I. SUMMARY:

The bill makes the following changes to current law regarding the intangible personal property tax:

- ! The intangible tax rate is lowered from one mill to 0.5 mills.
- ! To retain the inducement for investing in the Florida's Future Investment funds, the intangible tax rate for investment in the funds is lowered from 0.85 mills to 0.43 mills when the average daily balance in the funds exceeds $2 billion and from 0.70 mills to 0.35 mills when the average daily balance exceeds $5 billion.

The total estimated fiscal impact for this bill is ($229.2) million for FY 01-02 and ($272.4) million for FY 02-03 to the General Revenue Fund.

B. PRESENT SITUATION:

The Legislature enacted Chapter 199, F.S., to implement the separate intangible tax system. It is a tax on "all personal property which is not in itself intrinsically valuable, but which derives its chief value from that which it represents." Taxable intangible personal property includes, among other things, stocks, bonds, notes, other obligations to pay money, and accounts receivable. Until 1931, intangible property was assessed and taxed as part of the mass of property subject to ad valorem property taxes levied by local governments.

The intangible tax is paid annually and is based on the value of assets as of January 1. The return is due by June 30, with discounts for early payment. The tax is paid by all "persons" (natural and non-natural), which include any individual, firm, partnership, joint adventure, syndicate, or other group or combination acting as a unit, association, corporation, estate, trust, business trust, trustee, personal representative, receiver, or other fiduciary, unless such persons are exempted from the tax. The tax must be paid by all corporations that own, control, or manage intangible personal property that has a taxable situs (location) within the state.

The tax rate is capped at 2 mills by Article VII, Section 2, of the Florida Constitution. The current tax rate is one mill ($1.00 per $1,000 of value).

The intangible tax rate was increased from 1 mill to 1.5 mills in 1990 and increased to two mills in 1992. The rate was lowered from two mills to 1.5 mills in 1999, and further lowered from 1.5 mills to one mill in 2000.

Chapter 98-132, L.O.F., exempted from intangible tax one-third of the value of accounts receivables. In 1999, the exemption for accounts receivables was increased to two-thirds. Accounts receivables were completely exempted per Ch. 2000-173, L.O.F. The term "accounts receivables" is defined as "a business debt which is owed by another to the taxpayer or the taxpayer's assignee in the taxpayer's ordinary course of trade or business and is not supported by negotiable instruments." Accounts receivables include, but are not limited to, credit card receivables, charge card receivables, credit receivables, margin receivables, inventory or other floor plan financing, lease payments past due, conditional sales contract, retail installment sales agreements, financing lease contracts and a claim against a debtor usually arising from sales or services rendered and which is not necessarily due or past due. The exemption does not apply to accounts receivables which arise outside the taxpayer's ordinary course of trade or business.

The taxable situs of intangible personal property is defined at s. 199.175(1), F.S., which states that:

"Intangible personal property shall have a taxable situs in this state when it is owned, managed, or controlled by any person domiciled in this state on January 1 of the tax year. Such intangibles shall be subject to annual taxation under this chapter, unless the person who owns, manages, or controls them is specifically exempt or unless the property is specifically exempt. This provision shall apply regardless of where the evidence of the intangible property is kept; where the intangible is created, approved, or paid; or where business may be conducted from which the intangible arises. The fact that a Florida corporation owns the stock of an out-of-state corporation and manages and controls such corporation from a location in this state shall not operate to give a taxable situs in this state to the intangibles owned by the out-of-state corporation, which intangibles arise out of business transacted outside this state.

(a) For the purposes of this chapter, "any person domiciled in this state" means:

1. Any natural person who is a legal resident of this state;
2. Any business, business trust as described in Chapter 609, company, corporation, partnership, or other artificial entity organized or created under the law of this state, except a trust; or
3. Any person, including a trust, who has established a commercial domicile in this state."

Last year, the Legislature passed CS/HB 67, and the following provisions are now enumerated in Ch. 2000-173, L.O.F.:

The reference to AFlorida-situs trust@was removed, and trustees are exempt from paying intangible personal property tax and are exempt from all the requisite filing requirements. With regard to a Florida resident with a Abeneficial interest@in a trust, the requirement that the trust situs be outside the state was removed. Accordingly, any Florida resident with a Abeneficial interest@in a trust, irrespective of whether the location of the trust is inside or outside of Florida, is responsible for paying any annual tax. As a result, intangible personal property taxes are no longer imposed upon intangible personal property owned by a non-resident simply because the property is managed or controlled by a person domiciled in Florida.

Banks or savings associations acting as a fiduciary or agent of a trust, other than as a trustee, are no longer required to pay annual tax on the trust, and the management or control of the bank or savings association may not be used as a basis for imposing annual tax on any person or on the assets of the trust. An agent, other than a trustee, who manages or controls intangible personal property will still be required to pay the annual tax out of the trust if the principal fails to do so.

A trust commercially domiciled in the state is now excluded from the payment of annual intangible personal property tax.

The sharing of intangible tax revenues with the counties was repealed, and now an additional 2.25 percent of the available proceeds shall be transferred from sales and use tax collections to the Revenue Sharing Trust Fund for Counties. The amount of sales and use tax proceeds distributed to the Local Government Half-cent Sales Tax Clearing Trust Fund for the emergency distribution was increased from 0.054 percent to 0.065 percent.

Section 218.25, F.S., was amended to add additional assurances to holders of bonds issued before April 18, 2000, which are secured by the guaranteed entitlement or second guaranteed entitlement for counties, or bonds issued to refund such bonds which mature no later than the bonds that they refunded and which result in a reduction of debt service payable in each fiscal year. The intent of the Legislature is that, to the extent the elimination of tax sources dedicated to funding the guaranteed entitlement or the second guaranteed entitlement for counties or a reduction in the rate of assessment of such taxes results in an inability of a county to pay debt service on such bonds, the Legislature will provide alternative funding sources in an amount sufficient to pay any deficit in the amount required for such debt service. This commitment of the Legislature is contingent on the county first using any funds available under Part II of Ch. 218, F.S., for the payment of such debt service.

C. EFFECT OF PROPOSED CHANGES:

The bill makes the following changes to current law regarding the intangible personal property tax:

- ! The intangible tax rate is lowered from one mill to 0.5 mills.
- ! To retain the inducement for investing in the Florida's Future Investment funds, the intangible tax rate for investment in the funds is lowered from 0.85 mills to 0.43 mills when the average daily balance in the funds exceeds $2 billion and from 0.70 mills to 0.35 mills when the average daily balance exceeds $5 billion.

D. SECTION-BY-SECTION ANALYSIS:

Section 1 amends s. 199.032, F.S., to lower the intangible tax rate from one mill to 0.5 mills.

Section 2 amends s. 199.933(1), F.S., to lower the intangible tax rate for investment in the Florida's Future Investment funds from 0.85 mills to 0.43 mills when the average daily balance in the funds exceeds $2 billion and from 0.70 mills to 0.35 mills when the average daily balance exceeds $5 billion.

Section 3 provides that the Act shall take effect January 1, 2002, and shall apply to tax years beginning on or after that date.
