date

Section 41 provides the bill takes effect July 1, 2018.

IV. Constitutional Issues:

A. Municipality/County Mandates Restrictions:

None.

B. Public Records/Open Meetings Issues:

None.

C. Trust Funds Restrictions:

None.

V. Fiscal Impact Statement:

A. Tax/Fee Issues:

According to the Department of Business and Professional Regulation (DBPR), the bill will result in a reduction of license fees, license renewal fees, and unlicensed activity fees paid by the private sector of approximately $814,130 in Fiscal Year 2018-2019, $421,505 in Fiscal Year 2019-2020, and $927,205 in Fiscal Year 2020-2021.[117]

The Division of Condominiums, Timeshares, and Mobile Homes (Yacht and Ship Brokers) of the DBPR estimates that the bill will result in a reduction of license and license renewal fees paid by the private sector of approximately $4,300 in Fiscal Year 2018-2019, $4,300 in Fiscal Year 2019-2020, and $4,300 in Fiscal Year 2020-2021.[118]

The DBPR estimates that the bill will result in a reduction of license and license renewal fees paid by the private sector to the Florida State Boxing Commission of approximately $1,000 in Fiscal Year 2018-2019, $1,000 in Fiscal Year 2019-2020, and $1,000 in Fiscal Year 2020-2021.[119]

B. Private Sector Impact:

The bill repeals licensing requirements for certain professions. According to the DBPR, the bill will result in a reduction in license fees, license renewal fees, and unlicensed activity fees paid by the private sector of approximately $814,130 in Fiscal Year 2018-2019, $421,505 in Fiscal Year 2019-2020, and $927,205 in Fiscal Year 2020-2021.[120]

Labor organizations, pugilistic announcers, pugilistic timekeepers, hair braiders, hair wrappers, body wrappers, nail painters, and makeup artists will no longer need to pay costs associated with professional licensure.

Nail specialists, facial specialists, full specialists, and restricted barber applicants will require less training to obtain licensure, which may lead to a reduced training cost.

Persons who submit a petition for a declaratory statement from an agency to determine whether the petitioner's criminal history affects the person's eligibility for a license, registration, or certificate, must pay a filing fee not to exceed $100 for the petition and the actual cost of state and federal processing related to the criminal background check. However, such individuals may also forego certain unnecessary schooling, training, or application costs, depending on the agency's determination.

[120] See Department of Business and Professional Regulation, CS/SB 526 Bill Analysis, p. 6 (Feb. 7, 2018) (on file with Senate Subcommittee on General Government).

C. Government Sector Impact:

According to the DBPR, the elimination of professional licensing requirements contained in the bill will reduce state government revenues deposited in the Professional Regulation Trust Fund by $815,130 in Fiscal Year 2018-2019, $422,505 in Fiscal Year 2019-2020, and $928,205 in Fiscal Year 2020-2021. In addition, state government revenues deposited in the Condominiums, Timeshares, and Mobile Homes Trust Fund will be reduced annually by $4,300 in Fiscal Year 2018-2019 through Fiscal Year 2020-2021. As a result, revenues transferred to the General Revenue Fund as the general revenue service charge[121] will be reduced by $65,554 in Fiscal Year 2018-2019, $34,144 in Fiscal Year 2019-2020, and $74,600 in Fiscal Year 2020-2021.[122]

The Bureau of Education and Testing (Bureau) in the DBPR also indicates that the bill will have a minimal impact on its workload, although some examination content may require updating; such updating is a part of the Bureau's standard procedure to address statutory changes.[123]

Government agencies that provide occupational or professional licenses may see an increase in workload related to an increase in submissions of petitions for declaratory statements. Additionally, the agencies will likely have increased revenues associated with the declaratory statement petition fee of not more than $100. However, the fiscal impact on state government is indeterminate, because it is unknown how many people will request declaratory statements.

VI. Technical Deficiencies:

The bill provides new licensure requirements for "restricted barbers" but does not amend a provision in s. 476.144(6), F.S., which refers to a "restricted license to practice barbering." It is unclear whether that "restricted license" applies to a "barber" or a "restricted barber."

VII. Related Issues:

It is unclear how an agency should proceed if presented with a petition for declaratory statement as described in the bill by a petitioner whose criminal charges have not yet been resolved by a court action, settlement, or other action. It would be difficult for an agency to render an opinion based on hypothetical information.

This bill contains provisions of CS/SB 526, which were amended into the bill in the Commerce and Tourism Committee meeting on February 6, 2018.

[121] A service charge of eight percent is appropriated from revenue income deposited in specified trust funds, representing the estimated pro rata share of the cost of general government. See s. 215.20(1), F.S., relating to the service charge. Section 455.116, F.S., lists the seven trust funds in the DBPR, including the Professional Regulation Trust Fund and the Division of Florida Condominiums, Timeshares, and Mobile Homes Trust Fund, which receive revenues from fees paid by licensees in the professions and occupations affected by CS/SB 526.

120.565 Declaratory statement by agencies.—

(4)(a) Any person may seek a declaratory statement regarding an agency's opinion as to the effect of the petitioner's criminal background on his or her eligibility for a specific occupational or professional license, registration, or certificate issued by the agency based on the applicable statutes and rules for the occupation or profession. The petition may include mitigating factors or other information the petitioner believes relevant to establish the petitioner's eligibility, including, but not limited to, the time elapsed since completion of or lawful release from confinement, supervision, or nonmonetary condition imposed by the court for a disqualifying offense, and the petitioner's standing in his or her community. A person may seek a declaratory statement under this subsection before attaining any education, training, experience, or other prerequisites for the license, registration, or certification.

(b) The agency's conclusion in the declaratory statement must indicate whether:

1. The petitioner is disqualified from obtaining the license, registration, or certification due to the petitioner's criminal background, regardless of the petitioner's education, training, experience, or other prerequisites required for the license, registration, or certification.

2. The petitioner is not eligible for a specified occupational or professional license, registration, or certification because of his or her criminal background, but that the conclusion may be reversed upon the petitioner's presentation of evidence of rehabilitation or mitigation identified by the agency in the declaratory statement at any time subsequent to the issuance of the declaratory statement.

3. Federal laws or regulations may impede the petitioner's licensure, registration, or certification in the profession or occupation.

4. Conditions or restrictions imposed by the court on the petitioner for a disqualifying offense may impede the petitioner's licensure, registration, or certification in the profession or occupation.

(c) The agency's conclusion in the declaratory statement shall be binding on the agency as to the petitioner, unless the petitioner's subsequent criminal history constitutes an independent basis for denial of the petitioner's application for a license, registration, or certification in the profession or occupation. The agency's conclusion is subject to judicial review pursuant to s. 120.68.

(d) A person seeking a declaratory statement under this subsection must submit to the agency, in addition to the petition for a declaratory statement:

1. A fee set by the agency not to exceed $100;

2. A certified copy of each criminal judgment rendered against the petitioner; and
