I. Summary:

The bill limits to $1,000 contributions from a person or political committee to a political committee that is the sponsor of a constitutional amendment proposed by initiative. Political parties and affiliated party committees are not subject to the new contribution limit.

The new contribution limit will no longer apply once the Secretary of State has issued a certificate of ballot position and a designating number for the proposed constitutional amendment.

The bill takes effect July 1, 2021.

II. Present Situation:

Political Committees

Florida law defines “political committee” to mean:

- A combination of two or more individuals, or a person other than an individual, that, in an aggregate amount in excess of $500 during a single calendar year:
  - Accepts contributions for the purpose of making contributions to any candidate,<sup>1</sup> political committee, affiliated party committee, or political party;
  - Accepts contributions for the purpose of expressly advocating the election or defeat of a candidate or the passage or defeat of an issue;

---

<sup>1</sup> Section 106.011(3), F.S., defines “candidate” to mean a person to whom any of the following applies: 1) a person who seeks to qualify for nomination or election by means of the petitioning process; 2) a person who seeks to qualify for election as a write-in candidate; 3) a person who receives contributions or makes expenditures, or consents for any other person to receive contributions or make expenditures, with a view to bring about his or her nomination or election to, or retention in, public office; 4) a person who appoints a treasurer and designates a primary depository; or 5) a person who files qualification papers and subscribes to a candidate’s oath as required by law. The definition excludes any candidate for a political party executive committee.

- Makes expenditures that expressly advocate the election or defeat of a candidate or the passage or defeat of an issue; or
- Makes contributions to a common fund, other than a joint checking account between spouses, from which contributions are made to any candidate, political committee, affiliated party committee, or political party.
- The sponsor of a proposed constitutional amendment by initiative who intends to seek the signatures of registered electors.<sup>2</sup>

Each political committee must file a statement of organization within 10 days after its organization.<sup>3</sup> A political committee which is organized to support or oppose statewide, legislative, or multicounty candidates or issues to be voted upon on a statewide or multicounty basis must file its statement of organization with the Department of State's Division of Elections.<sup>4</sup>

Each political committee must, through a designated campaign treasurer, file regular reports of all contributions received, and all expenditures made, by or on behalf of the political committee.<sup>5</sup> Generally, such reports must include a list of specified information, including, but not limited to, the full name, address, and occupation, if any, of each person who made one or more contributions to or for such committee within the reporting period, together with the amount and date of such contributions.<sup>6</sup>

Proposed Constitutional Amendments, Generally

Amendments to the Florida Constitution can be proposed by five distinct methods: 1) joint legislative resolution, 2) the Constitutional Revision Commission, 3) citizens' initiative, 4) a constitutional convention, or 5) the Taxation and Budget Reform Commission.<sup>7</sup> Depending on the method, all proposed amendments or revisions to the Florida Constitution must be submitted to the electors at the next general election held more than 90 days after the joint resolution or report of revision commission, constitutional convention or taxation and budget reform commission proposing it is filed with the custodian of state records, or for citizen initiatives, if all the required signatures were submitted prior to February 1 of the year in which the general election will be held.<sup>8</sup>

<sup>2</sup> Section 106.011(16)(a), F.S. The following entities are not considered political committees: 1) national political parties, the state and county executive committees of political parties, and affiliated party committees; 2) corporations or other business entities formed for purposes other than to support or oppose issues or candidates, if their political activities are limited to contributions to candidates, political parties, affiliated party committees, or political committees or expenditures in support of or opposition to an issue from corporate or business funds and if no contributions are received by such corporations or business entities; or 3) electioneering communications organizations (s. 106.011(16)(b), F.S.).

The Florida Constitution mandates that all proposed amendments or revisions<sup>9</sup> be adopted by at least a 60% affirmative vote of those electors voting on the measure.

Citizens' Initiatives

The Florida Constitution provides citizens the right to propose constitutional amendments through an initiative petition process.<sup>10</sup> The process includes the following signature requirements:

- The total number of signatures must be equal to at least eight percent of the number of voters in the last presidential election.
- The signatures must come from voters in at least one-half of the congressional districts of the state.<sup>11</sup>

The steps in the citizens' initiative petition process are as follows:

- The individual or group wishing to propose an amendment must register as a political committee with the Department of State's Division of Elections (Division).<sup>12</sup>
- The sponsoring political committee must submit its initiative petition form to the Division for approval of its format.<sup>13</sup>
- After the Division approves the format of a petition form, the Division assigns a serial number to the initiative petition.<sup>14</sup>
- After assignment of a serial number, the sponsoring political committee may begin circulating petitions for signature by registered Florida voters.<sup>15</sup>
- Each signed initiative petition form must be submitted by the sponsoring political committee to the supervisor of elections' office in the county of residence of the signee for signature verification.<sup>16</sup>
- When the sponsoring political committee has obtained specified thresholds for verified signatures,<sup>17</sup> the Secretary of State (Secretary) sends the petition to the Attorney General,<sup>18</sup> who must within 30 days of receipt petition the Florida Supreme Court (Court) for an advisory opinion as to whether the text of the proposed amendment complies with state constitutional requirements<sup>19</sup>, whether the proposed amendment is facially invalid under the United States Constitution, and whether the proposed ballot title and substance comply with statutory requirements<sup>20, 21</sup> The Secretary concurrently sends a copy of the petition to the Financial Impact Estimating Conference, which completes and submits to the Court a financial impact statement for the proposed amendment.<sup>22</sup>

