

By Representative Bloom

1 A bill to be entitled
2 An act relating to the official census of 3 Florida; amending s. 11.031, F.S.; establishing 4 the federal decennial census determined by the 5 use of modern statistical methods as the 6 official census of the state; providing that 7 all acts of the Legislature based upon
8 population and all constitutional
9 apportionments and congressional redistrictings
10 shall be based upon such census; providing for 11 effect with respect to prior enacted
12 legislation affecting counties within a stated
13 population bracket; amending s. 1.01, F.S.; 14 revising a provision relating to construction
15 of the statutes, to conform; providing an 16 effective date.

17
18 WHEREAS, a complete and accurate count of all persons
19 in the United States of America is vital to the interests of 20 the people of the State of Florida, and

21 WHEREAS, past censuses have been significantly
22 inaccurate despite the good faith efforts of the United States
23 Census Bureau and its personnel, and

24 WHEREAS, the United States Government asked the National 25 Academy of Sciences to devise a method for conducting the 2000
26 census that would be more accurate and the National Academy 27 has done so, and

28 WHEREAS, the last federal decennial census conducted in 29 1990 was the first census that was less accurate than its 30 predecessor, and

31

1 WHEREAS, recent federal decennial censuses, including 2 the 1990 census, significantly undercounted millions of 3 Americans and overcounted millions of others, and 4 WHEREAS, the Census Bureau has reported that the 1990
5 census undercounted 8.4 million persons and overcounted 4.4
6 million others, and
7 WHEREAS, out of the net 4 million undercount in the 8 1990 census, more than half were children, and 9 WHEREAS, the undercount has had a disproportionate
10 impact on the African-American, Hispanic-American, 11 Asian-American, and Native American populations, and 12 WHEREAS, the 1990 census was recognized as not living 13 up to American goals of fairness and equality due to the 14 racial differential, and
15 WHEREAS, the Census Bureau has initiated plans to 16 conduct the 2000 federal decennial census using modern 17 statistical methods that will produce a more accurate count of 18 the nation's population, and
19 WHEREAS, the Supreme Court has rendered a decision that 20 the Census Act enacted by Congress prohibits the use of the 21 modern statistical methods for the purpose of allocating 22 Congressional Representatives among the states, but the 23 court's decision recognized that the Census Act requires 24 sampling methods for all nonreapportionment purposes, and 25 WHEREAS, intrastate redistricting and the allocation of 26 federal funds are two such nonreapportionment purposes, and 27 WHEREAS, the use of traditional methods in conducting 28 the census affected state finances, because many federal grant 29 programs use census data to calculate allocations of funds to 30 the states, and
31

1 WHEREAS, nearly $220 million in additional federal 2 funds would have been shifted from programs and services in 3 other states to their counterparts here in the State of 4 Florida if the more accurate, modern statistical census
5 methods had been employed in the 1990 census instead of the 6 traditional methods, and

7 WHEREAS, the use of modern statistical methods will 8 result in a more accurate count of the population and thus the 9 greater allotment of federal grant funds distributed to the 10 State of Florida than if traditional, inaccurate methods are 11 used to conduct the 2000 census, and

12 WHEREAS, the traditional methods of conducting the 13 census not only will be less accurate than the modern 14 statistical methods developed by the National Academy of 15 Sciences, but the traditional methods also will be less
16 accurate regardless of the amount of funds Congress allocates
17 to conduct the 2000 census using such traditional methods,
18 NOW, THEREFORE,
