14	On page 3, between lines 19 and 20,

17	Section 2. (1) The Office of Insurance Regulation
18	shall order insurers writing any kind of liability insurance
19	in this state, including professional malpractice insurance,
20	to make a rate filing effective January 1, 2007, which reduces
21	rates for such insurance by a factor that reflects the
22	expected impact of the changes contained in this act. In the
23	absence of clear and convincing evidence to the contrary, it
24	shall be presumed that the expected impact of the act will
25	result in at least a 10-percent reduction in the rates in
26	effect for such insurance on December 31, 2006. An insurer
27	may, in lieu of making the rate filing required in this
28	subsection, upon notification to the Office of Insurance

30	effective January 1, 2007.

1 the rate filing made on January 1, 2007, or any subsequent
 2 rate filing made on or before December 31, 2012, that the
 3 presumed reduced rate provided for in subsection (1) is
 4 excessive, inadequate, or unfairly discriminatory shall
 5 separately state in its filing the rate it believes is 6 appropriate and shall state with specificity the factors or
 7 data that it contends should be considered in order to produce
 8 such appropriate rate. The insurer or rating organization may 9 use all of the generally accepted actuarial techniques, as
 10 provided in s. 627.062, Florida Statutes, in making any filing
 11 under this subsection. The Office of Insurance Regulation
 12 shall review each such exception and approve or disapprove it
 13 prior to its use. The insurer has the burden to actuarially
 14 justify by clear and convincing evidence any deviation that
 15 results in a rate that is higher than the presumed reduced
 16 rate as provided for in subsection (1).

17 (3) If any provision of this act is held invalid by a
 18 court of competent jurisdiction, the Office of Insurance
 19 Regulation shall permit an adjustment of all rates filed under 20 this section to reflect the effect of such holding on such 21 rates, so as to ensure that the rates are not excessive,
 22 inadequate, or unfairly discriminatory.

23
 24 (Redesignate subsequent sections.)
