I. SUMMARY:

This legislation authorizes the Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services (department) to establish, by rule, requirements for aircraft used in the aerial application of pesticides, fertilizers and/or seed. Such requirements may include record keeping, annual aircraft registration, secure storage when not in use, area-of-application information, and reporting of any sale, lease, purchase, rental, or transfer of such aircraft to another person.

The bill also provides for the department to establish, by rule, requirements for the secure storage of pesticides and fertilizers.

In addition, the bill requires the department to report to the President of the Senate and Speaker of the House of Representatives on the implementation of rules authorized by this act. The bill also directs the Office of Program and Policy Analysis and Government Accountability to review the cost of implementation of rules adopted by the Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services to the aerial application industry pursuant to this legislation and report said findings to the President of the Senate and Speaker of the House of Representatives by January 1, 2003.

For any principle that received a "no" above, please explain:

Less Government: The bill requires that more detailed information be supplied by persons requesting certain information regarding aerial applicators.

B. PRESENT SITUATION:

Chapter 388 authorizes the Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services (department) to control arthropods, such as mosquitoes, to protect human health, promote the economic development to the state, and facilitate the enjoyment of its natural attractions by reducing the number of pestiferous and disease-carrying arthropods. Chapter 487 authorizes the department to regulate the distribution, sale, and use of pesticides and to protect people and the environment from the adverse effects of pesticides. Chapter 576 authorizes the department to regulate the sale and use of agricultural fertilizers.

Currently, the department does not have the authority to require the secure storage of agricultural and mosquito control aircraft and chemicals (fertilizers and pesticides) or to require the submission of aircraft and flight plan information to reduce the likelihood of theft or unauthorized access. Under current Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) Part 137 regulations, agricultural and mosquito control flight plan information is generally not required unless operations occur within controlled air space or within the vicinity of a control tower.

The department adopted an emergency rule on September 27, 2001, requiring agricultural and mosquito control aircraft operators to provide information demonstrating proper pesticide registration, FAA licensure and aircraft registration. The emergency rule also requires the submission of daily flight plan information to authenticate operations if needed by law enforcement. The emergency rule expires at the end of the 90 days. The emergency rule was prepared under authority of the Executive Order issued by the Governor's Office on September 11 in response to the terrorist attacks on New York City and the Pentagon. The department will not have the authority to adopt additional rules dealing with aircraft and chemical security issues after the 90 day period without further legislative action.

Currently, public records for information under chapters 487, 570, 576, or 578 may be obtained without the requestor providing any form of identification. As a result, no record is maintained of the person or persons requesting information regarding aerial applicators.
