SUMMARY ANALYSIS

Currently, mere possession of a stolen credit card is not, per se, illegal. Section 817.60, F.S., contains several offenses relating to the unauthorized possession of a credit card, however all current offenses under this section require either proof of intent to use, sell, or transfer a stolen credit card or require a fraudulent intent in obtaining the credit card.

This bill provides that a person commits a third degree felony if a person knowingly possesses, receives, or retains custody of a stolen credit or debit card with the intent to impede the recovery of the credit or debit card by the cardholder.

The bill provides that a retailer who takes, accepts, retains, or possesses a stolen credit card without knowledge that the card is stolen and is authorized to process transactions by the company issuing the credit or debit card does not violate the provisions of the bill.

Current law provides that a seller or lessor in a sales or lease transaction may not impose a surcharge on a buyer or lessee who uses a credit card in lieu of paying by cash, check, or other means. The bill provides that a surcharge may not be imposed on a buyer or lessee who uses a debit card. The bill provides a definition of debit card.

The Criminal Justice Impact Conference met March 17, 2010, and determined that provisions relating to unlawful possession of a credit card contained in an earlier version of the bill will have an insignificant impact on state prison beds. The provisions contained in this bill are substantially similar to those considered by the Criminal Justice Impact Conference.

The bill provides an effective date of October 1, 2010.

HOUSE PRINCIPLES

Members are encouraged to evaluate proposed legislation in light of the following guiding principles of the House of Representatives

I. SUBSTANTIVE ANALYSIS

A. EFFECT OF PROPOSED CHANGES:

Present Situation

Section 817.60, F.S., provides criminal penalties punishable as a first degree misdemeanor¹ for several offenses relating to credit cards² including:

- Taking³ a credit card from the person, possession, custody, or control of another without the cardholder's consent, or with knowledge the card has been so taken, receiving the credit card with the intent to use it, to sell it, or to transfer it to another person other than the issuer or the cardholder;
- Receiving a credit card that is known to have been lost, mislaid, or delivered by mistake as to the identity or address of the cardholder, and retaining the card with the intent to use, sell, or transfer the card to another person other than the issuer or the cardholder;
- Selling or buying a credit card from a person other than the issuer;
- Obtaining a credit card as security for debt with intent to defraud; or
- Signing the credit card of another.⁴

Section 817.60, F.S., provides criminal penalties punishable as a third degree felony⁵ for several offenses relating to credit cards including:

- Receiving two or more credit cards within a 12 month period issued in the names of different cardholders, which the person had reason to know were taken or retained under circumstances that constitute credit card theft;
- Possessing two or more counterfeit credit cards;
- Making a device or instrument that purports to be a credit card of a named issuer but which the issuer did not authorize; or ¹ A first degree misdemeanor is punishable by up to one year in county jail and a maximum $1,000 fine. Sections 775.082, and 775.083, F.S.

² "Credit card" is defined to mean any instrument or device, whether known as a credit card, credit plate, bank service card, banking card, check guarantee card, electronic benefits transfer (EBT) card, or debit card, or by any other name, issued with or without fee by an issuer for the use of the cardholder in obtaining money, goods, services, or anything else of value on credit or for use in an automated banking device to obtain any of the services offered through the device." Section 817.58(4), F.S.

³ Taking a credit card without consent includes obtaining the card by statutory larceny, common-law larceny by trespassory taking, common-law larceny by trick, or embezzlement or obtaining property through false pretense, false promise, or extortion. Section 817.60(1), F.S.

⁴ Section 817.60(1)-(4), F.S.

⁵ A third degree felony is punishable by up to five years imprisonment and a maximum $5,000 fine. Sections 775.082, 775.083, and 775.084, F.S.

