B. EFFECT OF PROPOSED CHANGES:

Present Situation

General Provisions for Determination of Unclaimed Property Status

The Florida Disposition of Unclaimed Property Act¹ (the “Act”) provides the obligations of the “holder” of property presumed to be abandoned and provides a mechanism for the disposition of unclaimed property.² Under the Act, the Department of Financial Service’s (Department) Unclaimed Property Program is responsible for receiving property, attempting to locate the rightful owners, and returning the property (or its value in cases of sold securities) to the owner. The general purpose of the Act is to protect the interest of missing owners of property while the state derives a benefit from the unclaimed and abandoned property until the property is claimed, if ever.³ The Department is required to make a one-time attempt to notify owners of unclaimed property.⁴ There is no monetary charge to owners for the Department’s notification or for the recovery of the property. Owners have the right to claim their property at any time.

Unclaimed property constitutes any funds or other property, tangible or intangible that has remained unclaimed by the owner for a certain number of years. Unclaimed property may include savings and checking accounts, money orders, travelers’ checks, uncashed payroll or cashiers’ checks, stocks, bonds, other securities, insurance policy payments, refunds, security and utility deposits, and contents of safe deposit boxes. Holders of unclaimed property, which typically include banks and insurance companies, are required to submit unclaimed property to the Department.⁵ If the property remains unclaimed, all proceeds from abandoned property are then deposited by the Department into the Department of Education School Trust Fund (State School Fund), except for an $8 million balance that is retained in a separate account (the Unclaimed Property Trust Fund) for the prompt payment of verified claims.⁶

The Department Financial Services administers the Act . Representatives from the Department indicate that the means used to find lost property owners include social security numbers, direct mailing, the state Department of Highway Safety & Motor Vehicles files, state payroll records, newspaper advertisements, and a state-run website (<http://up.dbf.state.fl.us/>) which contains the names of apparent owners of unclaimed property and information on where unclaimed property can be found. It is responsible for receiving property, locating the rightful owners, and returning the property (or its value, in cases of sold securities) to them.

In addition to the efforts by the Department to match people with their unclaimed property, there are private investigative agencies, commonly referred to as finders or locators, which locate owners of unclaimed property and offer their services to recover the property for a fee. Finders and locators generally contact owners and may offer a percentage-based fee, or a sliding scale fee, to complete and file the necessary paperwork to the department to process the claim.

According to the Department, there is a delay of a few weeks up to six months from the date the Department receives a report from a property holder and the date in which the property is received by the Department. When the Department receives the property, the property is matched to the report and the Department either places the report on the unclaimed property roll or pays the claim if a claim for the property is on file. Finder agencies routinely make public record requests of the Department, seeking current reports of unclaimed property by holders. Finders then take whatever information the Department has at that time and research public databases in an attempt to find owners to offer them collection services.

Proposed Changes

Definitions (Section 1)

The bill amends s. 717.101, F.S., to create definitions of “claimant” and ultimate equitable owner”, and to amend the definition of “owner”. A “claimant” is defined to be the person on whose behalf a claim is filed. “Owner” is amended to include the beneficiary of a deposit in trust, and to exclude claimants. An “ultimate equitable owner” is a natural person who owns or controls an ownership interest in a corporation or any other form of business organization.

Contact by the Owner of Property (Section 2)

Section 717.106(1)(b) states that certain funds in a financial institution are considered unclaimed unless the owner has made contact in writing with the financial institution within an uninterrupted 5 year period. The bill amends s. 717.106(1), F.S., to allow phone contact by the owner of property with the financial institution to interrupt the 5 year period. Section 717.106(1)(f), F.S., provides that if the financial institution sends first class mail to the owner that is not returned to the financial institution as undeliverable, the 5 year period is interrupted. The bill removes this provision.

Life Insurance Policies (Section 3)

The bill amends s. 717.107, F.S., to require life insurance companies to report to the state interest on unclaimed matured life insurance policies.

Refunds by Business Associations (Section 4)

The bill amends s. 717.109, F.S., to require specific statutory authority (rather than an order of a court or agency) for deviating from the requirements of s. 717.109, F.S., for a court or administratively ordered refund by a business association.

Safe Deposit Box (Section 5)

Section 717.116, F.S., provides that property held in a safe deposit box that has not been claimed within 3 years after the lease has expired is presumed unclaimed. This bill amends s. 717.116, F.S., to provide that this provision only applies to safe-deposit boxes held by banking or financial organizations.

Information Filed with the Department (Section 6)

The bill requires the Department to provide information contained in a report (not including confidential information) filed with the Department to any person who requests it within 90 days after the report has been processed. The department contends that this time period will allow time to contact owners. Representatives of finders agencies contend that there is no need for a delay.

