COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE - Substantial Changes

I. Summary:

CS/SB 288:

- Requires the Florida Public Service Commission (PSC or commission) to meet in utilities' service territories and to stream all meetings live;
- Requires a person who lobbies the Florida Public Service Commission Nominating Council to register as a legislative lobbyist;
- Requires each PSC commissioner to complete annual ethics training;
- Expands the existing ex parte prohibition to all meetings and educational conferences;
- If the Public Counsel participated as a party in the relevant PSC proceeding as a party and is not a party to a settlement agreement, prohibits submission of the settlement agreement to the PSC and prohibits the PSC from approving the settlement agreement;
- Prohibits imposing a higher rate for increased electricity use which is due solely to an extended billing period;
- Establishes a limitation on the total deposit that may be demanded from an electricity customer;
- Requires each utility to assist customers in getting the most advantageous rate;
- Requires the Commission to approve all tariffs and tariff changes; and
- Requires that money received for demand-side renewable energy be used for that purpose.

II. Present Situation:

In recent months, a number of complaints have arisen against regulated electric utilities and involving the PSC. The following is both general background information and background information specific to individual complaints.

Florida Public Service Commission

Appointment

The Florida Public Service Commission (PSC or commission) is a five-member body that has economic regulation authority over electric and water utilities that meet specified criteria. The members are appointed to four-year terms.¹ Appointment is a three-step process:

- applicants are interviewed by the Florida Public Service Commission Nominating Council, which must nominate to the Governor no fewer than three persons for each vacancy;
- the Governor selects one of the nominated applicants for appointment to each vacant position; and
- each appointee is then subject to confirmation by the Senate.²

The Florida Public Service Commission Nominating Council (council) is a 12-member panel with:

- Six members appointed by and serving at the pleasure of the President of the Senate, including three members of the Senate, one of whom must be a member of the minority party, and
Six members appointed by and serving at the pleasure of the Speaker of the House of Representatives, including three members of the House of Representatives, one of whom must be a member of the minority party.

Council members have four-year terms, except that legislator members serve two-year terms concurrent with the two-year elected terms of House members. Council meetings are subject to public records and public meetings law.

PSC Jurisdiction

With electric utilities, the commission has economic regulation authority over each “public utility,” which is defined to mean every person or legal entity supplying electricity to or for the public within this state, but to expressly exclude both a rural electric cooperative and a municipality or any agency thereof.³

For water and wastewater utilities, the statutes grant the commission exclusive jurisdiction over each utility with respect to its authority, service, and rates.⁴ However, after 10 continuous years under the jurisdiction of the commission, a county can opt-out of commission jurisdiction by resolution or ordinance, in which case, the county regulates the rates of all utilities in within its boundaries.⁵ The commission has exclusive jurisdiction over all utility systems whose service transverse county boundaries, whether the counties involved are jurisdictional or nonjurisdictional, except for utility systems that are subject to, and remain subject to, interlocal utility agreements in effect as of January 1, 1991, that create a single governmental authority to regulate the utility systems whose service transverses county boundaries. The commission has jurisdiction in 37 counties and counties have jurisdiction in 30 counties.⁶ Jurisdiction is divided as listed in the following table.

PSC Commissioner Standards of Conduct

1. Generally

Section 350.041, F.S., provides the statutory standards of conduct for PSC commissioners, which prohibit them from:

- accepting anything from any public utility regulated by the commission or any business entity that has specified relationships with such a public utility, with exceptions for attendance at conferences and associated meals and events in accordance with specified conditions,
- accepting any form of employment with or engaging in any business activity with any public utility regulated by the commission or any business entity that has specified relationships with such a public utility,
- having any financial interest, other than shares in a mutual fund, in any public utility regulated by the commission or any business entity that has specified relationships with such a public utility,
- accepting anything from a party in a proceeding currently pending before the commission,
- serving in specified capacities with any political party,
- making any public comment regarding the merits of any proceeding pending before the commission,
- conducting himself or herself in an unprofessional manner at any time during the performance of his or her official duties, and soliciting anything of value, directly or indirectly, from any public utility regulated by the commission or any business entity that has specified relationships with such a public utility or from any party appearing in a proceeding considered by the commission in the last 2 years.

