12. Program Performance

a. What specific purpose or goal will be achieved by the funds requested?

The renovation and adaptive re-use of this 122-year-old building is faithful to the mission of the Jacksonville Historical Society: to strengthen citizenship by engaging and educating Jacksonville's people about their history, through preserving and sharing the evidence of the city's past, and by advocating the value of historic preservation, which strengthens economic growth. In particular, the building will house the archives and exhibits of the Jacksonville Area Music Museum, as well as host public educational programming relating to Jacksonville. In 2022, Jacksonville's Bicentennial year, the Jacksonville Historical Society is reaching more citizens and stakeholders than ever before in the organization's 93-year existence.

b. What activities and services will be provided to meet the intended purpose of these funds?

The funds used to complete the renovation and adaptive re-use of the building will establish a unique educational venue for Jacksonville's music history. The building will also house the ever-growing principal archival repository for Duval County. The Jacksonville Historical Society's archives are particularly valuable because no other organization or institution serves all of Duval County's public history needs, and no municipal public archives exist. The Jacksonville Historical Society's archival collections, which include the Florida Times-Union's photograph library, will enable researchers to locate, identify, interpret, preserve, and share Jacksonville's rich history and to share aspects of Jacksonville's history with the programming of educational events. Revenue from event space rentals will help ensure the building remains well-maintained for decades to come.

c. What direct services will be provided to citizens by the appropriation project?

Projected visitation (local and non-local) plus virtual engagement: all citizens of the state are invited to avail themselves of the historic resources available in the archive, especially educators, historians, students, and media, to name a few. Monthly programming could be projected to accommodate 400-500 visitors depending on the frequency of programs. Visitors to the archive could add another couple hundred or more on a monthly basis.

e. What is the expected benefit or outcome of this project? What is the methodology by which this outcome will be measured?

Increased visitation to Jacksonville, stimulation of downtown Jacksonville redevelopment, greater engagement by Jacksonville's people with the city's history, more effective delivery of local history education. Visitor logs and event attendance will be tracked and monitored.
