II. Present Situation:

The Children and Youth Cabinet (Cabinet) was established in 2007 in the Executive Office of the Governor to ensure that Florida's public policy relating to children and youth is developed to promote interdepartmental collaboration and program implementation in order that services designed for children and youth are planned, managed, and delivered in a holistic and integrated manner to improve children's self-sufficiency, safety, economic stability, health, and quality of life.¹

Currently the Cabinet has 16 members, and the President of the Senate, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, the Attorney General, and the Chief Financial Officer, or their appointed designees, serve as ex officio members. The total membership includes:

- The Governor;
- The secretary of the Department of Children and Families;
- The secretary of the Department of Juvenile Justice;
- The director of the Agency for Persons with Disabilities;
- The director of the Office of Early Learning;

The enabling statute specifies that nongovernmental members of the cabinet shall serve without compensation but are entitled to receive per diem and travel expenses in accordance with s. 112.061, F.S., while in performance of their duties.²

The FDA was founded in 1884 and currently has a membership of more than 8,100 licensed dentists. According to the FDA's web site, its mission includes "delivering programs, services, continuing education, and advocacy" for its members.³ The web site also includes information about programs designed to promote and advocate for oral health among Florida's residents, such as the "Florida's Action for Dental Health" program in conjunction with the American Dental Association.⁴