Additionally, the statute requires each commissioner to avoid impropriety in all of his or her activities and to act at all times in a manner that promotes public confidence in the integrity and impartiality of the commission. The standards contain no training requirements.

The Commission on Ethics is to accept and investigate any alleged violations of these standards and to provide the Governor and the Florida Public Service Commission Nominating Council with a report of its findings and recommendations. The Governor is authorized to enforce the findings and recommendations.

2. Ex Parte Communications

Section 350.042, F.S., provides for ex parte communications involving commissioners.⁷ The statute prohibits a commissioner from initiating or considering ex parte communications concerning the merits, threat, or offer of reward in any proceeding other than a rulemaking proceeding, a declaratory statement proceeding, workshops, or internal affairs meetings. It also prohibits an individual from discussing ex parte with a commissioner the merits of any issue that he or she knows will be filed with the commission within 90 days. These provisions do not apply to commission staff.

⁷ In this context, an ex parte communication is a communication between a commissioner and a party or other interested person, including a person's attorney, that was neither on the record nor on reasonable prior notice to all parties and that relates to the merits of a proceeding.

The section does not apply to oral communications or discussions in scheduled and noticed open public meetings of educational programs or of a conference or other meeting of an association of regulatory agencies.

The Commission on Ethics is to investigate sworn complaints of violations of this section. If the Commission on Ethics finds that there has been a violation by a PSC commissioner, it is to provide the Governor and the Florida Public Service Commission Nominating Council with a report of its findings and recommendations. The Governor is authorized to enforce the findings and recommendations.

Public Counsel and Settlement Agreements

Section 350.0611, F.S., provides the duties and powers of the Public Counsel. The duty is to provide legal representation for the people of the state in proceedings before the commission and in proceedings before counties that have jurisdiction over water and wastewater utilities, and the powers are those necessary to carry out this duty, including the power:

- To recommend to the commission or the counties, by petition, the commencement of any proceeding or action or to appear, in the name of the state or its citizens, in any proceeding or action before the commission or the counties and urge therein any position which he or she deems to be in the public interest, and
- In any proceeding in which he or she has participated as a party, to seek review of any determination, finding, or order of the commission or the counties, or of any hearing examiner designated by the commission or the counties, in the name of the state or its citizens.

The question of whether the commission is authorized to approve a non-unanimous settlement agreement over Public Counsel's objection was recently determined by the Florida Supreme Court.⁸

The case resulted from an application by Florida Power & Light (FPL) for a rate increase which was filed with the commission on March 19, 2012. The Office of Public Counsel (OPC) and others intervened in the case opposing the rate increase. Shortly thereafter, FPL negotiated a settlement with the Florida Industrial Power Users Group (FIPUG), South Florida Hospital and Healthcare Association (SFHHA), and Federal Executive Agencies (FEA). In July, FPL first presented OPC with the negotiated settlement.

On August 15, 2012, the signatories to the settlement agreement – FPL, FEA, FIPUG, and SFHHA – filed joint motions to suspend the procedural schedule and approve the settlement agreement. OPC filed motions to suspend the hearing schedule and to consider the settlement agreement on the merits. The commission denied the requests and proceeded with the hearing as scheduled, holding full evidentiary hearings on August 20–24 and August 27–31, 2012.

On August 30, 2012, during the hearing, the commission announced on the record that the hearing would reconvene on September 27, 2012, to discuss the proposed settlement agreement. At the September 27, 2012, hearing, the commission determined that the proposed settlement agreement raised five new disputed issues of material fact supplemental to the disputed issues presented in the initial petition and scheduled a hearing to take additional testimony limited to the five new disputed issues of fact for November 19–21, 2012.

