I. Summary:

Senate Joint Resolution 244 removes language from the Florida Constitution which disqualifies a convicted felon from being eligible to vote until his or her civil rights are restored; it replaces that language with a requirement that the person's right to vote has been restored, as provided by law. Senate Bill 246, the implementing bill for the constitutional amendment proposed in SJR 244, provides that the right to vote is automatically restored by operation of law one year after the date of completion and satisfaction of all non-monetary components of a convicted felon's sentence, unless a majority of the members of the Board of Executive Clemency object.

This joint resolution proposes an amendment to Art. VI, section 4, of the Florida Constitution.

II. Present Situation:

The restoration of the civil rights of a convicted felon, which includes the right to register to vote, is a form of executive clemency --- a power granted by the Florida Constitution to the Governor with the consent of at least three members of the Cabinet. Art. IV, s. 8(a), Fla. Const. The Florida Constitution specifically bars any person convicted of a felony from being qualified to vote or hold office until that person's civil rights have been restored. Art. VI, s. 4(a), Fla. Const. Florida Statutes implement the constitutional bar against felons voting by providing that any person convicted of a felony who has not had his or her right to vote restored pursuant to law may not register or vote. s. 97.041(2)(b), F.S. (1999).

In contrast, the majority of states automatically restore a convicted felon's right to vote upon release from imprisonment or completion of the sentence ---major states such as California, New York, Texas, Ohio, Pennsylvania, and Georgia.

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

Senate Joint Resolution 244 removes the constitutional bar in Article VI, Section 4, disqualifying a convicted felon from being eligible to vote until his or her civil rights have been restored. It replaces it with a requirement that the person's right to vote has been restored, as provided by law. Under this joint resolution, a person would still be required to have his or her civil rights restored in order to hold office.

The joint resolution is to be implemented through Senate Bill 246, which amends a provision of Florida Statutes addressing qualifications to register to vote. Senate Bill 246 maintains current law by disqualifying persons convicted of a felony from being eligible to register or vote while incarcerated or otherwise under supervision or control. However, Senate Bill 246 provides that the right to vote is automatically restored one year after the date of completion and satisfaction of all non-monetary components of the sentences imposed, unless a majority of the members of the Board of Executive Clemency object. If a majority of the Board does object, the convicted felon must petition the Board for restoration of the right to register or vote.