- By February 1 of the year of the general election, the Secretary determines whether the required number and distribution of signatures has been met.<sup>23</sup> If so, the Secretary issues a certificate of ballot position to the sponsoring political committee.<sup>24</sup> No later than the next day, the Division director assigns the designated number for the proposed amendment.<sup>25</sup>

Political Contribution Limits

No person<sup>26</sup> or political committee (except for political parties or affiliated party committees<sup>27</sup>) may contribute in excess of:

- $3,000 to a candidate for statewide office or for retention as a Supreme Court Justice; or
- $1,000 to a candidate for retention as a judge of a district court of appeal, a candidate for legislative office, a candidate for countywide office or in any election conducted on less than a countywide basis, or a candidate for county judge or circuit judge.<sup>28</sup>

Florida law does not currently limit contributions to a political committee.

III. Effect of Proposed Changes:

The bill adds to existing contribution limits for persons and political committees to provide that a person or political committee may not contribute more than $1,000 to a political committee that is the sponsor of a constitutional amendment proposed by initiative.

The new contribution limit will no longer apply once the Secretary of State has issued a certificate of ballot position and a designating number for the proposed constitutional amendment.

The bill takes effect July 1, 2021.

<sup>20</sup> Section 101.161, F.S., provides format and content requirements for ballot titles and summaries. The ballot summary must be an explanatory statement, not exceeding 75 words in length, of the chief purpose of the measure. The ballot title must consist of a caption, not exceeding 15 words in length, by which the measure is commonly referred to or spoken of. However, those requirements do not apply to amendments or revisions proposed by joint resolution of the Legislature. All proposals are subject to requirements pertaining to a financial impact statement that must be included in the ballot summary.

<sup>26</sup> A “person” is an individual or a corporation, association, firm, partnership, joint venture, joint stock company, club, organization, estate, trust, business trust, syndicate, or other combination of individuals having collective capacity (s. 106.011(14), F.S.). The term includes a political party, affiliated party committee, or political committee.

<sup>27</sup> The leader of each political party conference of the House of Representatives and the Senate may establish a separate, affiliated party committee to support the election of candidates of the leader’s political party (s. 103.092(2), F.S.). Affiliated party committees are subject to the same provisions of ch. 106, F.S., as are political parties.

IV. Constitutional Issues:*A. Municipality/County Mandates Restrictions:

Not applicable. Bills that affect state or local elections are exempt from Art. VII, s. 18 of the Florida Constitution.

B. Public Records/Open Meetings Issues:

None.

C. Trust Funds Restrictions:

None.

D. State Tax or Fee Increases:

None.

E. Other Constitutional Issues:

The United States Supreme Court has issued numerous opinions defining First Amendment freedom of speech limits on election laws, including some specifically related to ballot-initiative petitions.

The Court has concluded that the circulation of such petitions represents core political speech and merits the highest level of protection.<sup>29</sup> However, the Court also has recognized that regulation of elections is necessary to ensure fairness and order.<sup>30</sup> States allowing ballot initiatives have considerable leeway to protect the integrity and reliability of the initiative process, as they have with respect to election processes generally.<sup>31</sup> So, restrictions on an initiative process will only be upheld against a First Amendment challenge if such restrictions “protect the integrity and reliability of the initiative process” and do not “unjustifiably inhibit the circulation of ballot-initiative petitions.”<sup>32</sup>

In First Amendment challenges to laws governing initiative petitions, the Court has analyzed whether the restrictions in question significantly inhibit communication with voters about proposed political change and, if so, whether they are warranted by the state interests alleged to justify those restrictions.<sup>33</sup> A key factor considered by the Court in this context is whether the effect of the law will limit the number of persons who carry the initiative proponents’ message, and, consequently, reduce the size of the audience initiative proponents can reach.<sup>34</sup> In striking down a ban on paid petition circulators, the Court held that the challenged restriction reduced the chances that initiative proponents would gather signatures sufficient in number to qualify for the ballot, and thus limited proponents' ability to make the matter the focus of statewide discussion; the restriction imposed a burden on political expression that the state failed to justify.<sup>35</sup>

Additional examples of initiative petition restrictions struck down by the Court include:

- A requirement that petition circulators be registered voters.<sup>36</sup>
- A requirement that petition circulators wear a name badge.<sup>37</sup>
- A requirement that initiative sponsors disclose specified information about all petition circulators.<sup>38</sup>
- A $250 limit on contributions to committees formed to support or oppose ballot measure referenda.<sup>39</sup>

Examples of initiative petition restrictions upheld by the courts include:

- A minimum age requirement for petition circulators.<sup>40</sup>
- A six-month limit on the time period in which petitions can be circulated.<sup>41</sup>
- A requirement that a circulator attach to each petition section an affidavit containing the circulator's identifying information and a statement that he or she has read and understands the laws governing the circulation of petitions.<sup>42</sup>
- Single subject and unambiguous title requirements.<sup>43</sup>
- A requirement that the names of contributors and the amounts contributed be disclosed.<sup>44</sup>

This bill creates a limit on contributions to political committees sponsoring ballot initiatives during the time period in which the sponsoring committees are circulating petitions and attempting to gather a number of signatures sufficient to gain access to the ballot.