The bill amends s. 717.117, F.S., to require any holder of unclaimed property belonging to 25 or more owners to submit via electronic means any information (generally regarding the property and its owner) that the Department requires by rule. The Department is given authority to levy a $500 maximum fine for failure to timely report the information required. The fine may also be levied for failure to submit the report by the due date (May 1). This bill removes a mandatory penalty for failure to timely file reports and permits the Department to waive this penalty. Along with a written request, a showing of good cause by the requesting party is now necessary for the Department to grant a postponement of the reporting date.

Currently, all holders of inactive accounts are required to use due diligence to locate apparent owners. The bill restricts this requirement to accounts that have a value of $50 or more. The bill also states that an account is inactive if 2 years have passed since the expiration date on an instrument or contract, if 2 years have passed since the last owner initiated activity, or first class mail has been returned as undeliverable.

The bill states that an account is presumed unclaimed if the holder is not able to contact the apparent owner by telephone, the first-class mail notice is returned to the holder as undeliverable, or the apparent owner does not contact the holder in response to the first-class mail notice.

The bill provides that this section does not apply to intangible property held, issued, or owed by a business association subject to the jurisdiction of the United States Surface Transportation Board or its successor federal agency if the apparent owner of such intangible property is a business association. The holder of such property has no obligation to report, pay or deliver such property to the department.

Notification (Section 7)

The bill amends s. 717.118, F.S., to state that the Department must make at least one active attempt to notify the owners of unclaimed property that is valued at more than $100, and for which the Department has a reported address or tax ID number. Currently, the department must make the attempt for all property regardless of having an address or tax ID number. Requirements regarding televised or published notifications are deleted.

Safe Deposit Box Contents (Section 8)

The bill amends s. 717.119, F.S., to establish guidelines for the delivery of safe deposit box contents to the Department. The delivery must be insured by the property holder for the estimated value of the property, the safe deposit box contents must be delivered in a single shipment, and the package must be marked "deliver unopened". The bill allows financial institutions to provide a single shipping schedule with safe deposit boxes remitted to the Department in lieu of a single shipment of safe deposit boxes. The bill increases the penalties for the late delivery of safe deposit box contents to the department from $10 per day up to a maximum $1,000 to a $100 fine for delivery that is late by 30 days or less, and a $500 fine for each successive 30 day period up to a maximum annual $4,000 fine. The bill deletes a provision permitting the Department to postpone the delivery upon written request of the deliverer.

Negotiable Instrument (Section 9)

The bill amends s. 717.1201, F.S., to remove the requirement for the holder of a negotiable instrument to file proof of payment before receiving reimbursement from the Department.

Internet Sale (Section 10)

The bill amends s. 717.122, F.S., to permit the Department to sell unclaimed property via public auction on the internet. Auctions may continue to be held at a physical location. When the contents of a safe deposit box are sold at auction, the department must proportionately deduct auction fees and expenses from the amount posted to the owner's account. No actions may be maintained against the Department for a decision to decline the highest bid at an action or withholding any unclaimed property from sale. The bill deletes a provision deducting fees from the sale of securities from the payment made to the owner of the security who is requesting payment. The bill makes the sale of unclaimed tangible personal property exempt from ch. 212, F.S., taxes.

Unclaimed Property Trust Fund (Section 11)

The bill amends s. 717.123(1), F.S., to increase the amount of money that may be held in the Unclaimed Property Trust Fund from $8 million to $15 million.

Unclaimed Property Claim (Section 12)

The bill amends s. 717.124, F.S., which contains the provisions for making an unclaimed property claim with the Department. The bill permits a claimant's representative to file a claim. A "claimant's representative" must be registered with the Department under ch. 717, F.S., and be licensed in Florida as an attorney, certified public accountant, or a private investigator. The bill requires an original power of attorney executed by the owner of unclaimed property to be filed with the Department in order for a claimant's representative to claim unclaimed property on the owner's behalf. Payment of fees and costs authorized pursuant to a written power of attorney are to be made to the licensed employer of the attorney, accountant or private investigator. The bill requires a claimant or claimant's representative to include a photo ID with a claim or a notarized, sworn statement may be used by an unclaimed property claimant in lieu of a photographic identification.

The bill also establishes time periods for processing a claim. The Department may within 90 days of receiving a claim, return any claim that has apparent errors or omissions, or that provides for the receipt of fees and costs greater than permitted under ch. 717, F.S. The Department must retain a copy or electronic image of the claim and may ask the claimant's representative to provide additional information. A claim is deemed withdrawn if a claimant or claimant's representative fails to respond to a request for additional information within 60 days after being notified of any apparent errors or omissions.