The formal hearing reconvened on November 19, 2012, and concluded on November 20, 2012. On December 13, 2012, the commission held a special agenda conference to rule upon the merits of the proposed settlement agreement. After the commission voiced its concern with some items, the commission recessed to give all the parties an opportunity to engage in further settlement negotiations. When presented with the modified settlement agreement, the commission found that it satisfied all of the commission's concerns, that it established fair, just, and reasonable rates, and that it was in the public interest. The final order on January 14, 2013, memorialized this finding and incorporated the approved settlement.

The OPC appealed the commission's decision, arguing that the commission erred by approving a non-unanimous negotiated settlement agreement over OPC's objection. More specifically, OPC argued that:

- Section 350.0611, F.S., which sets forth OPC's powers, is not an exhaustive list;
- Chapter 366, F.S., which provides for PSC regulation of electric utilities, provides that it is to be liberally construed for the accomplishment of protecting the public welfare;
- OPC must be treated differently from other intervenors as it has a unique status created by the statutes and recognized by the court in its statement in Mayo that “special conditions pertain in cases where public counsel has intervened. This is a consequence of the statutory nexus between the file and suspend procedures and the role prescribed for public counsel in rate regulation. Public counsel was authorized to represent the citizens of the State of Florida in rate proceedings of this type. That office was created with the realization that the citizens of the state cannot adequately represent themselves in utility matters, and that the rate-setting function of the Commission is best performed when those who will pay utility rates are represented in an adversary proceeding by counsel at least as skilled as counsel for the utility company.”⁹; and
- “[u]nless the Court reverses the Final Order, the effect will be to marginalize the participation of ‘the public's advocate’ as the petitioning utility could bypass [the] OPC's opposition through the expedient of offering a revenue concession to a willing intervenor.”¹⁰

The court agreed that the statutory list of OPC's powers is not meant to be an exhaustive list and that the statutes on regulation of electric utilities are to be liberally construed for the accomplishment of protecting the public welfare. However, “related statutory provisions must be read together to achieve a consistent whole”¹¹ and “further, ‘[w]here possible, courts must give full effect to all statutory provisions and construe related statutory provisions in harmony with one another.’”¹²

The PSC is an arm of the legislative branch and is to perform its duties independently.¹³ Additionally, the commission has exclusive jurisdiction to fix fair, just, and reasonable rates of electric utilities.¹⁴ Thus, the plain language of the statutes clearly provides that the commission independently determines rates of public utilities subject to the statutory requirements and this authority is not conditioned on the OPC's approval or absence of the OPC's objections.¹⁵ Further, adoption of OPC's argument that its powers include the ability to preclude the commission from approving a settlement agreement over the OPC's objection would render the statutory language in chapters 350 and 366 inconsistent.¹⁶

As to settlement agreements, the statutes provide for informal disposition of the rate proceeding by stipulation, agreed settlement, or consent order “[u]nless precluded by law.”¹⁷ Chapters 350 and 366, pertaining to the commission and public utilities respectively, do not prohibit the commission from approving a negotiated settlement to resolve a rate-making proceeding.¹⁸ Also, in Jaber,¹⁹ this court held that the commission's approval of a non-unanimous settlement agreement did not violate intervenor's due process rights because “the record shows that the appellant presented arguments in opposition to the settlement during the agenda conference” in which the appellant was allowed thirty minutes to present its views in opposition to the settlement agreement.²⁰ Thus, the Commission is not clearly precluded by statute or case law from approving non-unanimous settlements.²¹

