CALL TO ORDER

The Senate was called to order by Faye W. Blanton, Secretary of the Senate, at 10:00 a.m.

PRAYER

The following prayer was offered by the Rev. Frederick A. Buechner, Rector, All Saints Episcopal Church, Thomasville, Georgia.

Most gracious God, the fountain of all wisdom, Whose statutes are good and gracious and Whose Law is Truth; we humbly beseech Thee for the State of Florida in general, and so in particular for its Senate here assembled; that Thou wouldest be pleased to direct, sanctify, and prosper all their consultations to the advancement of Thy Glory, the good of Thy Church, and the honor and welfare of Thy people and that they may ordain for our governance only such things as please Thee.

We ask thy blessing upon this Senate body, her members and officers to be sworn in today. Grant that all things may be so ordered and settled by their endeavours, upon the best and surest foundations: that peace and happiness, truth and justice, religion and piety, may be established among us for all generations.

These and all other necessities, for them and for us, we humbly beg in Thy Name.

Amen.

builders if you will, must be nurtured and encouraged in order to maintain and ensure our healthy prosperity.

There is no question that the next few years will be times of great challenge. But, with great challenge there is always tremendous opportunity. The people of this state, indeed this nation, have shown us how little they care about the partisanship of political parties. By their votes they have yelled, loud and clear, that they want us all—rich, poor, black, white, urban, agricultural—to pull together for them!

The man whose name I place in nomination today is superbly suited to embrace the challenge of the conflicts some say will confront us, and lead us all in rising above those conflicts to the greater good. His tenure as President of the Florida Senate will enhance the character and reputation of the political process in our great state.

John McKay knows well that this august body is the steward of this state's future and of its prosperity. He acknowledges the fact that as Senators—truly representatives of the people—our responsibilities extend far beyond the political rhetoric of the moment. John knows that in Florida, conflict and the intrigues of history have always led, inevitably, to a greater and a stronger resolution.

He knows that within our prosperity there are those in need of help; in need of hope! He knows that there are those in quest of simple shelter. There are those who are old, sick and weak, who must be cared for as we would want to be cared for ourselves. There are young children in desperate need of the compassionate arms a loving home provides, and there are deserving youths who have limiting abilities, but who desire, like all of us, to lead productive and fulfilling lives. There are also the troubled young citizens who need strong, but loving, disciplined direction.

As a successful small business man, John understands that there are Florida citizens willing to ensure the continuation of our prosperity if we but give them the economic encouragement and the freedom to pursue their dreams. One need only look at Senator McKay's previously-passed legislation to understand that he has a strong feeling and commitment about all these challenges.

Indeed he has formulated his agenda, once elected, to address each and every one!

Thomas Jefferson, in a caution to government, stated that "... no more good must be attempted than the public can bear."

Today, Floridians are expecting us to do more "good" than ever before. Florida is a magnificent state, blessed with far more good than we can consume and strong enough to bear the greatest responsibility for the care of our own people.

Can we rise to the occasion? Of course. Will we? That truly depends on all of us; but to get there, we need great leadership, and it is my honor and privilege to nominate John McKay as the person who is best able to lead this body in the new century in quest of a return to Florida's greatness.

The Secretary recognized Senator Silver who seconded the nomination of Senator McKay.

Senator Silver: I am particularly pleased and privileged to second the nomination of John McKay for President of the Florida Senate.

I was thinking about where I've been in the past. I have been privileged that the people of my district have been good enough to send me up here where I have served under seven presiding officers in the Florida House of Representatives and now this will be the fifth presiding officer in the Florida Senate. I really believe that all of them have something in common. They emphasize a particular issue that they want to accomplish. They care about every issue, obviously, but there is emphasis on a particular issue.

I think Senator McKay has it right when he has concerns about human services. Why does he have concerns about human services? Because simply, he cares about people. He cares about people who cannot help themselves, people who want the opportunity to succeed, the opportunity to have a fruitful life. And he cares deeply about those people. He will, and it has already been demonstrated by his sponsorship of certain bills, go forward and carry that passion that we need and direct us in the way to accomplish those objectives.

INTRODUCTION OF FORMER PRESIDENTS

The Secretary announced that the Senate was honored by the presence of former Presidents Mallory Horne, Philip Lewis, John Vogt, Commissioner of Agriculture Bob Crawford, and James Scott and his wife, Janice.

INTRODUCTION OF SPECIAL GUESTS

The Secretary introduced the following special guests: Governor Jeb Bush; Lieutenant Governor Frank Brogan; Attorney General Robert A. Butterworth; Commissioner of Education Tom Gallagher, Insurance Commissioner-elect; Secretary of State Katherine Harris; Comptroller Robert F. Milligan; and Insurance Commissioner Bill Nelson, U.S. Senator-elect.

The Secretary also introduced former Senators Charlie Crist, Commissioner of Education-elect; Congressman Mark Foley; John Grant; George Kirkpatrick; Van Poole and Javier Souto.

ORGANIZATION

The Senate proceeded to the organization of the body.

NOMINATIONS FOR PRESIDENT

The Secretary announced that nominations would be received for President of the Senate, pursuant to Article III, Section 2 of the Constitution, for a term of two years.

The Secretary recognized Senator King who placed in nomination the name of Senator John McKay of the 26th Senatorial District.

Senator King: Fellow Senators, honored guests, visitors and all the people across this great country watching all or part of this today, I am honored to place Senator John McKay's name in nomination for President of Florida's Senate.

Like all of you, I'm dismayed with our state's negative portrayal nationally. We finished October as one of the most aggressive and progressive states in the history of these United States, and we are leaving November as the target of jokesters and political pundits everywhere.

Though we are all, Democrat and Republican alike, castigated and vilified by all of this national attention, we must not forget what Florida truly has been and, in fact, still is. Under the leadership of John McKay, the Florida Senate (and for that matter our state as a whole), will continue to be a compelling laboratory of democracy—a democracy that works.

In four centuries, the flags of five different nations have flown over the Land of Flowers. Today, our Florida, the nation's fourth largest state, is home to a dynamic and diverse population that reflects the very best ambitions of America.

- We are the favorite tourist destination of the world.
- We are the commercial and cultural gateway to the hemisphere.
- We are the threshold of mankind's journey to space, the stars and distant galaxies.
- We are both the past and the future of all that is best in America. We are a state blessed with great wealth, and we acknowledge the fact that wealth requires a corresponding sense of great compassion.
- We are the inheritors of the great American entrepreneurial spirit and we know that the energy and creativity of the entrepreneurs, the

He has already sponsored bills that created the Commission on the Homeless, a study on children with developmental delays, a task force on victims of self-inflicted crimes, and a task force on the availability and affordability of long-term care. That is all evidence of the type of person that is going to lead us in the proper direction for the next two years.

He also is deeply concerned about another issue, foster care. How we deal with our children who don't have particularly anybody, that in some instances don't want them, don't love them, or don't care about them. But we are going to change that all around because we are going to have the appropriate direction to do so. We are going to have a leader who is going to emphasize that particular issue and move us forward. I am looking forward to working with Senator McKay.

I stand up here as a Democrat nominating a Republican to be President of the Senate. I hope that serves, as Senator King has just mentioned, as an indication of how this body is going to proceed for the next two years. We are going to proceed in a bipartisan way, regardless of what is going on out there in the streets or what's happening nationally. This body has always, under the leadership of great presidents that I've served under—Senator Crenshaw, Senator Thomas, Senator Scott and Senator Jennings—come together and has done the work of the people of the State of Florida.

I want to tell you, if you think there is controversy now, this will be my third reapportionment session that I've gone through. That truly is a nonpartisan situation where people really rise to the occasion. So we will be able to see what happens in that regard. We have made it through all those. We have survived. And I can tell you, we can survive whatever is going on now. We will, in this body, under the leadership of Senator McKay.

Now there is one issue that I am going to differ with Senator McKay on. This is more important, quite frankly, than what is going on over there, or out there. That is the Bowl Championship Series Poll. Now we all know how that is figured out. Some computer is out there doing these figures and going forward. Well, I want you to know that I am insisting upon and I hope Senator McKay will join with me in asking for a manual recount of those particular figures.

On behalf of the University of Miami, I am pleased and privileged to second the nomination of Senator John McKay as President of the Florida Senate.

The Secretary recognized Senator Sullivan who further seconded the nomination of Senator McKay.

Senator Sullivan: I rise to second the nomination of Senator McKay to be the next President of the Florida Senate.

Senator McKay brings to this office a family tradition of community service, a distinguished record of political involvement and an extraordinary legislative record of accomplishment. He has the qualities of leadership and he has the experience to lead us for the next two years as we work for the benefit of all Floridians.

The McKay family tradition of community leadership and service is woven into the history of the State of Florida and the city of Tampa.

The tradition begins in the early 1800s with the arrival in Tampa of a Scotsman, a sea captain, James McKay. With his shipping line, he established the first regular contacts with the "outside world" for the new city of Tampa.

In 1848, after a devastating hurricane, he brought lumber from Mobile aboard his steamship and rebuilt a permanent house in Tampa. He opened the cattle trade with Cuba. Later, he was elected Mayor in 1858 and was responsible for building the courthouse. During the Civil War, he was a blockade-runner and, serving as Tampa's commissary officer, he organized the "Cowboy Cavalry" to protect and move cattle to the Southern troops.

In the aftermath of the Civil War, the state economy was in shambles and the McKay family had been devastated financially and their enterprises ruined. Captain McKay's son, and John's great uncle, Donald, or DB as he was known, began work at the age of 14 as a reporter for the local newspaper, the Tampa Times. Eventually he served as editor, and later owner of the local paper. He was elected Mayor in 1910, and over the next 30 years, he served 16 years. During Mayor DB McKay's lifetime, he received numerous degrees and awards, founded the Tampa

The prestigious DB McKay award, and part of Tampa Bay called McKay Bay, remain today as monuments to his memory.

Senator McKay's great uncle, James McKay, was a member of the Florida Senate from 1881 through 1893. Senator McKay's grandfather served as Clerk of the Criminal Court and Deputy Clerk of the Circuit Court in Tampa.

In 1993, John eulogized his father on the floor of the Senate, describing a lifetime of service to his community.

At an early age, it was apparent that John was a thoughtful man. He was a sharp dresser—an early protagonist of the parallel theory of dress and tooth arrangement.

John M. McKay was raised in Winter Haven. Some have claimed that he had an early desire to attract attention.

He was President of the Polk Junior College Student Government, and in a fit of bipartisanship, represented then-State Senator Lawton Chiles on the campus when the latter was running for reelection. As a student in college, John served as the intern for the House Education Committee. College student John McKay was a Young Republican activist at the Republican convention in 1968 supporting Rockefeller against Nixon as part of the "New Majority," working for a "change." Bad choice, John.

Early on, John took a personal stand for personal freedom for cowboy hats and against bicycle helmets and motorcycle helmets. But he always supported law and order.

John's interest in sports and football go back to his early years. An early interest in bass fishing consolidated his support for conservation issues culminating in his support for preservation of the Kirkpatrick Dam.

Growing up in Winter Haven, he developed a love for the outdoors. This has shaped his strong position on the right to bear arms. An early picture shows him demonstrating his support for that position.

My personal connections with John began in 1990. I met then-candidate John McKay at the foot of Air Force One while greeting President George Bush during one of the President's campaign stops.

We were candidates in 1990 and, while I was unsuccessful, John went on to win by a comfortable margin. Two years later, I was elected and we found ourselves together again, our aging fathers sitting proudly with us on the floor for the organizational session. Unknown to me at the time, my brother, who is an orthopedic surgeon, was taking care of John's father's orthopedic problems. Both of our fathers died shortly after that session. We were both pleased that they had met and enjoyed the sight of their sons serving in the legislature.

John has a wonderful family. His mother Ann, his wife Michelle, and three beautiful daughters provide him with the love and support that he will need in the next two years.

For the last eight years, I have served with John. I look forward to doing that for another two years. I can think of no other person whom I would rather have as President of the Florida Senate. Those of us who have been here for some time have seen the President of the Senate ask John to take on a laundry list of tough issues, including health care, foster care, prepaid health care, vouchers and tort reform.

When I was chairman of Appropriations, I worked with him as he represented his district—and to my great distraction, he did that tirelessly. He is a dedicated legislator who knows the system and who will make the system work.

We all like dealing with people who are focused, but open to honest discussion. John is like that. I like the opportunity to disagree with people who are interested and open, people who freely express their views and who respect yours—for then both of us learn and grow. John is like that.

Many of you are new to the Senate. John is a team captain, and he wants and expects everyone on the team to contribute. All of us will be invited to play a part for the next two years. His will be an inclusive Presidency.

John has the courage to grow in his opinions. He has the wisdom to know what he does not know, and the candor to admit it. He has the courage to stand up to his enemies and, when necessary, to stand up to his friends. He is a man of dedication, not mortgaged to any individual or group, uncompromised by the desire for attention or by the need to receive credit. He is devoted to serving the public good.

John McKay has a family history of contributing. He has a personal record of involvement. He has the strength of his convictions and direction. I am pleased to second the nomination of John McKay as President of the Florida State Senate for the next two years.

On motion by Senator Sullivan, nominations for President were closed.

ELECTION OF PRESIDENT

The roll was called on the election of the President and each Senator voted in the affirmative by saying "John McKay."

OATH OF OFFICE ADMINISTERED

On motion by Senator Clary that a committee be appointed to escort Senator McKay to the bar of the Senate and to the rostrum, the Secretary appointed Senators Clary, Jones, Klein and Saunders. Senator McKay was escorted to the bar of the Senate where the oath of office was administered to him by The Honorable Major B. Harding, Justice, Florida Supreme Court, and then to the rostrum where he was seated.

On motion by Senator Horne that a committee be appointed to escort Mrs. McKay to the rostrum of the Senate, the Secretary appointed Senators Campbell, Carlton, Lee and Peaden. Mrs. McKay was received by the President, presented to the Senate and seated.

The Secretary presented the gavel to President McKay.

PRESIDENT MCKAY PRESIDING

INTRODUCTION OF PRESIDENT'S FAMILY AND GUESTS

The President introduced his family, who were seated in the chamber: his wife Michelle Dodson McKay; his daughter and son-in-law Tricia and Scott May and granddaughter Healey Jane May; his daughters Sara Jane and Meredith McKay; his mother Mrs. John W. McKay; his wife's parents Joe and Beverly Whitley; his sister-in-law Lynn Dodson; his wife's aunt and uncle, former House Speaker Don Tucker and his wife Joan. The President also introduced family friends Frank Rosenblum and Stan Stephens; Chairman of the Republican Party of Florida, Al Cardenas; and other friends and staff who were present in the chamber.

NOMINATIONS FOR PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE

The President announced that nominations would now be received for President Pro Tempore for a term of two years and recognized Senator Latvala who placed in nomination the name of Senator Ginny Brown-Waite of the 10th Senatorial District.

Senator Latvala: It is a great honor to place in nomination for the office of Senate President Pro Tempore the name of my friend, Senator Ginny Brown-Waite of Hernando County.

I think Senator Brown-Waite could well be characterized as the conscience of the Florida Senate. Time after time she has demonstrated characteristics to which we all aspire, but don't always achieve—integrity, courage, hard work on behalf of her constituents and on issues to which she is assigned and complete independence.

I've been on the same side and on opposite sides of Senator Brown-Waite. No one stands taller or fights harder for what he or she believes than the Senator.

We are accused of making decisions for many different reasons, because of how special interests want us to vote, because of how editorial boards want us to vote or because of rigid philosophical predispositions. Ginny Brown-Waite makes decisions on one basis—what is right.

I think it is right for the Florida Senate to have Ginny Brown-Waite to be our President Pro Tempore.

The President recognized Senator Laurent who seconded the nomination of Senator Brown-Waite.

Senator Laurent: It is my honor and it is with great pleasure that I rise to second the nomination of Senator Ginny Brown-Waite as President Pro Tempore of the Florida Senate.

I have worked with Senator Brown-Waite as an individual Senator and as Chairman of the Polk County delegation, of which Senator Brown-Waite is a member. I have worked with Senator Brown-Waite and I have worked against Senator Brown-Waite on issues. It is with personal knowledge and experience that I can state that Senator Brown-Waite has shown that she has the integrity, the strength and toughness, the courage to be part of the leadership team to help lead this Senate into the next century. So it is with great pleasure that I second the nomination of Senator Brown-Waite as Senate President Pro Tempore.

The President recognized Senator Carlton who further seconded the nomination of Senator Brown-Waite.

Senator Carlton: Mr. President, fellow Senators and guests in the chamber and gallery, I consider it a very special honor to second the nomination of Senator Ginny Brown-Waite as President Pro Tempore of the Florida Senate. What can I say about the tough lady in the Senate? She has a reputation for taking on the hard and controversial issues, of giving it her all and refusing to back down. She has earned the respect of her peers for her tenacity.

You know from a woman's perspective, Senator Brown-Waite, the only real drawback in the world of government is that you have to deal with men. Ginny is known for her diplomacy. A diplomat is a person who can tell you to get lost in such a way that you actually look forward to the trip. She is a woman of integrity steeped in wisdom who has fought for consumer rights and women and children's issues. She is involved and determined and, as we all know, this job entails long hours, frustration and an infinite amount of patience.

That is why her roles as a wife, mother and even a grandmother make her uniquely qualified to serve in this position. She often tells us that her children got so old so fast because she was born pregnant. I'm not sure if that is true, but in the past few years I have grown to understand that statement. She has earned the reputation as someone who cares about children, and has helped craft public policy to protect children and women.

Ginny secured the first legislative appropriation for a spouse abuse shelter in her area. It was a result of her vote on the tobacco third-party liability lawsuit that Florida is receiving millions of dollars each year for health care, especially for children. That money funds the Kidcare Health Insurance Program, which she sponsored while she was the Health Committee Chairman. Children statewide are healthier today as a result of that program.

In addition to the two daughters she gave birth to, Ginny also adopted an older special needs child. That experience gave her a valuable insight into the foster care and adoption problems facing our state. Realizing the problems, she took on the system and she demanded changes in child protective services and the privatized foster care program statewide to allow the community social service groups, not H.R.S. and Children and Families, to perform this important function.

Ginny has the ability to work with all parties and think about compromise and progress by using a nonpartisan approach to the issues. She knows that the aim of an argument or discussion should not be victory, but progress. I've worked with Ginny on a number of issues and have come to realize that one woman with courage makes a majority and her strong beliefs and desire to do the right thing will guide us through the next two years.

On motion by Senator Carlton, nominations for President Pro Tempore were closed.

INTRODUCTION BY THE PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE

The President Pro Tempore introduced her husband, Harvey Waite.

ADDRESS BY THE PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE

The President presented the President Pro Tempore who addressed the Senate as follows:

Senator Brown-Waite: First of all, I want to thank you for your vote of confidence. I look forward to working with each and every one of you. We have some new members, so we promise not to harass you too much. Despite the rumors, I'm not all that tough.

I remember once I said to my husband, "Harvey, how come people say that I'm tough?" He looked at me and he said "Because you are." I guess that's just a burden that I'll have to carry. I promise to be tough but very, very fair and also very bipartisan as many of you know.

I look forward to working with our President, John McKay, and with each and every one of you. I would be very remiss if I didn't also thank my family. I have two daughters out-of-state. The daughter who's in-state had to work last night. She wanted to drive up early this morning. I told her, "Absolutely not." She's a nurse who works twelve hours and I told her, "No." We are going to all be together for Thanksgiving.

My husband, Harvey, is often referred to as "Saint Harvey." Now I don't know if it's any reflection on the fact that I have to be away so much or the fact that he has to have me for a wife. I don't know but I would be very remiss if I didn't thank my husband for so much of his sacrifice and so much of his always being there and always being extremely supportive. I'm very fortunate to have a wonderful family.

I look forward to the next two years working with you all. Thank you.

CERTIFICATE RECEIVED

By direction of the President, the Secretary read a certificate from the Minority (Democratic) Party certifying the name of Senator Tom Rossin as Minority Leader, Senator Daryl L. Jones as Minority Leader Pro Tempore and Senators Richard Mitchell and Kendrick Meek as Minority Whips for the 2000-2002 term.

President McKay: Congratulations, Senator Rossin, I'm pleased to call you my friend. I'm looking forward to working closely with you over the next two years. Would you honor us by making a few comments to the body?

Senator Rossin: Thank you, Mr. President. It's my pleasure. First, if I could have a word with my colleagues in the Democratic Caucus who honored me earlier this morning by electing me as the Democratic Leader of the Florida Senate. Thank you. I am honored and I'm humbled. I'll do my very best to live up to the confidence that you have placed in me. I'll work every day to fulfill that promise. Mr. President, in the spirit of friendship and respect—with all the Democrats—I congratulate you on your election to the Florida Senate Presidency.

Mr. President and members of the majority, you have our assurance that in the finest tradition in the Florida Senate and on behalf of the people of Florida who have sent us here to do their business, we Democrats will work with you in a bipartisan and collegial fashion to make our state a better place and build a more secure future for our children. You can also be assured, Mr. President, that we will conduct ourselves in a manner befitting this awesome institution. I look forward to working with you and with every member of the Senate. Thank you very much.

President McKay: Thank you, Senator Rossin, I'm confident we will work well together as we have in the past.

ELECTION OF SECRETARY

The President recognized Senator Bronson, who placed in nomination the name of Faye Blanton as Secretary of the Senate.

Senator Bronson: Thank you, Mr. President. It is my great honor and pleasure to rise and nominate Secretary Faye Blanton to return as our Secretary of the Florida Senate. Faye has been our Secretary for the last four years. She served as Assistant Secretary for 14 years and began her career with the Senate during the organization session in 1970, which means she will have served the Florida Senate for 30 years as of today. I think we ought to congratulate her on those years of service. Faye knows the legislature, the process that we go through, and she's proud to be a part of the Senate institution that she has so proudly served for 30 years.

Two years ago, Faye served dual roles as the Secretary of the Senate and the Secretary of the 1997-1998 Constitution Revision Commission. She and her staff supported both the Senate and the Revision Commission at the same time for more than a year, and what a job that had to be.

Faye currently serves on the Executive Committee of the American Society of Legislative Clerks and Secretaries, the national organization of her peers from all over the United States. We are proud of Faye's accomplishments and all of the improvements she has made in the way that we do business in the Florida Senate. She and her staff serve the entire Senate loyally and well. It is an honor to nominate Faye Wester Blanton to serve as Secretary of the Florida Senate for the 2000-2002 term.

The President recognized Senator Jones who seconded the nomination of Faye Blanton as Secretary of the Senate.

Senator Jones: As Senator Bronson just said, Faye and her staff have worked tirelessly and loyally for the entire state Senate. She has represented this position with the dignity and class that this position should be afforded. She has demonstrated continuously her expert knowledge and managerial ability in running the Office of Secretary of the Senate. One of the finest things about Faye is that she treats each and every one of us, every Senator, with the same level of responsiveness and respect.

Mr. President, I would also like to introduce members of Faye's family who are here with us today. Seated in the east gallery are her husband Ed, her daughter Laurel McDaniel, her son Wade McDaniel and guest Amy White, and her son Doug McDaniel.

Therefore, Mr. President, it is my honor and pleasure to second the nomination of Faye Wester Blanton as the Secretary of the Senate for the 2000-2002 term.

On motion by Senator Jones, the nominations for Secretary of the Senate were closed.

By unanimous consent of the membership, Faye W. Blanton was elected Secretary of the Senate for the 2000-2002 term.

OATH OF OFFICE ADMINISTERED

On motion by Senator Mitchell that a committee be appointed to escort Secretary Blanton to the bar of the Senate, the President appointed Senators Bronson, Meek, Mitchell and Pruitt. Secretary Blanton was escorted to the bar of the Senate where the oath of office was administered to her by The Honorable Major B. Harding, Justice, Florida Supreme Court.

COMMITTEES APPOINTED

On motion by Senator Webster that a committee be appointed to notify the House of Representatives that the Senate was convened for the purpose of organization, the President appointed Senators Miller, Posey, Villalobos and Webster. The committee was excused.

On motion by Senator Diaz de la Portilla that a committee be appointed to notify the Governor that the Senate was convened for the purpose of organization, the President appointed Senators Diaz de la Portilla, Dyer, Horne and Lawson. The committee was excused.

COMMITTEES DISCHARGED

The committee appointed to notify the House of Representatives appeared at the bar of the Senate and reported to the President that its duty had been performed. The committee was thanked for its service and discharged.

The committee appointed to notify the Governor appeared at the bar of the Senate and reported to the President that its duty had been performed. The committee was thanked for its service and discharged.

COMMITTEE RECEIVED

A committee from the House of Representatives composed of Representatives Diaz-Balart, Diaz de la Portilla, Pickens, Romeo, Mayfield, Ryan and Goodlette was received and informed the Senate that the House of Representatives was convened for the purpose of organization. The committee then withdrew from the chamber.

ADDRESS BY PRESIDENT JOHN MCKAY

Congratulations to the newly elected members. Welcome to the Florida Senate—an institution steeped in tradition and instilled with the greatest sense of responsibility to those it serves.

Allow me to express my heartfelt appreciation for the tremendous honor you have bestowed on me as your Senate President. I am humbled by your respect and trust. It is indeed a very personal honor as the state means a great deal to my family and me. We have been in Florida since the mid-1800s, and have always sought to serve our community. Since my work as an aide in the Senate in 1969, I aspired to the office of Florida State Senator. It is the only political office that has captured and held my imagination. To have the opportunity to serve as your President during my last two years of elective office is both humbling and gratifying. I take very seriously this charge, and the confidence you have placed in my ability to lead this body.

We have seen fundamental change in Florida's government during the last six years, under the leadership of Presidents Scott and Jennings. Florida has become the yardstick by which other states measure themselves. We recognized that Florida must improve its education system, and to achieve that goal, enacted education competition. We directed money toward school construction and have worked to achieve reductions in class size. We have ended social promotion in our schools and continue to seek innovative ways for our children to learn. Since 1995 the crime rate is down—we are keeping prisoners in jail and dealing realistically with juvenile crime. We have worked to enhance Florida's economic climate in order to insure meaningful jobs are available now and in the future. We have embarked upon bold initiatives that are not only changing the foster care system in Florida, but are demonstrating to the nation what can be accomplished when common sense is combined with compassion.

Over the next two years, we will continue to work diligently to improve our gains in these areas. Yet much remains to be done because there are still many being left behind. My goals for this body have little to do with partisanship—and everything to do with our future.

First—I believe simplification and modernization of our tax system is crucial to our continued prosperity. Consumers should not have to be a tax attorney or an accountant to understand what is taxable. Our tax code should not entrap taxpayers with large audit assessments and penalties because of its complexities. Further, our tax structure should not create economic disadvantages for Florida-based businesses as they compete in the 21st century. Just as we combined seven taxes and fees into one telecommunications tax last year, we must now embark on a similar—revenue-neutral—journey to bring other components of our “horse and buggy” tax system into our technological age. Citizens deserve a tax structure that is simple and fair—yet also encourages economic growth in our state. We must also finish what we have begun—Florida's intangible tax punishes savers, and we must continue to reduce this onerous tax until it is totally repealed. Tax reform in Florida is not a tax increase: True tax reform requires revenue-neutral tax simplification and technological modernization. The revolution in information technology has transformed business—it now can transform government.

We will continue to empower the citizens of Florida by making their government more responsive and efficient. We have implemented budget prioritization and performance-based budgeting and have seen mixed success. In that process, we have too often been manipulated by the bureaucracy, whose primary goal is to perpetuate itself. That is why, through an amendment passed last year, Florida will become one of the first states in the nation to implement zero-based budgeting. We will have the opportunity to weed out institutionalized and inefficient programs by restructuring our budget methodically over an eight-year period. It will be a challenge to accomplish—and certainly will require everyone's resolve.

It has been said that one of the measures by which a society will be judged is the way it cares for its most vulnerable. Therefore, I ask for your help to address those issues that do not often capture the public's attention. Last year, in preparation for the 2001 Legislative Session, I sponsored bills to establish several commissions to study issues we face on a daily basis, but are not often at the forefront. Issues such as senior care, homelessness, children with developmental disabilities and continuing the reform of our foster care system demand our attention. Florida has the highest percentage of elderly in the nation, with 3.5 million people over the age of 65. “Baby boomers” will add one million to that number when they begin retiring in just ten years. The number of elderly in need of long-term-care services is expected to increase by 42 percent over that same period. While many of Florida's elderly live independent and healthy lives, there are those who are far less fortunate. The high cost of prescription drugs and the risk of neglect are unacceptable in a society such as ours. The Senate must work to reform our delivery systems to provide these individuals with the care and treatment they deserve—in a manner that encourages and supports their independence, yet provides quality care when they cannot care for themselves.

On any given day in our state, there are at least 52,000 Floridians without food, a home or appropriate shelter. One-third of Florida's homeless are families. Another one-third are veterans. Twenty-five percent are children 18 years and younger. Once believed a problem for “big cities,” a walk around many small towns demonstrates that this heart-wrenching problem is permeating our society at every level. Local communities have done much. From the front lines, they provide for essential needs—needs we often take for granted like a hot meal and a shower. These organizations will serve as vital partners as we strive to end homelessness in our state. Our solution will be multi-faceted. It will incorporate the work of the commission and will confront the underlying issues of homelessness, such as drug abuse and mental health.

Lack of education is at the core of many of the problems in our society. Florida is leading the way to insure that all of our children receive the education necessary to insure their lives are meaningful and productive. We will continue to build on our success in education reform, with higher standards and better accountability and an expansion of meaningful education choices for Florida's families. Our approach will be inclusive, involving parents, teachers and members of our Education Governance Task Force in the process of further improving Florida's education system. We will focus on children with developmental disabilities such as dyslexia and attention deficit disorder in order to better their chances for success. We must also render a heightened focus to those in our foster care system, through an increased emphasis on residential group care, because every child deserves a loving home with a sense of safety and permanency. These items, though numerous, are not enough.

Over the next two years, we will also work diligently on Article V funding, the revision of our education funding formula, Cabinet reorganization, growth management and review of our health care delivery system and there will be many more.

Since November 7, we have witnessed considerable controversy in our state. Regardless of the outcome of the Presidential election, and without commenting on specific events, I believe that all Floridians would be reassured by a comprehensive review of the state's election procedures, standards and technology. That review must begin soon and must be conducted in a non-partisan manner that will ensure the highest level of public confidence. We will all work together in this endeavor.

Senators, none of you sought this position for the salary, but for a chance to make a difference—to improve our state, our country and our world. You will have plenty of opportunity to make improvements, because this will be an inclusive Senate. For example, I have reviewed the proposed Senate Rules changes with the Democratic Leader and he is in agreement. A crucial key to our success is the way we govern our activities. Our Senate Rules serve as a guide and help to set the broad parameters for our actions. As has been the case in the past, I am proposing the adoption of our rules for the years 2000-2002. Most of the changes are designed to do away with any ambiguity that now exists.

There are also substantive changes. Our committee structure is redefined. We will now have a Committee on Appropriations and a Committee on Finance and Taxation. The number of subcommittees reporting to the Appropriations Committee is reduced and the responsibilities of those subcommittees are heightened. My desire is to eliminate unnecessary steps from the process while still providing a comprehensive review of each issue.

Reapportionment is a subject that will require considerable time. That committee will have two subcommittees, one dealing with legislative apportionment, the other focusing on congressional apportionment. Provisions have been added to the rules to make sure that all members have equal access to information and the equipment needed to generate that information.

Finally, new members of the Senate, who have been excluded from sponsoring claim bills in the past, will now be given that opportunity. As I have said before, the process of getting elected is partisan and competitive by its nature, but the process of governing is collegial, and shall remain so during my tenure as your President.

We will work together to create the best public policy possible. In doing so, the most important example we can set for ourselves and future leaders is to continue the Senate's tradition of cooperation and mutual respect. For when we respect each other as elected officials, we show respect for the people who elected us. I believe today as I did when first elected, that together we can indeed make a difference.

God bless you and your families. Thank you for your confidence in me—I will not let you down.

Senate Resolution No. 6-Org.

A resolution expressing the esteem of the Senate for Senator Pat Franklin Thomas and designating Room 412 of the Knott Building as the Pat Thomas Committee Room.

WHEREAS, Senator Pat Thomas served with distinction in the Florida Senate from 1974 until his death in June of 2000, and served as its President from 1993 through 1994, and

WHEREAS, Senator Thomas was beloved by his family, his constituents, and his Senate colleagues, and

WHEREAS, it is most appropriate that on this 21st day of November, 2000, the birthday of the late Senator Pat Thomas, the Florida Senate fondly remembers and commemorates its esteemed colleague who diligently served the people of Florida, NOW, THEREFORE,

Be It Resolved by the Senate of the State of Florida:

That this legislative body pauses in its deliberations to pay its respect to the late Senator Pat Thomas and that the Florida Senate records this testimonial of esteem and gratitude for his service:

IN MEMORIAM
SENATOR PAT FRANKLIN THOMAS

Pat Thomas was born in Quincy, Florida, on November 21, 1933, received a degree in Agricultural Economics from the University of Florida in 1957, and served in the United States Army during the Korean Conflict. While building a successful insurance business in Quincy, Pat Thomas was a confidant of Governors and Cabinet members and served as State Chairman of the Democratic Party of Florida from 1966 until 1970. In 1972, Pat Thomas was elected to the Florida House of Representatives and, in 1974, to the Florida Senate. Senator Thomas served as President, as President Pro Tempore, and as chairman of the Rules and Calendar Committee, and served as the chair or vice chair of numerous other committees. Throughout his Senate tenure, Senator Pat Thomas was known as a tireless advocate for his constituents; and he conveyed dignity as the ultimate Southern Gentleman who valued and upheld the traditions and collegiality of the Florida Senate.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the Senate Sergeant at Arms place suitable markers to designate Room 412 of the Knott Building as the "Pat Thomas Committee Room."

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that copies of this resolution, signed by the President of the Senate, with the Seal of the Senate affixed, be presented to Mrs. Mary Ann Thomas, widow of Senator Pat Thomas, and to Anne Jolley Byrd and John Pat Thomas, the children of Senator Pat Thomas, as a tangible token of the sentiments and appreciation of the Florida Senate and as a symbol of the enduring respect of the members of the Florida Senate.

On motion by Senator Holzendorf, SR 6-Org. was read the second time in full and adopted.

FAMILY OF SENATOR PAT THOMAS

The President introduced the following members of Senator Thomas' family who were present in the chamber: his widow Mrs. Mary Ann Thomas; his daughter Anne Jolley Thomas Byrd and son-in-law Bobby Byrd; his grandson Corbett Thomas Proctor; and his son John Pat Thomas and daughter-in-law Martha Thomas.

The President recognized the following members for remarks:

Senator Holzendorf: Mr. President, I know that some people have prepared some notes for me but I'm going to speak about Pat Thomas from the heart.

I met Pat Thomas in 1991. There was a reapportionment fight going on over here in the Senate and, of course, my district was up for reapportionment along with a district that eventually ended up being the district now represented by Senator Clary. The fight was over that district. Senator Thomas, being the compromising person he was, asked the Senator who was serving in the 7th District, "What is the problem?" The Senator said, "Well, it has to do with who runs in two years and who runs in four years." Senator Thomas said, "Well, Senator, since you won't be here, what do you care about the next person if it helps us to get this bill out?" What Senator Thomas didn't know was that I was the next person. When I acknowledged that to him, he turned around and said, "Daughter, what you have to understand about the Senate is that it's seniority and it's statesmanship, and our responsibility in the Senate is to get the job done with the least amount of friction that can possibly be."

I learned that lesson from him as I came into the Senate the following year in 1992. The Senate was deadlocked 20-20. Ander Crenshaw, who you see up there, was my home boy who was running for President of the Senate. When I looked up into those galleries, everybody from Jacksonville was there. But I had made a commitment to Pat Thomas and I held that commitment. He said to me, "That took courage." I was a neophyte Senator. I knew nothing about this body, but he became my mentor. As I was saying to John Pat, Anne Jolley and Mary, I adopted him from them because he taught me so much about how to conduct myself in the Senate.

Pat Thomas was the person that, if he gave you his word, then you didn't need to discuss that any more. He was committed. He was a statesman. He felt very, very strongly about this body. When we got to the point that we could not be congenial with each other, it was Pat Thomas who came and said, "This is the Senate." He never said this is the Democratic Senate or this is the Republican Senate. He always said, "This is the Senate." He gave me a statement once. He said, "The House proposes and the Senate deposes." He said, "We don't have to do anything the House says because the final word rests with this Senate." He believed that and he conducted himself that way.

To name 412 Knott Building after Pat Thomas is to say that all of the education that he imparted and all of his knowledge that he shared with us is the reason that many of us are capable of standing on this floor and talking about issues and being able to conduct ourselves in a manner that makes us true Senators. I respected the man, but more than that, I hold dear the institution he created and that was the institution of Senate statesmanship that we cannot afford to let go by the wayside. Pat Thomas believed in this institution. He believed in this legislative body. He was an advocate for the poor. Rural counties meant just as much to him as the urban city counties. The littlest person in his district had as much respect from him as the millionaire. He never distinguished between people based on what they did or did not have. He was a man of principle. We will miss him. This body will miss him. When we get to reapportionment, we will miss him. We will not have that compromising element to help us get through this. But, hopefully, we will have the memory that we can share with one another that makes us strong, and education was his thing.

I remember the last time we shared on a bill. Teenagers were driving cars into stores, stolen cars, through the windows, jumping out, robbing the stores and running away. Pat Thomas felt strongly that something needed to be done. I said to him, "Let's build a jail, put them in it, throw away the key. Lock them up. We need a jail for teenagers." He said, "Now, daughter, you don't mean that. You really don't mean that. But we do need to do something." That's when we created the Department of Juvenile Justice, so that we could provide prevention and intervention for youths prior to incarceration. That's the kind of President, that's the kind of Senator, that's the kind of father, that's the kind of friend Pat Thomas was. I am honored to stand for this resolution to name Room 412 of the Knott Building after Pat Thomas. Thank you, Mr. President.

President McKay: Outside of renaming Gadsden County for Pat Thomas, the only thing that hadn't been named for him, I figured, was that committee room in the Knott Building. Since he had so much to do with it, I thought that was appropriate. I hope that you agree with me. As did many of you, all of you, perhaps, I drank a lot of brown liquor and broke a lot of bread with Pat. He was my friend. I'll miss him. I would like to invite anybody who would like to rise and make any comments to please do so. In a little departure from the norm, I would like any of our visitors, our guests, who all knew him so well to also grab a mike and say whatever you'd like to say.

Senator Campbell: Mr. President, you know we're talking about Pat in the past tense and, certainly, we're not going to see him in that seat over there anymore, but I think all of us will realize that Pat is still with us. Somewhere his spirit is in this body. I think Senator Holzendorf hit on it when she said, "The Senate was so important to him." I can remember last year when we got a little testy toward the end of the session, it was Senator Thomas that brought us all together.

When I first got elected, Pat Thomas came back to me and said, "Son," even though I had gray hair, white hair, he said, "Son, the thing you've got to learn is none of us is as smart as all of us together. You're going to learn the collegiality of this body, everybody has something to add. Everybody has something to give back to our citizens. And we as a group will make Florida better." He also told me, "You know, it's interesting how much you can achieve if you don't try to take credit for it." I thought that was a great saying from Pat. When I went to his funeral last year, I drove up to the funeral, I didn't know there were so many "Pat Thomas" buildings and streets. He deserves the credit, though. He will be with us always and I hope that, if we do have testy times, someone will stand up and say, "Pat Thomas is looking," and together we, as a body, will work for the benefit of the citizens of the State of Florida, just like Pat did. We're going to miss him, but he'll be with us.

Senator Latvala: Thank you, Mr. President. Because of term limits I think this will be the first session in quite some time that there isn't a former President among our ranks. In the House, Speakers usually move on at the end of their terms. In the Senate we've had, I think, as many as four former Presidents in here at one time during the last few years. Those former Presidents always helped give advice to the new guys, helped keep order, helped keep decorum, helped keep the traditions of the Senate alive with the new people as they came in. I think that's one of the things that we're going to miss.

I want to use Pat Thomas to illustrate one real fact, a point of history in the Senate. Just prior to being sworn in six years ago in 1994, I was a victim of the same kind of campaign that a lot of the new people that just came in here feel that they're a victim of. There was no one, probably, when I was elected in 1994, that had a tougher campaign from the state Democratic party than I did. When I got here, I didn't know Pat Thomas. The very first day I was here, he came up to me and said, "Son, you know I only did what I had to do," because he was the leader of the Senate Democrats. He said, "That's just the way it is. But from here on out, you're a colleague." And he stuck out his hand, and that's exactly the way it was. He was a living example of how, when we got sworn into the Senate, we became colleagues. We became friends and we worked together from that day forward and put partisanship aside.

Senator Dyer: Thank you, Mr. President. Senator Lawson, you have some pretty big shoes to fill over there. I'm sure you're going to do a great job at it. Senator McKay, it must look fairly odd looking down at that front row. Other than Senator Clary, because we had about, I guess, over a hundred years of Senate experience represented in the other four chairs, so all of you in that front row have some big shoes to fill. I know each one of you is capable of doing that.

I think it's particularly appropriate to name the committee room over there after Pat Thomas. I'm sure that he would be extremely proud of that because he would want each one of us to be mindful of the history and the traditions in the Florida Senate because I think he revered those. There's not a person in the Senate that served with him that I think can say that they didn't learn an awful lot from Pat. A lot of us come from different areas of the state than where Senator Thomas did. The Panhandle is a little different from Miami-Dade or Broward County in how you run elections. I remember when I was elected in 1992, Pat Thomas was the Senate President-designate then and he was running the campaigns. I was in the primary run-off so I wasn't getting any help from Senate victory quite at that time. But as soon as I won the primary, I was able to make the trip to the mecca of Quincy. I had never been to Quincy before. I went over to the insurance office to meet with Senator Thomas and I had my whole entourage of consultants and my spouse. We sat down with Senator Thomas for about an hour and talked about the campaign and everything and talked about walking neighborhoods and knocking on doors. He said, "Now, how do you do that again? You walk up the side of one street and back down the other?" So he had done things a little differently than I had to get elected, but at the end of the meeting, we were there to see if we couldn't get that $50,000 or whatever it was that they were willing to parcel out. He took me back in his private office and it was just he and I and somehow, when we concluded the meeting, I had a hundred-dollar bill, crisp hundred-dollar bill, and he had my signature on a pledge sheet. So the extent of that meeting was, I walked out with $100 and he had my pledge for the 20-20 Senate. I learned a lot that day before I even got to the Senate, and I continued to learn throughout my career, from Senator Thomas.

