4. Project/Program Description

Since its inception in 1947, WCIND has never owned a facility to meet its operational needs. The district has operated out of rented space (including hotel rooms) or has purchased existing buildings designed for other purposes. Due to its age and spatial limitations, the current office facility is no longer adequate to meet the operational needs of the district. The current building used by WCIND was constructed in 1965 as a print shop. Any district board meeting, regional training, and state required public meetings must be held in rented or borrowed space subject to availability. Elements of the new facility include: office space for current employees and future growth, meeting space for trainings and regional meetings, public meeting space for district board meetings, and regional training meetings. The building will be designed and outfitted with state-of-the-art technology to facilitate enhanced communications with the district's member counties and regional partners.