The department must process and resolve a claim within 90 days after receipt of the claim or the response of the claimant to a request for additional information. The department may extend the 90 day period by an additional 60 days if good cause exist or if the unclaimed property is 1) owned by a person who has been a debtor in bankruptcy, 2) reported with an address outside the United States, 3) being claimed by a person outside the United States, or 4) contains documents filed in support of the claim that are not in the English language and are not accompanied by a translation. The Department shall deny any claim when the claimant's representative has refused to authorize the Department to reduce the fees and costs to the maximum permitted.

The bill states that when the Department pays a claim worth $250 or less and a subsequent claimant comes forward, the exclusive remedy of the subsequent claimant is against the person who received the property from the department. The bill requires the contents of a safe deposit box to be delivered directly to the claimant regardless of any agreement to the contrary.

The bill deletes provisions that require the payments of claims made to attorneys, accountants or private investigative agencies to be deposited into a trust or escrow account in a financial institution authorized to accept such deposits and located in Florida. The bill also deletes a requirement that the attorney, accountant or private investigative agency distribute the property to the claimant within 10 days of the final credit of deposit into the trust or escrow account.

The bill states that the department is not administratively liable (in addition to not being civilly or criminally liable) for good faith distribution of property or funds.

Accounts with More than One Name (Section 13)

The bill creates s. 717.12403, F.S., which establishes the guidelines for processing accounts that are held in more than one person's name. When an unclaimed demand, savings or checking account in a financial institution is reported as an "and" account, and is in the name of 2 or more persons who are not beneficiaries, a presumption exists that each person on the account must claim it in order for the Department to approve the claim. The presumption may be rebutted by a showing that entitlement to the account has been transferred to another person, or by clear and convincing evidence that the account should have been reported by the financial institution as an "or" account. When the unclaimed account is an "and" account and one of the persons on the account is deceased, the Department will presume that the account is a survivorship account unless clear and convincing evidence is presented otherwise, or it can be shown that entitlement to the account has been transferred to another person.

If the unclaimed demand is reported as an "or" account in the name of 2 or more persons who are not beneficiaries, the Department will presume that any person listed on the account may claim the entire account. This presumption can be rebutted by evidence the account has been transferred to another person, or by clear and convincing evidence the financial institution should have reported the account as an "and" account. If the account does not specify whether it is an "and" or an "or" account, the department will presume the account is an "or" account, a presumption that can be rebutted by evidence the account has been transferred, or clear and convincing evidence that the account is an "and" account. If the department distributes funds in accordance with this section, it has acted in good faith.

Corporations (Section 14)

The bill creates s. 717.12404, F.S., to establish guidelines for processing claims on behalf of an active or dissolved corporation for which the last annual report is not available from the Department of State through the internet.. The claim must be accompanied by a microfiche copy of the records on file with the Department of State or other filings. The claim must be made by an officer or director identified in the last corporate filing. The bill also requires a claim on behalf of a dissolved corporation, a business entity other than an active corporation or a trust to include certain information.

Estates (Section 15)

The bill creates s. 717.12405, F.S., to require that an estate or the representative of an estate may only claim unclaimed property after the heir or legatee of the decedent entitled to the property has been located. If the estate or estate representative receives unclaimed property before the heir is located, the estate or representative is personally liable for the property and must return the full amount of the property to the Department.

Conflicting Claims (Section 16)

The bill amends s. 717.1241, F.S., regarding the procedures to be followed when multiple, conflicting claims are made for unclaimed property. If the owner and owner's representative both file a claim, the Department will give the property to the person who made the first complete claim, unless both complete claims are submitted the same day, in which case the property goes to the owner. If two owner's representatives submit claims on the same day, the property goes to the owner's representative charging the lowest fee. If the fee charge is the same, then the fees are divided equally between the owner's representatives. The bill states a claim is complete when entitlement to the unclaimed property has been established.

Beneficiary (Section 17)

The bill amends s. 717.1242(1), F.S., to include a beneficiary as a person who can claim property held in a deceased person's name.

Agency Statements (Section 18)

The bill creates s. 717.1244, F.S., to state that the Department must rely on the applicable statutory, regulatory, common and case law in determining the merits of an unclaimed property claim. Agency statements that apply such law to unclaimed property claims are not agency statements subject to s. 120.56(4), F.S., regarding challenging agency statements defined as rules.

Hearings (Section 19)

The bill amends s. 717.126, F.S., to state that hearings regarding the disposition of property by the Department take place in Tallahassee, Florida, unless otherwise agreed to. Upon request of a party, the presiding officer may conduct the hearing at an alternate remote video location.