OPC argued that Mayo recognized that it has special status and that special conditions pertain in cases where it has intervened, status that will be marginalized if the Final Order is not reversed. The court found these arguments to be without merit.²² Ultimately, the commission's actions are conditioned by statute (rates set must be fair, just, and reasonable) and its actions are subject to judicial review – the commission cannot simply accept any settlement agreement devoid of record support as in the public interest.²³ Moreover, none of the actions taken by the commission in this case will preclude the OPC from fully representing the public's interest in future cases because the OPC was able to “urge therein any position which he or she deem[ed] to be in the public interest” in this rate-making proceeding.²⁴ Finally, the fact situation of Mayo was completely different and the holding was not intended to extend to the factual circumstances present here.²⁵ In Mayo, OPC was unable to cross-examine Gulf Power witnesses or present any direct evidence contradictory to the data supplied by Gulf Power because it indicated it was not prepared due to the commission's notice of hearing specifying such facets of the hearing would be held at a later date.²⁶ As a result, the commission issued an order granting Gulf Power a rate increase without OPC ever being provided an opportunity to introduce evidence.²⁷ Here, the OPC fully represented citizens in ten days of hearings regarding FPL's petition for a rate increase and also fully participated in hearings regarding the proposed settlement agreement by submitting prefiled testimony, participating in discovery, presenting evidence in opposition to the settlement agreement, and filing post-hearing briefs.²⁸ Thus, the OPC was not precluded from zealously representing citizens, but was provided multiple opportunities to urge the public's position on FPL's petition and subsequent settlement agreement.²⁹

Electric Utilities

1. Extended Billing Period and Tiered Rates

Public utilities are allowed to use tiered billing, in which a higher rate is charged for higher levels of use, as a way to encourage conservation. They also are allowed to vary their billing period from the standard month-long period. Recently a utility adjusted its billing period for one billing cycle “as part of an ongoing process started in May 2013 to streamline the company’s routes for meter-reading throughout central and northern Florida.”³⁰ As a result of the extended billing period, some customers’ total usage for the extended billing period increased such that a tiered rate was applicable, even though their average daily use did not increase during that period. After many complaints, the utility agreed to refund all increased charges.³¹

2. Public Utility Deposits

Section 366.05, F.S. provides for the powers of the PSC including the power to prescribe fair and reasonable rates and charges. Based in part on this authority, the commission has adopted a rule on customer deposits.³² As to the amount of the deposit, the rule requires each public utility’s tariff to contain the utility’s specific criteria for determining the amount of initial deposit. After a customer has had continuous service for a period of 23 months, has established a satisfactory payment record, and has not done any of a list of actions or non-actions which disqualify it for a refund, the utility must:

- Refund a residential customer’s deposits, and
- At its option, either refund or pay the higher rate of interest³³ for nonresidential deposits.

The rule also allows for an increase in the deposit amount:

(3) New or additional deposits. A utility may require, upon reasonable written notice of not less than thirty (30) days, a new deposit, where previously waived or returned, or additional deposit, in order to secure payment of current bills. Such request shall be separate and apart from any bill for service and shall explain the reason for such new or additional deposit, provided, however, that the total amount of the required deposit shall not exceed an amount equal to twice the average charges for actual usage of electric service for the twelve month period immediately prior to the date of notice. In the event the customer has had service less than twelve months, then the utility shall base its new or additional deposit upon the average actual monthly usage available.

The phrase “an amount equal to twice the average charges for actual usage of electric service for the twelve month period immediately prior to the date of notice” is ambiguous; however, it has consistently been interpreted and implemented to mean that the total amount of the deposit required by the utility may not exceed twice the average bill for the immediately preceding twelve months.³⁴

Recently there have been complaints that a utility was demanding deposit increases in excess of the rules.³⁵

3. Most Advantageous Rate

Utilities have different customer classes and a variety of rates applicable within each class based on usage amounts and patterns. Recently there were complaints that a utility was billing some customers using rates that were inappropriately high.³⁶

Florida Energy Efficiency and Conservation Act

Sections 366.80-366.83 and 403.519, F.S., are the “Florida Energy Efficiency and Conservation Act.” Section 366.82, F.S., provides for setting efficiency and conservation goals and establishing plans and programs to meet the overall goals. This section was amended in 2008 to require the commission to adopt appropriate goals for increasing the development of demand-side renewable energy systems. The term “demand-side renewable energy” means a system located on a customer’s premises generating thermal or electric energy using Florida renewable energy resources and primarily intended to offset all or part of the customer’s electricity requirements provided such system does not exceed 2 megawatts.