I was the Vice Chair of Agriculture last year with him, and probably some of my fondest memories, it's hard to think of Pat without thinking about W.D. Childers. If anybody came to the Agriculture Committee and listened to some of the exchanges in there last year, and any of you who didn't, have truly missed an experience in the Florida Senate, and I'll miss that. But probably my most vivid memory of Pat will be the same as Senator Campbell and Senator Latvala talked about. Last year, things got a little more personal in here than we've had in the past. Senator Thomas stood up and was a calming voice in a sea of emotions, and hopefully, we will have others that rise to the occasion.

Senator Silver: Thank you, Mr. President. I will always be very grateful to Pat for naming me the Majority Leader when he was President, and working with him closely. But the times I really remember are the times when I served as Sub C and Sub D chairs for Criminal Justice and Health and Human Services because, if there was anybody who had a passion for his constituency and wanting to help out his constituents, it was Pat Thomas. That's why I want to make sure—and Al, you do have a big job to do—you have to explain it the same way Pat came in to explain it. He would always come in a very low-key way and talk to you and say, "We just need a little, little, little bit more over here for these folks, and we need just a little, little bit more here and, you know, we have a little problem about the jobs in the area. We need to make sure we maintain just a little bit longer."

It was always just that little bit more and that little bit longer that made him so distinctive from a lot of us because he truly was what you think of when you talk about the representative democracy we have, working on behalf of your constituents, because that's what Pat's life was. He wanted to help the people of his district, just like we all should be doing and, to a great extent, we do. Pat had a way of doing it that explained it so greatly. You couldn't say "no" to him, you know, you wouldn't do that. That's what comprised most of my budget. People thought I was doing a lot for South Florida, Miami-Dade County, and that stuff, but most of it was going to Quincy because of Pat. That's what occurred. But I'll always remember Pat as he was such a kind person, such a caring person and we will always remember him. Thank you, Mr. President.

President McKay: Thank you, Senator Silver. Senators, with the departure of so many Senators and House members from this legislature, I would like to make you aware, if you're not already aware, that the Dean of the Florida Legislature is now Senator Ron Silver. He's been around longer than anybody else. Senator Rossin, you're recognized.

Senator Rossin: Thank you, Mr. President. I had a little different experience with Senator Thomas. He recruited me. I'm in the Florida Senate because of Pat. I remember so distinctly when I first met Pat. I was thinking, why should I do this? Why should I put myself and my family through this horrendous campaign we'd have to run? The Florida Senate, at that time, was 20-20 and both sides needed the 35th District to win the 21st seat. Pat looked me right in the eye and he said, "Tom, has Florida been good to you?" I said, "Yes, sir." He said, "Then you owe it to your constituents and to your family and to the State of Florida to do this." He was so sincere and his words were so compelling that I really never thought much about it after that, and I ran for the Senate. That's his belief, his sincerity, his real understanding of what it meant to be a citizen of Florida and your obligation was so clear. This was a great man and we'll all miss him.

Senator Sullivan: Thank you, Mr. President. Pat Thomas, to me, was a collection of very fond memories. I had the pleasure one day of getting a tour of Quincy from Senator Thomas. He was so proud of that community and he was so proud of all his friends. I have this memory of Pat Thomas putting on one of his lunches back in the Senate and the smile on his face and how happy he was to be doing that for all of his colleagues in the Senate.

I have this memory of Pat Thomas at his lake house catching fish off the dock and how proud he was and how happy that he could have all his friends out to visit him.

I also have these memories of Pat who came to me as a physician and talked about all of his illnesses. I have this memory of this man who was very sick and, at times, needed blood transfusions, who never complained, who loved being here, that's all he wanted.

This is the same man who stood as President of the Senate and said, "I want everyone to address each other by their district numbers because we are gentlemen and this is a wonderful organization and we should preserve all its traditions."

Those little vignettes kind of sum up what kind of a man he was. He was so generous, he was so uncomplaining, he was a gentleman through and through and he loved the Senate. I think Senator Latvala brings up a great point. You don't grow to love the Senate without someone telling you where the Senate has been, what has happened, what has gone before, and transmitting that love. We've lost something with this term-limit business. We've lost those people who dedicated their entire life to this. Maybe walking by a plaque in Room 412 will remind us all that there is a great history.

The Senate is different from the House because there is this great love for the institution. I hope that maybe eight years is enough to transmit that. But Pat kind of personified that. We are going to miss all the guys that are term-limited out and Pat was kind of symbolic because he left us right at the end of term limits. He was a wonderful man. We are going to miss all of them, but we're going to especially miss him.

Senator Lawson: Thank you very much, Mr. President. Sixteen years ago, as a House member, I tried to speak on the Senate floor. We were working on a lab school bill and I thought we had it all worked out. I came down to the Senate and Senator Peterson was throwing in amendments all over the place. I reached over and grabbed Senator Thomas' mike and said, "Senator Thomas, we've got to stop him." He said, "Son, you can't speak on the Senate floor." But truly, if he was alive today, I am certain that he would be very proud to know that I was successful in winning his seat.

Many years ago my grandmother and I were driving to Quincy to his office in order for her to get car insurance. It was a very thrilling moment for me because Quincy is about 10 miles from where I grew up, but it also gave me the opportunity to drive. When we got to the office they really embraced. I learned that day how close my grandmother was to Senator Thomas and how much she cherished him. Then I learned that my grandfather had worked in many of his campaigns. Little did I know then that I would have the opportunity to work with him in the legislature. From the day I first encountered him, he gave me the name of "Too Tall." The way he addressed me all the time was "Too Tall." I am very honored to be here with his family; especially Mary Ann, his wife, that I've shared many moments with. I can remember when he was thinking about not running for the Senate. I drove there and had lunch with him to encourage him to run. I didn't recognize the fact that he was going to run against a very good friend of mine. I, too, in the insurance business, had a lot of insurance with this person. So he asked me, "Too Tall, what are you going to do?" I said, "Well, I'm going to be with you, Senator." Later on that client that I had, canceled all his insurance after Senator Thomas had a landslide vote over here. He just said, "Don't worry about it; one day I am going to take care of you." I said, "It's more important to have you representing the people of Gadsden County and North Florida than the business that I lost." Several years later, and John Pat would know about this; he called me in on a case that was more beneficial to me than the case I lost. He never did forget.

But I can tell you that he is an institution in Gadsden County and in North Florida. During the course of my campaign, as I traveled from Madison and to Bay and to Jackson Counties, everyone told me what I had to do. When I first got elected, they started telling me what I needed to do in order to follow Senator Thomas. But when we think of Senator Thomas, it is even more fitting today—for the family and for all of us—to remember the words of one of our country's Democratic Presidents, "People will little notice nor long remember what we say here but they will never forget what we did here." Thank you.

Senator Jones: Thank you, Mr. President. I just want to make a brief comment. When I first met Senator Thomas, he was obviously here and I was in the House. I viewed him as a person who was the complete southern gentleman. He reached out his hand to a freshman House member and greeted me with great warmth. One of the things that he always joked with me about was that while we were going through reapportionment during that first two years I was here, and I was creating a problem for the Senate in that a Senator who was representing the Keys at that time was reacting to the concept that I might actually run for the Senate. He was creating a little problem with some of the votes that we have in the Senate. I won't call any names, but I think a few of us here know who that guy was.

Pat always did some things with all of us, I think, that made us feel good. You know, the way he would always hold on to you and the way he would always bring you close and whisper in your ear and tell you things that made them seem like they were important but really they were just little nuggets of information. The way he always complimented every single one of us. He was very magnanimous in his approach and just the epitome of statesmanship and an example that I think all of us should strive to follow.

Certainly when I saw him, as a freshman in the House and he as a Senator, I thought to myself if I should ever rise to this body, he was the kind of person I would like to emulate. If I can leave this body after two more years and be one-tenth of the Senator that he was then to this body, then I feel I will have succeeded as well.

MOMENT OF SILENCE

On behalf of the Senate, the President led the body in a moment of silence in memory of the late Senator Pat Thomas.

Upon request of the President, Senators Clary, Holzendorf, Lawson and Rossin escorted the Thomas family to the rostrum where they were presented a copy of the resolution. The President presented Mrs. Thomas who addressed the Senate:

Mrs. Thomas: Senators and family members. This has been a real special day for us. I remember in 1972 it was Pat's birthday that day when he was sworn into the House. Then today has been a very special day for President McKay and his family and for us. You know Pat was always very interested in restoring the Capitol Complex and preserving the buildings. We have the Old Capitol out front that he had a hand in and the Knott Building was very special to him, so designating this room in his honor I think is very, very special. Especially on today, he would have been 67 today. He loved this Senate, as you've all talked about this morning, and your words were so eloquent. We are all very touched and honored with your tribute to him. Thank you so much. I also would like to introduce my only grandson, Corbett Thomas Proctor, Anne Jolley's son. He has been with us over there today and this is a very big day for him also. Thank you very much.

President McKay: Senator Sullivan, I intend to, and have always intended to, take some of the comments you just made and put them into practice in the Senate. It is the dignity with which Pat held it and the way he tried to treat other Senators and the dignity with which he thought we all ought to conduct ourselves within this body. To restore the decorum, if we possibly can, in addressing Senators by their district number, I think that brings a lot to this body. If you will work with me, each and every one of you, I think it will do wonders for us, particularly as we go through the tough times of reapportionment.

Anne Jolley, John Pat and Mary Ann, we will continue the Pat Thomas luncheon. Senator Sullivan continues to plant quail out at his farm in South Georgia and we can shoot them. We can bite down on some of that bird shot every now and then, they are so close. We will continue that. I hope you will join us this year and next year. After I am through, somebody else will pick up that mantle I am sure too, so come on back.

On motion by Senator Saunders, the remarks offered during the Organization Session were ordered published in the Journal.

Unless a majority of the committee members present shall decide otherwise, bills shall be considered when reached on the committee agenda notwithstanding the absence of the sponsor or anyone authorized by these Rules to appear on his or her behalf.

2.12—Order of business

Bills shall be considered in the order appearing in the notice required by these Rules, except that the chairman may, in his or her sole discretion, consider a bill out of its order to accommodate the presence of a Senator or Representative who is the prime introducer thereof.

Except by unanimous consent of those present, no bill shall be considered by the Senate after the fiftieth (50th) day of a regular session if the bill or a companion measure has not been first reported favorably by at least one Senate committee.

Upon the request of any two (2) members of a committee or subcommittee the vote on any other matter, properly before the committee, shall be recorded. After such report has been received by the Secretary, no matter so reported shall be recommended to a committee except by two-thirds (2/3) vote of those present in session.

Such reports shall also reflect (e) the time and place of the meeting at which the action was taken, and (f) the vote of each member of the committee on the motion to report each bill or resolution. A bill filed for introduction by a committee shall be accompanied by such report. The Secretary shall enter in the Journal the action of the committee, but shall not include that portion of the report required by items (e) and (f). Reports of committees shall be preserved pursuant to law.

In reporting a Senate measure, a standing committee may draft a new measure embracing the same general subject matter, to be returned to the Senate with the recommendation that the substitute be considered in lieu of the original measure (or measures). Proposed substitutes shall be filed with the committee administrative assistant no less than two (2) hours prior to any committee meeting at which a recommendation of the substitute is adopted unless the substitute is merely a combination of the noticed bill(s) and amendments offered in compliance with Rule 2.39. Copies of substitutes shall be furnished to committee members' offices immediately upon filing with the committee administrative assistant, and made reasonably available by the committee administrative assistant before the meeting, upon request, to the members of the committee and to the public. The substitute measure must be accompanied by the original measure (or measures) referred to the committee and returned to the Secretary in the same manner as a favorable report. No other standing committee of reference shall consider the original measure (or measures) but shall direct its attention to the substitute measure. A committee receiving a committee substitute from a prior committee of reference may also report a committee substitute and shall not be precluded from doing so with the substance of the bill (or bills) as originally introduced. When the original measure is reached on the calendar, the substitute shall be read a first time by title, the original proposition shall be automatically tabled, and the substitute considered in lieu of without motion. The substitute shall carry the identifying number (or numbers) of the original and shall be returned to the Secretary in the same number of copies required for first introduction of a similar measure. The name of the introducer of the original measure (or measures) shall be shown by the committee administrative assistant on the committee substitute unless the said introducer requests that it be omitted. A committee substitute may be co-sponsored by a Senator whose signature is affixed to the original. A Senate committee may not recommend a Senate committee substitute for a House bill.

All standing committee reports shall be signed by the chairman or, in his or her absence, the vice-chairman and shall be filed with the Secretary's office as soon as practicable, but not later than 4:30 p.m. on the next legislative day except a committee drafting and recommending a committee substitute shall file such committee report no later than

4:30 p.m. of the second legislative day. These reports must be accompanied by the original bill. Each report by a committee must set forth the identifying number of the measure; if amendments are proposed by the committee, the words "with amendments" shall follow the identifying number. Committee amendments shall be printed in full on proper forms, numbered serially, and attached to the measure. All measures reported unfavorably shall be laid on the table.

2.16—Standing subcommittee reports

It shall be the duty of standing subcommittees to report all measures referred to them directly to the ~~full parent~~ standing committee, which shall promptly certify a copy to the Secretary of the Senate. The standing subcommittee shall report all measures either (a) favorably, (b) favorably with committee amendments, (c) favorably with committee substitute as defined in these Rules, or (d) unfavorably.

Such reports shall also reflect (e) the time and place of the meeting at which the action was taken, and (f) the vote of each member of the subcommittee on the motion to report each bill or resolution.

In reporting a bill to the ~~full parent~~ standing committee, a standing subcommittee may draft a new measure, embracing the same general subject matter, to be returned to the ~~full parent~~ standing committee with the recommendation that the substitute be considered in lieu of the original measure. The substitute measure must be accompanied by the original measure referred to the standing subcommittee and returned to the ~~full parent~~ standing committee in the same manner as a favorable report.

All standing subcommittee reports shall be signed by the chairman or, in the chairman's absence, the vice-chairman and shall be made on forms prescribed by the Secretary of the Senate. Each report by a standing subcommittee must set forth the identifying number of the measure; if amendments are proposed by the standing subcommittee, the words "with amendments" shall follow the identifying number. Standing subcommittee amendments shall be printed in full on proper forms, numbered serially, and attached to the measure.

All bills reported unfavorably shall be laid on the table when the standing committee considers the standing subcommittee's report. On motion by any member of the committee, adopted by a two-thirds (2/3) vote of the committee members present, the same may be taken from the table. When a bill is thus removed from the table by a standing committee, it shall receive a hearing de novo and witnesses shall be permitted to testify.

When a bill with a favorable report by a standing subcommittee is considered by the standing committee, no additional testimony shall be permitted except on vote of two-thirds (2/3) of the standing committee members present before final action is taken; however, debate by members of the standing committee shall be allowed. This Rule shall also apply to reports on budgetary matters by the standing subcommittees of the Committee on Appropriations Budget for inclusion in the general appropriations bill.

2.17—Quorum of committee

A committee or standing subcommittee is actually assembled only when a quorum constituting a majority of the members of that committee is present in person. Any bill or resolution reported in violation of this Rule shall be recommended by the President when it is called to the President's attention by a Senator.

2.18—Prefiled bills

On receipt from the Secretary of each prefiled bill and if the President has not previously designated a standing subcommittee of reference, the chairman of a committee shall either refer to a standing subcommittee, refer to a select committee as otherwise provided in these Rules, or place on the agenda for a meeting of the standing committee. In any event, the chairman shall concurrently notify the Secretary of the Senate of his or her action on forms provided for such report. The chairman of the standing subcommittee, select committee, or of the standing committee thus possessing jurisdiction of a prefiled bill shall, with the concurrence of the President, determine the time and place for the hearing during which such bill is to be considered and notify the Secretary as required by these Rules.

Committees having jurisdiction of prefiled bills shall expedite the business of such committee and shall file reports as soon as practicable after each hearing, except that the Committee on Appropriations Budget shall not be required to file such report of a prefiled bill defined in these Rules.

A prefiled bill introduced solely by a Senator who will not be a Senator at the next regular session of the legislature shall be reported unfavorably without notice or hearing.

2.19—Conference committee in deliberation

All meetings of Senate conferees with House conferees at which the business of the conference committee is discussed shall be open to the public subject to proper order and decorum. Meetings between a majority of the members of a conference committee may be held following a notice being filed with the Secretary of the Senate by or at the direction of the person calling the meeting, at least two (2) hours in advance of the meeting, and after the fiftieth (50) day of a regular session and during a special session, not less than one (1) hour in advance of the meeting. The notice shall indicate the names of the conferees and scheduled participants, the date, the time, and the location of the meeting.

Conference committees shall consider and report only on the differences existing between the Senate and the House, and no substance foreign to the bills before the conferees shall be included in the report or considered by the Senate.

A conference committee may only report by recommending the adoption of a series of amendments to the House or Senate bill that was the subject of the conference, or it may offer an amendment striking everything after the enacting clause of any such bill referred to the Committee. Such amendments shall accompany the conference committee report, which shall be attached to the original measure submitted to conference. In any event the conference committee may recommend, as part of its report, the adoption or rejection of any or all of the amendments theretofore adopted by either House. Conference reports must be approved and signed by a majority of the managers on the part of each House. All final actions taken in conference committee shall be by motion.

Each report shall contain a statement sufficiently explicit to inform the Senate of the effect of the report on the measure to which it relates.

When any bill or joint resolution is referred by the President to a conference committee, a notice of the following meetings to discuss matters relating to the conference, stating the names of the conferees and scheduled participants, and the date, time, and place for the meeting, shall be filed with the Secretary of the Senate by or at the direction of the person(s) at whose call the meeting is convened, not less than two (2) hours preceding the time for the meeting, and after the fiftieth (50th) day of a regular session and during a special session, not less than one (1) hour preceding the time for the meeting:

1. meetings between the President (or a Senator designated to represent the President), the Governor, and the Speaker of the House (or a Representative designated to represent the Speaker);
2. meetings between a majority of the members of any subcommittee of the conference committee;
3. meetings between the President or any Senator(s) designated to represent the President and a conferee from the House of Representatives, or any meeting between a conferee from the Senate with the Speaker of the House of Representatives or any Representative(s) designated to represent the Speaker; and
4. meetings of a majority of the Senate conferees; and when the bill or joint resolution that is the subject of the conference committee deals primarily with the general appropriations act or revenue matters, any meeting of three (3) or more conferees on the part of the Senate.

Notice of meetings, as scheduled, between the chairman of the Senate's conferees with the chairman of the House's conferees, or between respective Senate and House subcommittee chairmen with each other, shall be posted on a bulletin board provided for this purpose in the public corridor leading to the Senate Chamber. In the case of the appropriations conference, said notice shall also be posted on a bulletin board outside the door of the office of the Committee on Appropriations Budget.

All meetings for which notice is required pursuant to this Rule shall be held in the Capitol, the Senate Office Building, the Knott Building, or the House Office Building, but shall not be held in the Chamber of either house while it is in session.

When any bill or joint resolution is referred to a conference committee and the conferees on the part of the Senate report an inability to agree, no action of the Senate taken prior to such reference to a conference committee shall preclude further action on the measure as the Senate may determine.

After Senate conferees have been appointed for seven (7) calendar days and have failed to make a report, it is a motion of the highest privilege to move to discharge said conferees and to appoint new conferees, or to instruct said conferees, and this motion shall have precedence over all other questions except motions to adjourn and questions of privilege. Further, during the last six (6) calendar days allowed under the Constitution for any regular session, it shall be a privileged motion to move to discharge, appoint, or instruct Senate conferees after the Senate conferees have been appointed thirty-six (36) hours without having made a report.

PART TWO—COMMITTEES—OFFICERS

2.20—Appointment of Chairman and Vice-Chairman

A chairman and a vice-chairman of each standing committee shall be appointed by the President preceding the regular session held each odd-numbered year and shall continue in office at the pleasure of the President. The President shall also appoint a chairman for each standing subcommittee and select committee authorized by these Rules and may designate a vice-chairman, both of whom shall continue in office at the pleasure of the President.

2.21—Calling committee to order

The chairman or, in the chairman's absence, the vice-chairman, shall call the committee to order at the hour provided by these Rules. On the appearance of a quorum the committee shall proceed with the order of business. Any member of the committee may question the existence of a quorum.

2.22—Chairman's control

The chairman or vice-chairman shall preserve order and decorum and shall have general control of the committee room. If there is a disturbance or disorderly conduct in the committee room, the chairman or vice-chairman may require participants in the disturbance to clear the room.

2.23—Chairman's authority; appeals

The chairman shall sign all notices, vouchers, subpoenas or reports required or permitted by these Rules. The chairman shall decide all questions of order, subject to an appeal by any Senator, and the appeal shall be certified by the chairman to the Senate for a decision by the President during the daily session of the Senate next following such certification. The ruling shall be entered in the Journal, shall constitute binding precedent on all committees of the Senate, and shall be subject to appeal as any other question. The chairman may, or on the vote of a majority of the committee members present shall, certify a question of parliamentary procedure to the President as contemplated by the Rule without a formal appeal. Such a certified question shall be disposed of by the President as if it had been on appeal. The perfection of an appeal or the certification of a question pursuant to this Rule shall not constitute an automatic stay to further legislative action on the measure under consideration.

2.24—Chairman, Vice-Chairman; vote

The chairman and vice-chairman shall vote on all matters before such committee. The name of the chairman shall be called last.

2.25—Temporary alternate to Chairman

The chairman may name any member of the committee to perform the duties of the chair if such substitution shall not extend beyond such meeting. In the chairman's absence and/or omission to make such appointment, the vice-chairman shall act during his or her absence.

2.26—Vice-Chairman's duties

On the death, incapacitation, or resignation of the chairman, the vice-chairman shall perform the duties of the office until the President shall appoint a successor. In the absence of the chairman, the vice-chairman shall act as chairman.

PART THREE—COMMITTEES—MEMBERS2.27—Members' attendance, voting, proxy

Every member of a committee shall be in attendance during each of its meetings, unless excused or necessarily prevented, and shall vote on each question except that no member of a committee shall be required or permitted to vote on any question immediately concerning that member's private rights as distinct from the public interest.

The chairman may excuse any Senator for just cause from attendance at meetings of his or her committee for any stated period, and this excused absence shall be noted on the committee's records.

Failure to attend two (2) consecutive regular meetings, unless excused from attendance in the Senate on those days as provided in these Rules or by the chairman of the committee, shall constitute automatic withdrawal from the committee.

No member of any committee shall be allowed to vote by proxy. A majority of all the committee members present shall agree by their votes on the disposition of any bill or other matter considered by the committee.

PART FOUR—COMMITTEES—VOTING2.28—Taking the vote

The chairman shall declare all votes and shall cause same to be entered on the records of the committee, but if any member questions a vote, then by a show of hands by ~~three (3)~~ *two (2) members the chairman shall count the yeas and nays. When the committee shall be equally divided, the question shall be lost.

[Technical change by the Secretary of the Senate. Conforms Rule 2.28 to provisions of Article III, Section 4(c) of the State Constitution, and makes Rule 2.28 consistent with Rule 2.15 which was amended in 1991.]*

A Senator may request to (a) change his or her vote or (b) vote before the results of a roll call are announced. After the results have been announced, a Senator with unanimous consent of those present may change his or her vote or vote. If the vote alters the final action of the committee, no change of vote or vote shall be valid until the measure has been recalled to the committee for further consideration. On request of a member prior to consideration of other business, the chairman shall order a verification of a vote.

2.29—Pairing prohibited

No pairing shall be permitted by the committee.

2.30—Casting vote for another

No Senator shall cast a vote for another Senator, nor shall any person not a Senator cast a vote for a Senator. In addition to such penalties as may be prescribed by law, any Senator who shall vote or attempt to vote for another Senator may be punished as the Senate may deem proper. Also, any person not a Senator who shall vote in the place of a Senator shall be excluded from the committee for the remainder of the session.

2.31—Explanation of vote

No Senator shall be permitted to defer or explain his or her vote during a roll call, but may submit his or her explanation in writing and file it with the chairman. This explanation shall be kept as part of the committee record and a copy filed with the Secretary of the Senate.

PART FIVE—COMMITTEES—MOTIONS AND PRECEDENCE2.32—Motions; how made, withdrawn

Every motion may be made orally. On request of the chairman, a Senator shall submit his or her motion in writing. After a motion has been stated or read by the chairman, it shall be deemed to be in possession of the committee without a second, and shall be disposed of by vote of the committee members present. The mover may withdraw a motion, except a motion to reconsider, at any time before the same has been amended, or before a vote shall have commenced.

2.33—Motions; precedence

When a question is under debate, the chairman shall receive no motion except:

1. To rise
2. To take a recess
3. To reconsider
4. To limit debate
5. To temporarily postpone pass
6. To postpone to a day certain
7. To commit to a select subcommittee
8. To amend

which shall have precedence in the descending order given.

The chairman shall propound all questions in the order in which they are moved unless the subsequent motion be previous in nature.

When a motion is under consideration, but prior to the commencement of the vote, a substitute motion shall be in order. Only one substitute shall be considered and the substitute shall be in the same order of precedence.

2.34—Division of question

A Senator may call for a division of a question when the sense will admit of it. A motion to strike out and insert shall be deemed indivisible; a motion to strike out, being lost, shall neither preclude amendment nor a motion to strike out and insert.

2.35—Reconsideration generally

When a question has been decided by a committee, any Senator voting with the prevailing side may move for reconsideration of the question. Also when a question has been decided by voice vote, any member, during the meeting at which the vote was taken, may so move. Such motion may be made pending a motion to rise or if the time of adjournment has arrived. Consideration of a motion to reconsider shall be a special and continuing order of business for the succeeding committee meeting, and, unless considered during such meeting, shall be considered abandoned. If the committee shall refuse to consider or, upon reconsideration, shall confirm its first decision, no further motion to reconsider shall be in order except upon unanimous consent of those present. During the last fourteen (14) days of a regular session, a motion to reconsider shall be made and considered during the meeting at which the original vote was taken.

2.36—Reconsideration; vote required

The affirmative votes of a majority of the committee present shall be required to adopt a motion to reconsider.

2.37—Reconsideration; debate allowed

Debate shall be allowed on a motion to reconsider only when the question is debatable. When debate on a motion to reconsider is in order, no Senator shall speak thereon more than once nor longer than five (5) minutes.

2.38—Reconsideration; collateral matters

A motion to reconsider a collateral matter must be disposed of during the course of the consideration of the main subject to which it is related, and such motion shall be out of order after the committee has passed to other business.

PART SIX—COMMITTEES—AMENDMENTS2.39—Amendments; form, notice, manner of consideration

No amendment to any measure, which amendment was prepared prior to the committee meeting at which it is offered, shall be considered by that committee unless the amendment was filed with the committee administrative assistant at least two (2) hours before the time the meeting was called to order. Copies of such amendment shall be made reasonably available by the committee administrative assistant before the meeting, upon request, to the members of the committee and to the public. Neither a technical amendment nor an amendment which is prepared by a member of the committee during the committee meeting at which it is offered need be so noticed.

Amendments shall be filed on forms prescribed by the Secretary but shall be considered only after sponsors, who are members of the committee, gain recognition from the chairman to move their adoption. An amendment shall be deemed pending only after its sponsor has been recognized by the chairman and has moved its adoption. Amendments that have been filed but have not been formally moved for adoption shall not be deemed to be pending. No proposition on a subject different from that under consideration shall be admitted under color of amendment.

2.40—Sequence of amendments to amendments

An amendment to a pending amendment may be received, but until it is disposed of, no other motion to amend will be in order, except a substitute amendment or an amendment to the substitute. Such amendments are to be disposed of in the following order: (1) Amendments to the amendment are acted on before the substitute is taken up. (2) Amendments to the substitute are next voted on. (3) The substitute then is voted on. The adoption of a substitute amendment in lieu of an original amendment shall be treated and considered as an amendment to the bill itself.

2.41—Deleting everything after enacting clause

A proposal to delete everything after the enacting clause, or the resolving clause of a bill or resolution, and insert new matter of the same general subject as stated in the original title shall be deemed proper and germane and shall be treated as an amendment.

2.42—Amendment by section

The adoption of an amendment to a section shall not preclude further amendment of that section. If a bill or resolution is being considered section by section or item by item, only amendments to the section or item under consideration shall be in order. The chairman, in recognizing Senators for the purpose of moving the adoption of amendments, shall endeavor to cause all amendments to section 1 to be considered first, then all those in section 2, and so on. After all sections have been considered separately, the whole bill shall be open for amendment.

2.43—Senate amendments to House bills

A House bill may be amended in the same manner as a Senate bill.

2.44—Amendments by another committee

Amendments recommended by all committees of reference shall accompany a bill when filed with the Secretary. No committee shall physically remove an amendment by another committee but may recommend an amendment to an amendment, or a substitute for an amendment, by another committee. Amendments adopted by a committee to be incorporated in a committee substitute need not be filed.

2.45—Decorum and debate

When a Senator desires to speak or deliver a matter to the committee, the Senator shall address himself or herself to “Mr. or Madam Chairman” and, on being recognized, may address the committee and shall confine himself or herself to the question under debate, avoiding personality. A Senator shall not address or refer to another Senator by his or her first name. A Senator shall use the appellation of Senator or such appellation and the surname of the Senator referred to or addressed.

2.46—Chairman’s power to recognize

When two (2) or more Senators speak at once, the chairman shall name the Senator who is to be first recognized.

2.47—Interruptions; when allowed

No Senator shall be interrupted by another without the consent of the Senator who has the floor, except by rising to a question of privilege, a point of order requiring an immediate ruling, an appeal from the decision of the chairman concerning a point of order (if the appeal is made immediately following the decision), a parliamentary inquiry requiring an immediate reply, or to question the existence of a quorum. The chairman shall strictly enforce this Rule.

2.48—Speaking rights

When a member is speaking and another member interrupts to request recognition, the chairman may permit the person rising to state why he or she desires the floor. If the question the member desires to raise is entitled to precedence, the member originally speaking shall relinquish the floor until the question having precedence is disposed of. The member is then entitled to resume the floor.

The member making a debatable motion or the primary introducer of a bill, whether or not a member of the committee, shall have five (5) minutes in order to close debate.

2.49—Time for debate

No Senator shall speak longer than ten (10) minutes without yielding the floor, except by consent of a majority of those present.

2.50—Limitation on debate

When a measure is under debate by the committee, a Senator may move to limit debate, and the motion shall be decided without debate. The introducer of the measure shall have five (5) minutes to discuss the motion, and the introducer may divide such time with, or waive it in favor of, some other member. If the question is decided in the affirmative by a two-thirds (2/3) vote of those present, the debate shall be limited accordingly. The time allotted by such limitation shall be apportioned by the chairman.

2.51—Priority of business

All questions relating to the priority of business shall be acted on and shall be decided without debate.

2.52—Questioning right to vote

A point of order questioning the right of a member to vote on account of interest may be raised after the vote has been recorded and before the result is announced.

2.53—Appeals

The proper method of taking exception to a ruling of the chairman is by appeal. An appeal from a decision of the chairman must be made promptly before debate has concluded or other business has intervened. A point of order on any other question is not in order while an appeal is pending, but a point of order relating to the appeal may be raised; if the determination of the appeal is dependent on this point, it may be decided by the chairman. This second decision is also subject to appeal.

2.54—Appeals debatable

An appeal from a decision of the chairman on a point of order is debatable even though the question from which it arose was not debatable.

BILLS, RESOLUTIONS, AND MEMORIALS

3.1—Form of bills

All bills shall contain a proper title, as defined in Article III, Section 6 of the Constitution, and the enacting clause, “Be It Enacted by the Legislature of the State of Florida.”. The title of each bill shall be prefaced by the words, “A bill to be entitled An act”. Standard rules of capitalization shall apply.

The original must be backed in a folder-jacket signed by the sponsor(s). On these jackets shall be inscribed the name and district number of the introducer and any co-introducers or the introducing committee and its chairman, enough of the title for identification.

Bills that propose to amend existing provisions of the Florida Statutes (as described in section 11.242, Florida Statutes) or the Laws of Florida shall contain the full text of the section, subsection, or paragraph to be amended. Joint resolutions that propose to amend the Florida Constitution shall contain the full text of the section to be amended.

In general bills and joint resolutions that propose to create or amend existing provisions of the Florida Statutes, Chapter Laws of Florida, or of the Florida Constitution, new words shall be inserted underlined, and words to be deleted shall be lined through with hyphens, except that the text of the General Appropriations Act shall not be underlined.

When the change in language is so general that the use of these procedures would hinder, rather than assist, the understanding of the amendment, it shall not be necessary to use the coded indicators of words added or deleted but, in lieu thereof, a notation similar to the following shall be inserted immediately preceding the text of the provision being amended: "Substantial rewording of section. See s. [number], F.S., for present text." When such notation is used, the notation as well as the substantially reworded text shall be underlined.

The words to be deleted and the above-described indicators of such words and of new material are for information and guidance and shall not be considered to constitute a part of the bill under consideration.

Section catchlines of existing text shall not be typed with underlining.

3.2—Bills for introduction

A bill may not be introduced until properly filed with the Secretary of the Senate.

3.3—Form of local bills

As required by Article III, Section 10 of the Constitution, all local bills must either embody provision for ratifying referenda (stated in the title as well as in the text of the bill) or be accompanied by an affidavit of proper advertisement. Forms of affidavit may be obtained from the Secretary of the Senate. All local bills that require publication shall, when introduced, have proof of publication securely attached to the original copy of the bill and the words "Proof of Publication Attached" clearly typed or stamped on the Senate side of the bill jacket or cover, or the same shall be rejected by the Secretary.

3.4—Form of joint resolutions

All joint resolutions shall contain a proper title, as defined in Article III, Section 6 of the Constitution. Standard rules of capitalization shall apply. They shall contain the resolving clause, "Be It Resolved by the Legislature of the State of Florida:". Each joint resolution shall be prefaced by the words: "A Joint Resolution. . . .".

3.5—Form of memorials

All memorials shall contain a proper title, as defined in Article III, Section 6 of the Constitution. Standard rules of capitalization shall apply. They shall contain the resolving clause, "Be It Resolved by the Legislature of the State of Florida:".

3.6—Form of resolutions; Senate and concurrent

All Senate resolutions and all concurrent resolutions shall contain a proper title, as defined in Article III, Section 6 of the Constitution. Standard rules of capitalization shall apply. Senate resolutions shall read, "Be It Resolved by the Senate of the State of Florida:". Concurrent resolutions shall read, "Be It Resolved by the Senate of the State of Florida, the House of Representatives Concurring:".

Only the Secretary of the Senate shall prepare copies of Senate resolutions that are to be furnished any person after the resolution's adoption.

3.7—Introduction during session

To facilitate processing and committee referencing, all bills shall be filed for introduction with the Secretary of the Senate no later than 12:00 noon of the first day of the regular session.

Between regular sessions of the Legislature, bills may be prefiled by delivery to the Secretary of the Senate.

3.8—Prefiled bills

A prefiled bill complying with these Rules shall, in anticipation of the next regular session, be serially numbered in accordance with the permanent system required by these Rules. A bill received by the Secretary within three (3) weeks next preceding the convening of a regular session shall be numbered but otherwise withheld from the operation of this Rule. Such a bill shall be treated as if it had been delivered for introduction on the first day of the succeeding regular session.

The Secretary shall deliver each such numbered bill to the President for reference to a committee or committees pursuant to these Rules. The Secretary shall promptly forward each referenced bill to the chairman of the first or only committee of reference. A copy of each prefiled bill shall be provided each Senator. The Secretary shall mail regularly to each Senator a calendar of all prefiled bills, including the referencing data for each bill, and of all committee hearings, including the bills noticed for hearing by each.

After having been considered by a committee and a report made to the Secretary at least seven (7) days preceding a regular session, each bill shall be introduced and read on the first (1st) day thereof, pursuant to the Constitution, Laws of Florida, and these Rules. The Journal shall reflect the committee reference and the report of the committee. All requirements for the referencing of bills to and the consideration of bills by Senate committees shall be deemed to have been met and discharged if the jurisdictional requirements of this Rule have been complied with as to each of such bills.

If a committee fails to deliver its report of a prefiled bill prior to seven (7) days next preceding the convening of a regular session or, if a prefiled bill has received a reference to more than one (1) committee and less than all considered such bill, the committee or committees failing to so report and the committee or committees having failed to discharge their jurisdiction of a bill shall conduct hearings and file reports during the regular session as if such bill had not been prefiled.

Notwithstanding these Rules, a Senator may, during the day of introduction of prefiled bills, but no later than under the Order of Business of "Motions Relating to Committee Reference" on the second legislative day on which the Senate meets, move for reference to a different committee or for removal from a committee. This motion may be adopted by a two-thirds (2/3) vote of those present.

3.9—Printed copies of bills

When introduced, bills, not local in application, and joint resolutions (including committee bills and committee substitute bills) shall be printed by the Secretary for the information of the Senate and the public. The absence of a printed copy shall not delay the progress of a measure at any stage of the legislative process. Sufficient copies of the general appropriations bill proposed to be introduced by the Committee on Appropriations Budget shall be made available to the members and upon request, to the public, at the office of the Secretary of the Senate and at the committee's office, no less than two (2) hours prior to the time the Committee on Appropriations Budget meets to consider the proposed committee bill.

3.10—Identification of bills

Bills and other measures requiring legislative action shall be introduced in the order they are received at the desk of the Secretary. They shall be serially numbered with even numbers as introduced, without differentiation in number as to type. The Secretary shall mark the original copy of each measure to ensure its identification, and each page thereof, as the item introduced in order to prevent unauthorized or improper substitutions. This identification may be made by ~~machines as used in banks for validating or canceling checks or other documents, or made by any other device~~ to accomplish the purpose of this Rule. Such device shall be in the custody of the Secretary, and its use by any person not authorized by this Rule is prohibited.

3.11—Companion measures

When a Senate bill is reached on the calendar of the Senate for consideration, either on second or third reading, and there is also pending on the calendar of the Senate a companion measure already passed by the House, it shall be in order to move that the House companion measure be substituted and considered in lieu of the Senate measure. Such motion may be adopted by a majority vote of those present, provided the House measure is on the same reading; otherwise, the motion shall be to waive the rules by two-thirds (2/3) vote of those present and read such House measure. A companion measure shall be substantially the same and identical as to specific intent and purpose as the measure for which it is being substituted. At the moment the Senate passes the House companion measure, the original Senate measure shall be regarded as automatically tabled. Recommitment of a Senate bill shall automatically carry with it any House companion measure then on the calendar.

3.12—Introducers of bills

Bills shall be introduced by a Senator or group of Senators whose signature or signatures are affixed to the original, or by any committee with the name of the committee and the signature of the chairman of the committee affixed to the original. A bill introduced by a committee may be co-sponsored by any Senator whose signature is affixed to the original. The general appropriations bill shall be introduced by the Committee on Appropriations Budget.

3.13—Fiscal notes

Upon being favorably reported by a standing committee, all general bills or joint resolutions affecting revenues, expenditures, or fiscal liabilities of state or local governments shall be accompanied by a fiscal note. Fiscal notes shall reflect the estimated increase or decrease in revenues or expenditures. The estimated economic impact, which calculates the present and future fiscal implications of the bill or joint resolution, must be considered. The fiscal note shall not express opinion relative to the merits of the measure, but may identify technical or mechanical defects.

Fiscal notes on those bills affecting any state retirement system shall be prepared after consultation with an actuary who is a member of the Society of Actuaries and the cooperation of appropriate state agencies for necessary data shall be solicited.

Fiscal notes shall be regarded as memoranda of factual information and shall be made available to members of the Senate.

If a bill or joint resolution is reported favorably by a committee without a fiscal note or economic impact statement, as defined in this rule, a Senator may at any time raise a point of order, and the President shall order return of the bill or joint resolution to the committee. A fiscal note prepared for a Senate bill or joint resolution shall be presumed as prepared also for its House companion for the purposes of point of order.

RULE FOUR

ORDER OF BUSINESS AND CALENDAR

4.1—Sessions of the Senate

The Senate shall meet pursuant to a schedule adopted by the Committee on Rules and Calendar and approved by the President. This schedule shall set forth hours to convene and adjourn. The Senate shall not meet before 7:00 a.m. nor meet or continue to meet after 9:00 p.m.

4.2—Quorum

A majority of the Senate shall constitute a quorum, but a smaller number may adjourn from day to day and compel the attendance of absent members, in such manner and under such penalties as it may prescribe. A Senator at any time may question the existence of a quorum.

The daily order of business shall be as follows:

1. Roll call

omitted from the formal calendar and may be distributed to Senators by the Secretary separately.

Certain messages from the House of Representatives may be withheld from the Daily Order of Business pursuant to Rule 1.18 or on order of the President.

On the first legislative day of each week the Daily Order of Business shall include, after prayer, the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America.

First reading of bills shall be accomplished by publication of the title thereof in the journal pursuant to Article III, Section 7 of the Florida Constitution as amended.

4.4—Committee of the whole

By a majority vote of those present, the Senate may resolve itself into a Committee of the Whole and, when thus constituted, may consider any question whether formally introduced in the Senate or not. The Senate may, however, restrict the subject matter to be considered by the Committee of the Whole, or its jurisdiction, by resolving itself into a Committee of the Whole for a specific and limited purpose. The President shall preside and maintain order and decorum. The Rules of the Senate applicable to standing committees shall govern when applicable. The Committee of the Whole may consider and report, by majority vote of those present, on any bill or question not formally introduced in the Senate and any bill on which all standing committees of reference have rendered a favorable report. A bill on which committee action has been taken by the committee or committees of reference or on which an unfavorable committee report has been filed may be considered only on two-thirds (2/3) vote of those present. Such vote shall also be required to favorably report any such bill to the Senate. A bill thus originating in a Committee of the Whole shall, when introduced as contemplated by the Constitution, receive no further reference to committee. A favorable report by a Committee of the Whole on a bill having theretofore received an unfavorable report by a standing committee of reference shall not have the effect of withdrawing such bill from the table. Consideration by the Senate of such a bill shall be preceded by the adoption of the appropriate motion during a session of the Senate. Bills considered by a Committee of the Whole shall be read once, debated, amended, and acted on as a standing committee function. The body of a bill formally introduced shall not be interlined or defaced, but all amendments denoting the page and line shall be entered on a separate paper by the Secretary of the Committee of the Whole. The same shall be agreed to by the Committee, and the report filed as otherwise provided in these Rules for committee reports. After report, the bill or other matter may be again debated and shall be subject to be again amended by the Senate. The quorum for a Committee of the Whole shall be the same as for the Senate, and when the Committee of the Whole shall rise, the roll shall be called to ascertain the presence of a quorum of the Senate.

