SUMMARY ANALYSIS

House Bill 1119 increases the total amount of tax credits available to be allocated for the New Markets Development Program from $97.5 million to $195 million.

In addition, the legislation increases the number of years that a qualified community development entity is prohibited from making cash interest payments in excess of their operating income on long term debt securities issued as qualified investments from 6 years to 7 years.

On January 6, 2011, the Revenue Estimating Conference determined HB 1119 has a $20 million recurring negative fiscal impact on General Revenue that begins in the 2014-15 fiscal year. There is no impact to General Revenue in the 2012-13 or the 2013-14 fiscal years.

The legislation becomes effective on July 1, 2012.

FULL ANALYSIS

I. SUBSTANTIVE ANALYSIS

A. EFFECT OF PROPOSED CHANGES:

Present Situation

How the Program Works

Under this program, federally-certified Community Development Entities (CDE), which have entered into allocation agreements with the U.S. Treasury, have the ability to apply to the Department of Economic Opportunity for a certification of Florida tax credits. The CDE must show that it is prepared to invest capital into qualified businesses in Florida's low-income communities. The certification process includes proof of the CDE's eligibility, identification of its investors, description of the investments to be raised by the CDE, information regarding how the investments will be used, and a description of the CDE's efforts to partner with local community-based groups. The Department is also able to request additional information needed to verify continued certification. The Department certifies qualified applications on a first-come, first-served basis. Once the Department certifies a CDE's qualified equity investment, the CDE has 30 days to raise its investment capital (the qualified equity investment) and then 12 months to invest a minimum of 85 percent of the purchase price in qualified low-income investments. Thereafter, the CDE must annually report to the Department information including:

- Audited financial statements;
- the industries for the investments;
- the counties investments were made in;
- the number of jobs created; and
- verification that the average wages paid are at least equal to 115 percent of the federal poverty income guidelines for a family of four.

Any failure by a CDE to follow either Florida or federal law may result in the state recapturing tax credits claimed, together with interest and penalties.

Tax Credits

The New Markets Tax Credit Program (NNMTC) allows a tax credit to be taken against the corporate income tax found in section 220.11, Florida Statutes or the insurance premium tax found in section 624.509, Florida Statutes. This credit may be claimed after the investment has been made and held for a minimum of two years. Therefore, no credit can be claimed in the first two years. In year three the credit is worth seven percent of the investment, and from the fourth year through the seventh year the credit is worth 8 percent. Over seven years this credit totals 39 percent of the total investment. Any unused portion of the tax credit may be carried forward for future tax years; however, all tax credits expire on December 31, 2022. The program has a cap of $97.5 million on the total of tax credits allowed to be allocated to all investments. Therefore, no more than $17.5 million in tax credits may be claimed in the third fiscal year and no more than $20 million in tax credits may be claimed in any of the subsequent four fiscal years. The bill does not allow the transfer or sale of tax credits, but does allow a tax credit to travel with the purchase of an investment to a new owner.

Federal New Markets Tax Credit¹

The State New Markets Development Program was mirrored after the federal program. The Federal New Markets Tax Credit (NMTC) Program permits taxpayers to receive a credit against federal income taxes for making qualified equity investments in designated Community Development Entities (CDEs). The CDE must in turn invest the qualified equity investments in low-income communities. The credit provided to the investor totals 39 percent of the cost of the investment and is claimed over a seven-year period. In each of the first three years, the investor receives a credit equal to five percent of the total amount paid for the stock or capital interest at the time of purchase. For the final four years, the value of the credit is six percent annually. Investors may not redeem their investments in CDEs prior to the conclusion of the seven-year period. An organization wishing to receive allocations under the federal NMTC Program must be certified as a CDE by the US Department of Treasury. To qualify as a CDE, an organization must:

- Be a domestic corporation or partnership at the time of the certification application;
- Demonstrate a primary mission of serving, or providing investment capital for low-income communities or low-income persons; and
- Maintain accountability to residents of low-income communities through representation on a governing board of or advisory board to the entity.

As stated above, the federal program and the state program provides credits totaling 39 percent of the investment over a seven year period. Therefore, a qualified taxpayer with a qualified investment approved for both the federal and state program could receive 78 percent of the purchase price of the investment in tax credits over seven years. In addition to the tax credits that are received, the investor also has the potential to receive benefit from the results of the investment and eventual return of their principal.

Effect of Proposed Changes

House Bill 1119 increases the total amount of tax credits available to be allocated for the New Markets Development Program from $97.5 million to $195 million.

In addition, the legislation increases the number of years that a qualified community development entity is prohibited from making cash interest payments in excess of their operating income on long term debt securities issued as qualified investments from 6 years to 7 years.

B. SECTION DIRECTORY:

Section 1 amends s. 288.914, Florida Statutes, to increase the available tax credits from $97.5 million to $195 million.

Section 2 amends 288.915, Florida Statutes, to increase the prohibition on participants making certain interest payments from 6 years to 7 years.

Section 3 provides an effective date of July 1, 2012.
