I. FINAL ACTION STATUS:

On May 11, 1999, HB 125 was approved by the Governor, and became Chapter 99-146, Laws of Florida.

II. SUMMARY:

HB 125 would require a subordinate officer, deputy sheriff, or police officer to resign effective upon qualifying for public office against his or her incumbent superior who has sought reelection. If the subordinate officer, deputy sheriff, or police officer is seeking public office but not against his or her superior, that subordinate officer, deputy sheriff, or police officer must take a leave of absence without pay during the period of his or her candidacy.

This bill has a minimal fiscal impact on the Department of State.

HB 125 provides an effective date of upon becoming a law.

III. SUBSTANTIVE ANALYSIS:

A. PRESENT SITUATION:

The Resign-to-Run Law codified in section 99.012, F.S., requires an officer of the state to resign his or her position if the terms of the office currently held and that of the office sought overlap. The resignation is irrevocable and must be submitted at least 10 days prior to the first day of the qualifying period for the office sought. The resignation must be effective no later than the earlier of the following: 1) The date the officer would take office; or 2) The date the officer's successor is required to take office.

An exemption is provided in subsection (5) of section 99.012, F.S., for a deputy sheriff, police officer, or subordinate officer. These officers need not resign unless they are seeking to qualify for a public office which is currently held by an individual who has the authority to appoint, employ, promote, or otherwise supervise that person and such individual has qualified for reelection to that office. In this instance, the competing officer would be required to resign his or her position effective as noted above.

Subsection 99.012(5), F.S., further provides that a deputy sheriff, police officer, or subordinate officer who qualifies for public office other than against an individual who has the authority to appoint, employ, promote, or otherwise supervise that person is required to take a leave of absence without pay upon qualifying for elective office.

However, the Division of Elections has interpreted this provision to provide that a subordinate officer, deputy sheriff, or police officer who is a candidate for an office other than that sought by his or her incumbent superior, may choose to either take a leave of absence or resign under the provisions of this section. Division of Elections Opinion, 90-12. Therefore, a subordinate officer, deputy sheriff, or police officer who is a candidate for public office other than against an incumbent superior, may file a letter of resignation that is effective on the day that the person would take office if elected and continue to work in that department while continuing to campaign. Under this ruling such an officer is not required to take a leave of absence. This opinion of the Division of Elections has been followed by at least one District Court of Appeals in Florida. Gonzalez v. Vogel, 616 So. 2d 473 (Fla. 2d DCA 1993).

B. EFFECT OF PROPOSED CHANGES:

HB 125 requires a person who is a subordinate officer, deputy sheriff, or police officer to resign effective upon qualifying if the officer is a candidate for a public office which is currently held by that officer's superior and who is running for reelection.

The requirements with respect to a leave of absence are clarified but remain the same.