4.5—Conference committee report

The report of a committee of conference appointed pursuant to Rule 1.5 shall be read to the Senate on two (2) consecutive legislative days, and on the completion of the second reading the vote shall be on the adoption or rejection thereof and final passage of the measure as recommended. During the last five (5) days of a regular session the report shall be read only once. Copies of conference committee reports shall be available to the membership twelve (12) hours prior to the time such report is scheduled to be taken up on the Senate floor.

The report must be acted on as a whole, being adopted or rejected, and each report shall include a statement sufficiently explicit to inform the Senate of the effect of the report on the measure to which it relates.

In the event of extended absence of the President or the President's disability or incapacity, the President Pro Tempore shall assume the duty of referring bills.

If the President has not previously designated a standing subcommittee of reference, the chairman of the standing committee shall promptly determine whether such measure shall initially be considered by the full committee, a standing subcommittee, or a select subcommittee appointed by the chairman. The chairman, in referring a bill to a subcommittee, shall specify the number of days available for consideration. If subreference is to a standing subcommittee, the chairman of the standing committee shall promptly report this reference and the time allowed for consideration to the Secretary of the Senate on forms provided for the purpose.

A bill is local in nature for referencing purposes if it does not substantially alter a law of general application throughout the state and it either affects no more than one county or relates to a special district that is located wholly within no more than two counties. When the Committee on Rules and Calendar, through staff analysis, has determined that a bill is local in nature for referencing purposes and that it responds to the legal requirements of a local bill, the bill shall be reported and referred to the calendar on local bills.~~

A motion to waive this Rule shall be referred to the Committee on Rules and Calendar for a hearing and its advisory recommendation as to the existence of an emergency reasonably compelling consideration of a bill notwithstanding this Rule and a recommendation shall be reported back to the Senate. The Secretary shall number them to provide identity and control until a permanent number can be affixed. These bills shall be known as prefiled bills and considered in accordance with these Rules.

4.7—Reference to more than one committee; effect

In case of multiple reference of a bill, it shall be considered by each committee separately in the order in which the multiple reference is made. However, if any committee to which the bill is referred makes an unfavorable report on said bill, that report shall be filed with the Senate and no further consideration given by other committees except on two-thirds (2/3) vote of those present. These may be considered on motion and adopted at time of introduction without reference, except that resolutions of condolence or commemoration that are of a statewide non-political significance, may be shown as introduced, read and adopted by publication in full in the Journal.

4.10—Reference to different committee or removal

This motion may be adopted by a two-thirds (2/3) vote of those present.~~

4.11—Papers of miscellaneous nature

Papers of a miscellaneous nature addressed to the Senate may, at the discretion of the President, be read, noted in the Journal, or filed with an appropriate committee. When there is a demand to read a paper other than one on which the Senate is called to give a final vote and the same is objected to by any Senator, it shall be determined by a majority vote of those present.

4.12—Reading of bills and joint resolutions

Each bill or joint resolution shall receive three (3) separate readings on three (3) separate days previous to a vote on final passage unless two-thirds (2/3) of those present decide otherwise as provided in the Constitution under Article III, Section 7.

4.13—Reading of concurrent resolutions and memorials

Each concurrent resolution or memorial shall receive two (2) separate readings on two (2) separate days previous to a voice vote on adoption, unless two-thirds (2/3) of those present decide otherwise. If the reading on the second day is dispensed with by this waiver, the concurrent resolution or memorial may be read the second time by title only.

4.14—Reading of Senate resolutions

On introduction each Senate resolution shall be read by title only and shall be read an additional time in full before the question is put on adoption by voice vote, except that resolutions of condolence or commemoration that are of a statewide non-political significance may be shown as introduced, read and adopted by publication in full in the Journal.

4.15—Referral or postponement on third reading

On the third reading of a bill or joint resolution, it shall not be referred or committed (except to the Committee on Appropriations ~~Budget~~) or amended (except a corrective or title amendment) without consent of two-thirds (2/3) of those present, nor shall the vote on passage be postponed to a day certain without the consent of a majority of those present.

4.16—Consideration out of regular order

A bill shall be considered out of regular order on the calendar on unanimous consent of those present obtained in the following manner: Prior to the consideration of the motion, the Senator moving for unanimous consent of those present shall orally give the membership not less than fifteen (15) minutes' notice of his or her intention to move and shall specify the number of the bill or joint resolution and its position on the calendar. On entertainment of the motion, the moving Senator shall be allowed one (1) minute to explain his or her purpose, and unanimous consent of those present shall be given or refused without further debate.

4.17—Special order calendar; consent calendar

Commencing on the first day of a regular session of the legislature permitted under the Constitution and during any extension directed by the membership of the legislature as permitted under the Constitution, the Chairman of the Committee on Rules and Calendar, the Vice-Chairman of the Committee on Rules and Calendar, the Majority Leader, the Minority Leader, and two (2) other members of the committee designated by the chairman shall on each day submit a Special Order Calendar determining the priority for consideration of bills. Except for the first day, each Special Order Calendar shall be for the second succeeding legislative day on which the Senate meets, and this calendar may include bills that had been scheduled for special order on the previous legislative day. No other bills shall be considered until this Special Order Calendar has been completed by the Senate, except that any bill appearing on this calendar may be stricken by a two-thirds (2/3) vote of those present or any bill appearing on the general calendar of bills on second or third reading may be added to the end of the Special Order Calendar by the same vote. All bills set as special order for consideration at the same hour shall take precedence in the order in which they were given preference.

A vote of two-thirds (2/3) of those present shall be required to establish a Special Order except as provided in this Rule. Notice of time and place for the establishment of the Special Order shall be published in the daily calendar; provided, during the last ten (10) days of each regular session notice of time and place may be given by announcement from the floor.

The Committee on Rules and Calendar, with the approval of the President, may submit a consent bill calendar to be held in conjunction with the Special Order Calendar. When such a day is designated, all bills appearing on the consent calendar shall be considered in their order of appearance. However, if an objection by any member shall cause such bill to be temporarily postponed passed, it retains its order on the regular calendar. A Senator may designate only a bill that he or she sponsors or a House bill for the consent calendar. A committee chairman may designate a committee bill sponsored by his or her committee. All consent calendar bills must have appeared on the printed Senate calendar.

4.18—Calendar of local bills

Local bills shall be disposed of according to the calendar of bills of a local nature and shall be considered only at such time as determined by the Committee on Rules and Calendar or its designees and approved by the President.

4.19—Order after second reading

The order of disposition of a bill that has been read the second time shall be its reference to the engrossing clerk to be engrossed after all questions relative to it while on second reading have been disposed of, and the same shall be immediately engrossed and placed on the calendar of bills on third reading to be considered on some succeeding legislative day. No bill shall be committed to the engrossing clerk or placed on the calendar of bills on third reading unless all motions relative to it and placed, by the President, before the Senate have been disposed of. Amendments filed with the Secretary, the adoption of which have not been formally moved, shall not be construed to be pending so as to deter such advancement. A bill shall be available for its third reading when it has been read a second time on a previous day and no motion left pending. Bills calendared for second or third reading shall not be considered on such reading until reached on the calendar and appropriately read to the Senate pursuant to order of the President.

4.20—Enrolling

The Secretary of the Senate shall be responsible for the enrolling of all bills. After enrollment, all bills shall be signed by the President and the Secretary and the enrolling report shall be published in the Journal.

4.21—Veto messages

As required by Article III, Section 8, of the Constitution, if the originating house votes to re-enact a vetoed measure, whether in a regular or special session, and the other house does not consider or fails to re-enact the vetoed measure, no further consideration by either house at any subsequent session may be taken. If a vetoed measure is presented at a special session and the originating house does not consider it, the measure will be available for consideration at any intervening special session and until the end of the next regular session. All veto messages shall be referred to the Committee on Rules and Calendar.

4.81—Claim bills

a. Claim bills are of two types: excess judgment claims filed pursuant to section 768.28(5), Florida Statutes, and equitable claims filed without an underlying excess judgment.

b. All claim bills shall be filed with the Secretary of the Senate on or before August 1 in order to be considered by the Senate during the next regular session, except that members elected to the Senate during a general election may have sixty (60) days from the date of that election to file a claim bill(s). Senators currently serving who are re-elected during a general election are not subject to the immediately preceding provision relating to sixty (60) days. A motion to introduce a claim bill notwithstanding the claim bill filing deadline, shall be referred to the Committee on Rules and Calendar for a hearing and a determination as to the existence of an emergency reasonably compelling consideration of a claim bill notwithstanding the claim bill filing deadline. A House claim bill which does not have a Senate companion claim bill timely filed under this rule shall not be considered by the Senate. Any motion to consider a House claim bill which does not have a timely filed Senate companion bill shall be referred to the Committee on Rules and Calendar for a hearing and a determination as to the existence of an emergency reasonably compelling consideration of a claim bill notwithstanding the claim bill filing deadline. The determination by the Committee on Rules and Calendar shall be reported back to the Senate. Upon a determination by the committee that an emergency does exist, the motion may be considered by the Senate and must be adopted by at least two-thirds (2/3) vote of those present.

c. All claim bills shall be referred by the President to one or more committee(s) for review. If the President determines that a de novo hearing is necessary to determine liability, proximate cause, and damages, a Special Master shall conduct such hearing pursuant to reasonable notice. Discovery procedures shall be governed by the Florida Rules of Civil Procedure and the Florida Evidence Code, as applicable. The Special Master shall administer an oath to all witnesses, accept relevant documentary and tangible evidence properly offered, tape record the proceedings, and prepare a final report containing findings of fact, conclusions of law and recommendations no later than December 1. The report shall be signed by the Special Master who shall be available, in person, to explain his or her report to the committees and to the Senate.

d. On receipt of the Special Master's report and recommendations, if any, the Secretary shall, under the President's initial reference, deliver each claim bill with the report attached, to the committee or committees of reference.

e. Stipulations entered into by the parties are not binding on the Special Master, the Senate or its committees.

f. The hearing and consideration of a claim bill shall be held in abeyance until all available administrative and judicial remedies have been exhausted; except that the hearing and consideration of a claim that is still within the judicial or administrative systems may proceed where the parties have executed a written settlement agreement. The hearing and consideration of a claim, any element of which is pending in litigation, shall be held in abeyance until all judicial activity thereon, including any appellate proceedings, shall have come to rest.

RULE FIVE

VOTING

5.1—Taking the yeas and nays

The President shall declare all votes, but, if five (5) Senators immediately question a vote by a show of hands, the President shall take the vote by yeas and nays or electronic roll call. When taking yeas and nays on any question, the electronic roll call system may be used and shall have the force and effect of a roll call taken as provided in these Rules. Also this system may be used to determine the presence of a quorum. When the Senate is ready to vote on a question requiring roll call and the vote is by electronic roll call, the President shall state: "The Secretary will unlock the machine and Senators prepare to vote." When sufficient time has elapsed for each Senator to vote, the President shall say: "Have all voted?" And, after a short pause, shall state: "The Secretary shall now lock the machine and record the vote." When the vote is completely recorded, the President shall announce the result to the Senate; and the Secretary shall enter in the Journal the result. When the Senate is equally divided, the question shall be lost.

5.2—Change of vote

After the result of the vote has been announced by the President, a Senator with unanimous consent of those present may change his or her vote or vote on the measure except that no such change of vote or vote shall be valid where such vote would alter the final passage of the measure until the measure shall first have been recalled to the Senate for further consideration. Records of such requests shall be available at the Secretary's desk through the session. If no objections are raised before the close of the business that day, requests will be accepted.

The original roll call shall not be altered, but late votes and change of votes shall be recorded under the original roll call in the Journal. On request of a Senator before considering other business, the President shall order a verification of a vote.

5.3—Casting vote for another

No Senator shall cast a vote for another Senator unless the Senator is present in the chamber area and requests the casting of said vote, nor shall a person not a Senator cast a vote for a Senator. In addition to such penalties as may be prescribed by law, a Senator who shall without such authorization vote or attempt to vote for another Senator may be punished as the Senate may deem proper. Also, a person not a Senator who shall vote wrongfully in the place of a Senator shall be excluded from the Chamber for the remainder of the session.

5.4—Pairing

Pairing shall be permitted only on the absence of a Senator excused from attendance and shall specifically state, in writing, the bill or bills to which the pair applies.

5.5—Explanation of vote

No Senator shall be permitted to explain his or her vote during a roll call but may submit his or her explanation in writing and file it with the Secretary. This explanation shall be entered in the Journal.

5.6—Election by ballot

In all cases of ballot, a majority of the votes cast shall be necessary to an election. If, however, no one is elected on the first three (3) ballots, the names after the top two (2) in number of votes received on the third tally shall be dropped, and the Senate shall ballot on the two (2) names remaining.

RULE SIX

MOTIONS AND PRECEDENCE

6.1—Motions; how made, withdrawn

Every motion may be made orally. On request of the President, a Senator shall submit his or her motion in writing. After a motion has been stated or read by the President, it shall be deemed to be in possession of the Senate and, without a second, shall be disposed of by vote of the Senate. The mover may withdraw a motion, except a motion to reconsider, as hereinafter provided, at any time before the same has been amended or before the vote shall have commenced.

6.2—Motions; precedence

When a question is under debate, the President shall receive no motion except:

1. To adjourn
 - (a) Instantly
 - (b) At a time certain
2. Questions of privilege
3. To take a recess
4. To proceed to the consideration of executive business
5. To reconsider
6. To limit debate
7. To temporarily postpone pass
8. To postpone to a day certain
9. To commit to the Committee of the Whole
10. To commit to a standing committee
11. To commit to a select committee
12. To amend
13. To postpone indefinitely

which shall have precedence in the descending order given. A motion to discharge Senate conferees and to appoint or instruct said conferees as set forth in Rule 2.19 is a motion of the highest privilege and this motion shall have precedence over all other questions except motions to adjourn and questions of privilege.

The President shall propound all questions in the order in which they are moved unless the subsequent motion be previous in nature.

When a motion is under consideration, but prior to the commencement of the vote, a substitute motion shall be in order. Only one substitute shall be entertained and the substitute shall be in the same order of precedence.

6.3—Division of question

A Senator may call for a division of a question when the sense will admit of it. A motion to strike out and insert shall be deemed indivisible; a motion to strike out, being lost, shall neither preclude amendment nor a motion to strike out and insert.

6.4—Reconsideration generally

When a main question (the vote on passage of a measure, including a vote on a veto message, confirmation of executive appointments, removal or suspension from office) has been decided by the Senate, a Senator voting with the prevailing side may move for reconsideration of the question on the same or the next legislative day on which the Senate meets. If the question has been decided by voice vote, any Senator may so move. Such motion may be made pending a motion to adjourn or if it is time to adjourn. Consideration of a motion to reconsider shall be a special and continuing order of business for the Senate when it next meets on a legislative day succeeding that on which the motion was made and, unless considered on said day, shall be considered abandoned. If the Senate shall refuse to reconsider or, on reconsideration, shall confirm its first decision, no further motion to reconsider shall be in order except on unanimous consent of those present. During the last five (5) days of a regular session, a motion to reconsider shall be made and considered on the same day. When a majority of those present vote in the affirmative on any question but the proposition be lost because it is one in which the concurrence of more than a majority of those present is necessary for adoption or passage, any Senator may move for reconsideration.

6.5—Reconsideration; vote required

A majority of the affirmative votes of those present shall be required to adopt a motion to reconsider.

6.6—Reconsideration; debate

Debate shall be allowed on a motion to reconsider only when the question which it is proposed to reconsider is debatable. When the question is debatable no Senator shall speak thereon more than once nor longer than five (5) minutes.

6.7—Reconsideration; collateral matters and procedural motions

A motion to reconsider a collateral matter must be disposed of during the course of the consideration of the main subject to which it is related, and such motion shall be out of order after the Senate has passed to other business. Reconsideration of a procedural motion shall be considered on the same day on which it is made.

6.8—Reconsideration; Secretary to hold for period

The Secretary shall hold all bills for the period after passage during which reconsideration may be moved. The adoption of any motion to waive the Rules by a two-thirds (2/3) vote of those present and immediately certify any bill or joint resolution to the House shall be construed as releasing the measure from the Secretary's possession for the period of reconsideration and shall, thereafter, preclude reconsideration. During the last five (5) calendar days allowed under the Constitution for a regular session and during any extensions thereof, or during any special session, the bills shall be immediately transmitted to the House. Messages relating to Senate action on House amendments or to conference committee reports shall be transmitted forthwith.

6.9—Motion to indefinitely postpone

The adoption of a motion to indefinitely postpone a measure shall dispose of it for the duration of the legislative session and all extensions thereof. A motion to postpone consideration to a time beyond the last day allowed under the Constitution for the current legislative session shall be construed as a motion to indefinitely postpone. Motions to indefinitely postpone shall not be applicable to collateral matters.

RULE SEVEN

AMENDMENTS

7.1—General form; notice; manner of consideration

No amendment to a bill on the Special Order Calendar prepared prior to the time a session of the Senate has convened shall be considered by the Senate unless the amendment was filed with the Secretary of the Senate no later than 5:00 p.m. the day prior to the day that session was called to order. Copies of such amendments shall be made reasonably available by the Secretary of the Senate before the session, upon request, to the members and to the public. Neither a technical amendment nor an amendment which is prepared by a member during the session at which it is offered need be so noticed.

Amendments shall be filed with the Secretary on forms prescribed by the Secretary but shall be considered only after sponsors gain recognition from the President to move their adoption, except that the chairman of the committee (or, in the chairman's absence, the vice-chairman or any member thereof) reporting the measure under consideration shall have preference for the presentation of committee amendments. An amendment shall be deemed pending only after its sponsor has been recognized by the President and has moved its adoption. Amendments that have been filed with the Secretary of the Senate but have not been formally moved for adoption shall not be deemed to be pending.

No proposition on a subject different from that under consideration shall be admitted under color of amendment. The following bills are out of order and shall not be admitted or considered under color of amendment to a bill on the calendar and under consideration by the Senate.

1. Bills which have received an unfavorable committee report.
2. Bills which have been withdrawn from further consideration by the sponsor.
3. Bills the substance of which have not been reported favorably by all committees of reference.

Amendments covered by this Rule shall be substantially the same and identical as to specific intent and purpose as the measure residing in the committee or committees of reference.

7.2—Adoption

Amendments may be adopted on second reading by a majority vote of those present and on third reading by a two-thirds (2/3) vote of those present. Amendments to the title or corrective amendments may be decided, without debate, by a majority vote of those present on third reading.

7.3—Sequence of amendments to amendments

An amendment to a pending amendment may be received, but until it is disposed of, no other motion to amend will be in order, except a substitute amendment or an amendment to the substitute. Such amendments are to be disposed of in the following order: (1) Amendments to the amendment are acted on before the substitute is taken up. Only one amendment to the amendment is in order. (2) Amendments to the substitute are next voted on. (3) The substitute then is voted on. The adoption of a substitute amendment in lieu of an original amendment shall be treated and considered as an amendment to the bill itself.

7.4—Deleting everything after enacting clause

A proposal to delete everything after the enacting clause, or the resolving clause of a bill or resolution, and insert new matter of the same general subject as stated in the original title shall be deemed proper and germane and shall be treated as an amendment.

7.5—Amendment by section

The adoption of an amendment to a section shall not preclude further amendment of that section. If a bill is being considered section by section or item by item, only amendments to the section or item under consideration shall be in order. The President, in recognizing Senators for the purpose of moving the adoption of amendments, shall endeavor to cause all amendments to section 1 to be considered first, then all those in section 2, and so on. After all sections have been considered separately, the entire bill shall be open for amendment.

7.6—Printing in Journal

All amendments taken up by the Senate unless withdrawn shall be printed in the Journal except that an amendment to the general appropriations bill constituting an entirely new bill shall not be printed until the filing of the conference committee report. All item amendments to the general appropriations bill shall be printed.

7.7—Senate amendments to House bills

A House bill may be amended in the same manner as a Senate bill. If a House bill is amended, the same shall be noted by the Secretary on the jacket before it is reported to the House.

7.8—House amendments to Senate bills

After the reading of a House amendment to a Senate bill, the Senate may: (1) amend the House amendment, (2) concur in the House amendment, (3) refuse to concur in the House amendment and ask the House to recede, or (4) request a conference committee. The adoption of all the foregoing motions shall be by majority vote of those present.

7.9—House refusal to concur in Senate amendment

If the House shall refuse to concur in a Senate amendment to a House bill, the following motions shall be in order and shall be privileged in the order named: (1) that the Senate recede, (2) that the Senate insist and ask for a conference committee, or (3) that the Senate insist. The adoption of any of the foregoing motions shall be by majority vote of those present.

RULE EIGHT

DECORUM AND DEBATE

8.1—Decorum and debate

When a Senator desires to speak or deliver a matter to the Senate, the Senator shall rise at his or her seat and address himself or herself to "Mr. or Madam President", and, on being recognized, may address the Senate from his or her desk or from the well of the Senate, and shall confine any remarks to the question under debate, avoiding personality. A Senator shall not address or refer to another Senator by his or her first name. A Senator shall use the appellation of Senator or such appellation and the district number of the Senator being addressed, or a Senator may also use such appellation and the surname of the Senator referred to or addressed.

8.2—Presiding officer's power of recognition

When two (2) or more Senators rise at once, the presiding officer shall name the Senator who is first to be recognized.

8.3—Interruptions; when allowed

No Senator shall be interrupted by another without the consent of the Senator who has the floor, except:

1. by rising to a question of privilege;
2. by rising to a point of order requiring an immediate ruling;
3. by appeal from the decision of the presiding officer concerning a point of order (if the appeal is made immediately following the decision);
4. a parliamentary inquiry requiring an immediate reply; or
5. a question of no quorum.

The presiding officer shall strictly enforce this Rule.

8.4—Senator speaking, rights

When a member is speaking and another member interrupts to request recognition, the presiding officer may permit the person rising to state why he or she desires the floor. If the question the member desires to raise is entitled to precedence, the member originally speaking shall relinquish the floor until the question having precedence is disposed of. The member then is entitled to resume the floor.

The Senator making a debatable motion or the primary introducer of a bill shall have five (5) minutes in order to close debate.

8.5—Limit on speaking

No Senator shall speak longer than thirty (30) minutes without yielding the floor, except by consent of a majority of those present.

8.6—Limitation of debate

When a measure is under debate by the Senate, a Senator may move to limit debate, and such motion shall be decided without debate, except the introducer of the measure shall have five (5) minutes to discuss said motion. If, by two-thirds (2/3) vote of those present, the question is decided in the affirmative, debate shall be limited accordingly.

8.7—Points of order, parliamentary inquiry, definitions

A point of order is the parliamentary device that is used to require a deliberative body to observe its own rules and to follow established parliamentary practice. A parliamentary inquiry is the device for obtaining a predetermination of a rule or a clarification thereof and may be presented in hypothetical form.

8.8—Questioning right to vote

A point of order questioning the right of a member to vote on account of interest may be raised after the vote has been recorded and before the result is announced.

8.9—Appeals

Taking exception to a ruling of a presiding officer shall be by appeal. An appeal from a decision of the presiding officer must be made promptly before debate has concluded or other business has intervened. A point of order on any other question is not in order while an appeal is pending, but a point of order relating to the appeal may be raised; and, if the determination of the appeal is dependent on this point, it may be decided by the presiding officer. This second decision is also subject to appeal.

8.10—Appeals, debatable

An appeal from a decision of the presiding officer on a point of order is debatable even though the question from which it arose was not debatable.

8.11—Questions of privilege

Questions of privilege shall be: first, those affecting the rights of the Senate collectively, its safety, dignity, and the integrity of its proceedings; and second, the rights, reputation, and conduct of Senators individually, in their representative capacity only. These shall have precedence over all other questions except motions to adjourn. The question shall not be recognized during the debate on a bill. A question of privilege affecting either house collectively takes precedence over a question of privilege affecting an individual member.

RULE NINELOBBYING*9.1—Those required to register

All persons (except those specifically exempted) who seek to encourage the passage, defeat, or modification of legislation in the Senate or before its committees shall, before engaging in such activity, register as prescribed by law and the Joint Rules of the Florida House and Senate.

9.2—Obligations of lobbyist

A lobbyist shall supply facts, information, and opinions of principals to legislators from the point of view from which he or she openly declares. A lobbyist shall not offer or propose anything to improperly influence the official act, decision, or vote of a legislator.

A lobbyist, by personal example and admonition to colleagues, shall uphold the honor of the legislative process by the integrity of his or her relationship with legislators.

A lobbyist shall not knowingly and willfully falsify a material fact or make any false, fictitious, or fraudulent statement or representation or make or use any writing or document knowing the same contains any false, fictitious, or fraudulent statements or entry.

9.3—Lobbyists' requirements

A lobbyist shall adhere to the statutory requirements for lobbyists provided by law and the Joint Rules.

9.4—Advisory opinions

A lobbyist, when in doubt about the applicability and interpretation of this Rule in a particular context, may submit in writing a statement of the facts involved to the Committee on Rules and Calendar and may appear in person before said committee.

The Committee on Rules and Calendar may render advisory opinions to any lobbyist who seeks advice as to whether or not the facts in a particular case will constitute a violation of these Rules. All opinions shall delete names and be numbered, dated, and published in the Journal of the Senate.

9.5—Compilation of opinions

The Secretary of the Senate shall keep a compilation of all advisory opinions of the Committee on Rules and Calendar.

9.6—Penalties for violations

Separately from any prosecutions or penalties otherwise provided by law, any person determined to have violated the requirements of this Rule shall be censured, reprimanded, placed on probation, or prohibited from lobbying for the duration of the session and from appearing before any committee of the Senate. Said determination shall be made by a majority of the Senate and on recommendation of the Committee on Rules and Calendar. The Committee on Rules and Calendar, before making said recommendation, shall conduct a hearing, after notifying the person alleged to have violated this Rule and granting such person an opportunity to appear at the hearing.

9.7—Committees to be diligent

Committees shall be diligent to ascertain whether those who appear before them, in other than an obviously individual capacity, have conformed with the requirements of this Rule, the Joint Rules and the laws of Florida, and shall report violations. No committee member shall knowingly permit an unregistered lobbyist to be heard.

RULE TEN

CHAMBER OF THE SENATE

10.1—Persons entitled to admission

No person shall be admitted to the main floor of the Senate Chamber while the Senate is in session except present members of the Senate, all officers and employees of the Senate in the performance of their duties, and persons charged with messages or papers to the Senate. Also entitled to admission are the Governor or one (1) representative designated by the Governor, the Lieutenant Governor, Cabinet officers, former governors, present and former United States Senators, members or former members of the House of Representatives of the United States and of this State, Justices of the Supreme Court, former State Senators of Florida, and persons by invitation of the President. A special section of the gallery shall be reserved for members of the families of Senators.

10.2—Exception

None of the persons entitled to admission shall be admitted if registered pursuant to Rule 9.

10.3—Admission of press by President

Representatives of the press and of radio and television stations, in performance of their duties, shall be assigned to a press section specifically set aside for them, and shall not be allowed on the Senate floor while the Senate is in session, except with the approval of the President.

10.4—Attire

All male persons on the main floor of the Senate and in the gallery (with the exception of visitors in that portion of the gallery set aside for the general public) shall wear coats and ties at all times while the Senate is in session.

10.5—Gallery

No food or beverages shall be allowed in the gallery at any time.

RULE ELEVEN

CONSTRUCTION AND WAIVER OF RULES

11.1—Interpretation of Rules

It shall be the duty of the President, or the presiding officer for the time being, to interpret all Rules. Motions for the previous question and to lay on the table shall not be entertained.

11.2—Waiver and suspension of Rules

These Rules shall not be waived or suspended except by a two-thirds (2/3) vote of all Senators present. The motion, when made, shall be decided without debate. A motion to waive a rule requiring unanimous consent of the Senate shall be construed to be an amendment to these Rules and shall be referred to the Committee on Rules and Calendar except by unanimous consent of those present.

11.3—Changes in Rules

All proposed actions touching the Rules and Order of Business in the Senate shall be first referred to the Committee on Rules and Calendar, which shall report as soon as practicable. Consideration of such a report shall always be in order. The Committee on Rules and Calendar may originate reports and resolutions dealing with these Rules and the Order of Business, and such power shall be exclusive, provided, however, that any report made pursuant to this Rule may be amended by a two-thirds (2/3) vote of the members present.

11.4—Majority action

Unless otherwise indicated by these Rules or the Constitution of Florida, all action by the Senate shall be by majority vote of those Senators present.

11.5—Uniform construction

When in these Rules reference is made to “two-thirds (2/3) of those present”, “two-thirds (2/3) vote”, “two-thirds (2/3) of the Senate”, “two-thirds (2/3) of those voting”, etc., these shall all be construed to mean two-thirds (2/3) of those Senators present, except that two-thirds (2/3) of the Senate shall be required to consider additional proposed legislation in any extended session in accordance with Article III, Section 3 of the Constitution.

11.6—General

When used in these Rules, the following words shall, unless the text otherwise indicates, have the following respective meaning: the singular always includes the plural. Except where specifically provided otherwise, the use of the word “bill” or “measure” means a bill, joint resolution, concurrent resolution, resolution, or memorial.

RULE TWELVEEXECUTIVE SESSIONS, APPOINTMENTS,
SUSPENSIONS, AND REMOVALSPART ONE—EXECUTIVE SESSIONS*12.1—Executive session; authority

The business of the Senate shall be transacted openly and not in executive session except under conditions pursuant to Article III, Section 4(b) of the Constitution of Florida.

12.2—Executive session; purpose

Pursuant to Article III, Section 4(b) of the Constitution of Florida, the Senate may resolve itself into executive session for the sole purpose of considering appointment, removal, or suspension. No one shall be in attendance except Senators and the Secretary of the Senate, who shall be sworn not to disclose any executive business without consent of the Senate.

12.3—Executive session; vote required

When the Senate agrees, by a majority of Senators present, that specified appointments, removals, or suspensions shall be considered in executive session, such shall be calendared for formal consideration by the Senate.

12.4—Work product confidentiality

All information and remarks including committee work product concerning the character and qualification, together with the vote on each appointment, removal, or suspension considered in executive session shall be kept a secret except information on which the bans of secrecy were lifted by the Senate while in executive session.

12.5—Separate Journal

A separate Journal shall be kept of executive proceedings of the Senate, and no information regarding same shall be made public except by order of the Senate or by order of a court of competent jurisdiction.

12.6—Violation of Rule

Violation of the above Rule as to the secrecy of the proceedings of executive sessions shall be considered by the Senate as sufficient grounds for unseating the offending Senator.

PART TWO—APPOINTMENTS, SUSPENSIONS, AND REMOVALS12.7—Procedure

(a) Except as otherwise herein provided, on receipt by the Senate of appointments or suspensions on which action by the Senate is required, the President shall refer each to the Committee on Ethics and Elections ~~Gubernatorial Appointments and Confirmations~~, other appropriate committee or to a Special Master appointed by the President. Either one shall make inquiry or investigation and hold hearings, as appropriate, and advise the President and the Senate with a recommendation and the necessity for deliberating the subject in executive session. Reports and findings of the committee or the Special Master appointed pursuant hereto are advisory only and shall be made to the Senate President. The report of the committee or the Special Master may be privileged and confidential. The President may order the report presented to the Senate in either open or executive session, or the President may refer it to the Committee on Rules and Calendar for its consideration and report. When the report is presented to the Senate in open session or received by the Committee on Rules and Calendar, the report shall lose its privileged and confidential character.

(b) An executive suspension of a public official who is under indictment or who has pending against him or her criminal charges filed by the appropriate prosecuting officer in a court of record, or an executive suspension of a public official that is challenged in a court shall be referred to the Committee on Ethics and Elections ~~Gubernatorial Appointments and Confirmations~~, other appropriate committee or Special Master; however, all inquiry or investigation or hearings thereon shall be held in abeyance and the matter shall not be considered by the Senate, the committee or the Special Master until the pending charges have been dismissed, or until final determination of the criminal charges at the trial court level, or until the final determination of a court challenge, if any, and the exhaustion of all appellate remedies for any of the above.

In a suspension case in which the criminal charge is not for the alleged commission of a felony, the committee or the Special Master, and the Senate may proceed if the written consent of counsel for the Governor and of the suspended official is obtained.

(c) The Governor and the suspended official shall be given reasonable notice in writing of any hearing or pre-hearing conference before the committee or Special Master.

(d) The suspended official may file with the Secretary of the Senate, no later than ten (10) days prior to the first pre-hearing conference, or no later than the date set by the committee or Special Master if no pre-hearing conference is held, all written defenses or matters in avoidance of the charges contained in the suspension order.

(e) When it is advisable, the committee or Special Master may request that the Governor file a bill of particulars containing a statement of further facts and circumstances supporting the suspension order. Within twenty (20) days after the receipt of such bill of particulars by the suspended officer, that officer shall file with the committee or Special Master a response to the Governor's bill of particulars. Such response shall specifically admit or deny the facts or circumstances set forth in the Governor's bill of particulars, and may further make such representation of fact and circumstances or assert such further defenses as are responsive to the bill of particulars or as may bear on the matter of the suspension.

(f) The committee or Special Master may provide for a pre-hearing conference with counsel for the Governor and the suspended official to narrow the issues involved in the suspension. At such conference, both the Governor and the suspended official shall set forth the names and addresses of all the witnesses they intend to call, the nature of their testimony, and photocopies of all documentary and a description of all physical evidence that will be relied on by the parties at the hearing. Each shall state briefly what each expects to prove by such testimony and evidence.

(g) Subject to the limitations of Rule 12.7(b) the committee or Special Master shall institute action by transmitting a notice of hearing for a pre-hearing conference or a hearing on the merits within three (3) months after the effective date of the suspension order. If a suspension order is referred to the committee or Special Master but is held in abeyance in accordance with Rule 12.7(b), the committee or Special Master shall institute action within three (3) months after the termination of pending proceedings as described in Rule 12.7(b). The Senate may act on the recommendations of the committee or Special Master at any time it is in session but shall do so no later than the end of the next regular session of the legislature.

(h) For the purposes of Article IV, Section 7(b) of the Constitution of Florida, the Senate may find that the suspended official has committed a felony notwithstanding that a court may have withheld adjudication of guilt upon which the suspension order is based in whole or in part.

(i) If the Governor files an amended suspension order, the attention of the Senate, the committee or the Special Master shall be directed at the amended suspension order.

(j) Within sixty (60) days after the Senate has completed final action on the recommendation of the committee or Special Master, any party to the suspension matter may request the return, at that party's expense, of any exhibit, document, or other evidence introduced by that party. After the expiration of sixty (60) days from the date the Senate has completed final action, the committee or Special Master may dispose of such exhibits or other evidence.

12.8—Special Master; appointment

The President may appoint and contract for the services of a Special Master to perform such duties and make such reports in relation to suspensions and removals as he or she shall prescribe.

12.9—Special Master; floor privilege

With consent of the President, the Special Master may have the privilege of the Senate floor to present and explain the report and answer questions as to the law and facts involved.

12.10—Issuance of subpoenas and process

The committee and the Special Master shall each have the authority to request the issuance of subpoenas, subpoenas duces tecum, and other necessary process under Rule 2.2. The committee chairman and the Special Master may each administer all oaths and affirmations in the manner prescribed by law to witnesses who shall appear to testify on matters pending before the committee or Special Master.

12.11—Rule takes precedence

In any situation where there is a direct conflict between the provisions of Rule 12 and Part V of chapter 112, Florida Statutes, the Rule, derived from Article III, Section 4(a) of the Constitution of Florida, shall take precedence.

RULE THIRTEEN

SPECIAL SESSION

13.1—Applicability of Senate Rules

All Senate Rules in effect on adjournment of the next preceding regular session shall apply and govern during special sessions except to the extent specifically modified or contradicted herein.

13.2—Sessions of the Senate

The Senate shall meet each legislative day at 9:00 a.m. or pursuant to a schedule adopted by the Committee on Rules and Calendar and approved by the President.

13.3—Committee meetings; schedule, notice

Committee meetings shall be coordinated and scheduled by the Committee on Rules and Calendar, or a subcommittee thereof. Meetings of standing committees and standing subcommittees scheduled in accordance with this Rule may be held following an announcement by the chairman while the Senate is in session, and by posting a notice on a bulletin board in the public corridor leading into the Senate Chamber for two (2) hours in advance of the meeting. The notice posted shall include the date, time, and place of the committee meeting, and short title and the bill number of each bill to be considered. All other provisions for publication of notice of committee meetings are suspended.

13.4—Delivery for introduction

All bills and other measures for introduction may be delivered to the Secretary of the Senate at any time.

13.5—Committee reports

Every bill, joint resolution, resolution, and memorial referred to a standing committee or committees shall be reported to the Secretary before 4:30 p.m. of the third calendar day from the day of reference (the day of reference not being counted as the first day) unless otherwise ordered by the Senate by majority vote of those present. Any bill on which no committee report is filed may be withdrawn from such committee and calendared on point of order. Every bill, joint resolution, resolution, and memorial referred to a standing subcommittee shall be reported to the standing committee at a time specified by the chairman of the standing committee which shall not be beyond the time allowed herein.

13.6—Conference committee reports

The report of a committee of conference appointed pursuant to Rule 1.5 shall be read to the Senate on two (2) consecutive legislative days and, on the completion of the second reading, the vote shall be on the adoption or rejection thereof and final passage of the measure as recommended. During the last two (2) days of a special session the report shall be read only once.

The report must be acted on as a whole, being adopted or rejected, and each report shall include a statement sufficiently explicit to inform the Senate of the effect of the report on the measure to which it relates.

Conference committees shall consider and report only on the differences existing between the Senate and the House, and no substance foreign to the bills before the conferees shall be included in the report or considered by the Senate.

A conference committee may only report by recommending the adoption of a series of amendments to the House or Senate bill that was the subject of the conference, or it may offer an amendment striking everything after the enacting clause of any such bill referred to the committee. In any event the conference committee may recommend, as part of its report, the adoption or rejection of any or all of the amendments theretofore adopted by either House.

When a bill or joint resolution is referred to a conference committee and the conferees on the part of the Senate report an inability to agree, no action of the Senate taken prior to such reference to a conference committee shall preclude further action on said measure as the Senate may determine.

After Senate conferees have been appointed for thirty-six (36) hours and have failed to make a report, it is a motion of the highest privilege to move to discharge said Senate conferees and to appoint new conferees, or to instruct said Senate conferees.

13.7—Reconsideration

A motion to reconsider shall be made and considered on the same day.

13.8—Special order calendar

The Committee on Rules and Calendar may submit a Special Order Calendar determining the time and priority for consideration of bills.

RULE FOURTEENSEAL AND INSIGNIA*14.1—Seal and insignia

There shall be an official seal of the Senate. The seal shall be the size of a circle of two and one-half inches diameter having in the center thereof a fan of the five flags which have flown over Florida, above a disc containing the words: "In God We Trust" arched above a gavel, quill, and scroll. At the top of the field of flags shall be the word: "Seal". At the bottom shall be the date: "1838". The perimeter of the seal shall contain the words: "Senate" and the "State of Florida".

There shall be an official coat of arms for the Senate. The coat of arms shall contain a fan of the five flags that have flown over Florida, above the Great Seal of Florida. At the base of the coat of arms shall be the words: "The Florida Senate".

The Senate Seal, the Senate Coat of Arms, official Senate stationery, calling cards, and facsimiles thereof, may be used only in connection with official Senate business.

PRAYER

The following prayer was offered by the Rev. Frederick A. Buechner, Rector, All Saints Episcopal Church, Thomasville, Georgia.

Let us pray for our country.

Almighty God, who hast given us this good land for our heritage, we humbly beseech thee that we may always prove ourselves a people mindful of thy favour and glad to do thy will. Bless our land with honourable industry, sound learning, and pure manners. Save us from violence, discord, and confusion; from pride and arrogancy, and from every evil way. Defend our liberties, and fashion into one united people the multitudes brought hither out of many kindreds and tongues. Endue with the spirit of wisdom those to whom in thy Name we entrust the authority of government, that there may be justice and peace at home, and that, through obedience to thy law, we may show forth thy praise among the nations of the earth. In the time of prosperity, fill our hearts with thankfulness, and in the day of trouble, suffer not our trust in thee to fail.

Most gracious God, we humbly beseech thee, for the State of Florida and her Senate here assembled—that thou wouldest be pleased to direct and prosper all their consultations to the advancement of thy glory, the good of thy Church, and the safety, honour, and welfare of thy people; that all things may be so ordered and settled by their endeavours, upon the best and surest foundations, that peace and happiness, truth and justice, religion and piety may be established among us for all generations.

We beseech thee to bless and guide the Senators of this state, that they may deliberate and ordain for our governance—only such things as please thee, to the glory of thy Name, and the welfare of thy people.

These and all other necessities, for them and for us and for our country, we humbly beg in thy Name.

Amen.

PLEDGE

Senator Latvala led the Senate in the pledge of allegiance to the flag of the United States of America.

By direction of the President, the Secretary read the following proclamation:

THE FLORIDA LEGISLATURE JOINT PROCLAMATION

TO THE HONORABLE MEMBERS OF THE FLORIDA SENATE AND THE FLORIDA HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES:

WHEREAS, it is of critical importance to the citizens of the State of Florida that they be represented by electors appointed to the electoral college and voting on December 18, 2000, and

WHEREAS, the election of electors for President and Vice President of the United States on November 7, 2000, has led to numerous recounts and challenges, and it is increasingly less likely that all legal challenges will have reached finality prior to December 12, 2000, as is necessary to make those election results conclusive when Congress counts the electoral votes, and

WHEREAS, actions by the courts may have rewritten provisions of the Florida Election Code and policies, procedures, or practices of local and state election officials after November 7, 2000, creating serious doubt as to whether the conduct of certain aspects of the recounting and reporting of the 2000 election for electors for President and Vice President of the United States were conducted in accordance with the laws, policies, procedures, and practices in existence prior to November 7, 2000, as required by Title 3, Section 5 of the United States Code, which could jeopardize the conclusiveness of Florida's electors and possibly result in all of the voters of the State of Florida being disenfranchised, and

WHEREAS, there remains serious doubt as to the validity and conclusiveness of any appointment of electors arising out of an election process which failed to fully comply with the laws, practices, and procedures in existence prior to November 7, 2000, and

WHEREAS, Article II, Section 1 of the United States Constitution provides that the Legislature of Florida shall provide for the manner in which electors shall be appointed to the electoral college to represent the voters of the State of Florida, and

WHEREAS, Title 3, Section 2 of the United States Code provides that in the event that an election for presidential electors fails to produce a choice of electors, the electors may be appointed on a subsequent day in such a manner as the legislature of such state may direct, and

WHEREAS, failure of the Florida Legislature to prepare for the possibility that the results of the 2000 General Election may still be in doubt on December 12, 2000, may disenfranchise and deny the citizens of Florida any voice in the selection of the 43rd President of the United States of America,

NOW, THEREFORE, We, John M. McKay, President of The Florida Senate, and Tom Feeney, Speaker of the Florida House of Representatives, by virtue of the authority vested in us by Article III, Section 3(c), Florida Constitution, and Section 11.011, Florida Statutes, do hereby proclaim:

1. That the Legislature of the State of Florida is convened in Special Session pursuant to Article III, Section 3(c), Florida Constitution, and Section 11.011, Florida Statutes, at the Capitol in Tallahassee, Florida, at 12:00 noon on Friday, the 8th day of December 2000, for a period of 11 days ending on Monday, the 18th day of December, 2000.

