I. Summary:

This bill will allow a veteran to continue to receive an employment preference when competing for subsequent public sector jobs after an initial hire.

No fiscal impact is anticipated.

This bill repeals section 295.101 of the Florida Statutes.

II. Present Situation:

Chapter 295, Florida Statutes (F.S.), sets forth certain requirements for public employers to accord preferences, in appointment, retention, and promotion, to certain veterans and spouses of veterans who are Florida residents. The relevant portions of the law apply to the state and its political subdivisions. State agencies, counties, cities, state universities, school districts, and special taxing districts are subject to the requirements of Chapter 295.¹

Section 295.07, F.S., extends veterans' preference to:

- A veteran with a service-connected disability who is eligible for or receiving compensation, disability retirement, or pension under public laws administered by the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs and the Department of Defense.
- The spouse of a veteran who cannot qualify for employment because of a total and permanent service-connected disability, or the spouse of a veteran missing in action, captured, or forcibly detained by a foreign power.

- A veteran of any war who has served on active duty for one day or more during a wartime period, excluding active duty for training, and who was discharged under honorable conditions from the Armed Forces of the United States of America.
- The unremarried widow or widower of a veteran who died of a service-connected disability.²

A veteran's employment preference expires after a person eligible pursuant to s.295.07, F.S., has applied and been employed by the state or any agency of a political subdivision in the state.³

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

This bill provides for the repeal of section 295.101, F.S., thereby eliminating the veteran's preference expiration. Repealing this section will allow an eligible veteran or the qualified spouse of a veteran to continue to receive a veteran's preference in subsequent competition for employment covered by statute.

The bill provides for an effective date of July 1, 2007.

³ Section 295.101, F.S.

C. Government Sector Impact:

No fiscal impact is anticipated. This bill only extends the employment preference benefit for veterans and qualified spouses in the employment process. It does not affect the number of currently authorized positions nor require any additional positions be created to fulfill the requirements of this legislation.

VI. Technical Deficiencies:

This bill does not address s. 110.2135, F.S., which contains a reference to s. 295.101, F.S. The reference should be deleted if s. 295.101, F.S., is repealed.

VII. Related Issues:

None.

VIII. Summary of Amendments:

None.

This Senate Professional Staff Analysis does not reflect the intent or official position of the bill's introducer or the Florida Senate.