The bill also states that when a claimant makes a claim that he or she is entitled to property, having the same name as that reported to the Department is not sufficient, in the absence of other evidence, to prove entitlement to the unclaimed property.

Death Certificate Requirements (Section 20)

The bill creates s. 717.1261, F.S., to require a claimant claiming entitlement to unclaimed property by means of the death of one or more persons to file a certified copy of a death certificate of the decedent or decedents.

Court Documents (Section 21)

The bill creates s. 717.1262, F.S., to require any person who claims entitlement to unclaimed property by reason of a court document to file a certified copy of the court document with the Department.

Investigations (Section 22)

The bill amends s. 717.1301, F.S., regarding investigations by the Department. The bill specifies that if the Department investigation results in disclosure of a reportable and deliverable property, the Department may assess the costs of an investigation against a property holder at the rate of $100 per 8-hour day (rather than $100 per day). The property holder may also be required to pay per diem fees, but no more than for 30 days of work per year unless the investigation is due to fraud, in which case there is no limit. Failure to pay the fee within 30 days after being notified the fee is due results in a requirement of paying the Department 12% interest per annum on the fee.

Records Retention (Section 23)

The bill amends s. 717.1315, F.S., and makes a technical change regarding records retention by an owner's representative.

Corrective Action (Section 24)

The bill amends s. 717.132(2), F.S., which permits the Department to serve cease and desist orders and to take corrective action when the chapter is being violated. The bill defines the term "corrective action" for purposes of the subsection to include refunding excessive charges, requiring a person to return unclaimed property, requiring a holder to remit unclaimed property, and requiring a holder to correct a report that contains errors or omissions.

Disciplinary Action (Section 25)

The bill creates s. 717.1322, F.S., to enumerate the grounds for administrative enforcement action by the Department including not complying with the provisions of Ch. 717, F.S., not complying with rules or orders adopted pursuant to the chapter, or not abiding by a written agreement entered into with the Department. Fraud or deception in any matter over which the Department has jurisdiction is a ground for discipline, as is fraudulent misrepresentation or concealment of a matter that must be furnished to the apparent or actual owner of property. Acting as a claimant's representative without being a registered attorney, accountant, or private investigator or not having a durable power of attorney to receive property of the owner is another ground for discipline. Other grounds for discipline include criminal conduct, failure to timely pay fees or fines as required by the chapter, illegal or excessive charges in an unclaimed property transaction, false or deceptive advertising, and failure to maintain and make available records and documents required by statute or the Department, failure to meet the net worth requirements, failure to authorize release to the Department records possessed by a third party, and receiving or soliciting consideration to be paid in advance of the approval of a claim under this chapter.

The Department may promulgate an order that denies a registration for an act that occurs before or after the effective date of this act. The Department may also revoke a registration, place a registrant on probation, or place permanent restrictions on a registration. Other sanctions include issuing a reprimand, imposing an administrative fine of up to $2,000 per act, or prohibiting a person from being an agent, employee, or ultimate equitable owner of a registrant.

Action against a Holder (Section 26)

The bill creates s. 717.1331, F.S., which allows the Department to initiate an action against a holder to recover unclaimed property. If the Department prevails in a civil or administrative action it initiated to recover unclaimed property, the holder must pay the Department's costs and attorney's fees.

Administrative Proceedings (Section 27)

The bill creates s. 717.1333, F.S., which, during an administrative proceeding under s. 120.569 and 120.57, allows for the authentication of a document to be used as competent evidence upon the oath of an auditor, examiner, or investigator during cross examination.

Penalties (Section 28)

The bill creates subsection (5) of s. 717.134, F.S., which allows the Department to impose penalties on property holders who willfully do not report required information. The maximum penalty is $500 per day up to a maximum of $5,000 and 25% of the value of property willfully not reported. The penalty may be waived if the holder can show good cause. If the holder acted in good faith and without negligence, the penalty must be waived.

False Property Claims (Section 29)

The bill creates s. 717.1341, F.S., which establishes the guidelines and penalties for filing an invalid or false property claim. A person who receives property and is not entitled to do so is liable for the property and must return it immediately to the Department plus interest at a rate set annually in accordance with s. 55.03(1), F.S.. Stocks or bonds must be returned (or, if sold, the proceeds of the sale), plus any dividends, interest, or brokerage fees and interest.