2. That the Legislature is convened for the sole and exclusive purpose of exercising its power by resolving or enacting legislative measures:

Providing for the manner in which electors shall be appointed if the 2000 General Election fails to produce a final, constitutional choice of electors, conclusive under Title 3, Section 5, of the United States Code, in accordance with the Constitution of the United States and with statutes enacted, and policies, procedures, and practices in existence, prior to November 7, 2000.

Providing for the appointment of electors for President and Vice President of the United States.

Providing for any other matter necessary to fulfill the duty of the Florida Legislature under Article II, Section 1 of the United States Constitution or federal laws incidental thereto.

Making a final determination of any controversy or contest concerning the appointment of all or any of Florida's Electors for President and Vice President of the United States, appointed by the Legislature.

SCR 2-A—A concurrent resolution providing for the manner of appointing electors for President and Vice President of the United States; providing for the appointment of such electors; providing for the filling of vacancies.

REMARKS BY PRESIDENT JOHN M. MCKAY

Senators, when we left here on November 21st not one of us expected to be back so soon, especially not on an issue so critically important to our nation as the one in which we find ourselves involved today.

As I shared my agenda for the Senate with you on Organizational Day, it did not include involvement with the highest office in this land. My agenda for this Senate was, and still is, zero-based budgeting, meaningful tax reform, appropriate elder housing and services, the challenge of the homeless, foster care, residential group care, and children with developmental disabilities.

These issues are, of course, in addition to our normal challenges of improving our education system, protecting the environment, and promoting economic development, just to name a few.

As I look across our chamber and the gallery today, for many, I guess, these issues pale in comparison to what we will do here in the next few days. I would like to tell you that in my mind they do not, because these are the issues that are most important to the citizens of our state. These are the issues this Senate will be working on long after the television satellite trucks have departed.

Nevertheless, we are here today to begin a journey that has not been taken by any state legislature since the late 1800s. No one should confuse my cautious and deliberate approach in evaluating this issue with timidity. Let me tell you why I have decided that it is necessary that we act. I will not attempt to explain that journey by leading you through the labyrinth of constitutional provisions and federal laws that govern the appointment of Florida's electors. There will be plenty of time for that next week.

What I must tell you today is that the commonly perceived mechanism for electing this country's leaders may be about to fail. For the votes cast by our citizens at the polls on November 7th to be conclusively accepted by Congress, three things must occur.

First, the appointment of electors based on the results of that election must have been done in accordance with the laws of Florida, as they existed on election day. Second, all lawsuits regarding the election must be resolved by December 12, just four days away. Third, the electors must be appointed in time to ensure that they can vote when the Electoral College meets on December 18th.

I do not think there is a member of this body who, in his or her most honest moments, believes that the controversies swirling around the courtrooms of this city can be put to rest, decidedly and without further challenge, within the next 96 hours. Particularly since new lawsuits have been filed just in the past few days.

If such finality cannot be achieved, and I hope that it is, there is a significant risk that this state's electoral votes may not be counted. I cannot abandon my constitutional duty and let the six million Floridians who voted for the candidate of his or her choice four weeks ago not be heard. Although others have suggested earlier action, now is the time to be prepared to exercise the unique authority and responsibility given directly to this body by the United States Constitution to call this special session for the purpose of making those votes heard.

While some will say that our actions over the next few days will be a partisan exercise, my view is that they are not. Rather, I am here performing my constitutional responsibility as I see it. Nothing more, nothing less.

Let me read a portion of a letter that I received from Senator Rossin the other day. I think that contemplation of his words will benefit this body. He wrote as follows, "It is my true belief that great men are not born great. Rather, they are put in positions of historic proportions, and then, make decisions no one expected they had the capacity to make."

If events unfold that require me to vote for someone other than George W. Bush, so be it. I am prepared to do so if that is what it takes to protect Florida's 25 electoral votes. I will not allow Florida's 6 million voters to be disenfranchised.

Our journey will, at times, take us into uncharted waters. But we must not let ourselves be drawn into personal squabbles, for that would negatively affect our ability to work together.

Once the television cameras have been turned off, we will have much work to do and we must do it together if we are going to effectively address the needs of our state. A comment I made nearly three weeks ago when I assumed the office of Senate President bears repeating. When we show respect for each other, we show respect to those who elected us.

The task ahead of us will, at times, be arduous. But it should, at all times, be in the manner that reflects the respect and friendships that have been made on this floor.

I would again like to remind you of the spirit of our friend, Senator Pat Thomas, who believed that cordiality, decorum, and respect were not just words used to describe the Florida Senate but were, in fact, the very heart of the Florida Senate. I look forward to your joining with me in Senator Thomas' spirit over the next week. Thank you for your attention.

MESSAGES FROM THE GOVERNOR AND OTHER EXECUTIVE COMMUNICATIONS

The Honorable Katherine Harris
Secretary of State

June 14, 2000

Dear Secretary Harris:

By the authority vested in me as Governor of Florida, under the provisions of Article III, Section 8, of the Constitution of Florida, I do hereby withhold my approval of and transmit to you with my objections, Senate Bill 114, enacted during the 32nd Session of the Legislature of Florida convened under the Constitution of 1968, during the Regular Session of 2000 and entitled:

An act relating to discretionary sales surtaxes; . . .

Under current law, "small counties" are authorized to levy a sales surtax for operating purposes at a rate of either 0.5 percent or 1 percent. These taxes may be levied by an extraordinary vote of the governing board of the county. For this purpose "small county" is defined as a county that had a population of 50,000 or less as of April 1, 1992. Senate Bill 114 expands the definition of "small county," and the ability to levy the sales surtax, to include any county with a population of 75,000 or less as of October 1, 2000. This applies to only one county.

The effect of Senate Bill 114 is to allow a single county to impose an additional sales tax on its citizens without the approval of the voters in that county. This is not the appropriate way to create new taxing authority and should not be encouraged. The county currently has the authority to raise an additional 1 percent surtax, by referendum, for infrastructure purposes such as transportation. The government's authority to tax must ultimately rest with the people. Instituting a new tax without voter approval, as proposed in Senate Bill 114, bypasses the most direct and clearest expression of the will of the people.

For these reasons I am withholding my approval of Senate Bill 114, and do hereby veto the same.

Sincerely,
Jeb Bush, Governor

The Honorable Katherine Harris
Secretary of State

Dear Secretary Harris:

By the authority vested in me as Governor of Florida, under the provisions of Article III, Section 8, of the Constitution of Florida, I do hereby withhold my approval of and transmit to you with my objections, Committee Substitute for Committee Substitute for Senate Bill 714, enacted during the 32nd Session of the Legislature of Florida convened under the Constitution of 1968, during the Regular Session of 2000, and entitled:

An act relating to solid and hazardous waste management; . . .

Committee Substitute for Committee Substitute for Senate Bill 714 relates primarily to waste disposal and transfer in the State of Florida. On its face, it provides added protections to the regulation of hazardous waste transfer facilities. Specifically, Committee Substitute for Committee Substitute for Senate Bill 714 defines hazardous waste transfer facilities as storage facilities and requires that these facilities be permitted like other hazardous waste storage facilities in the state.

At the same time, however, Committee Substitute for Committee Substitute for Senate Bill 714 includes a provision that runs up against the Administration's position on budgeting and contracting. Currently, Florida provides funding to the Southern Waste Information Exchange, Inc (SWIX), a not-for-profit corporation, to serve as a clearinghouse for information on waste recycling, use, and reuse opportunities for Florida waste generators. These services are offered to encourage sound environmental and cost-effective alternatives to landfilling, incineration and the treatment of solid waste. Arguably, the assistance provided by SWIX to public and private businesses is worthwhile and important to our environment. Where Committee Substitute for Committee Substitute for Senate Bill 714 goes too far, however, is in specifically naming in statute SWIX as the provider of solid and hazardous waste management assistance to Florida's public and private sector. Furthermore, it requires the Department of Environmental Protection to request legislative funding for SWIX in its annual legislative budget request.

By writing this organization into law as the state's provider and by requiring the Department of Environmental Protection to include SWIX in its legislative budget request, Committee Substitute for Committee Substitute for Senate Bill 714 essentially discourages alternatives to these particular services or competition from other providers for these services. It also provides SWIX with an unfair advantage over any other entity that currently provides or would like to provide these services in the future.

For the last three budget cycles, SWIX has received state funding, and most recently received $300,000 to render services to the state and private entities. So long as SWIX continues to perform in a manner acceptable to the state and so long as the state determines that this is a necessary public service, SWIX should remain in good standing.

Nevertheless, by restricting the state's flexibility as it relates to waste management assistance programs, Committee Substitute for Committee Substitute for Senate Bill 714 unfairly provides something akin to a "guarantee" to one provider. In the final analysis, that is not something that we should encourage among providers and other entities receiving state funding.

I encourage the Department of Environmental Protection and the legislative sponsors and co-sponsors of this bill to return next year to pass legislation that would include the hazardous waste transfer facility provisions of this bill. For the reasons provided above, I am withholding my approval of Committee Substitute for Committee Substitute for Senate Bill 714, and do hereby veto the same.

Sincerely,
Jeb Bush, Governor

Dear Secretary Harris:

By the authority vested in me as Governor of Florida, under the provisions of Article III, Section 19(b), of the Constitution of Florida, I do hereby withhold my approval of and transmit to you with my objections, subsections (b), (c), (d), (e) and (f) of Section 8, comprising specific appropriations and related proviso, of Committee Substitute for Committee Substitute for Senate Bill 862, enacted during the 32nd Session of the Legislature, convened under the Constitution of 1968, during the Regular Session of 2000, and entitled:

An act relating to innovative transportation financing; . . .

The specific appropriations and accompanying proviso which comprise subsections (b), (c), (d), (e) and (f) of Section 8 of Committee Substitute for Committee Substitute for Senate Bill 862 are hereby vetoed. Committee Substitute for Committee Substitute for Senate Bill 862, which provides financial resources for the state's transportation program, is a substantive bill containing appropriations related to transportation projects. Although the appropriations provided in Committee Substitute for Committee Substitute for Senate Bill 862 are well-intended, earmarking dollars for specific transportation projects outside the priorities established through existing evaluation processes, takes away from the Department of Transportation's ability to administer the state's transportation program based on the authority given the department by s. 339.135, Florida Statutes, regarding how transportation resources should be specifically allocated to produce the most effective results possible.

Section 8.

- (b) 79th Street Station—Hialeah—Dade Co. ($2,000,000);
- (c) Hollywood Intermodal Initiative—Broward Co.—($1,000,000);
- (d) Melbourne Airport—New Hanger Construction—Brevard Co. ($834,937);
- (e) South Florida Rail Feasibility Study—Palm Beach/Broward/Dade ($500,000). Funds provided for the South Florida Rail Corridor Feasibility Study are to review the CSX, FEC and I-95 Corridors and their relation to land use in Palm Beach, Broward and Dade

Counties. The department shall contract with the South Florida Regional Transportation Organization. The study shall be competitively bid under chapter 287;

(f) Atlantic Corridor—City of Miami Beach—Dade Co. ($450,000).

The portions of Committee Substitute for Committee Substitute for Senate Bill 862 which are set forth herein with my objections are hereby vetoed. All other portions of Committee Substitute for Committee Substitute for Senate Bill 862 are hereby approved.

Sincerely,
Jeb Bush, Governor

Dear Secretary Harris:

By the authority vested in me as Governor of Florida, under the provisions of Article III, Section 8, of the Constitution of Florida, I do hereby withhold my approval of and transmit to you with my objections, Senate Bill 990, enacted during the 32nd Session of the Legislature of Florida convened under the Constitution of 1968, during the Regular Session of 2000, and entitled:

An act relating to education; . . .

Senate Bill 990 revises the reporting of student grades on report cards and substantially revises the high school grading system currently established in law. While the bill has a number of provisions, most of the discussion and debate has focused on the statewide grading scale provisions. Senate Bill 990 deletes the current high school grading system and scale (which 94% to 100% equates to an A; 85% to 93% a B; 77% to 84% a C; 70% to 77% a D; and below 70% equates to an F) and stipulates that for the purposes of interpreting grades when teachers do not assign letter grades, school districts should use a grading scale that is similar to those used by other states ("A" equals 90-100%, has a grade point average value of 4, and is defined as outstanding progress). It is this provision that gives me concern.

The education reforms that have been implemented over the last few years, have been grounded on four key components: high academic standards and expectations; annual assessment of progress toward mastery of the Sunshine State Standards; a benchmark goal that students gain at least a year's worth of knowledge in a year of schooling; and accountability for student performance. Posted up against these components, I believe Senate Bill 990 has the very real potential of negatively affecting the high academic standards and expectations teachers have worked so diligently to implement. Therefore, I have decided to exercise my authority to veto this bill for the following reasons.

First, Senate Bill 990 takes us back to the original problem that led to the creation of a statewide grading scale. In 1987, the Florida Legislature enacted a statewide grading scale in which 94% to 100% equates to an A; 85% to 93% a B; 77% to 84% a C; 70% to 77% a D; and below 70% would equate to an F. The purpose of this change was to end the perceived inequity and unfairness caused by different school districts using different grading scales. By making a new grading scale permissive for school districts, Senate Bill 990 returns us to the original problem—the possibility of each school board setting its own grading scale in a way that treats students inconsistently throughout the state. Supporters of the bill argue that providing for a new grading scale is necessary to level the playing field with other states that use the suggested scale. Yet in trying to create consistency with the rest of the nation, we will end up creating inconsistent grading scales throughout Florida's own public school system. In our own conversations with school districts, this much is clear. Many school systems are comfortable with the current grading scale system and have adjusted to its requirements, while on the other hand, some school districts would like to move to a new grading scale.

Second, by enacting a new grading scale, we send the wrong message to our children and ignore the limited impact the current grading scale may have. Last year, the Florida Senate conducted a study of high school grading practices concluding that teachers tend to adjust their assignments and tests to the grading scale, thus producing a similar number of A's, B's, etc., with one scale as with another. This finding indicates that the grading scale matters little in the overall outcome of student grades. If this is true, in a best-case scenario, Senate Bill 990 will not affect the distribution of grades. Nevertheless, if this finding is correct, why then suggest a replacement scale in law that provides a lower threshold for each grade? What message does that send to teachers, students and parents?

On the other hand, if the grading scale does matter, which some proponents of this bill believe, we would see more A's and B's as a result of the change. Today's C would become tomorrow's B, and today's B would become tomorrow's A. According to the Senate study, 53% of the grades issued by Florida's public high schools in 1997/1998 were A's and B's. Under Senate Bill 990, it is quite possible that this percentage would increase even further. With Florida's lower than average SAT scores and high rate of students (41%) who are not prepared for college level courses, it does not make sense to have more students earning higher grades with the same level of achievement, or more students earning higher grades while mastering less content than last year. Unfortunately, if this is the impact of Senate Bill 990, it encourages the very thing it set out to eliminate—grade inflation.

I understand that supporters of this legislation believe strongly that something should be done with Florida's current grading scale. In response to that concern, Senator Anna Cowin and I have agreed to work together in the interim for a better solution. In addition, I am asking the Commissioner of Education to further study this complex issue and make recommendations to the 2001 Florida Legislature.

In summary, Senate Bill 990 fails to contribute positively to our goal of raising standards and improving student achievement. It sends a mixed signal that may have a negative impact on grading policies and practices throughout the state. At its best, Senate Bill 990 will have little impact on grade distribution. At its worst, it will lead to grade inflation.

For these reasons, I am withholding my approval of Senate Bill 990, and do hereby veto the same.

Sincerely,
Jeb Bush, Governor

Dear Secretary Harris:

By the authority vested in me as Governor of Florida, under the provision of Article III, Section 8, of the Constitution of Florida, I do hereby withhold my approval and transmit to you my objections, Committee Substitute for Senate Bill 1230, enacted during the 32nd Session of the Legislature, convened under the Constitution of 1968, during the Regular Session of 2000, and entitled:

An act relating to eminent domain; . . .

Committee Substitute for Senate Bill 1230 gives municipalities the authority to exercise eminent domain for the purpose of obtaining lands for a public school and provides a hospital district with the authority to take possession and title in advance of the entry of a final judgment in eminent domain actions. First, municipalities would be authorized to exercise the power of eminent domain for obtaining lands to be conveyed by the municipality to the school board of the school district for the county within the municipality is located, if the school board requests in writing that the municipality obtain such lands for conveyance to the school board and promises to use the land to establish a public school. Both entities currently have eminent domain authority. This provision would be repealed January 1, 2003. Second, Committee Substitute for Senate Bill 1230 temporarily expands the eminent domain authority to take private property under quick-take provisions to a specific hospital district created by a special act of the Legislature. The quick-take authority will allow the hospital to take possession and title in advance of the entry of final judgment on the value of the property. This provision would be repealed July 1, 2003.

The power of government to take property is perhaps the most severe of all governmental powers. Eminent domain often runs in direct conflict with the rights of private property owners, and though our laws provide for just compensation, state government must be frugal in the exercise of this power, and conscientious when it is expanded.

In this particular bill, eminent domain authority is expanded to benefit the North Broward Hospital District. Essentially, the district's current eminent domain authority would be broadened to include the right to take possession and title to property in advance of the entry of a final judgment for a specific situation—the expansion of Broward General Hospital. Broward General Hospital serves many indigent citizens in Broward County and is in need (sic) of major expansion. It has planned to expand to provide improved services to a growing population. This is undoubtedly a worthwhile and needed project. The hospital has begun negotiations with local property owners to purchase their properties.

My objection to this well-intended bill, however, is that the hospital has begun this process under the current set of rules governing their eminent domain authority. To change these rules, giving them an expanded advantage over local property owners, would not be in the spirit of fair play. Withholding approval of the bill would still allow the project to continue to move forward under existing law. The needed property can be acquired successfully to make this needed expansion a reality.

Additionally, allowing this bill to become law would set a precedent inviting other specific governmental entities currently prohibited from exercising quick-take proceedings to seek one-time expansions of eminent domain authority. I believe this sets a dangerous precedent and is a poor basis for creating new statutes. If the expansion of quick-take authority is an issue that needs addressing, the Legislature should do so as a policy debate for statewide application. The Legislature has historically prided itself in ensuring that state laws were only created as a last resort to address local concerns. Thus, in turn, local entities should seek assistance through state law only after all options and avenues have been exhausted.

The use of eminent domain authority is one of the most harsh proceedings known therefore the justification for expanding the scope of existing eminent domain authority must be proven to be essential, not just convenient or economical. For reasons provided above and out of concern over the precedent this bill might set, I am withholding my approval of Committee Substitute for Senate Bill 1230, and do hereby veto the same.

Sincerely,
Jeb Bush, Governor

Dear Secretary Harris:

By the authority vested in me as Governor of Florida, under the provisions of Article III, Section 19(b), of the Constitution of Florida, I do hereby withhold my approval of and transmit to you my objection to Section 6, comprising specific appropriations and related proviso, of Committee Substitute for Senate Bill 1412, enacted during the 32nd Session of the Legislature, convened under the Constitution of 1968, during the Regular Session of 2000, and entitled:

An act relating to public swimming and bathing places; . . .

Although the appropriations provided in Committee Substitute for Senate Bill 1412 are well intended, there are funds provided to the Department of Health in the Fiscal Year 2000-2001 General Appropriations Act for a similar purpose. Moreover, the Ecosystem Management and Restoration Trust Fund, which funds the appropriation, does not have a positive fund balance that would allow it to meet this additional obligation.

The objectionable appropriations provided in Committee Substitute for Senate Bill 1412 are as follows:

Section 6. The sum of $745,000 is appropriated from the Ecosystem Management and Restoration Trust Fund to the Department of Environmental Protection, Division of Water Resource Management, Beach Management Program, for fiscal year 2000-2001. These funds shall be transferred to the Department of Health. The sum of $745,000 is appropriated from the County Health Department Trust Fund in the Department of Health during fiscal year 2000-2001 for a 2-year "Healthy Beaches" study in the coastal waters of Escambia and Santa Rosa Counties and the Tampa Bay area of Pinellas County. The purpose of the study is to determine which indicator organism is best suited to be used with respect to Florida's waters and to establish a statewide model to help predict when possible water-quality problems will occur.

The portion of Committee Substitute for Senate Bill 1412 that is set forth herein with my objection is hereby vetoed. All other portions of Committee Substitute for Senate Bill 1412 are hereby approved.

Dear Secretary Harris:

By the authority vested in me as Governor of Florida, under the provisions of Article III, Section 19(b), of the Constitution of Florida, I do hereby withhold my approval of and transmit to you with my objections, Section 9, comprising specific appropriations and related proviso, of Committee Substitute for Senate Bill 1604, enacted during the 32nd Session of the Legislature of Florida convened under the Constitution of 1968, during the Regular Session of 2000 and entitled:

An act relating to community-based development organizations; . . .

Committee Substitute for Senate Bill 1604 creates the Community-Based Development Organization Grant Program. This program is essentially the same as the Community Development Support and Assistance Program which the Legislature allowed to sunset on June 30, 1998. The program was determined to be inefficient by the Office of Program Policy Analysis and Government Accountability and the grants served primarily to augment other sources of government assistance. Further, the loan program was not widely used or when it was used had experienced high loss rates. The bill requires the Department of Community Affairs to administer this new program without providing program administrative resources. In addition, based on further analysis, funding for the grant program is premature as the rule-making/public hearing process must be accomplished before funds can be distributed. It is doubtful that any funds can be disbursed during the upcoming 2000-01 Fiscal Year.

Section 9. There is hereby appropriated from the General Revenue Fund the sum of $1 million to be distributed as grants to community-based development organizations as provided by this act.

The portion of Committee Substitute for Senate Bill 1604 that is set forth herein with my objection is hereby vetoed. All other portions of Committee Substitute for Senate Bill 1604 are hereby approved.

May 30, 2000

Dear Secretary Harris:

By the authority vested in me as Governor of Florida, under the provisions of Article III, Section 19(b), of the Constitution of Florida, I do hereby withhold my approval of and transmit to you with my objections, subsections (3), (5), (6), and (7) of Section 163, comprising specific appropriations and related proviso, of Committee Substitute for Senate Bill 2050, enacted during the 32nd Session of the Legislature, convened under the Constitution of 1968, during the Regular Session of 2000, and entitled:

An act relating to workforce innovation; . . .

The specific appropriations and accompanying proviso which comprise subsections (3), (5), (6), and (7) of Section 163 of Committee Substitute for Senate Bill 2050 are hereby vetoed. Committee Substitute for Senate Bill 2050, which makes substantial changes to the state's workforce development program, is a substantive bill containing appropriations related to workforce development, economic development, and welfare transition services. Committee Substitute for Senate Bill 2050 also creates a new entity, Workforce Florida, Inc., that is given responsibility for policy development and planning for Florida's workforce development system. Although the appropriations provided in Committee Substitute for Senate Bill 2050 are well-intended, earmarking dollars for specific workforce-related programs takes away from Workforce Florida, Inc.'s ability to utilize the authority provided by this bill to make decisions regarding how workforce development resources should be specifically allocated to produce the most effective results possible.

Section 163.

(3) For diversion services for needy families authorized by section 445.018, Florida Statutes, the sum of $8 million is appropriated from recurring Temporary Assistance for Needy Families funds to the Agency for Workforce Innovation.

(5) For the Careers for Florida's Future Incentive Grant Program established pursuant to sections 445.012-445.0125, Florida, Statutes, the sum of $12 million in recurring General Revenue is appropriated to the Agency for Workforce Innovation.

(6) For the Small Business Workforce Service Initiative established pursuant to section 445.014, Florida, Statutes, the sum of $500,000 in nonrecurring General Revenue is appropriated to the Agency for Workforce Innovation.

(7) For grants to support local economic development projects that lead to jobs for needy Florida families pursuant to section 445.015, Florida Statutes, the sum of $5 million is appropriated from nonrecurring Temporary Assistance for Needy Families funds to the Agency for Workforce Innovation.

The portions of Committee Substitute for Senate Bill 2050 which are set forth herein with my objections are hereby vetoed. All other portions of Committee Substitute for Senate Bill 2050 are hereby approved.

Sincerely,
Jeb Bush, Governor

The Honorable Katherine Harris
Secretary of State

June 16, 2000

Dear Secretary Harris:

By the authority vested in me as Governor of Florida, under the provisions of Article III, Section 8, of the Constitution of Florida, I do hereby withhold my approval of and transmit to you with my objections, Committee Substitute for Senate Bill 2368, enacted during the 32nd Session of the Legislature of Florida convened under the Constitution of 1968, during the Regular Session of 2000, and entitled:

An act relating to traffic control; . . .

Committee Substitute for Senate Bill 2368 was intended by its sponsors to promote traffic safety and reduce motor vehicle accidents through increased driver improvement education. For the most part, the bill increases the occasions when a Florida driver must attend a driver improvement course. While some of these provisions could have a positive impact on driver safety, other provisions were overly-broad with the potential to weaken penalties for bad drivers as well as mandate driving school for those who do not warrant such a sanction.

For example, Florida is currently one of the few states in the nation that allows drivers who commit a traffic violation to "elect" to attend driving improvement school in lieu of a court appearance. If the driver takes this election, points are not assessed and adjudication is withheld. While this election provides drivers with more education, it can also be viewed as an opportunity for a driver to avoid tough penalties such as increased insurance rates or suspension of his or her license. For that reason, drivers are limited to taking the election only one time a year and only five times over the course of an individual's driving history. Originally, under state law, drivers could take this election only three times over the course of one's driving history. Committee Substitute for Senate Bill 2368, however, would not only increase the current limit of five elections but eliminate the cap altogether, thereby allowing for an unlimited amount of driving school elections over a driver's lifetime.

Unfortunately, by allowing an unlimited amount of elections over one's life, we would be weakening penalties for the worst drivers on the road. Drivers can avoid points, increased insurance rates, and adjudication by electing to attend driving school. But at some point, and certainly after five trips to driving school, there must be a greater penalty or a greater disincentive for poor driving. In cases where a driver has already used up his or her five opportunities to go to driving school and is still driving carelessly, the only effective deterrent at that point may be the very real threat of rising insurance rates or the loss of a driver's license. While driving schools can certainly have a positive impact, there does come a point where we must admit their ineffectiveness to influence the driving of some individuals, especially drivers who have high recidivism rates in spite of attending driving school on numerous occasions. Leniency for consistently bad drivers, even in the name of more driver's education, is something that causes me concern.

Additionally, another provision of Committee Substitute for Senate Bill 2368 would change Florida's current law in a way that would make driving school mandatory for first time offenders if that offender was the cause of a traffic accident. Currently, the law requires mandatory driving school for an individual who has been the cause of a traffic accident twice within a period of two years and caused property damage of at least $500 in the second crash. The policy behind this provision is to require driver's education for drivers who have been the cause of repeat accidents. This policy can be justified on the basis that an individual who causes two accidents within a limited amount of time should probably receive additional driving education.

Committee Substitute for Senate Bill 2368, however, would change this policy so that those who have been the cause of a traffic accident only once would be required to attend driving school if the damages amount to at least $2,500. This change would most certainly sweep in drivers who have had good driving records with the exception of one isolated accident or drivers who have been unfortunate enough to be involved in a one-time "fender bender" with an expensive car. Again, I believe in this circumstance the bill sweeps to (sic) broadly in mandating that first time offenders attend driving school.

At the same time, there are other provisions of Committee Substitute for Senate Bill 2368 that ostensibly can accomplish some good. The bill provides for increased awareness of the option Floridians have to "elect" driving school over points and adjudication. In addition, the bill also requires driving school for drivers under 21 years of age who are guilty of or plead no contest to two non-criminal moving infractions within the period of one year. In many cases, however, these young drivers will already be required to attend driving school. In the end, however, it was the overly-broad nature of this bill in terms of mandatory driving attendance and the potential to weaken penalties for consistently bad drivers that has convinced me to withhold my support.

For the reasons provided above, I am withholding my approval of Committee Substitute for Senate Bill 2368, and do hereby veto the same.

Sincerely,
Jeb Bush, Governor

The bills, together with the Governor's objections thereto, were referred to the Committee on Rules and Calendar.

MOMENT OF SILENCE

On behalf of the Senate, the President led the body in a moment of silent prayer for Senator Klein who was unable to be here today due to a death in his family.

The President also asked the body to take a moment to remember the family of Senate employee Margaret Lamb, whose son, Melvin Lamb, passed away Saturday.

PRAYER

The following prayer was offered by Rabbi Jackie Wexler, Congregation Shomrei Torah, Tallahassee:

In the Five Books of Moses, we have several instances of different groups of people working together for the sake of the common good. We have Joseph, one of the sons of Jacob, who comes to act as a management consultant to Pharaoh, helping save the Egyptian people from great famine; and then we have Jethro, the Midianite father-in-law of Moses, who also works as a management consultant to Moses, establishing a more efficient judiciary for the children of Israel. In each case, it is the partnership of differing people that bring about positive resolution for the sake of the people.

Heavenly Father, guide the leaders of this great state and nation, as they look to You for wisdom and support. Grant them the insight to lead us in understanding; may their hearts be filled with awe at the sacred task before them. May they walk in the light of your spirit; as Your light illumines our lives. Grant that their labors be a source of blessing for all people. And let us say, Amen.

REMARKS BY PRESIDENT JOHN M. MCKAY

Senators, our next order of business would be, and was expected to be, the consideration of the Special Order Calendar that was approved Monday by the Special Order Subcommittee of the Rules Committee. However, in view of the opinion issued by the United States Supreme Court last night, I have a few comments that I would like to offer you.

I believe that you have been exemplary in the patience and the cooperation that you have shown over the past week, and for some of you, periods earlier than that. You conducted yourselves in a thoughtful and respectful manner and in a manner befitting the tradition of the Senate which is most important to me. I will tell you that I am completely in awe of our Founding Fathers because over two hundred years ago they crafted a document that has withstood the test of time and the test of the last few weeks. Our Constitution has endured and has guided us down the path toward resolution of this issue.

Reasonable people can disagree reasonably. We all know that. And, although some of us have disagreed with the actions of this legislature or the need for action on the part of this legislature, I think we can all agree that our measured approach was the right course to take.

Last night the U.S. Supreme Court recognized the legislature's responsibility to choose its electors. If necessary, we must be in a position to act. Our goal must remain to protect Florida's six million voters and to ensure that the twenty-five electoral votes are counted. With last night's ruling it appears that we may have reached the point of finality, but at this point I don't believe any of us can say with complete assurance that that is correct.

The Senate staff and outside counsel are continuing to review the ruling to determine if further action is warranted by this body. As I previously said, we must be deliberate and cautious in charting our course. Since I'm a sailor, I'll tell you that we've successfully negotiated uncharted waters in the past few weeks and it is my intention that we will not run aground as we continue.

Therefore, out of respect for the Vice President, we will wait to hear his comments this evening before taking further action.

PRAYER

At the request of the President, Secretary Blanton read the following devotional entitled Through the Fire:

When you pass through the waters, I will be with you; and when you pass through the rivers, they will not sweep over you. When you walk through the fire, you will not be burned; the flames will not set you ablaze.

Isaiah 43:2 (NIV)

“Lately, I understand how Job must have felt,” the woman said. “Sometimes I think if I knew why I was having to face problems, I could deal with them better.”

But in the back of my mind, I wondered, “Would knowing the whys of hardship and suffering really satisfy me? Would understanding ease the pain?”

There are many difficult situations in our lives. It may be years before understanding comes, if ever. Maybe it is less important to know why we suffer and more important to know that we can trust God to bring us safely through the bad times, to know that we can depend on God’s grace and sufficiency.

In the middle of a crisis, sometimes the only prayer we can articulate is, “Lord, help me.” And I have learned that even in the fires of life, we can depend on God’s promise, “I will be with you.”

Lord, help us to sense your presence even in the bad times. Keep us safe and bring us through the fires of life. Thank you for your strength. Thank you for being our refuge and may we ask for your continued blessing on the United States of America. Amen.

REMARKS BY PRESIDENT JOHN M. MCKAY

Senators, we have had an extraordinarily close glimpse at history. Our state was faced with the almost unprecedented task of having to protect Florida's electoral votes—and without the benefit of any historical guidelines to mark the way. Rather than losing our way, we have followed our instincts.

As events unfolded on a sometimes-hourly basis and were broadcast to the nation, the gravity of the situation and the import of our actions hit home. We said time and again that we would be cautious in our words and actions. We relied on the sound counsel of our members. We engaged experts with insight and expertise in this complex legal area.

All advised us that we must be ready to provide a “safe harbor” so Florida's voters were not disenfranchised. Don't misunderstand what happened here in these chambers. Although we did not take legislative action, your time and efforts were wisely invested.

If not for the Legislature's participation, specifically the amicus briefs with the U.S. Supreme Court, I firmly believe that we could not stand here today with the conviction that this issue is resolved. Vice President Gore, in an undeniably difficult speech, was gracious and conciliatory. President-elect Bush was articulate in expressing the need to heal our country and work on issues important to Americans.

I would like to thank Speaker Feeney and the House of Representatives for their efforts to ensure that Florida's votes were protected. And please allow me to extend my sincere appreciation to each of you for the manner in which you have handled this matter.

It is now time for all of us to turn our attention back to the issues that are most important to the people we serve. I look forward to working side-by-side with each of you to improve the lives of Floridians. In the New Year, we will gather with a renewed spirit to achieve our many common goals. But for now, it's time for all of us to enjoy the holidays with our families and friends. Best wishes to you and your families for a happy and healthy holiday season and New Year.

ADDRESS BY PRESIDENT JOHN M. MCKAY

Welcome back to the Florida Senate. It is appropriate to begin this session by showing our appreciation to the special people in our lives. Each of us here today owes a tremendous debt of gratitude to our family members whose sacrifice is, at times, far greater than our own. We thank you all so very much.

I would like to again thank each member of the Senate for your decorum during the special session in December. No matter what your party, or candidate preference, you conducted yourself in a manner that made all Floridians proud.

Let us now address the business of our state, and the needs of our constituents because today is truly a day of new beginnings. As we convene Florida's first legislative session of the 21st Century, we are presented with a humbling challenge—laying a solid foundation that will improve the lives of all Floridians.

It is with this in mind that we embark on a 60-day journey, heartened by the belief that together we can accomplish great things.

The Senate will work together to provide innovative solutions to the problems facing our state. We will have open and meaningful dialogue. We will have lively yet respectful debate. We will agree, and we will disagree.

It will be this exchange of differing views that will best serve those we represent and it will be through this process that we, as the Senate, will reach consensus.

While there are many issues at the forefront of our debate each session, there remain critical issues that demand solutions but receive little attention—the care of our elderly, children with developmental disabilities, those in foster care, as well as the plight of the homeless.

We will also continue our efforts to improve our education system, preserve our precious environment, and protect our citizens. We will go ever further. We will deal with election reform, cabinet reform, zero-based budgeting and begin the much-needed modernization of our antiquated tax system.

Let us begin with our most vulnerable.

In his inaugural address, President Bush made a reference that will serve as a guide to us this session: "When we see that wounded traveler on the road to Jericho, we will not pass to the other side."

Our seniors deserve the best quality of care in any setting, whether through nursing homes, assisted living facilities, community-based care or in their own homes whenever possible. Support must be provided not only to the individual, but to the family as well.

We will be diligent in finding a delicate balance between protecting our most fragile from abuse, while providing for a healthy nursing-home industry.

As we provide care for our parents, we must not forget that the future lies within the hearts and minds of our children. To that end, we will weave a strong fabric of care for those children unable to help themselves—children in the foster care system.

When these children are removed from their homes as a result of abuse or neglect, they are too often placed in overcrowded foster homes. These children, who at times have little chance of being adopted or returned to their biological parents, deserve a loving home with a sense of safety and permanency. That is a goal we all share and for which we must strive.

One issue that is close to my heart is that of children with developmental disabilities, such as dyslexia and attention deficit disorder. Training is needed to help teachers and families recognize the symptoms of a disability.

Once disorders are identified and understood, we can greatly improve a child's chance of success throughout his or her educational experience. We will need to channel these children. We must provide the incentives to insure that teachers are ready and willing to accept this challenge.

Unfortunately, too often the chances of educational success elude families. We must erase the educational gap that exists for many families struggling to provide opportunities for their children.

We will accomplish this by providing more choices so that everyone, regardless of means, can attain their educational goals.

We will have the opportunity to modernize the governance of our higher education system. We should welcome it. There are those who wish to protect this status quo, but recent years have shown that that management system has not served us well.

Change is constant, and if our management systems do not evolve with that change, we will be left behind. That is something we simply cannot afford.

Opportunities mean different things to different people. While a book may open a young person's mind to the world, it may not provide the same turning point for those who live in the hardened world of drug abuse and prostitution.

Such individuals bring upon themselves and their families the hardship and heartbreak of a world filled with disappointment and regrets. We must help break this self-imposed cycle and destructive pattern of behavior by providing a strong support system that will allow these individuals to become productive members of society.

Each day in our state, there are thousands of Floridians without food, a home, or appropriate shelter. As each of you know, homelessness is no longer a problem reserved for major cities, but one that permeates all communities.

We will focus on local housing incentives, common sense coordination of services, as well as the underlying causes that lead to and perpetuate this condition—drug abuse and mental illness.

These issues affect each and every one of us on both a social and economic level. The time is now for innovative ideas and a commitment to give those in need a fighting chance.

There is more to be done.

Various commissions have examined areas of critical concerns. To those who served on the Growth Management Study Commission, the Energy 2020 Commission, the Select Task Force on Election Procedures, and the Education Governance Task Force, we thank you for your efforts and leadership.

We will take those work products and carefully review their findings and recommendations in order to sculpt legislation to address these pressing needs.

To support all these efforts, it is imperative that we take a new approach to our budgeting process. We will accelerate our zero-based budgeting efforts to ensure taxpayer dollars are allocated responsibly and effectively to meet the needs of our state.

This process will not be easy. To the contrary, it will be one of the most challenging, yet worthwhile, tasks we undertake. And it will be accomplished in the Senate's thorough and deliberate manner.

I believe that the simplification and modernization of our tax system is critical to Florida's future. Citizens deserve a tax structure that is simple and fair—yet also encourages economic growth in our state.

This process may take more than two years; but it begins today. My goal is to commence the discussion in order to bring our tax structure into the technological age. And while too often people confuse tax reform with tax increase, let me assure you that nothing could be farther from the truth.

The needs of our state are wide and varied. As we address these issues in this Senate, there will be no rush to judgment. There will be ample discussion and deliberation.

The leaders of the Florida Senate will be the Senators from each district. It will take a team effort, along with tough decisions, to provide a framework in which to govern.

Our constituents, who put their faith in us with their vote, will be represented by each of the forty voices they sent to this chamber to work on their behalf—and on behalf of the Florida we all hold dear.

History has judged those who have served before and will certainly judge us. Let each of us here today pledge to place ideals before rhetoric, principles before politics, and respect before criticism.

If we do so, not only will we be able to provide comfort to that wounded traveler on the road to Jericho, we will also set the tone for governing in the 21st Century.

Ladies and gentlemen, thank you for your commitment to the Senate and our great state.

Let us now begin.

ADDRESS BY GOVERNOR JEB BUSH

Good morning. Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, members of the Legislature, honored guests, and my fellow Floridians. Good morning to you all.

Let me begin by saluting the new legislators who join us today. For many in this room, this is a day of long-awaited fulfillment. You and your families should be proud of what you have accomplished. In some ways your journey ends today. In others, it is just beginning.

Despite your justifiable pride, personal satisfaction shouldn't blind you to your greater purpose here. You should pause to consider the events that propelled you into public service.

Eight years ago, the people of Florida took to the polls and changed our constitution. Tired of the paralysis in government, sickened by the way special interests had inculcated themselves into the machinery of state, we said this: No politician should spend more than eight years in office. And in so doing, Floridians made room for the new legislators here today.

You should deeply consider and respect what Floridians were saying by making this choice. We were saying that new ideas are more important than experience. We were saying that the courage to act on them is more important than perks of entrenched public service. And we were saying that you should never forget that it is the people, and not the process, whom you serve.

This class of freshmen legislators is the first to carry forward that charge. This year, we have 62 new legislators—well more than a third of this body. In two years, every single legislator will stand for reelection. Each of you here today, freshman and experienced legislator alike, is called upon to meet the challenges of a future that is rushing to meet us.

As I said, this is a day of fulfillment—and in that sense an ending—but it is also a day of new beginnings. For today you have been given the power to change the face of Florida and even the nation.

I believe in the next two years we can enact reforms that will serve Floridians for generations. We can achieve this if we set ambitious goals and pursue them with clear policies and single-minded determination.

Many people will come to you, our freshmen legislators, like they did to me, and tell you to slow down, to kill some time, and learn the system. But you should know this: If you take too long, time and the system will kill your ability to cause meaningful change.

People will tell you that two years is not enough time to gain experience and change things for the better. But I know, and many of the returning legislators in this chamber know, what can be accomplished in two short years.

A little more than two years ago I stood a few hundred feet from here under those beautiful oaks near the old Capitol. I raised my hand and took the oath of office.

That day, I said we needed to revolutionize the way we view public education, elevating children above bureaucracies. I said we needed to be relentless in our drive to stop violent crime and reduce drug abuse. I said we needed to cut taxes and give back to Floridians what is justifiably theirs. I said we needed to build a world-class business climate to bring to our state the high-wage jobs of tomorrow. I said we needed to protect the most vulnerable Floridians—the children, the frail elders, and the disabled. And I said we needed to bring opportunity to our cities, while protecting what is best about Florida's natural environment.

And what has happened as a result of setting these goals and working with a visionary Legislature?

Because of the A+ plan, Florida leads the nation in innovation and improvement in education. Two years ago, there were 78 F schools in our state. Last year there were only four. And this, too, is astonishing. Last year, more than forty percent of Florida's schools were A schools or improved at least one letter grade. These teachers and students have earned our thanks and admiration.

Grades and test scores continue to climb—particularly among minorities—as students and teachers reap the benefits of a system that measures and rewards positive performance. Just a few weeks ago, a Harvard study concluded that Florida's system of accountable education is working—and working extraordinarily well.

