FULL ANALYSIS

I. SUBSTANTIVE ANALYSIS

A. EFFECT OF PROPOSED CHANGES:

Child Support Guidelines

Current Situation

Child support guidelines allow the court to adjust a statutory award based upon additional factors.<sup>1</sup> Included in those factors which might adjust an award up or down, is the "parenting plan."<sup>2</sup> Currently, deviations from the promulgated schedule of child support must be supported by the factors listed in the statute.

The parenting plan is defined by statute, and must be reduced to a document endorsed by the court.<sup>3</sup> The courts do not recognize a course of dealing by the parties as a formal parenting plan when considering the amount of child support.<sup>4</sup>

Recently, a number of child support cases have turned upon the lack of a written parenting plan as defined in the statute. The courts have determined that they may not take into account the amount of time that the child spends routinely with one parent or the other unless there is a written parenting plan. Courts have not considered less formal arrangements in deviating from the child support guidelines.<sup>5</sup>

Effect of Proposed Changes

The bill amends s. 61.30, F.S. to expand the court's ability to recognize a course of dealing by the parents in awarding child support outside the schedule. The bill includes in the deviation factors of s. 61.30(11)(a), F.S., "a court ordered timesharing schedule or a timesharing schedule exercised by agreement of the parties." This will allow the court to take into consideration the actions of the parties, even if not reduced to writing. The expanded factor which the court may consider appears both places where the term "parenting plan" appears in s. 61.30, F.S.

Judicial Notice

Current Situation

Judicial notice takes the place of proof, and makes evidence unnecessary.<sup>6</sup> The Florida Evidence Code<sup>7</sup> addresses matters that may be, or must be noticed by the judge, so that evidence of the fact is not required.<sup>8</sup>

Generally, notice is afforded to both parties before the court will take judicial notice of a fact.<sup>9</sup> The court must give each party an opportunity to challenge the information offered for judicial notice prior to taking it into evidence.<sup>10</sup>

In a recent case,<sup>11</sup> a judge issued a domestic violence injunction<sup>12</sup> based upon testimony she observed in a separate matter between the parties. The ruling was entered without giving advance notice of the matter, pursuant to the current terms of the statute. Because the court essentially took judicial notice of the other hearing in ruling on the injunction, the injunction was reversed.<sup>13</sup>

Effect of Proposed Changes

The bill amends s. 90.204, F.S., to provide that in a family law case the court may take judicial notice of "records of any court of this state or of any court of record of the United States or of any state, territory, or jurisdiction of the United States,"<sup>14</sup> when:

- Imminent danger has been alleged.
- It is impractical to give notice.
- A later opportunity is provided to challenge the matter noticed.

The judge must, within 2 business days, file a notice in the pending case of the matter noticed.

The bill will allow the court to take judicial notice without further proof of court records at the state and national level in determining family law cases. Family law cases are defined by the Florida Rules of Family Law Procedure.

B. SECTION DIRECTORY:

Section 1 amends s. 61.30, F.S., regarding child support guidelines; retroactive child support.

Section 2 amends s. 90.204, F.S., regarding determination of propriety of judicial notice and nature of matter noticed.

Section 3 provides an effective date of July 1, 2013.