The bill allows the Department to bring a civil or administrative action to recover unclaimed property paid to a person who should not have received it, against a person who aids another person to receive property they are not entitled to, or against a person who attempts to receive unclaimed property to which they are not entitled. If the Department prevails in such an action, the maximum fine on a person who violates this section knowingly, recklessly, or in deliberate ignorance of the truth, is 3 times the value of the property received. If the Department wins an action for improperly receiving unclaimed property, the person against whom the action is brought must pay the Department's attorney's fees.

The bill prohibits knowingly filing (or helping or conspiring to file) a claim for unclaimed property the person is not entitled to receive. If a person knowingly receives property in violation of this provision, worth more than $50,000, the offense is a first degree felony. If the property is worth more than $10,000 and up to $50,000, the offense is a second degree felony, and if the property value is from $250 to $10,000, the offense is a third degree felony. If the property is worth over $50 up to $250, the offense is a first degree misdemeanor, and if the property is worth $50 or less, the offense is a second degree misdemeanor.

Recovering Property in Custody of the Department (Section 30)

The bill amends s. 717.135, F.S., regarding agreements to recover reported property in the custody of the Department. The fee cap on locator claims is set at 20% for all unclaimed property accounts unless the locator discloses the property is being held by the Bureau of Unclaimed Property and other required information. Previously, the fee limitation was 15% for accounts worth $250 or more and held by the Department for 24 months or less, and 25% for such accounts held by the Department for over 24 months. The bill also establishes a form for agreements between a claimant's representative and a claimant to recover property for a fee.

Entitlement to Unclaimed Property (Section 31)

The bill creates s. 717.1351, F.S., and mandates that a contract to acquire ownership or entitlement to unclaimed property from the person entitled to the property must have a purchase price that discounts the value of the unclaimed property 20% or less. A person who attempts to acquire ownership or entitlement to unclaimed property must be licensed in the state as a lawyer, CPA, or private investigator and be registered with the Department. A purchaser of unclaimed property from the rightful owner must disclose to the rightful owner that the property is being held by the Bureau of Unclaimed Property, the name of the person who last held the property before it became unclaimed and when the holder last contacted the owner, the approximate value (if known) of the property, and what type of property is at issue. The bill prescribes forms and procedures for purchasing unclaimed property from the rightful owner. The licensing provisions of ch. 493, F.S., are applicable to this section.

Registering as a Property Locator (Section 32)

The bill creates s. 717.1400, F.S., to provide requirements for registering with the department as a property locator. Private investigators, accountants and attorneys licensed in Florida must submit required proof of licensure, the applicants business address and phone number, the names of agents or employees designated to work on behalf of the investigator along with a copy of each person's photo ID, sufficient information to enable electronic funds transfers by the department, and the investigator's tax ID number if the applicant desires to have applicant's fees sent directly to the private investigator. A registrant must notify the department in writing within 30 days of a material change in the status of registration. A private investigator must notify the department within 30 days of their Class "C" or "A" license being renewed.

Definition of Business (Section 33)

The bill amends s. 212.02(2), F.S., to exclude the sales of unclaimed tangible personal property as provided in s. 717.122, F.S. from the definition of "business" in chapter 212.

Access to Driver's License Photo Images (Section 34)

The bill amends s. 322.142, F.S., to allow the Department, pursuant to an interagency agreement to facilitate the location of owners of unclaimed property, the validation of unclaimed property claims and the identification of fraudulent or false claims to have access to digital driver's license photo images held by the Department of Highway Safety and Motor Vehicles.

Access to Patient Records (Section 35)

The bill amends s. 395.3025, F.S., to allow the Department or its agents to access patient records held by the health care industry for the purpose of auditing and identifying unclaimed property held by the health care industry.

This bill will take effect October 1, 2004. (Section 36)

C. DIRECT ECONOMIC IMPACT ON PRIVATE SECTOR:

Section 6 of the bill requires the Department to provide information contained in an unclaimed property report to anyone who requests it after a 90 day holding period. The Department contends that this will allow them time to contact missing property owners. Representatives of finders agencies contend that the delay may lessen the effectiveness of their business and result in fewer customers using their business.

The bill creates s. 717.1400, F.S., and it is possible that bonding and/or net worth requirements in the bill may impact a percentage of those in the asset locator industry. The fiscal impact on the industry as a whole is not predictable.

D. FISCAL COMMENTS:

According to the Department of Financial Services, this bill would allow the Bureau of Unclaimed Property to retain up to $15 million in the Unclaimed Property Trust Fund for the purpose of paying claims. This would lower the amount of money transferred to the State School Trust Fund in FY 2004-05 by $7 million. However, it will lessen the need of the Bureau to request funds back from the Department of Education due to insufficient money in the Unclaimed Property Trust Fund, which occurs at least five times annually.