While we should take heart in the statistics that show this system-wide change, we should not lose sight of the fact that the real change is occurring on a human scale, student by student. Is there any greater reward to give a child than the tools to prosper, in some cases to salvage gifts that would otherwise be lost? There simply is not.

And let's look at how we've protected Floridians from violent crime.

Many legislators in this room were instrumental in putting into place the 10-20-Life program, a law that imposed clear penalties for the use of a firearm in a crime. As a result, gun crimes dropped an astonishing twenty percent in the first year following the law's enactment. In 1999,

Florida experienced the largest drop in crime since 1971. With the help of the men and women of law enforcement, we are reversing a trend that ravaged Florida for decades. Let us thank them for their service.

And let us reward, not punish, Floridians for their thrift and success.

In the past two years, the Legislature has made tax cuts now totaling more than $1.5 billion, allowing a broad segment of our citizenry to keep more of what they earn and to spend it the way they choose. Six hundred and fifty thousand taxpayers enjoyed intangibles tax relief, and 3.7 million households (or 9.2 million people) saw property tax relief. The burden of state taxes will be reduced to its lowest level in a decade.

By showing fiscal restraint and advancing regulatory reform, we have also helped create a climate where businesses can prosper. Consider these extraordinary facts: For the year ending June 2000, one in 9 new jobs and one in 12 new businesses in the nation were created in Florida. Through their efforts and creativity, Floridians are building a magnificent economic engine in this new century.

With little fanfare, we have elevated to the top of our priority list the interests of our most vulnerable and needy. By the end of this fiscal year, 84 percent of the 1.5 million eligible children in Florida will have health insurance, compared to 55 percent two years ago. In two years, we have increased our financial commitment to the child welfare system by $313 million or 77 percent. And with our continued commitment next year, 28,000 Floridians with developmental disabilities will have received vital services after they languished on waiting lists for years and years and years.

We are also balancing industry with stewardship, with our obligation to protect Florida's fragile natural environment. With the recent enactment of the Florida Forever program, we have continued a legacy of environmental stewardship that is the best in the nation. After decades of in-fighting and impasses, in the past two years we have also put in place a plan for restoring the Everglades, our greatest natural treasure. Indeed, restoration of the Everglades and other projects like it around the state will also help keep more fresh water in our ecosystem, making the drought conditions we are currently facing less likely to occur in the future.

These are but some of the accomplishments of the past two years. There are many others, too many to mention here today. But taken in whole, and bearing in mind that the success of our state ultimately rises or falls with the will and work of its people, I am pleased to say that the state of our beloved state is good. Indeed, it is very good.

It is very good today, and we should be thankful for our blessings. But what about tomorrow? Look over the horizon: What will Florida look like? Will we have schools where the command focus is on children learning? Will we have enough teachers to show our children the way? Will we have well-planned, vibrant communities with a sense of purpose and identity? Will we have enough electricity to meet our needs? Will we have prepared our economy for the next burst of prosperity? Will state government be an institution that harnesses technology, and more importantly, that is known for its passionate and efficient service?

These questions—and dozens more like them—are basic questions, but questions that are too often ignored or relegated to one more task force, one more study commission. But if we ignore them now, we do so at our peril.

We can answer these questions, and we must. We must have the commitment and courage and the genuine desire to reach across the political divide and work for all the people we represent.

It is time—no, it is past time—to accept responsibility and share accomplishments as one, as a group committed to the higher principles of public service. The choice is simple for all of us: Would we rather be known for the enormity of the challenges we conquered or for the pettiness of partisan bickering?

You have my commitment to each of you in this room to strive for excellence and achievement that will better serve the people of Florida.

And as we work together, I hope we can focus on what lasts, what endures beyond our brief time in this building. Although you will consider many laws this year, the one I hope you most consider is taken from the great law of the Iroquois Nation: "In our every deliberation, we must consider the impact of our decisions on the next seven generations."

And with this in mind, let us begin where the future is formed: Let us begin with our public schools. This year, we need to continue to build on the successes of the A+ plan.

As you know, one key component of the plan is to test children so we can be sure that they have learned a year's worth of knowledge in a year's time. This is an element of the plan that has been the subject of much detailed and technical intellectual debate. Having listened to much of it, nothing has been as helpful to me as the thoughts of a teacher, a principal, and a student from Bent Tree Elementary School in Miami. Let's listen to Beryl Grant, Bart Christie, and Jesus Alvarez as they discuss the FCAT test.

Beryl Grant: The FCAT really is preparing them for life and life beyond school, which is work, and also college. We have to read, think and explain. And that to me is what FCAT is all about.

Bart Christie: Through this initiative we were able to move our school from a D School to a B school. We missed an A school by about three percentile points, which is about four or five students. We are going to be an A school this year.

Jesus Alvarez:

The Extraordinary FCAT

*FCAT oh FCAT, we work for you every year
Sometimes you scare us, but it's only our fear
We learn to solve problems, and also to read
Our teachers make sure, that in life we'll succeed*

*Hurray for Bent Tree, 'cause we got a B
We thought you're a monster, but now we are brave
We'll make that A, so Bent Tree can rave!*

When I shaked Governor Bush's hand, he said, 'Good job, you can take that poem on the road' and Mr. Christy congratulated me. . . .

Well, Jesus has taken it on the road, and he is with us today in the gallery. Please stand, Jesus.

When I visited Bent Tree Elementary, Jesus reminded me, and I think reminds us all, that change and new ideas can seem pretty scary at first. But he also reminds us what can be achieved when we challenge ourselves, what can be achieved in just two years.

Jesus and others like him will be pleased to know that in my proposed budget this year, we have asked that you provide more than $6 million to provide computerized tutoring for the reading, writing and math skills measured by the FCAT so that studying can take place anytime, anywhere.

This is only a small part of the $531 million I have requested in increased K-12 funding this year, and an even smaller part of the $2 billion in increased funding we will then have appropriated in the last three budgets.

I have also asked that we refocus our efforts on bringing more and better teachers to Florida's classrooms.

Our growing student population has created an unprecedented demand for teachers in this state. Our teacher shortage threatens to undermine the academic improvements we have made. We must begin a ten-year project to recruit and retain 160,000 teachers to meet the projected demand in Florida.

Last year, almost 9 percent of Florida's teaching force needed to be replaced, and the need for new teachers only grows. Let's hear from Claude Archer as he shares his perspective on this problem.

Claude Archer: My name is Claude Archer. I was a teacher at Marjorie Stoneman Douglas Elementary for the last ten years. Now I recruit and hire teachers for the county. We're trying to attract mid-career professionals looking for a change, looking for some more meaning to what they're doing. They're looking for something a little bit more meaningful. They want to make a difference in lives of children. We're looking for them. When I talk to people who are thinking about changing careers, I always tell them this is the most important job there is. You have a chance to touch the life of a child and what you do will impact them for the rest of their lives. But there is no greater feeling than one day having a student walk into your classroom and say, 'You don't remember me, do you? But you were my first grade teacher, or you were my English teacher, and some of the things you said to me have really touched me and made a difference, and I'm here today, where I am, because of you.' I think it's critical that we do everything we can to recruit and retain teachers. I really would like to thank Governor Bush for all his efforts and for making education his top priority.

After listening to Claude and many dedicated educators like him, we have developed a comprehensive plan for increasing the number of Florida's classroom teachers. The plan contains more than twenty separate initiatives aimed at getting and keeping great teachers.

This year, I have asked for $169 million in total funding of new and ongoing teacher-recruitment and retention initiatives. Among other things, these funds will provide for teacher signing bonuses to attract new teachers. We must also offer alternatives to current teacher certification policies to enable qualified Floridians with diverse backgrounds to teach our children and enhance professional development opportunities for teachers to increase job satisfaction. These changes will help our young. But what about those Floridians who are elderly, or have special needs? This session I ask you to bring an unparalleled focus on long-term care for Floridians.

Several months ago I met Jerry Price and his beautiful wife, Jeanne. They provide a compelling reminder of why you and I have been sent to Tallahassee. Through a program that we have implemented, Jeanne was diverted from a nursing home and given the resources to live with her beloved husband and their pet bird, Shakespeare.

We saved the taxpayers money and we dramatically elevated Jeanne's quality of life. I'd like you to meet them and hear their experience.

Jerry Price: This is Jeanne, my beautiful wife, Jeanne Price and I'm Jerry Price. And we've been married going on 51 years. Jeanne has been diagnosed with Alzheimer's, with Parkinson's, she's a diabetic, she's had two open-heart surgeries. She relies upon being home for her happiness and she wouldn't have that in a nursing home. So I know that if we didn't have what we have now, if we didn't have the long-term care and the Beacon helping us, it would not work out for us at all. It's provided her with counseling, and it's provided her with meals, and it's provided her with homecare. . . . And there isn't anything that we need that we don't get from this program. All I can say is thank you from the bottom of our hearts because that means that we're together and without you, we would not be together. She would be in a nursing home, I would be working six jobs to pay for her. The quality of life would have gone down the drain. And I thank you, thank you, thank you and that's all we can say.

I have to say, it's a little embarrassing that Shakespeare behaves so much better than my dog, Marvin.

For Jeanne and folks like her, I propose that we continue to expand community-based programs that allow them to function within their homes and neighborhoods in the least restrictive way.

With the more-than-$50-million increase I have suggested in my recommendations to you, we will have increased funds for community-based care by more than 60 percent over the last three years. These monies will help seniors age with dignity in places they cherish, near people they love. We will also dedicate $30 million to help low-income seniors buy the prescription drugs they need.

For those seniors who need nursing homes, I have proposed $46 million in new funding this year to improve the quality of nursing-home care by decreasing staff turnover and increasing staff-to-resident ratios.

But more money alone will not solve the crisis in nursing-home care. Nursing homes teeter on the verge of bankruptcy in Florida, and many will go under if we do not take decisive action to stabilize their insurance premiums by providing lawsuit relief.

If nursing homes close their doors, seniors could be left without the services they vitally require at this vulnerable time in their lives. Even if the nursing homes survive, but are financially weakened, the quality of care they provide could decline, and harm our elders.

Nursing homes in Florida are three times more likely to be sued than in other states, putting the costs of liability insurance at eight times the national average. Wouldn't it be better for nursing homes to spend money on improving quality of care rather than paying insurance premiums and lawyers' bills?

Your agenda this year should also include elevating the quality of life for all Floridians.

There is perhaps no state program that has more potential for accomplishing this than the Growth Management Act, and none that has remained more distant from its goal. Despite decades of implementation, our roads remain clogged with traffic, important natural resources are threatened or destroyed, and community needs like public schools are not fully met.

Last year, I formed a commission to address the gaps in the Growth Management Act. I carefully considered who should lead the task force, and I concluded that there was one person who possessed the stature and courage to squarely confront the implications of development.

I chose then-Orange County Chairman Mel Martinez, who had strongly pushed to limit growth in areas of his county until school overcrowding was dealt with. Although Mel has since gone on to become the Secretary of Housing and Urban Development in Washington, he's been kind enough to join us today to show his support for his commission's proposals. Mel, please stand. Thank you.

Mel and the other commission members have proposed that we not blindly permit development ahead of our ability to build schools. I agree. It is time to stop doing business as usual. Today is the day we say, "We will not allow our residential communities to swell without new classrooms. We will no longer allow Florida to be sold on the cheap."

I also ask that you continue to make gains in providing tax relief for our citizens. This year, we propose the third cut, in a series of four cuts, aimed at ultimately eliminating the intangibles tax, a tax that punishes seniors and savers. Let's hear from Judy Clark of Lake Mary about this problem.

Judy Clark: Hi, my name is Judy Clark and I live in Lake Mary, Florida. All of my working years and most of the time, two jobs since I raised four children alone, and I paid tax on every dollar I earned. And then I saved some money and I inherited money and I had to pay taxes at that time, and now I'm still paying taxes on that same money. I would like to thank Governor Jeb Bush and our legislators for reducing this tax by percentages each year. And hopefully, in the very near future, it will be abolished completely.

Judy, you seem pretty focused on getting rid of the intangibles tax, and so should we. You can be sure that we will do everything in our power to let you keep your life savings.

Among individuals, seniors over 60 pay almost three-quarters of this tax. We must stop punishing them for their thrift. This year, we propose raising the individual exemption from $20,000 to $250,000, the joint exemption from $40,000 to $500,000, and the exemption for Florida's businesses from zero to $250,000. These will have the remarkable effect of removing more than 500,000 Floridians from the tax rolls.

I think we all can agree that taxing people on fixed incomes or taxing the capital that grows small businesses is bad public policy, that it harms people and businesses when they can least afford to be taxed by government.

When we sought and achieved similar tax cuts in the Legislature over the past two years, over 90 percent of the members of both parties voted in favor of them. I urge you to continue this bipartisan approach with the goal of ultimately eliminating the tax altogether.

Improving public schools, providing quality long-term care, dealing with development, cutting taxes—these are all issues that should be at the forefront of the public agenda. Appropriately, they focus on the needs that directly confront those we are bound to serve.

But there is one issue that is more internally focused, and yet, just as important, and unless we adequately address it, state government jeopardizes its ability to deliver in all other areas. I speak of civil service reform.

Before you hear my thoughts, I'd like you to hear the thoughts of Gov. Roy Barnes of Georgia.

Gov. Roy Barnes (D-GA): Hi, my name is Roy Barnes, Governor of your neighbor to the north, the great state of Georgia. We all know we are living in a changing society. In the last few years, personnel policies in the private sector and not-for-profit world have evolved dramatically making organizations more competitive and efficient. State governments must do the same if we are to deliver the services our citizens demand with the same speed and service they've come to expect from the private sector. Five years ago Georgia took a giant step when we instituted performance-based compensation instead of the inflexible constraints of the merit system. Over half of our state employees are now employed and compensated based on performance rather than status. And that number is growing every day. Government can never have the full confidence of its people if it does not keep in step with the rest of society. Performance-based employment is not only desired, it is essential if states are going to continue as economic generators of prosperity. Based on Georgia's experience, I encourage Florida in its efforts to modernize its state workforce.

And we will, Governor.

Over the last two years, in partnership with you, we have made significant reforms in the budget process. We are also beginning to transform state government through the strategic use of technology.

Now it is time to reform our employment system so that, like the world-class service organizations that are driving Florida's economy, state government can provide the effective and efficient service that its 16 million citizens rightfully expect.

Last week, we announced a comprehensive reform proposal named Service First, and today I ask for your support of that initiative. I also ask, despite the relative austerity that will characterize our budget this year, that we begin to move to a compensation system that is competitive and rewarding for our dedicated state workers. I urge you to maintain our recommendations to reward better our hard-working state employees.

And finally, we must make reliable and accurate the very machinery of democracy, the voting process. For 37 days last fall, Florida was thrust onto the world stage as we waited for the outcome of the presidential election. Some would say that many in this room solidified their place in history from their roles in that event.

But neither the history of the 2000 Campaign nor your own history is fully written, and the action you take this session will provide a lens through which the election can be better judged.

I say let us be known as a people who are humble enough to acknowledge our shortcomings, and principled enough to seek to correct them. I ask that we dedicate the resources that are needed to modernize our voting systems and move forward with confidence into the next election cycle.

I appreciate your allowing me to share my thoughts today, outlining some changes we might consider. More importantly, I hope you've listened to the thoughts of the others who have spoken today. I look forward to listening to your ideas for change as we work together during the session.

Dr. Martin Luther King said, "The soft-minded man always fears change. He feels security in the status quo, and he has an almost morbid fear of the new. For him, the greatest pain, is the pain of a new idea." Looking among you today, I see no fear of the new. Every revolution necessarily begins with one person, relentlessly pursuing a deep and compelling internal vision. Why shouldn't that revolution begin with you?

Thank you for your time. I look forward to working with you all. God bless you and God bless Florida.

The Honorable Katherine Harris
Secretary of State

June 14, 2000

Dear Secretary Harris:

By the authority vested in me as Governor of Florida, under the provisions of Article III, Section 8, of the Constitution of Florida, I do hereby withhold my approval of and transmit to you with my objections, Senate Bill 114, enacted during the 32nd Session of the Legislature of Florida convened under the Constitution of 1968, during the Regular Session of 2000 and entitled:

An act relating to discretionary sales surtaxes; . . .

Under current law, "small counties" are authorized to levy a sales surtax for operating purposes at a rate of either 0.5 percent or 1 percent. These taxes may be levied by an extraordinary vote of the governing board of the county. For this purpose "small county" is defined as a county that had a population of 50,000 or less as of April 1, 1992. Senate Bill 114 expands the definition of "small county," and the ability to levy the sales surtax, to include any county with a population of 75,000 or less as of October 1, 2000. This applies to only one county.

The effect of Senate Bill 114 is to allow a single county to impose an additional sales tax on its citizens without the approval of the voters in that county. This is not the appropriate way to create new taxing authority and should not be encouraged. The county currently has the authority to raise an additional 1 percent surtax, by referendum, for infrastructure purposes such as transportation. The government's authority to tax must ultimately rest with the people. Instituting a new tax without voter approval, as proposed in Senate Bill 114, bypasses the most direct and clearest expression of the will of the people.

For these reasons I am withholding my approval of Senate Bill 114, and do hereby veto the same.

Sincerely,
Jeb Bush, Governor

The Honorable Katherine Harris
Secretary of State

June 14, 2000

Substitute for Senate Bill 862, enacted during the 32nd Session of the Legislature, convened under the Constitution of 1968, during the Regular Session of 2000, and entitled:

Dear Secretary Harris:

By the authority vested in me as Governor of Florida, under the provisions of Article III, Section 8, of the Constitution of Florida, I do hereby withhold my approval of and transmit to you with my objections, Committee Substitute for Committee Substitute for Senate Bill 714, enacted during the 32nd Session of the Legislature of Florida convened under the Constitution of 1968, during the Regular Session of 2000, and entitled:

An act relating to solid and hazardous waste management; . . .

Committee Substitute for Committee Substitute for Senate Bill 714 relates primarily to waste disposal and transfer in the State of Florida. On its face, it provides added protections to the regulation of hazardous waste transfer facilities. Specifically, Committee Substitute for Committee Substitute for Senate Bill 714 defines hazardous waste transfer facilities as storage facilities and requires that these facilities be permitted like other hazardous waste storage facilities in the state.

At the same time, however, Committee Substitute for Committee Substitute for Senate Bill 714 includes a provision that runs up against the Administration's position on budgeting and contracting. Currently, Florida provides funding to the Southern Waste Information Exchange, Inc. (SWIX), a not-for-profit corporation, to serve as a clearinghouse for information on waste recycling, use, and reuse opportunities for Florida waste generators. These services are offered to encourage sound environmental and cost-effective alternatives to landfilling, incineration and the treatment of solid waste. Arguably, the assistance provided by SWIX to public and private businesses is worthwhile and important to our environment. Where Committee Substitute for Committee Substitute for Senate Bill 714 goes too far, however, is in specifically naming in statute SWIX as the provider of solid and hazardous waste management assistance to Florida's public and private sector. Furthermore, it requires the Department of Environmental Protection to request legislative funding for SWIX in its annual legislative budget request.

By writing this organization into law as the state's provider and by requiring the Department of Environmental Protection to include SWIX in its legislative budget request, Committee Substitute for Committee Substitute for Senate Bill 714 essentially discourages alternatives to these particular services or competition from other providers for these services. It also provides SWIX with an unfair advantage over any other entity that currently provides or would like to provide these services in the future.

For the last three budget cycles, SWIX has received state funding, and most recently received $300,000 to render services to the state and private entities. So long as SWIX continues to perform in a manner acceptable to the state and so long as the state determines that this is a necessary public service, SWIX should remain in good standing.

Nevertheless, by restricting the state's flexibility as it relates to waste management assistance programs, Committee Substitute for Committee Substitute for Senate Bill 714 unfairly provides something akin to a "guarantee" to one provider. In the final analysis, that is not something that we should encourage among providers and other entities receiving state funding.

I encourage the Department of Environmental Protection and the legislative sponsors and co-sponsors of this bill to return next year to pass legislation that would include the hazardous waste transfer facility provisions of this bill. For the reasons provided above, I am withholding my approval of Committee Substitute for Committee Substitute for Senate Bill 714, and do hereby veto the same.

Sincerely,
Jeb Bush, Governor

The Honorable Katherine Harris
Secretary of State

June 9, 2000

Dear Secretary Harris:

By the authority vested in me as Governor of Florida, under the provisions of Article III, Section 19(b), of the Constitution of Florida, I do hereby withhold my approval of and transmit to you with my objections, subsections (b), (c), (d), (e) and (f) of Section 8, comprising specific appropriations and related proviso, of Committee Substitute for Committee

An act relating to innovative transportation financing; . . .

The specific appropriations and accompanying proviso which comprise subsections (b), (c), (d), (e) and (f) of Section 8 of Committee Substitute for Committee Substitute for Senate Bill 862 are hereby vetoed. Committee Substitute for Committee Substitute for Senate Bill 862, which provides financial resources for the state's transportation program, is a substantive bill containing appropriations related to transportation projects. Although the appropriations provided in Committee Substitute for Committee Substitute for Senate Bill 862 are well-intended, earmarking dollars for specific transportation projects outside the priorities established through existing evaluation processes, takes away from the Department of Transportation's ability to administer the state's transportation program based on the authority given the department by s. 339.135, Florida Statutes, regarding how transportation resources should be specifically allocated to produce the most effective results possible.

(b) 79th Street Station—Hialeah—Dade Co. ($2,000,000);

(c) Hollywood Intermodal Initiative—Broward Co.—($1,000,000);

(d) Melbourne Airport—New Hanger Construction—Brevard Co. ($834,937);

(e) South Florida Rail Feasibility Study—Palm Beach/Broward/Dade ($500,000). Funds provided for the South Florida Rail Corridor Feasibility Study are to review the CSX, FEC and I-95 Corridors and their relation to land use in Palm Beach, Broward and Dade Counties. The department shall contract with the South Florida Regional Transportation Organization. The study shall be competitively bid under chapter 287;

(f) Atlantic Corridor—City of Miami Beach—Dade Co. ($450,000).

The portions of Committee Substitute for Committee Substitute for Senate Bill 862 which are set forth herein with my objections are hereby vetoed. All other portions of Committee Substitute for Committee Substitute for Senate Bill 862 are hereby approved.

Sincerely,
Jeb Bush, Governor

The Honorable Katherine Harris
Secretary of State

June 21, 2000

Dear Secretary Harris:

By the authority vested in me as Governor of Florida, under the provisions of Article III, Section 8, of the Constitution of Florida, I do hereby withhold my approval of and transmit to you with my objections, Senate Bill 990, enacted during the 32nd Session of the Legislature of Florida convened under the Constitution of 1968, during the Regular Session of 2000, and entitled:

An act relating to education; . . .

Senate Bill 990 revises the reporting of student grades on report cards and substantially revises the high school grading system currently established in law. While the bill has a number of provisions, most of the discussion and debate has focused on the statewide grading scale provisions. Senate Bill 990 deletes the current high school grading system and scale (which 94% to 100% equates to an A; 85% to 93% a B; 77% to 84% a C; 70% to 77% a D; and below 70% equates to an F) and stipulates that for the purposes of interpreting grades when teachers do not assign letter grades, school districts should use a grading scale that is similar to those used by other states ("A" equals 90-100%, has a grade point average value of 4, and is defined as outstanding progress). It is this provision that gives me concern.

The education reforms that have been implemented over the last few years, have been grounded on four key components: high academic standards and expectations; annual assessment of progress toward mastery of the Sunshine State Standards; a benchmark goal that students gain at least a year's worth of knowledge in a year of schooling; and accountability for student performance. Posted up against these components, I believe Senate Bill 990 has the very real potential of negatively affecting the high academic standards and expectations teachers have worked so diligently to implement. Therefore, I have decided to exercise my authority to veto this bill for the following reasons.

First, Senate Bill 990 takes us back to the original problem that led to the creation of a statewide grading scale. In 1987, the Florida Legislature enacted a statewide grading scale in which 94% to 100% equates to an A; 85% to 93% a B; 77% to 84% a C; 70% to 77% a D; and below 70% would equate to an F. The purpose of this change was to end the perceived inequity and unfairness caused by different school districts using different grading scales. By making a new grading scale permissive for school districts, Senate Bill 990 returns us to the original problem—the possibility of each school board setting its own grading scale in a way that treats students inconsistently throughout the state. Supporters of the bill argue that providing for a new grading scale is necessary to level the playing field with other states that use the suggested scale. Yet in trying to create consistency with the rest of the nation, we will end up creating inconsistent grading scales throughout Florida's own public school system. In our own conversations with school districts, this much is clear. Many school systems are comfortable with the current grading scale system and have adjusted to its requirements, while on the other hand, some school districts would like to move to a new grading scale.

Second, by enacting a new grading scale, we send the wrong message to our children and ignore the limited impact the current grading scale may have. Last year, the Florida Senate conducted a study of high school grading practices concluding that teachers tend to adjust their assignments and tests to the grading scale, thus producing a similar number of A's, B's, etc., with one scale as with another. This finding indicates that the grading scale matters little in the overall outcome of student grades. If this is true, in a best-case scenario, Senate Bill 990 will not affect the distribution of grades. Nevertheless, if this finding is correct, why then suggest a replacement scale in law that provides a lower threshold for each grade? What message does that send to teachers, students and parents?

On the other hand, if the grading scale does matter, which some proponents of this bill believe, we would see more A's and B's as a result of the change. Today's C would become tomorrow's B, and today's B would become tomorrow's A. According to the Senate study, 53% of the grades issued by Florida's public high schools in 1997/1998 were A's and B's. Under Senate Bill 990, it is quite possible that this percentage would increase even further. With Florida's lower than average SAT scores and high rate of students (41%) who are not prepared for college level courses, it does not make sense to have more students earning higher grades with the same level of achievement, or more students earning higher grades while mastering less content than last year. Unfortunately, if this is the impact of Senate Bill 990, it encourages the very thing it set out to eliminate—grade inflation.

I understand that supporters of this legislation believe strongly that something should be done with Florida's current grading scale. In response to that concern, Senator Anna Cowin and I have agreed to work together in the interim for a better solution. In addition, I am asking the Commissioner of Education to further study this complex issue and make recommendations to the 2001 Florida Legislature.

In summary, Senate Bill 990 fails to contribute positively to our goal of raising standards and improving student achievement. It sends a mixed signal that may have a negative impact on grading policies and practices throughout the state. At its best, Senate Bill 990 will have little impact on grade distribution. At its worst, it will lead to grade inflation.

For these reasons, I am withholding my approval of Senate Bill 990, and do hereby veto the same.

Sincerely,
Jeb Bush, Governor

The Honorable Katherine Harris
Secretary of State

Dear Secretary Harris:

By the authority vested in me as Governor of Florida, under the provision of Article III, Section 8, of the Constitution of Florida, I do hereby withhold my approval and transmit to you my objections, Committee Substitute for Senate Bill 1230, enacted during the 32nd Session of the Legislature, convened under the Constitution of 1968, during the Regular Session of 2000, and entitled:

An act relating to eminent domain; . . .

Committee Substitute for Senate Bill 1230 gives municipalities the authority to exercise eminent domain for the purpose of obtaining lands for a public school and provides a hospital district with the authority to take possession and title in advance of the entry of a final judgment in eminent domain actions. First, municipalities would be authorized to exercise the power of eminent domain for obtaining lands to be conveyed by the municipality to the school board of the school district for the county within the municipality is located, if the school board requests in writing that the municipality obtain such lands for conveyance to the school board and promises to use the land to establish a public school. Both entities currently have eminent domain authority. This provision would be repealed January 1, 2003. Second, Committee Substitute for Senate Bill 1230 temporarily expands the eminent domain authority to take private property under quick-take provisions to a specific hospital district created by a special act of the Legislature. The quick-take authority will allow the hospital to take possession and title in advance of the entry of final judgment on the value of the property. This provision would be repealed July 1, 2003.

The power of government to take property is perhaps the most severe of all governmental powers. Eminent domain often runs in direct conflict with the rights of private property owners, and though our laws provide for just compensation, state government must be frugal in the exercise of this power, and conscientious when it is expanded.

In this particular bill, eminent domain authority is expanded to benefit the North Broward Hospital District. Essentially, the district's current eminent domain authority would be broadened to include the right to take possession and title to property in advance of the entry of a final judgment for a specific situation—the expansion of Broward General Hospital. Broward General Hospital serves many indigent citizens in Broward County and is in need (sic) of major expansion. It has planned to expand to provide improved services to a growing population. This is undoubtedly a worthwhile and needed project. The hospital has begun negotiations with local property owners to purchase their properties.

My objection to this well-intended bill, however, is that the hospital has begun this process under the current set of rules governing their eminent domain authority. To change these rules, giving them an expanded advantage over local property owners, would not be in the spirit of fair play. Withholding approval of the bill would still allow the project to continue to move forward under existing law. The needed property can be acquired successfully to make this needed expansion a reality.

Additionally, allowing this bill to become law would set a precedent inviting other specific governmental entities currently prohibited from exercising quick-take proceedings to seek one-time expansions of eminent domain authority. I believe this sets a dangerous precedent and is a poor basis for creating new statutes. If the expansion of quick-take authority is an issue that needs addressing, the Legislature should do so as a policy debate for statewide application. The Legislature has historically prided itself in ensuring that state laws were only created as a last resort to address local concerns. Thus, in turn, local entities should seek assistance through state law only after all options and avenues have been exhausted.

The use of eminent domain authority is one of the most harsh proceedings known therefore the justification for expanding the scope of existing eminent domain authority must be proven to be essential, not just convenient or economical. For reasons provided above and out of concern over the precedent this bill might set, I am withholding my approval of Committee Substitute for Senate Bill 1230, and do hereby veto the same.

Sincerely,
Jeb Bush, Governor

The Honorable Katherine Harris
Secretary of State

Dear Secretary Harris:

By the authority vested in me as Governor of Florida, under the provisions of Article III, Section 19(b), of the Constitution of Florida, I do hereby withhold my approval of and transmit to you my objection to Section 6, comprising specific appropriations and related proviso, of Committee Substitute for Senate Bill 1412, enacted during the 32nd Session of the Legislature, convened under the Constitution of 1968, during the Regular Session of 2000, and entitled:

An act relating to public swimming and bathing places; . . .

Although the appropriations provided in Committee Substitute for Senate Bill 1412 are well intended, there are funds provided to the Department of Health in the Fiscal Year 2000-2001 General Appropriations Act for a similar purpose. Moreover, the Ecosystem Management and Restoration Trust Fund, which funds the appropriation, does not have a positive fund balance that would allow it to meet this additional obligation.

The objectionable appropriations provided in Committee Substitute for Senate Bill 1412 are as follows:

Section 6. The sum of $745,000 is appropriated from the Ecosystem Management and Restoration Trust Fund to the Department of Environmental Protection, Division of Water Resource Management, Beach Management Program, for fiscal year 2000-2001. These funds shall be transferred to the Department of Health. The sum of $745,000 is appropriated from the County Health Department Trust Fund in the Department of Health during fiscal year 2000-2001 for a 2-year "Healthy Beaches" study in the coastal waters of Escambia and Santa Rosa Counties and the Tampa Bay area of Pinellas County. The purpose of the study is to determine which indicator organism is best suited to be used with respect to Florida's waters and to establish a statewide model to help predict when possible water-quality problems will occur.

The portion of Committee Substitute for Senate Bill 1412 that is set forth herein with my objection is hereby vetoed. All other portions of Committee Substitute for Senate Bill 1412 are hereby approved.

Sincerely,
Jeb Bush, Governor

Dear Secretary Harris:

By the authority vested in me as Governor of Florida, under the provisions of Article III, Section 19(b), of the Constitution of Florida, I do hereby withhold my approval of and transmit to you with my objections, Section 9, comprising specific appropriations and related proviso, of Committee Substitute for Senate Bill 1604, enacted during the 32nd Session of the Legislature of Florida convened under the Constitution of 1968, during the Regular Session of 2000 and entitled:

An act relating to community-based development organizations; . . .

Committee Substitute for Senate Bill 1604 creates the Community-Based Development Organization Grant Program. This program is essentially the same as the Community Development Support and Assistance Program which the Legislature allowed to sunset on June 30, 1998. The program was determined to be inefficient by the Office of Program Policy Analysis and Government Accountability and the grants served primarily to augment other sources of government assistance. Further, the loan program was not widely used or when it was used had experienced high loss rates. The bill requires the Department of Community Affairs to administer this new program without providing program administrative resources. In addition, based on further analysis, funding for the grant program is premature as the rule-making/public hearing process must be accomplished before funds can be distributed. It is doubtful that any funds can be disbursed during the upcoming 2000-01 Fiscal Year.

The objectionable appropriations provided in Committee Substitute for Senate Bill 1604 are as follows:

Section 9. There is hereby appropriated from the General Revenue Fund the sum of $1 million to be distributed as grants to community-based development organizations as provided by this act.

The portion of Committee Substitute for Senate Bill 1604 that is set forth herein with my objection is hereby vetoed. All other portions of Committee Substitute for Senate Bill 1604 are hereby approved.

Sincerely,
Jeb Bush, Governor

The Honorable Katherine Harris
Secretary of State

Dear Secretary Harris:

By the authority vested in me as Governor of Florida, under the provisions of Article III, Section 19(b), of the Constitution of Florida, I do hereby withhold my approval of and transmit to you with my objections, subsections (3), (5), (6), and (7) of Section 163, comprising specific appropriations and related proviso, of Committee Substitute for Senate Bill 2050, enacted during the 32nd Session of the Legislature, convened under the Constitution of 1968, during the Regular Session of 2000, and entitled:

An act relating to workforce innovation; . . .

The specific appropriations and accompanying proviso which comprise subsections (3), (5), (6), and (7) of Section 163 of Committee Substitute for Senate Bill 2050 are hereby vetoed. Committee Substitute for Senate Bill 2050, which makes substantial changes to the state's workforce development program, is a substantive bill containing appropriations related to workforce development, economic development, and welfare transition services. Committee Substitute for Senate Bill 2050 also creates a new entity, Workforce Florida, Inc., that is given responsibility for policy development and planning for Florida's workforce development system. Although the appropriations provided in Committee Substitute for Senate Bill 2050 are well-intended, earmarking dollars for specific workforce-related programs takes away from Workforce Florida, Inc.'s ability to utilize the authority provided by this bill to make decisions regarding how workforce development resources should be specifically allocated to produce the most effective results possible.

Section 163.

(3) For diversion services for needy families authorized by section 445.018, Florida Statutes, the sum of $8 million is appropriated from recurring Temporary Assistance for Needy Families funds to the Agency for Workforce Innovation.

(5) For the Careers for Florida's Future Incentive Grant Program established pursuant to sections 445.012-445.0125, Florida Statutes, the sum of $12 million in recurring General Revenue is appropriated to the Agency for Workforce Innovation.

(6) For the Small Business Workforce Service Initiative established pursuant to section 445.014, Florida Statutes, the sum of $500,000 in nonrecurring General Revenue is appropriated to the Agency for Workforce Innovation.

(7) For grants to support local economic development projects that lead to jobs for needy Florida families pursuant to section 445.015, Florida Statutes, the sum of $5 million is appropriated from nonrecurring Temporary Assistance for Needy Families funds to the Agency for Workforce Innovation.

The portions of Committee Substitute for Senate Bill 2050 which are set forth herein with my objections are hereby vetoed. All other portions of Committee Substitute for Senate Bill 2050 are hereby approved.

Sincerely,
Jeb Bush, Governor

The Honorable Katherine Harris
Secretary of State

June 16, 2000

Dear Secretary Harris:

By the authority vested in me as Governor of Florida, under the provisions of Article III, Section 8, of the Constitution of Florida, I do hereby withhold my approval of and transmit to you with my objections, Committee Substitute for Senate Bill 2368, enacted during the 32nd Session of the Legislature of Florida convened under the Constitution of 1968, during the Regular Session of 2000, and entitled:

An act relating to traffic control; . . .

Committee Substitute for Senate Bill 2368 was intended by its sponsors to promote traffic safety and reduce motor vehicle accidents through increased driver improvement education. For the most part, the bill increases the occasions when a Florida driver must attend a driver improvement course. While some of these provisions could have a positive impact on driver safety, other provisions were overly-broad with the potential to weaken penalties for bad drivers as well as mandate driving school for those who do not warrant such a sanction.

For example, Florida is currently one of the few states in the nation that allows drivers who commit a traffic violation to "elect" to attend driving improvement school in lieu of a court appearance. If the driver takes this election, points are not assessed and adjudication is withheld. While this election provides drivers with more education, it can also be viewed as an opportunity for a driver to avoid tough penalties such as increased insurance rates or suspension of his or her license. For that reason, drivers are limited to taking the election only one time a year and only five times over the course of an individual's driving history. Originally, under state law, drivers could take this election only three times over the course of one's driving history. Committee Substitute for Senate Bill 2368, however, would not only increase the current limit of five elections but eliminate the cap altogether, thereby allowing for an unlimited amount of driving school elections over a driver's lifetime.

Unfortunately, by allowing an unlimited amount of elections over one's life, we would be weakening penalties for the worst drivers on the road. Drivers can avoid points, increased insurance rates, and adjudication by electing to attend driving school. But at some point, and certainly after five trips to driving school, there must be a greater penalty or a greater disincentive for poor driving. In cases where a driver has already used up his or her five opportunities to go to driving school and is still driving carelessly, the only effective deterrent at that point may be the very real threat of rising insurance rates or the loss of a drivers license. While driving schools can certainly have a positive impact, there does come a point where we must admit their ineffectiveness to influence the driving of some individuals, especially drivers who have high recidivism rates in spite of attending driving school on numerous occasions. Leniency for consistently bad drivers, even in the name of more driver's education, is something that causes me concern.

Additionally, another provision of Committee Substitute for Senate Bill 2368 would change Florida's current law in a way that would make driving school mandatory for first time offenders if that offender was the cause of a traffic accident. Currently, the law requires mandatory driving school for an individual who has been the cause of a traffic accident twice within a period of two years and caused property damage of at least $500 in the second crash. The policy behind this provision is to require driver's education for drivers who have been the cause of repeat accidents. This policy can be justified on the basis that an individual who causes two accidents within a limited amount of time should probably receive additional driving education.

Committee Substitute for Senate Bill 2368, however, would change this policy so that those who have been the cause of a traffic accident only once would be required to attend driving school if the damages amount to at least $2,500. This change would most certainly sweep in drivers who have had good driving records with the exception of one isolated accident or drivers who have been unfortunate enough to be involved in a one-time "fender bender" with an expensive car. Again, I believe in this circumstance the bill sweeps to (sic) broadly in mandating that first time offenders attend driving school.

At the same time, there are other provisions of Committee Substitute for Senate Bill 2368 that ostensibly can accomplish some good. The bill provides for increased awareness of the option Floridians have to "elect" driving school over points and adjudication. In addition, the bill also requires driving school for drivers under 21 years of age who are guilty of or plead no contest to two non-criminal moving infractions within the period of one year. In many cases, however, these young drivers will already be required to attend driving school. In the end, however, it was the overly-broad nature of this bill in terms of mandatory driving attendance and the potential to weaken penalties for consistently bad drivers that has convinced me to withhold my support.

For the reasons provided above, I am withholding my approval of Committee Substitute for Senate Bill 2368, and do hereby veto the same.

Sincerely,
Jeb Bush, Governor

The bills, together with the Governor's objections thereto, were referred to the Committee on Rules and Calendar.

SUPREME COURT OF FLORIDA

No. SC01-331

In Re: CERTIFICATION OF NEED FOR ADDITIONAL JUDGES

[February 23, 2001]

WELLS, C. J.

Article V, section 9 of the Florida Constitution vests the Supreme Court of Florida with the responsibility for determining the need for increasing or decreasing the number of judges in the state courts. Pursuant to this authority, we have considered judgeship requests submitted by the lower courts, examined data concerning case filings and dispositions, and analyzed various judicial workload indicators. Based on our review, we conclude that there is a need for forty-four new judges in the trial courts and that there is no necessity for a change in the number of judges in the district courts of appeal.

The basic functions of the court—peacefully resolving disputes, upholding and interpreting the law, and protecting rights and liberties—are constitutional duties owed to the people of Florida under article V of the Florida Constitution. Adequate judges and additional court resources are essential in order for the courts to fulfill their essential functions. If there are not sufficient judges, supplemental resources, and court services to keep pace with the workload, it is the people seeking redress through the courts who are harmed because they are deprived of an opportunity to have their cases carefully decided in a timely manner.

The certification process is the mechanism that our constitution establishes for the systematic, uniform assessment of the judgeship needs of Florida's courts. Section 9 of article V requires the Supreme Court to submit findings and recommendations to the Legislature regarding the need for increasing or decreasing the number of judges and for redefining the jurisdictional boundaries of the appellate and circuit courts. The Legislature may accept or reject the certification recommendations in whole or in part. Certification is not a statement of what the Supreme Court wants; it is an analytical report of what the county, circuit, and district courts need in order to efficiently and effectively dispose of the cases brought before them. This determination of need is made absent fiscal concerns, which is within the purview of the Legislature.

District Courts of Appeal

Florida Rule of Judicial Administration 2.035(b)(2) sets forth the criteria for certifying the need for additional judges in the district courts of appeal. Based on these criteria, we do not certify the need for any additional district court judges or the necessity for a reduction in the current number of judicial positions. The number of judges in the district courts of appeal has remained constant since 1993, except for one additional judgeship that was added to the Fifth District Court of Appeal in 1999. The district courts did not request any additional judges this year.

Our data indicates that although our intermediate appellate courts are operating at close to capacity, they have continued to function effectively through the adoption of innovative case processing methods, strong staff support and law clerk assistance, and diligent case management. The creative use of technology has also significantly enhanced their efforts to operate efficiently. We support the conscientious commitment of our district judges to improve court operations, and we urge the Legislature to continue to provide funding for the district courts so that they can perform at an optimum level.

Trial Courts

The quantitatively based criteria for certifying the need for judicial positions in the trial courts, which provided the foundation for the certification process until last year, are articulated in Florida Rule of Judicial Administration 2.035(1). These criteria were modified in response to a request from the Florida Legislature in proviso language of the 1998 General Appropriations Act that we employ a certification methodology which relies on case weights and calculations of available judge time to determine the need for additional trial judges. Pursuant to this request, we conducted an extensive development project to design and implement a weighted caseload system with the assistance of the National Center for State Courts and the active participation and advice of the Office of Program Policy Analysis and Government Accountability. The report of the Delphi Policy Committee was issued on February 1, 1999, and on February 29, 2000, we certified the need for forty-three additional trial judges based on calculations using the new Delphi method. See In re Certification of the Need for Additional Judges, 755 So. 2d 79 (Fla. 2000). That certification was not funded.