- Falsely embossing a credit card without authorization of the issuer.⁶

It is possible that possession of a stolen credit card could be prosecuted as theft under s. 812.014, F.S. Section 812.014(1), F.S., provides a person commits theft if the person knowingly obtains the property of another with the intent to, either temporarily or permanently:

- deprive the other person of a right to the property or benefit from the property; or
- appropriate the property to his or her own use or to the use of any person not entitled to the use of the property.⁷

The penalties for a violation of s. 812.014, F.S., are generally tied to value of the stolen goods.⁸ The actual value of a credit card would likely be determined to be the value of the plastic used to make the credit card, which would be a negligible amount. The value of the stolen goods would likely be under $300 and prosecuted as a second degree misdemeanor^{9, 10}.

It is possible that possession of a stolen credit card could be prosecuted as the offense of dealing in stolen property.¹¹ Section 812.019(1), F.S., provides that a person commits a second degree felony¹² if the person traffics¹³ in or endeavors to traffic in property that he or she knew or should have known was stolen.

Current law provides that a seller or lessor in a sales or lease transaction may not impose a surcharge on a buyer or lessee who uses a credit card in lieu of paying by cash, check, or other means.¹⁴

Proposed Changes

The bill amends s. 817.60(1), F.S., to provide that a person commits a third degree felony if a person knowingly possesses, receives, or retains custody of a stolen credit or debit card with the intent to impede the recovery of the credit or debit card by the cardholder.

The bill provides that a retailer who takes, accepts, retain, or possess a stolen credit card without knowledge that the card is stolen and is authorized to process transactions by the company issuing the credit or debit card does not violate the provisions of the bill.

Current law provides that a seller or lessor in a sales or lease transaction may not impose a surcharge on a buyer or lessee who uses a credit card in lieu of paying by cash, check, or other means. The bill provides that a surcharge may not be imposed on a buyer or lessee who uses a debit card. The bill defines "debit card" as a:

card, code, or other device, other than a check, draft, or similar paper instrument, by the use of which a person may order, instruct, or authorize a financial institution to debit a

⁷ Section 812.014(1), F.S.

⁸ Section 812.014, F.S. If the value of the stolen property is $100,000 or greater, the offense is punishable as a first degree felony; if the value of the stolen property is between $20,000 and $100,000, the offense is a second degree felony; if the value of the stolen property is between $300 and $5,000, the offense is a third degree felony; if the value of the stolen goods is valued at between $100 and $300, the offense is a first degree misdemeanor; if the value of the stolen goods is valued at less than $100, the offense is a second degree misdemeanor. Some property is listed specifically in s. 812.014, F.S. Theft of this specified property may be punished at a greater degree of punishment regardless of the value of the stolen items.

⁹ A second degree misdemeanor is punishable by up to 60 days in county jail and a maximum $500 fine. Sections 775.082, and 775.083, F.S.

None.

C. DRAFTING ISSUES OR OTHER COMMENTS:

None.

IV. AMENDMENTS/COUNCIL OR COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE CHANGES

On February 2, 2010, the Public Safety & Domestic Security Policy Committee adopted an amendment to the bill. The original bill removed the intent requirement from the credit card theft statute. The amendment restored the intent element to the crime. The bill was reported favorably as a committee substitute.

On March 26, 2010, the Criminal & Civil Justice Appropriations Committee adopted an amendment providing that retailers who in good faith take, accept, retain, or possess a stolen credit card without knowledge that the card is stolen do not violate s. 817.60, F.S. The bill was reported favorably as a committee substitute.

On April 12, 2010, the Criminal & Civil Justice Policy Council adopted an amendment to provide that a person commits a third degree felony if a person knowingly possesses, receives, or retains custody of a stolen credit or debit card with the intent to impede the recovery of the credit or debit card by the cardholder. The amendment provided that a retailer who takes, accepts, retain, or possess a stolen credit card without knowledge that the card is stolen and is authorized to process transactions by the company issuing the credit or debit card does not commit a violation.

The amendment added provisions to the bill making it illegal to surcharge debit card transactions. The bill, as amended, was reported favorably as a council substitute. This analysis reflects the council substitute.
