 37 Constitution.

38 (2) Portions of The proceedings and meetings of any

 41 confidential or exempt information, the identity of the victim, 42 or the identity of the children of the victim is discussed, are 43 exempt from s. 286.011 and s. 24(b), Art. I of the State
 44 Constitution.

45 (3)-(2) This section is The exemptions in this section
 46 apply only to records held by a domestic violence fatality
 47 review team. The exemptions contained in this section are 48 subject to the Open Government Sunset Review Act of 1995 in 49 accordance with s. 119.15, and shall stand this section is 50 repealed on October 2, 2010 2005, unless reviewed and saved from 51 repeal through reenactment by the Legislature before that date.

52 Section 2. The Legislature finds it is a public necessity 53 that information contained in a record created by a domestic 54 violence fatality review team that identifies a victim of 55 domestic violence or the children of the victim be made
 56 confidential and exempt from public records requirements.

57 Domestic violence fatality review teams have been delegated the 58 responsibility to review incidents of domestic violence pursuant 59 to s. 741.316, Florida Statutes. The purpose of these review 60 teams is to learn how to prevent domestic violence by 61 intervening early, improving the response of an individual and 62 the system to domestic violence, and making policy and other
63 recommendations as to how incidents of domestic violence may be 64 prevented. In the course of collecting information on domestic 65 violence, the review teams may interview a survivor of domestic 66 violence or the children of the survivor. These individuals may 67 be unlikely to cooperate if they could be identified in records
68 held by a review team because identification could result in 69 potential threats and additional public embarrassment, as well
70 as the exposure of information of a personal, sensitive nature.
71 If these persons were reluctant to participate because they 72 could be identified, this would defeat the purpose of the review
73 teams and limit the collection of potentially valuable
74 information that could be used to make policy and other 75 recommendations that might reduce the frequency of domestic 76 violence in our society. The ability to interview the parties 77 involved in incidents of domestic violence without fear of the 78 statements of the parties being made public is essential to the 79 work of the review team and leads to a better understanding of 80 the factors contributing to such incidents and the development
81 of strategies to prevent further incidents. Protecting these 82 communications provides an environment in which to discuss
83 information in a free and open manner and allows the review
84 teams to develop the information needed to prevent further

85 deaths from domestic violence in local communities. The 86 Legislature finds that the harm to the public which would result 87 from the release of such information substantially outweighs any 88 minimal public benefit derived from the public disclosure of 89 such personal identifying information. The Legislature finds 90 that the release of such information would hinder the work of 91 the review team and persons and organizations having pertinent
92 information would be reluctant to share vital information with 93 the review team. Thus, it is a public necessity to make 94 confidential and exempt information contained in a record
95 created by a domestic violence fatality review team that would 96 identify a victim of domestic violence or the children of the 97 victim. The Legislature further finds that it is a public
98 necessity that portions of meetings of domestic violence
99 fatality review teams at which confidential or exempt
100 information is being discussed be made exempt from public
101 meetings requirements. In the course of collecting information 102 on domestic violence, the review teams obtain confidential or 103 exempt information from other agencies and this information is 104 discussed during meetings of the review teams. If the portions
105 of those meetings at which this confidential or exempt
106 information is discussed are not closed, confidential or exempt
107 information could be disclosed, which would defeat the purpose
108 of those exemptions. Therefore, the Legislature finds that it is 109 a public necessity to protect confidential or exempt information
110 during those portions of meetings of domestic violence fatality
111 review teams at which such information is discussed.

112 Section 2. This act shall take effect October 1, 2005.