This year, the Court again relies on the results of the Delphi-based caseload weighting system and hereby certifies the need for forty-four additional trial court judgeships. Thirty of these are circuit court judgeships from fourteen judicial circuits, and fourteen are county court judgeships from eleven counties. The judgeships are allocated in the chart below.

The forty-four judgeships were calculated based upon the guidance enumerated in last year’s opinion. We have applied the Delphi “reasonable caseload” standard developed by the Delphi Policy Committee in all case types except for dissolution, drug, eviction, and civil traffic infraction cases. In our view, these four case types still warrant additional study to merit the increase in case weights recommended by the Delphi Policy Committee. We also adjusted for differing jury trial rates in each circuit and county court. This adjustment was based upon readily available data and more accurately reflects the actual time spent in trial on average by Florida’s trial court judges. As in the past, we considered the use and availability of county judges who routinely assist in handling important and time-sensitive circuit court matters. Finally, we have not certified more judgeships than were requested by each circuit court.

We continue to have confidence in the Delphi methodology¹ suggested by the Florida Legislature as a means of improving the certification process. As we explained in last year’s certification opinion, the Delphi system assigns weights in minutes to different case types based on an assessment of the average amount of judicial time required for each type of case. This case weighting system differs from the certification method used prior to the 2000 legislative session, which did not distinguish between case types even though the amount of judicial time and resources required to dispose of different kinds of cases varies significantly. The primary benefit of case weighting is that it measures the differential requirements of judicial workload in different types of cases. As a result, we find that the current certification methodology using the case weighting system offers a more accurate and fair means of determining the courts’ judicial requirements.

It is important to note that these case weights include the existing mix of supplemental resources in the trial courts, including senior judges, general masters and hearing officers, trial court staff attorneys, alternative dispute resolution, and case management support. These resources are vital to the continued operating effectiveness of Florida’s trial courts. Failure to maintain supplemental resources at existing levels or to transfer appropriate resources to state funding from the counties under article V, section 14, as revised in 1998 (revision 7), mandates will result in an increased need for additional judges.

The Court has always been cautious in its approach to certifying the need for additional judges. This year is no exception. The aforementioned adjustments, which we adopted last year with the institution of Delphi methodology, are conservative and result in far fewer additional judgeships certified than a strict statistical application of the Delphi results might warrant. We have been conservative in our certification this year because of several factors. First, this is only the second year of applying Delphi methodology, and it is the first year it has been applied from the beginning of the annual certification process. As a result, we do not yet have an historical perspective from which to monitor the accuracy of our forecasts. In short, we believe that a new methodology warrants conservative application. Also, significant short-term increases and decreases were noted in select case types with higher weights such as capital cases and serious violent crimes. Presumably these can have a disparate impact on judicial need over the short term that will not be reflected in a long-term trend. For these reasons, significant short-term increases in judicial workloads were discounted at this time. Finally, almost half of these significant changes from last year were noted in juvenile dependency cases, a division being studied by the Children’s Court Improvement Committee, where significant resources are being allocated, and where pilot projects have been initiated to address workload needs. These issues are being studied further, but until results are available, we choose to err on the side of caution and certify fewer judgeships than the raw numbers warrant.

Although forty-four trial court judgeships are a substantially higher number than in many previous years, it is a one-time adjustment that is the result of the transition from a caseload-based system to a workload-based system using Delphi methodology. Over the past twenty years, since the inception of the original caseload-based system, anecdotal evidence and experience have suggested that judicial workload continues to increase. This assumption was validated by the Delphi-based case weighting analysis. Judicial time that must be spent on each case differs depending on case type and frequently increases as the law becomes substantively and procedurally more complex. Consequently, an accurate measure of judicial workload must include an assessment of judge time required in individual cases and must differentiate between types of cases.

The caseload-based system used prior to last year did not address these factors; however, the case-weighting system that is the basis of our 2000-01 certification opinion does. The forty-four judgeships certified in this opinion mirror last year’s certification of forty-three judgeships. If the 2000-01 certification had been funded, it is likely that the trial courts would not have required the judges we certify this year.

As suggested above, changes in the law continue to have workload implications for the courts. New legal requirements that are the result of statutory changes impact judicial caseloads by increasing not only the number of cases before the courts but the amount of time judges must spend on individual cases. This occurrence is illustrated by recent trends experienced in our dependency divisions. The revision of chapter 39 in 1997 and 1998 and the passage of the Kayla McKean Act in 1998 have resulted in a dramatic increase in the workload of our dependency system in the past three years. Our SRS data reveals that dependency case filings in response to these statutory changes increased approximately eighty-four percent between July 1997 and December 1999. Although all of the calendar year 2000 data is not yet available, the high volume of dependency case filings appears to have continued for most of that year.

Furthermore, the revisions to chapter 39 have dramatically impacted judicial workload in our dependency court divisions, both in the numbers of judicial hearings required and the length of time needed to properly conduct those proceedings. Specifically, the new statute expands statutory requirements for findings of fact at early stages of the proceedings and mandates more interim judicial reviews prior to the disposition of a case and subsequent to placement decisions. In addition, mandatory judicial reviews are no longer limited to children in foster care placement; they are also required for children placed in the home of their parents or with relatives under protective supervision of the Department of Children and Families. Additional participants such as foster parents have a right to be heard, thus lengthening the amount of time required for each hearing. The increased availability of treatment programs and the courts’ ordering of additional child protection interventions have increased the number of individuals providing testimony at judicial reviews. Finally, the “one year to permanency” mandate of the federal Adoptions and Safe Families Act requires more rigorous judicial review and more frequent judicial hearings. The result of these additional requirements is a substantial increase in the amount of judicial time and court resources necessary to handle the dependency caseload.

The significant increase in workload for juvenile dependency cases experienced over the last two years is forecast to continue. We reiterate our concern that our dependency divisions have the judicial and support resources necessary to adequately address the needs of dependent children. It is essential that our chief judges ensure sufficient allocation of judicial resources to our juvenile divisions when making division assignments. In addition, both the courts and the Legislature should review the results of the Dependency Pilot Projects currently operating in the Fifth, Tenth, and Seventeenth circuits and the ongoing work of the Dependency Court Improvement Program in order to examine the feasibility of further supplementing judicial resources with hearing officers, case managers, technology, and other court resources so that dependency matters can receive effective and timely judicial oversight and resolution.

The courts will continue to energetically examine court functions, processes, and performance in order to implement strategies to ensure that the judicial system is functioning with optimum efficiency and effectiveness and to reduce the need for additional judicial personnel. At present, the number of these activities underway throughout the courts system is unprecedented. Numerous court committees have been created to look at particular court operations, including the Children's Court Improvement Committee, the Family Courts Steering Committee, the Jury Innovations Commission, the Judicial Management Council, and the Trial Court Budget Commission. The Children's Court Improvement Committee is responsible for conducting both the Dependency Court Improvement Project and the Delinquency Court Improvement Project, and a delinquency court assessment is currently underway. The Family Courts Steering Committee has just completed an assessment of the family court process, is now conducting the Child Support Process Improvement Initiative, and has issued its report and recommendations for implementation of the Model Family Court, which is now the subject of pilot testing in several circuits. The Jury Innovations Commission is finalizing its report, and the Judicial Management Council is overseeing the work of both the Committee on Trial Court Performance and Accountability and the Committee on District Court of Appeal Performance and Accountability in determining how best to account for performance in the court setting. Finally, the Trial Court Budget Commission is working diligently to develop funding and budget guidance that will enable the trial courts to efficiently complete the transition to state funding as mandated by the recent revision to article V.

The courts have made great efforts to identify additional uses of technology in order to maximize efficient court operations. New initiatives include a focus on standardization of court data, implementation of case management systems, and the creation of a statewide court network. This latter innovation will enable judges and other court employees to communicate more effectively, provide access to legal research and other electronic resources, and allow for video teleconferencing capability. Further advances in technology are likewise being adopted by various jurisdictions to decrease cost and increase case processing efficiency.

Although the judicial branch already relies on supplemental resources to assist the trial court judiciary in performing their constitutional duties, we will continue to study the use of additional support to enhance court functions. The current level of supplemental support is factored into the case weights used in this year's forecasts. For example, nineteen of twenty judicial circuits use general masters or hearing officers in more than one division of court. Mediation is utilized in more than 100,000 cases per year. Trial court staff attorneys in every circuit enhance the effective processing of cases. We will explore the further use of supplemental judicial resources such as hearing officers and masters, trial court staff attorneys, alternative dispute resolution, technology, and case management in order to maximize the efficient use of judges and enhance the quality of judicial decision-making. To that end, we will ask representatives of the Trial Court Budget Commission, the Court Statistics and Workload Committee, and the Committee on Trial Court Performance and Accountability, as well as our other committees, to recommend ways that the expanded use of these essential resources can further enhance the efficient use of judge time.

After reviewing the requests of the trial courts for forty additional circuit judges and twenty-three additional county judges in light of the foregoing considerations, we find it necessary to certify the need for thirty new circuit judges for the 2001-02 fiscal year as follows: five additional circuit judges for the Seventeenth Circuit; three additional circuit judges each for the Ninth and Eleventh circuits; two additional circuit judges each for the Fourth, Fifth, Sixth, Tenth, Thirteenth, Fifteenth, Eighteenth, and Twentieth circuits; and one additional circuit judge each for the First, Second, and Seventh circuits.

We also find it necessary to certify the need for fourteen new county court judges for fiscal year 2001-02 as follows: two additional county court judges each for Duval, Hillsborough, and Broward Counties, and one additional county court judge for Okaloosa, Pasco, Pinellas, Orange, Polk, Sarasota, Brevard, and Lee Counties.

We also urge the Legislature to support the funding requests for the courts, particularly with regard to those budget issues that will directly impact the efficient and effective use of judge time and court resources. Specifically, we emphasize the importance of additional trial court law clerks, who can significantly increase the productivity of the judges in the trial courts. In addition, we have requested an increase in funding for additional senior judge days, which will supplement and expand our available judges.

As we have discussed in this opinion, this certification is the result of a conservative application of our data findings, which have been based on weighted caseload methodology developed at the urging of the Legislature. It would be beneficial to the certification process for the Legislature to communicate with the Court regarding its continued commitment to the Delphi methodology. We have concluded that case weighting, as we have implemented it, does provide an improved method for determining judicial need and an objective criterion for evaluation of the need for additional judges. We recognize that the Legislature is the ultimate user of this methodology by its decision in respect to the needs certified. In view of the absence of funding for the 2000-01 certification, it would be beneficial for us to know if there is a continued legislative commitment to this methodology or if we need to address any concerns about the implementation of the methodology.

Full funding of the requests certified in this opinion is absolutely essential if Florida's courts are to fulfill their constitutional mandate to resolve cases in a fair, impartial, and timely manner. Therefore, this Court encourages the Florida Legislature to authorize the judgeships certified herein, effective October 1, 2001.

It is so ordered.

SHAW, J., concurs in result only.

Original Proceeding - Certification Of Need For Additional Judges

¹We do, though, continue with our same concerns, expressed in last year's opinion, as to the underweighting for juvenile divisions. In re Certification of Need, 755 So. 2d at 81. We are steadfast in our belief that the judicial branch, together with the executive and legislative branches, must give priority to children.

The subcommittee to which the bill is thus committed shall proceed to reconsider it and shall report on it as if originally referred.

2.8—Notice of meeting; publication

For publication in the daily calendar, notice of standing committee or standing subcommittee meetings shall be delivered to the Secretary's office in writing by 4:30 p.m. on the day preceding its intended publication. If such day is a Friday, delivery shall be by 2:30 p.m. Meeting notices shall appear in the daily calendar.

2.9—Committee meetings; committee meetings after fiftieth (50th) day

(1) Each standing committee and standing subcommittee shall consider the public business assigned to it as expeditiously as possible and proper. To facilitate this, the President shall group the standing committees and subcommittees to provide each with an opportunity to meet without conflicting with the meetings of other committees.

(2) The Committee on Rules and Calendar or the Special Order Calendar designees provided for in Rule 4.17 shall, with approval of the President, provide a schedule of days, hours, and places for the meeting of committees for the regular session and during the interim, and deliver a copy of same to each Senator. However, no committee shall meet before 7:00 a.m. nor meet or continue to meet after 9:00 p.m. This scheduling shall not limit the powers of the chairman of a standing committee or subcommittee as provided in these Rules.

(3) Unless approved by the Committee on Rules and Calendar, no committee shall meet after the fiftieth (50th) day of any regular session except the Committee on Rules and Calendar.

2.10—When, where committees meet

Each committee or subcommittee, standing or select, shall meet in the place and within the time assigned for its use by the Committee on Rules and Calendar and notice of such assignment shall be posted by the Secretary of the Senate on a bulletin board provided for this purpose in the public corridor leading into the Senate Chamber. The committee chairman may arrange with the Committee on Rules and Calendar for evening or other special meetings. No committee except the Committee on Rules and Calendar shall meet while the Senate is in session without the consent of the majority of the Senate present.

2.11—Attendance by sponsor of bill

The introducer of a bill shall attend the meeting of the committee before which such bill is noticed as provided in these Rules. Such introducer may discharge this duty by sending another legislator, his or her legislative assistant or committee staff member, or any other representative having written permission to speak for the bill. Unless a majority of the committee members present shall decide otherwise, bills shall be considered when reached on the committee agenda notwithstanding the absence of the sponsor or anyone authorized by these Rules to appear on his or her behalf.

2.12—Order of business

(1) Bills shall be considered in the order appearing in the notice required by these Rules, except that the chairman may, in his or her sole discretion, consider a bill out of its order to accommodate the presence of a Senator or Representative who is the prime introducer thereof.

(2) A bill shall be considered out of its order on the committee agenda on unanimous consent of those committee members present obtained in the following manner: Prior to consideration of the motion, the Senator moving for unanimous consent of those committee members present shall orally give the committee not less than fifteen (15) minutes' notice of the Senator's intention to move and shall specify the number of the bill. On the entertainment of the motion, the moving Senator shall be allowed one (1) minute to explain his or her purpose, and unanimous consent of those committee members present shall be given or refused without further debate.

2.13—Open meetings

All committee meetings shall be open to the public, subject always to the powers and authority of the chairman to maintain order and decorum. If any matter is reported on the basis of a poll of the committee, such matters shall be referred to such committee on a point of order made prior to final passage thereof.

2.14—Time for consideration of bills

(1) A bill that has been introduced and referred to committee can be removed only on motion of the sponsor and by a two-thirds (2/3) vote of those Senators present in session. However, any bill that has been in committee fifteen (15) legislative days or more without an extension of time having been granted may be removed from committee on motion of the sponsor. Such motion, when made, shall carry over for a period of five (5) legislative days to give the committee of reference time to meet. Failure of the committee to meet and consider such bill within said time will permit the sponsor of the bill to remove it from committee on a point of order, providing no bill may be thus withdrawn from the Committee on Appropriations during the first thirty (30) days of a regular session.

(2) Except by unanimous consent of those Senators present in session, no bill shall be considered by the Senate after the fiftieth (50th) day of a regular session if the bill or a companion measure has not been first reported favorably by at least one (1) Senate committee.

2.15—Standing committee duties in deliberation

(1) It shall be the duty of standing committees to report all matters referred to them either:

- (a) Favorably,
- (b) Favorably with committee amendment(s),
- (c) Favorably with committee substitute as defined in these Rules, or
- (d) Unfavorably.

The vote of the members of a standing committee or subcommittee on final passage of any measure shall be recorded. Upon the request of any two (2) members of a committee or subcommittee the vote on any other matter, properly before the committee, shall be recorded. After such report has been received by the Secretary, no matter so reported shall be recommitted to a committee except by a two-thirds (2/3) vote of those Senators present in session.

(2) Such reports shall also reflect:

- (a) The time and place of the meeting at which the action was taken, and
- (b) The vote of each member of the committee on the motion to report each bill or resolution.

A bill filed for introduction by a committee shall be accompanied by such report. The Secretary shall enter in the Journal the action of the committee, but shall not include that portion of the report relating to the time and place of the meeting or the vote of each member on the motion to report a measure. Reports of committees shall be preserved pursuant to law.

(3) In reporting a Senate measure, a standing committee may draft a new measure embracing the same general subject matter, to be returned to the Senate with the recommendation that the substitute be considered in lieu of the original measure (or measures). Proposed substitutes shall be filed with the committee administrative assistant no less than two (2) hours prior to any committee meeting at which a recommendation of the substitute is adopted unless the substitute is merely a combination of the noticed bill(s) and amendments offered in compliance with Rule 2.39. Copies of substitutes shall be furnished to committee members' offices immediately upon filing with the committee administrative assistant, and made reasonably available by the committee administrative assistant before the meeting, upon request, to the members of the committee and to the public. The substitute measure must be accompanied by the original measure (or measures) referred to the committee and returned to the Secretary in the same manner as a favorable report. No other standing committee of reference shall consider the original measure (or measures) but shall direct its attention to the substitute measure. A committee receiving a committee substitute from a prior committee of reference may also report a committee substitute and shall not be precluded from doing so with the substance of the bill (or bills) as originally introduced. When the original measure is reached on the calendar, the substitute shall be read a first (1st) time by title, the original proposition shall be automatically tabled, and the substitute considered in lieu of without motion. The substitute shall carry the identifying number (or numbers) of the original and shall be returned to the Secretary in the same number of copies required for first (1st) introduction of a similar measure. The name of the introducer of the original measure (or measures) shall be shown by the committee administrative assistant on the committee substitute unless the said introducer requests that it be omitted. A committee substitute may be co-sponsored by a Senator whose signature is affixed to the original. A Senate committee may not recommend a Senate committee substitute for a House bill.

(4) All standing committee reports shall be signed by the chairman or, in his or her absence, the vice-chairman and shall be filed with the Secretary's office as soon as practicable, but not later than 4:30 p.m. on the next legislative day except a committee drafting and recommending a committee substitute shall file such committee report no later than 4:30 p.m. of the second (2nd) legislative day. These reports must be accompanied by the original bill. Each report by a committee must set forth the identifying number of the measure; if amendments are proposed by the committee, the words "with amendments" shall follow the identifying number. Committee amendments shall be printed in full on proper forms, numbered serially, and attached to the measure. All measures reported unfavorably shall be laid on the table.

2.16—Standing subcommittee reports

(1) It shall be the duty of standing subcommittees to report all measures referred to them directly to the full standing committee, which shall promptly certify a copy to the Secretary of the Senate. The standing subcommittee shall report all measures either:

- (a) Favorably,
- (b) Favorably with committee amendment(s),
- (c) Favorably with committee substitute as defined in these Rules, or
- (d) Unfavorably.

(2) Such reports shall also reflect:

- (a) The time and place of the meeting at which the action was taken, and
- (b) The vote of each member of the subcommittee on the motion to report each bill or resolution.

(3) In reporting a bill to the full standing committee, a standing subcommittee may draft a new measure, embracing the same general subject matter, to be returned to the full standing committee with the recommendation that the substitute be considered in lieu of the original measure. The substitute measure must be accompanied by the original measure referred to the standing subcommittee and returned to the full standing committee in the same manner as a favorable report.

(4) All standing subcommittee reports shall be signed by the chairman or, in the chairman's absence, the vice-chairman and shall be made on forms prescribed by the Secretary of the Senate. Each report by a standing subcommittee must set forth the identifying number of the measure; if amendments are proposed by the standing subcommittee, the words "with amendments" shall follow the identifying number. Standing subcommittee amendments shall be printed in full on proper forms, numbered serially, and attached to the measure.

(5) All bills reported unfavorably shall be laid on the table when the standing committee considers the standing subcommittee's report. On motion by any member of the committee, adopted by a two-thirds (2/3) vote of those standing committee members present, the same may be taken from the table. When a bill is thus removed from the table by a standing committee, it shall receive a hearing de novo and witnesses shall be permitted to testify.

(6) When a bill with a favorable report by a standing subcommittee is considered by the standing committee, no additional testimony shall be permitted except by a two-thirds (2/3) vote of those standing committee members present before final action is taken; however, debate by members of the standing committee shall be allowed. This Rule shall also apply to reports on budgetary matters by the standing subcommittees of the Committee on Appropriations for inclusion in the general appropriations bill.

2.17—Quorum of committee

A committee or standing subcommittee is actually assembled only when a quorum constituting a majority of the members of that committee is present in person. Any bill or resolution reported in violation of this Rule shall be recommitted by the President when it is called to the President's attention by a Senator.

2.18—Prefiled bills

(1) On receipt from the Secretary of each prefiled bill and if the President has not previously designated a standing subcommittee of reference, the chairman of a committee shall either refer to a standing subcommittee, refer to a select committee as otherwise provided in these Rules, or place on the agenda for a meeting of the standing committee. In any event, the chairman shall concurrently notify the Secretary of the Senate of his or her action on forms provided for such report. The chairman of the standing subcommittee, select committee, or of the standing committee thus possessing jurisdiction of a prefiled bill shall, with the concurrence of the President, determine the time and place for the hearing during which such bill is to be considered and notify the Secretary as required by these Rules.

(2) Committees having jurisdiction of prefiled bills shall expedite the business of such committee and shall file reports as soon as practicable after each hearing, except that the Committee on Appropriations shall not be required to file such report of a prefiled bill defined in these Rules.

(3) A prefiled bill introduced solely by a Senator who will not be a Senator at the next regular session of the Legislature shall be reported unfavorably without notice or hearing.

2.19—Conference committee in deliberation

(1) All meetings of Senate conferees with House conferees at which the business of the conference committee is discussed shall be open to the public subject to proper order and decorum. Meetings between a majority of the members of a conference committee may be held following a notice being filed with the Secretary of the Senate by or at the direction of the person calling the meeting, at least two (2) hours in advance of the meeting, and after the fiftieth (50th) day of a regular session and during a special session, not less than one (1) hour in advance of the meeting. The notice shall indicate the names of the conferees and scheduled participants, the date, the time, and the location of the meeting.

(2) Conference committees shall consider and report only on the differences existing between the Senate and the House, and no substance foreign to the bills before the conferees shall be included in the report or considered by the Senate.

(3) A conference committee may only report by recommending the adoption of a series of amendments to the House or Senate bill that was the subject of the conference, or it may offer an amendment deleting everything after the enacting clause of any such bill referred to the Committee. Such amendments shall accompany the conference committee report, which shall be attached to the original measure submitted to conference. In any event the conference committee may recommend, as part of its report, the adoption or rejection of any or all of the amendments theretofore adopted by either House. Conference reports must be approved and signed by a majority of the managers on the part of each House. All final actions taken in conference committee shall be by motion.

(4) Each report shall contain a statement sufficiently explicit to inform the Senate of the effect of the report on the measure to which it relates.

(5) When any bill or joint resolution is referred by the President to a conference committee, a notice of the following meetings to discuss matters relating to the conference, stating the names of the conferees and scheduled participants, and the date, time, and place for the meeting, shall be filed with the Secretary of the Senate by or at the direction of the person(s) at whose call the meeting is convened, not less than two (2) hours preceding the time for the meeting, and after the fiftieth (50th) day of a regular session and during a special session, not less than one (1) hour preceding the time for the meeting:

- (a) Meetings between the President (or a Senator designated to represent the President), the Governor, and the Speaker of the House (or a Representative designated to represent the Speaker);

- (b) Meetings between a majority of the members of any subcommittee of the conference committee;
- (c) Meetings between the President or any Senator(s) designated to represent the President and a conferee from the House of Representatives, or any meeting between a conferee from the Senate with the Speaker of the House of Representatives or any Representative(s) designated to represent the Speaker; and
- (d) Meetings of a majority of the Senate conferees; and when the bill or joint resolution that is the subject of the conference committee deals primarily with the general appropriations act or revenue matters, any meeting of three (3) or more conferees on the part of the Senate.

(6) Notice of meetings, as scheduled, between the chairman of the Senate's conferees with the chairman of the House's conferees, or between respective Senate and House subcommittee chairmen with each other, shall be posted on a bulletin board provided for this purpose in the public corridor leading to the Senate Chamber. In the case of the appropriations conference, said notice shall also be posted on a bulletin board outside the door of the office of the Committee on Appropriations.

(7) All meetings for which notice is required pursuant to this Rule shall be held in the Capitol, the Senate Office Building, the Knott Building, or the House Office Building, but shall not be held in the Chamber of either house while it is in session.

(8) When any bill or joint resolution is referred to a conference committee and the conferees on the part of the Senate report an inability to agree, no action of the Senate taken prior to such reference to a conference committee shall preclude further action on the measure as the Senate may determine.

(9) After Senate conferees have been appointed for seven (7) calendar days and have failed to make a report, it is a motion of the highest privilege to move to discharge said conferees and to appoint new conferees, or to instruct said conferees, and this motion shall have precedence over all other questions except motions to adjourn and questions of privilege. Further, during the last six (6) calendar days allowed under the State Constitution for any regular session, it shall be a privileged motion to move to discharge, appoint, or instruct Senate conferees after the Senate conferees have been appointed thirty-six (36) hours without having made a report.

PART TWO—COMMITTEES—OFFICERS

2.20—Appointment of Chairman and Vice-Chairman

A chairman and a vice-chairman of each standing committee shall be appointed by the President preceding the regular session held each odd-numbered year and shall continue in office at the pleasure of the President. The President shall also appoint a chairman for each standing subcommittee and select committee authorized by these Rules and may designate a vice-chairman, both of whom shall continue in office at the pleasure of the President.

2.21—Calling committee to order

The chairman or, in the chairman's absence, the vice-chairman, shall call the committee to order at the hour provided by these Rules. On the appearance of a quorum the committee shall proceed with the order of business. Any member of the committee may question the existence of a quorum.

2.22—Chairman's control

The chairman or vice-chairman shall preserve order and decorum and shall have general control of the committee room. If there is a disturbance or disorderly conduct in the committee room, the chairman or vice-chairman may require participants in the disturbance to clear the room.

2.23—Chairman's authority; appeals

The chairman shall sign all notices, vouchers, subpoenas or reports required or permitted by these Rules. The chairman shall decide all questions of order, subject to an appeal by any Senator, and the appeal shall be certified by the chairman to the Senate for a decision by the President during the daily session of the Senate next following such certification. The ruling shall be entered in the Journal, shall constitute binding precedent on all committees of the Senate, and shall be subject to appeal as any other question. The chairman may, or on the vote of a majority of the committee members present shall, certify a question of parliamentary procedure to the President as contemplated by the Rule without a formal appeal. Such a certified question shall be disposed of by the President as if it had been on appeal. The perfection of an appeal or the certification of a question pursuant to this Rule shall not constitute an automatic stay to further legislative action on the measure under consideration.

2.24—Chairman, Vice-Chairman; vote

The chairman and vice-chairman shall vote on all matters before such committee. The name of the chairman shall be called last.

2.25—Temporary alternate to Chairman

The chairman may name any member of the committee to perform the duties of the chair if such substitution shall not extend beyond such meeting. In the chairman's absence and/or omission to make such appointment, the vice-chairman shall act during his or her absence.

2.26—Vice-Chairman's duties

On the death, incapacitation, or resignation of the chairman, the vice-chairman shall perform the duties of the office until the President shall appoint a successor. In the absence of the chairman, the vice-chairman shall act as chairman.

PART THREE—COMMITTEES—MEMBERS

2.27—Members' attendance, voting, proxy

(1) Every member of a committee shall be in attendance during each of its meetings, unless excused or necessarily prevented, and shall vote on each question except that no member of a committee shall be required or permitted to vote on any question immediately concerning that member's private rights as distinct from the public interest.

(2) The chairman may excuse any Senator for just cause from attendance at meetings of his or her committee for any stated period, and this excused absence shall be noted on the committee's records.

(3) Failure to attend two (2) consecutive regular meetings, unless excused from attendance in the Senate on those days as provided in these Rules or by the chairman of the committee, shall constitute automatic withdrawal from the committee.

(4) No member of any committee shall be allowed to vote by proxy. A majority of all the committee members present shall agree by their votes on the disposition of any bill or other matter considered by the committee.

PART FOUR—COMMITTEES—VOTING

2.28—Taking the vote

(1) The chairman shall declare all votes and shall cause same to be entered on the records of the committee, but if any member questions a vote, then by a show of hands by two (2) members the chairman shall count the yeas and nays. When the committee shall be equally divided, the question shall be lost.

- (2) A Senator may request to:
 - (a) Change his or her vote, or
 - (b) Vote

before the results of a roll call are announced. After the results have been announced, a Senator with unanimous consent of those committee members present may change his or her vote or vote. If the vote alters the final action of the committee, no change of vote or vote shall be valid until the measure has been recalled to the committee for further consideration. On request of a member prior to consideration of other business, the chairman shall order a verification of a vote.

2.29—Pairing prohibited

No pairing shall be permitted by the committee.

2.30—Casting vote for another

No Senator shall cast a vote for another Senator, nor shall any person not a Senator cast a vote for a Senator. In addition to such penalties as may be prescribed by law, any Senator who shall vote or attempt to vote for another Senator may be punished as the Senate may deem proper. Also, any person not a Senator who shall vote in the place of a Senator shall be excluded from the committee for the remainder of the session.

2.31—Explanation of vote

No Senator shall be permitted to defer or explain his or her vote during a roll call, but may submit his or her explanation in writing and file it with the chairman. This explanation shall be kept as part of the committee record and a copy filed with the Secretary of the Senate.

PART FIVE—COMMITTEES—MOTIONS AND PRECEDENCE2.32—Motions; how made, withdrawn

Every motion may be made orally. On request of the chairman, a Senator shall submit his or her motion in writing. After a motion has been stated or read by the chairman, it shall be deemed to be in possession of the committee without a second, and shall be disposed of by vote of the committee members present. The mover may withdraw a motion, except a motion to reconsider, at any time before the same has been amended, or before a vote shall have commenced.

2.33—Motions; precedence

(1) When a question is under debate, the chairman shall receive no motion except:

- (a) To rise
- (b) To take a recess
- (c) To reconsider
- (d) To limit debate
- (e) To temporarily postpone
- (f) To postpone to a day certain
- (g) To commit to a select subcommittee
- (h) To amend

which shall have precedence in the descending order given.

(2) The chairman shall propound all questions in the order in which they are moved unless the subsequent motion be previous in nature.

(3) When a motion is under consideration, but prior to the commencement of the vote, a substitute motion shall be in order. Only one (1) substitute shall be considered and the substitute shall be in the same order of precedence.

2.34—Division of question

A Senator may call for a division of a question when the sense will admit of it. A motion to strike out and insert shall be deemed indivisible; a motion to strike out, being lost, shall neither preclude amendment nor a motion to strike out and insert.

2.35—Reconsideration generally

When a question has been decided by a committee, any Senator voting with the prevailing side may move for reconsideration of the question. Also when a question has been decided by voice vote, any member, during the meeting at which the vote was taken, may so move. Such motion may be made pending a motion to rise or if the time of adjournment has arrived. Consideration of a motion to reconsider shall be a special and continuing order of business for the succeeding committee meeting, and, unless considered during such meeting, shall be considered abandoned. If the committee shall refuse to consider or, upon consideration, shall confirm its first decision, no further motion to reconsider shall be in order except upon unanimous consent of those committee members present. During the last fourteen (14) days of a regular session, a motion to reconsider shall be made and considered during the meeting at which the original vote was taken.

2.36—Reconsideration; vote required

The affirmative votes of a majority of the committee members present shall be required to adopt a motion to reconsider.

2.37—Reconsideration; debate allowed

Debate shall be allowed on a motion to reconsider only when the question is debatable. When debate on a motion to reconsider is in order, no Senator shall speak thereon more than once nor longer than five (5) minutes.

2.38—Reconsideration; collateral matters

A motion to reconsider a collateral matter must be disposed of during the course of the consideration of the main subject to which it is related, and such motion shall be out of order after the committee has passed to other business.

PART SIX—COMMITTEES—AMENDMENTS2.39—Amendments; form, notice, manner of consideration

(1) No amendment to any measure, which amendment was prepared prior to the committee meeting at which it is offered, shall be considered by that committee unless the amendment was filed with the committee administrative assistant at least two (2) hours before the time the meeting was called to order. Copies of such amendment shall be made reasonably available by the committee administrative assistant before the meeting, upon request, to the members of the committee and to the public. Neither a technical amendment nor an amendment which is prepared by a member of the committee during the committee meeting at which it is offered need be so noticed.

(2) Amendments shall be filed on forms prescribed by the Secretary but shall be considered only after sponsors, who are members of the committee, gain recognition from the chairman to move their adoption. An amendment shall be deemed pending only after its sponsor has been recognized by the chairman and has moved its adoption. Amendments that have been filed but have not been formally moved for adoption shall not be deemed to be pending. No proposition on a subject different from that under consideration shall be admitted under color of amendment.

2.40—Sequence of amendments to amendments

(1) An amendment to a pending amendment may be received, but until it is disposed of, no other motion to amend will be in order, except a substitute amendment or an amendment to the substitute. Such amendments are to be disposed of in the following order:

- (a) Amendments to the amendment are acted on before the substitute is taken up.
- (b) Amendments to the substitute are next voted on.
- (c) The substitute then is voted on.

(2) The adoption of a substitute amendment in lieu of an original amendment shall be treated and considered as an amendment to the bill itself.

2.41—Deleting everything after enacting clause

A proposal to delete everything after the enacting clause, or the resolving clause of a bill or resolution, and insert new matter of the same general subject as stated in the original title shall be deemed proper and germane and shall be treated as an amendment.

2.42—Amendment by section

The adoption of an amendment to a section shall not preclude further amendment of that section. If a bill or resolution is being considered section by section or item by item, only amendments to the section or item under consideration shall be in order. The chairman, in recognizing Senators for the purpose of moving the adoption of amendments, shall endeavor to cause all amendments to section 1 to be considered first, then all those in section 2, and so on. After all sections have been considered separately, the whole bill shall be open for amendment.

2.43—Senate amendments to House bills

A House bill may be amended in the same manner as a Senate bill.

2.44—Amendments by another committee

Amendments recommended by all committees of reference shall accompany a bill when filed with the Secretary. No committee shall physically remove an amendment by another committee but may recommend an amendment to an amendment, or a substitute for an amendment, by another committee. Amendments adopted by a committee to be incorporated in a committee substitute need not be filed.

PART SEVEN—COMMITTEES—DECORUM AND DEBATE

2.45—Decorum and debate

When a Senator desires to speak or deliver a matter to the committee, the Senator shall address himself or herself to “Mr. or Madam Chairman” and, on being recognized, may address the committee and shall confine himself or herself to the question under debate, avoiding personality. A Senator shall not address or refer to another Senator by his or her first name. A Senator shall use the appellation of Senator or such appellation and the surname of the Senator referred to or addressed.

2.46—Chairman’s power to recognize

When two (2) or more Senators speak at once, the chairman shall name the Senator who is to be first recognized.

2.47—Interruptions; when allowed

(1) No Senator shall be interrupted by another without the consent of the Senator who has the floor, except by:

- (a) Rising to a question of privilege;
- (b) Rising to a point of order requiring an immediate ruling;
- (c) Rising to appeal a decision of the chairman concerning a point of order (if the appeal is made immediately following the decision);
- (d) Rising to make a parliamentary inquiry requiring an immediate reply; or
- (e) Rising to question the existence of a quorum.

(2) The chairman shall strictly enforce this Rule.

2.48—Speaking rights

(1) When a member is speaking and another member interrupts to request recognition, the chairman may permit the person rising to state why he or she desires the floor. If the question the member desires to raise is entitled to precedence, the member originally speaking shall relinquish the floor until the question having precedence is disposed of. The member is then entitled to resume the floor.

(2) The member making a debatable motion or the primary introducer of a bill, whether or not a member of the committee, shall have five (5) minutes in order to close debate.

2.49—Time for debate

No Senator shall speak longer than ten (10) minutes without yielding the floor, except by consent of a majority of those committee members present.

2.50—Limitation on debate

When a measure is under debate by the committee, a Senator may move to limit debate, and the motion shall be decided without debate. The introducer of the measure shall have five (5) minutes to discuss the motion, and the introducer may divide such time with, or waive it in favor of, some other member. If the question is decided in the affirmative by a two-thirds (2/3) vote of those committee members present, the debate shall be limited accordingly. The time allotted by such limitation shall be apportioned by the chairman.

2.51—Priority of business

All questions relating to the priority of business shall be acted on and shall be decided without debate.

2.52—Questioning right to vote

A point of order questioning the right of a member to vote on account of interest may be raised after the vote has been recorded and before the result is announced.

2.53—Appeals

The proper method of taking exception to a ruling of the chairman is by appeal. An appeal from a decision of the chairman must be made promptly before debate has concluded or other business has intervened. A point of order on any other question is not in order while an appeal is pending, but a point of order relating to the appeal may be raised; if the determination of the appeal is dependent on this point, it may be decided by the chairman. This second (2nd) decision is also subject to appeal.

2.54—Appeals debatable

An appeal from a decision of the chairman on a point of order is debatable even though the question from which it arose was not debatable.

BILLS, RESOLUTIONS, AND MEMORIALS

3.1—Form of bills

(1) All bills shall contain a proper title, as defined in Article III, Section 6 of the State Constitution, and the enacting clause, “Be It Enacted by the Legislature of the State of Florida:.” The title of each bill shall be prefaced by the words, “A bill to be entitled An act.” Standard rules of capitalization shall apply.

(2) The original must be backed in a folder-jacket signed by the sponsor(s). On these jackets shall be inscribed the name and district number of the introducer and any co-introducers or the introducing committee and its chairman, enough of the title for identification.

(3) Bills that propose to amend existing provisions of the Florida Statutes (as described in section 11.242, Florida Statutes) or the Laws of Florida shall contain the full text of the section, subsection, or paragraph to be amended. Joint resolutions that propose to amend the State Constitution shall contain the full text of the section to be amended.

(4) In general bills and joint resolutions that propose to create or amend existing provisions of the Florida Statutes, Laws of Florida, or the State Constitution, new words shall be inserted underlined, and words to be deleted shall be lined through with hyphens, except that the text of the General Appropriations Act shall not be underlined.

(5) When the change in language is so general that the use of these procedures would hinder, rather than assist, the understanding of the amendment, it shall not be necessary to use the coded indicators of words added or deleted but, in lieu thereof, a notation similar to the following shall be inserted immediately preceding the text of the provision being amended: “Substantial rewording of section. See s. [number], F.S., for present text.” When such notation is used, the notation as well as the substantially reworded text shall be underlined.

(6) The words to be deleted and the above-described indicators of such words and of new material are for information and guidance and shall not be considered to constitute a part of the bill under consideration.

(7) Section catchlines of existing text shall not be typed with underlining.

3.2—Bills for introduction

A bill may not be introduced until properly filed with the Secretary of the Senate.

3.3—Form of local bills

As required by Article III, Section 10 of the State Constitution, all local bills must either embody provision for ratifying referenda (stated in the title as well as in the text of the bill) or be accompanied by an affidavit of proper advertisement. Forms of affidavit may be obtained from the Secretary of the Senate. All local bills that require publication shall, when introduced, have proof of publication securely attached to the original copy of the bill and the words “Proof of Publication Attached” clearly typed or stamped on the Senate side of the bill jacket or cover, or the same shall be rejected by the Secretary.

3.4—Form of joint resolutions

All joint resolutions shall contain a proper title, as defined in Article III, Section 6 of the State Constitution. Standard rules of capitalization shall apply. They shall contain the resolving clause, “Be It Resolved by the Legislature of the State of Florida.” Each joint resolution shall be prefaced by the words: “A joint resolution.”

3.5—Form of memorials

All memorials shall contain a proper title, as defined in Article III, Section 6 of the State Constitution. Standard rules of capitalization shall apply. They shall contain the resolving clause, “Be It Resolved by the Legislature of the State of Florida:.”

3.6—Form of resolutions; Senate and concurrent

(1) All Senate resolutions and all concurrent resolutions shall contain a proper title, as defined in Article III, Section 6 of the State Constitution. Standard rules of capitalization shall apply. Senate resolutions shall read, “Be It Resolved by the Senate of the State of Florida:.” Concurrent resolutions shall read, “Be It Resolved by the Senate of the State of Florida, the House of Representatives Concurring:.”

(2) Only the Secretary of the Senate shall prepare copies of Senate resolutions that are to be furnished any person after the resolution’s adoption.

3.7—Introduction during session

(1) To facilitate processing and committee referencing, all bills shall be filed for introduction with the Secretary of the Senate no later than 12:00 noon of the first (1st) day of the regular session.

(2) Between regular sessions of the Legislature, bills may be prefiled by delivery to the Secretary of the Senate.

3.8—Prefiled bills

(1) A prefiled bill complying with these Rules shall, in anticipation of the next regular session, be serially numbered in accordance with the permanent system required by these Rules. A bill received by the Secretary within three (3) weeks next preceding the convening of a regular session shall be numbered but otherwise withheld from the operation of this Rule. Such a bill shall be treated as if it had been delivered for introduction on the first (1st) day of the succeeding regular session.

(2) The Secretary shall deliver each such numbered bill to the President for reference to a committee or committees pursuant to these Rules. The Secretary shall promptly forward each referenced bill to the first (1st) or only committee of reference. A copy of each prefiled bill shall be provided each Senator. The Secretary shall mail regularly to each Senator a calendar of all prefiled bills, including the referencing data for each bill, and of all committee hearings, including the bills noticed for hearing by each.

(3) After having been considered by a committee and a report made to the Secretary at least seven (7) days preceding a regular session, each bill shall be introduced and read on the first (1st) day thereof, pursuant to the State Constitution, Laws of Florida, and these Rules. The Journal shall reflect the committee reference and the report of the committee. All requirements for the referencing of bills to and the consideration of bills by Senate committees shall be deemed to have been met and discharged if the jurisdictional requirements of this Rule have been complied with as to each of such bills.

(4) If a committee fails to deliver its report of a prefiled bill prior to seven (7) days next preceding the convening of a regular session or, if a prefiled bill has received a reference to more than one (1) committee and fewer than all considered such bill, the committee or committees failing to so report and the committee or committees having failed to discharge their jurisdiction of a bill shall conduct hearings and file reports during the regular session as if such bill had not been prefiled.

(5) Notwithstanding these Rules, a Senator may, during the day of introduction of prefiled bills, but no later than under the Order of Business of “Motions Relating to Committee Reference” on the second (2nd) legislative day on which the Senate meets, move for reference to a different committee or for removal from a committee. This motion may be adopted by a two-thirds (2/3) vote of those Senators present.

3.9—Printed copies of bills

When introduced, bills, not local in application, and joint resolutions (including committee bills and committee substitute bills) shall be printed by the Secretary for the information of the Senate and the public. The absence of a printed copy shall not delay the progress of a measure at any stage of the legislative process. Sufficient copies of the general appropriations bill proposed to be introduced by the Committee on Appropriations shall be made available to the members and, upon request, to the public, at the office of the Secretary of the Senate and at the committee’s office, no less than two (2) hours prior to the time the Committee on Appropriations meets to consider the proposed committee bill.