To implement this requirement, the PSC created a five-year solar pilot project, and each year the utilities collected money for these purposes. At the most recent goal-setting hearings, the utilities proposed ending the project early, and there was concern about what they might do with remaining funds.

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

Florida Public Service Commission – Meetings

Section 1 amends s. 350.01, F.S., which establishes the Florida Public Service Commission (PSC or commission) and provides for its proceedings. The bill requires that the commission hold at least one public customer service meeting per year in the service territory of each public utility regulated by the commission which supplies electricity. Additionally, it must hold a public customer service meeting in the service territory of each water or wastewater utility that is subject to regulation under chapter 367, F.S., if at least 10 percent of the customers of that utility file a written request. The meeting must be held within a reasonable time after receipt of the request.

Finally, the bill requires that specified meetings be streamed live on the Internet, with a recorded copy of the meeting available afterward on the commission's web page. This requirement applies to:

- Each meeting, including an internal affairs meeting, workshop, hearing, or proceeding that is attended by two or more commissioners, and
- Each meeting, workshop, hearing, or proceeding at which a decision is made which concerns the rights or obligations of any person.

Florida Public Service Commission – Appointment

Section 2 amends s. 350.031, F.S., which creates the Florida Public Service Commission Nominating Council and provides its duties and procedures. The bill recognizes that the purpose of the council is to select nominees to be appointed to an arm of the legislative branch of government and requires a person who lobbies a member of the council, whether a legislator or nonlegislator, to register as a legislative lobbyist pursuant to s. 11.045, F.S., and comply with the requirements of that section.

This will require the person to:

- Make a separate registration each principal represented,
- Include a statement signed by the principal or principal's representative that the registrant is authorized to represent the principal which identifies the principal's main business,
- State the extent of any direct business association or partnership with any current member of the Legislature,
- Preserve for a period of 4 years all accounts, bills, receipts, computer records, books, papers, and other documents and records necessary to substantiate compensation,
- Through his or her lobbying firm, file a compensation report for each calendar quarter during any portion of which the person was registered to represent a principal,
- Refrain from making, directly or indirectly, any expenditure to the benefit of any council member, and
- Be subject to a prohibition against knowingly failing to disclose any material fact required by this section or rules, or knowingly providing false information on any report required by this section or rules, with a violation of the prohibition a noncriminal infraction punishable by a fine not to exceed $5,000.

PSC Commissioner Standards of Conduct – Generally

Section 3 amends s. 350.041, F.S., on Commissioners' standards of conduct to require that beginning January 1, 2016, each commissioner must annually complete 4 hours of ethics training that addresses, at a minimum, s. 8, Art. II of the State Constitution on ethics in government, the Code of Ethics for Public Officers and Employees, and the public records and public meetings laws of this state. This requirement may be satisfied by completion of a continuing legal education class or other continuing professional education class, seminar, or presentation, if the required subjects are covered.

PSC Commissioner Standards of Conduct – Ex Parte Communications

Section 4 amends s 350.042, F.S., which provides for ex parte communications involving commissioners. The statute currently prohibits a commissioner from initiating or considering ex parte communications concerning any proceeding other than a rulemaking proceeding, a declaratory statement proceeding, workshops, or internal affairs meetings, and prohibits an individual from discussing ex parte with a commissioner the merits of any issue that he or she knows will be filed with the commission within 90 days. The bill specifies that the prohibition applies to a proceeding under ss. 120.569 or 120.57 (proceedings in which a party has a substantial affected interest involved) and expands the current 90-day language to 180 days.