3.10—Identification of bills

Bills and other measures requiring legislative action shall be introduced in the order they are received at the desk of the Secretary. They shall be serially numbered with even numbers as introduced, without differentiation in number as to type. The Secretary shall mark the original copy of each measure to ensure its identification, and each page thereof, as the item introduced in order to prevent unauthorized or improper substitutions. This identification may be made by any device to accomplish the purpose of this Rule. Such device shall be in the custody of the Secretary, and its use by any person not authorized by this Rule is prohibited.

3.11—Companion measures

When a Senate bill is reached on the calendar of the Senate for consideration, either on second (2nd) or third (3rd) reading, and there is also pending on the calendar of the Senate a companion measure already passed by the House, it shall be in order to move that the House companion measure be substituted and considered in lieu of the Senate measure. Such motion may be adopted by a majority vote of those Senators present, provided the House measure is on the same reading; otherwise, the motion shall be to waive the Rules by a two-thirds (2/3) vote of those Senators present and read such House measure. A companion measure shall be substantially the same and identical as to specific intent and purpose as the measure for which it is being substituted. At the moment the Senate passes the House companion measure, the original Senate measure shall be regarded as automatically tabled. Recommitment of a Senate bill shall automatically carry with it any House companion measure then on the calendar.

3.12—Introducers of bills

Bills shall be introduced by a Senator or group of Senators whose signature or signatures are affixed to the original, or by any committee with the name of the committee and the signature of the chairman of the committee affixed to the original. A bill introduced by a committee may be co-sponsored by any Senator whose signature is affixed to the original. The general appropriations bill shall be introduced by the Committee on Appropriations.

3.13—Fiscal notes

(1) Upon being favorably reported by a standing committee, all general bills or joint resolutions affecting revenues, expenditures, or fiscal liabilities of state or local governments shall be accompanied by a fiscal note. Fiscal notes shall reflect the estimated increase or decrease in revenues or expenditures. The estimated economic impact, which calculates the present and future fiscal implications of the bill or joint resolution, must be considered. The fiscal note shall not express opinion relative to the merits of the measure, but may identify technical or mechanical defects.

(2) Fiscal notes on those bills affecting any state retirement system shall be prepared after consultation with an actuary who is a member of the Society of Actuaries and the cooperation of appropriate state agencies for necessary data shall be solicited.

(3) Fiscal notes shall be regarded as memoranda of factual information and shall be made available to members of the Senate.

(4) If a bill or joint resolution is reported favorably by a committee without a fiscal note or economic impact statement, as defined in this Rule, a Senator may at any time raise a point of order, and the President shall order return of the bill or joint resolution to the committee. A fiscal note prepared for a Senate bill or joint resolution shall be presumed as prepared also for its House companion for the purposes of point of order.

RULE FOURORDER OF BUSINESS AND CALENDAR*4.1—Sessions of the Senate

The Senate shall meet pursuant to a schedule adopted by the Committee on Rules and Calendar and approved by the President. This schedule shall set forth hours to convene and adjourn. The Senate shall not meet before 7:00 a.m. nor meet or continue to meet after 9:00 p.m.

4.2—Quorum

A majority of the Senate shall constitute a quorum, but a smaller number may adjourn from day to day and compel the attendance of absent members, in such manner and under such penalties as it may prescribe. A Senator at any time may question the existence of a quorum.

4.3—Daily Order of Business

- (1) The Daily Order of Business shall be as follows:
 - (a) Roll Call
 - (b) Prayer
 - (c) Reports of Committees
 - (d) Motions Relating to Committee Reference
 - (e) Messages from the Governor and Other Executive Communications
 - (f) Messages from the House of Representatives
 - (g) Matters on Reconsideration
 - (h) Consideration of Bills on Third (3rd) Reading
 - (i) Special Order as determined by the Committee on Rules and Calendar
 - (j) Consideration of Bills on Second (2nd) Reading
 - (k) Correction and approval of Journal
- (2) The Secretary of the Senate shall prepare and distribute, on each legislative day, a calendar corresponding to the Daily Order of Business; and within each order of business, matters shall be considered in the order in which they appear on such daily calendar. Local bills may be omitted from the formal calendar and may be distributed to Senators by the Secretary separately.
- (3) Certain messages from the House of Representatives may be withheld from the Daily Order of Business pursuant to Rule 1.18 or on order of the President.
- (4) On the first (1st) legislative day of each week the Daily Order of Business shall include, after prayer, the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America.
- (5) First (1st) reading of bills shall be accomplished by publication of the title thereof in the Journal pursuant to Article III, Section 7 of the State Constitution.

4.4—Committee of the Whole

By a majority vote of those Senators present, the Senate may resolve itself into a Committee of the Whole and, when thus constituted, may consider any question whether formally introduced in the Senate or not. The Senate may, however, restrict the subject matter to be considered by the Committee of the Whole, or its jurisdiction, by resolving itself into a Committee of the Whole for a specific and limited purpose. The President shall preside and maintain order and decorum. The Rules of the Senate applicable to standing committees shall govern when applicable. The Committee of the Whole may consider and report, by majority vote of those committee members present, on any bill or question not formally introduced in the Senate and any bill on which all standing committees of reference have rendered a favorable report. A bill on which committee action has been taken by the committee or committees of reference or on which an unfavorable committee report has been filed may be considered only by a two-thirds (2/3) vote of those committee members present. Such vote shall also be required to favorably report any such bill to the Senate. A bill thus originating in a Committee of the Whole shall, when introduced as contemplated by the State Constitution, receive no further reference to committee. A favorable report by a Committee of the Whole on a bill having theretofore received an unfavorable report by a standing committee of reference shall not have the effect of withdrawing such bill from the table. Consideration by the Senate of such a bill shall be preceded by the adoption of the appropriate motion during a session of the Senate. Bills considered by a Committee of the Whole shall be read once, debated, amended, and acted on as a standing committee function. The body of a bill formally introduced shall not be interlined or defaced, but all amendments denoting the page and line shall be entered on a separate paper by the Secretary of the Committee of the Whole. The same shall be agreed to by the Committee, and the report filed as otherwise provided in these Rules for committee reports. After report, the bill or other matter may be again debated and shall be subject to be again amended by the Senate. The quorum for a Committee of the Whole shall be the same as for the Senate, and when the Committee of the Whole shall rise, the roll shall be called to ascertain the presence of a quorum of the Senate.

4.5—Conference committee report

- (1) The report of a committee of conference appointed pursuant to Rule 1.5 shall be read to the Senate on two (2) consecutive legislative days, and on the completion of the second (2nd) reading the vote shall be on the adoption or rejection thereof and final passage of the measure as recommended. During the last five (5) days of a regular session the report shall be read only once. Copies of conference committee reports shall be available to the membership twelve (12) hours prior to the time such report is scheduled to be taken up on the Senate floor.
- (2) The report must be acted on as a whole, being adopted or rejected, and each report shall include a statement sufficiently explicit to inform the Senate of the effect of the report on the measure to which it relates.
- (3) Except when the Senate is voting on a proposition, reports of committees of conference shall always be in order.

4.6—Reference generally; final days for introduction of bills and resolutions

- (1) All bills, including those that are strictly local in nature and those prefiled in accordance with these Rules, shall be referred by the President to appropriate committees or standing subcommittees.
- (2) Bills received by the President during a regular session and within three (3) weeks next preceding the convening of a regular session shall be referred within seven (7) days. Upon failure of the President to reference such bills within this limitation, they shall be referred to committees as may be recommended by the sponsor. In the event of extended absence of the President or the President's disability or incapacity, the President Pro Tempore shall assume the duty of referring bills.
- (3) If the President has not previously designated a standing subcommittee of reference, the chairman of the standing committee shall promptly determine whether such measure shall initially be considered by the full committee, a standing subcommittee, or a select subcommittee appointed by the chairman. The chairman, in referring a bill to a subcommittee, shall specify the number of days available for consideration. If subreference is to a standing subcommittee, the chairman of the standing committee shall promptly report this reference and the time allowed for consideration to the Secretary of the Senate on forms provided for the purpose.
- (4) The reference of a bill that appears to be local in nature shall be to the Committee on Rules and Calendar to determine whether such measure is local in nature for reference purposes and whether it responds to the legal requirements of a local bill.
- (5) A bill is local in nature for referencing purposes if it does not substantially alter a law of general application throughout the state and it either affects no more than one (1) county or relates to a special district that is located wholly within no more than two (2) counties.
- (6) When the Committee on Rules and Calendar, through staff analysis, has determined that the bill is not local in nature for referencing purposes, the committee shall report such determination to the President of the Senate, who shall refer such bill to an appropriate standing committee for hearing. Such report shall be made within fifteen (15) legislative days from date of reference to the Committee on Rules and Calendar. When the Committee on Rules and Calendar, through staff analysis, has determined that a bill is local in nature for referencing purposes and that it responds to the legal requirements of a local bill, the bill shall be reported and referred to the calendar on local bills.

(7) All Senate bills filed for introduction after 12:00 noon on the first (1st) day of the regular session (except for the general appropriations bill, local bills, Senate resolutions, and joint resolutions) shall be referred, but shall be withheld from the committee or committees of reference until after adjournment sine die of such session.

(8) A motion to waive this Rule shall be referred to the Committee on Rules and Calendar for a hearing and its advisory recommendation as to the existence of an emergency reasonably compelling consideration of a bill notwithstanding this Rule and a recommendation shall be reported back to the Senate. The Secretary shall number them to provide identity and control until a permanent number can be affixed. These bills shall be known as prefiled bills and considered in accordance with these Rules.

4.7—Reference to more than one committee; effect

In case of multiple reference of a bill, it shall be considered by each committee separately in the order in which the multiple reference is made. However, if any committee to which the bill is referred makes an unfavorable report on said bill, that report shall be filed with the Senate and no further consideration given by other committees except by a two-thirds (2/3) vote of those Senators present. If a committee reports a bill favorably with committee substitute, other committee consideration shall be directed to the substitute and not to the original.

4.8—Reference of bills affecting appropriations, revenue, retirement, or county or municipal spending

All bills authorizing or substantially affecting appropriations shall be reviewed by the Committee on Appropriations or a standing subcommittee of that committee. All bills authorizing or substantially affecting tax revenue shall be reviewed by the Committee on Finance and Taxation. All bills substantially affecting a state-funded or state-administered retirement system shall be reviewed by the Committee on Governmental Oversight and Productivity. All bills which are affected by the provisions of Article VII, Section 18 of the State Constitution shall be reviewed by the Committee on Comprehensive Planning, Local and Military Affairs. A bill that is amended to substantially affect appropriations or tax revenue, a state retirement program, or expenditures or revenues as set forth in Article VII, Section 18 of the State Constitution shall, before being placed before the Senate for final passage, be reviewed along with all amendments by the Committee on Appropriations or a standing subcommittee of that committee, by the Committee on Finance and Taxation, by the Committee on Governmental Oversight and Productivity, or by the Committee on Comprehensive Planning, Local and Military Affairs, as appropriate for review and recommendation to the Senate, which review during the last ten (10) days of a regular session shall be accomplished within twenty-four (24) hours.

4.9—Reference of resolutions

All resolutions shall be referred by the President to a standing committee, except resolutions on Senate organization, resolutions of condolence and commemoration that are of a statewide nonpolitical significance, or concurrent resolutions recalling a bill from the Governor's office. These may be considered on motion and adopted at time of introduction without reference, except that resolutions of condolence or commemoration that are of a statewide nonpolitical significance, may be shown as introduced, read, and adopted by publication in full in the Journal.

4.10—Reference to different committee or removal

(1) When the President has referred a bill, the Chairman of the Committee on Rules and Calendar may move for reference to a different committee or for removal from any committee after the sponsor of the bill has filed a card with the Rules Chairman signed by the chairman of the affected committee and the Chairman of the Committee on Rules and Calendar. This motion may be adopted by a two-thirds (2/3) vote of those Senators present.

(2) The Chairman of the Committee on Appropriations may move to withdraw a bill from that committee provided the bill has been reported favorably by a standing subcommittee and a card requesting such withdrawal has been filed with the committee by the sponsor and approved by the chairman. This motion may be adopted by a two-thirds (2/3) vote of those Senators present.

4.11—Papers of miscellaneous nature

Papers of a miscellaneous nature addressed to the Senate may, at the discretion of the President, be read, noted in the Journal, or filed with an appropriate committee. When there is a demand to read a paper other than one on which the Senate is called to give a final vote and the same is objected to by any Senator, it shall be determined by a majority vote of those Senators present.

4.12—Reading of bills and joint resolutions

Each bill or joint resolution shall receive three (3) separate readings on three (3) separate days previous to a vote on final passage unless decided otherwise by a two-thirds (2/3) vote of those Senators present as provided in Article III, Section 7 of the State Constitution.

4.13—Reading of concurrent resolutions and memorials

Each concurrent resolution or memorial shall receive two (2) separate readings on two (2) separate days previous to a voice vote on adoption, unless decided otherwise by a two-thirds (2/3) vote of those Senators present. If the reading on the second (2nd) day is dispensed with by this waiver, the concurrent resolution or memorial may be read the second (2nd) time by title only.

4.14—Reading of Senate resolutions

On introduction each Senate resolution shall be read by title only and shall be read an additional time in full before the question is put on adoption by voice vote, except that resolutions of condolence or commemoration that are of a statewide nonpolitical significance may be shown as introduced, read, and adopted by publication in full in the Journal.

4.15—Referral or postponement on third (3rd) reading

On the third (3rd) reading of a bill or joint resolution, it shall not be referred or committed (except to the Committee on Appropriations) or amended (except a corrective or title amendment) except by a two-thirds (2/3) vote of those Senators present, nor shall the vote on passage be postponed to a day certain without the consent of a majority of those Senators present.

4.16—Consideration out of regular order

A bill shall be considered out of regular order on the calendar on unanimous consent of those Senators present obtained in the following manner: Prior to the consideration of the motion, the Senator moving for unanimous consent of those Senators present shall orally give the membership not less than fifteen (15) minutes' notice of his or her intention to move and shall specify the number of the bill or joint resolution and its position on the calendar. On entertainment of the motion, the moving Senator shall be allowed one (1) minute to explain his or her purpose, and unanimous consent of those Senators present shall be given or refused without further debate.

4.17—Special Order Calendar; Consent Calendar

(1) Commencing on the first (1st) day of a regular session of the Legislature permitted under the State Constitution and during any extension directed by the membership of the Legislature as permitted under the State Constitution, the Chairman of the Committee on Rules and Calendar, the Vice-Chairman of the Committee on Rules and Calendar, the Majority Leader, the Minority Leader, and two (2) other members of the committee designated by the chairman shall on each day submit a Special Order Calendar determining the priority for consideration of bills. Except for the first (1st) day, each Special Order Calendar shall be for the second (2nd) succeeding legislative day on which the Senate meets, and this calendar may include bills that had been scheduled for Special Order on the previous legislative day. No other bills shall be considered until this Special Order Calendar has been completed by the Senate, except that any bill appearing on this calendar may be stricken by a two-thirds (2/3) vote of those Senators present or any bill appearing on the general calendar of bills on second (2nd) or third (3rd) reading may be added to the end of the Special Order Calendar by the same vote. All bills set as Special Order for consideration at the same hour shall take precedence in the order in which they were given preference.

(2) A two-thirds (2/3) vote of those Senators present shall be required to establish a Special Order except as provided in this Rule. Notice of time and place for the establishment of the Special Order shall be published in the daily calendar; provided, during the last ten (10) days of each regular session notice of time and place may be given by announcement from the floor.

(3) The Committee on Rules and Calendar, with the approval of the President, may submit a Consent Bill Calendar to be held in conjunction with the Special Order Calendar. When such a day is designated, all bills appearing on the Consent Calendar shall be considered in their order of appearance. However, if an objection by any member shall cause such bill to be temporarily postponed, it retains its order on the regular calendar. A Senator may designate only a bill that he or she sponsors or a House bill for the Consent Calendar. A committee chairman may designate a committee bill sponsored by his or her committee. All Consent Calendar bills must have appeared on the printed Senate calendar.

4.18—Calendar of local bills

Local bills shall be disposed of according to the calendar of bills of a local nature and shall be considered only at such time as determined by the Committee on Rules and Calendar or its designees and approved by the President.

4.19—Order after second (2nd) reading

The order of disposition of a bill that has been read the second (2nd) time shall be its reference to the engrossing clerk to be engrossed after all questions relative to it while on second (2nd) reading have been disposed of, and the same shall be immediately engrossed and placed on the calendar of bills on third (3rd) reading to be considered on some succeeding legislative day. No bill shall be committed to the engrossing clerk or placed on the calendar of bills on third (3rd) reading unless all motions relative to it and placed, by the President, before the Senate have been disposed of. Amendments filed with the Secretary, the adoption of which have not been formally moved, shall not be construed to be pending so as to deter such advancement. A bill shall be available for its third (3rd) reading when it has been read a second (2nd) time on a previous day and no motion left pending. Bills calendared for second (2nd) or third (3rd) reading shall not be considered on such reading until reached on the calendar and appropriately read to the Senate pursuant to order of the President.

4.20—Enrolling

The Secretary of the Senate shall be responsible for the enrolling of all bills. After enrollment, all bills shall be signed by the President and the Secretary and the enrolling report shall be published in the Journal.

4.21—Veto messages

As required by Article III, Section 8 of the State Constitution, if the originating house votes to re-enact a vetoed measure, whether in a regular or special session, and the other house does not consider or fails to re-enact the vetoed measure, no further consideration by either house at any subsequent session may be taken. If a vetoed measure is presented at a special session and the originating house does not consider it, the measure will be available for consideration at any intervening special session and until the end of the next regular session. All veto messages shall be referred to the Committee on Rules and Calendar.

4.81—Claim bills

(1) Claim bills are of two (2) types: excess judgment claims filed pursuant to section 768.28(5), Florida Statutes, and equitable claims filed without an underlying excess judgment.

(2) All claim bills shall be filed with the Secretary of the Senate on or before August 1 in order to be considered by the Senate during the next regular session, except that members elected to the Senate during a general election may have sixty (60) days from the date of that election to file a claim bill(s). Senators currently serving who are re-elected during a general election are not subject to the immediately preceding provision relating to sixty (60) days. A motion to introduce a claim bill notwithstanding the claim bill filing deadline, shall be referred to the Committee on Rules and Calendar for a hearing and a determination as to the existence of an emergency reasonably compelling consideration of a claim bill notwithstanding the claim bill filing deadline. A House claim bill which does not have a Senate companion claim bill timely filed under this Rule shall not be considered by the Senate. Any motion to consider a House claim bill which does not have a timely filed Senate companion bill shall be referred to the Committee on Rules and Calendar for a hearing and a determination as to the existence of an emergency reasonably compelling consideration of a claim bill notwithstanding the claim bill filing deadline. The determination by the Committee on Rules and Calendar shall be reported back to the Senate. Upon a determination by the committee that an emergency does exist, the motion may be considered by the Senate and must be adopted by a two-thirds (2/3) vote of those Senators present.

(3) All claim bills shall be referred by the President to one (1) or more committees for review. If the President determines that a de novo hearing is necessary to determine liability, proximate cause, and damages, a Special Master shall conduct such hearing pursuant to reasonable notice. Discovery procedures shall be governed by the Florida Rules of Civil Procedure and the Florida Evidence Code, as applicable. The Special Master shall administer an oath to all witnesses, accept relevant documentary and tangible evidence properly offered, tape record the proceedings, and prepare a final report containing findings of fact, conclusions of law, and recommendations no later than December 1. The report shall be signed by the Special Master who shall be available, in person, to explain his or her report to the committees and to the Senate.

(4) On receipt of the Special Master's report and recommendations, if any, the Secretary shall, under the President's initial reference, deliver each claim bill with the report attached, to the committee or committees of reference.

(5) Stipulations entered into by the parties are not binding on the Special Master, the Senate, or its committees.

(6) The hearing and consideration of a claim bill shall be held in abeyance until all available administrative and judicial remedies have been exhausted; except that the hearing and consideration of a claim that is still within the judicial or administrative systems may proceed where the parties have executed a written settlement agreement.

RULE FIVE

VOTING

5.1—Taking the yeas and nays

The President shall declare all votes, but, if five (5) Senators immediately question a vote by a show of hands, the President shall take the vote by yeas and nays or electronic roll call. When taking yeas and nays on any question, the electronic roll call system may be used and shall have the force and effect of a roll call taken as provided in these Rules. Also this system may be used to determine the presence of a quorum. When the Senate is ready to vote on a question requiring roll call and the vote is by electronic roll call, the President shall state: "The Secretary will unlock the machine and Senators prepare to vote." When sufficient time has elapsed for each Senator to vote, the President shall say: "Have all voted?" And, after a short pause, shall state: "The Secretary shall now lock the machine and record the vote." When the vote is completely recorded, the President shall announce the result to the Senate; and the Secretary shall enter in the Journal the result. When the Senate is equally divided, the question shall be lost.

5.2—Change of vote

(1) After the result of the vote has been announced by the President, a Senator with unanimous consent of those Senators present may change his or her vote or vote on the measure except that no such change of vote or vote shall be valid where such vote would alter the final passage of the measure until the measure shall first have been recalled to the Senate for further consideration. Records of such requests shall be available at the Secretary's desk through the session. If no objections are raised before the close of the business that day, requests will be accepted.

(2) The original roll call shall not be altered, but late votes and change of votes shall be recorded under the original roll call in the Journal. On request of a Senator before considering other business, the President shall order a verification of a vote.

5.3—Casting vote for another

No Senator shall cast a vote for another Senator unless the Senator is present in the chamber area and requests the casting of said vote, nor shall a person not a Senator cast a vote for a Senator. In addition to such penalties as may be prescribed by law, a Senator who shall without such authorization vote or attempt to vote for another Senator may be punished as the Senate may deem proper. Also, a person not a Senator who shall vote wrongfully in the place of a Senator shall be excluded from the Chamber for the remainder of the session.

5.4—Pairing

Pairing shall be permitted only on the absence of a Senator excused from attendance and shall specifically state, in writing, the bill or bills to which the pair applies.

5.5—Explanation of vote

No Senator shall be permitted to explain his or her vote during a roll call but may submit his or her explanation in writing and file it with the Secretary. This explanation shall be entered in the Journal.

5.6—Election by ballot

In all cases of ballot, a majority of the votes cast shall be necessary to an election. If, however, no one is elected on the first three (3) ballots, the names after the top two (2) in number of votes received on the third (3rd) tally shall be dropped, and the Senate shall ballot on the two (2) names remaining.

RULE SIX

MOTIONS AND PRECEDENCE

6.1—Motions; how made, withdrawn

Every motion may be made orally. On request of the President, a Senator shall submit his or her motion in writing. After a motion has been stated or read by the President, it shall be deemed to be in possession of the Senate and, without a second, shall be disposed of by vote of the Senate. The mover may withdraw a motion, except a motion to reconsider, as hereinafter provided, at any time before the same has been amended or before the vote shall have commenced.

6.2—Motions; precedence

(1) When a question is under debate, the President shall receive no motion except:

- (a) To adjourn
 1. Instantly
 2. At a time certain
- (b) Questions of privilege
- (c) To take a recess
- (d) To proceed to the consideration of executive business
- (e) To reconsider
- (f) To limit debate
- (g) To temporarily postpone
- (h) To postpone to a day certain
- (i) To commit to the Committee of the Whole
- (j) To commit to a standing committee
- (k) To commit to a select committee
- (l) To amend
- (m) To postpone indefinitely

which shall have precedence in the descending order given. A motion to discharge Senate conferees and to appoint or instruct said conferees as set forth in Rule 2.19 is a motion of the highest privilege and this motion shall have precedence over all other questions except motions to adjourn and questions of privilege.

(2) The President shall propound all questions in the order in which they are moved unless the subsequent motion be previous in nature.

(3) When a motion is under consideration, but prior to the commencement of the vote, a substitute motion shall be in order. Only one (1) substitute shall be entertained and the substitute shall be in the same order of precedence.

6.3—Division of question

A Senator may call for a division of a question when the sense will admit of it. A motion to strike out and insert shall be deemed indivisible; a motion to strike out, being lost, shall neither preclude amendment nor a motion to strike out and insert.

6.4—Reconsideration generally

(1) When a main question (the vote on passage of a measure, including a vote on a veto message, confirmation of executive appointments, removal or suspension from office) has been decided by the Senate, a Senator voting with the prevailing side may move for reconsideration of the question on the same or the next legislative day on which the Senate meets.

- (a) If the question has been decided by voice vote, any Senator may so move.
- (b) When a majority of those Senators present vote in the affirmative on any question but the proposition be lost because it is one in which the concurrence of more than a majority of those Senators present is necessary for adoption or passage, any Senator may move for reconsideration.

(2) Such motion may be made pending a motion to adjourn or if it is time to adjourn.

- (a) Consideration of a motion to reconsider shall be a special and continuing order of business for the Senate when it next meets on a legislative day succeeding that on which the motion was made and, unless considered on said day, shall be considered abandoned. If the Senate shall refuse to reconsider or, on reconsideration, shall confirm its first decision, no further motion to reconsider shall be in order except on unanimous consent of those Senators present.
- (b) During the last five (5) days of a regular session, a motion to reconsider shall be made and considered on the same day.

6.5—Reconsideration; vote required

A majority of the affirmative votes of those Senators present shall be required to adopt a motion to reconsider.

6.6—Reconsideration; debate

Debate shall be allowed on a motion to reconsider only when the question which it is proposed to reconsider is debatable. When the question is debatable no Senator shall speak thereon more than once nor longer than five (5) minutes.

6.7—Reconsideration; collateral matters and procedural motions

A motion to reconsider a collateral matter must be disposed of during the course of the consideration of the main subject to which it is related, and such motion shall be out of order after the Senate has passed to other business. Reconsideration of a procedural motion shall be considered on the same day on which it is made.

6.8—Reconsideration; Secretary to hold for period

The Secretary shall hold all bills for the period after passage during which reconsideration may be moved. The adoption of any motion to waive the Rules by a two-thirds (2/3) vote of those Senators present and immediately certify any bill or joint resolution to the House shall be construed as releasing the measure from the Secretary's possession for the period of reconsideration and shall, thereafter, preclude reconsideration. During the last five (5) calendar days allowed under the State Constitution for a regular session and during any extensions thereof, or during any special session, the bills shall be immediately transmitted to the House. Messages relating to Senate action on House amendments or to conference committee reports shall be transmitted forthwith.

6.9—Motion to indefinitely postpone

The adoption of a motion to indefinitely postpone a measure shall dispose of it for the duration of the legislative session and all extensions thereof. A motion to postpone consideration to a time beyond the last day allowed under the State Constitution for the current legislative session shall be construed as a motion to indefinitely postpone. Motions to indefinitely postpone shall not be applicable to collateral matters.

RULE SEVENAMENDMENTS*7.1—General form; notice; manner of consideration

(1) No amendment to a bill on the Special Order Calendar prepared prior to the time a session of the Senate has convened shall be considered by the Senate unless the amendment was filed with the Secretary of the Senate no later than 5:00 p.m. the day prior to the day that session was called to order. Copies of such amendments shall be made reasonably available by the Secretary of the Senate before the session, upon request, to the members and to the public. Neither a technical amendment nor an amendment which is prepared by a member during the session at which it is offered need be so noticed.

(2) Amendments shall be filed with the Secretary on forms prescribed by the Secretary but shall be considered only after sponsors gain recognition from the President to move their adoption, except that the chairman of the committee (or, in the chairman's absence, the vice-chairman or any member thereof) reporting the measure under consideration shall have preference for the presentation of committee amendments. An amendment shall be deemed pending only after its sponsor has been recognized by the President and has moved its adoption. Amendments that have been filed with the Secretary of the Senate but have not been formally moved for adoption shall not be deemed to be pending.

(3) No proposition on a subject different from that under consideration shall be admitted under color of amendment. The following bills are out of order and shall not be admitted or considered under color of amendment to a bill on the calendar and under consideration by the Senate:

- (a) Bills which have received an unfavorable committee report.
- (b) Bills which have been withdrawn from further consideration by the sponsor.
- (c) Bills the substance of which have not been reported favorably by all committees of reference.

Amendments covered by this Rule shall be substantially the same and identical as to specific intent and purpose as the measure residing in the committee or committees of reference.

7.2—Adoption

Amendments may be adopted on second (2nd) reading by a majority vote of those Senators present and on third (3rd) reading by a two-thirds (2/3) vote of those Senators present. Amendments to the title or corrective amendments may be decided, without debate, by a majority vote of those Senators present on third (3rd) reading.

7.3—Sequence of amendments to amendments

(1) An amendment to a pending amendment may be received, but until it is disposed of, no other motion to amend will be in order, except a substitute amendment or an amendment to the substitute. Such amendments are to be disposed of in the following order:

- (a) Amendments to the amendment are acted on before the substitute is taken up. Only one (1) amendment to the amendment is in order.
- (b) Amendments to the substitute are next voted on.
- (c) The substitute then is voted on.

(2) The adoption of a substitute amendment in lieu of an original amendment shall be treated and considered as an amendment to the bill itself.

7.4—Deleting everything after enacting clause

A proposal to delete everything after the enacting clause, or the resolving clause of a bill or resolution, and insert new matter of the same general subject as stated in the original title shall be deemed proper and germane and shall be treated as an amendment.

7.5—Amendment by section

The adoption of an amendment to a section shall not preclude further amendment of that section. If a bill is being considered section by section or item by item, only amendments to the section or item under consideration shall be in order. The President, in recognizing Senators for the purpose of moving the adoption of amendments, shall endeavor to cause all amendments to section 1 to be considered first, then all those in section 2, and so on. After all sections have been considered separately, the entire bill shall be open for amendment.

7.6—Printing in Journal

All amendments taken up by the Senate unless withdrawn shall be printed in the Journal except that an amendment to the general appropriations bill constituting an entirely new bill shall not be printed until the filing of the conference committee report. All item amendments to the general appropriations bill shall be printed.

7.7—Senate amendments to House bills

A House bill may be amended in the same manner as a Senate bill. If a House bill is amended, the same shall be noted by the Secretary on the jacket before it is reported to the House.

7.8—House amendments to Senate bills

(1) After the reading of a House amendment to a Senate bill, the Senate may:

- (a) Amend the House amendment,
- (b) Concur in the House amendment,
- (c) Refuse to concur in the House amendment and ask the House to recede, or
- (d) Request a conference committee.

(2) The adoption of all the foregoing motions shall be by majority vote of those Senators present.

7.9—House refusal to concur in Senate amendment

(1) If the House shall refuse to concur in a Senate amendment to a House bill, the following motions shall be in order and shall be privileged in the order named:

- (a) That the Senate recede,
- (b) That the Senate insist and ask for a conference committee, or
- (c) That the Senate insist.

(2) The adoption of any of the foregoing motions shall be by majority vote of those Senators present.

RULE EIGHTDECORUM AND DEBATE*8.1—Decorum and debate

When a Senator desires to speak or deliver a matter to the Senate, the Senator shall rise at his or her seat and address himself or herself to "Mr. or Madam President," and, on being recognized, may address the Senate from his or her desk or from the well of the Senate, and shall confine any remarks to the question under debate, avoiding personality. A Senator shall not address or refer to another Senator by his or her first name. A Senator shall use the appellation of Senator or such appellation and the district number of the Senator being addressed, or a Senator may also use such appellation and the surname of the Senator referred to or addressed.

8.2—Presiding officer's power of recognition

When two (2) or more Senators rise at once, the presiding officer shall name the Senator who is first to be recognized.

8.3—Interruptions; when allowed

(1) No Senator shall be interrupted by another without the consent of the Senator who has the floor, except by:

- (a) Rising to a question of privilege;
- (b) Rising to a point of order requiring an immediate ruling;
- (c) Rising to appeal a decision of the presiding officer concerning a point of order (if the appeal is made immediately following the decision);
- (d) Rising to make a parliamentary inquiry requiring an immediate reply; or
- (e) Rising to question the existence of a quorum.

(2) The presiding officer shall strictly enforce this Rule.

8.4—Senator speaking, rights

(1) When a member is speaking and another member interrupts to request recognition, the presiding officer may permit the person rising to state why he or she desires the floor. If the question the member desires to raise is entitled to precedence, the member originally speaking shall relinquish the floor until the question having precedence is disposed of. The member then is entitled to resume the floor.

(2) The Senator making a debatable motion or the primary introducer of a bill shall have five (5) minutes in order to close debate.

8.5—Limit on speaking

No Senator shall speak longer than thirty (30) minutes without yielding the floor, except by consent of a majority of those Senators present.

8.6—Limitation of debate

When a measure is under debate by the Senate, a Senator may move to limit debate, and such motion shall be decided without debate, except the introducer of the measure shall have five (5) minutes to discuss said motion. If, by a two-thirds (2/3) vote of those Senators present, the question is decided in the affirmative, debate shall be limited accordingly.

8.7—Points of order, parliamentary inquiry, definitions

A point of order is the parliamentary device that is used to require a deliberative body to observe its own rules and to follow established parliamentary practice. A parliamentary inquiry is the device for obtaining a predetermination of a rule or a clarification thereof and may be presented in hypothetical form.

8.8—Questioning right to vote

A point of order questioning the right of a member to vote on account of interest may be raised after the vote has been recorded and before the result is announced.

8.9—Appeals

Taking exception to a ruling of a presiding officer shall be by appeal. An appeal from a decision of the presiding officer must be made promptly before debate has concluded or other business has intervened. A point of order on any other question is not in order while an appeal is pending, but a point of order relating to the appeal may be raised; and, if the determination of the appeal is dependent on this point, it may be decided by the presiding officer. This second (2nd) decision is also subject to appeal.

8.10—Appeals, debatable

An appeal from a decision of the presiding officer on a point of order is debatable even though the question from which it arose was not debatable.

8.11—Questions of privilege

(1) Questions of privilege shall be:

- (a) Those affecting the rights of the Senate collectively, its safety, dignity, and the integrity of its proceedings; and
- (b) The rights, reputation, and conduct of Senators individually, in their representative capacity only.

(2) These shall have precedence over all other questions except motions to adjourn. The question shall not be recognized during the debate on a bill. A question of privilege affecting either house collectively takes precedence over a question of privilege affecting an individual member.

RULE NINE

LOBBYING

9.1—Those required to register

All persons (except those specifically exempted) who seek to encourage the passage, defeat, or modification of legislation in the Senate or before its committees shall, before engaging in such activity, register as prescribed by law and the Joint Rules of the Florida House and Senate.

9.2—Obligations of lobbyist

(1) A lobbyist shall supply facts, information, and opinions of principals to legislators from the point of view from which he or she openly declares. A lobbyist shall not offer or propose anything to improperly influence the official act, decision, or vote of a legislator.

(2) A lobbyist, by personal example and admonition to colleagues, shall uphold the honor of the legislative process by the integrity of his or her relationship with legislators.

(3) A lobbyist shall not knowingly and willfully falsify a material fact or make any false, fictitious, or fraudulent statement or representation or make or use any writing or document knowing the same contains any false, fictitious, or fraudulent statements or entry.

9.3—Lobbyists' requirements

A lobbyist shall adhere to the statutory requirements for lobbyists provided by law and the Joint Rules.

9.4—Advisory opinions

(1) A lobbyist, when in doubt about the applicability and interpretation of this Rule in a particular context, may submit in writing a statement of the facts involved to the Committee on Rules and Calendar and may appear in person before said committee.

(2) The Committee on Rules and Calendar may render advisory opinions to any lobbyist who seeks advice as to whether or not the facts in a particular case will constitute a violation of these Rules. All opinions shall delete names and be numbered, dated, and published in the Journal of the Senate.

9.5—Compilation of opinions

The Secretary of the Senate shall keep a compilation of all advisory opinions of the Committee on Rules and Calendar.

9.6—Penalties for violations

Separately from any prosecutions or penalties otherwise provided by law, any person determined to have violated the requirements of this Rule shall be censured, reprimanded, placed on probation, or prohibited from lobbying for the duration of the session and from appearing before any committee of the Senate. Said determination shall be made by a majority of the Senate and on recommendation of the Committee on Rules and Calendar. The Committee on Rules and Calendar, before making said recommendation, shall conduct a hearing, after notifying the person alleged to have violated this Rule and granting such person an opportunity to appear at the hearing.

9.7—Committees to be diligent

Committees shall be diligent to ascertain whether those who appear before them, in other than an obviously individual capacity, have conformed with the requirements of this Rule, the Joint Rules, and the Laws of Florida, and shall report violations. No committee member shall knowingly permit an unregistered lobbyist to be heard.

RULE TEN

10.5—Gallery

No food or beverages shall be allowed in the gallery at any time.

RULE ELEVENCONSTRUCTION AND WAIVER OF RULES*11.1—Interpretation of Rules

It shall be the duty of the President, or the presiding officer for the time being, to interpret all Rules. Motions for the previous question and to lay on the table shall not be entertained.

11.2—Waiver and suspension of Rules

These Rules shall not be waived or suspended except by a two-thirds (2/3) vote of those Senators present. The motion, when made, shall be decided without debate. A motion to waive a Rule requiring unanimous consent of the Senate shall be construed to be an amendment to these Rules and shall be referred to the Committee on Rules and Calendar except by unanimous consent of those Senators present.

11.3—Changes in Rules

All proposed actions touching the Rules and Order of Business in the Senate shall be first referred to the Committee on Rules and Calendar, which shall report as soon as practicable. Consideration of such a report shall always be in order. The Committee on Rules and Calendar may originate reports and resolutions dealing with these Rules and the Order of Business, and such power shall be exclusive, provided, however, that any report made pursuant to this Rule may be amended by a two-thirds (2/3) vote of those Senators present.

11.4—Majority action

Unless otherwise indicated by these Rules or the State Constitution, all action by the Senate shall be by majority vote of those Senators present.

11.5—Uniform construction

When in these Rules reference is made to “two-thirds (2/3) of those present,” “two-thirds (2/3) vote,” “two-thirds (2/3) of the Senate,” “two-thirds (2/3) of those voting,” etc., these shall all be construed to mean two-thirds (2/3) of those Senators present, except that two-thirds (2/3) of the Senate shall be required to consider additional proposed legislation in any extended session in accordance with Article III, Section 3 of the State Constitution.

11.6—General

When used in these Rules, the following words shall, unless the text otherwise indicates, have the following respective meaning: the singular always includes the plural. Except where specifically provided otherwise, the use of the word “bill” or “measure” means a bill, joint resolution, concurrent resolution, resolution, or memorial.

RULE TWELVEEXECUTIVE SESSIONS, APPOINTMENTS,
SUSPENSIONS, AND REMOVALS*PART ONE—EXECUTIVE SESSIONS*12.1—Executive session; authority

The business of the Senate shall be transacted openly and not in executive session except under conditions pursuant to Article III, Section 4(b) of the State Constitution.

12.2—Executive session; purpose

Pursuant to Article III, Section 4(b) of the State Constitution, the Senate may resolve itself into executive session for the sole purpose of considering appointment, removal, or suspension. No one shall be in attendance except Senators and the Secretary of the Senate, who shall be sworn not to disclose any executive business without consent of the Senate.

12.3—Executive session; vote required

When the Senate agrees, by a majority of those Senators present, that specified appointments, removals, or suspensions shall be considered in executive session, such shall be calendared for formal consideration by the Senate.

12.4—Work product confidentiality

All information and remarks including committee work product concerning the character and qualification, together with the vote on each appointment, removal, or suspension considered in executive session shall be kept a secret except information on which the bans of secrecy were lifted by the Senate while in executive session.

12.5—Separate Journal

A separate Journal shall be kept of executive proceedings of the Senate, and no information regarding same shall be made public except by order of the Senate or by order of a court of competent jurisdiction.

12.6—Violation of Rule

Violation of the above Rules as to the secrecy of the proceedings of executive sessions shall be considered by the Senate as sufficient grounds for unseating the offending Senator.

PART TWO—APPOINTMENTS, SUSPENSIONS, AND REMOVALS*12.7—Procedure

(1) Except as otherwise herein provided, on receipt by the Senate of appointments or suspensions on which action by the Senate is required, the President shall refer each to the Committee on Ethics and Elections, other appropriate committee or to a Special Master appointed by the President. Either one shall make inquiry or investigation and hold hearings, as appropriate, and advise the President and the Senate with a recommendation and the necessity for deliberating the subject in executive session. Reports and findings of the committee or the Special Master appointed pursuant hereto are advisory only and shall be made to the Senate President. The report of the committee or the Special Master may be privileged and confidential. The President may order the report presented to the Senate in either open or executive session, or the President may refer it to the Committee on Rules and Calendar for its consideration and report. When the report is presented to the Senate in open session or received by the Committee on Rules and Calendar, the report shall lose its privileged and confidential character.

(2)(a) An executive suspension of a public official who is under indictment or who has pending against him or her criminal charges filed by the appropriate prosecuting officer in a court of record, or an executive suspension of a public official that is challenged in a court shall be referred to the Committee on Ethics and Elections, other appropriate committee or Special Master; however, all inquiry or investigation or hearings thereon shall be held in abeyance and the matter shall not be considered by the Senate, the committee or the Special Master until the pending charges have been dismissed, or until final determination of the criminal charges at the trial court level, or until the final determination of a court challenge, if any, and the exhaustion of all appellate remedies for any of the above.

- (b) In a suspension case in which the criminal charge is not for the alleged commission of a felony, the committee or the Special Master, and the Senate may proceed if the written consent of counsel for the Governor and of the suspended official is obtained.

(3) The Governor and the suspended official shall be given reasonable notice in writing of any hearing or pre-hearing conference before the committee or Special Master.

(4) The suspended official may file with the Secretary of the Senate, no later than ten (10) days prior to the first (1st) pre-hearing conference, or no later than the date set by the committee or Special Master if no pre-hearing conference is held, all written defenses or matters in avoidance of the charges contained in the suspension order.

(5) When it is advisable, the committee or Special Master may request that the Governor file a bill of particulars containing a statement of further facts and circumstances supporting the suspension order. Within twenty (20) days after the receipt of such bill of particulars by the suspended officer, that officer shall file with the committee or Special Master a response to the Governor's bill of particulars. Such response shall specifically admit or deny the facts or circumstances set forth in the Governor's bill of particulars, and may further make such representation of fact and circumstances or assert such further defenses as are responsive to the bill of particulars or as may bear on the matter of the suspension.

(6) The committee or Special Master may provide for a pre-hearing conference with counsel for the Governor and the suspended official to narrow the issues involved in the suspension. At such conference, both the Governor and the suspended official shall set forth the names and addresses of all the witnesses they intend to call, the nature of their testimony, and photocopies of all documentary and a description of all physical evidence that will be relied on by the parties at the hearing. Each shall state briefly what each expects to prove by such testimony and evidence.

(7) Subject to the limitations of Rule 12.7(2) the committee or Special Master shall institute action by transmitting a notice of hearing for a pre-hearing conference or a hearing on the merits within three (3) months after the effective date of the suspension order. If a suspension order is referred to the committee or Special Master but is held in abeyance in accordance with Rule 12.7(2), the committee or Special Master shall institute action within three (3) months after the termination of pending proceedings as described in Rule 12.7(2). The Senate may act on the recommendations of the committee or Special Master at any time it is in session but shall do so no later than the end of the next regular session of the Legislature.

(8) For the purposes of Article IV, Section 7(b) of the State Constitution, the Senate may find that the suspended official has committed a felony notwithstanding that a court may have withheld adjudication of guilt upon which the suspension order is based in whole or in part.

(9) If the Governor files an amended suspension order, the attention of the Senate, the committee, or the Special Master shall be directed at the amended suspension order.

(10) Within sixty (60) days after the Senate has completed final action on the recommendation of the committee or Special Master, any party to the suspension matter may request the return, at that party's expense, of any exhibit, document, or other evidence introduced by that party. After the expiration of sixty (60) days from the date the Senate has completed final action, the committee or Special Master may dispose of such exhibits or other evidence.

12.8—Special Master; appointment

The President may appoint and contract for the services of a Special Master to perform such duties and make such reports in relation to suspensions and removals as he or she shall prescribe.

12.9—Special Master; floor privilege

With consent of the President, the Special Master may have the privilege of the Senate floor to present and explain the report and answer questions as to the law and facts involved.

12.10—Issuance of subpoenas and process

The committee and the Special Master shall each have the authority to request the issuance of subpoenas, subpoenas duces tecum, and other necessary process under Rule 2.2. The committee chairman and the Special Master may each administer all oaths and affirmations in the manner prescribed by law to witnesses who shall appear to testify on matters pending before the committee or Special Master.

12.11—Rule takes precedence

In any situation where there is a direct conflict between the provisions of Rule Twelve (12) and part V of chapter 112, Florida Statutes, the Rule, derived from Article III, Section 4(a) of the State Constitution, shall take precedence.

RULE THIRTEEN

SPECIAL SESSION

13.1—Applicability of Senate Rules

All Senate Rules in effect on adjournment of the next preceding regular session shall apply and govern during special sessions except to the extent specifically modified or contradicted herein.

13.2—Sessions of the Senate

The Senate shall meet each legislative day at 9:00 a.m. or pursuant to a schedule adopted by the Committee on Rules and Calendar and approved by the President.

13.3—Committee meetings; schedule, notice

Committee meetings shall be coordinated and scheduled by the Committee on Rules and Calendar, or a subcommittee thereof. Meetings of standing committees and standing subcommittees scheduled in accordance with this Rule may be held following an announcement by the chairman while the Senate is in session, and by posting a notice on a bulletin board in the public corridor leading into the Senate Chamber for two (2) hours in advance of the meeting. The notice posted shall include the date, time, and place of the meeting together with the name of the introducer, short title, and number of each bill to be considered. All other provisions for publication of notice of committee meetings are suspended.

13.4—Delivery for introduction

All bills and other measures for introduction may be delivered to the Secretary of the Senate at any time.

13.5—Committee reports

Every bill, joint resolution, resolution, and memorial referred to a standing committee or committees shall be reported to the Secretary before 4:30 p.m. of the third (3rd) calendar day from the day of reference (the day of reference not being counted as the first (1st) day) unless otherwise ordered by the Senate by majority vote of those Senators present. Any bill on which no committee report is filed may be withdrawn from such committee and calendared on point of order. Every bill, joint resolution, resolution, and memorial referred to a standing subcommittee shall be reported to the standing committee at a time specified by the chairman of the standing committee which shall not be beyond the time allowed herein.

13.6—Conference committee reports

(1) The report of a committee of conference appointed pursuant to Rule 1.5 shall be read to the Senate on two (2) consecutive legislative days and, on the completion of the second (2nd) reading, the vote shall be on the adoption or rejection thereof and final passage of the measure as recommended. During the last two (2) days of a special session the report shall be read only once.

(2) The report must be acted on as a whole, being adopted or rejected, and each report shall include a statement sufficiently explicit to inform the Senate of the effect of the report on the measure to which it relates.

(3) Conference committees shall consider and report only on the differences existing between the Senate and the House, and no substance foreign to the bills before the conferees shall be included in the report or considered by the Senate.

(4) A conference committee may only report by recommending the adoption of a series of amendments to the House or Senate bill that was the subject of the conference, or it may offer an amendment deleting everything after the enacting clause of any such bill referred to the committee. In any event the conference committee may recommend, as part of its report, the adoption or rejection of any or all of the amendments theretofore adopted by either House.

(5) When a bill or joint resolution is referred to a conference committee and the conferees on the part of the Senate report an inability to agree, no action of the Senate taken prior to such reference to a conference committee shall preclude further action on said measure as the Senate may determine.

(6) After Senate conferees have been appointed for thirty-six (36) hours and have failed to make a report, it is a motion of the highest privilege to move to discharge said Senate conferees and to appoint new conferees, or to instruct said Senate conferees.

13.7—Reconsideration

A motion to reconsider shall be made and considered on the same day.

13.8—Special Order Calendar

The Committee on Rules and Calendar may submit a Special Order Calendar determining the time and priority for consideration of bills.

RULE FOURTEEN

SEAL AND INSIGNIA

14.1—Seal and insignia

(1) There shall be an official seal of the Senate. The seal shall be the size of a circle of two and one-half inches diameter having in the center thereof a fan of the five flags which have flown over Florida, above a disc containing the words: "In God We Trust" arched above a gavel, quill, and scroll. At the top of the field of flags shall be the word: "Seal." At the bottom shall be the date: "1838." The perimeter of the seal shall contain the words: "Senate" and "State of Florida."

(2) There shall be an official coat of arms for the Senate. The coat of arms shall contain a fan of the five flags that have flown over Florida, above the Great Seal of Florida. At the base of the coat of arms shall be the words: "The Florida Senate."

(3) The Senate Seal, the Senate Coat of Arms, official Senate stationery, calling cards, and facsimiles thereof, may be used only in connection with official Senate business.

Statement by the Secretary

As instructed by the Senate, necessary technical changes have been made to the Senate Rules as adopted at the November 21, 2000, Organization Session. Additional technical changes have been made to provide uniform and parallel construction, and paragraph identifiers have been added for reference purposes only.

JOINT RULES

JOINT RULE ONE

(As amended April 1998)

LOBBYIST REGISTRATION AND REPORTING

1.1—Those Required to Register; Exemptions; Committee Appearance Records

(1) All lobbyists before the Florida Legislature must register with the Lobbyist Registration Office in the Division of Legislative Information Services of the Office of Legislative Services, referred to in Joint Rule One as the Lobbyist Registration Office. Registration is required for each principal represented.

(2) As used in this rule, unless the context otherwise requires:

(a) "Designated lobbyist" means the lobbyist who is appointed, by a principal represented by two or more lobbyists, to file expenditure reports that include lobbying expenditures made directly by the principal.

(b) "Legislative action" means introduction, sponsorship, testimony, debate, voting, or any other official action on any measure, resolution, amendment, nomination, appointment, or report of, or any matter which may be the subject of action by, either house of the Legislature or any committee thereof.

(c) "Lobby" or "lobbying" means influencing or attempting to influence legislative action or nonaction through oral or written communication or an attempt to obtain the goodwill of a member or employee of the Legislature.

(d) "Lobbyist" means a person who is employed and receives payment, or who contracts for economic consideration, for the purpose of lobbying, or a person who is principally employed for governmental affairs by another person or governmental entity to lobby on behalf of that other person or governmental entity. An employee of the principal is not a "lobbyist" unless the employee is principally employed for governmental affairs. "Principally employed for governmental affairs" means that one of the principal or most significant responsibilities of the employee to the employer is overseeing the employer's various relationships with government or representing the employer in its contacts with government. Any person employed by any executive, judicial, or quasi-judicial department of the state or any community college of the state who seeks to encourage the passage, defeat, or modification of any legislation by personal appearance or attendance before the House of Representatives or the Senate, or any member or committee thereof, is a lobbyist.

(e) "Payment" or "salary" means wages or any other consideration provided in exchange for services, but does not include reimbursement for expenses.

(f) "Principal" means the person, firm, corporation, or other entity that has employed or retained a lobbyist. When an association has employed or retained a lobbyist, the association is the principal; the individual members of the association are not principals merely because of their membership in the association.

(3) For purposes of this rule, the terms "lobby" and "lobbying" do not include any of the following:

(a) Response to an inquiry for information made by any member, committee, or staff of the Legislature.

(b) An appearance in response to a legislative subpoena.

(c) Advice or services that arise out of a contractual obligation with the Legislature, a member, a committee, any staff, or any legislative entity to render the advice or services where such obligation is fulfilled through the use of public funds.

(d) Representation of a client before the House of Representatives or the Senate, or any member or committee thereof, when the client is subject to disciplinary action by the House of Representatives or the Senate, or any member or committee thereof.

(4) For purposes of registration and reporting, the term "lobbyist" does not include any of the following:

(a) A member of the Legislature.

(b) A person who is employed by the Legislature.

(c) A judge who is acting in that judge's official capacity.

(d) A person who is a state officer holding elective office or an officer of a political subdivision of the state holding elective office and who is acting in that officer's official capacity.

(5) When a person, whether or not the person is registered as a lobbyist, appears before a committee of the Legislature, that person must submit a Committee Appearance Record on a form to be provided by the respective house.

1.2—Method of Registration

(1) Each person who is required to register under Joint Senate and House Rule 1.1 must register on forms furnished by the Lobbyist Registration Office, on which that person must state, under oath, that person's full legal name, driver's license number, business address, and phone number, the name and business address of each principal that person represents, the areas of that person's legislative interest, and the extent of any direct business association or partnership that person has with any member of the Legislature. The Lobbyist Registration Office or its designee is authorized to acknowledge the oath of any person who registers in person. Any changes to the information provided in the registration form must be reported to the Lobbyist Registration Office in writing within 15 days on forms furnished by the Lobbyist Registration Office.

(2) Any person required to register must do so with respect to each principal prior to commencement of lobbying on behalf of that principal. At the time of registration, the registrant shall provide a statement signed by the principal or principal's representative that the registrant is authorized to represent the principal. Any person required to register must renew the registration annually, in accordance with Joint Senate and House Rule 1.3.

(3) If a principal is represented by two or more lobbyists, the first lobbyist who registers to represent that principal shall be the designated lobbyist. The principal may change its designated lobbyist at any time in writing on forms furnished by the Lobbyist Registration Office. Upon termination of the designated lobbyist's representation, the principal shall notify the Lobbyist Registration Office within 15 days, on forms furnished by the office, of the appointment of a new designated lobbyist.

(4) A lobbyist shall promptly send a notice to the Lobbyist Registration Office, on forms furnished by the Lobbyist Registration Office, cancelling the registration for a principal upon termination of the lobbyist's representation of that principal. A notice of cancellation takes effect the day it is received by the Lobbyist Registration Office. Notwithstanding this requirement, the Lobbyist Registration Office may remove the name of a lobbyist from the list of registered lobbyists if the principal notifies the Lobbyist Registration Office that the lobbyist is no longer authorized to represent that principal. Each lobbyist shall file an expenditure report for each period during any portion of which he or she was registered, and each principal shall ensure that an expenditure report is filed for each period during any portion of which the principal was represented by a registered lobbyist.

(5) The Lobbyist Registration Office shall publish on the first Monday of each regular session and weekly thereafter through the end of that session a compilation of the names of persons who have registered and the information contained in their registrations.

(6) The Lobbyist Registration Office shall retain all original documents submitted under this section.

(7) A person who is required to register under this rule, or who chooses to register, shall be considered a lobbyist of the Legislature for the purposes of sections 112.3148 and 112.3149, Florida Statutes, relating to the reporting of and the prohibited receipt of gifts and honoraria.

1.3—Registration Costs; Exemptions

(1) To cover the costs incurred in administering this joint policy, each person who registers under Joint Senate and House Rule 1.1 must pay an annual registration fee to the Lobbyist Registration Office. The annual period runs from January 1 to December 31. These fees must be paid at the time of registration.

(2) The following persons are exempt from paying the fee, provided they are designated in writing by the agency head or person designated in this subsection:

(a) Two employees of each department of the executive branch created under chapter 20, Florida Statutes.

(b) Two employees of the Fish and Wildlife Conservation Commission.

(c) Two employees of the Executive Office of the Governor.

(d) Two employees of the Commission on Ethics.

(e) Two employees of the Florida Public Service Commission.

(f) Two employees of the judicial branch designated in writing by the Chief Justice of the Florida Supreme Court.

(3) The annual fee is up to $50 per each house for a person to register to represent one principal and up to an additional $10 per house for each additional principal that the person registers to represent. The amount of each fee shall be established annually by the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives. The fees set shall be adequate to ensure operation of the lobbyist registration and reporting operations of the Lobbyist Registration Office. The fees collected by the Lobbyist Registration Office under this joint policy shall be deposited in the State Treasury and credited to the Legislative Lobbyist Registration Trust Fund specifically to cover the costs incurred in administering this joint policy.

1.4—Periodic Reports Required

(1) REPORTING DATES.—Each person who registers pursuant to Joint Senate and House Rule 1.2 must submit to the Lobbyist Registration Office, on forms provided by the Lobbyist Registration Office and for each reporting period required by this rule, a signed and certified statement listing all lobbying expenditures during the reporting period and the sources of funds for those expenditures as required in this rule. Reporting statements shall be filed no later than 45 days after the end of the reporting period. Only two reports are required each calendar year. The first report shall disclose expenditures made from January 1 through June 30. The second report shall disclose expenditures for July 1 through December 31. It is the intent of this rule that each reporting period be separate from the other reporting period and that each expenditure be reported just once. In addition, any reporting statement may be filed by electronic means, when feasible.

(2) TIMELINESS OF REPORTS.—Reports shall be filed not later than 5 p.m. of the report due date. However, any report that is post-marked by the United States Postal Service no later than midnight of the due date shall be deemed to have been filed in a timely manner. A certificate of mailing obtained from and dated by the United States Postal Service at the time of the mailing, or a receipt from an established courier company which bears a date on or before the due date, shall be proof of mailing in a timely manner.

(3) LOBBYIST'S EXPENDITURE REPORT.—

(a) The Lobbyist's Expenditure Report shall include the name of the lobbyist and the name of the principal on whom the report is prepared. Expenditures for the reporting period shall be reported by the following categories: Food and Beverages; Entertainment; Research; Communications; Media Advertising; Publications; Travel; Lodging; Special Events; and Other. For each expenditure category, the report must identify the amount paid directly by the lobbyist, directly by the principal, initiated or expended by the lobbyist and paid for by the principal, or initiated or expended by the principal and paid for by the lobbyist. Forms shall be provided by the Lobbyist Registration Office.

(b) A lobbyist shall file a Lobbyist's Expenditure Report for each principal represented.

(c) When a principal has two or more lobbyists, the designated lobbyist will be responsible for filing a report that discloses the expenditures made directly by the principal and the expenditures of the designated lobbyist on behalf of the principal. The designated lobbyist is responsible for making a good faith effort to obtain the figures reported as lobbying expenditures made by the principal.

(d) When there are multiple lobbyists, only the designated lobbyist is to report expenditures made directly by the principal. When there are multiple lobbyists, only unduplicated amounts should be reported for expenditures initiated or expended by the lobbyist and paid for by the principal.

(e) The principal is responsible for the accuracy of the figures submitted to the lobbyist for reporting, and the lobbyist is responsible for the accuracy of the figures reported as lobbying expenditures made by that lobbyist. The principal shall sign the expenditure report submitted by the principal's sole or designated lobbyist.

(4) EXPENDITURES.—

(a) Definitions.—

1. “Expenditure” means a payment, distribution, loan, advance, reimbursement, deposit, or anything of value made or controlled, directly or indirectly, by a lobbyist or principal for the purpose of lobbying. Expenditures shall be accounted for and reported on an accrual accounting basis.

2. “Accrual accounting basis” means the method of accounting that recognizes expenses during the period in which they are incurred regardless of when they are actually paid.

(b) Goodwill expenditures.—An expenditure shall be considered to have been intended to be for the purpose of engendering goodwill if it is a gift, an entertainment, any food or beverage, or any other item or service of similar personal benefit to a member or an employee of the Legislature, unless the member or employee is a relative of the lobbyist. A relative is an individual who is related to the member or employee as father, mother, son, daughter, brother, sister, uncle, aunt, first cousin, nephew, niece, husband, wife, father-in-law, mother-in-law, son-in-law, daughter-in-law, brother-in-law, sister-in-law, stepfather, stepmother, stepson, stepdaughter, stepbrother, stepsister, half brother, half sister, grandparent, great grandparent, grandchild, great grandchild, step grandparent, step great grandparent, step grandchild, or step great grandchild; any person who is engaged to be married to the member or employee or who otherwise holds himself or herself out as or is generally known as the person whom the member or employee intends to marry or with whom the member or employee intends to form a household; or any other natural person having the same legal residence as the member or employee.

(c) Expenditure categories.—Each reporting individual shall make a good faith effort to report an expenditure and to report it in the appropriate category. If an expenditure fits in two or more categories, it shall be reported in the category to which the expense primarily relates. When an expenditure is not within any defined category, it should be reported in the “Other” category. The categories of expenditures used in this rule are as follows:

1.a. “Communications” means dissemination of information, including, but not limited to, by means of the following:

- I. Audio-visual materials; and
- II. Signs, placards, banners, buttons, promotional materials, and other display materials; together with any associated production services.

b. This category does not include media advertising, publications, or research.

2. “Entertainment” means amusement or recreation, including, but not limited to, sporting, hunting, fishing, theatrical, artistic, cultural, and musical activities or events.

3. “Food and Beverages” means meals, snacks or other edible substances, or liquids for drinking, including services associated therewith.

4. “Lodging” means sleeping or living accommodations for an individual for one or more nights.

5. “Media Advertising” means newspaper and magazine advertising, radio and television advertising, and outdoor advertising, including production services and copywriting services.

6. “Other” means any item or service that is not included within one of the specified categories, but does not include any item or service that is not required by law to be reported.

7. “Publications” means mass-produced, printed materials, including, but not limited to, magazines, newsletters, brochures, or pamphlets, which expressly encourage persons to communicate with members or employees of the Legislature to influence the official actions of members or employees of the Legislature or which are designed to communicate with members or employees of the Legislature.

8. “Research” means procurement of information relating to a specific issue, regardless of the form or medium in which that information is provided, including, but not limited to, surveys, bill-tracking services, information services, periodicals, and consultants or consultant services to gather data or statistics.

9. “Special Events” means large-scale occurrences, including, but not limited to, receptions, banquets, dinners, or legislative days, to which more than 250 persons are invited and for which the expenditures associated with hosting the occurrence are negotiated with a catering service or facility at a single, set price or which include multiple expenditure categories.

10. “Travel” means transporting an individual from one place to another, regardless of the means used.

(d) Items that are not expenditures.—The term “expenditure” does not include:

1. Contributions or expenditures reported pursuant to chapter 106, Florida Statutes; campaign-related personal services provided without compensation by individuals volunteering their time; or any other contribution or expenditure by a political party.

2. A lobbyist's or principal's salary, office expenses, and personal expenses for lodging, meals, and travel. If the principal is a firm, corporation, association, or person, other than a natural person, the office expenses of the entity and the salaries of the officers of the entity, as well as expenses for their lodging, meals, and travel, are not lobbying expenditures. Office expenses include, but are not limited to, payment or obligation for rent or mortgage, utilities, postage, telephone service, employees' salaries, furniture, copies, computers, software, paper supplies, and custodial or maintenance services. Communications, publications, and research are office expenses if performed or produced by the lobbyist or principal or their employees. If those functions are performed by independent contractors, other than the lobbyist or principal or an affiliate controlled by the principal, they are expenditures reportable under the appropriate expenditure category.

3. If an expense is incurred for a nonlobbying business purpose and the product of that expense is later used for a lobbying purpose, a reportable expenditure is not created.

(e) Valuation of expenditures.—

1. In calculating the amount of aggregate expenditures, a lobbyist or principal may, prior to prorating, round each entry up or down to the nearest $5. A record is not required to be maintained for any amount that rounds to zero.

2. The amount to be reported for an expenditure shall be determined using the actual cost to the lobbyist or principal or other person making the payment on behalf of the lobbyist or principal, less any compensation received by such lobbyist or principal in payment for the object of the expenditure. If a lobbyist or principal makes a contribution to an expenditure by another lobbyist or principal, the person making the contribution shall report the amount of the contribution as an expenditure, and the person receiving the contribution shall subtract the value of the contribution from the expenditure to be reported by that person.

3. When a lobbyist has multiple principals, expenditures made for the purpose of engendering goodwill that are not attributable to one principal may be prorated among the lobbyist's principals or may be attributed to one principal.

4. When a lobbyist has multiple principals, expenditures for research or other expenditures that may benefit several principals may be reported to the principal for whom the research was done or other expenditures incurred or prorated to those principals that may benefit from the research or other expenditures.

5. The amount reported as an expenditure shall not include the amount of any additional expenses that are required as a condition precedent to eligibility to make an expenditure if the amount expended for the condition precedent is primarily intended to be for a purpose other than lobbying or if it is paid to a charitable organization. If the amount expended for the condition precedent is primarily intended to be for a lobbying purpose and is not paid to a charitable organization, the total amount of the expenditure shall be reported as a lobbying expenditure. Initiation fees, membership fees, and booster fees are examples, although not exclusive examples, of additional expenses that are regularly required as conditions precedent for eligibility to make other expenditures.

6. A person providing transportation in a private automobile shall be considered to be making an expenditure at the rate of 29 cents per mile, and the amount of an expenditure made for transportation provided in other private conveyances shall be determined in accordance with the provisions of section 112.3148(7), Florida Statutes.

7. A person providing lodging in a private residence shall be considered to be making an expenditure of $29 per night.

8. Expenditures made for more than one person may be attributed, on a pro rata basis, among all of the persons for whom the expenditure is made.

(5) AGGREGATION OF EXPENDITURE FIGURES.—For each reporting period, the Lobbyist Registration Office shall aggregate the expenditures reported by all of the lobbyists for a principal represented by more than one lobbyist. Following the last report for each calendar year, the Lobbyist Registration Office shall provide a total of expenditures reported as spent by and on behalf of each principal for that calendar year.

1.5—Penalties for Late Filing

(1) Upon determining that a report is late, the person designated to review the timeliness of reports shall immediately notify the lobbyist as to the failure to timely file the report and that a fine is being assessed for each late day. The fine shall be $50 per day per report for each late day, not to exceed $5,000 per report.

(2) Upon receipt of the report, the person designated to review the timeliness of reports shall determine the amount of the fine due based upon the earliest of the following:

- (a) When a report is actually received by the lobbyist registration and reporting office;
- (b) When the report is postmarked;
- (c) When the certificate of mailing is dated; or
- (d) When the receipt from an established courier company is dated.

(3) Such fine shall be paid within 30 days after the notice of payment due is transmitted by the Lobbyist Registration Office, unless appeal is made to the Lobbyist Registration Office. The moneys shall be deposited into the Legislative Lobbyist Registration Trust Fund.

(4) A fine shall not be assessed against a lobbyist the first time any reports for which the lobbyist is responsible are not timely filed. However, to receive this one-time fine waiver, all reports for which the lobbyist is responsible must be filed within 30 days after notice that any reports have not been timely filed is transmitted by the Lobbyist Registration Office. A fine shall be assessed for any subsequent late-filed reports.

(5) A lobbyist, a lobbyist's legal representative, or the principal of a lobbyist may request that the filing of an expenditure report be waived upon good cause shown, based on unusual circumstances. The request must be filed with the General Counsel of the Office of Legislative Services, who shall make a recommendation concerning the waiver request to the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives. The President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives may grant or deny the request. The registration of a lobbyist who fails to timely pay a fine is automatically suspended until the fine is paid or waived.

(6) The person designated to review the timeliness of reports shall notify the director of the division of the failure of a lobbyist to file a report after notice or of the failure of a lobbyist to pay the fine imposed.

1.6—Appeal of Fines; Hearings; Unusual Circumstances

(1) A lobbyist wishing to appeal or dispute a fine imposed in accordance with Joint Senate and House Rule 1.5 shall file with the Lobbyist Registration Office a notice of appeal within 30 days after the notice of payment due is transmitted by the Lobbyist Registration Office, setting out with specificity the unusual circumstances surrounding the failure to file on the designated due date. A request for a hearing on the matter before the General Counsel of the Office of Legislative Services must be made within the same 30-day period. The notice of appeal may be accompanied by any documentation or evidence supporting the claim. Failure to timely file a notice of appeal as described in this subsection shall constitute a waiver of the right to appeal or to dispute a fine.

(2) The President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives may waive the fine in whole or in part for good cause shown based on the unusual circumstances presented by the lobbyist.

(3) The term "unusual circumstances" for the purposes of this rule means uncommon, rare, or sudden events over which the person has no control and which directly result in the failure to meet the filing requirements.

(4) The Department of Banking and Finance shall collect any fine that is not timely paid.

1.7—Questions Regarding Registration

(1) A person may request in writing an informal opinion from the general counsel of the Office of Legislative Services as to the application of this rule to a specific situation. The general counsel shall issue the opinion within 10 days after receiving the request. The informal opinion may be relied upon by the person who requested the informal opinion. A copy of each informal opinion which is issued shall be provided to the presiding officer of each house. The committees designated under section 11.045(4), Florida Statutes, may revise any informal opinion rendered by the general counsel through an advisory opinion to the person who requested the informal opinion. The advisory opinion shall supersede the informal opinion as of the date the advisory opinion is issued.

(2) Persons in doubt about the applicability or interpretation of this rule may submit in writing the facts for an advisory opinion to the committee of either house designated pursuant to section 11.045(4), Florida Statutes, and may appear in person before the committee in accordance with section 11.045(4), Florida Statutes.

1.8—Open Records

All of the lobbyist registration and expenditure reports received by the Lobbyist Registration Office shall be available for public inspection and for duplication at reasonable cost.

1.9—Records Retention and Inspection

Each lobbyist and each principal shall preserve for a period of 4 years all accounts, bills, receipts, computer records, books, papers, and other documents and records necessary to substantiate lobbying expenditures. Upon receipt of a complaint based upon the personal knowledge of the complainant made pursuant to the Senate Rules or Rules of the House of Representatives, any such documents and records may be inspected when authorized by the President of the Senate or the Speaker of the House of Representatives, as applicable. The person authorized to perform the inspection shall be designated in writing and shall be a member of The Florida Bar or a certified public accountant licensed in Florida. Any information obtained by such an inspection may only be used for purposes authorized by law, this rule, Senate Rules, or Rules of the House of Representatives, which purposes may include the imposition of sanctions against a person subject to this rule or Senate Rules or the Rules of the House of Representatives. Any employee who uses that information for an unauthorized purpose is subject to discipline. Any member who uses that information for an unauthorized purpose is subject to discipline under the applicable rules of each house. The right of inspection may be enforced by appropriate writ issued by any court of competent jurisdiction.

Heavenly Father, we humbly come in your divine presence this morning with our hearts and heads bowed before you, thanking you for allowing us once again to see another beautiful day. We thank you for assembling these great men and women, whom you have ordained to be leaders and representatives of your people.

We pray this morning for your forgiveness and seek divine blessings upon this Senate and their families. Father, let the spirit of love and unity embrace this Senate Chamber. DOCTOR OF THE DAY

SPECIAL RECOGNITION

Upon request of the President, Senator Silver joined the President at the rostrum.

On motion by Senator Jones, the following remarks were ordered spread upon the Journal:

Mr. President: Senators, we had a proclamation yesterday in joint session honoring the new Dean of the Legislature. The Dean of the Senate used to be Senator Childers, but of course, with term limits he is no longer here. I think we are all honored that the Dean of the Legislature, someone who has a lot of experience and who has been a friend to all of us, is a member of this Senate. We are fortunate to have him for the next two years, before Senator Silver and myself, along with some of the rest of us, are term limited out as well. I did not have a chance to present this proclamation to him yesterday and I wanted to do that now. If anybody wishes to be brave and make any remarks about our good friend, then they are welcome to do so. So Senator, congratulations.

Senator Latvala, you are recognized.

Senator Latvala: I want to say to my best friend in this body, Senator Silver, that he certainly deserves the honor that has been bestowed upon him as Dean of the Legislature. He has been a great mentor to me and a lot of other folks that are here. I think the important thing is that, with only one or two exceptions that some of us have seen in the back where he sits—under the press ledge—he always retains a good humor. He is always willing to work with us in trying to do the people's work and do the best thing for the people of the State of Florida. It's really an honor and a privilege for me to be able to serve with Ron.

Mr. President: Well said, Senator. Senator Jones, you are recognized.

Senator Jones: Thank you Mr. President. While I have sat next to Senator Silver for the last eight years, I'm not sure if you want to congratulate me or give me condolences. But actually, it has really been an honor. Senator Silver is a person that I have watched go through a whole host of different emotions based upon the issue of the day. I'll tell you one thing about him, and I think it's true for just about all of us, but in particular for Ron Silver, he's a person who deeply cares about this process, who deeply cares about the people of Florida, and deeply cares about this Senate. He cares about every vote that he makes. He wants to make sure at every turn that he's doing what is the best thing that he can possibly do for the people of Florida. I tell you, that emotion and that feeling, and that personal dedication has rubbed off on me. Senator Silver, I want you to know how much I appreciate being next to you, and listening to you, and consulting with you, and having fun with you all these years. I get to enjoy you for another two sessions. I'm going to miss you a lot when it's all over. You've helped me understand how important the collegiality of this Senate is and how deeply the friendships run, even after we leave. It's no surprise that during the reunions that everybody comes back and spends time because of those feelings. It's been wonderful being next to you.

Mr. President: Well said. Senator King, you are recognized.

Senator King: Thank you, Mr. President. You know what goes around, comes around. In 1986 when I was elected, Ron was the Majority Leader. I learned a great deal from him. Everything he does, he does with gusto. One of the things I learned from him was that if you are in it, be in it to win, but have a good time doing it, and when it's all over, win or lose, remember that this is a collegial body and go have a good time. Now I will swear to the fact that Ron knows how to have a good time. In fact, some of my best memories have been when Ron and I have gone and had a good time. But more importantly, and I think that Senator Jones probably said it best, and I'll just pick up on it. When it's all said and done, and we're gone, and we're back home telling grandchildren about what it was like to serve, we're going to be talking about the relationships for whatever reason and on whatever issues, fun or work, that we had with Senator Silver. Ron, you've been a treasure to us for a long, long time.

Mr. President: Senator Rossin, you are recognized.

Senator Rossin: Thank you very much, Mr. President. Senator King mentioned grandchildren. Later this session my grandchild, Jonathan, will be a page in the Senate. Jonathan had the distinct advantage of meeting and getting to know Senator Silver several years ago. I thought it was important for him to come back and see the Senate in actual operation and to see Senator Silver in his Senatorial role. But in all seriousness, Senator Silver has been a friend to all of us, I think, in this body. He has exemplified what this Senate is all about—the passion, the interest, the concern not only for each other, but for the State of Florida. I think for everyone of us, it has been a pleasure and honor to serve with you. Thank you very much, Senator Silver.

Mr. President: Senator Silver, there are not many people that have the opportunity to speak following hearing something that might be akin to their own eulogy. Senator Silver is recognized.

Senator Silver: I was a little more concerned after making it through Senator Latvala and Senator King and my good friend, Senator Jones and then Senator Rossin. I would hope that we wouldn't go any further because there are some other stories that some other people might have.

Mr. President, especially to you, I want to tell you how much and how meaningful that ceremony was yesterday. I know you initiated it. I know the Speaker joined in with you to do that. I'm very, very appreciative to you. Service in this Legislature is very special. Not very many people get to do this. Only one person in my district, as everywhere else, gets to come up here and represent the entire district. We have approximately 350,000 people in that district. I still think about this when we have the opening session, about how grateful I am to my constituents for sending me up here. This is the twenty-third year of sending me back and most of the time without opposition, which to me is still befuddling because we have so many activists and so many people that want to do this. I am just so grateful to them. But to you, Mr. President, and to this entire body, I want to sincerely thank you for your recognition yesterday. I look forward to working with each and every one of you for the rest of the session. Thank you very much.

PRAYER

The following prayer was offered by the Rev. Donald L. Roberts, President, Goodwill Industries Manasota, Inc., Sarasota:

Holy and Eternal God, the God of politics and politicians, we pray you would hear our prayer.

Well God, we are back at it again. The Senate is back in session and my, how our world has changed. Senator Toni Jennings is history and Senator John McKay is our very present reality.

The Governor wants us to cut taxes and services. The House runs off on its own tangents and President John has his own unique point of view.

O God, we confess we know our schools have infrastructure problems out the wazoo, our mental health strategies need to be updated, Medicare and Medicaid increases are the bull in our budget's china shop and our very own constitution prohibits rational tax strategies.

What is a Senate to do, O God, what is a Senate to do? I guess, O God, like usual in the remainder of our sixty days, we will simply muddle through. And once our muddling through is over, and the smoke has cleared and the session is over and we have gone home to face our constituencies, we might actually gain some clarity on what we collectively, have wrought here in Tallahassee.

Actually God, we don't like to think of ourselves as people who "muddle-through," but we confess we are Legislators, elected by the people of Florida to do this job. As Legislators, O God, we know our jobs are to create enough consensus to pick up at least 51 percent of the vote. While we hate to admit it, we know when we have to create consensus, the trade off is our once sharp, clear, well defined legislative visions have the tendency to become muddled, muddy messes we call legislation.

So in the end, O God, all we can really do is trust that your holy will be done, because we must confess we have the dickens of a time getting our individual wills done.

So, Holy Father God, open this Senate with your presence, enliven it with your spirit, consecrate it with a high calling to service and forgive us for our muddling through. It's honestly the best we can give you and the people of Florida. That, O God, is our story and we are sticking to it. Amen.

PLEDGE

Senate Pages Adriana Fazzano of Coral Springs, Jamie Champion of Tallahassee and Megan Griffin of Bradenton, led the Senate in the pledge of allegiance to the flag of the United States of America.

The President recognized Dr. Maureen Campbell, sponsored by Senator Campbell, as doctor of the day. Dr. Campbell specializes in Emergency Medicine.

PRAYER

The following prayer was offered by the Rev. Charles Pettis, Pastor, Fresh Fire Worship Center, Tallahassee:

Our gracious heavenly Father, we thank you for this day which you have created for us to enjoy as well as conduct the business of our state. We humbly acknowledge that "Thine is the kingdom, and the power, and the glory both now and forevermore." We thank you Father, for our state and our nation. We pray that your blessing of wisdom and knowledge rest upon our national leaders as well as those that have responded to the call of official duty in this Senate by their friends, colleagues and neighbors.

We pray that the vital decisions and business that will take place in this chamber today and hereafter will carry with it the blessings of you, our eternal God. We pray that each vote cast today will be a vote for the betterment of the people of our great state; that it will not be a vote that would represent prejudice, greed or immorality, but a vote for character, family values and equality.

We acknowledge the awesome responsibility that rests upon the shoulders of those that will make these decisions, therefore we pray for their strength, courage, boldness and determination to do that which is right, proper and good. We trust in you, our God, knowing that your eyes run to and fro throughout the whole earth to show yourself strong in those whose hearts are perfect toward you.

And, now Father, we ask that you would touch Senator Miller's daughter, LéJean Miller. She is seriously ill. We know that you are in control of all things. We ask, God, that you minister to her greatly in her illness.

We also pray, Father, for Senator Smith's Dad who is critically ill and we put him into your hands, believing that you are God enough to change those things that seem so imminent to man. Now Father, we commit this day and its affairs, along with our lives, to your perfect will. Amen.

PRAYER

The following prayer was offered by Dr. Allen Harrod, Pastor, First Baptist Church, Orange Park:

Our Father, we come into your presence today. We acknowledge our great need of you in every area of life. I pray for these men and these women as they make difficult decisions, Lord, as they lead in the governing of our state. Help us to have a sense of your government, your divine and sovereign leadership over our lives. Make us good men and good women. Help us to look to you to find you as a source of all life and the source of all help.

I pray for the needs of every person here today. Lord, I have needs and each person in this room has needs and our need most of all is you. I pray as decisions are made, Lord, that there will be a sense of your leadership over their lives, and we pray that you might be honored; you might be glorified in all that we do. In Christ's name we pray. Amen.

SPECIAL ORDER CALENDAR

On motion by Senator King—

CS for CS for SB 1356—A bill to be entitled An act relating to public records; providing an exemption from the public-records law for photographs and video and audio recordings of an autopsy; providing an exemption for certain members of the immediate family or a local, state, or federal agency; prohibiting the custodian of a photograph or video or audio recording of an autopsy from permitting any person to view or duplicate a photograph or video or audio, except pursuant to court order and under the direct supervision of the custodian or his or her designee; exempting criminal and administrative proceedings from the act; requiring certain persons to be parties in a request for access to a photograph or video or audio recording of an autopsy; providing penalties; providing for future legislative review and repeal; providing a finding of public necessity; providing a retroactive effective date.

—was read the second time by title.

Amendment 1 (381678)(with title amendment)—Delete everything after the enacting clause and insert:

Section 1. (1) A photograph or video or audio recording of an autopsy in the custody of a medical examiner is confidential and exempt from the requirements of section 119.07(1) and s. 24(a), Art. I of the State Constitution, except that a surviving spouse may view and copy a photograph or video or listen to or copy an audio recording of the deceased spouse's autopsy. If there is no surviving spouse, then the surviving parents shall have access to such records. If there is no surviving spouse or parent, then an adult child shall have access to such records. A local governmental entity, or a state or federal agency, in furtherance of its official duties, pursuant to a written request, may view or copy a photograph or video or may listen to or copy an audio recording of an autopsy, and unless otherwise required in the performance of their duties, the identity of the deceased shall remain confidential and exempt. The custodian of the record, or his or her designee, may not permit any other person to view or copy such photograph or video recording or listen to or copy an audio recording without a court order. For the purposes of this section, the term “medical examiner” means any district medical examiner, associate medical examiner, or substitute medical examiner acting pursuant to ch. 406, as well as any employee, deputy, or agent of a medical examiner or any other person who may obtain possession of a photograph or audio or video recording of an autopsy in the course of assisting a medical examiner in the performance of his or her official duties.

(2)(a) The court, upon a showing of good cause, may issue an order authorizing any person to view or copy a photograph or video recording of an autopsy or to listen to or copy an audio recording of an autopsy and may prescribe any restrictions or stipulations that the court deems appropriate.

In determining good cause, the court shall consider whether such disclosure is necessary for the public evaluation of governmental performance; the seriousness of the intrusion into the family’s right to privacy and whether such disclosure is the least intrusive means available; and the availability of similar information in other public records, regardless of form. In all cases, the viewing, copying, listening to or other handling of a photograph or video or audio recording of an autopsy must be under the direct supervision of the custodian of the record or his or her designee.

(2)(b) A surviving spouse shall be given reasonable notice of a petition filed with the court to view or copy a photograph or video recording of an autopsy or a petition to listen to or copy an audio recording, a copy of such petition, and reasonable notice of the opportunity to be present and heard at any hearing on the matter. If there is no surviving spouse, then such notice must be given to the deceased’s parents, and if the deceased has no living parent, then to the adult children of the deceased.

(3)(a) Any custodian of a photograph or video or audio recording of an autopsy who willfully and knowingly violates this section commits a felony of the third degree, punishable as provided in section 775.082, section 775.083, or section 775.084, Florida Statutes.

(b) Any person who willfully and knowingly violates a court order issued pursuant to this section commits a felony of the third degree, punishable as provided in section 775.082, section 775.083, or section 775.084, Florida Statutes.

(c) A criminal or administrative proceeding is exempt from this section, but unless otherwise exempted, is subject to all other provisions of Chapter 119, Florida Statutes, provided however that this section does not prohibit a court in a criminal or administrative proceeding upon good cause shown from restricting or otherwise controlling the disclosure of an autopsy, crime-scene, or similar photograph or video or audio recordings in the manner prescribed herein.

(4) This exemption shall be given retroactive application.

(5) The exemption in this section is subject to the Open Government Sunset Review Act of 1995 in accordance with section 119.15, Florida Statutes, and shall stand repealed on October 2, 2006, unless reviewed and saved from repeal through reenactment by the Legislature.

Section 2. The Legislature finds that it is a public necessity that photographs and video and audio recordings of an autopsy be made confidential and exempt from the requirements of section 119.07(1), Florida Statutes, and Section 24(a) of Article I of the State Constitution. The Legislature finds that photographs or video or audio recordings of an autopsy depict or describe the deceased in graphic and often disturbing fashion. Such photographs or video or audio recordings may depict or describe the deceased nude, bruised, bloodied, broken, with bullet or other wounds, cut open, dismembered, or decapitated. As such, photographs or video or audio recordings of an autopsy are highly sensitive depictions or descriptions of the deceased which, if heard, viewed, copied or publicized, could result in trauma, sorrow, humiliation, or emotional injury to the immediate family of the deceased, as well as injury to the memory of the deceased. The Legislature notes that the existence of the World Wide Web and the proliferation of personal computers throughout the world encourages and promotes the wide dissemination of photographs and video and audio recordings 24 hours a day and that widespread unauthorized dissemination of autopsy photographs and video and audio recordings would subject the immediate family of the deceased to continuous injury. The Legislature further notes that there continue to be other types of available information, such as the autopsy report, which are less intrusive and injurious to the immediate family members of the deceased and which continue to provide for public oversight. The Legislature further finds that the exemption provided in this act should be given retroactive application because it is remedial in nature.

Section 3. This act shall take effect upon becoming a law, and shall apply to all photographs or video or audio recordings of an autopsy, regardless of whether the autopsy was performed before or after the effective date of the act.

And the title is amended as follows:

Delete everything before the enacting clause and insert: A bill to be entitled An act relating to public records; providing an exemption from the public records law for photographs and video and audio recordings of an autopsy; providing an exemption for certain members of the immediate family, or a representative thereof, or a state or federal agency; prohibiting the custodian of a photograph or video or audio recording of an autopsy from permitting any person to view or duplicate a photograph or video or audio, except pursuant to court order and under the direct supervision of the custodian or his or her designee; exempting criminal and administrative proceedings from the act; requiring certain persons to be parties in a request for access to a photograph or video or audio recording of an autopsy; providing penalties; providing for future legislative review and repeal; providing a finding of public necessity; providing a retroactive effective date.