The bill recognizes the value of having commissioners attend educational programs, conferences, and meetings of an association of regulatory agencies, and provides requirements for attendance and participation in such meetings that are intended to avoid a violation of the ex parte prohibition. While participating in these meetings, a commissioner must refrain from commenting on or discussing the subject matter of any proceeding covered by the prohibition and must use reasonable care to ensure that the content of a meeting in which the commissioner participates is not designed to address or create a forum to influence the commissioner on the subject matter of any such proceeding.

The bill requires the Governor to remove from office any commissioner found by the Commission on Ethics to have willfully and knowingly violated this section.

Public Counsel and Settlement Agreements

Section 5 amends s. 350.0611, F.S., on powers and duties of the Public Counsel. The bill prohibits submission of a settlement agreement to the PSC, and prohibits the PSC from approving a settlement agreement, if the Public Counsel participated as a party in the relevant PSC proceeding as a party and is not a party to the settlement.

This appears to be in reaction to the Citizens of the State of Florida, etc., v. Florida Public Service Commission case discussed in the Present Situation section above. Read in isolation, this section could be taken to codify OPC's arguments in that case. However, part of the Florida Supreme Court's reasoning in that case was that:

- The PSC is an arm of the legislative branch and is to perform its duties independently; that the commission has exclusive jurisdiction to fix electric utilities' rates; and thus, the plain language of the statutes clearly provides that the commission independently determines rates of public utilities and this authority is not conditioned on the OPC's approval or absence of the OPC's objections; and

- The statutes must be interpreted and applied, to the extent possible, with consistency, in harmony, and to give full effect to all, and that it was not possible to apply OPC's argument consistently and with harmony with the PSC's statutory sole authority to independently perform its duties.

Because the bill does change the PSC's independent, exclusive authority and would continue this statutory inconsistency, the bill must intend something else.

The reasonable interpretation seems to be that if the OPC does not agree to a settlement agreement the PSC must proceed as if there were no proposed settlement agreement, holding full evidentiary hearings, hearing pleadings that designate all relief sought, and hearing evidence to substantiate that each item of that relief meets the relevant statutory requirements. This would ensure that all of OPC's concerns are adequately addressed, thereby better protecting the citizens of the State of Florida, while maintaining the PSC's independent authority and the full, consistent, harmonious effect of each statute.

Electric Utilities – Extended Billing Period and Tiered Rates, Deposits, and Most Advantageous Rate

Section 6 amends s. 366.05, F.S, which provides for the powers of the PSC, including the power to prescribe fair and reasonable rates and charges. The bill adds prohibitions and limitations relating to these rates and charges:

- If the commission grants a public utility the authorizes both to charge tiered rates based upon levels of usage and to vary the billing period, the utility may not charge a customer a higher rate because of an increase in usage attributable to an extension of the billing period.
- Notwithstanding any commission rule to the contrary, a utility may not charge or receive a deposit in excess of the following amounts:
 - For an existing customer, the total deposit cannot exceed the total charges for 2 months of average actual usage, calculated by adding the monthly charges from the 12-month period immediately before the date any change in the deposit amount is sought, dividing this total by 12, and multiplying the result by 2.³⁷
 - For a new customer, the amount may not exceed 2 months of projected charges, calculated using the process specified in subparagraph 1. Once a new customer has had continuous service for a 12-month period, the amount of the deposit shall be recalculated, using actual usage data. Any difference between the projected and actual amounts must be resolved by the customer paying any additional amount due or the utility returning any overcharge.
- If a utility has more than one rate for any customer class, it must notify each customer in that class of the available rates and explain how the rate is charged to the customer. If a customer contacts the utility seeking assistance in selecting the most advantageous rate, the utility must provide good faith assistance to the customer. The customer is responsible for charges for service calculated under the selected rate.

³⁷ This appears to codify current PSC practice.

- New tariffs and changes to an existing tariff, other than an administrative change that does not substantially change the meaning or operation of the tariff, must be approved by vote of the commission.

Florida Energy Efficiency and Conservation Act

Section 7 amends s. 366.82, F.S., to require that money received by a utility for implementation of measures to encourage development of demand-side renewable energy systems be used solely for that purpose.
